Thanksgiving Time For Family Gatherings

Around the turn of the century, Kentucky travelers on their way to Thanksgiving family gatherings bunched up in lap robes and took off across the countryside in horse-drawn buggies and wagons.

Distances were limited to a few miles, and everyone always arrived early enough in the day to help put dinner on the table.

In the last 80 years many things have changed in Kentucky. Families still get together at Thanksgiving, but they no longer go by buggy. Sometimes they arrive only in time to sit down to eat.

Kentuckians travel farther now than they did eight decades ago. With more people on the roads this Thanksgiving, Kentuckians have more to think about than their ancestors had as they travel to the traditional feast.

Just as Grandfather prepared his horses for the trip, giving them plenty of oats and water, so must his descendants prepare their automobiles for a safe journey. This includes making sure the car is in excellent working order and has plenty of oil and gas.

Grandpa's horses had to have shoes that fit properly just as the air pressure in our tires must be checked for optimum gas mileage safety.

Many times when Grandfather began his journey he carried a rifle in the buggy. He often spotted wild game and could stop on the way to gather food for his family. This also allowed time for his passengers to take a break. On long trips today it's a good idea to take advantage of rest areas along the way.

The Kentucky Department of Transportation also suggests that motorists traveling over the Thanksgiving holiday plan their trips to avoid peak travel periods and congested areas of traffic. Of course, Grandpa in his open-air buggy didn't worry about traffic jams.

Other tips offered by the Transportation Department include observing the 55 mph. speed limit and using seat belts.

"Last year 15 Kentuckians lost their lives in traffic accidents over the Thanksgiving weekend," said Benny Maffett, transportation safety coordinator. "If we all observe basic auto safety rules, our Thanksgiving holiday this year will be just as happy and safe as the ones our forefathers enjoyed."

There are times to exercise and times to exercise caution.

Regular exercise is vital to building and maintaining a healthy, fit body. It improves our cardiovascular system. It helps us control weight. It keeps us flexible. It makes us feel and look better.

But, like most good things, even exercise can be overdone, or done at the wrong time. For example, physical activity during extremely hot or extremely cold temperatures is risky. To be safe, don't exercise when the temperature is above 90°F, or below 15°F.

Be especially careful of hard seasonal chores such as digging a garden, shoveling snow, or doing yard work in the hot sun. All put a severe strain on the heart. If you can't avoid these tasks, then at least do them sensibly. Work slowly. Take frequent rest breaks. And exercise caution.

Exercising to stay fit is something we can all do. And so is exercising good judgment. If you're over 35, and out of shape, don't start an exercise program without your doctor's o.k.

At Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Kentucky, we're concerned about the rise in the cost of health care. By working to stay healthier, we can all do our part in helping to hold down these costs.

Construction Firm Takes Option on Fairground Acreage for Housing Project

At last Wednesday's meeting of the Rockcastle Fiscal Court, the Court gave County Judge Executive Hubert Thacker authority to sign an option agreement between the county and Wallick Construction Co. of Columbus, Ohio. The agreement gives Wallick Construction an option to purchase five acres, and more than 7 acres, of Fairground Property for $10,000 per acre.

According to the option agreement, Wallick Construction intends to build a multi-family unit apartment project under an FHA insured loan in coordination with the Department of Housing and Urban Development Rent Subsidy Program.

Judge Thacker said that Allen F. Scott, vice president of the company, told him that plans to apply for financing to construct between 50 and 70 units and Mr. Scott said he felt confident of approval for the project.

Wallick has an option until May 6, 1980 and paid the court $500 for the option.

In other business, the court appointed Frank DeBorde to serve on the goal Severance Economic Aid Board, granted Judge Thacker authority to exercise an option between Tom and Verla Sigmon and Rockcastle County for purchase of 1' 95/100 in the Brindle Ridge area to be used for construction of a roadway. The court also approved the transfer of $8,500 in Revenue Sharing funds from the ambulance insurance account to pay for the land.

