IN MEMORY OF Robert E. Vessels

One year ago today, God called you away. You left me all alone, With no one else to call my own.

But I know you are happy my darling, With our loved ones gone on

With our loved ones gone on before, Our sons, our fathers and mo-thers, Up there on that beautiful shore.

I miss you, Oh! how I miss you, For so deep was our love. But I know you are watching and waiting. From that window up above.

Sometimes I can here you walking, And, yes, I hear you talking, And I can see your loving smile.

Oh, yes! You come back to visit me, Every once in a while. Though you are gone, you are not forgotten, And; honey, you never will be. For as long as my life and time shall last, I will remember thee.

School Districts Will Receive Cuts in Three Programs; Budget Will Be Late

School districts recently re-ceived word that funding for three programs will be reduced this year. Reductions will be felt in the Special Education and Voca-tional Education Units of the Minimum Foundation Program. The amount of the cut has not been determined yet, but they are to be notified soon. Student fee money will be cut from $20 to, $5 per student. Also cut was the Par Equa-lization Program which is fund-ing designed to help school systems not located in the richer tax income areas to provide education equal to that in other areas of the state. Rockcastle County received $200,000 last Quart and Mr. Parsons said he didn't expect their allocation to receive a large cut as cuts are expected to be proportionate with amounts funded each dis-trict. Rockcastle County's $200, 000 goes into the general budget and for construction costs. Due to the recent property reassessment, the state has not sent the board the school tax rate yet and, according to Mr. Parsons, it will cause a delay in budget preparation for 1980-81.

Union Church Passes 100-Year Mark

Each section of the county has its colorful stories handed down from the past but, in the Red Hill area, they seem to especially abound. Not many of the stories have to do with the church and yet, within its wans, are lasting records that speak to us of a quiet fath in a volatile and passionate mosity Scotch-Irish community.

us of a quiet faith in a volatile and passionate mostly Sockh-Irish community. The following historical ac-count of Union Church was edited by Nancy Mullins for appearance in this article from a very well-researched book by A.D. Ponder. In many instances he is quoted directly. The Union-Rockcastle Bap-tist Church was organized Feb-ruary 8, 1879 in the home of William and Cynthia Brum, mett. A Rev. Joel Philpot came to the area from Clay County around 1878 and, while working at the tanbark mill max-Beving-ston, began preaching services in the homes of his neighbors, several of whom had moved to the area from Jackson County and had membership in the Mit. Gliead Church there: The 20 new coverts Rev. Philpot baptied into the fellowship of that church. When the new church was constituted, the letters of 32 members were asked for an received.

members were asked for an received. Slince the organizational meeting was held in the home of Mr. Brummett, he was given the privilege of selecting the mame. Union-Rockcastle Baptist Church was chosen. The first eleders were John and Daniel Ward; the first pastor, Rev. Philpot; the first clerk, William S. Robertson; the first deacons and deaconesses were John Stewart and Jefferson Hellard and their wives. It was decided the first. Saturday and Sunday of the month would be the regular meeting times, with communion each May and September and footwashing each July. The foctwashing ordinance was ob-served until 1918 and no one knows quite for sure why it was discontinued. The story is told that one might pass a brother washing his feet in a nearby spring or creek and be reminded that it was the July meeting and he too would sit down a dhe too would sit down a different a ground in the center. Later a diffoor and a stone fireplace (which never drew properly and dilled the room with snoke) were added. The church re-cive a machership into the dwhere it remains. "a warm of di 888. Bro. Dil-

His ministerial gifts and talents had been demon-strated for several months in the church already and his faith and devotion had been unques-tioned "since the treetop hit the house" where he was ijddling for a dance. He promptly gave up fiddling and began preach-ing. Not much is known of Bro.

Letters To The Editor

Lillian Thomas Route 3, Box 217 Mt. Vernon, Ky. 40456

Dear Editor, To begin with, I am not Lillie Thomas, I am Lillian Thomas. I wrote a letter to the Signal about 3 weeks ago con-cerning the dog catcher and I never realized how many people were also concerned about it. I've had many calls and letters from people in hopes I could do something and if you had got my name right, I have a feeling I would have got more. But, still something and if you had got my name right, have a feeling I would have got more. But, still no one wants the dog. Some of the letters I got told of some awful things the dog catcher does when he does get around to catching a dog like starving them. And, about the starving them. And, about the starvary a bunch of dogs and pups dropped there like garbage to starve or get hit by cars. My pace and I don't think it should be where it is located it's too close to homes. My daughter in-law is pregnant with their first child and must go over or very close to ded dogs all swollan, and stinking every night and morning.

This dog and dumpster pro This dog and dumpster pro-blem is inexcusable. At Pine Hifl, seeing those dogs there and after trying so long to get the dog atcher out here was what, time - plus my djughter-in-law becoming very ill at the fifthy mess so often. It couldn't be good for her or the baby. There must be something done about unwanted dogs and cats in Rockcastle County. T want to thank the pople who wrote me and called. They all had a Christian attitude but, like my-self awful disgusted and a little mad Bhout the problem but it helps to know I am not alone in thinking the way I do about it.

 I'd like to see more people write the Signal and say what they think not only about the dog and dumpster problem but about other things as well.
 Schools about to start, there's one for starters.
 So, speak up Rockcastle Countians, it's your home too.

Lillian Thomas

By: John Wilson Waterfowl hunting in shirt-sleeves and shorts? Most duck hunting takes place in the middle of winter, when (according to duck hun-ters) the-colder, cloudler and more miserable it is, the better the hunting. But there is a short season in early September in Kentucky which should appeal to the hunter who desent particularly care for cold feet. This season is for teal only and last sjust hine days (from Sept. 6 through Sept. 14). But or duck hunters suffering from the long layoff since last Janua-tor duck dunters suffering from the long layoff since last Janua-tor, it represents a welcome preview of things to come. By the time the winter waterfowl seasons open in No-vember, these teal are already settied in at their wintering grounds south of the border. In addition to blue-winged teal, Kentucky hunters will en-counter an occasional green-winged teal. The third member of this family, the cinnamon teal, is a Western species and is extremely rare east of the maker burntains. All teal spe-cies may be taken during this September season. Teal are puddle ducks. Like mallards and pintalis, they in-habit small bodies of water rather than the large lakes and rivers which attract diving ducks like canvashacks or red-heads.

A little pre-season scouting of the neighborhood farm ponds will also very likely turn up some teal. Then, it's just a matter of obtaining permission to hunt from the pond owner and waiting for opening day. But while you're waiting, you'd better make a trip down to the post office and purchase your 1980-81 Migratory Bird Hunting and Conservation Stamp (which everybody calls a "duck stamp"). This federal Stamp (which everybody calls a "duck stamp"). This federal stamp is required in addition to a valid Kentucky hunting li-

The 4H Land Judging Program has been develoged to help young farmers learn to evaluate their land for it's best possible use and at the same time teach soil conservation measures. Those participating were: Anthony Hansel, Fhill Thompson, and Troy Taylor.

"Make it a point to join 4-H." As school starts the new year, this is certainly a fine attitude expressed by Miss Kristi Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Frank Martin of Brodhead. Miss Martin's poster has been chosen as the first place eighth grade State Poster Contest winner. Kristi's poster has been displayed for the past two weeks in the 4-H section of the Kentucky State Fair called "Cloverville, U.S.A.".
