Much has been written about the dangers of harsh, oppressive, unloving discipline; these warnings are valid and should be heeded. However, the consequences of excessive punishment have been cited as justification for the elimination of discipline. That is foolish. There are times when a child will clench his little fists and dare his parents to accept his challenge; he is not motivated by frustration or inner hostility as often as supposed. He merely wants to know where the boundaries lie and who's available to enforce them.

Many well-meaning specialists have waved the banner of tolerance, but offered no solution for defiance. They have stressed the importance of parental understanding of the child, and that is good, but junior has a few things he needs to understand about mamma and daddy also.

Children need parents who know how to set limits, when to punish and what behavior to inhibit. They need parents who know how to discipline within a framework of love and affection. For children thrive best in an atmosphere of genuine love, undisciplined by consistent discipline.

These are the thoughts of the christian psychologist Dr. James Dobson, in his book Dare to Discipline. His books and tapes in the FLC Library offer parents help in how to discipline in love.

All the books, tapes and films in the Family Life Center library are available for use by you, your church or your club at no cost.

Simply call 256-5612 or come to the Retreat Center, "At the Top of the Hill," just north of Renfro Valley.

I have shed a thousand tears Since my daddy passed away. I can't find the words to explain. How much I miss him on this Father's Day.

He was always there when I needed to lend a helping hand. He was authoritative and stern But a gentle, kind hearted man.

He did his best to keep us happy. For us, he worked very hard to provide. He worked at time when he wasn't able.

To make sure we were satisfied. But he was happiest when he was working. But he shall work no more. Because he is at rest with God On Heaven's Golden Shore.

Daddy, We Love You.

This blood drive needs to produce 92 pints in order for the county to keep pace with their 1980 goal of 195 pints. This is the same goal as last year, which was the first year Rockcastle County achieved "Total County Coverage".

This coverage means that any Rockcastle countian who uses blood, anywhere in the world, would not have to pay replacement deposit fees for each pint of blood used. This is a special gift that healthy caring neighbors can give to their...

Brodhead Getting Touch-tone Dial

The Brodhead exchange is joining Mt. Vernon in offering Touch Tone pushbutton dialing as an optional new service to customers of the Continental Telephone Company of Kentucky.

Joe Adams, customer service supervisor in this area for CTC, said today that by the end of June, Touch Tone will be available in Brodhead as well as Mt. Vernon.

New tone-generating equipment is being installed in Brodhead this month, Adams said.

When the conversion is completed, customers will notice a new sound or pitch of the telephone tones - dial tones, busy tones and ringing tones - that is characteristic of the new equipment.

"The new sound will signal completion of the new system and our offering of the push-button service," Adams said.

"We are pleased to offer this improvement as part of Continental Telephone's continuing effort to provide its customers with the most modern service available."

Brodhead customers can contact the CTC business office at 1-878-7311, a free long distance call, for additional information.

City Water Plant Being Renovated for $60,000

Improvements at the Mt. Vernon Water Works Plant at Renfro are scheduled to be completed this week according to Matt Powell, Jr., Water Works Superintendent. Nash and Stewart, General Contractors and Engineers from Lexington are doing the upgrading at a cost to the city of almost $60,000.

One filter which, according to Mr. Powell, has never worked to capacity is being replaced and redesigned to filter twice as much water as previously. Another phase of improvements includes the installation of tube settlers around the perimeter of the settling basin. This addition will provide more even lateral flow and allow for more settling to occur which in turn will keep filters from having to be cleaned or "backwashed" so often.

There have been a few weekends during past summers when water has been low in the holding tank due to these needed improvements and the increased demand.

ACCIDENT

An accident occurred June 11th involving minor damage to the vehicle driven by Frank Dozier of Casselberry, Florida on I-75, one and one half miles south of Mt. Vernon.

According to State Police records, Gary Hensel of Mt. Vernon, was driving a vehicle owned by the Mt. Vernon Fire Department. When a metal suction hose basket fell from the truck and struck the Dozier car. No injuries were incurred.