The court also approved the transfer of $3,000 in Revenue Sharing funds from ambulance miscellaneous expense account to the Rockcastle County Comprehensive Care Center fund.

Unanticipated funds, in the amount of $35,000, had to be amended to the general budget by the court. $20,000 of these monies came from the Local Convention and Community Centers at Frankfort for use on construction of the grandstand-exhibit hall at the fairgrounds and $15,000 from Cumberland Valley Area Development District to be used for the same purpose.

There will be a Christmas Parade in Mt. Vernon on Saturday, December 1, at 10 a.m. to kick-off the holiday season.

the Rockcastle County Saddle Club, special interest cars (antique models, etc.) and, hopefully, entries by merchants and civic organizations.

City Council Meets

Several routine items of business were before the Mt. Vernon City Council at their regular meeting Monday night.

As one of their first decisions, the Council approved an easement for a right-of-way through city property at Lake Linville to property belonging to Doug Brock. Mr. Brock has requested the easement several times.

Marshall Bullock of Paul Street in Mt. Vernon was before the Council to request a sewer line to be run to his property. The Council agree to lay the pipe if Mr. Bullock will purchase it if an easement can be obtained by Mr. Bullock from a property owner whose property the line will have to cross and if, after inspection, the project meets with the approval of Mat Powell, Jr., water works superintendent.

The Council also agreed to take off a proportionate part of the sewer charge amounting to $14.88 on the water bill of Mrs. Louise Owens, who had a water lead in October which caused her bill to rise considerably.

A proposal by William Sullivan of Life and Casualty Co. of Somerset was heard for hospitalization to cover city employees and their families. The cost would be approximately $1,143 per month. The Council took no action on the proposal nor was there much discussion.

On hiring a part-time deputy clerk to replace Mrs. Connie Riddle who has turned in her resignation, the Council failed to hire any of the several applicants. Mayor Roland Mullins said there would be a CETA Rockcastle Countians are being urged to cooperate in this drive since 90 pints are needed to reach the goal set for our county. If this goal is reached, the blood needs of everyone in Rockcastle County will be covered for a year.

Even if the drive falls short of the needed 90 pints, every individual giving would cover the blood needs of himself and his immediate family for a year.

Hours for the bloodmobile will be from 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. In addition, Burger Queen will be giving every donor a free cheeseburger.

Last Thursday night, the Rockcastle Kiwanis Club held a Ladies' Night at the Rockcastle Steak House. During the special program, Lt. Gov. Robert Messer installed the new officers and directors for 1979-80. Installed as officers were, seated, M.L. Becker, president; standing, Harold Ballinger, secretary and treasurer and Bill James, vice-president. New directors are: John Holbrook, Greg Stephens, Mike Bryant, Ron Cain and Gillis Craig.

Dr. and Mrs. Keith Greenway

Dr. Greenway To Set Up Medical Practice Here

Dr. Keith Thomas Greenway will be setting up an office for the general practice of medicine in Mt. Vernon some time in July of 1980.

Dr. Greenway graduated from the University of Toronto in 1976 and completed his rotating internship and general surgery residency there. He has also completed an anesthesia residency under the University of Ottawa Program and is presently serving as an officer in the Canadian Armed Forces with the rank of Captain. He is also completing more post-graduate courses.

Dr. Greenway's wife, Sally, is an RN and plans to work at the Rockcastle County Hospital helping to set up their intensive care section - an area in which she specialized in school.

As to their reason for choosing Mt. Vernon to live and work in, Mrs. Greenway answered,

Letters to the Editor

DEAR EDITOR:

In your paper last week, there was a news section on React. I wrote the React news and through an error, on my part, I gave the wrong team number. I am very sorry that this happened.

It should have read, News from React Teams #4163. Again, I apologize to Tri-County React Team #4312 for the mistake. I did not do it on purpose.

