"PERSONALS"
(Cont. From Pg. 5)

Mrs. Rose Mullins received a call from her brothers, Mr. and Mrs. Hardie Mullins and Mr. and Mrs. David Mullins, reporting that they had a safe flight home to Florida from their visit here.

Please take-up the two big events coming up. They are the annual high school association which will be at the Rockcastle County High School September 15, 1979 and the homecoming at the First Christian Church on Sunday, September 16, 1979.

Visitors at worship service at the First Christian Church Sunday were: Mr. and Mrs. Jack Burke and Tracy Montgomery of El Reno, Oklahoma, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Palmer of Batavia, Ohio and Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Nummy of Alabama.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Mullins, Penny and Kim, Mrs. Sam Mullins and Mike of Mt. Vernon and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Reed and son, Eddie, of Germantown, Ohio returned Friday from their vacation spent at Myrtle Beach, South Carolina.

Mrs. Lona Henderson Logsdon was in Lexington-Sunday to see her first great grandson, David Carl Brewer, who was two-weeks-old Sunday. David Carl is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Brewer and a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. David L. Henderson of Dayton, Ohio.

The adults were as excited as the children over the fine results of the Vacation Bible School at the First Christian Church in Mt. Vernon. Carolyn Wilson of Glades Christian School, Berea, had charge of the song services. There were a goodly attendance Sunday evening for the program and the displaying of crafts each class made.

Mr. and Mrs. Tony Saylor have moved from Tennessee to Missouri, to make their home.

Mrs. Rhonda Taylor of Ohio spent last Tuesday night with Mr. and Mrs. Willie Nicely.

Mrs. Katie Renner, Lyette and Brian visited with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willie Nicely, last Monday.

Willie Nicely has been on the sick list.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Renner, Lyette and Brian left for Florida to visit Mrs. Renner's brother, Jack Nicely and wife, Jean, for a week.

assisting Mr. Edward J. Krupinsky, the Special Agent in Charge of the Omaha Office which has jurisdiction over the states of Nebraska and Iowa.

Mr. Evans, age 40, is married and has two children. He is the son-in-law of B.J. Abney of Wildie, Ky.

Short Rows

Hot days are not conducive to hard work in the garden but with summer vegetables now coming into their own, this is no time to let up if we are to enjoy a continuous yield. Use a sharp hoe on the weeds and keep an eye out for the insect of plant diseases and insect diseases. Use mach and finch for control of early and late blight in tomatoes.

For insects, sevin can be used for control of chewing insects and malathion for control of sucking insects. Either dust or spray will do the job and the manner of application of these two insecticides is more of a matter of choice than form. Also to help speed the maturing vegetables on their way, give them a light dose of nitrogen. UK College of Agriculture garden specialists warn, however, to go easy on this side dressing. Else you may windup with more leaves than vegetables. A good rule to follow when going out to side dress peppers, tomatoes, eggplant, squash and melons is to check and see if these plants have set fruit. If they have, then it will be well to give each plant a small dose of nitrogen. Actually to be safe with this mid-summer fertilizing, check with your local County Extension Agent. UK's Extension horticulturists also say that your garden will produce more if you harvest most vegetables when they ripen. Cucumbers, tomatoes, peppers, green beans, eggplant and summer squash will stop producing if you let fruits mature. Instead of producing more fruit when the first fruits ripen, the plants put all their energy into ripening seed.

According to Extension horticulture specialist David Hensley, a cucumber plant will produce only 10 or 12 cucumbers if these fruits are allowed to mature and turn yellow. Pick the fruit while they are still mature and single plant may produce up to 50 cucumbers.

In harvesting these and other crops, pinch off the fruit carefully to avoid twisting, tearing, or otherwise damaging the mother plant. To do otherwise may make the plant susceptible to disease or insect invasion.

Whenever a crop has finished producing, remove the residue. This eliminates debris that might harbor insects or diseases. Removing the trash will clear the way for planting a late crop of turnips, kale, lettuce, or some variety of greens.

"UPWARD BOUND"

who come to Berea's campus are enrolled in any one of these course sections discussing subject matter and participating in projects "to experience" what they are learning. Communications students produced a series of plays this summer that were open to the public.

"Our goal," Best said, "is to bring out and organize the knowledge already gained through experience by the students, instead of crowding their minds with subjects unrelated to their own persons."

