Diesel Fuel Priority To Farmers Terminated

The following statement was made by Sec. of Agriculture Bob Bergland in Washington, D.C., Friday, June 22, 1979.

The President had asked me to announce today that he has agreed with my recommendation to terminate the Department of Energy's temporary diesel fuel priority program immediately rather than wait until its July 31 expiration date.

I announced the implementation of the DOE Diesel Rule on May 11 to fulfill the President's pledge in Des Moines, Iowa on May 4 to provide the fuel farmers needed for this year's crops.

During extremely trying circumstances, complicated by wet and cold weather which compressed the planting season into a short period of May and June, the program succeeded. Planting is completed in all but a few scattered areas and field work will be finished in those areas in the next few days.

It is essential now that we turn our efforts from planting to the total agricultural system, including mid-season field work, harvest, processing and transportation of agricultural products. The President has asked Department of Energy Secretary James R. Schlesinger to work with us to accomplish those objectives and has asked me to monitor closely and to keep him informed.

We have become increasingly concerned in the past several days about the actual and potential disruption of the processing and movement of farm products to U.S. or overseas markets. It does farmers no good to plant and harvest a crop, or to hatch baby chicks, if there is no fuel to move the grain to an export elevator or to process adult chickens and move the meat to the markets. Today's decision will make more fuel available for those needs.

Our discussions with officials of the Department of Energy and the White House Staff lead me to the clear conclusion that we can better meet the complete fuel needs of agriculture by terminating Special Rule No. 9 ahead of schedule and replacing it with a system that will be more responsive to processing and transportation as well as production.

DOE has adequate authority to allocate crude oil to refineries with substantial numbers of agricultural customers and to encourage movement of diesel fuel into areas where the Department of Agriculture identifies critical needs.

In addition, the State set-aside of diesel fuel will remain available to meet potential requirements such as irrigation.

USDA will continue to make its State and county office employees available to State Energy Offices to assist in identifying agricultural needs and using State set-aside authority to meet those needs. We will also continue to cooperate with the Department of Energy through our joint diesel fuel task force at the national and regional level to address the total agricultural fuel question.

Beef Cattle Field Day - Set For July 11 at UK

Beef cattle producers from Rockcastle County will join other Kentucky beef producers July 11 at Beef Cattle Field Day at the University of Kentucky's Coldstream Farm. The field day is a good opportunity for producers to get ideas for boosting production.

In the morning, UK College of Agriculture beef specialists will lead producers on a "walk-through" of the beef production year, taking a management-by-calendar approach to the topic.

Four production periods are covered: November 1-February 15, adjusting the weight of the cow; February 15-April 15, calving and preparing for breeding and preventing grass tetany; April 15-July 20, breeding and growth of the calf; July 20-October 30, growth of the calf and preconditioning.

Kentucky cattlemen will be served at noon, courtesy of the Central Kentucky Production Credit Association. The noon program is built around the theme, "The Good Times-How to Make Them Last."

Schedule speakers include: Tom Harris, state Commissioner of Agriculture; Larry Lovell, president of the Kentucky Beef Cattle Association; Burke Mantle, Jr., chairman of the livestock committee of the Kentucky Farm Bureau; Lowell Atwood, vice president and credit manager of Central Kentucky Production Credit Association; and Oran Little, Associate Dean for research in the UK College of Agriculture.

Exhibits and demonstrations on UK's beef cattle herd, working cattle with horses and branding cattle are scheduled for the afternoon.

For more information and a complete program on the field day, which begins with registration at 8:30 a.m. at Coldstream Farm on Newtown Pike, contact the Rockcastle County Extension office at 256-2403.