Sincerely,
Rockcastle County Line React Team Member, Ann Senters

"Anyone who cannot read should not be allowed to vote." The above statement is one which a precinct worker made to me this past Tuesday, November 6, while I was standing in line to vote in our statewide election.

I would like to challenge the validity of this statement with the following questions: Who should be allowed to vote? (1) the person who cannot read but has followed all the candidates with interest and has listened to radio and television discussions and talked with acquaintances and has made a reasonably informed judgement and thus votes in all the races, or the person who can read but knows only the names of the candidates for governor and maybe the names of the candidates for town council and therefore casts his vote in only these two races?

(2) The person who cannot read but is concerned enough to make some kind of considered decision about the candidates and makes the extra effort to vote with only personal satisfaction as his reward or the person who can read and receives a monetary reward for his vote.

(3) The person who cannot read or the person who is blind?
(4) The person who is right handed or the person who is left handed?
(5) The person who has blue eyes or the person who has brown eyes?
(6) The person who presumes he has the wisdom to decide who should or should not be allowed to vote, or the person who takes care of his personal vote and has the wisdom not to tamper with the vote of others?

Legislative Report

By Rep. Harold DeMarcus

A lull now exists in the never-ending stream of elections held in Kentucky. The preparation and appropriation of Kentucky's 1980 biennial budget will garner increased public attention.

Removal of the sales tax on residential utilities resulting in an annual revenue loss of $58 million and a reduction of $80 million in federal revenue sharing funds serve to make the Commonwealth's financial picture very bleak. The severely depleted road fund and a dangerously high bonded indebtedness should also be considered.

Additionally, the governor has reported that state agencies will need an extra $3 million to finish operations for fiscal year 1979. By law the state cannot operate at a deficit and the legislature must appropriate funds in regards to this situation.

and Phyllis Holbrook, and Charlotte H. Burdette, real property located in Rockcastle County to Howell H. Holbrook, no tax.

Thurman and Elva Lena Tompkins, real property located in Rockcastle County to Tommie Cunagin Barons, tax $5.50.

Hobart Vernon Dwight Griffin, real property located in Rockcastle County to Ella M. Snodgrass, tax $45.00.

Grant Comley, real property located in Rockcastle County to Linda Comley, no tax.

Willie and Geneva Eileen Hurst, real property located in Rockcastle County to Charles C. Hurst, tax $19.50.

William M. and Delores Ann Phelps, real property located in Rockcastle County to Jack and Dawn Stallworth, tax $15.50.

Jesse and Hazel Taylor, real property located in Rockcastle County to James R. and Gladys M. Akers, tax $8.00.

Virgil and Bessie Bustle, real property located in Rockcastle County to Billy Joe and Donna Spoonamore, no tax.

In the past week the Appropriations and Revenue (A&R) Committee has received 1980-82 budget records from each state agency. During the month of December, A&R will hold many budget hearings and, hopefully, have a firm grasp on the situation before the 1980 session begins.

Around the middle of January, the new governor will submit his budget proposals to the legislature. A&R will prepare a budget based on state agency results which will be compared to the governor's proposals and sometime in March a compromise budget will have to be enacted by the General Assembly.

It is all too obvious that the state needs money and to many elected officials that means higher taxes. However, other reasonable alternatives exist which deserve in depth inspection.

For example, if the workman's compensation laws are re-written in a more realistic manner, Kentucky may once again become attractive to industry which would provide more jobs and thereby enlarge the tax base. Also, a proposed sovereignty tax on minerals such as zinc and natural gas would increase revenue by $30 million.

If the General Assembly were to pass a bill which I introduced to make county attorneys full-time employees, a $1.5 million savings in state revenue would occur. There is also a slim possibility that the federal government may increase funding for the repair of Kentucky coal-haul roads.

With inflation and interest rates running a neck in neck race to finish us all, it becomes imperative for state government to hold the line. If government cannot work within a framework and hold down spending, then a peaceful solution to inflation will be hard to find.