A fundamental approach of the Berea program is the use of discussion groups composed of students from the four major course areas. These groups meet everyday so that participants can share those things learned in core classes.

At the end of the daily class schedule, students attend a variety of activities tailored to their individual interests. These range from agriculture to sewing and cooking, gymnastics, creative writing or photography classes.

In 1976, an HEW representative lauded Berea's program, particularly for its emphasis on teaching the student to work with his hands. But Best and his staff of advisors and counselors also put great emphasis on the arts "because the foundations they can provide for so many students whose learning styles do not mesh easily with the traditional three R. approach to education."

"Many people, perhaps a majority, relate to the worlds more than a feeling than from a thinking point of view," Best said. "Participation in the arts can help students build a bridge from feeling to thinking. This enables them to become good or excellent thinkers without losing their creative impulses and abilities or their ability to feel their emotions."

"We encourage intellectual thinking to illuminate student experiences—not to substitute for them." Best added that "this aspect of the Berea Upward Bound approach is what distinguishes the program from that of the conventional high school." But he sees Upward Bound as an aid to the traditional school system. "Most of our students do better in the high schools than before and choose to go on to college."

Throughout the coming year, Best and his staff will continue their work with their students. Each teenager in the current program will be visited at home at least twice during the school year and will report back to campus on Saturday a month from September through May.

Lions Club Assists Local 4-H Club

An offer to pay for gas and a driver to transport county 4-H members to the summer camp approved by the Mt. Vernon Lions Club at their last regular meeting. The camp for 4-H members is held annual at the Levi Jackson Park near London and the local Lions have been assisting in transportation for a number of years.

In other action of the club, Pres. Robert Robinson, stated that the club voted to assist a local boy to obtain an eye examination at the Ky. Lions Eye Foundation in Louisville. Mr. Robinson stated that the child's parents could not afford the examination and the Lions had already sent him to Dr. Arnett in Berea, who recommended further examination in Louisville at the Lions Clinic.

Pres. Robinson also stated that the club voted to hold another Community Flea Market Saturday, August 4 at the Mt. Vernon Elementary School grounds. The Flea Market is one of the main money raising projects of the club. The Lions Advertise and promote the Community Flea Market and charge the dealers a $5.00 fee for table space and sell items that have been donated to the club using all money raised for their charity projects.

A drawing will also be held Saturday at the Flea Market to give away a Case "American Spirit" Pocket Knife, valued at $250. Chances on the knife have been given to those who donated $1.00 or more to the Club's Eye Glass Fund.

LIONS CLUB

The Lions Club will be giving away a commemorative Bicentennial knife Saturday at The Bank of Mt. Vernon. For $1, you can buy a chance to win from any Lions Club member. Tickets are being sold on Main Street. Proceeds go to Lions Club charities, including buying glasses for the needy.

TIMBER PROGRAM

A county program in forest improvement has proved to be the best in the state, according to Harold Ballinger, of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Office, which administers the program. He has been asked to describe the program to 120 other ASC officials in the southeastern United States in the form of a written report for their newsletter.

The Rockcastle program has been in effect since 1974. Land owners plant seedlings and remove dead trees and vines, using money from the ASC office, which pays up to 70%. The cost runs about $150 per acre, and Rockcastle timber owners are participating more often than any others in Kentucky.

Mr. Ballinger said he thinks the program has been successful because of a good working relationship with the state Division of Forestry. Steve Bullen and other forest rangers in the district have been vital to the program's success.

By using local radio and newspaper forums and holding workshops, the ASC office and the forest service have attempted to explain the benefits of seeding and removing undesirable plants. These benefits do not show up for 10 or 20 years, but at that time, they will increase the value of the timber/ and significantly.

ROAD GRANT

Mount Vernon in Rockcastle County will receive $8,214 for municipal road improvements in fiscal year 1979 according to state Transportation Secretary Calvin Grayson.

The city will use the money for blacktop resurfacing on Barnett Road and widening initial blacktop surfacing on Williams Street.

The municipal road aid program was established in 1973 to help incorporated communities and eligible unincorporated areas maintain and improve city streets. It is financed with a portion of the state motor fuel tax.

BOARD MEETING

The Western Rockcastle Water Association will have their regular monthly Board meeting on August 7, 1979 at 7:30 p.m. at the PCA Meeting Room.

