Rescue Squad to Drag Lake Linville in Effort to Clear up Hair Mystery

Mt. Vernon city authorities decided Wednesday morning to institute a dragging operation in Lake Linville at the site where Mrs. Lola Hopkins of Crab Church claims she brought up human hair four times while fishing late last Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Hopkins, a companion, Mrs. Wanda Collins and Mrs. Collins' son, Willie, were fishing on the south side of the lake near the dam when Mrs. Hopkins said she kept reeling up something that looked and felt like human hair.

Mrs. Hopkins later reported the incident to city authorities who in turn notified the State Police. Two divers from the State Police, Roland Huckaby and Nick Hensley, were sent to the area Monday evening but were unable to come up with anything. Conditions were not the best for diving however as visibility was very limited and the only method the divers could use to search was by feeling along the bottom.

Mrs. Hopkins told police she cast several times and on four of those casts, she brought up the substance she, and her companions, felt to be human hair. She said that on two casts by the Collins youth, he also brought up the same substance.

Mrs. Hopkins said that when they arrived at the fishing site, there was a boys shirt and pair of socks laying on the bank and that their condition indicated they had not been out in the weather very long.

"Country Charlie" Contributes Much

By: Nancy Mullins

"Country Charlie" is a personality in this area whose name is familiar to many people and yet we may not be as familiar with his contributions as we are his name. A community depends upon people like Charles Napier - sometimes without realizing it.

Charlie Napier, who grew up around Ottawa, inspires respect, first of all for having been the only one from a family of 10 to attend college. He did it the hard way. He got married when he was a senior in high school at Brodhead. And so, besides working to put himself through college, he worked extra hard to support a wife and later, children.

While attending college at Somerset Community College, he worked at a gas station and as a janitor. In the summer, he worked at a factory in Cincinnati, Ohio. At Eastern Kentucky University, where he received his degree in elementary education, he worked as a typist in a campus office. National Defense Loans and Grants helped to pay the cost of tuition and books. He says he remembers eating a lot of potatoes and kraut during his college years. After he began teaching, he returned to Eastern when he could and got his Masters degree.

Country Charlie Napier doesn't belong to any civic organizations because he is usually too busy doing something for them. He donates his time and lends his support equally and unselfishly to almost any club, cause or event. He is everywhere you go. He enters

190 Rockcastle Youths Expected to Register

President Carter's call for the registration of all males born in 1960 and 1961, was instituted Monday across the nation and Rockcastle County was no exception. Postmaster James O. Smith reported that 40 youths had registered at the Mt. Vernon Post Office Wednesday morning. In all, approximately 190 young men are expected to register in the county.

Most of the boys having to register that we have talked with are not particularly fond of the idea but did not entertain any serious thoughts of not complying. Several of them said that if they felt a draft would be instituted, they would go ahead and volunteer so they would at least have some say as to the branch of service they wound up in.

Across the nation, 4,000,000 men are expected to register although the constitutionality of limiting the draft to men, instead of including women, is expected to be ruled on by the Supreme Court at a later date.

The sawmill and pallet operation of Virgil Mullins, located at Climax, was completely destroyed by fire very early Monday morning. The cause of the blaze is undetermined at this time.

Mullins' Pallet Mill Destroyed by Fire

The family sawmill and pallet mill business of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Mullins at Climax was burned around 3 a.m. Monday morning. A neighbor woman saw and reported the fire which was far advanced at the time. The fire is presently unknown.

Mr. Mullins said that his sawmill had been in operation at the same location for 25 years and the pallet mill for the past 5 years. He estimated the loss at approximately $150,000. Only part of the machinery was insured, no the building.

The mill, which took raw materials from the county, produced a product which sent out of the area for sale and returned the money directly to the county, employed 17 persons besides family members and contractors.

The Mullins plan to rebuild their business at the same location as soon as possible.