Strawberries Don't Climb

A number of mail order firms have engaged in a national advertising campaign to market climbing strawberries. "It's a skyrocketing pillar of fruit. Man-high strawberries... as big as plums... in just 60 days," the ads exclaim. They are meant to appeal to people who like strawberries, have a limited space for growing them and possess little knowledge of plants. Strawberries don't climb. The ads are false and misleading. The Food Service and Better Business Bureau have named six companies in-complaints. One has agreed to return orders and offer refunds. The other companies are receiving thousands of orders a day. People should be warned before wasting their money on a worthless product.

CARRYOVER RULE DUE TO SHORTEN BURLEY SUPPLIES

By Bennett roach

Effects of the tighter restrictions on carryover tobacco might show up this summer in increased sales activity for old stock leaf, the Burley Tobacco Growers Cooperative Association reported this week.

Signs of this have appeared since new grade prices were posted June 15 for storage stocks on the 1975 through 1978 crops. Inquiries and sampling have been on the increase at the Burley Co-op offices in Lexington.

Sale of 562,799 pound soft 1978 leaf, all of the B5CR grade (good red leaf) of that year, is reported this week by Alvin R. Beckley, executive secretary of the Association.

Old stock tobacco is leaf held by the Association under price-support loans advanced to farmers at market time. Held in storage after processing, the leaf is sold to dealers and manufacturers, and any net gains are distributed to grower-members of the Association.

This year for the first time since 1971 farmers will have to stay within their quota, as a result of the new Federal regulations that cancel a provision that allowed storage of producer carry-over tobacco through marketing agents.

As a result the 1979 crop will be shortened by the amount of what had become to be accepted as normal carryover. Official USDA figures on 1978 crop carryover placed the total at 27,291,541. Unofficial estimates among tobacco observers say it will run even higher, perhaps to around 30 million pounds for the entire belt.

Burley Association officials view the new restrictions as a "life saver" for the growers. They say the yearly increase in carryover was weakening demand at market time and threatening to undermine production controls and price supports.

This year's burley production is expected to decline, according to "Tobacco Situation," the USDA publication issued June 18. The effective national quota is 3 percent under a year earlier.

With yields near the 1974-78 average, grower marketings including stored carryover from the 1978 crop, will total 612 million pounds, says "Tobacco Situation". This would be down 6 million pounds from last season's marketings. "JOHN LAIR DAY"

Fiscal Court Ends 1979 Financial Year By Paying Bills and Clearing Accounts

Rockcastle County Fiscal Court held a meeting Friday to finish the fiscal year 1979 by paying most of the remaining bills, and transferring money left over in certain accounts into accounts where the money was needed to pay outstanding bills.

For example, $1690 was put into the Health and Garbage Disposal fund from money left over to the Capital Construction, Financial Administration, Dog Warden salary and other accounts, in amounts as small as $20.

Other transfers were: $2000 election printing to road maintenance; $410 social security fund to retirement fund; $200 janitor salary to materials and supplies; and $100 remaining in county judge and county attorney salary fund to road maintenance.

The county garbage collectors have been paid only partially in the last four months, but the account is almost cleared now.

In-other business, the Fiscal Court took a $14,433 Federal Disaster Fund grant, which was received as a result of damages from

Fiscal Court to Help Ambulance Service Collect Over $60,000 in Overdue Bills

The Rockcastle County Fiscal Court has agreed to take over bill collections for the county ambulance service. The court also voted to let an architect make the final plans for the grandstand and exhibit hall at the Brodhead Fairgrounds, and hired several new employees, among them Floy Owens as county treasurer, at its meeting July 3.

Robert Cromer, representing the Rockcastle County Hospital Board, told the magistrates and Judge Executive Hubert Thacker that the hospital could not afford to pay for secretarial help required to collect the debts.

Over $60,000 is owed to the ambulance service, and some of the debts are three years old.

"If we could collect even half of what is owed," Mr. Cromer said, "the ambulance service would be in the black again."

College Sues Roda Enterprises

For $39,185 Breach of Contract

College is suing Roda Enterprises, Inc. for $49,184.68 in a lawsuit filed last week in Madison County Circuit Court.