DRIVING CAUTIONS

Driving a car while under severe emotional stress or pressure can be a very dangerous undertaking. Anxiety, grief, fear, or anger can put us in a state of mind that causes a paralysis of sensible thinking. If we take the wheel at a time like this to "clear our head," we might "lose it" instead. Angry persons have been known to refer to household temper tantrum-like behavior, but instead of stamping the ground, they are now stamping the car's accelerator.

Don't drive to clear your head. The head should be clear in order to drive! Take a walk instead! If you are angry, calm down before you drive.

Sometimes in our upset state of mind, we don't recognize our temporary incapacities. Relatives and friends need to caution or correct us. And we need to listen to them!

For more information, call your local Comprehensive Care Center at 256-2129.

CORONER'S CASE

An attorney general's opinion issued recently clarifies the definition of a coroner's case.

If the coroner has a reasonable cause for believing a death was caused by homicide, crime, violence, accident, suicide, poison, drowning, illegal abortion or unusual circumstances, he may declare the death a coroner's case and hold an inquest, even if the death occurred in another county, the opinion states.

According to the opinion written by Assistant Deputy Attorney General Charles W. Ruryan, a coroner's case may be declared when a physician was not present within 36 hours prior to the death.

The coroner is required to sign the death certificate in coroner's cases, the opinion stated.

Roy A. Martin of Mt. Vernon requested the opinion.

The wedding of Miss Judy Carol Stallworth to Larry Randall Mullins will be solemnized Saturday, August 4, at 3:00 p.m. at the Maple Grove Missionary Baptist Church. All friends and relatives of the couple are invited to attend.

Mount Vernon Signal

Mount Vernon, Kentucky 40456

Volume 90 - Number 48

Thursday, August 2, 1979

A historical plaque commemorating the life of Col. James Maret was unveiled last Friday on the Courthouse lawn. Col. Maret was a major innovator in Rockcastle County in the late 1800's and early 1900's and was also known as "The Booneway Man" for his efforts on behalf of the establishment of U.S. 25. Shown in the above photo are, from left, Col. Maret's relatives: Maret Hackley and John Hackley and Mayor Roland Mullins who accepted the plaque on behalf of the City of Mt. Vernon.

Participants in the ceremony were, holding the flag, from left: John Hackley and Norman Wyler. Behind the flag, on the left (in suit) is Opp Bussell, who was responsible for getting the plaque. Next to him is Mrs. Norma Eversole. Mrs. Gilbert Prather and Mrs. Lula Broadus, DAR officers and behind them are Rachel James, Roland Mullins and Harold Ballinger. Mrs. Lambert, standing right, also spoke at the ceremony.

Col. Maret's Works Honored in Ceremony of Plaque Unveiling at Courthouse Friday

Over 60 years after the opening of "The Booneway" (now U.S. 25), its principal supporter, Col. James Maret, was honored Friday in ceremonies at the Rockcastle County courthouse.

The colonel's nephew, 90-year-old Maret Hackley, unveiled a state plaque commemorating the achievements of his nationally famous ancestor.

"Col. Maret would have been profoundly proud of this today," said historian Opp Bussell, who had given an account of his life. "But it would not have been for him to be grateful to us, but rather for us to thank him."

Mt. Vernon Mayor Roland Mullins, in accepting the plaque, said it was well for us to remember the Colonel. "Think what it would mean to our community to have one such man alive in each generation."

Col. Maret brought the first typewriter, the first adding machine, the first telephone and the first telephone exchange to Rockcastle County. He founded the Mt. Vernon Signal, the county's first newspaper. They received the first parcel post package and sent the first air mail letter. He was one of the first to experiment with automobile travel and founded one of the area's first airports.

But he is most known for his support of the Booneway Road, an idea that earned him the title of "Road Crank Maret" among his conservative opponents.

Born in 1855 in Garrard County, Col. Maret spent over 40 years in Rockcastle County and considered it home. The idea for the Booneway, or a road that connects east-west routes with the north-south Dixie, came to him about 1900. For almost fourteen years he campaigned and wrote letters, until the passage of a road bond bill in 1914. In that year Rockcastle contributed $100,000 toward the road.

"The road was his dream and he fulfilled it," Mr. Bussell said. "He wanted to get people out of the mud and bring this highway here to help his fellowman."

