Saved By What?

As one studies God's word, it is immediately apparent that many factors enter into salvation. For instance, the scriptures teach that we are:

2:3; 1:10
Saved by God (1 Tim. 1:1)

2:3; 1:10
Saved by Christ (Lk. 19:10; John 4:42).

1:18; 1:12
Saved by the Holy Spirit (John 14:26; Rev. 22:17)

1:18; 1:12
Saved by the gospel (Rom. 1:16; 1 Cor. 15:1,2).

5:1
Saved by love (John 3:16).

5:1
Saved by grace (Eph. 2:8,9; Acts 15:11).

5:1
Saved by mercy (Titus 3:4, 5).

5:1
Saved by Christ's blood (Matt. 26:28; Eph. 1:7).

5:1
Saved by the name of Christ (Acts 4:12).

5:1
All of the above factors enter into salvation as related to the divine part. But there are other factors on the human side. The scriptures teach that we are:

5:1
Saved by calling on the name of the Lord (Rom. 10:13).

5:1
Saved by faith (John 3:16; 3:36; Acts 15:9).

5:1
Saved by repentance (Lk. 24:46; Acts 2:38).

5:1
Saved by confession (Rom. 10: 9, 10).

According to police reports, LaFavers said he had stopped at a mailbox and was pulling onto Highway 1650 and that he didn't see the child who had walked in front of his vehicle.

Brian was struck with the right front of the LaFavers vehicle which knocked him down and the tire then ran over the child's head.

Council Awards Bid for Water Plant Renovation to Nash and Stewart

Nash and Stewart Construction Co. of Lexington was the successful low bidder for the water plant project which will include the installation of a micro-flocc filter and tube settlers in the settling basin and the re-wiring of the plant's two water pumps.

Nash and Stewart's bid was $3,813 lower than the only other bid submitted by W.B. Hellard Construction Co. of East Bernstadt whose bid was $61,000.

An engineer from Nash and Stewart was present at the meeting and told the council that delivery of the materials for the project would take about 10 weeks and the construction time period would be about a week.

The council accepted the bid with the provision that the work be completed by July 1. The council also awarded a bid to J.C. Newland and Son of Brodhead for construction of an access street into the elderly housing project behind city hall.

Bids for the project were opened at the February meeting but could not be awarded because of a mistake in the specifications which did not list excavation and sub-grading. R.A. Williams, developer of the housing project and also a bidder on the street construction project, told the council that since the bids were advertised he had been notified that the street had to be 18 feet wide instead of the 16 feet asked for in the original specification.

Since J.C. Newland and Son were the low bidders on the original specifications, by quite a bit, the Council decided to accept their bid of $7,578 and to hire them to do the excavation and sub-grade work and to extend the street to 18 feet wide at a cost of $1,902.00. These two figures totaled were still lower than the next bid to Newland's on the original specifications.

The street project will be paid for from a Community Development Grant from HUD.

On another matter, Mr. Williams also told the council that the housing project would be completed by late May or early June, weather permitting, and that no more insurance or more funds may be available.

He wanted the council to be thinking about the possibility of obtaining a site for more housing of this type. Williams said the site would have to be in the city limits with water and sewer service or adjacent to the city limits where it could be extended. The council agreed to look further into the matter of obtaining a site.

Kenny Robinson, representing the Mt. Vernon Business and Professional Association, was before the council requesting permission to rope off Main Street on Saturday, May 17th for the association's Sidewalk Sale, Flea Market and Arts and Crafts Day. The council granted their permission.

Also during the meeting, the Council passed a resolution, formally giving their approval for the city fire department to take the old fire truck and a partial crew to fire calls outside the city limits. The fee for these calls was set at $250 which is the maximum paid by homeowners' insurance policies.

Bud Cox, assistant fire chief, told the council that representatives of the three departments in the county (Mt. Vernon, Brodhead and Livingston) had met and divided the county into areas which each department would try to cover.

The council then reviewed application for policeman and talked to several of the applicants present at the meeting but took no action as to hiring another policeman.

The council was also told that a survey of the street adjacent to the Rockcastle County Hospital showed that the curb and some of the hospital building were actually built on city property.

On the recommendation of Fire Chief John Cox and Asst. Chief Bud Cox, the council decided to ask the hospital just to move the curb on Lewis Street back so that the fire truck can make the turn from Maple Drive across Lewis St.

Moore Charged in Burglary

Ronnie Dillard Moore, 22, of Mt. Vernon, was arrested about 4 a.m. Monday morning by city policeman Frank DeBorde after being caught inside Jim Owens' Exxon Station on Richmond Street.

Patrolman DeBorde said he was patrolling Richmond Street when he noticed a broken glass in the station's bay door window. He then saw someone inside the office area crawling on the floor and observed the manhide under a desk. Mr. DeBorde then had the owner, Jim Owens, called to the station and they unlocked the door and went inside to find Moore hiding under the desk.