The college is alleging that Roda failed to deliver coal in terms of its contract for the winter of 1977, and Bera was forced to buy coal on the spot market at a higher price. Bera says in the suit that the extra cost amounted to $39,185.

The other $10,000 is for repairs to the college's boiler, which Bera says was damaged by the inferior coal. A spokesman for Bera said that Roda contends it was unable to meet the contract terms because of the coal strike and weather conditions.

"Bradley's Barber Shop" is open 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday through Friday, and 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday.

The Court voted to hire Williametta Cromer as an assistant secretary at $2.90 per hour to help with ambulance collections.

Magistrate Joe Clark, said that "since we've been forced to take on all those government standards, it's cost the county a lot of money. I thought we did fine with the funeral homes."

Mr. Clark was referring to the government standards that went into effect in 1975, requiring expensive equipment on each ambulance run, as well as two people trained as Emergency Medical Technicians. The standards have forced the counties to take over ambulance service from local funeral directors, who used to do the job mostly for free.

Mr. Cromer said Medicare and Medicaid pay 100% of the ambulance bills for low-income people. Some of the debts are owned by out-of-towners, who were involved in automobile accidents and often taken to Lexington for treatment. Mr. Cromer said that although the ambulance bills seem high to some people, Rockcastle's service charges the least of any of those services which are members of the Boone Regional Ambulance Service.

"In fact, those Boone people fuss with us for keeping our prices too low," Mr. Cromer said.

Brodhead Fairgrounds

In other business, Jim Cass, a hired consultant from the tri-county Development Agency, advised the Court to retain Helm Robert, a Lexington architect, for the final design of the grandstand and exhibit hall.

Mr. Robert has been working all along on the project, and drew up the overall design for the grounds. The Court agreed to retain him.

When the architect's specifications are complete, the Court will advertise, probably this month, for bids on a concrete slab foundation and steel-reinforced bleacher seats.

"As quick as the fair is over, we can tear down the old grandstand and begin work on the new," Mr. Cass said.

He said between $80,000 to $85,000 was immediately available for the project through various state grants, but he estimated the final cost would be over $100,000.

An access road, water and sewer lines are already completed. The old skating rink has been torn down, and a new community center will be used to store exhibits at this year's fair August 7-11.

entertainment will be supplied, a new Miss Jackson County RECC will be crowned, and several very nice door prizes will be given away.

Featured this year at the Annual Meeting will be the McLain Family Band, one of America's best-known Bluegrass Music groups. For years, the McLain Family Band has been successfully entertaining crowds all across America and abroad, and have appeared on numerous radio and TV shows, including NBC's "TODAY Show." The McLain Family Band will be one of the finest groups ever to appear at the Annual Meeting of Jackson County RECC. National Guardsmen Pull Out

Of Somerset, I-75 Areas

Gov. Julian Carroll has deactivated the National Guardsmen who have been stationed along Interstate 75 since June 22. He said that there had been no violent incidents this week along the highway, and gasoline supplies have not been asking for escorts.

About 300 guardsmen were called on duty after more than 20 incidents occurred in a four-day period mostly in the Somerset area where several major refineries are located. Independent truckers on a national strike had been attempting to stop shipments of gasoline along the highway. State police and guardsmen had been escorting the supplies.

Gov. Carroll said that gasoline was in normal supply for the holiday week here.

Legislative Report

By Rep. Harol DeMarcus

Between the dates of July 1, 1978 and March 31, 1979 a total of 723 personal service contracts were issued by the Commonwealth of Kentucky. These contracts represent an expenditure of $31.4 million in tax revenue.

Transportation works constitute 87 contracts at a cost of $9.5 million, architect and engineer services have 89 contracts for $6.2 million and attorneys have 108 contracts at a cost of $2.7 million.

In addition to 108 personal service contracts that various state agencies have issued for legal services, which have to be done by attorneys, there are 175 full-time attorneys on the state government staff, for a total of 283 attorneys providing legal counsel and service for the interests of Kentucky government.