After the building of the Booneway Col. Maret became the Secretary of the Good Roads Association in Kentucky, and the first Auto Club. In 1928, he retired and devoted time to a routing guide for travelers with more than 1200 points of interest. He died in 1933, and is buried in Elmwood Cemetery.

The ceremony was made possible through the Daughters of the American Revolution. One member, Mary Elizabeth Adams, remembers her cousin, Col. Maret, very well.

"He lived next door and had the telephone exchange in his home," she said. "He was not a man to sit around, but always had ideas. He wasn't considered a crank, but people listened to him and his ideas carried a lot of weight. He had a business-like manner, no foolishness."

"In appearance, he was not tall but he had a large impressive head. I remember how exciting it was to me as a young girl when he took some of us on a ride in his Roadster. It was the first automobile I'd seen, and we rode on Maret Coop, 30 miles per hour-hat that seemed!"

TRACTOR PULL
The Brodhead Tractor and Truck Pull has been rescheduled for this Friday and Saturday (August 3 and 4) at the fairgrounds. All proceeds will go to the Brodhead Volunteer Fire Department.

Rockcastle Students Compare Well With Other Counties and States in Tests

Rockcastle students compared favorably to national and state norms on grades received in a comprehensive test program administered in April.

School superintendent Charles Parsons said he was well pleased with the test scores. Achievement tests were given to 1,025 students in grades three, five, seven and ten, as required by the Educational Improvement Act enacted by the 1978 State Legislators.

With the national average set at 77 percent, third grades here scored equal to or higher in all nine areas of testing except spelling. The Rockcastle average score was 72%, or five points below national averages.

Spelling was a weak point state-wide. In fact, the only area in which more than 20% of Kentucky's children failed to meet a state determined cut off score was language expression by 10th graders, with a 20.8% scoring below average.

In grades five to seven, Rockcastle students scored slightly below the national norms, with library skills and language expression respectively being the weakest areas.

However, the 10th graders caught up meeting national norms in all but two areas: language expression and language mechanics.

Doug Hamm, a counselor at the Rockcastle County Schools Office on Richmond Street, said that test scores differed from school to school in the county, and that the principals would get together to confer on the strengths and weaknesses of each school program.

The School Board would not release detailed information on individual schools. However, any parent has the right to see his child's scores and confer with teachers about them.

Students who scored in the bottom fifth of their class will be tested again in the fall to pinpoint their weaknesses and determine what, if any, remedial help is needed.

The children were tested in reading, including vocabulary and comprehension, language mechanics, expression and spelling; mathematics and reference skills. The tests were standardized Comprehensive Tests of Basic Skills.

State educators were surprised that Kentucky children did as well as they did on the tests. Third, seventh and 10th graders scored above average in eight out of nine areas tested, and Kentucky fifth graders were above average in all areas.

"We came out better than expected," said Don VanFleet, head of research and development for the state Education Department.

County School superintendent Parsons said he was confident that "our scores would equal state norms. Of course, you will always have a few students who can't make the score, but it is good to know who they are and what their weaknesses are so that we can give them special help."

"I feel our special programs and curriculums have helped, but the credit must go to teachers," parents and other school personnel who have obviously done a good job."

CETA Program Will Be Worth $138,000 To County This Year

County Judge-Executive Hubert Thacker announced today that the county had received funding for its 1979-1980 CETA program, and that there would be enough money in the grant of over $138,000 to pay the ambulance workers.

The Fiscal Court in passing its fiscal year 1980 budget last spring had to allocate almost $36,000 in revenue-sharing money for the ambulance program, because there was some question whether the CETA funds would be forthcoming this year. Judge Thacker said he did not know how the Fiscal Court would spend the unanticipated funds.

The county's grant is as follows:
WAGES and benefits $124,328

Training (vocational) $15,066
Administrative $3,845
Total $143,239

The grant is down from last year's, $144,285.

Judge Thacker said that because of federal rules, all but two of the 11 CETA workers employed by the county will have to be laid off and replaced by new people. CETA does not allow a person to stay on the job more than 18 months.

CETA means Comprehensive Education-Training Act, a law passed by Congress designed to create jobs for unskilled people by training them and placing them in public service positions.

