Rockcastle County React Team #4163 has begun their fund raising drive for a "Jaws of Life." This is an apparatus used to free persons trapped usually in automobile accidents. The assembly lifts, prisms, cuts or whatever is necessary to free people trapped in autos and their availability could mean the difference in life and death.

Sugar Content Of Prepared Foods

Is it true what they say about sugar? Does eating too much sugar cause diabetes, heart disease and other disorders?

We don't know everything about the role of dietary sugar in health, but we do know quite a bit.

Dietary sugar consists of a group of sweeteners: sucrose, corn or glucose sirups, and sugars that occur naturally in foods; lactose in milk and fructose in fruit.

From 1960 to 1977, the annual per capita consumption of caloric sweeteners increased about 27 pounds. Most of this increase was the result of sweeteners added to commercially prepared foods and increased consumption of sweetened foods, such as soft drinks. Many commercially prepared foods other than the obviously sweet

Ted Rose, president of React #4163 and district coordinator for the state council, said the equipment cost $6,578.40 and that the React team had about $450 to begin their drive.

Canisters are being placed in business houses all over the county and Mr. Rose said a Call-a-thon is being planned over WPKV but no definite date has been set for this.

The React team hopes eventually to get an auxiliary unit, costing about $2,000, which will be a back-up for the gas power unit of the Jaws of Life should it fall at a crucial time. The back-up assembly is a hand-pump and hose.

If you would like more information or wish to make a pledge, you may call 758-8418 or 758-8526.

ones like candy, sirup, jam, jelly, pie and cake, contain substantial amounts of sugar and sweeteners. Some of the foods don't taste sweet; peanut butter, catsup and salad dressing.

Sweet foods, especially sticky sweets, are a major cause of dental cavities. The total amount of sugar eaten is not as important as how many times, how long, and the form of the sugary food (liquid or solid) your teeth are exposed to and whether or not you clean your teeth after eating sugary foods.

If people are concerned about the level of sugar in their diet, they should check the ingredient label for sweeteners and sugars in products. They should watch for these words: sucrose, glucose, dextrose, fructose, corn sirups, corn sweeteners, natural sweeteners and invert sugar.

Salt In Your Diet
Recently there has also been much concern about the salt in Americans' diets. Decreasing salt intake has been recommended by health care organizations. Table salt is about half sodium. Even though there is no Recommended Daily Allowance (RDA) set for sodium, the average intake is about 3-7 grams. This amount is equivalent to 1 to 1 1/2 teaspoons of salt a day, which occurs naturally in the foods we eat, without having to season them in cooking -- at the table.

Excess sodium in the diet is believed to contribute to high blood pressure (hypertension) and stroke in some people.

If you want to limit sodium intake, limit the use of table salt (sodium chloride) and salty foods. This means cutting down on:

1. Foods prepared in brine, such as pickles, olives and sauerkraut.
2. Salty or smoked meat, such as bologna, corned or chipped beef, frankfurters, ham, luncheon meats, salt pork, sausage, smoked tongue.
3. Salty or smoked fish, such as anchovies, caviar, salted or dried cod, herring, sardines, smoked salmon.
4. Snack items such as potato chips, pretzels, salted popcorn and salted nuts and crackers.
5. Bouillabou cubes; seasoned salts (including sea salt); soy, Worcestershire, and barbecue sauces.

6. Cheeses, especially processed types.

7. Canned and instant soups.

8. Prepared horseradish, catsup and mustard.

9. Read labels. You may be surprised to learn that some processed foods which contain no table salt and don't taste salty have lots of sodium. Look for the words soda or sodium or the symbol "NA" on labels. Examples are sodium bicarbonate (baking soda), monosodium glutamate, most baking powders, disodium phosphate, sodium alginate, sodium benzoate, sodium hydroxide, sodium propionate, sodium sulfite, and sodium saccharin.

10. Taste foods before seasoning.
11. Learn to use less salt. A taste for salt is learned and can be reconditioned or unlearned by gradually using less.

12. Eliminate part or all of salt in recipes. Salt is used for flavoring only in most cases. Also can and freeze foods without salt.

KU Says 11.4% Rate Hike Request Caused by Increased Expenses

Kentucky Utilities Company today filed a request with the state Energy Regulatory Commission to increase retail electric rates by 11.4%. The company's last increase request was filed in June, 1978.

W.B. Bechman, President of the company, said that "increased operating expenses are forcing KU to ask for an annual gross revenue increase of $30.1 million. The monthly bill of the average residential customer without electric heating would increase $2.41."