The 283 total does not include numerous attorneys that are employed by the state in executive positions, which means they are not performing legal services. Also, many elected officials are attorneys, 39 of the 138 member General Assembly are attorneys, the Governor, the Chairman of the Legislative Research Commission and the attorney general are all attorneys. And the secretary of the Department for Natural Resources was a University of Kentucky law school professor for eighteen years.

You would think with around three or four hundred lawyers employed in many positions throughout state government that there would be no need to hire 108 more by personal service contract.

Presently, if a state agency needed some type of legal service that could not be performed by the attorneys within their department, they would submit to the governor a request for an attorney to be contracted to perform the service.

The governor would in turn relay the request to the attorney general, who would reply as to whether or not his office would be able to perform the services. If the office of the attorney general submit that they will be unable to do the job then it is normal procedure for the governor to authorize a personal service contract for the requesting agency.

Superficially, this procedure appears to be one of an efficient administration, but the fact remains, there are a lot of full-time attorneys in state government who cannot seem to get the job done. Which directly relates to the issue of a stream-line government.

I am now in the process of pre-filing a bill for the 1980 legislative session that would require every attorney hired in state government to be approved and thereby sanctioned by the office of the attorney general.

This measure will have as its purpose the hiring of attorneys that possess the particular skills to do a particular job. Perhaps then all of the Commonwealth's legal services could be accomplished by full-time employees and there would be no need to issue millions of dollars in personal service contracts to attorneys.

Another benefit of this measure is that in the past there has been some political abuse of personal service contracts, some alleged and some proven, if attorneys were not hired by personal service contracts, this would have resulted in less abuse and less allegations.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:
 On Thursday, June 28, the ladies of Cedar Rapids Recreational Center had an invitational golf tournament. Clubs from Berea, Stanford, and Harrodsburg shared our day with us.

Our tournament prizes were wonderful, thanks to the generosity of our local merchants. Even though we were not able to visit all the local merchants, we wanted to acknowledge those that donated so generously to our tournament.

The local merchants who donated to our tournament were Mt. Vernon Florist, Ben Franklin, Rockcastle Steak House, Nellie's Beauty Shop, Robinson's, Young's Pharmacy, Hamm's Super Service, Bank of Mt. Vernon, Hammond's Food Market, Saylor's Pharmacy, Hodges' Western Auto, Burger Queen, Dowell-Martin Funeral Home, Cox Funeral Home, State Farm Insurance Company, Pic Pac, Appliance Service Center, and Ford Realty and Auction.

Again, our thanks to all these merchants who helped to make our tournament so successful.

Dear Editor:

I am sure it came as no surprise to most thinking people that the Rockcastle County board of Education turned down the proposal to establish a middle school.

Usually people are against those things which they do not understand. One could make a case that most members of local boards of education simply lack the qualifications to act on complicated matters without determined competent leadership. Obviously, such leadership is too frequently and sadly tied to the type board elected by the people.

Weakness begets weakness. So, Rockcastle County will continue to have a comprehensive high school without a feeder school to provide students qualified to make intelligent decisions regarding their future.

All-Kentucky City

Decals Available

Bright-colored decals that say Mt. Vernon is an All-Kentucky City are now available to anyone who wants to place one on his door. They cost $5 each and are about 3 inches by 5 inches high with a red canary design.

Mt. Vernon won the All-Kentucky City Award this spring for the first time, in a contest sponsored by the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce. Winning cities must demonstrate in a slide presentation and report book progressivism in commerce, recreation, education, medical care and other areas.

The decals are available through Bill James at The Bank of Mt. Vernon or by calling Julie Harris at 256-2415. Only a limited number have been manufactured. Proceeds go to the Rockcastle County Improvement Council.

Mrs. Harris said that the All-Kentucky City committee is looking for new people to work on the 1980 presentation. Anyone may volunteer.

