Corn Silage Harvesting Time

The time to harvest corn silage is near. The key quality silage will be determined by the stage of maturity and moisture content at harvest. Silage cut and stored right will mean that it will contain about 65% moisture.

Start chopping corn when the kernels are mature-well dented and after a black layer has formed between the kernel and the cob. Watch the leaves; the best silage is made when the leaves are brown about one-half way up the stalk. Good silage should contain about 65% moisture. If too wet, the silage will usually separate from the silo and if too dry, packing and good fermentation can be a problem. Additionally, dry or wet silage may not be consumed as readily as normal silage.

Silage should be chopped at 18 to 30 mm length. This allows for good packing and for proper fermentation in the silo. Silage can be stored in any structure which keeps out air and water, including bunkers, uprights, trenches, stacks, or plastic bags.

The four most important steps in making good silage are: chop at the right stage of maturity, chop fine, fill fast and pack well.

Planting Evergreens

Late August and September is an ideal time to plant evergreens, provided plenty of water is available. Evergreens are good plants to use but they must be selected carefully and correctly located. There are several different kinds of evergreens and they have different prices. A person should not be misled into buying cheap plants, because in all probability they are not very good. A few of the better kinds are always much better looking than many of the cheap ones. There is nothing that makes a home look worse than to have evergreens that are not good looking.

Remember-it is possible to have a good planting of mixed plants-part evergreen and part deciduous or flowering shrubs. Also there are the evergreens that have broad leaves just like the shrubs, and they can be mixed with the other plants. Each home should be studied to make sure of getting plants suited to it.

Short Rows

A farmer and gardener knows there are three principal elements that all plants require in varying amounts if they are to grow properly, namely, nitrogen, phosphate and potash. These elements are given to the plants in the form of fertilizer, which is usually dug into the soil around the plants or in the soil in which they will be planted.

But what some plant growers may not know is what part each element in a bag of fertilizer plays in the process of plant growth. For that enlightenment, here is what soils and vegetables specialists have to say about the subject.

Nitrogen, sometimes called ammonia, promotes the leaf and stem growth. Lack of this element is manifested by a pale color of the leaves. It is represented by the first figure of the analysis found on bags or boxes of complete commercial fertilizers. The term complete fertilizer means a product that contains all three of the principal elements in proportions represented by the figures on the package.

Phosphate produces plump seed, the sole object of a plant's life. The flowers of a plant, however beautiful, are only means to that end. It is represented by the second figure in that analysis.

Potash, the plant nutritionists add, increases root growth and stiffens the plant structure so that it may carry the flower erect so they can be readily reached by pollinating insects. It is represented by the third figure in the analysis.
And how are we to know when any of these elements is lacking in the soil? A soil test is perhaps the most reliable method of finding out, but there are definite symptoms in plants that indicate deficiencies. As stated previously, if plants lack phosphorus or potassium instead of being a dark, rich green, nitrogen is lacking. If flowers are few in number and small in size, indicating a lack of strength to produce a full setting of seed, phosphate may be deficient.

Then if the plant looks well and there appear to be plenty of flowers, but the stems are weak and need staking, or if the roots of such crops as beets, potatoes and carrots are under-sized, potash is probably lacking.

potash, however, plant specialists urge caution. This element, they say, shouldn't be applied liberally. Potash will make vegetables tough. For plants that bear large flowers, such as peonies and dahlias, potash in abundance is necessary to produce the stout stems to hold these flowers erect.
When should fertilizers be applied and how much? For this information there is no better source than your County Extension Agent. If in doubt, contact him.

Propane is better. Propane is gas... the efficient energy.

Propane heats over two homes with the same original energy. It takes to heat one home electrically. Propane does over three loads of clothes to one. Cooks two meals to one. Heats nearly 2 1/2 gallons of water to one.

And the new gas appliances conserve so much energy, you can save enough to do all these jobs for up to two extra months each year. So, don't waste energy. Don't waste money!

School began last Wednesday for these two youngsters and over 3,000 more students in Rockcastle County School. Enrollment was slightly down this year but Supt. Charles Parsons said this was due to a change of age for kindergarten enrollment. The children get a break next week when schools close for Labor Day Monday, September 3.

3,230 Students Enroll in Schools

As of Monday morning, 3,230 students were enrolled in Rockcastle County Schools, according to Charles B. Parsons, Superintendent. The enrollment figures breakdown as follows with last year's figures appearing in parentheses: Rockcastle County High School, 933 (938); Mt. Vernon Elementary School, 830 (895); Brodhead, 650 (679); Livingston, 352 (354); Roundstone, 420 (428); and Blue Springs, 45 (46).