KU's chief executive explained that to carry out the company's obligation to serve its customers, KU must have adequate rates that will produce revenue to meet the expenses of providing service.

"Besides the continuing advantages to customers of the benefits of good service to meet their requirements, adequate rates translate into a long-term customer benefit by enabling us to borrow at the best available interest rates and attract investors on favorable terms. It is to our customers' best interest to protect and assure continued good service with a rate structure adequate to meet all of these costs," Bechman said.

KU serves the electric power needs of approximately 330,000 residential, commercial and industrial customers in communities and rural areas in 78 of the state's 120 counties.

Continental Requests Rate Hike; Will Up Average Bill by 41 Percent

Continental Telephone of Kentucky recently filed a request with the Utility Regulatory Commission for a rate increase totaling approximately $4.5 million. The average customer's bill will go up by about 41 percent.

According to Eugene Morris, company president, the increase has become necessary because of the spiraling inflation rate and the rapidly rising cost of borrowing money.

"We're like any other business that is caught up in this present cycle of inflation," Morris said. "Our costs, like those of the retailer or manufacturer, have steadily increased. We have no choice but to ask for increased revenue to offset our rising costs of doing business."

ments in Kentucky and spent approximately $24 million in telephone equipment and facilities.

"We've upgraded all service with our Kentucky customers (one and four-party service. This upgrading program was completed in December 1979.

"Because of this project, we've greatly reduced the time our customers must wait for primary service and for upgrading their present service from party line to private.

"We've made a lot of service improvement since our last rate increase. We want to maintain our present quality of service and continue to grow and offer better and expanded service to our customers in Kentucky. To do this, we must have a rate increase," said Morris.

C.H. Webb, Retired Merchant Dies Suddenly Friday, April 4

Calvin H. Webb, 71, a retired Livingston merchant and a community leader for many years, died suddenly Friday, April 4th, the result of an apparent heart attack.

Mr. Webb, a native of Clay County had lived in Livingston for over 50 years. He was the son of the late James and Rebecca Smith Webb and a nephew of Dr. R.G. Webb of Livingston.

He was a merchant for 35 years in Livingston, owning and operating Webb's Store. A veteran of World War II, Mr. Webb was a member of the Livingston Baptist Church, a charter member of the Livingston Lions Club, a member of Dave Jackson Masonic Lodge #731 F&AM, a Republican precinct captain and had served as assistant fire chief, mayor and city council member of Livingston.

Survivors are his wife, Mrs. Josephine Mitchell Webb and one son, Calvin Robert Webb, both of Livingston.

Senator John Rogers Visits County; Says He's Ahead

State Senator John D. Rogers brought his candidate for the office of 5th District Congressman to Rockcastle County Tuesday and while here made himself available for an interview with us here at the Signal and also at WRVK radio station.

Mr. Rogers was quite open about his candidacy. He labeled himself a "moderate conservative" but said he was simply a conservative on fiscal matters but less of a conservative on human rights issues.

The fact that there are now 11 announced candidates for the retiring Cong. Tim Lee Carter's seat, including himself, doesn't bother him, Mr. Rogers said. He said he expected to carry Pulaski by a big majority and felt that "it would not even be close there."

He also said that he felt he had the edge throughout the district although some candidates in their own home area might be ahead of him there.

When asked why he was seeking the office, Senator Rogers said, "While Washington is not a place where I really want to raise a family, I feel like this district needs someone there who is qualified, both through the School of Hard Knocks and formal education. Someone who owns a small business and knows the problems the federal government can impose on them. This district needs someone who is familiar with the legislative process both in Frankfort and Washington—the only difference in the two being that in Washington the process is more intense. I also feel like my qualifications and my philosophy of 'less government' makes me the best candidate if I didn't think so, I wouldn't be running."

Mr. Rogers said he had no formal rallies scheduled for Rockcastle County although he planned to be in the county several times before the primary and "through November."

The proposed rates should encourage customers to conserve energy, since percentage increases are greater in the higher use categories. The design will also have the effect of minimizing the impact of the increase on lower use customers who may be in the lower end of the economic scale.

Bechman said the increased rates are essential to cover rapidly rising operating expenses, to pay debt expenses and provide a fair return on capital invested by stockholders. "For the 12 months ended January 31, 1980, KU's return on common equity was only 8.3 percent. The company must be able to obtain necessary financing on reasonable terms if KU is to continue furnishing its customers with the level of adequate and reliable service they need and require."