A recreation center has been built on the old Parsons Property near Renfro Valley and is open to the public July 7. On the right is a pavilion under which table games such as ping pong can be played. In front of the pavillion is a court for shuffleboard, roller skating, etc. To the left is a baseball field.

Frank and John Glövak from Brodhead built the houses and pavillions at the Family Life Center.

Recreation Area Opening July 9 at Family Life Center

The Family Life Center is opening a recreational area July 9 that will provide facilities for a variety of sports and games, and an outdoor movie theatre. The park will be free and open to the public from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. and 1 p.m. to 8 p.m. on Sundays.

The park has been built on the old Parsons property on US 25 near Renfro Valley. There is a baseball field, a finished court for basketball, shuffleboard and rollerskating. The movies will be shown under the pavillion there, which has also been set up for table games such as ping pong. Equipment is available through the assistant director, Larry Keaton.

Besides the outdoor recreation facilities and table games, two more pavillions have been built to be used as family reunion centers. These picnic facilities can be reserved for reunions by calling 256-5612. Outdoor toilets are available.

Len Spanjers, director of the Family Life Center, said that the recreation facility was built using ideas from Rockcastle's young people. He and others took a survey of 1285 students in all the elementary schools and Rockcastle County High School to fine out what sports they most enjoyed.

For high school students, the ranking was basketball, rollerskating, pool, camping, volleyball, swimming, hiking, horseback-riding, tennis and skiing, with basketball mentioned by 47% of these polled and skiing by 11%.

Among elementary school students, the ranking was basketball, rollerskating, pool, camping, swimming, horseback-riding, hiking, skateboarding, volleyball and track.

The most popular sport for all boys was basketball, and for girls, it was rollerskating with basketball second.

He said the Family Life Center hopes to complete a lot playground for younger children at a later date.

The Family Life Center is a comprehensive program of activities designed to strengthen the family, and is operated by the Christian Appalachian Project. Besides the recreational area, the Scenic View Motel has been converted into a center for marriage retreats and family vacations, and now includes a library and convention room.

An emergency shelter for battered wives or others in need of temporary help and a group home for boys are also being built on the property.

Camping Trip

Nine men who went wilderness camping had formed a "community" by the end of the trip, according to one of their leaders, Larry Keaton.

"The experience brought us closer together, and taught us to trust each other—even to the point of trusting each other with our lives," he said.

Mr. Keaton, Bob Fields and Lee Bivins led the camping experience for Wesley Perkins, Frank Stewart, Kevin Fletcher, Tim Hampton, Curtis Fingleton and Le Roy Williams the week of June 18. They started as strangers to each other, but by the time they had built tables from primitive materials, gathered berries to eat for dinner, climbed cliffs, they grew to be good friends. In the cliff climbing experience, each is dependent on the others to hold his life by a rope.

The trip started at cleftRock, where they saw historic sites as they hiked, including "hospital mountains" where Union soldiers treated their wounded during the Civil War. The five days had them canoeing, backpacking on hikes up to 12 miles, rappelling cliffs, and camping along the Rockcastle River. In the evenings they held devotional around a campfire.

"One day we killed a copperhead with a rock," Mr. Keaton said, "and we noticed a bulge in its side. When we cut it open, a small whole frog was there. We cheered when the frog was able to hop away."

Mr. Keaton said that he is willing to take others camping, with equipment provided through the Family Life Center. He would like those interested in overnight and day trips to call him.

AARP TRIP TO DISLEY WORLD

A busload of AARP Chapter 2784 members left Corbin at 6:45 a.m. Thursday, June 7, for a trip to Disney World and other interesting places.

After lunch the group arrived at Stone Mountain State Park, 16 miles east of Atlanta, Ga. This is the largest stone mountain in North America and has the world's largest sculpture of Jefferson Davis, Robert E. Lee and Stonewall Jackson mounted on horses. Lee's horse "Traveler" is about the size of five steam locomotives.