Moore has been charged with third degree burglary and his bond has been set at $2,500.

Two other places of business and one residence were also broken into sometime Sunday night.

Mr. McCollum won the party leadership job over incumbent county chairman R.C. Owens, who was elected for a four-year term.

Other candidates were: Ruth Guiock, vice chairman; Ricky Kirby, youth chairman and Robert Cromer who was unanimously elected secretary-treasurer.

Voting in the election were precinct captains and co-captains and youth captains.

BLUE MOLD NOTICE

Tom Mills of the Extension Office wants tobacco growers that if they wish to order any fungicide chemical for the Blue Mold problem on tobacco, they should get their order in early.

Mr. Mills said farm supply houses report that there is a limited supply of the fungicide available and the chemical must be ordered.

Both florist shops, Mt. Vernon Florist and Sparks Flower Shop, were entered and the residence of Bud Cox which is on the same street as Mt. Vernon Florist. Mr. Cox reported a sum of money taken from his home; nothing was apparently taken from Mt. Vernon Florist and a roll of quarters was reported missing from Sparks Flower Shop.

License Changeover

Will Begin in 1981

Kentuckians will begin the changeover to four-year drivers' licenses in 1981 under a bill signed into law last week.

According to F. E. Hodges of the Transportation Department, the fee for regular operators' four-year licenses will be doubled to eight dollars from the four dollars now charged for a two-year license.

Hodges said a two-year transition schedule will be followed beginning in January 1981 to balance the workload for circuit court clerks' offices around the state.

For two years some individuals up for license renewal will still receive two-year licenses, while others will receive the four-year type.

The schedule for 1981 follows (listed by month of renewal, first letter of last name and

January through March, A-K, 4 years; January through March, L-Z, 2 years; April through Sept., L-Z, 4 years; April through September, A-K, 2 years; October through December, A-K, 4 years; October through December, L-Z, 2 years.

The same schedule will be in effect for 1982, Hodges said.

Hodges said the transition schedule is designed to balance renewals so that about one-fourth of all individuals will renew each year in the four-year cycle from 1983 through 1986.

Following the schedule will be mandatory. "Motorists who will be issued a two-year license under the schedule cannot be issued a four-year license and

Special meeting next Monday night

Local Landowners Meet With Attorney General Concerning Leases

Opal Brock, Dorothy Chastan and Proctor Brock of Rockcastle's Copper Creek, along with other concerned people who have signed leases with Addington Oil Co., met in the Attorney General's office of Consumer Protection last Thursday to discuss that office's ongoing investigation. It became apparent, during the course of the meeting, that the misrepresentation of leases were similar throughout several counties, raising the question in people's minds that Addington Oil may have implied or instructed their agents to misrepresent the lease in order to obtain people's signatures.

Several questions were raised with the Attorney General's representative, Rick Masters, among them: Will the Attorney General's office send out a letter to each and every leaseholder informing them of their rights and explaining the Attorney General's office require Addington Oil to renegotiate the leases with those who have sent in affidavits? If Addington agrees to renegotiate, will the Attorney General's office have a representative of that office in there with each leaseholder while negotiations go on? In the event that Addington refuses to renegotiate under the guidelines provided by the Attorney General, will the Attorney General sue on behalf of the leaseholders? How does the suit on behalf of 18 leaseholders in Boyle County effect renegotiation plans. What about individual suits? Or should everyone stick together?

Answers to these questions and discussion of just what is happening in Rockcastle County will be on the agenda for the county-wide meeting in Mt. Vernon on Monday night, March 31 in the Rockcastle County Courthouse on the second floor. A letter to every leaseholder in Rockcastle County will be going out this week, so there should be a large turnout and some interesting discussion.

Meanwhile, in the legislature, all the attention is now being paid to Senate Bill 257. This Bill was a good one to start with, allowing 2 years for the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection to study pilot projects which were permitted and held to certain regulations. However, Senator Hughes, from Ashland, a former Addington Oil Company lawyer, amended Senate Bill 257 to exempt 5 acres per county for exploring and drilling, with no provisions for Department for Natural Resources monitoring or permitting. After great hue and cry from a number of concerned citizens, among them the Copper Creek group, the Bill was assigned to a House Committee on Natural Resources and that committee deleted the 5 acre exemption. Efforts are now being made to draft language which would allow the exemptions but require the Department for Natural Resources to monitor each 5 acre pilot project exempted from the 1 year moratorium.

The concerns over this 5 acre exemption were twofold. When environmental regulations to be developed and placed on this mining - but we also want to make sure that Addington doesn't come in, test for just what the oil yield per ton of shale would be in order to demonstrate the economic feasibility of this whole venture, then map it all out and sell it to an out-of-state company before all this leasing controversy is cleared up. Clearly, it is in the best interests of those persons who hold leases and are dissatisfied to be able to deal directly with Addington until this whole issue is settled, rather than try to get satisfaction from another new holding company.