Considering that Kentucky's state government consists of 40,000 employees and a $7.5 billion budget, it is hard to believe that we cannot work within this framework. If the new governor and legislature are unable to reduce the size of government or at least hold the line, the alternative will be a continuation of spiraling inflation.

On Thursday, November 15, a Hard Rock Band, TNT, will be performing live in concert at the Sonic Spectrum Concert Discotheque, 202 S. Main St., Somerset, Ky. They will be performing the first and third Thursdays of every month. Band members are, front row, standing, from left: Jeff Epperson, guitar, vocals; Ric Evans, son of Mr. & Mrs. James H. Evans of Route 1, Mt. Vernon, guitars, second row, seated, from left: Barry Garner, keyboards, vocals; Tim Huddleston, vocals, drums; Allan Eubank, Bass, vocals. Show time is 8 p.m. till midnight. Admission $3.00. Everyone welcome.

program available in January under which he though the City might be able to obtain a part-time worker.

Brenda Hayes was also before the council to request that they take over the monthly payment on a street light located in front of the Nazarene Church on Fairground Hill. After some discussion, the Council agreed to have the street committee look at the location of the light to see whether it was of benefit to other property owners in the area, and if so, agreed to take over the light.

Burgess Mullins was hired as an operator for the Water Works Plant; Bud Cox was given permission to take the old fire truck to Lexington to have the front end repaired and approximately $190 received by the city for damages to the police cruiser when it was involved in a minor accident, will be used to purchase raincoats for all city policemen.

Kentucky Afield

By John Wilson

Kentucky's quail hunters should find improved conditions in most sections of the state when this year's small game season opens Nov. 15, according to an annual survey conducted by the game management division of the department of Fish and Wildlife Resources.

However, quail numbers are still below average, the result of two severe winters which caused high mortality, particularly in areas with poor or marginal habitat.

August sightings of quail in the western portions of Kentucky were up 41.2 percent over last year, the survey shows.

Eastern Kentucky scored a 40 percent gain, while the west-central portion of the state showed an increase of 11.4 percent.

The Bluegrass was the only region to show a decrease. August sightings were down 27.5 percent from a year ago.

These results are from a survey in which cooperating rural mail carriers record the number of quail and rabbits they see on their regular routes. Separate figures are kept in June, July and August. Comparing results from year to year gives biologists an index of population changes.

"The June sightings were low this year," says Ben Burnley, the wildlife biologist in charge of collecting and tabulating the quail figures for this survey. "But the big increases in August over most of the state are encouraging and probably mean that there will actually be more quail than indicated by the three-month average figure of a 5.58 percent increase over last year.

"But how the individual hunter does," Burnley says, "depends largely upon local conditions. This survey covers broad areas of the state, and the hunter could find adequate numbers of quail in regions where the overall numbers are down or low, numbers where the overall population is higher. Where there is good habitat, there will be quail."

The same holds true for rabbits, Burnley says. Good habitat means high survival rates and higher populations. Rabbits did not suffer the drop in numbers that quail did, but populations are still below average. The survey shows overall statewide populations about the same as last year.

Biologists predict that it will take at least another two years for quail and rabbit populations to reach what they were before "the winter of '77".

The first phase of this year's small game season runs through November 30, when it closes for the December 1-3 deer gun hunt. From December 4, the rabbit season runs through Jan. 21. Quail hunting will be allowed through Feb. 17.

The limits on rabbits are four daily and eight in possession after two or more days of hunting. Quail limits are 8 daily and 16 in possession.

Survey Says Prices Higher Here

According to a Marketbasket survey conducted by volunteer reporters, under the coordination of the Kentucky Farm Bureau Women's Advisory Committee, it costs more to shop for groceries in Mt. Vernon than any other of the 26 survey locations.

The survey showed that 40 selected food items cost $54.81 in Mt. Vernon while the cheapest place to shop in the 26 survey locations was Shelbyville where the price for the same 40 items was $47.69. Average for all the survey locations was $51.36, up just over 1 percent from the September figure but still 1.5 percent below July's average.