KU has given six major rate reductions to its customers since 1962. There have been six increases since the creation of the former Public Service Commission.

In spite of operating economies and efficiencies, KU has experienced increases in all costs of providing service to our customers since the last rate case," Bechman said. He noted that during the past two years interest on long term debt has amounted to $49.5 million. Construction costs during the same period totaled $229 million.

"It is estimated that KU's construction program, which must be carried out to meet customers' need for electricity, will cost approximately $850 million from 1980 to 1984," Bechman said.

"On top of all the demands that are being placed on our operations, we experienced 'wet' late another type of expenditure that has become significant. The price tag for clean air and clear water is substantial. Through 1979, environmental protection facilities cost the company, and our customers, a total of $59 million. These expenditures alone are expected to reach the total of $136 million by the end of 1984."

"Selling the Country"

Mt. Vernon, Ky. Ph. 256-4545

Last Friday was "Hat Day" for all the 6th grade classes at MVES and some of the ideas which the children came up with were very original and "far-out." Six winners were chosen in three categories - silliest, most original and prettiest.

out that contrary to Mr. Riddle's statements about the story these statements were contained in Mr. Parsons recommendation to the board and were included as part of the story only for readers' information. We are not going to take a stand one way or the other about the board's action but do feel it is only fair that it be clarified just what Mr. Riddle was talking about in his letter...

In the "You don't know what to believe department," I read a story in Saturday's Lexington Herald that the danger of the "green house" effect on our planet was very real and near because of the increased burning of fossil fuels. Then in Sunday's paper, I read another story that said the demand for power had lessened so considerably that this would delay or possibly even do away with the "green house" danger effect which is the earth's atmosphere heating up to the point that the polar ice caps would be melted, our seaboard would be inundated and the inland country-side would suffer an extended drought. Who do you believe?

It's good that I can quit worrying about this particular problem for a while. I have several others that take priority anyway such as how to cope with the price increases which are abounding on every side and the myriad problems that can crop up in a household of five children, including two teenage drivers. I worried about my daughter a great deal because she was so timid when she first got her license the worrying was in vain. She has now decided that she is entitled to her rightful share of the highways and woe be unto anyone who disagrees.

This too shall pass and I'm not sure what will occupy my time and thoughts when they are all grown and gone, but something will no doubt.

"COT RATE INCREASE"

$83 million in equipment and facilities statewide. As pointed out earlier, the company has spent $24 million in equipment and facilities since its last rate hike. This allowed the company to provide additional calling paths, improved grades of service and allowed meeting of requests from customers for new service in areas which were not serviced before.

"The high cost of the capital that we must borrow in order to finance these construction projects is one of the major factors in the Company's decision to request increased rates," Morris said.

Also, the cost of maintenance has risen dramatically in the last few years. "Back in 1975, our maintenance expense were $1.5 million in Kentucky," said Morris. "Last year we spent $3.5 million for maintenance, an increase of about 133%. The growth in numbers of customers, by 9,839 or 21.6%, accounts for only a small part of the increase."

The cost of connecting new customers has increased substantially over the four-year period. In 1975, the cost averaged $1,963 per customer gained. For 1979, the figure was $3,420, a 74% increase.

"Even though our revenues have increased, the increased have not been sufficient to keep pace with our rising operating and construction costs."

"We know we can't meet Kentucky's future telephone needs without putting additional money into service improvements, yet we can't build without capital, and we can't get that capital unless we're earning enough to attract the investor who lends us that money."

"We have an obligation to provide the most reliable service possible, but that can only be done if we have the money to do the job," Morris said. Under the proposed rate scale, the average one-party increase for a residential customer would be around $4.85 per month, and $7.85 for the one-party-business customer. A customer's specific rate depends upon his location, type of equipment and grade of service.

In addition, Continental is proposing to charge for director assistance and to increase charges for a pay telephone call from 10 cents to 25 cents. "The request for a pay telephone increase is a move to relieve our regular customers of the burden of subsidizing public-usage," said Morris.

Continental Telephone of Kentucky serves 78,794 telephones as of December 1979. This is an increase of 29.3 percent since 1975.

The proposed rates for Bee Spring, Brodhead, Brownsville, Irvine, Livingston, Manchester, Mt. Vernon and Oneida are: $11.80 to $16.55 for one-party residential; $9.25 to $13.05 for four-party residential; $19.45 to $27.25 for one-party business; $13.05 to $19.00 for four-party business.

After a long hiatus from writing this column, I feel the urge strongly enough to try it once again.