Legislative Report

By: Rep. Harold DeMarcus

One of the many advantages of living in rural Kentucky is the relatively low crime rate. However, other areas of the Commonwealth are not as fortunate. The 1980 General Assembly enacted several laws which address the dual issue of crime and punishment.

House Bill 53, will require that paints and glues which can be inhaled to cause intoxication must contain oil of mustard or some similar substance to deter abuse. Also, this bill makes the sniffing of such substances of selling them for that purpose a misdemeanor.

Senate Bill 309, will establish a uniform juvenile code for the state, including standard procedures and special provisions for repeated offenders.

House Bill 389, will make the drug "Angel Dust" a Schedule I controlled substance in order to increase the penalty for its sale. Further, this bill will increase the penalty for selling and manufacturing "LSD."

Senate Bill 278, will increase by $5.00 the costs for criminal cases in district court. The additional $5.00 from each cost payment will be given to the counties to help pay for the operation of their jails.

House Bill 85, will clarify the state laws pertaining to kidnapping. Kidnapping will be classified as a Class B felony when the victim is released alive and unharmed, a Class A felony when the victim is released alive but has suffered serious injury as a result of the kidnapping. House Bill 86, will allow full-time peace officers to arrest without a warrant, any person reasonably suspected of committing domestic abuse. However, there will be provisions for the release of an arrested person, if the abused spouse, parent or child does not sign a complaint within 12 hours.

House Bill 415, will require a person convicted of a misdemeanor for a felony for taking, injuring, or destroying property to restore the property or pay for the damages.

Senate Bill 99, will allow a child to remain subject to the jurisdiction of the juvenile session of district court until age 19 instead of 18 for purposes of taking advantage of educational programs. However, the child must first indicate to the judge in open court that he does want to participate in the program.

House Bill 392, will make it illegal to possess equipment that can be used to steal telephone services.

In another area that is relevant to this topic, the jurisdictional amount has been increased from $500 to $1,000 for the small claims division of district court. Also, the filing fee will be identical to that for claims of $300 or less which are filed in district court.

AARP CLUB

The Rockcastle County AARP Club held its regular monthly meeting Friday, June 13th, with 62 persons attending. Mr. Bill James, Vice-president of the Bank of Mt. Vernon, was the guest speaker. Reverend and Mrs. Richard Holladay, minister of the New Bethany United Methodist Church of Mt. Vernon provided the special music for the occasion. Everyone enjoyed the good fellowship as well as the good dinner.

Earlier this week the club chartered a bus and took a trip to Frankfort where they toured the old and new capitol buildings and other points of interests.

Hubert Smith, a brother to Mrs. Clara Burton of this county, and who lives in Yakima, Washington, about 80 miles from Mt. St. Helens, sent Mrs. Burton this photograph of the volcano which had appeared in the Sunday, June 1st issue of the Yakima Herald-Republic. The volcano erupted last week for the third time since May 18. Mr. Smith wrote his sister that when the volcano first erupted the ash caused darkness over the land. He said that about 11 a.m., he went out to put his cattle up and the outside was like a cave and he had to wear a hat with a light on it and could still only see the cows' eyes. Mr. Smith said the ash covered his land 1/2 to 3/4 inches deep.

When asked, "who benefits from East Kentucky coal," everyone attending the Cumberland Valley ADD Board Meeting realized that every business, school as well as local and state governments benefit from coal and they would hurt if coal mining is regulated out of existence.

"We realize there has been abuses in the past," Mr. Goins said, "but there are some of us who want to practice the highest degree of safety and protect the environment. We have children and grandchildren too."

Goins further indicated that laws and regulations favor western states and discriminates against East Kentucky.

Fifty percent of the farm land in Bell County today is the result of good coal mining practice where the land could be leveled instead of restoring it to its original unusable contours, according to Baker. The following points were emphasized:

1. Electric power plants should be burning coal not oil.
2. The persons who own the land being mined should have a say as to how this land is to be reclaimed. (If existing regulations are followed the land would not be useable).