The survey focused on staple food products and by-products of farm crops produced in Kentucky.

The survey went on to report that most price increases in the supermarket right now are being experienced in the highly processed food area, like pre-cooked items, processed blends and the like.

Archaeologists estimate that primitive man as early as 50,000 B.C. discovered that certain spices could make food taste better.

Grassland Renovating Time Is Here

If you are planning to renovate some grasslands, November is the best time to start. Here is the process: Take a soil test, and apply needed lime, phosphate, and potash. Fall and early winter liming and fertilizer is easier than that is the spring, and is just as productive as spring application. Besides, you will likely be too busy to get to this job next spring. Graze the fields you plan to renovate now while the grass is tasty. Sugars are still high in the grasses and will stay high for several weeks. Keep livestock confined to small areas so they can eat the top growth quickly. Five to ten head of cattle per acre will graze a heavy growth fairly clean in a week to ten days.

Daniel Dale Sowder of Rt. 1, Mt. Vernon, killed this 10 point deer Saturday morning in Jackson County, using a 12 gauge shotgun slug.

Tear out half or more of a good sod by using a field tiller, cultivator, or disk. On rolling land, till on the contour. Leave the ground rough. Till to expose 40 to 60 percent of the soil surface.

If these three steps are done now, the odds of succeeding with early spring seedings are greatly increased, because: (1) the grass was removed when it was in prime nutritional quality, (2) fertilizer and lime was applied when it was easiest and most convenient to do, and (3) tillage was done when the grass was in dormant stage.

Mulch Strawberries For A Bigger Crop Next Spring

There are several reasons for covering strawberry beds with a mulch this fall and they all add up to better crop next year.

A mulch prevents winter injury in two ways. It reduces root damage from heaving caused by freezing and thawing. And the protective ground cover keeps frost from going deep, especially important during a winter when there is little or no snow cover.

Early next spring the mulch will delay blooming and reduce the chances for a late frost damaging the crop.

Later on the mulch will help control weeds, keep berries clean and make it easier for pickers to stay off muddy ground.

Mulch with clean wheat straw that is free of weed and other seeds. A good source is a near-by grain farmer who has baled wheat straw on hand. Grass clippings, leaves and similar materials should not be used because they will compact and smother the strawberry plants.

Best time to apply the mulch is when plants go dormant following the first hard freeze-usually in late November or early December. Spread it at a rate of 20 to 30 percent per 100 lbs of row or 1.5 tons per acre.

Don't cover the plants completely. You should be able to see a few leaves when you are through.

Tips For Cooking Turkeys

Every year, consumer health protection staff members at the Department for Human Resources remind Kentuckians that holiday turkey needs to be cooked with special care. If you don't follow simple precautions, you could end up with food poisoning.

Begin by washing your hands and cleaning your utensils cutting board and anything else used in the preparation.

Thaw the turkey in a refrigerator set below 45 degrees. Don't thaw the turkey, refreeze it and thaw it again before cooking.

If you're thawing the turkey in microwave oven, cook the turkey immediately. Be careful or you'll encourage the growth of bacteria that causes food poisoning.

If you're having dressing, it's best to cook the bird and the dressing separately. If you cook them together, though, stuff the dressing in the turkey just before cooking and remove it right after the turkey's finished cooking.

How do you know when it is done? The best way to find out is by using a meat thermometer. Stick the thermometer into the thickest part of the thigh, but not in contact with the bone. Cook the turkey in a 325-degree oven until the thermometer registers 190 degrees.

If you don't have a thermometer, grab a drumstick and move it around. The joints should move easily. Give the thigh a pinch. It should feel soft.

When serving your holiday bird, slice off the amount you're going to eat for this meal and enjoy. Leftover meat should be removed from the bone, placed in a shallow pan and stored in the refrigerator. Refrigerate the stuffing separately. Don't leave the turkey out at room temperature for more than two hours. If you don't plan to eat all those leftovers within a few days, put them in the freezer.