Rain is Welcomed After Long, Dry, Hot Spell

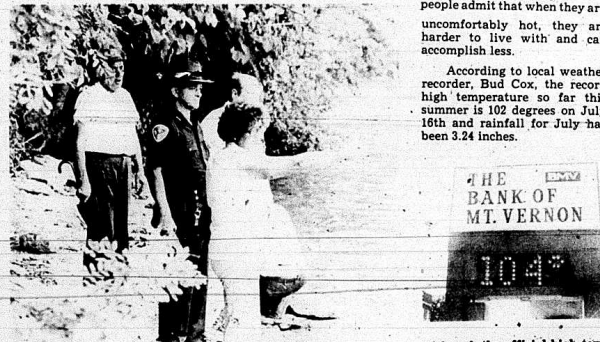

The rains came down and the thanks went up this Tuesday when after 3 weeks of little or no rain and extremely high temperatures, we were blessed with a slow rain that began about 7:00 a.m. Rainy days usually make for low spirits, but not this time. In town and country alike people were euphoric at the downfall.

The dry, hot spell which followed a week of intermittent severe wind and thunder storms in the area has taken its toll on yards, gardens, farm animals and people. Some people report that they have had to turn cattle into hay fields and others report that their cattle stay in the shade all day and refuse to eat. Yards look brown which means less mowing so, due to the extreme heat, no one seems to be too concerned about that.

Gardens are another thing however. Production is expected to be down and anywhere two people with gardens get together the topic of conversation is likely to gravitate to complaints about the dry spell. Most people admit that when they are uncomfortably hot, they are harder to live with and can accomplish less.

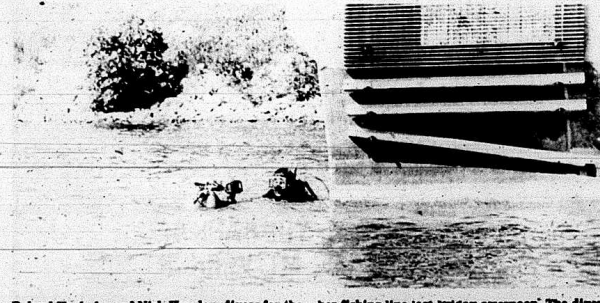

According to local weather recorder, Bud Cox, the record high temperature so far this summer is 102 degrees on July 16th and rainfall for July has been 3.24 inches.

Mrs. Lola Hopkins points out the area where she said she reeled in human hair on her line while fishing on Lake Linville late Friday afternoon. With Mrs. Hopkins and her husband is city policeman Frank DeBorde, Councilman Tom Welch and Matt Powell.

Although the official high temperature locally for July is 102 degrees, the Bank of Mt. Vernon's time and temperature machine disagreed last Wednesday when it recorded 104 degrees. It felt more like 140 degrees.

Roland Huckaby and Nick Hensley, divers for the Kentucky State Police, prepare to go down in Lake Linville Monday afternoon to see if they can find anything which would account for Mrs. Hopkins' claim that she brought up human hair on her fishing line last Friday afternoon. The divers were unsuccessful in their search. However, city authorities decided Wednesday to institute dragging operations of the lake in that area to make certain.

William E. Hensley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Hensley of Route 2, Livingston, was among the approximately 20 youths who registered at the Mt. Vernon Post Office Monday. Hensley, who was born in October of 1960, said he didn't mind registering and his father said he hoped it didn't lead to a draft. The elder Mr. Hensley is a veteran of the Korean War.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor,
 We, the members of Rockcastle Co. React, want to thank those people who have donated to the "Jaws of Life" fund by personal donation or by the collection cans we have in business places throughout the county. Also, Paul Hansel and the members of the Rescue Squad for their faith and support in the Rockcastle Co. React. We've had two coffee breaks since our last React news report and we've done so because we also want to thank those business places who donated to our 4th of July Coffee Break, the Valley Restaurant, Burger Queen, Pie-Pac and Griffin Pie of London and to the local people who came out and visited with us to get a better understanding of what React is all about.
 In the past year, we have purchased a church bus and radio equipment in order to set-up base operations for our coffee breaks, also this will be used in emergencies such as tornado, lost persons, etc. or anything that the React team is requested to assist in. We would like to remind you that we are here if needed and we are willing to assist in any type of emergency when called.