The group rode the scenic railroad, the Swiss Skylift and heard the Carillon Concert, which has 732 bells, each with a range of 61 notes. The bell tones are sent out to a 35 speaker giant carrillon tower.

The next morning, they left the motel in Atlanta for Disney World, arriving at a motel in Kissimmee, Florida at 6 p.m.

Reserved Disney World group tickets were picked up at 8 a.m. They rode the monorail into Magic Kingdom and got an early start on seeing the many attractions.

The first Electrical Parade of the year was at 9 p.m. It has over a half million twinkling lights of Disney themes and characters. They had added a large dragon this year. "Fantasy in the Sky" fireworks was presented after the parade. They saw more attractions and the parade again at 11:30 p.m.

They took a different route for the return trip by way of Daytona Beach, stopping off at Ormond Beach, to play in the ocean, and spent the night in Tifton, Ga.

The next day they stopped at Farmers Market in South Atlanta and bought fresh peaches and watermelons and had a watermelon feast on a rest area.

The group arrived in Corbin about 8:30 p.m., Monday, June 11. All had a wonderful time.

Tightening Restrictions on Sandwich Ovens

The state Department of Health is requiring that all sandwich ovens be subject to the provisions of the Retail Food Market Sanitation Regulations. This means that people who sell pre-packaged sandwiches and operate microwave ovens to warm them must have a permit to do so effective July 1.

Sandwich ovens in grocery stores, restaurants, and near vending machines are already covered under health laws.

"With the overwhelming vote here in the House on the defense bill June 29 in favor of turning to synthetic fuels to ease our energy problems, it is important that we know what is possible now," Rep. Carter said.

"Germany in particular has been in the forefront of using technology to convert coal into more easily used fuels. I hope to see what we can learn from what the Europeans are doing so that our own coal conversion efforts can be brought along more quickly."

"I believe that it is particularly important to get work started on coal conversion because it would stimulate jobs in eastern Kentucky and throughout the rest of the country."

The Fifth District Congressman is participating at the request of House Majority Leader Jim Wright, D-Texas, who will head the delegation.

For protocol purposes the wives of the congressman, including Mrs. Carter, will travel with the group.

largest June 1 inventory since the 1,300,000 hogs and pigs on farms in 1974. The current estimate is up 7 percent from the revised March 1 inventory of 1,190,000 head and continues the steady increase in inventory that started in the latter half of 1978. The June 1 breeding inventory for Kentucky was 245,000 and the market inventory was 1,025,000 head. Breeding stock was up 29 percent from a year earlier and market hogs were up 27 percent. June 1 breeding stock is the largest for June 1st since 1971 and the June 1 market inventory is the largest June 1 number since 1974.

Improvement Council Begins

Work on Obtaining State Park

The Rockcastle County Improvement Council will be working with the state park commission to try to get a state park in this area.

Mrs. Lucille Carlotts told the Council at its regular meeting June 25 that there is a "very real possibility" that one of four local places could be declared a state park. The four are the great Salt Petre Cave, Wildcat Mountain (near Laurel County), Fort Sequoyah and Renfro Valley. She said the state has set aside about $2 million to spend on state parks, and many officials think there is a need for one in this area.

Mrs. Carlotts, a co-proprietor of Fort Sequoyah, is a member of the Rockcastle County Task Force for Park Development and the Governor's Commission on Tourism. She is also active in the Kentucky Highlands Tourism Council, which is promoting the state park for this area.

A sub-committee of the Improvement Council will be drawing up the formal proposal to be submitted to the state, holding a public hearing with the park commissioners, and probably visiting the state legislature in Frankfort. These steps must be taken to get the state park.

Salt Petre Cave is a front runner because of its natural beauty and historic interest as the site of an early gun powder making factory.