PET FACTS & FIGURES

One "client" of a New York City delicatessen that caters to 470,000 dogs among the city's population of 4.5 million is reported to have 75 cats, including a red satin-lined pearl-encrusted cloak and rhinestone-trimmed sunglasses. He dips in one of the private limousines, and rides up to the front door in a chauffeured limousine.

Though polite in company, many dogs abuse family carpets, bringing in mud, leaves and odors from the outdoors. You can solve this annoying problem very simply by spraying Lestoil Deodorizing Rug Shampoo's foam all over the rug. In as little as 15 minutes, it dries, so you can vacuum it up. Your rug is clean and odor-free, and your whole room smells fresh.

questions and answers

Q. My neighbor is no longer able to work because of a spinal condition. I suggested he apply for disability benefits, but he doesn't think he has enough social security work credit. How long does a person have to work under social security to be eligible for disability payments?

A. The amount of work needed for disability benefits depends on the person's age when he or she becomes disabled. A worker who becomes disabled before 24 needs credit for 1 1/2 years of work in the 3-year period ending when the disability begins. Workers who are 24 through 30 need credit for having worked half the time between 21 and the time they become disabled. At 31 or older, a worker needs credit for at least 5 years of work out of the 10 years ending when he or she became disabled. Workers 43 or older need additional credit, depending on their age and when their disability began.

Q. My neighbor thinks I might be able to get SSI payments because I have very little income. The only assets I own are my furniture, household goods, and personal belongings. Would they count against me?

A. An individual may have resources (assets) worth up to $1,500 and be eligible for SSI. Not all resources are counted toward this $1,500 limit. Starting November 1, 1979, personal effects and household goods with a total equity value (actual value less money owed) of $2,000 or less are not counted. If the total equity value exceeds $2,000, the excess is counted toward the resource limit. (Prior to November 1, personal effects and household goods with a total market value of $1,500 or less did not count.) For more information, contact any social security office.

Q. My daughter, who is severely handicapped, attends vocational training at a local institution. I've heard that people in public institutions aren't eligible for SSI payments. Does this rule apply to my daughter?

A. In general, a person who is an inmate of a public institution is not eligible for SSI payments. However, if a person is a resident of a public institution primarily for approved educational or vocational training, he or she may be eligible for SSI. For more information, contact any social security office.

Human Resources Begins Adoption Pilot Project

By the time a boy is 10 years old, he's already too old for a lot of things. But he's not too old to need love.

Scott was 10 and available for adoption. But he was too old. Most people looking for children to adopt seemed to want babies or toddlers, not 10-year-olds.

So Scott spent most of his life moving from foster home to foster home, wanting and waiting to be adopted into a permanent home.

Last spring, Kentucky's Department for Human Resources began a pilot project to help Scott and other hard-to-place children. The project set out to find permanent adoptive homes for seven Fayette County children classified as "special needs" children. The category includes white children over 9 years of age, black children over the age of 3, any child with emotional, mental or physical handicaps and sibling who need to be brought up together.

The special needs adoption project was just getting started when Carole and Jerry decided to start their family. They were in their early 40's. Carole felt she was too old to have a child of her own, and both she and Jerry felt their lifestyles and careers were too structured to include the constant demands of a baby. They wanted to share their lives with an older child.

A newspaper story about the special needs adoption project caught Jerry's eye. Soon the couple were traveling from their eastern Kentucky home to attend meetings in Lexington with other interested people and Human Resources staff.

Brooke Darrow, a project staff member, thought Scott might be the type of child Jerry and Carole were looking for and that Jerry and Carole might be the type of parents Scott needed.

"We looked for a family that could give a lot of time to Scott," Darrow said. "We looked at their lifestyles and looked for people who could give him the flexibility and training he needs." While most prospective parents request a certain type of child, Darrow said, Carole and Jerry "were open and expressed interest in several of the children, including Scott."

