New-Way Movers of Middleboro was busy Tuesday putting the final touches to preparations for moving the Livingston Post Office building to its new home Wednesday -- just up the street. The building, owned by Sam Ford, had to be moved to make way for the new bridge to be built over Roundstone Creek. It is being moved to the former site of Kentucky Casket Co. For the past 10 days, the post office has been operated out of a store building adjoining Fridemore's Grocery. The actual moving operation, Mr. Ford said, would take about an hour although about 10 days to two weeks has been spent getting ready to make the move.

Magistrate Asks to See List of Those Receiving Food and Fuel Vouchers from County

A list of the names of the people that had received vouchers or letters from the Fiscal in order to obtain groceries, coal or oil was asked for but not received by Magistrate Frank Deborde at the Rockcastle Co. Fiscal Court's regular monthly meeting Tuesday morning.

Mr. Deborde said that he was not against anyone receiving aid that really needed it, but he said that he was against the idea of these funds being provided for personal or political gain.

County Judge Executive Hubert Thacker overlooked Deborde's motion and quickly asked for a motion to adjourn, however the meeting was not adjourned and Deborde then insisted on his motion being recognized and entered into the minutes however this motion was set for the list of names died for a lack of a second.

"This is a matter of public record to everybody," Thacker said, "and this account has been in the papers for years." He also said that he had never given anyone over $50 and said that each case was that of "needy persons" coming to him with tears in their eyes and saying their kids were starving.

According to Judge Executive's assistant, Mrs. Anna Rose Mullins, some of the cases in which these funds were given out were those in which people had applied for Federal Food Stamps and had to go through a waiting period to get them. Mrs. Mullins also said that in some of the cases she checked the person's story out by calling the welfare office. She also said that some of the money from the account #424 was used on heating costs.

The account, labeled Social Services, receives all of its fund from Revenue Sharing.

Judge Thacker said that $1000 was allocated to go into the special account. However, it was later learned that Thacker was wrong and that $4000 was put into the account for the fiscal year 1981-82. A check of (Cont'd to P-16)

NOTE TO CANDIDATES

For the next two weeks before the Primary Election, candidates are requested to get advertising copy in as early as possible - at least by Monday.

Due to the extra work load and a limited number of employees, we need the extra time.

This bridge at Livingston over Roundstone Creek will be obsolete after the construction of a new one alongside it but, according to a design engineer for the Ky. Dept. of Transportation, the bridge will be fenced off and will remain because it is an historical landmark. (See story elsewhere on front page).

Bridge to Remain As Landmark

Even though a new bridge is to be built over Roundstone Creek and the L&N Railroad at Livingston, the old one will be fenced off and will remain. The reason being that the old bridge is an historical landmark, according to Wilford Watkins, district design engineer for the Ky. Department of Transportation.

The bridge built with a peculiar funding appropriations combining L&N Railroad money and state tax money was dismantled at Ford, Kentucky and brought to Livingston and reconstructed. Because its design and historical significance are unique, the old bridge will remain.

The new bridge on the Livingston-Victory-Pittsburg Road (Ky. 490) will be built along side the old one.

According to Watkins, construction will begin this fall after the bid is let. He said seldom is a project of this size completed within the calendar year in which it was begun; however he said much depends upon the severity of the winter weather.

The right of way has been bought and the task of selling the buildings off the property is almost complete.

PROGRAM ON MISUSE OF DRUGS AT RCHS

There will be a program given at the Rockcastle County High School each period of the day on Wednesday, May 11th, on "Use and Misuse of Drugs". The first program will begin at 8:45 a.m. and the last one at 2 p.m.

Parents are invited to come for the program during any of the six periods.

Trooper Stanley Hale of the London KSP Post will be in charge of the program.

Band Concert

The Annual Spring Band Concert will be Tuesday, May 12, at 7:30 p.m. at the high school.

Students in the Beginning Band, Junior High Band and High School Band will participate in the concert, which is under the direction of Mr. Bob Pybas.

Admission will be $1 per person.