The CVADD Board Meeting at the Quality Court Restaurant at Corbin voted to reaffirm their support of East Kentucky coal.

16 lbs. Paper for 16 Tons Coal

"Sixteen pounds of papers is needed to contain government regulations that must be compiled with prior to mining and marketing coal", according to James Baker, Director of the Harlan County Coal Association.

Both Baker and Clyde Goins, President of Bow Valley Coal resources, Inc., lamented the CVADD Board Meeting on Wednesday, June 11, 1980, that over regulation along with uncomplicated regulations were killing the East Kentucky coal industry.

Mrs. Ella Ponder of Mt. Vernon recently received word that her granddaughter, Mrs. Alan Farwell, of Dayton, Ohio, had given birth to a son. Mrs. Farwell is the daughter of Mrs. Virgil Mullins, also of Dayton.

There were approximately 135 persons attending the Coffey Reunion at the Brodhead Fairgrounds on June 8th. Usually their annual reunion is at the park in Berea but due to some repair work at the park this year it was changed. This is always a wonderful occasion that the Coffey generation delights in.

Our heart were grieved by the sad news received here Friday from Janie Ramsey, of Berea, of the death of her great nephew, Mr. Robert Edd Mullins, 68, who was a victim of a heart attack. He and his wife, Patricia, were enroute to Florida where they were moving from Illinois. They were near Ocala Florida, when the severe attack occurred. Robert Edd all ways kept in contact with his aunt Janie and the night before leaving for Florida, he and Pat spent the night with Miss Ramsey. Besides his wife, he leaves two sons, Bob Mullins of Aberdeen, Scotland, and Billy Mullins of Bloomington, Illinois. He was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Mullins. He was a graduate of Mt. Vernon High School and Berea College. He was also a former member of Mt. Vernon Christian Church. Funeral services were Wednesday.

day, June 18th, in Bloomington, Illinois. It is loving and sincere sympathy we extend to the family of Robert Edd Mullins.

Chlorine, in the form of sodium hypochlorite, was first used to purify foul-smelling water in the 1830's.

The first Americans to benefit from chlorinated water were the hogs at the Chicago Stockyards. The Bubbly Creek filters there were disinfected in 1908.

Today, the 100th year of the American Water Works Association, adding chlorine to public water supplies is the most effective and wide spread technique of disinfection. Because of its deaths from typhoid have practically disappeared.

TEACH GOOD HABITS

The tastes and habits your child acquires now may help - or haunt - him for the rest of his life. By training him to acquire good eating habits, you may help assure that he will grow up straight, strong, and slim!

As the twig is bent, so grows the tree.

The enjoyment of sweet foods is probably universal, but today, with our growing dismay about additives and calories, many parents are becoming concerned and extremely selective about the foods they permit their children.

In many families, for instance, chocolate is taboo because of the caffeine it contains. Fortunately, a chocolate substitute is available: carob.

Carob is a fruit that provides a chocolatey flavor. El Molina Mills now markets Caracoa Carob candy bars and a wide variety of other natural, carob-flavored snacks.

Carob contains no theobromine or caffeine. It has only about 130 calories per 100 grams, versus 505 for chocolate, and it's rich in vitamins and minerals.