Legislative Report

By: Rep. Harold DeMarcus

Information released by the Departments of Revenue and Finance indicates that Kentucky's state government will collect less revenue for fiscal year 1980-81 than was estimated six months ago. The newly predicted $114 million short-fall is alarming, but not totally surprising.

The effect of record inflation and rising unemployment are two obvious factors in the revenue short-fall. In addition to reduction in buying power, inflation caused people to stop spending which reduced sales while increased unemployment reduces income and sales.

Our brittle economy has placed Kentucky workers in financial hardship, which will reduce the amount of tax revenue collected by state government. Unfortunately, last April the executive administration failed to acknowledge the looming recession by pushing through a $9.5 billion biennial budget.

During the 1980 legislative session, the House Republican Caucus introduced several bills to reduce state spending, amendments reducing the $9.5 billion budget were offered and countless speeches were made explaining why government spending must be reduced. If the spending reductions proposed by the Caucus had been enacted, the Commonwealth's finances would not be so depleted.

Several executive revenue and budget officials have indicated that a tax increase may be needed to maintain essential state programs. Also, rumor has it a special session of the legislature may be called for the purpose of raising taxes.

Increased taxation should be an act of last resort, especially if the increase is to be imposed on our already beleaguered workers.

A special session of the legislature would be costly, at least $25,000 per day. Further, legislators would find it difficult to vote for tax increases and be truly representative of their districts.

By all rights, the executive branch should be able to reduce spending through the governor's constitutional power of executive order. The executive branch has dominated the General Assembly in modern times because of its enormous latitude in controlling the expenditure of tax revenues while the General Assembly, which meets sixty days every two years, is not in session.

As for maintaining essential services, Abraham Lincoln said "in all that the people can individually do as well for themselves the government should not interfere." And that is something state government officials should seriously consider.

Of course, it should be noted that what is essential to officials in the executive branch of state government may not be essential to the people of Kentucky.

For example, the governor commutes from his home in Lexington to Frankfort each day in a newly purchased $1.8 million state helicopter for $250 a round-trip. Two Lincoln Continental limousines have been leased by the state for $7,790 a year for the governor and his wife, one limousine is kept in Frankfort and the other in Lexington.

Six top officials in the executive branch have decapitated 1980 state-owned automobiles. One went so far as to order $1,583 in accessories, including a padded vinyl roof and stereo tapeplayer. Then there is the Department of Revenue's Commissioner and the tele-

Heat Stroke and Exhaustion; Two Dangers of Summertime

As the mercury climbs to near 100 degrees throughout Kentucky, heat-related illnesses are likely to occur. A department for Human Resources health official says people who know a little bit about the two most common conditions may help save a life.

Those conditions are heat exhaustion and heat stroke. While both are caused by being exposed to too much heat and humidity, there is a critical difference in the two, said Dr. Carlos Hernandez, assistant commissioner for disease control and epidemiology in the department.

The critical difference is that heat exhaustion is usually a mild, temporary condition, while heat stroke kills up to one-half its victims.

Heat stroke is a breakdown in the body's ability to carry off heat through perspiration. If left untreated, heat stroke almost always results in death, Hernandez said.

"Skin temperature and moistness is a key to the difference between the two conditions," Hernandez said.

The skin of a heat-stroke victim is very hot to the touch and dry, he said. The skin usually appears flushed, then it turns gray. Another sign of heat stroke is a strong offensive body odor.

Persons suffering from heat exhaustion may have skin temperatures a bit higher or lower than normal, and the skin is clammy.

"If a heat-stroke victim is to have a fair chance of surviving, bystanders must act immediately," Hernandez said.

The victim must get professional medical attention as soon as possible, but bystanders should not wait for help to arrive. Heat stroke, the victim's internal temperature soars quickly, sometimes to as high as 111 degrees. In treatment, the goal is to lower the temperature rapidly by whatever means available, Hernandez said.