Come to the meeting Monday night, Rockcastle County Courthouse, 7:30 p.m. In the meantime, if you are dissatisfied with your lease, write up your affidavit and send it in to the Attorney General's office. We have 70 people in Rockcastle County who signed leases. Tell your neighbor, let's get at least everyone informed of just what the options are in this controversy.

For more information, or if you want to help plan the meeting, call Jan Sutherland at the Appalachian Coalition Office, 758-4127, before Friday noon or after Sunday noon.

Daylight Robbery Nets Thieves

$2500 From Ben Franklin

A roving band of gypsies in a Winnebago motor home are apparently responsible for a $2500 robbery which took place at the Ben Franklin Store in the West Gate Shopping Center Sunday afternoon about 2 p.m.

Employees of the store told City Policeman Tyre Gray, Jr. that 10-12 women entered the store between 2 and 2:30 p.m. and caused disturbances in different parts of the store. One of them shoved a clerk around when the clerk refused to open a locked register to check the woman out, insisting instead that she be checked out through the register already open.

Following the disturbance, the women left the store and departed the center in a Winnebago. Some four hours later, as the store was being closed for the day, the money, in cash and checks, was discovered missing from a desk drawer in the office.

Patrolman Gray said that several hundred dollars was still in the desk in a metal box and had apparently been overlooked by the thieves.

No arrests have been made in connection with the theft.

April is Clean-Up

Month in Rockcastle

April has been designated clean-up month in Rockcastle County, by the Rural Development Agency.

A county-wide clean-up day will be held Thursday, April 26th.

Clubs in the county have volunteered their help during the month.

More details will be made available later.

Bishop Home Burns

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bishop of Wildie was completely destroyed by fire late Sunday afternoon. The family was not at home at the time.

Mr. Bishop said he had no idea as to the cause of the fire and that only a couple of pieces of living room furniture were saved.

The Bishop's four daughters are ages 11, 10, 9 and 8 and the family is looking for a home to rent in the Roundstone school district.

The home belonged to Bill Stewart of Wildie.

Bill Norton, on tractor, gets ready to demonstrate his power till machine to other farmers who gathered at the Roy Brown farm near Quall last Thursday for a Pasture Renovation Field Day. Mr. Norton's power-till seeder is the only one of its kind in the county and was designed by a UK professor with the assistance of Marshall Scott, a farmer from Crab Orchard. Mr. Scott was present at last Thursday's demonstration and spoke to the farmers. The Zebra Seeding method was also demonstrated during the day.

Legislative Report

By Rep. Harold DeMarcus

During the last few weeks of every legislative session the same thing always happens. The General Assembly has to make decisions on a large number of bills in a very short period of time.

The newspapers refer to this time as the crunch, a time when a state representative's day is usually twelve to fifteen hours long. This is a very important time because bad bills can be passed and good bills can get lost in the shuffle.

The best way to illustrate the crunch is to recount the legislative activities that I was involved in on Monday, March 17th.

The Appropriations and Revenue Committee resumed budget hearings on the Department of Human Resources from 8:00 a.m. until noon. No decisions were made but discussions revolved around the committee's budget, which seeks to appropriate $24.8 million less to Human Resources than the executive budget recommendation.

From 12:00 until 1:30 p.m. the State Government Committee discussed House Bill 532, which is the very controversial workmen's compensation bill. House Bill 532 could not be voted out of committee because there were not enough members present.

At 1:30 p.m. the House Republican Caucus held its daily meeting. Republican legislators use this time to discuss upcoming legislation and to exchange ideas and information.

The House of Representatives convened at 2:00 p.m.; several speeches were made, two bills were passed and the House recessed for an hour and thirty minutes for committee meetings.

During recess, the State Government Committee met once again to take action on House Bill 532. All members were present. House Bill 532, which was finally voted out of committee, seeks to establish a floating cap, which will be determined by the state workmen's compensation Board, on permanent partial disability benefits.

The House reconvened at 5:00 p.m. and stayed in session until 7:30 p.m. Twenty seven bills, dealing mostly with cities of the first class were passed, eight bills were defeated and action on two bills was delayed as they were placed on the Clerk's desk.

At 7:30 p.m. the Rules Committee met and sent twenty-five bills to the floor of the House of Representatives for debate and then passage or defeat.

From 8:00 until 11:30 p.m. the Appropriations and Revenue Committee conducted more budget hearings. During this meeting, the governor's income tax revision bill, which is nothing more than a tax increase, was dealt a severe blow when the committee decided to hold the bill for further discussions.

Tomorrow morning the Appropriations and Revenue Committee will resume budget hearings at 8:00 a.m., thirty-eight floor amendments will be filed on House Bill 532, 10,000 citizens concerned about House Bill 532 will visit the Capitol, the House will take action on thirty-two bills, the Rules committee will consider forty-five bills and council continues.