Merchants Meet

The Mt. Vernon Business and Professional Association is planning its first cooperative sales campaign among all members. The promotion will be a Sidewalk Sale October 12 and 13, the same time as the Molasses-Making Festival in Renfro Valley.

At a meeting July 30, Bill James was named head of entertainment for the project, and Perlina Anderkin is to handle advertising. The merchants plan to make up a "shopper" to insert in the Mt. Vernon Signal that will give details of the sale.

There was some discussion at the meeting about flea markets, roping off Main Street for the event, allowing farmers to sell produce that day and bringing some Renfro Valley entertainment to Mt. Vernon.

County To Receive Over

$26,000 in Coal Taxes

Rockcastle County will be receiving $26,106.62 as its share of $5 million worth of coal severance taxes. The money was split between 47 coal-producing counties, based on the amount put into the fund and a formula including population and per capita income statistics.

The largest share, $702,196, went to Pulaski County, and the smallest was Hancock at $10,509. The money will be allocated in Rockcastle County by the decision of the coal severance economic board, which is made up of county and city officials, according to legislation passed by the 1976 state legislature.

Nine Rockcastle County teens participated in this summer's Upward Bound program at Berea College. Under the direction of Dr. Bill Best of the Berea faculty, the current program began on June 11 for 102 high school students from Clinton, Laurel, Madison, Rockcastle, McCreary, Wayne and Whiteley counties.

Rockcastle County students include Kary Cooke, Jeff Estes, Keith Jones, Phyllis Hammock, Virginia Mink, John Mitchell, Terry Robinson, Ray Thomas and Sandra Wren.

Berea is one of approximately 300 colleges and universities participating in the federally-funded Upward Bound program for teenagers. The Berea program, now in its 13th year, is centered around

Mrs. Kundtz Resigns From Signal

Mt. Vernon Signal reporter Jane Kundtz has resigned, after more than a year with the newspaper. She and her husband are moving to Oxford, Ohio, where he will be teaching business law at Miami University.

"It's really hard to leave the people here in Rockcastle County," Mrs. Kundtz said. "It's been a wonderful experience to be part of this exciting time of growth in this community."

Brodhead Agricultural Fair Set for August 6 - 11

The Brodhead Agricultural Fair is set for August 6-11, 1979, at the Brodhead Fairgrounds with competition in livestock, handicraft and art, cooking, and garden vegetables and fruits. All competition is open to Rockcastle County residents only, except the livestock shows which are open to residents of other counties.

This year exhibitors will bring their foods and handicraft to the new Senior Citizens Building at the fairgrounds, according to Cheryl Witt, county extension agent.

The new building is water-proof and safe, thus solving problems that exhibitors had in years past about their items being ruined during the fair. Ms. Witt said.

The schedule of events is as follows:
Tuesday, August 7: 9:00 a.m.

1:00 p.m., all exhibits (except livestock) entered; 11:00 a.m.-12:30 p.m., dairy cattle entered; 1:00 p.m., dairy show; 1:30 p.m., exhibits judged; 5:00 p.m.-10:00 p.m., exhibits open.

Wednesday, Aug. 8: 1:00 p.m.-10:00 p.m., exhibits open.

Thursday, August 8, 1979: 10 a.m.-noon, beef cattle entered; 1:00 p.m., beef show; 1:00-10:00 p.m., exhibits open.

Friday: 1:00-10:00 p.m., exhibits open; Saturday: 10 a.m.-noon, exhibits open.

"For a complete set of rules, list of premiums and other information about the Fair, you can pickup a mimeographed book at the county extension office, Youngs Pharmacy, PCA, ASCS Office, or the Citizens Bank in Brodhead. Also see the county extension and home economics columns elsewhere in this issue."

Kary Cooke from Rockcastle County is shown with Ed Kellough, a staff member at Berea College, as she learns some of the intricacies of the drill press as part of the Upward Bound Program.

Letter to The Editor

Editor:

I have a letter written in 1838 by a Joseph Reynolds, Postmaster and shoemaker of Mt. Vernon in that year. He would have been my grandfather's grandfather.
 I find it most difficult to obtain any form of information regarding him—his birth and death dates, the names of his wife or wives as the case may be, his burial place, etc. Perhaps some other of his descendants live in your area who would be kind enough to contact me.