If ice is available, apply it all over the victim's body. Hernandez said. If water is at hand, keep throwing it on him while an ambulance arrives or while the victim is on the way to the hospital. Even pouring cold soft drinks over the victim is a sensible step in this situation, Hernandez said. The arms and legs should be rubbed vigorously to get the cooler blood circulating throughout the body.

A person suffering from heat stroke often develops convulsions. In that case, someone should place a handkerchief or some other object between the victim's teeth to prevent injury, Hernandez said. The victim usually loses consciousness soon after symptoms appear.

"It's impossible to overstate how important it is to get medical help to a heat-stroke victim immediately. His or her life is on the line," Hernandez said.

Heat exhaustion happens more frequently and is rarely a serious problem, Hernandez said. In that condition, the victim continues to perspire, unlike the victim of heat stroke. A person suffering from heat exhaustion may have nausea and a headache and may feel dizzy.

Unless a heat exhaustion victim lapses into a coma, which happens occasionally, professional medical help probably isn't necessary, Hernandez said. Simply get the victim to a cool place and give him or her liquid if the victim is able to swallow.

Normally, heat exhaustion lasts only a little while and complications are rare, Hernandez said. Preventing heat-related illnesses is a matter of common sense, he said. People should try to stay out of extreme heat and humidity, but persons who must be outside should rest in a cool place regularly and drink liquids. Persons with heart problems should be especially careful, Hernandez said.

What can you do when it's too hot to go fishing?

St. Vernon Signal Thursday, July 24, 1980 P-11

It sits down in the coolest, shadiest spot you can find, get a tall cold drink and think cool thoughts.

Think about a crisp October day, the fall leaves rustling beneath your feet, the sky a deep, deep blue and the autumn colors of the squirrel woods showing sharply through the clear air.

Think about the sights and smells of a pre-dawn November morning as your shiver in your tree stand, waiting for daylight and that trophy buck that's bound to come your way this year.

Imagine the sound a sharp December wind makes rustling through the dry corn stalks of your blind as you scan the sky for the sight of ducks among the lowering clouds and the occasional snowflake.

Picture the way a full moon shines on deep snow. An owl hoots in the distance and is answered by one just over on the next hill. Then their dialogue is joined by the sounds of a pack of foxhounds in full cry. The heat of the campfire is warm on your legs as you listen, imagining the unseen chase in your mind.

Remember how cold your feet can get when it's 12 below and you're standing in knee-deep water in a goose blind. But it's the 1st day of the season and, cold or not, you're going to stick it out.

Recall the sound of ice breaking beneath your boat as you work your way slowly toward the open water of mid-lake. You know that ice will form in the guides of your rod, but the crapple are there, willing to bite even though made sluggish by the numbing waters.

Hear in your mind the way a healthy sound on a January morning, when his baying interrupts your second cup of coffee. You put on boots and a heavy jacket, grab your shotgun and a pocket of shells and follow his tracks in the new snow to where Despite appearances, these are not Ku Klux Klan members who have been beheaded, they are Japanese Beetle traps devised by former sheriff Tip Keppert to combat the invasion of his fruit trees by the insect. They are working right, Mr. Keppert says.

Reppert Fighting Japanese Beetles

By Mrs. Nancy Mullins

The "Tip" Reppert backyard looks like a combat zone. The enemy infiltrator here and other places in the county is the Japanese Beetle. This is the 70th year we've been plagued with this pesky bug which will seemingly eat anything including trees, flowers, plants and even fruit. The Reppert's backyard is awarm. They have an assortment of fruit trees and right now as the peaches ripen, the beetles hang all over the fruit and destroy it.