Grand Jury Report

The March term of the Rockcastle County Grand Jury recently made their report and most of it concerned the maintenance of the courthouse building.

In their report, the grand jury recommended that areas of the courthouse be repaired and commended the jailer for the cleanliness of the jail area. The report also commended Circuit Court Clerk Money Ed Cummins, Sheriff Henry Lee Abney and Circuit Judge Phillip K. Wicker for their cooperation.

The report, in its entirety, is as follows: "The Grand Jury has conducted an examination of the condition of the Rockcastle County Courthouse and wish to report to the Court its findings. We have observed the jail and found it to be in excellent condition and repair and wish to commend Jailer Billy Kirby for the cleanliness of the jail area. There are some ceiling tiles that need to be replaced in the jail area.

liness of the courthouse and would like to recommend that a janitor be hired to keep the corridors and offices in the courthouse clean. There should be janitorial services provided to the Circuit Judge's chambers and the Circuit Clerk's chambers as well as the District Judge's chambers and the Circuit Courtroom as well as the District Judge's office space and Courthouse and the County Clerk and Circuit Clerk's Offices. The Administrative Office of the Courts pays $8,710.00 to the County for janitorial services and the Grand Jury feels that this is sufficient money to keep the Courthouse clean by mopping and sweeping and keeping the walls painted and ceilings tinted. Irene Bales, County Court Clerk, has improved her office space by wallpapering the walls, and she and the other clerks county officials have been having to do their own waste basket emptying, and these efforts will not be very helpful until the Plaza Courts has the Courthouse roof repaired and supplies them with janitorial services and supplies, such as toilet paper dispensers in the restrooms. The Grand Jury would like to recommend that the discolored, deteriorated tiles in the ceiling be replaced as soon as possible so that the Courthouse be kept in excellent repair for the use of the citizens of Rockcastle County. This Grand Jury would like to commend the cooperation of the County Court Clerk, Circuit Court Clerk, Money Ed Cummins and Sheriff Henry Lee Abney an Circuit Judge Phillip K. Wicker going about its work. The Grand Jury directs that a copy of this report be sent to the County Judge Executive and each member of the Fiscal Court and a copy to be published in the Mt. Vernon Signal. This is the 19th day of March.

SOCIAL & WOMEN'S NEWS

Dar Meets

The Rockcastle Chapter DAR met Tuesday night, March 11 at the home of Mary Alice and Virginia Hunt in Mt. Vernon. In the absence of the Regent, Mrs. Nancy Williams, the ritual was conducted by Mrs. Norma Eversole and Miss Janie Ramsey. Mrs. Virginia Hunt read the President General's Message and Mrs. Mary Alice Hunt read the National Defense Report concerning legislation to mandate the recitation of the Pledge of Allegiance to the American Flag in public schools. Mrs. Jean Towery read the minutes of the last meeting and also presented the Treasurer's Report. Mrs. Mary Walker reported the Memorial City made at Duncan Tavern in remembrance of Mrs. Hazel Owens, past Chapter Regent and organizing member.

The program was a repeat of a chapter favorite where all members bring their heirlooms, mementoes and family tales. Items shared included antique jewelry, woven coverlets, quilts, an old family Bible printed in German, handmade scarves, small items of furniture, glassware and many, many family stories which were considered to be the most precious possessions to be handed down to successive generations.

The meeting adjourned to a buffet table decorated with Shamrocks, reminding many of their Irish ancestry. During the social hour, Mrs. Rachel James and Ms. Virginia Hunt entertained on the organ and piano. Others present were Mrs. Belle Huff of Berea and Mrs. Kathlee Hunt who was co-hostess with her daughters.

Wild Greens

Wild Greens taste especially good if you gather them early in the spring while they are young and tender. They are nourishing food and a very important wild natural resource.

The main thing to remember when going out to hunt them is to be sure you know what you are picking, and if you go onto someone else's property, be sure to get permission first.

Some good places to hunt for wild greens are in wood lots, old pasturefields, stream banks, swamps and even on the lawn. Many of these plants grow along roadsides, but it is best not to gather them from such places. They are likely to be polluted with the residue of automobile exhaust fumes.

Few springtime activities are more pleasurable than hunting down wild greens, and few food items are more satisfying to winter-jaded appetites.

Some wild greens are: poke, dandelion, wild lettuce, crow's foot, evening primrose, water-cress, upland cress, shepherd's purse, broadleaf plantain, and lamb's quarters.

Preparation and Cookery:

Gathering wild greens in early spring is one thing, but preparation and cooking is another. The first activity is always fun, but the second can be a little bit tedious.

All plants gathered from the wild must be looked over carefully and washed thoroughly through two or three waters. The "looking" must be done to find and remove stray ladybugs, slugs and other insects and to remove grass stems, dead weed fragments and other trash.