Jerry and Carole first met Scott in June when he lived in a foster home. They took him out to lunch. "It was love at first sight," Carole said. "He was perfectly comfortable with us."

By mid-August, the adoption process was complete and Scott moved from Lexington to an eastern Kentucky community with his new family. "The special needs staff told us we'd have a 'honeymoon' with Scott and then there would be a testing period," Carole said.

Scott readily adjusted to the pace of country life and quickly made new friends. "But we were kind of unprepared for the emotional problems," Carole said.

"Since Scott has been shuffled from one foster home to another, he's never felt he had

London Area KSP Activity Totals

State police at London report a slight rise in traffic arrests during September.

State Police Commissioner Kenneth E. Brandenburg said today London troopers made 1,097 traffic arrests during September as compared with 1,069 just one month earlier. Drunk driving arrests also were up from 73 to 80 during that same period.

Quoting the latest activity figures available from the London post area, which covers Clay, Laurel, McCreary, Pulaski, Rockcastle, Wayne and Whitley counties, Brandenburg said criminal arrests also went up from 149 to 151 between August and September.

More than 36 percent of the criminal arrests made during September were attributed to investigations by post detectives.

Other September activity totals for the London post included 35 stolen vehicle recoveries, 117 arrests for public intoxication, 236 motorists assisted, 231 vehicle accident investigations, 187 crime prevention program contacts and 41 safety education program presentations.

Statewide, during September, the state police reported 18,504 traffic arrests, including 1,235 for drunk driving, 1,285 criminal arrests and 182 stolen vehicle recoveries.

his own home or family," she said. "He has a major self-concept, and his initial response to everything is negative."

Jerry noticed Scott had problems relating to his new father. "Most foster homes are made up of complete families, and the mother handles the task of child-raising," he said. From this experience, Jerry said, "Scott really knows how to handle women, but he has trouble reacting with men."

After being part of the family for three months, Scott's adjustment to his new life has been smooth. "His problems are very small," Jerry said.

Carole said Scott has accepted his responsibility as part of the family unit. He completes a list of chores, posted daily on the refrigerator, and receives an allowance. He cares for two pets.

Also, he is accepting Jerry as his father and is eager to learn how to use his father's tools and to wear three-piece suits like Jerry's.

Scott also has two new grandmothers and many new friends. "When the phone rings," he mused, "It's always for me." He keeps a scrapbook he calls his life book. He has included snapshots of his dog and cat and a picture of himself with his new mother and father.

"We fell very pretty lucky to have Scott," Jerry said. "We want other families and other children to get adopted, too," Carole added.

Persons interested in adopting a special needs child can get information through the project's toll-free line, 1-800-432-8346.

KSP Predictions of Holiday Traffic Accidents

State police predictions of traffic accidents during the upcoming Thanksgiving holiday weekend probably won't keep anyone off the highways, but they should.

"We'll be out there with everything in our inventory—radar, marked and unmarked cars," said Lt. Ernest Bivens, director of Public Affairs for the KSP, "but I'm afraid that Thanksgiving still is going to turnout to be the last holiday on earth for a lot of people."

Bivens said a high death toll from traffic accidents appears almost a certainty, "unless, by some miracle, everyone suddenly decides to begin obeying the 55 mph speed limit, drive sober and watch out for the other guy."

"I'd like to be more optimistic about the kind of weekend it's going to be," he said, "but, over the past 15 years, the double digit death toll has become virtually a Thanksgiving tradition in Kentucky."

Bivens said that except for 1974, when seven deaths were recorded, every Thanksgiving holiday since 1964 has ended with anywhere from 11 to 32 dead. Last year, 15 were killed, bringing the 15-year death count to 245.

"Only the Fourth of July, with 226 deaths since 1964, comes even close to matching that record. I wish we could blame it on the weather, rather than the drivers, but we can't," Bivens said.