MAKE FROZEN YOGURT IN ICE CREAM FREEZER
Frozen yogurt is a real crowd-pleaser, a nutritious summer dairy dessert. It need not be store-bought either. Get out the old wooden ice cream freezer, or one of those new-fangled electric models, and make your own. It will taste similar to the commercial product, but it won't cost nearly as much. Here's the recipe which starts you out with yogurt that you make at home for about 12 cents per serving. Use scalded whole milk, because the butterfat makes a smoother-textured frozen product. You could substitute skim-milk, but then add one cup whipping cream for the butterfat and smooth texture. Heat 3 quarts of whole milk to 140 degrees Fahrenheit (or just scald it). Cool it to 120 degrees (lukewarm), then stir in 3 tablespoons of unflavored commercial yogurt. Put the yogurt in two or three big glass jars (such as three-pound peanut butter jars) or a crock container and set in a warm place (85-110 degrees) for 3 to 8 hours. Or you could leave it overnight, but no longer than eight hours. Your oven is a good place to incubate the yogurt. If you have a gas oven with a constant pilot light, put the yogurt on the middle rack and shut the door. To use an electric oven, place a pan full of boiling water (3 or 4 cups) on the lower rack and shut the door. Replace the boiling water every hour or so. Don't stir the yogurt while it's incubating. It should be about the consistency of commercial yogurt when it's ready. When you tip the jar, mixture should move slightly without flowing (the consistency of custard or thick gravy). Now refrigerate the yogurt until it is thoroughly chilled, ready for making frozen yogurt. FROZEN YOGURT 6 cups chilled homemade yogurt to 1 1/2 cups sugar or honey (omit if you like a less sweet dessert) 3 envelopes unflavored gelatin (softened in 3/4 cup cold water) 1/4 teaspoon salt 11/2 cups evaporated milk 11/2 cups sliced peaches, blueberries or other fruit

County which must produce an average of 65 pints per visit in order to reach the county goal. hour of soul-searching about the past. The hero is Sam Williams, a colorful, eccentric lawyer who bears a striking resemblance to the author. On a particular New Year's Eve, he is a little tipsy and on his way home, has an accident and awakens to find himself in the next world, on his way to Judgment Day. In route he must appear before twelve councils, each representing a major area of his life. In this allegorical tale, each of the twelve hearings brings Sam closer to a final courtroom. His case becomes an unusual one marked by a mysterious asterisk. To resolve it, Sam must return to earth for a retabulation of his life's plusses and minuses.

There is a surprise ending to this thought provoking parable of the final self-reckoning that awaits us all.

How Can I Know That I Am Saved?

It would be convenient if the Lord gave us identification cards, signed by Himself, verifying our salvation, so that whenever we doubted His acceptance of us, we had only to look at our cards to be reassured. But He gives us no such cards.

That does not mean, however, that we cannot know when we are saved. We are told that "The spirit beareth witness with our spirit, that we are children of God" (Rom. 8:16). In what manner does He bear witness?

We must note that His witness is WITH, not "to" our spirits; i.e., the Spirit bears witness along with our own spirits' witness: it is not His one-way testimony to us, but a two-way testimony involving two witnesses, God's Spirit and our spirits.

Understanding this two-way witnessing lies in the nature of the Spirit's work as found in I Cor. 2:1-16. There, is described in His work of revealing God's divine wisdom, word for word, to the inspired writers of the New Testament, which is the gospel of Christ. The Spirit revealed God's wonderful redemption through Jesus' blood, as He personally gave the New Testament writers the very words they used in preaching and writing this gospel for all mankind (verse 13).

When we read, understand and obey that Spirit-given revelation, we are being led by the Holy Spirit (in that He is the One who tells us what to do through the gospel which He delivered) to obey God's will. He told us to believe in Jesus (John 3:16; 8:24), to repent of all our sins (Luke 13:3; Acts 2:38), to confess Jesus before men (Matt. 10:32-33; Rom. 10:10); and to be baptized into His name in order to wash away our sins (Mk. 16:15-16; Acts 2:38; 22:16; Gal. 3:26-27, and I Pet. 3:21). This is the testimony of the Spirit, as He spoke God's will through the pages of the New Testament Gospel.

And, when we can testify in our own spirits we have done these things, there that Rom. 8:16 is fulfilled: God's spirit bears witness in telling me what to do to be saved; our spirits bear witness that we have done these things. In this two-way testimony both God's Spirit and our spirit bear witness together that we are His children.