To cook the greens, old-fashioned style, they can be dumped into a saucepan with a little water, salted to taste, covered and cooked until tender. Wild Greens should not be cooked long or with much water. Although some cookbooks recommend parboiling (changing the water once or twice to remove a bitter or undesirable flavor), this is not necessary if the plants are gathered when young and tender. (The problem here is that you pour out vitamins and minerals with the water).

MT. VERNON SIGNAL THURSDAY, MARCH 27, 1980 P-5

The bitterness of some greens, like upland cress or dandelion, can be offset by cooking them mixed with milder plants. Greens can also be seasoned with bacon drippings. A dash of vinegar or a squirt or two of lemon juice before serving will always add to the taste.

Wild greens blend well with any menu, but go best with a working man's meal of soup beans, fried potatoes, cornbread and raw onions. Such a dinner washed down with coffee or tea sustain many a mountain farmer of the past during long springtime days spent in clearing up new grounds, grubbing of old fields, swinging a turning plow and getting ready to put in a crop.

We do not yet have detailed information about the nutritional value of most wild greens. The wild plants included here can be classified in the leafy green vegetable group, an important source of Vitamin A and ascorbic acid, Vitamin E, iron, calcium and potassium are other nutrients provided by the leafy green vegetable group.

Preservation

Wild greens are abundant in early spring and may be preserved and enjoyed later in the year.

Canning. Can only fresh, tender young greens. Look over and wash thoroughly. Steam in covered container until the leaves are completely wilted (about 10 minutes), using the smallest possible amount of water. Pack loosely into jars, leaving 1/2 inch headspace at the top. Add 1/4 teaspoon salt per quart, 1/2 teaspoon per pint. Adjust jar lids. Process in pressure canner at 10 pounds pressure (240 degrees). Process pint jars for 70 minutes, quart jars for 90 minutes.

Freezing. Select young tender greens. Look over and wash thoroughly. Blanch in boiling water for 2 minutes. Cool promptly in cold water and drain. Pack into containers, leaving 1/2 inch headspace. Seal and freeze at zero degrees. If you plan to cook several different kinds of wild greens together, they may be frozen mixed.

It was a real treat to receive the River Drive Caller once again of the River Drive Christian Church in Irvine, from Eddie and Roxanne Hammond. In the Feb. 14th issue The Ladies Retreat was very successful. Thanks to Roxanne, Isabell and Louise for planning a great program. Mrs. Margie Wilcop from Rockcastle County spoke. Also a notice of the regular business meeting held on Feb. 25th for the Lifesavers will be at 2 p.m. at Eddie and Roxanne's apartment.

Thanks for sending us the Beacon from the First Baptist Church in Mt. Vernon. Much encouragement is received from Bro. Roaden's message in the Beacon that he will assume his routine pulpit response no later than March 9th after serious surgery recently. He said, "God was there comforting me and providing the courage and strength I needed." The church extends its deepest sympathy to Lee Durham in the loss of his sister, Helen Stevenson. "Prayer is your own private line to God."

Mr. Birch Stokes has recently been in Cincinnati, Ohio Hospital. Also Mrs. Glenna S. Lawson underwent surgery in Dallas, Texas. Her daughters, Miss Patty Lawson and Mrs. Joe Poston were there with her. We pray that good health will soon return to them.

Mrs. Joyce Wiseman has been confined to her home with the flu this week. She hopes to be able to return to her secretarial work at the Christian Academy Monday. (Note from Joyce: I'd just like to add that had it not been for my mother's constant care and help, I wouldn't have had a hope of getting better. Thank God for her.)

Recent birthdays which we recall at present are: Mrs. Ethel Greenwood, 86; Mrs. Anna Lois Thornton, 56, both on Feb. 1st. Also Mrs. Greenwood received a call from another daughter, Mrs. Edwina Padgett that she had a new great grandson born on February 1st, to Paul and Faith Padgett. He has been named Jason Paul, weighed 7 lbs. 10 oz. and was welcomed by seven-year-old sister, Melanie. Mrs. Greenwood and sister, Mrs. Cepha Kincer are in Indianapolis, Indiana keeping house for Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thornton, while the Thornton's are visiting his sister in Ft. Charlotte, Florida.

Another birthday that fell on Feb. 1st was that of our dear friend, Mrs. Elizabeth Ziegler of Calloway. We are pleased to hear that she is at home from the Berea Hospital improving from a recent illness. On Feb. 7, Mrs. Carrie Smith celebrated her 87th birthday. Mrs. Mary Scott was 92 on Feb. 29th. Mr. W.R. Coffey was 95 on Feb. 20th. Mrs. Cepha Kincer celebrated her birthday March 7th. Mrs. Kincer and Mr. and Mrs. Danny Coker has returned home from a recent visit with Mr. and Mrs. David Turner and family in Columbus. Miss Mrs. Emma Thompson's birthday was March 13th. Happy birthday to all these dear folks.