Speed, drinking and failure to yield consistently are listed, year after year, as the major causes of traffic deaths both in Kentucky and nationally, he said.

"And year after year, we repeat the same fact and those same warnings over and over again to anyone who will listen, but people go right on driving as they always have, killing themselves and others," he said.

Thus far this year, more than 119,000 motorists already have been cited by state police for moving hazardous violations, most of which involved speeding, drinking while driving failure to yield.

But the worst may still be ahead of us.

"With Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's coming, one right after the other, we are entering what we fear could be the most dangerous time of the year on our highways," Bivens said.

In an effort to offset that threat, state police will be especially alert during the next six weeks to every type of traffic violation, especially speeding and drunk driving.

For the state police, the holidays are going to be another workday, Bivens said. "We will be out, in maximum force, using every facility at our disposal to keep the death and accident tolls down. If that means spoiling someone's holiday with a traffic ticket then, so be it," he said.

To avoid that inconvenience—or worse, an accident which could very well kill, maim or permanently disable you or a member of your family, Bivens said, "If you are going to drive over the holidays, don't speed, and if you are going to drink, don't drive."

Deer Hunt Update

Bow hunters at Fort Knox's annual deer harvest are making way for the gun hunters in the 1979 hunt.

The 1,500 bow hunters have bagged 70 of the 1,800 available deer since the season opened October 6. The largest deer was claimed by a Radcliff resident, Roger Logsdon, who checked in with a 166-pound, 12-point buck.

Gun hunters registered on Fort Knox this year total 4,800. Three-fourths of those are civilian shooters, mostly from Kentucky, Indiana, Tennessee, Ohio and Virginia, an official from Knox's Hunt Control Section said.

Hunt Control workers stress safety throughout the season, the official said. Three bow hunters were suspended for breaking rules, she added.

As a safety measure hunt officials divide hunters into groups. Each group has a leader, usually someone who has hunted at Fort Knox in the past. He is responsible for overseeing the other members of the party.

All hunters must check into and out of their assigned hunting area, the Hunt Control official said. This procedure helps the officials in case a hunter is lost or injured, she added.

The required blaze orange hats or vests reduce a hunter's chance of getting into trouble in the first place, she said.

This year young hunters on Fort Knox must first complete a hunter safety course. Everyone under 18 years of age must take the course, but it is suggested for all hunters, the official said.

Many other states also offer this safety course and Kentucky accepts certificates from most of them.

Gun hunters for this year's Fort Knox harvest have already received their area and date assignments for the first two weekends of December.

Those are the only deer-hunt days open for non-military hunters this year, but Fort Knox has hunting season for other game also, the Hunt Control official said. Most have fewer restrictions than the deer season and are open to civilian hunters.

For more information on Fort Knox seasons, limits and hunting areas write to the Hunt Control Headquarters, 1327 Briggs St., Fort Knox, Ky. 40121.

Now you can insure your home and car with 1 extra-value policy.

It's called PCP—Personal Comprehensive Protection. It's the extra-value insurance that provides protection for your home and car in one convenient policy. Separate policies often mean separate dollar amounts of protection for your car, your home and its contents. With PCP you get one amount of property protection for your home and its contents. Plus one amount of liability protection for your car and home. Dwelling losses are paid at replacement cost with no depreciation. And there's automatic inflation protection as well as a 5-year renewal guarantee. You can even include hospital indemnity coverage, disability income and mortgage life insurance.

Put your heat bill on a diet.

If your heat bill has gone from "pleasantly plump" to downright fat, you need the Fisher woodstove reducing plan. Burning wood means that you don't use that expensive furnace as much, and that saves you money. As Authorized Fisher Store Dealers, we'll be glad to show you the complete line of Fisher woodstoves. And we'll help you select the Fisher model that's just right for your home. So if your heat bill has been throwing its weight around, cut it down to size - with a genuine Fisher woodstove.