JUNE SAFETY CORNER

WATER RECREATION

Water recreation can be fun. Keep it free of mishaps by following these simple rules. Know how to swim or at least to float well enough to survive in water. Watch your step on docks, steep banks, and around pools to avoid slipping or falling into the water. Never swim alone and keep rescue equipment such as ropes, flotation devices, poles, etc., handy. Learn and follow safe boating rules. Make sure your craft is seaworthy. Never leave shore without a personal flotation device for each person aboard.

LOUISVILLE—We have a lot of all star basketball games every year but the best ones will be played here this weekend. The first of the annual Kentucky-Indiana series will be played in Freedom Hall. I think these girls and boys' games are better than the others. To start with, there's an intense rivalry between two great high school basketball states. The players are invited to early tryout camps and the teams are chosen. The coaches pick the players they feel will give them the strongest teams and not those who have benefited from a lot of publicity. A lot of all star teams get in the day before the game, go through one or two practice sessions together, then play the game. The Kentucky teams work hard in week long practice sessions and by game time, they play as a team instead of five individuals.

After the girls and boys' games here on Saturday night, the teams will move on to Indianapolis for the second game a week later. The Indiana half of the series has been far more successful than the ones in Kentucky. That's been especially true in the past few years as attendance has been declining in Louisville. The crowds that do show up at Freedom Hall seem to be made up mostly of Indiana rooters.

Interest in the Louisville game began to wain a few years ago when Indiana was dominating the series. Kentucky fans didn't relish watching their stars lose almost every June. That trend has been reversed now and the games are highly competitive again. Since the girls' game was added to the series, the Kentucky girls have dominated the Hoosiers.

The annual Kentucky-Indiana All Star series began back in the late 30's, making it certainly one of the oldest in the country. The series began as a one game affair played each summer in Indianapolis. It has a long history and the series has hosted some of the greatest players in the sport. The games this summer should be no exception. The measure of success though will be whether the fans care all that much or not. I have the feeling they will.

If you catch a bass that puts up one heck of a fight for its size, chances are you've just hooked a smallmouth. Most experienced anglers agree that the smallmouth bass is one of our sportiest freshwater fish and provides much more excitement on the end of a line than either of our other two black basses, the largemouth and the Kentucky bass.

The easiest way to tell a smallmouth from a largemouth bass is, obviously enough, to look at its mouth. If the mouth, when closed, extends to directly beneath the eye, the fish is a largemouth. If the mouth extends past the eye, you're holding a smallmouth.

(The Kentucky bass has a mouth similar to the smallmouth's, but lacks the brownish back and vertical stripes on its side that mark the smallmouth. Kentucky bass also have a small rough patch of "teeth" on the tongue, a characteristic which both the largemouth and the smallmouth lack.)

Smallmouth's don't grow as big as largemouth bass, but they can still grow to lunker proportions. The world's record, taken from the Kentucky portion of Dale Hollow Lake in 1955, weighed 11 pounds, 15 ounces.

Smallmouth are well distributed throughout most of Kentucky. The fish is rare only in the western portions of the state (west of the Dawson Springs-Hopkinsville area), according to Pete Pfeiffer, assistant director of the Fish and Wildlife Department's fisheries division.

In many streams in Kentucky, the smallmouth is the predominate sport fish. In biological surveys of the Kentucky River drainage, for example, the smallmouth was encountered at more sampling stations in greater numbers than any other game fish.

In our lakes, Dale Hollow has a good smallmouth population, Pfeiffer says. These fish exist in fair numbers at Lake Cumberland and Carr Fork Lake and are caught infrequently at other impoundments around the state.

Herrington Lake in Central Kentucky supported a self-sustaining smallmouth population for around 30 years, but these fish disappeared from the lake in the 1950's. Beginning in 1978, the Division of Fisheries began a five-year project to re-establish smallmouth in the lake and so far survival and growth rates look promising.

Grayson Lake in Eastern Kentucky is scheduled for an initial stocking of smallmouth this year, and several other possible stocking programs are in the planning stages. Biologists are examining the possibility of establishing the smallmouth as the primary sport fish in Taylorsville Lake when this impoundment in Spencer County is completed.