Children's Musical To Be Presented at First Christian Church

"The Story-Tellin' Man", a children's musical, will be presented by the Sunshine Choir of the First Christian Church March 30th at 7 p.m. "The Story-Tellin' Man" was a teacher who told lots of stories. Some were happy, some were pensive and sad. Some were full of adventure, some were quiet though provoking. Some made obvious points, others were difficult to understand. But every story taught an important lesson. Singing these songs is an exciting experience and a way of learning and presenting the parables.

"The Story-Tellin' Man" was written by Ken Medem and is being directed by Julie Harris and Leah Riddle. The Sunshine Choir is comprised of the six youth groups of the First Christian Church. This production involves the participation of more than fifty people in order for it to be presented.

The minister, Ernie Johnson extends a cordial invitation to the public to attend.

DOT Announces County Projects

The state Transportation Department has announced a project to haul and place stone on 45.1 miles of county roads.

Rockcastle County forces will be responsible for all phases of work.

The project was added to Rockcastle County's 1979-80 county road aid program. Transportation Secretary Frank Mets said.

Spring Forest Fire Season Underway

March, the official start of the Spring forest fire season, arrived with snow and rain and has continued with above average moisture. This has suited the Kentucky Division of Forestry's Rockcastle County Ranger, Steven Bullen, just fine. Ranger Bullen cautions, however, that the low hazard conditions change rapidly as the weather warms. "One or two days of sunshine without rain and the woods will burn," warns Bullen. For example, he reports in spite of the weather, the county has had 12 fires that have burned 85 acres since the third week in February.

that since March 1 to May 15 is generally a time of high fire danger in the woods, during the 10 week period state law prohibits anyone from burning anything within 150 feet of the woods except between the hours of 4:30 p.m. and midnight. Also, anyone setting fire to any flammable material on their own property without first notifying adjacent landowners and taking precautions to assure the fire does not escape is in violation of the law. Even if a person is able to keep his or her fire under control, he or she can still be fined for not obeying the law. If the fire does escape, regardless of the precautions taken, the person responsible is subject to pay a fine plus the cost of suppressing the fire.

Bullen emphasized that these fires destroy tree seedlings, ground cover, wildlife and the habitat. The heat from the fire scorches the larger trees and starts heart-rot that spreads each year thereafter until eventually the tree is a cull. "Nature is never the same after a fire because generally the woods never completely heal from the damage," he said. For that reason, he requests all Rockcastle County citizens to keep our woods healthy by preventing fires this Spring.

All the vitamins needed by a grown man each day amount to a mass no larger than a grain of rice.

Sowder Nursing Home in Brodhead held their annual American Heart Association Spring Festival and the day was enjoyed by both patients and guests. The fishing booth was one of the most active locations during the day. Here, James Edward Mullins tries his luck while some porters look on.

Entertainment was provided by employees of the nursing home and guests. In the above photo, Mrs. Leah Riddle and Carol Ann DeBorde did a little "bunny hopping" in their clown outfits. Also on the program were Worth Ann Witt, Caroline Cash and a group of youngsters from the First Christian Church in Mt. Vernon.

Teens Unaware of Effects of Drinking

According to a national survey of health awareness and practices among 17-year-olds and young adults, a significant percentage of the younger group were unaware of the negative effects of drinking.

The Educational Commission of the States' National Assessment of Educational Progress (NAEP) component conducted the national survey of health awareness during 1978, questioning two groups - 17-year-olds attending school and adults between the ages of 26 and 35. Overall, both groups surveyed demonstrated good understanding of health issues, according to NAEP. However, when asked four true/false statements regarding the effects of alcohol on the body, 85 percent of the young adults and only 61 percent of the 17-year-olds correctly answered all questions.

Of the 17-year-olds, 15 percent did not believe that alcohol affects driving ability after one drink and 12 percent did not believe alcohol is physically addictive. Among the young adults, 5 percent were not aware of alcohol's effects on driving ability and 3 percent did not know that alcohol is addictive. Both groups had better scores on questions involving alcohol's effects on bodily functioning and on the liver and the brain.

For further information, refer to Report No. 08-H-01, National Assessment of Educational Commission of the States, Suite 700, 1860 Lincoln St., Denver, Col. 80295. The price of the complete report is $3.15.

Kentucky Afield

By John Wilson

Kentucky's 1980 trout program gets underway March 31, when over 1,000 rainbow trout will be stocked into the tailwaters of Lake Cumberland. By April 10, all streams, lakes and tailwaters in the commonwealth should have received their first shipment of trout.

By the end of October, the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources will have stocked over 335,000 catchable rainbow trout in Kentucky waters. "Catchable" by the way, refers to the size of the fish (around nine inches, on the average), not to any genetic engineering designed to make life easier for fishermen.

Since this appears to be developing into a cold, wet spring, there might not be many other angling opportunities around when the trout trucks start rolling. So if you're itching to get in some fishing, you might give trout a try.