Mr. Parsons said the slight drop in enrollment was due to the kindergarten entrance age change.

IMMUNIZATIONS

Several children are being allowed to attend school with a provisional immunization certificate because of not having completed their immunization series before the beginning of school.

Mr. Parsons said this would be allowed until the Christmas break when, if the series had not been completed, the children would not be allowed to attend school further this year.

Mr. Parsons did say that parents of elementary school students were to be commended for their cooperation in obtaining all necessary shots for their children. He said that there were very few children in the elementary schools without their full immunization series.

Another Rabid Skunk Killed

Another rabid skunk was killed last Saturday by Walter Shepherd on the grounds of Mt. Vernon Elementary School.

Steve Midkiff of the Rockcastle County Health Department reported that tests in Frankfort showed the skunk to be "very rabid" and urged parents to again warn their children against approaching any animal. The skunk had reportedly been sighted all over Mt. Vernon before being killed. So the chance is there that contact was made with other animals.

The statement "very rabid" brought forth the question from some of whether rabies are possible by degree rather than just being either or. It is our understanding that in some cases there is a borderline point where the animal could be or could not be rabid; but, in this particular case there was no doubt that the animal was infected.

Court Opens Bids

At a call meeting of the Rockcastle Fiscal Court last Friday, bids for construction of concrete bleachers at the Brodhead Fairgrounds were opened.

The new bleachers will replace the old covered grandstand which is presently being demolished and will provide a room underneath for use during the Brodhead Fair and other activities.

Four bids were received and Preston Collins of Mt. Vernon was the successful low bidder. Mr. Collins submitted a

Mr. Brown is the second recipient of the award. Clyde Linville received the first such honor last year.

The award was made at Monday night's meeting of the Rockcastle Improvement Council. Mr. Brown was unable to attend because of illness and the award was accepted by his wife, Mrs. Flora Mae Brown and granddaughter, Cindy Taylor.

Mr. Brown has been a farmer in this county for over 30 years. Among his major contributions

FHA Study Will Probably Decide Rate Increases for Water Districts

A decision by the Mt. Vernon City Council on whether or not to increase water rates to districts and associations was delayed for possibly six months Monday night at a special meeting of the Council and representatives of the districts and associations.

The six month time period came about when it was decided to wait on a recommendation by FHA on what rates should be charged. The FHA recommendation will come in conjunction with information needed by the city for their proposed expansion of the sewer plant.

The meeting began with Mayor Roland Mullins asking the Council for their comments concerning their feelings about the present water problems being encountered such as the peak days this summer which caused the town's storage tank to twice run dry.

Councilman Chester Hellard told representatives of the districts that the water plant was now being run at capacity and, he felt this would eventually mean that the capacity would have to be expanded to keep in step with growth in the county, and this would probably lead to increased rates to help finance the expansion.

Mayor Mullins said that he felt controlling peak days was the primary problem since the plant now has the capacity to pump 365,000,000 gallons a year and last year pumped 167,000,000 gallons.

Matt Powell, water plant superintendent, said that week ends were a real problem in hot weather and cited the recent problem of the town's storage tank running dry which would have caused a severe problem if a fire had broken out.

Jack Crawford of Crawford and Crawford Engineers, who was at the meeting on another matter, became involved in the discussion at this point and said that several factors could be contributing to the problems at the plant rather than high usage of the water.

Mr. Crawford reminded the council that some capacity is lost in filter inefficiency and in backwashing of filters. Mr.

Crawford also said that the plant is evidently only operating at about one-half capacity over the last one or two year period and that the only real problem is about 4 to 6 days in the summer. He said the plant may need some overall operational changes which would result in more efficient use of the pump. Crawford also pointed out that usage would drop off considerably after Labor Day when tourism usually declines in the area.

Mr. Crawford said that the Council might consider a study to see how much water was being lost through leaks and to try to pinpoint where the loss was since anything over 10% was considered an abnormal loss. Northern Rockcastle Water District reported their loss to be slightly over 10% and Western said their loss was around 18% at present but they were taking steps to cut this down.

At the last meeting, there were some statements made to the effect that the districts and Western Rockcastle Water Assn. were selling water to four counties and getting ready to expand into Madison. Mayor Mullins pointed out to the representatives that this was erroneous information and that it was understood that Western was the only one selling water out of the county and that was to Lincoln County. Of course, as was pointed out in last week's paper, water districts are not allowed to cross county lines for purposes of selling water. Representatives of Western Assn. reported that, although they were allowed by contract to sell some 300,000 gallons a month they were presently only selling a little over 200,000 gallons.