School Board Meets; Opens Bids and Sets Calendar

In school board proceedings Tuesday night, board chairman Dr. Rudolph Burdette opened and read the two bids for the 1981 fiscal year school fund audit. Allen, Horton, Arvin and Bain of Mt. Sterling and Dwight Griffin of Mt. Vernon were the two bidders. However, there was some confusion over the fact that one bid failed to have itemized the amount of the total bid which would be charge for auditing the Title I account. The motion was made and acted upon to resubmit for new bids.

Bids for custodial supplies were submitted for the boards review with most of the bids going to Thompsons or Kenway Companies.

Institutional Distributors got the bid on four heavy duty electric ranges and four fire extinguishing systems. The total amount of the expenditure for items was $5,448.51 with the federal government paying $10,505. and local school funds $4941.51.

The school calendar for the 1981-82 school term was submitted for approval. According to the calendar school will begin with inservice for teachers August 17 and students enrollment August 19. With no snow days, school would be scheduled to be out May 13, 1982.

Cornelius Brings Suit in U.S. District Court

Rockcastle County resident and former Laurel County School Superintendent Charles Cornelius has filed a civil suit in U.S. District Court in London against the local board of education asking for $1 million in compensatory and punitive damages. The suit charges board members Jack Bryner, Ray McFadden, James Kennedy, Ryan Vires and Jack Bolton with violating his constitutional rights when they voted to fire him last winter.

The suit claims that actions by the board damaged Cornelius' professional reputation and caused him mental anguish and humiliation.

The suit claims that none of the 15 charges the board leveled at Cornelius were sufficient to remove him from office legally.

Cornelius claims in the suit that he requested a hearing on the charges but was denied "due process" by not being allowed the hearing.

The suit further claims that the defendant intentionally terminated Cornelius' contract without just cause thus entitling (Cont'd to P-16)

Children Pay Tribute to Mothers

5th and 6th grade students from the four elementary schools wrote about mothers and Mother's Day for a special tribute to mothers this week. We present a selection of them for your pre-Mothers' Day enjoyment.

Once when I was but an infant, My mother said to me, You shall be a big boy, And very strong you'll be, She watched me like a mother

She guarded me constantly like a beagle, Soon will come that faithful day, May ten, A gift for her I will send, In the merry month of May, Soon will come this precious day, Judy Martin is her name, Our last names are, of course, the same.

My mother's the best thing that ever happened to me, She is very nice you shall see, She is a teacher at RCHS, To me, it kind, and know she is the best,

She helps me with everything I know, She even helps me put on shows, She knows about everything, She is the prettiest thing I've ever seen, She has done her best for me, I know, Just like a mother doe, Yes, my mother is the greatest thing I've ever seen. Roy Stephen Martin, 6th, MVES

My mother is very special to me. She comforts me when I'm sick. And doctors me when I'm hurt. My mother is my teacher. She teaches me all the things I need to know. My mom is very nice and considerate to me and other people. I know my mother loves me because she treats me so special and I love my special mother. That is, she I love to see Mother's Day sneaking up, so I can buy a special gift for my special mother.

Rodney Weaver, 6th, MVES

My mother is good to me. She is pretty and can sing good. She cleans my hamster cage. She won't let me pop wheelies and jump and do doughnuts and spin on my Honda. She is afraid I will get hurt, but I won't. I am glad she is my mom because she knows I like Skippy peanut butter instead of Jif.

Chris Wilcox, 5th, BES

My mom is a special person. She is so sweet and kind. She is someone I can talk to. My mom is very intelligent, when I need her she is always there. She plays the church organ and piano excellently and everybody comments so I am very proud to have a mother like this. My mother always thinks (Cont. to 14)

Piney Grove Cemetery, Brodhead, is in need of money to pay for a lawn mower that was bought last month to mow the grass. It cost $900 and was bought on credit. This mower should last five or more years. Plus, the operator, Mr. Sutton, must be paid. Gasolin must be bought.

Please, you that have people buried here, make plans to help in this cost. You may mail or hand donations to Billy Bussell, secretary of the cemetery board, or leave it at the Citizens Bank. Someone will be at the cemetery on de Decoration Day to receive donations.