Your regular fishing tackle will probably catch trout, so the only additional equipment you'll need is a trout stamp, available for $3,000 at all county clerk's offices and at most places where fishing licenses are sold. (This stamp must be affixed to your fishing license and signed.)

The favorite baits among Kentucky trout fishermen are worms, whole kernel corn and small balls of cheese. Small spinners and crankbaits are the choices of those who prefer artificial lures. Although you don't see many people fishing with flyrod in Kentucky, there's no reason fly fishing shouldn't work just as well here as it does elsewhere.

While some trout fishermen like to be at the stocking site well before the truck arrives, the best fishing is usually a few days later, when the crowds have thinned out somewhat, the trout have scattered up and down the creek, and have gotten over the shock of being transported.

It's necessary to stock trout on an annual basis in Kentucky because not enough suitable spawning areas exist for more than very limited natural reproduction. Trout can survive year-round in the waters where they are stocked and "hold over" trout of over 14 pounds have been taken in Kentucky.

Most of the waters stocked with trout are too cold and infertile to support fishable populations of warm-water fish such as bass or crappie. These waters include mountain streams, spring-fed creeks and the tailwaters below large dams, where cold-water discharges from the lakes create good conditions for trout.

The trout themselves are obtained free from the U.S. fish and Wildlife Service. Kentucky's trout now come from the new Wolfe Creek federal hatchery near Jamestown. The fees collected from trout stamp sales pay the costs of hauling and stocking the trout, with some money left over for other fish and wildlife projects.

Because the growth rate—and hence the availability—of trout in the hatchery is determined by the weather, it's impossible to make out a specific stocking schedule too far in advance. Actual stocking dates therefore are set on a monthly basis. So the guide to Kentucky trout waters (which you can obtain by writing the Department of Fish and Wildlife, Frankfort, Ky. 40601) will show only the months each water is stocked.

There are 49 stocked trout streams in Kentucky, counting 19 in the Daniel Boone National Forest stocked by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. Nine tailwaters and 12 lakes also receive trout, so you could be closer to some good trout fishing than you suspect.

Larry Bradley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Bradley of Mt. Vernon, was chosen "Weight-Lifter of the Week" by Head Football Coach Larry Woods. This award will be given each week as an incentive to Coach Wood's football team who are presently working out on the weight machine.

Fishing Report

Heavy rains and cold nights have combined to further delay the start of good spring fishing, according to the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. The lake-by-lake rundown:

Green: black bass fair jigging; minnows and large minnows over dropoffs and stumps; crappie fair on minnows over submerged cover; murky to muddy, falling, 2 feet below summer pool and 48 degrees.

Date: Hollow: white bass fair on spinners and jigs at head of creeks; black bass slow on spinner baits and jigs; clear to muddy, rising, 2 feet above normal pool and 50 degrees.

Cumberland: black bass slow to fair jigging nightcrawlers and minnows; crappie slow to fair jigging and still fishing minnows in willow bushes and near banks with cover (4-6 feet deep) in lower end of lake and over submerged cover (10-15 feet deep) in remainder of lake; trout slow in tailwaters; clear to muddy, rising, 2 feet above the timberline and 47 degrees.

LEXINGTON—in nursery rhymes, we often meet characters in threes. The three little pigs. The butcher, the baker and the candlestick maker. Goddicks met, you guessed it, the three bears.

In real life the three new characters in Kentucky's basketball rhyme are named Bearup, Masters and Turpin. They are the three that Coach Joe B. Hall has corralled so far.

"He's a player with a variety of assets." Coach Hall says of 6-9 Bearup, a high school All American out of Greenwood, New York. "One of his most outstanding assets is his enthusiasm. That should bring a lot of spirit to our ball club. Bret is coming in at 224 pounds so he should mature into a big player. I can see him playing at around 240 pounds in time."

Melvin Turpin is a 7-footer out of Lexington who is currently attending Fork Union Academy in Virginia. "Melvin is a very active big man," says Coach Hall. "He is very aggressive both in rebounding, and around the offensive basket. He's just coming into his own. Fork Union has done a lot to develop him both as a player and a student."

The newest addition to the Kentucky trio is Jim Master, a 6-4 1/2 guard out of Harding High School in Fort Wayne, Indiana. "He's an exciting player with great outside shooting," says Coach Hall. "Jim shot 89 percent from the free throw line and 52 percent from the field in his senior year. He can be a great help to our program."

Kentucky fans can get a glimpse of two of the three future Wildcats in Louisville and Lexington next month. Bearup and Master will play in the two Derby Classics. Turpin played in the Classic last year.

Joe Hall and his staff have three down and one to go. "We're still looking for another guard," says Hall. "We'd like to find a good all-around player. We're looking for one that can play good defense, give us good offensive leadership and push the ball down the floor."