This is an increase of 29.3 percent since 1975. The proposed rates for Bee Spring, Brodhead, Brownsville, Irvine, Livingston, Manchester, Mt. Vernon and Oneida are: $11.80 to $16.55 for one-party residential; $9.25 to $13.05 for four-party residential; $19.45 to $27.25 for one-party business; $13.05 to $19.00 for four-party business.

Hindsight isn't worth a darn but I have always felt that we missed the time to act when we did not immediately go into Iran and bring our hostages out. Not being an astute student of politics, I feel sure there were varied reasons for not taking this action but there is very little excuse for letting this situation drag on as it has for nine months. I do not want war under any circumstances but I do feel there comes a time when you have to stand up and be counted and that time has come those 50 hostages are just as important to their families as our loved ones are to us and they are citizens of this country and as such are owed protection by our government.

Don't worry, folks, no one from Washington has called me lately asking my opinion on this problem or any others facing our country, a fact for which we can all probably be thankful...

Guess what arrived in the mail this morning? The announcement of another entry into the race for retiring Congressman Tim Lee Carter's seat. The newest entry is a Clay County man, Henry "Skyler" Garrison, a coal company executive. This brings the list to 11 lawyers, a preacher and two businessmen. I personally cannot understand the attraction of the office-I don't want to go to Washington and have to try to cope with an inflation rate shooting out the ceiling-a budget deficit in the billions and interest rates that are crippling everyone who has to borrow money and that's everyone I know...

Sports fans in the county have been talking during the past week mainly about the school board's decision not to rehire Bill Riddle and Charles Norris as basketball coaches for the coming year. We have this week a letter to the editor from Coach Riddle in which he takes up several points, contained in last week's story, with which he differs. We would like to point

LEXINGTON—What Kentucky personally gets 150 fan letters a week? Kentucky senior basketball star Kyle Macys that's who I've been working on a book with Kyle Macys for the past few months and one of the subjects he brought up was his mat Kyle told me, I would like to answer each one personally, but if I didn't I wouldn't have time to do anything else. What I've done the last two years is to get a form letter typed up and I sign that I often enclose a small picture if they ask for it. Kyle says the thing he remembers most about the letters is the great number he gets from young kids. They are really sincere, he says. "Almost every line is a question. How old are you? What is your shoe size? Almost all of the letters start out, 'I am your number one fan'."

You won't have to wait for the book to come out to find out Kyle Macys' All Southeastern Conference team for the three years he has played at Kentucky. Kyle leads off his list with Reggie King of Alabama. He also picks another Alabama player, guard Robert "Rah Rah" Scott. The other players are John Stroud of Mississippi, Reggie Johnson of Tennessee and Rudy Macklin of LSU. Kyle was especially impressed with Ricky Brown of Mississippi State, calling him "a vastly underrated player and a good bet to make it in the pros."

Kyle says one of the most asked questions he gets is about dating. "I date a lot," he says, "but I have no special girl friend. It takes a special kind of girl to date a basketball player. We don't have much free time, especially during the season. We're getting a scholarship to play basketball and basketball has to come first. That is often very hard for a girl to understand."

These are some of the things Kyle Macys talks about in his forthcoming book. He has completed his eligibility at Kentucky and is currently barnstorming around the state with his senior teammates and former UK players. I don't think there has ever been a player to wear the blue and white that has been as popular with the fans as Kyle Macys. I think his 150 fan letters a week bears that out. I rest my case.

Little League To Be County Wide

At a special called meeting of the Rockcastle Recreation Council Monday night, several items of business were presented by Larry Woods, president.

The formation of a Little League program for the entire county was decided upon with draft day scheduled for the entire county, for Saturday, April 19th.

If you are between the ages of 9 and 12 and will not be 13 before August 1 of 1980, you may participate in the Little League program. On April 19th, everyone interested in playing is asked to report to the ball field of the grade school they now attend and there you will be divided into teams beginning at 9 a.m. The only exception to this is that if you attend Livingston School, you should go to the playground at Mt. Vernon for the draft. This is necessary because of a lack of a playing field at Livingston. A date will be announced later for a draft for the senior league which will include ages 13-15.

The council also decided that no one under the age of 16 will be allowed to participate in the men's softball league and made the recommendation that any boy under this age should plan to participate in the senior league with their own age group.

In other business, the council set their entry fees for the year for both men and women's softball. The men's teams will be charged $150.00 for 24 games and a double-elimination tournament at the end. The ladies, who will play each team twice and will also have a double-elimination tournament, will be charged $75.00.