Bill Bailey and D.A. Robins were at the meeting representing the Rockcastle County Industrial Authority and queried the council as to whether or not the industrial authority's proposed storage tank could be tied into Mt. Vernon's system to be used in cases of emergency while Mt. Vernon's storage tank was being replenished.

Mr. Crawford said this was a possibility although it would have to be decided whether or not the elevation of the industrial authority's tank would be sufficient to be used by the system. A later suggestion was that Brodhead might be able to be fed out of the authority's tank because of its proximity to the park where the tank will be located.

A suggestion that some work on the pump might increase the capacity was met with the question from Matt Powell of whether or not the water lines to the storage tank would take the additional pressure. Mr. Crawford said this would be no problem but this would have to be looked into since there have been several times already when the lines have developed breaks.

If the City should decide to raise rates, they were asked by Attorney Jerry Cox, who was present at the meeting, to do it in a manner where Western Water Assn. and Northern Water District would have time to go before the Public Service Commission and ask for an increase to their customers to offset their additional cost. Mr. Cox said this normally took at least 90 days.

The Council finally decided to turn the matter over to the Water and Sewer Committee and let them, along with Matt Powell, meet with the Industrial Authority to discuss the feasibility of tying the authority's storage tank into the city's system and thus helping to alleviate the problem.

Later in the meeting, the council again discussed increasing rates and Councilman Bob Jasper proposed that a survey of several other districts in the state be made to see how Mt. Vernon compared with what they were getting for their water. The other council members seemed in general agreement with this proposal but no official action was taken on the recommendation.

The Council did direct that Mary McClure, City Clerk, to request copies of the audits of Northern Water District, Western Water Assn., and Brodhead for

It was not a good night for Rocket fans last Friday night as the Rockets opened their 1979 season at Berea and were trounced by the Pirates 30-0. In the above photo, Steve Mitchell, No. 32, goes for yardage against the Pirates but it was one of the few gains the Rockets made all night. Two Rocket fumbles, deep in their own territory and recovered by the Pirates, were responsible for two of the scores. The Rockets are home this Friday night.

Tony Hopkins, chairman of the selection committee for the Everett C. Brown award, is shown presenting Mrs. Flora Mae Brown with the plaque which will bear her husband's name as the second recipient of the annual honor. His granddaughter, Cindy Taylor, is also in the photo holding the individual plaque given to winners of the award which is for outstanding contribution to the improvement of Rockcastle County. Mr. Brown was unable to attend the meeting because of illness.

The Rockcastle County Fiscal Court, for the present term and the one just prior to that, and County Judge Executive Hubert Tanker, were the recipients of the Improvement Council Award for their contribution to the county. Under the last two courts, the county has seen the construction of an industrial park and growth in other areas. Presenting the award was Giffitt Craig, chairman of the selection committee for this award and secretary of the improvement council (far left), to Judge Tanker and Magistrates Danny Sargent and J.R. "Boss" Cramer.

Meeting and picnic at Hill State Shrine recently. I enjoy reading the Fairview news in the Signal. I also enjoyed reading the letter from Mr. Chester A. Nolan. I missed the Brodhead news because Mrs. McWhorter stayed with her husband, while he was in the hospital.
 I was sorry to read of Joe Robinson and George Parsons deaths. Both families have my deepest sympathy.
 Keep up the good work and keep the Signal coming, because I like to read the Fairview news, to hear of my friends whom I know and am so fond of. Keep me informed of my friends and I will stay happy because I am reading of the people I know and admire so much. Thanks.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Hines

Miss Treon Weds Mr. Hines In First Baptist Ceremony

The sanctuary of the First Baptist Church was the setting of the ceremony on August 11, at two-thirty in the afternoon, which united Miss Brenda Jean Treon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elwood C. Treon, and Henry Casey Hines, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry H. Hines, in marriage.

The Reverend Raymond Roeden performed the double ring ceremony.

The church was decorated with arrangements of white mums, white gladiolas, and peach carnations. The silk bouquets, corsages and boutonnieres, which were carried or worn by the bride, members of the wedding party and family were made and arranged by the bride and her mother.

A program of wedding music was presented by Mrs. Rochelle Williams, organist, and Miss Tina Cain, pianist. Mr. Casey Carroll of Mt. Vernon and

Mr. and Mrs. W.R. Hinsel of Mt. Vernon wish to announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Joyce, to Donald A. Pott of Lexington. The wedding will be on September 8, 1979 at 6:30 o'clock in the evening at Nothdale Baptist Church in Mt. Vernon. All friends and relatives of the couple are invited to attend.