In other business, Wayne Stewart said that the Kentucky Highlands Investment Corporation, which helped finance the Rockcastle County Manufacturing Company and other local projects, will hold its annual meeting here July 17. The Improvement Council will be hosting members of the corporation at a dinner, and taking them on a tour of the county.

Wayne King reported on the progress of a "Lasses Makin' Festival," scheduled for the first time this year in Renfro Valley. He said the festival will emphasize Kentucky heritage, and that the Renfro Valley Folks would like it to be a non-profit, charitable event.

Farmers Market

Begins Saturday

Lee Bivins and Bob Fields are opening a farmers' market Friday and Saturday across from the Mt. Vernon Burger Queen in the old Helmer Building. The market will be open at 8 a.m. and close when the produce sells out.

Mr. Fields said they will be buying and selling fresh fruits and vegetables, among them this week end, beans and squash. He is hoping farmers will bring their excess produce to the "Rockcastle Market" as the partners call their business.

Mr. Fields said the market will be open each week on Fridays and Saturdays at 8 a.m.

The county Extension Service tried to organize such a market in the county, but after small attendance at a public meeting, the project was dropped.

Tasty from Checkerboard Kitchens Tips

ORANGE AMBROSIA PIE - A HEAVENLY PIE

In Greek mythology, ambrosia was the name given to the food of the gods. The Greeks thought it the source of immortality. Orange Ambrosia Pie doesn't have that capability, but it aptly fits Webster's definition, "something extremely pleasing to the taste or smell."

The pie is a delightful blend of flavors that starts with a cereal crust made of bite-size crisp rice squares. Crush the cereal into fine crumbs with rolling pin or blender. Add margarine and press evenly onto bottom and up sides of the pie plate. Fill the baked shell with softened cream cheese, a luscious orange filling and coconut. A heavenly pie and a perfect dessert.

ORANGE AMBROSIA PIE

- FILLING
- 3 or 4 oranges, peeled and cut into small pieces, about 2 1/2 cups
 - 1/2 cup and 1/3 cup sugar
 - 1/2 to 2/3 cup orange juice
 - 2 tablespoons cornstarch
 - 1 package (3 oz.) cream cheese, softened
 - 1/4 teaspoon ginger
 - 1 tablespoon milk
 - 1/2 cup flaked coconut
- CRUST
- 4 cups Rice Chex cereal crushed to 1 cup
 - 1/4 cup firmly packed brown sugar
 - 1/4 teaspoon ginger
 - 1/3 cup butter or margarine, melted
- Mix orange pieces and 1/2 cup sugar. Set aside while preparing crust (recipe below). Drain syrup from oranges. Add enough orange juice to make one cup. Combine cornstarch and 1/3 cup sugar. Add orange juice. Cook and stir over medium heat until very thick and clear. Cool. Combine cream cheese, ginger and milk. Spread on bottom and sides of pie crust. Stir orange pieces into sauce. Pour into crust. Sprinkle with coconut. Chill at least two hours or until sauce is set.
- CRUST Preheat oven to 300°. Butter a 9-inch pie plate. Combine cereal crumbs, sugar and ginger. Add butter. Mix thoroughly. Press mixture evenly onto bottom and sides of pie plate. Bake 10 minutes. Cool. Makes one 9-inch pie.

and Mrs. James Earl Hammons of Mt. Vernon, plan to live in Irvine. A 1979 magna cum laude graduate of Kentucky Christian College, he was selected for "Who's Who Among American University and College Students."

Mr. Hammond also had an outstanding record at Rockcastle County High School, where he was a class officer, a member of the National Honor Society, and selected for Who's Who in American High Schools. He was named "Mr. Rockcastle County High School in 1975.

him from the back and bit him on his right thigh. He killed the fox, and called the Rockcastle County Health Department. Staff member, Steve Midkiff, took the fox to the state laboratory in Frankfort where it was confirmed to be carrying rabies.