A T-Ball league for children, ages 6-8, will be established and played two days a week. These days will be announced later. No playground director for the program will be hired, the council decided; rather, two umpires will be hired for the men and women and volunteers and coaches will be recruited from the other leagues. Anyone interested in umpiring up to 5 nights a week with as many as five games a night at $3 per game, should send resumes to Larry Woods, Wildlife, Ky.

In a break with tradition, the council decided not to hold a radio auction this year to raise funds for the summer program. Instead, there will be an auction held of a different type and more information will be detailed when the council meets again on April 21.

The program will begin this year on May 26th, Memorial Day.

Kentucky Afied

If someone tells you to go white bass fishing when the water is clear, you can dismiss that as a blooming fool.

It's possible to make rather close correlations between the spawning activities of various fish and other natural phenomena, according to Charlie Bowers, director of the Fish and Wildlife department's fisheries division.

Both spawning activity and the growth of plants is determined by temperature—or rather the "accumulation of temperature" as days become progressively warmer in the spring, Bowers says. During a warm, early spring, trees will leaf out, flowers will bloom and fish will spawn sooner than during years when winter hangs on longer than usual.

Willie Hiatt, No. 27, is shown in the above photo as he steals second base in Monday afternoon's action with Oneida. Hiatt had one hit on the day and the Rockets won 7-5.

Dwight Hensley, No. 34, delivers a pitch in the Rockets game with Oneida last Monday at the grade school. He was the winning pitcher for the Rockets, got the entire seven innings. The Rockets had 8 hits with Senior Tony Saylor getting 3. It was the first win of the season for the Rockets with a final score of 7-5.

The actual dates when fish spawn can vary a month or more, depending on the weather, Bowers says. So it's impossible to predict in advance when white bass or crappie, for example, will be spawning. But you can look at the vegetation surrounding a lake and tell what species you should be fishing for.

If the serviceberry (or "sarvis" as they're often called) trees are blooming, walleye and sauger should be spawning and white bass should be moving toward their spawning sites.

By the time the redbuds start to bloom, the walleye and sauger spawns should be peaking and the white bass runs gathering speed. When redbuds are in full bloom and the dogwoods are just starting to blossom, the white bass fishing should reach its peak, Bowers says.

A COMMENT

Received a note this week from David Brock who wanted to express his appreciation to Mr. Riddle and Mr. Norris for the enjoyment he has received from basketball games during the years they have coached. Mr. Brock went on to wish the new coach, whomever he will be, the best of luck at RCHS.

Renfro Valley -- Kentucky's Homeplace For Country Music

By Mac Lacy

"When it's springtime in the mountains. And the dogwood blossoms blow. We'll be back in Renfro Valley. As in days of long ago."

In the late 1920's, John Lair wrote those words, concluding a song that described his feelings about where he was—and where he longed to be. He'd left his quiet Kentucky valley and entered the bustling world of America's glamorous new industry, radio. In the fast town of Chicago. But glamour and fast living weren't Lair's style...the simplicity of life and song in the Kentucky hills was. So the innovative country boy went to work to bring the two together. And America's been listening ever since.

The young Lair learned quickly at the metropolitan station and moved several years later to WLW in Cincinnati. It was here that he undertook to broadcast the country music he'd left behind in Renfro Valley. On November 4, 1939, Lair began his program with "Howdy, folks. Welcome to the Renfro Valley Barn Dance." The historic occasion, which had drawn people from five states to the little valley in southeastern Kentucky, marked the beginning of over 40 years of weekly broadcasts.

The program, which consisted of the Barn Dance on Saturday night and the Sunday Morning Gatherin' the following morning, soon drew a nationwide following. Travelers from as far as California, New York and Canada have made it to hear the traditional country music. Now the Barn Dance is no longer on the air, but the Sunday Morning Gatherin' is still carried by a good number of stations. Lair still enjoys recognizing persons in the audience on the show, telling who they are and where they've come from.

Today Renfro Valley has grown to become a major attraction for travelers on Kentucky's Interstate Highway I-75. About 50 miles south of Lexington, the scenic little community is a favorite stopping place on weekends when its shows are held. You can't miss the busy hamlet because the roof of its expansive old barn is brightly lit and "Renfro Valley" reads like a road sign to passing motorists. Visitors can take in two shows—the traditional Barn Dance and the contemporary Renfro Valley Jamboree which offers the more recent sounds in country music. Each show is given twice on Saturday nights, each beginning at 7:30 and 9:30. Tickets are $4 per person and are good for both shows. Every fourth Friday of the month, western square dancing is held in the old barn at 8:00 p.m. Guests who are familiar with this type of square dancing are invited to take part. Costs are $3 per couple, $2 per individual.