Can you tell me where to write in procuring a copy of the 1840 Kentucky census (or if County, I'm interested in Lincoln, Rockcastle and Bath Counties), probate records, death records and any other pertinent information. This information, I am sure, would be obtainable from a genealogical or historical society, but as I see several advertised, I have no idea which one has the data covering the counties in which I am interested as most refer to the general directions, such as "Eastern Kentucky", "Western", etc.

It may open some doors if I subscribed to your publication for a period. What is your yearly rate by mail? And what would be your advertising rates?

Thank you for any information you can give me.

Sincerely,
 Mildred C.R. Turner

MANAGING YOUR MONEY

Using Money And Credit Wisely And Well

If you move, notify all credit card companies of the address change so that renewal cards can reach you.

Don't carry any more cash than you have to. Instead, using a charge card such as a Master Charge card means you don't have to worry if it's lost or stolen. If you've notified the bank, you're not responsible for any purchases subsequent, no matter what your liability is limited to $50.

A good way to organize your discretionary spending—gifts, trips, entertainment and so forth—is to set up each category in a notebook and record what you have allocated, what you've actually spent, your surplus or deficit and who has been or is to be paid.

Legislative Report

By Rep. Harold DeMarcus

During the June meeting, the Program Review and Investigations Committee received a preliminary report on the state's welfare vendor fraud unit. The investigation, conducted at the request of Senator John Rogers of Somerset revealed a costly breakdown in communications between two state agencies.

The Office of the Attorney General and the office of Inspector General within the Department for Human Resources could not agree on which agency should do the actual investigations into proposed fraud cases.

Since there was this lack of agreement, the federal department for Health, Education and Welfare would not certify Kentucky's welfare fraud investigation program. Which has made the state ineligible for $100,000 a month in federal funds for the last twenty-three months.

Because twenty states have vendor fraud units, seventeen of which are located under the Office of the Attorney General and sanctioned by the federal government, Program Review directed the agencies to reach a speedy agreement in favor of the Attorney General to thus acquire the federal certification.

At it's July meeting, Program Review received a status report on the welfare vendor fraud units. It was revealed that the two agencies had agreed to allow the Human Resources' Inspector general to reapply for the federal certification for a third time. Also, that the federal agency had refused to sanction a fraud unit administered by Human Resources.

The simple fact is, Human Resources is too big. It has twice as many employees as any other state agency and it attempts to provide services in many diverse areas. Human Resources is a state government jack of all trades and a master of none, because it is so big, communication breakdowns are the rule rather than the exception.

Further, the Office of the Attorney General has the experience and the qualified individuals needed to implement a welfare vendor fraud unit. This is one reason the seventeen states that acquired a federal sanction have a fraud unit administered by an attorney general.

The Human Resources' Inspector General appeared before Program Review and after hearing questions from legislators, reluctantly admitted that the Office of Attorney General is the correct agency to administer a fraud unit. However, the Secretary (chairman) of Human Resources informed the committee that he intended to maintain the fraud unit.

Kentucky's Attorney General appeared before the committee and intimated that his office was ready and willing to implement a welfare vendor fraud unit and also that federal officials had stated that the unit would be certified.

Because 7,000 Kentucky welfare vendors (doctors, pharmacists, nursing homes) do $250 million worth of business with the state each year, any hint of fraud or lack of investigative expertise must not be tolerated.

Since Human Resources' two-year old vendor fraud unit is funded by state tax revenue and has produced no investigative results, while at the same time cost the Commonwealth $2.4 million in federal funds, there is substantial evidence that a fraud unit does not belong under Human Resources.

On a motion made by Senator Rogers, Program Review voted to request the governor to designate by executive order that the welfare vendor fraud unit be administered under the Office of the Attorney General.

If the governor complies with the committee's request, the fraud unit will be taken away from Human Resources and placed under the Office of Attorney General, thus making certification from Washington a virtual certainty. This would serve to provide $100,000 a month from the federal government to fund a program administered by the appropriately qualified state agency.

No matter what type of results eventuate, you can expect the 1980 General Assembly and the new governor to do something about the howling bureaucratic monster that the Department for Human Resources has become in the last eight years.

FACTS about electrical energy.

What's a power plant worth... to you?