Thank you,

To the Editor:

As an American citizen and a registered voter, I am very concerned about our policy of not electing anyone for any one-but as a Republican, I don't vote on the other side I have heard that Joe Stephens is a Democrat and running on the Republican platform. We, as Republicans, don't want a straddle pole. This man that is to be his deputy sheriff is a Republican. We don't want a man that don't know what he is. This is a Republican primary election and let's make it that. The Democrats will have their day. We don't want a rooster as a log chain. We want the big elephant.

I also read his article concerning Oscar "Larney" Edgsham, how he severely beat this man while he was in the county jail without cause. Timothy Van Bullock. This Mr. Durham was tried for felony and they brought it down to misdemeanor and never did anything with him. I don't believe he is supposed to run at all. I can't understand why they will beg citizens to vote for them saying they will uphold the law. What law do they uphold. The poor folks suffer, it's not the officer. I hope that everyone will think a long time before he votes. Please vote for who you think will be the best man. As for me, I have decided there are no horses. I am so fed up on all politicians.

A voter,
Lora Hamilton

To the Editor

I would like to take advantage of your editorial column and speak to my fellow voters in District #5 (five).

Last election, we were swamped by politicians of ever persuasion, making about any kind of promise you wanted to hear. So, we the voters had the debate and inquire amongst ourselves to decide who, in fact, was believable enough to put in office and test. Approximately 4 years later "their records" are what they have to run on for from. First let's examine our 5th District magistrate, Joe Clark. In conversation with my neighbors who supported Mr. Clark in the last election, we almost all agree that we are proud of his contributions to Rockcastle County Fiscal Court for the betterment of the County as a whole, and more specific his attention to the needs of the 5th District. In short, Mr. Clark has taken his job more seriously than any magistrate in my 60 years of living in this district.

I also believe that County Judge Executive Thacker's record as a tireless worker for the betterment and progress of our county is a well-established fact, and what is good for the county as a whole is certainly good for our district.

I personally appreciate the fact that our Judge Thacker, because of his unquestionable honesty and integrity, stands heads and shoulders above many County Judge Executives in Kentucky who are being jailed for being worthless crooks. Sometimes with a little sunshine we get a lot of rain. I just read a political advertisement by Property Valuation Administrator Robert Cromer, where he stated he was more than a P.V.A. I don't think many of our pocket books could stand much more, of Mr. Cromer. Apparently Mr. Cromer thinks we live in a jug and don't know what is going on in the rest of the state, for example, many county P.V.A.'s "did not" comply with the so-called state demand of property reassessment, one case in point was Harlan County's P.V.A. Jerry Blanton. He stood with the people who elected him, sure the state threatened to cut off his salary and take him to court to which Mr. Blanton replied that the people of the County elected him, and his responsibility was to the people. "The State Backed Off". I wonder who Mr. Cromer was representing. In the 1976 General Assembly, a law was passed to tax people's land for any coal they might have. Almost all County P.V.A.'s considered this tax for what it was, and "refused" to add this burden to their taxpayers, but oh no, Mr. Cromer collected this tax from the citizens of Rockcastle County until the General Assembly rescinded the crazy act. Who's side is Mr. Cromer on? I hope the state don't levy a tax on pine needles before Mr. Cromer can be removed from office.

Respectfully yours,
Robert G. Collins

Legislative Report

By Harold DeMarcus

Although there is a national move towards government efficiency and tax cuts, Kentucky's executive administration still maintains that a tax decrease will be needed in 1982.

During a discussion on the intangible property tax at the April Program Review and Investigations meeting, the committee's co-chairman and the Commissioner of Revenue agreed that the state should look for new sources of revenue.

I do not believe the state needs to find new sources of revenue, rather state government must strive to become more efficient.

State government spent $1,179,024,000 in 1970 and it spent $3,913,108,141 in 1980. Certainly any family or business would be pleased with a percentage increase of that size.

The executive administration also claims that the legislature should re-instate the five percent sales tax on residential utilities.

The House Republican Caucus fought hard to remove the sales tax on utilities during the 1979 special session, and there is no support among the caucus to see the tax imposed again. Actually, there appears to be no support for the tax in the legislature as a whole.

Recently, both environmentalists and coal barons have publicly called on the state legislature to re-instate the tax on unmined coal.

The 1978 General Assembly enacted Senate Bill 309, which raised the coal severance tax but also lowered the tax rate on unmined coal from 31 1/2 cents to one-tenth of one cent per one hundred dollars of assessed value.