Also under investigation, according to Pfeiffer, is the possibility of stocking smallmouth bass in the tailwaters below some of the large dams in the state. Pfeiffer stresses that these plans are tentative at present and details have yet to be worked out.

To supply future stocking needs, 70 smallmouth were captured from Dale Hollow and taken to the Clark Hatchery near Morehead this spring. These fish spawned and their 13,000 offspring now being raised at the hatchery will provide the nucleus for future hatchery production.

But for the present, the best smallmouth fishing is to be found in streams and rivers in the eastern, central and west-control parts of the state. The most likely places to locate smallmouth, Pfeiffer says, are around submerged boulders or in the eddy areas below riffles and small waterfalls.

Favorite smallmouth lures are small jigs, spinners or crank baits, but natural baits such as minnows or hellgramites are perhaps the most effective, especially when fished on light tackle with a delicate touch.

Remember that there is a 12-inch minimum size limit on all black basses, including smallmouth. The daily limit is 10 and the possession limit, 20.

If there's a clear, swiftly flowing creek in your neighborhood, it could well pay you to do some investigatory fishing - you might discover you have an almost untapped smallmouth stream practically in your back yard.

TIPS ON TRIPS

By Alice Fowler

If you've been looking for a pleasant, inexpensive, energy-saving way to take a vacation this gas-hungry year, the answer may be riding on one of America's more than 1,000 bus lines.

The whole family may find a trip more fun if it's taken by bus.

You don't have to worry about driving, filling the tank, finding the right route and the right Fowler like You can relax with your family or with your friends, and even make new friends. Buses are available for charter to groups, the American Bus Assn. reports. A bus seats between 44 and 47 persons. The bus can and does go almost everywhere. In all, a route system spanning more than 27,000 miles, north to south, east to west, provides regularly scheduled service to every section of the country, and it does it all on comparatively little energy.

Bus riders help save fuel. The average bus uses only one-third the amount of fuel per passenger that it takes to get there any other way.

In addition, a bus offers you such conveniences as wide, comfortable seats, clean rest rooms, comfortable air conditioning and a smooth, relaxing ride. Many families—and individuals—are finding that a vacation by bus can make life more fun.

LITTLE-KNOWN FACTS

Many parents worry needlessly about a tiny baby's bulging belly at the end of each meal. This is normal and caused by the infant's need to drink so much in relation to his size.

Different babies have different-sized fontanelles or "soft spots." They take from nine to 24 months to close, with larger spots closing more slowly than smaller ones.

"I miss you very much" is one good reason to call long distance.

There was a time when you waited for a special occasion to call. To announce a wedding. When a baby was born. Or to say "hello" at holiday times.

Today, almost any occasion will do. To catch up with the news...to share a special moment...to hear a friendly voice far away.

It means so much—and costs so little (especially when you call direct after 5 p.m. or on weekends).

Turn an ordinary minute into a memorable moment. Call someone you love long distance today.

Community Flea Market

For the fourth summer in a row, the Mt. Vernon Lion's Club will sponsor their "Community Flea Market" on Saturday, July 5th.

The event will be held at the Mt. Vernon Elementary School parking lot and will start at 9:00 a.m. and run until 4:00 p.m.

Table space will be rented by the Lions at $5.00 per space with all Lions profits going to their "eye glass project".

Floyd Owens, secretary of the club, reported that they received 88 pairs of used eye glasses at the May Festival. The glasses, donated by local citizens, were sent to the "Eye Glasses for the Needy" organization and will be processed and given to needy people in the United States and overseas.

Robert Robinson, president of the local club, stated that for those who plan to sell at the Community Flea Market, it would be advisable to call and reserve space. He asked those interested to call him at 758-8399 or Ed Hunt at 256-2557 or Floyd Owens at 256-2203.

Mr. Robinson also stated the next regular meeting of the club will be held June 19th at the Rockcastle Steak House and that prospective members are welcome to attend and sit in on the meeting.