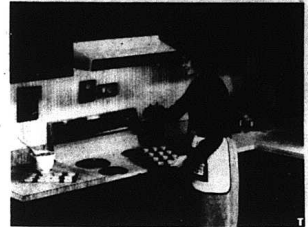

This brings the total to four confirmed cases of rabies found in Rockcastle County animals. The other three were skunks killed in the Willilla and Brodhead areas. There have been 68 cases of rabies this year confirmed in central Kentucky, where the disease seems to be confined.

Nine cats in Orlando have been placed in quarantine after a child who was bitten by one was unable to say which cat was the culprit. The child is too young to recognize the cat, according to Steve Midkiff, county environmentalist with the Rockcastle Health Department.

Mr. Midkiff said that he suspects there may be rabies in the Orlando area because one person there killed a skunk in daylight, although the skunk could not be tested for the disease. It is unusual for a skunk to be out in daylight, and that may indicate the animal is rabid.

TIPS FOR BETTER BAKING

Nothing tastes better than fresh home-baked food. To help assure that your results are perfect, here are some helpful tips from Whirlpool home economists to help you get good baking results.

For better cakes—when using a heat-proof glass pan or a pan with a colored porcelain exterior, reduce the oven temperature 25 degrees and allow the same baking time as called for in the recipe. Use a shiny aluminum pan to produce a light, golden cake crust, top and bottom. Cakes baked in dark pans may have a dark brown, crisp bottom crust.

For better cookies—select a flat (without sides) cookie sheet. Place cookie sheet in the center of the rack to allow for proper heat circulation. Use only one cookie sheet in the oven at a time. Cookies baked in a jelly roll pan (short sides all around) may have darker edges than those baked in a flat no-sided cookie sheet.

For better pies—do not bake pie in a shiny metal pan. They reflect heat like a mirror, producing an underdone pale bottom crust. Bake frozen pies that come in foil pans on an aluminum cookie sheet with the oven rack in its lowest position. The shiny foil pan reflects the heat away from the pie crust, but the cookie sheet will help retain it.

For better bread—when using heat-proof glass loaf pans, reduce the oven temperature 25 degrees and allow the same baking time called for in the recipe.

In general, oven racks should be placed so that food is in the center of the oven, say the Whirlpool home economists. Arrange the racks when the oven is cool. It's easier and safer. Never use a damp pot holder when removing food from the oven. The heat from the oven may cause the moisture in the pot holder to steam which could cause a steam burn.

REPORTS TO THE PEOPLE OF KENTUCKY

FEDERAL CROP INSURANCE

The Senate Agriculture Committee has approved a bill sponsored to establish an expanded and comprehensive crop insurance program.

This insurance program, under which the federal government would pay 20 to 40 percent of participating farmers' premiums, would take full effect in 1981 and would be extended to all counties and major crops on a phased basis thereafter.

The existing crop insurance program, which was first enacted in 1938, is currently available in about half the nation's agricultural counties and applies to only 26 commodities. Under the existing program, crop insurance may be extended to a maximum of 150 additional counties and three new crops in any year.

My bill would remove those limits effective in 1980 and coverage would be extended nationwide on a phased basis as need and actuarial data are established.

Under the program, a farmer would insure his crop against any unavoidable loss up to 75 percent of normal yield. Indemnity payments would be based on the highest of target, loan or market prices prevailing for the insured commodity.

Coverage would be provided by the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation (FCIC) or by private insurance companies approved for reinsurance by FCIC. The federal premium subsidy would apply to all-risk privately written insurance that is insured by the government, as well as to coverage provided directly by FCIC.

The bill would extend the disaster loss and prevented planting payment and provisions of the existing farm law, which are scheduled to expire this year, to 1980 and 1981 crop of wheat, cotton, cotton and rice. These payments would be available to all eligible producers in 1980.

In 1981 a producer would choose between the disaster payment provisions or the new insurance program but would not be eligible for both.