The Repperts decided not to sit back and let the beetles take over without a good fight, so besides spraying, which has not done much good, they have made traps. Mr. Reppert said they had killed about 6 gallons from Monday afternoon, when he made the traps, to Tuesday afternoon. They are made from half gallon freezer bags and gallon milk jugs. He bought some Japanese Beetle Bait to attract them. The bait is placed inside the neck of the jug which is hung upside down on a clothesline or tree. Two or three holes are cut in the jug and the plastic bag is tied securely to the top of the jug. The beetle is attracted to the bait by the bait, but when they hit the sides of the jug they slide into the bag below. When the bag is full, they merely take it down; tie the top and throw it away.

The state Energy Regulatory Commission approved the increase, which is $1.23 million less than the amount East Kentucky requested.

Land Bank Reduces Interest

The Federal Land Bank of Louisville will reduce its interest rate from 11 percent to 10 percent on September 1, 1980, according to an announcement today by Fletcher Clark, Manager of South East Kentucky Federal Land Bank Association. In addition to reducing the interest rate on new farm loans, the Bank will also lower on September 1 its interest rate on rural home loans and farm related business loans from 11 percent to 10.5 percent.

Bank of Louisville President, R.C. Schlader, the reduction in the Bank's interest rate was made possible because of the recent sharp decline in the market interest rates since mid-March and the lifting of credit restraints imposed by the Federal Reserve Board. Schlader added that the Bank's loan fee was reduced in June from six percent to two percent on the first $300,000 of new money on all loans closed on or after June 18, 1980.

The interest rate on existing variable-rate loans closed prior to September 1, 1980, will be reduced as follows: Farm loans with billing rates higher than 10 percent will be reduced to 10 percent and rural home loans and farm related business loans with billing rates higher than 10.5 percent will be reduced to 10.5 percent.

The Land Bank makes long-term loans to farmers and on rural residences secured by first mortgages.

Mr. Jim Brooks of New Mexico spent the week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Taylor of Brodhead. Mr. Brooks is touring America in a covered wagon which is being pulled by two small ponies. He started his journey on September 5, 1978 and walked the first 1,240 miles when he reached London. He then built his wagon. Mr. Brooks plans to quit his expedition on September 5, 1984, five years from the day he started out from Morristown, Tennessee. He hopefully plans to cover about 10,000 miles when he completes his trip. When asked about his age, he just laughed and says somewhere between five and fifty. Division of Forestry Active in Forest Products Utilization

When many people think of the Kentucky Division of Forestry, they usually visualize fire control, tree planting, timber marking and other timberland management activities. Another important, although less well known, part of the Division of Forestry is their Forest Products Utilization activities. This program is designed primarily to assist the wood-using industries of Kentucky but in practice it directly or indirectly benefits everyone.

One of the major concerns of the Forest Products Utilization section is to assist loggers and sawmills in improving their efficiency, productivity, safety and return on investment. This is done by studying on-going operations to help detect limiting factors of techniques or equipment, training in producing higher grade logs and lumber and technical assistance in setting up mills. A greater return of quantity and quality from a given amount of raw material means the operator can pay more for trees or logs, pay better wages, help hold down the increasing cost of wood products and still maintain or increase his profits.

Jeff Minks, 13 year-old grandson of Mary Payne and the late Ed Payne of Brodhead, recently attended the Joe B. Hall Wildcat Basketball Camp. Jeff is pictured with Coach B. Hall. He received personalized coaching from famed cage stars and coaches from all over the nation that were brought onto the UK campus in Lexington. Jeff has been playing basketball on a team since age 6. He is the son of Dale and Judy Minks of Reading, Ohio.

Students shouldn't have to worry about paying for Hospital or Doctor bills.

And neither should parents.

With all their studies, social activities and decisions about the future to worry about, college aged students don't need the added burden of potential hospital or medical bills. And neither do their parents.

Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Kentucky can help with a pre-paid health care plan designed specifically for college aged students. This Student Plan offers comprehensive hospital benefits plus surgical and medical benefits, so it gives the students the protection they need and parents the peace of mind they want.

To be eligible for the Student Program, you must be a full-time student enrolled at a Kentucky college or university, junior college, vocational business, nursing or practical nursing school, or a Kentucky resident who either attends school out of state or school and under 27 years old.