Here's hoping you find him. Joe, but vive out of four ain't

THE FAMILY LIFE CENTER OF APPALACHIA

COMMUNICATING WITH YOUR CHILD

By Larry Keaton
Associate Director
Family Life Center

RENFRO VALLEY, KENTUCKY 40473
PHONE 800-756-5612

Dr. Haim Ginott says in his book, Between Parent and Child: "Parents are frustrated by dialogues with children because they lead nowhere, as illustrated by the famous conversation: "Where did you go?" "Out." "What did you do?" "Nothing." Parents who try to be reasonable soon discover how exhausting this can be. As one mother said, "I try to reason with my child until I am blue in the face, but he doesn't listen to me. He only hears me when I scream."

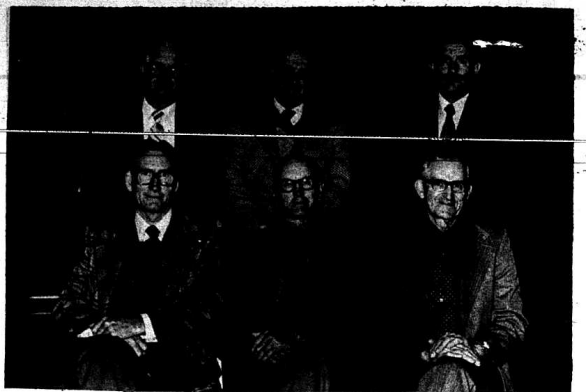

Does this sound familiar? Don't be embarrassed to say, "yes." The above drama is normal for most families, not necessarily good, but normal. As Dr. Ginott, noted child psychologist says, children resist conversation with their parents because they don't want to be preached to or criticized. They react negatively to long speeches by their parents when fewer words will do the job of a 9-year-old to his mother: "When I ask you a small question, why do you give me such a long answer?" It is no wonder that some children don't spend much time conversing with their parents when so much of their personal time is wasted listening to long speeches.

Some parent-child conversations sound more to the observer like monologues than conversations; one consisting of criticism and instruction and the other denials and pleading. What is so tragic here is not a lack of love, but of respect; not in the lack of intelligence, but in skill. Better conversational skill needs to be learned if parent and child are to communicate more adequately and constructively. With this skill will come new avenues of relationship between them that will greatly improve the family structure.

Increda Bubble Newest Fade; Is Safe, General Foods Says

Pop Rocks and Cosmic Candy caused some concern to parents of school children after their introduction to the candy market about five years ago. Robert J. Mink, principal of Livingston School said Tuesday.

Mr. Mink said the parents were concerned over the "popping" sensation the candy set off in the child's mouth and wondered if the candy was safe for consumption.

The concern of the parents was allayed, Mr. Mink said and he also reported that General Foods Corporation, manufacturer of Pop Rocks and Cosmic Candy, had recently come out with a new product called Increda Bubble (a bubble gum based on the same carbonated candy formula as Pop Rocks and Cosmic Candy).

Mr. Mink received a letter from General Foods introducing the new product and asked us to reprint the letter so that parents "MISS CROUCHER" (Cont. From Second Front) poise and personality. No swimsuit competition is required. Each contestant will give either a speech on "My Favorite Patriot" or a Talent presentation.

Miss Croucher is sponsored by Parker Seat O-Ring Division, Bering, Superior Food Market, Delta Farm Food Mart, Mt. Vernon, Con De Cor, Inc., Berea.

Her hobbies include roller-skating, reading, listening to music and volleyball.

might be acquainted with uns newest bubble gum being offered.

"As a retired research scientist for General Foods Corporation, I'm writing to tell you about a new product called Increda Bubble that my company is about to introduce in your area. My sole purpose in doing so is to give you some background about the product so you will be in position to answer questions regarding its safety that may be posed by your teachers, students or parents."

Increda Bubble is a fun and safe bubble gum that is based on a carbonated candy formula I invented a number of years ago. One pack contains less than one-twentieth the amount of carbonation found in a 12-ounce can of soda pop. The carbonation causes the product to sizzle and pop a bit, and it's just plain fun. It is also entirely safe, and my 14 grandchildren think it's great.

Increda Bubble has a couple of "candy cousins." Pop Rocks and Cosmic Candy, which were introduced about five years ago and which had won wide acceptance. More than 500 million packs of the two candies have already been sold.

Prior to the introduction of the candies, a number of tests were performed by General Foods, as well as independent laboratories, to ensure the safety of Pop Rocks and Cosmic Candy. These tests were reviewed by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration, which found the products to be "safe and acceptable." The same procedure has also been followed with Increda Bubble.

Sometimes after the two candies were introduced, false rumors regarding their safety circulated in some regions of the country. General Foods and the U.S. Food and Drug Administration investigated these rumors and found them to be groundless.

As I stated, I'm telling you all this because I know you, as an educator, have a special interest in the well being of the young people. If you have any questions about the product that are not answered by this letter, please feel free to contact a General Foods representative at this number: 914-663-2903.