Mrs. Valette Jennings of Berea were soloists. Mr. Carroll presented "Always and Forever," "Time In a Bottle," and "The Wedding Song." Mrs. Jennings performed "Whither Thou Goest," "Hold Thou My Hand," and "The Lord's Prayer." Miss Renée Jennings, flutist, accompanied her mother on the selection, "Hold Thou My Hand."

The bride, escorted by her father and given in marriage by her mother and father, wore a traditional style gown of white chantilly lace and organza. The fitted bodice and full bishop sleeves were accented with delicate lines of chantilly lace. The sweetheart neckline was detailed with edging of lace. Her full multi-tiered skirt was trimmed on each layer with lace and gracefully flowed to chapel length. The bride carried a cascading bouquet of peach and white silk roses sprinkled with baby's breath.

Miss Patricia Ann Mink served as maid of honor. She wore a floor length gown of sunny yellow crepe fashioned in princess style. Over her gown, she wore a cape of yellow anemone chiffon which tapered from empire length in the front to chapel length in the back. She carried an arrangement of peach silk roses and lily of the valley.

The 201 Facilities Survey was discussed with Jack Crawford and an associate of Crawford and Crawford Engineers. The men told the Council that a grant offer had been made to the city by EPA of $17,250 to study the need for an expansion of the city's sewer system. The city's share of the cost of the study will be $4,750 which Mayor Mullins said had already been budgeted.

Mayor Mullins told the Council that this study would take the Council to the design phase which would include a plan for renovation of the present sewer plant and then an application would be made for funds with which to do the renovation. The mayor also said at this time when FHA would do a study on what water rates should be and the Council can use this information in making a final determination of what to charge for the city's water.

Livingston is assistant director at the Senior Citizens Lunch Program.

It was my fault that the notice of the High School Association Annual Homecoming Dinner Meeting at the Rockcastle County High School Building, Staraday, September 15, at 6:30 p.m. was not put in the Signal for four successive weeks. I looked at the calendar wrong and had on my copy the 30th, and September 6 and 13. If you have not turned in your acceptance card, please do so without delay, to Marie Cox, Secretary.

RSV Exhibited in Kentucky The U.S. Department of Transportation's Research Safety Vehicle (RSV) visited Louisville recently as part of a 54-city tour through the eastern half of the nation. National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) head Joan Claybrook (top left photo) was with the car in Louisville to explain safety features it contains. Claybrook said the RSV prototype, which cost $183,000, was designed with "crash safety" in mind - polyurethane foam fills the hollow sections of the car's body and keeps the passenger area intact in frontal and side crashes at speeds up to 50 mph. Pictured at right is the RSV with its "gull wing" style doors and front hood open. The rear trunk opening allows access to the engine of the car. The bottom left photo shows RSV as it would appear on the road. Claybrook said if the car is put into mass production, it could be available in 1985 for around $6,000. The prototype was built by Minicars Inc. of Götting, Calif. (Photo by Jim Toole)

A grant of about $70,000 has been awarded to Richmond for community Assessment of decentralized solar energy technology. The grant was awarded by the Oak Ridge (tn) National Laboratory (ORNL) to involve Richmond in evaluating it's energy future and the special role that solar energy might play.

The grant will support the program which is scheduled to run from June 1979 to may 1980.

Dr. Janet Patton, Assistant Professor of Political Science at Eastern Kentucky University and contact person for ORNL, said, "The study will identify the political, social and economic lifestyle consequences of increased use of solar energy."

"The assessment," she added, "will be undertaken by a group of individuals representing all segments of Richmond." The group is now being recruited and will hold its first meeting in late August.

The assessment group will develop a set of alternative solar energy options Richmond citizens may use in the future. The community will then be asked to evaluate these possible choices. Several programs will be planned to acquaint the community with possible solar energy alternatives.

Members of the Task Team that developed the proposal submitted to the Oak Ridge National Laboratory were: Joe Ballou, Superintendent of the Richmond Water, Gas and Sewage Works; Dr. George E. Campbell, Associate Professor of Social Science; Dr. Romeo E. Cartier, Civil Engineering Consultant; Dr. Jerry Faughn, Professor of Physics; Alfred Forsyth, Media Specialist; Dave Graham, former City Manager of Richmond; Mrs. Connie Lawson, General Sales Manager, Dean Foster and Associates; Mrs. Maria Long, Certified Public Accountant; Dr. Ronald L. Marjonneaux, chairman and professor of Geography; Dr. Janet Patton, Assistant Professor of Political Science; and Dan Reynolds, Assistant Vice President of State Bank and Trust Company.