Jobs, food, homes. Power plants are worth plenty; providing enough electrical energy for jobs, food production and processing, homes and schools, and removing a lot of uncertainty about whether there will be enough to take care of tomorrow's needs. Even with conservation more electricity will be required in the future. New families are being formed, obsolete generating units have to be replaced, and more electricity generated from coal will be needed to make our country less dependent on foreign energy supplies.

7-10 years to build. We don't build plants unless there is a demand for more electricity. However, we can't wait until the demand comes before starting construction—the power must be available when and where it's needed. And, it presently takes 7-10 years from the time the need for a power plant is determined until construction is finished. Not only does it take longer to build a power plant today, it is also much more expensive. Inflation and environmental controls greatly increase construction costs, which are ultimately reflected in your electric bill.

You can help. In a world of energy uncertainty, we're working to provide an adequate and reliable supply of electrical energy for you and your children. How much is a power plant worth? It's worth enough we can't afford to be without it. We'll do our part. You can help by conserving electricity.

Mrs. William Allen White

Miss Stewart Weds Mr. White
July 29th in Danforth Chapel

The marriage of Miss Marita June Stewart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Gibson Stewart of Wildie, to William Allen White, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Edward White of Morganfield, was solemnized Sunday afternoon, July 29th at Danforth Chapel in Berea.

Reverend Charles F. Brumley performed the double-ring ceremony before an altar of white gladioli and majestic daisies, flanked with matched foliage arrangements and candelabras.

Mrs. Martha Todd of Berea, organist, presented a program of nuptial music.

Escorted to the altar by her father, and given in marriage by her father and mother, the bride was wearing a white silk organza gown, fashioned with an empire bodice, bishop sleeves and mandarin neckline, accented with an imported chantilly lace. A soft A-line skirt swept to an attaché chapel train with flounced hemline trimmed with chantilly lace. A camelot cap secured her finger tip veil of illusion. She carried a bouquet styled-with japhet orchids, stephanotis and entwined with baby's breath.

Mrs. Laura Lee Speaks of Crab Orchard, matron of honor, was attired in a gown of apricot knit, fashioned with an angel knit blouse bodice accented with a sunburst pleated skirt. She carried a lace fan accented with butterfly orchids and sprinkled with baby's breath.

Bridesmaids were Dr. Kathryn White and Miss Linda White, sisters of the groom, both of Lexington. Their gowns were fashioned after that of the honor attendant, each carrying identical fans and flowers.

William E. White served his son as best man. Groomsman were Thomas Gibson Stewart and Kenneth Gordon Stewart, brothers of the bride.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Stewart wore a floor-length gown of mint green chiffon fashioned with long bishop sleeves, a-line skirt and self belt. She carried a white cattleya orchid attached to her beau clutch bag.

Mrs. White, mother of the groom, chose a floor-length gown of willow green chiffon, fashioned with a portrait neckline, deep pleated capelet, with a full knife pleated skirt with self sash. Her flower was a cattleya orchid.

A reception honoring the newlyweds was held in the Oak Room of Boone Tavern Hotel following the ceremony. Assisting with the reception were Miss Clair Highower, Hopkinsville, Miss Laurie Dupre, Jeffersontown and Miss Susan Sheeran, Louisville. Miss Ronda Harrison, Berea, cousin of the bride, presided at the guest book. Rice rosettes were distributed by Misses Jill Williams, Berea, and Stephanie Starnes, Athens, Tenn., both cousins of the bride.

The bride will be a senior this fall at the University of Kentucky, where she is a member of Zeta Tau Alpha sorority.

The groom is also a senior at the University of Kentucky and a member of Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity.

For her travel, the bride chose a mid-length dress of ivory linen with fitted bodice, tie-neck, long fitted sleeves, accented with Bole-ro edged in handworked eyelet. The orchid she wore was from her bridal bouquet. After their wedding trip, the couple will reside at 159 Gazette Avenue, Lexington.

The bride-elect was honored with a miscellaneous shower June 29th at the home of Mrs. Laura Lee Speaks of Crab Orchard.

The rehearsal dinner was given by the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W.E. White, on July 28th at Boone Tavern Hotel, Berea.

off his newly remodeled office. His trademark at left on the sign has been registered with the patent office.

Fletcher Holds Open House In Newly Remodeled Store

Kevin Fletcher, sign maker, has recently remodeled his store on Main Street in Brodhead. "Fletcher's Sign Co." is open 9 to 5, weekdays and until noon on Saturdays.