Through the years Renfro Valley has added a country store, a restaurant which serves traditional fare and an air-conditioned motel. Campgrounds are located nearby. 1980 promises to be an eventful year as Renfro Valley will host several special weekends. The Valley opens its season March 1. A spring square dance festival will be held May 2-3. In July the John Lair Day talent contest will be held on the 15th, and the Mac Wiseman Bluegrass Festival takes place on July 10 through 12. In the fall, the 'Lasses Makin' Festival happens the weekend of October 10-12.

Other areas of interest for visitors to Renfro Valley include Fort Sequoyah, a little "riverboat town" somewhat south in Livingston, Ky. (ph. 606-843-7131), which specializes in handmade Indian jewelry, rugs and other handicrafts. Fort Sequoyah operates the Rockcastle Queen, a small paddle-wheel boat that takes excursions on the Rockcastle River. A few miles farther south, at London, travelers can canoe the Rockcastle by contacting Rockcastle Adventures, Box 662, London, Ky. 40741 (ph. 606-864-9407). Great Saltpetre Cave, near Renfro Valley, was used during the Mexican and Civil Wars for the production of gunpowder. Tours cost $2 per adult, $1 for children 12 and under.

Fiscal Court Meets

The Rockcastle Fiscal Court had very few items of business on the agenda for their first regular monthly meeting of the year last Tuesday.

The court did vote unanimously to assume responsibility for all traffic bound (gravel) roads in Rockcastle County and to expend such monies, including but not limited to, that furnished to the county by the State Highway Department in the development, reconstruction and repair of the traffic bound roads in the county. The motion further reads that the county does not assume the responsibility of such roads that have been improved by bituminous (blacktop) surfacing.

The action came after the court was told by a representative of the highway department that the county could take over all the system or only a portion and funds, spent on the roads in the past by the state, would be sent directly to the county for their maintenance program.

The court decided to take over only the gravel roads in the county with the state still maintaining the blacktop roads. Of course, the court's action Tuesday will not be completely binding until they have signed a formal contract with the state and this will not be accomplished until the court finds out

Henry 'Skyler' Garrison Is Candidate for Congress

Clay County businessman Henry 'Skyler' Garrison announced this week he is running for the congressional seat being vacated by retiring Tim Lee Carter.

Garrison, Vice President of the Hardy Able Coal Co., filed his papers as a republican candidate in Frankfort last week. Before a group of supporters at the Clay County Court House this week, Garrison said, "he decided to run after talking with most of the candidates in the race and determined they are all part of the system that's gotten us in the shape we're in—most are legislators and lawyers or have served in some form of government."

Garrison said, "the people of the Fifth District and small businessmen are suffering from too much government spending and over-regulation. The government is always asking us to conserve," he said, "and I think it should be up to the government to set an example for a change."

He stated his political philosophy simply: "We need less government," he said. "That's why I'm running for Congress."

Before joining his family's small coal business, Garrison was a director of the local OFO, vice in Manchester and an executive in a furniture manufacturing concern before that. He was a basketball coach at Clay County High School after graduating from the University of Tennessee, where he played basketball on scholarship. Prior to going to UT he spent two years at Cumberland College at Williamsburg.

The 42-year-old Garrison is married to the former Patty Ann House and they have four children.

Henry 'Skyler' Garrison

These four Rockcastle students were invited to serve as House Pages one day during this year's term of the State Legislature. Inviting the students was Rep. Elmer Patrick (R-Williamsburg). Mr. Patrick, who is currently a candidate for 5th district congressman, said he invited the students because he felt it was important to help them better understand how government works. He also said the four students were very responsible and most well mannered and well behaved. In the photo are, from left: Shelly Parkerson, Brodhead School; Rep. Patrick; Dale Howard, Mt. Vernon School; Trevor Mink, Brodhead and Crystal Blackburn, Mt. Vernon.

JUST LOOK AT THE CROWD!

Voters in the Fifth District are faced with a crowd of candidates "running" in the May 27th Republican Primary. John Rogers stands out as the only candidate who has a farm background, is a former school teacher, owns a small business and has legislative experience.

Last year, he was the highest ranking Republican in the nation elected without opposition.

We can elect a winner.

We can't afford to get lost in the crowd.