Revival at Berea

Rev. and Mrs. Darrell Orange of Dawson Springs will be the evangelist for a revival meeting in the Berea United Pentecostal Church Tuesday thru Sunday September 4-9th. The Berea United Pentecostal Church is located just one mile east of I-75 on Ky. 21 and services start each evening at 7:30 p.m.

Rev. Orange has both evangelistic and pastoral experience and his wife is very talented musically and vocally. The church pastor, Rev. James H. Cain cordially invites the public to attend any or all of the services.

Joe Rosselot, Project Manager for the Kentucky River Foothills Development Corporation; Dr. J. Allen Singleton, Chairman and Professor of Political Science; Charles Tramel, Production Manager of the Exide Industrial Battery Division; Dr. Richard Vance, Associate Professor of Political Science; David Warner, Assistant Superintendent of the Richmond Water, Gas and Sewage Works; David Williams, former Richmond Community Development Director; and Dr. Vance Wisenbaker, Chairman and Professor of Anthropology, Sociology, and Social Work, also participate in developing the proposal.

The Oak Ridge National Laboratory, operate by Union Carbide Corporation, Nuclear Division, in fulfillment of responsibilities to the Department of Energy (DOE), requires that community level technology assessment for solar technologies be carried out in selected communities in various regions of the United States. The first community chosen was for the Northeast U.S., a three-county area centered in Corning, New York. The second was Richmond, the experimental community for the Southeastern U.S. The third was Kent, Ohio as the Midwest site.

Anyone interested in being involved in the program, or anyone desiring further information about the program or solar energy is asked to contact Dr. Janet Patton, Political Science Department, Eastern Kentucky University, Richmond, Ky. Ph. 622-1180 or 622-5931.

Put up some of those plentiful potatoes from your garden as catsup or sauce, so handy for fall and winter meals. Following are some recipes.

Tomato Sauce

- 18 tomatoes
2 green peppers
2 medium onions
2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon ground cloves
1 teaspoon allspice
2 cups vinegar

Peel, core and chop tomatoes. Use sound, ripe tomatoes without any spoiled spots. Chop peppers and onions fine. Combine all ingredients. Boil slowly for about 4 hours, or until thick. Fill boiling hot within 1/2 inch of top of pint jars. Process 10 minutes in boiling water bath canner.

Tomato Catsup

- 8 pounds ripe, sound tomatoes
1 medium onion, chopped
1/4 teaspoon cayenne
1 cup sugar
1 1/2 cup white vinegar
1/4 teaspoon whole cloves
1 1/4 tinches stick cinnamon, broken
1 teaspoon celery seed
4 teaspoons salt

Wash, peel, remove stem ends and cores, and quarter tomatoes. Set tomatoes stand in colander to drain off excess water. In a 10 quart kettle or Dutchoven mix tomatoes, onion and cayenne. Bring to boiling and until thick. Fill boiling hot to about 15 minutes, stirring occasionally. Put tomatoes through food mill. Strain juice. Add sugar to tomatoe juice and return to kettle.

Bring to a boil, then simmer briskly 1 1/2 to 2 hours, or until mixture is reduced by half. (You can measure the depth with a rule at start and end.)

Meanwhile, in small saucepan, combine white vinegar, whole cloves, stick cinnamon, and celery seed. Cover and bring vinegar mixture to boiling. Remove from heat. Let stand.

Strain spiced mixture into tomatoe sauce. Discard the spices. Add salt to mixture and simmer till of desired consistency-about 30 minutes. Stir often to prevent sticking.

Pour hot catsup into hot pint jars, leaving 1/2 inch headspace. Adjust lids. Process in boiling-water-bath canner 5 minutes. Makes 2 pints.

loupes up to 10 days in plastic bags in the coldest part of your refrigerator.

Ripe watermelons will last about a week at room temperature. They'll keep 3 weeks at 45 to 50 degrees, and from 80 to 90 percent humidity. The coldest part of an unheated basement might be the best place to store them at your house.

Pint Jars for Creamed Corn Why do you have to process creamed style corn for such a long time when you can't? And why are you only supposed to use pint jars?

These are two questions that home canners ask every summer, and here are the answers. Because heat penetration is slow for cream-style corn, it takes a long time for the corn in the center of the jar to get hot enough, so extra processing time needs to be allowed. If you put it in quart jars, the corn nearest the surface of the jars gets away too much processing time, which can practically ruin the flavor; while the corn in the center still may not be hot enough to destroy microorganisms that could cause food spoilage or food poisoning if allowed to survive.