Mr. Fletcher has done more signs in Rockcastle County than anyone else, and he has a distinctive style of lettering that people recognize. Among the Rockcastle trademarks he has designed and printed are: The Bank of Mt. Vernon, Dowell and Martin, Rockcastle Steak House, Family Life Center, Rockcastle Multi-County Industrial Park, Brodhead Sunday, Gregg's Heating and Cooling, Rockcastle Auto Parts, Holiday Family Restaurant, Doug's Hair Designs, and many more. His signs can be seen on windows, billboards, trucks, boats and road-sides.

Mr. Fletcher, who is now majoring in advertising at Eastern Kentucky University, said he was never formally taught how to make signs.

"I was always good in art, and I just kept practicing lettering until I could do it," he said. His first sign, done at his father's request, was for Fletcher's Grocery Store on Main Street. "But remember if you look at that one, I was only sixteen and that was my first sign," Mr. Fletcher said.

His artwork is sometimes used on the signs, and he enjoys designing trademarks and illustrations. His own trademark, a series of rectangles forming an abstract F, is in the process of being registered with the U.S. patent office.

Mr. Fletcher, a 1975 graduate of Rockcastle County High School can be reached at 758-4165, days, or 758-8461, at night.

He Is Just Away

With a cherry smile,
And a wave of the hand,
He has wandered into an unknown land,
And we yearn for the old times and the glad return,
Thinking of him faring on,
And still the same and,
Say...He is just away.

When good friends walk beside you,

On the trails that one must keep,
Burdens seem less heavy,
And the hills are not so steep,
The weary miles pass swiftly,
And the world seems brighter when,
Friends walk by your side.

In Memory of Ed Payne, August 1, 1978.
Missing him and loving him, and appreciating the love of friends.

Attend Conference

Theresa Glovak, a senior at RCHS and her advisor, Mrs. Betty Glovak, an instructor of Home Economics at RCHS, were two out of 1900 students and teachers to attend the 33rd Future Homemakers of America annual Leadership Meeting July 7-13 in Washington, D.C.

The 4 day meeting, with the student developed theme, "Future Unknown-Dare to Determine Your Own," helped teens explore how they might prepare for the social changes of today and tomorrow.

Over 1500 high school students and 400 teachers, both male and female, traveled from all over the U.S., Puerto Rico and the District of Columbia and raised as much as $850 apiece to be a part of this leadership event.

Activities during the conference included futuristic workshops on lifestyle, careers, education, the family, habitats, communication and transportation. Students visited their legislators on Capitol Hill and attended future forums conducted by experts from the Washington, D.C. area. In addition, there were in-depth seminars on teen parenting, nutrition and working with the handicapped.

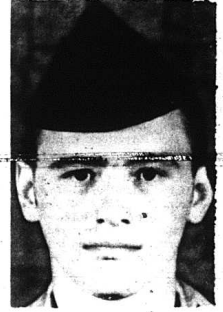

Theresa is a National Committee member. She and 51 other committee members attended sessions that would train them in their responsibilities for the year. One of the biggest duties is to hold workshops, presentations and talks onto the new National film, "Using Today to Build Tomorrow". Any club, group, etc. interested in this work should contact her at 758-8159.

Mrs. Glovak also attended the National Committee Member Workshop and an advisor training session.

Theresa is the RCHS chapter president. This year she was elected as one of the ten Ky. State officers. The office which she holds is that of State Song Leader. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Glovak of Brodhead.

Selection to be a delegate to the National Meeting is a very high honor since only 24 delegates went from Kentucky. Future Homemakers have 12,000 chapters with a national membership of 400,000. The organization is unique in that it is determined and run entirely by its members—young people between the ages of 13-18. One important thing that Theresa learned was "everyone is a homemaker—boys, girls, young and old."

Pfc. Billy D. King, son of Mrs. Wilma King, Brodhead, recently completed One Station Unit Training at Fort Benning, Ga. OSUT is a 12-week period which combines basic combat training and advanced individual training.

The training included weapons qualification, squad tactics, patrolling, landmine warfare, field communications and combat operations. This qualifies the soldier as a light weapons infantryman and as an indirect fire crewman. Soldiers were taught to perform any of the duties in a rifle or mortar squad. King entered the Army in December, 1978.