Officials in the Department of Revenue contend that the tax causes collection problems, because it is difficult to determine the amount of unmined coal. Clearly a workable procedure for assessment and collection must be devised before a tax on unmined coal can be considered.

Once again, the answer for state government's fiscal problems is efficiency and not tax increases.

For example, the Kentucky state police are no longer painting the hoods and trunk lids on their cruisers blue.

It seems that in the past newly purchase state police cars were all white, the state would then paint the hoods and trunk lids blue, and before selling the used vehicle the state would then paint the hoods and trunk lids white again.

Wouldn't it be nice if there were signs out on the lake directing you to good fishing spots.

Well, on several lakes around Kentucky there are such signs, and more are going up all the time. The signs, pictures of a fish approaching a hook, indicate where man-made fish attractors have been established. Currently, the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and the Tennessee Valley Authority are engaged in attractor programs.

Most attractors are made from brush piles anchored to the bottom. Brush is easily obtained and seems to attract fish better than "artificial" objects such as old tires or concrete blocks.

With the crappie spawning season upon us, anglers should find these attractors particularly productive since they ought to form natural magnets for spawning crappie. However, studies have shown that almost all fish—everything from bass to catfish—use attractor sites during much of the year.

Most of the attractors established by the Fish and Wildlife Department cover about an acre of lake bottom and are marked at each corner by a buoy with the fish attractor symbol stenciled on it.

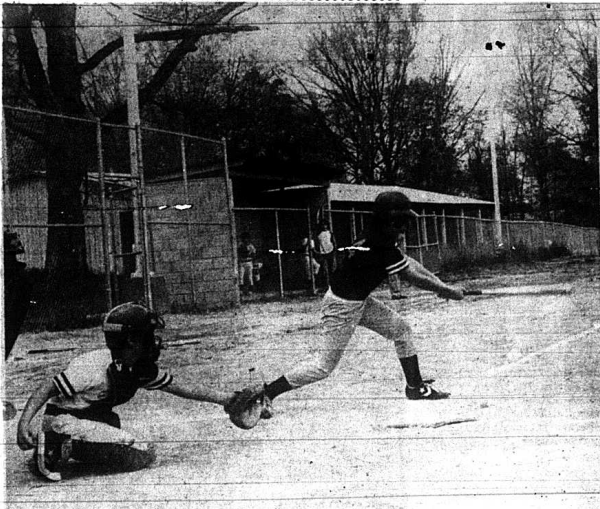

"A lot of fishermen think they have to park their boat right next to a buoy to be over productive water," says Bill McLemore, the biologist in charge of the attractor program for Western Kentucky. Actually, McLemore says, there might not be any brush right beside the buoy, since these markers only serve to show the outer limits of the site.

"One way to determine if you're over an attractor is to notice how often your hook gets snagged on rush," McLemore says. "If you're not getting hung up, you're not fishing in the right place."

The problems of getting hung up can be solved by using a light wire hook coupled with fairly heavy line—around 20-pound test. A hefty pull on the line will straighten the hook.

WHAT CAN YOU DO ABOUT CANCER

Talk with your doctor or clinic about the American Cancer Society's guidelines for early detection of cancer in people without symptoms. Ask how these guidelines relate to you.

They recommend you have a cancer-related checkup every year if you are over 40 years of age and every three years if you are between 20 and 40.

ORAL CHECKUP

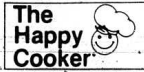

As part of a regular dental checkup, the American Cancer Society advises having any jagged teeth or dentures that irritate surrounding tissue corrected. A dentist can also spot any suspicious lump, scaly area or white spot on the lips or in the mouth.

REVIVAL

Pastor Earl Davidson invites everyone to attend the revival services at the Ottawa Baptist Church beginning Sunday, May 10-17. Services begin at 7:30 nightly with Bro. Albert Geisler doing the preaching. There will be special singing nightly. The public is welcome.

KETTLE COOKING

Now's the time to celebrate National Barbecue Month and rediscover the incomparable flavor and aroma of foods sizzled over charcoal.

If you've been wondering what makes kettle barbecuing unique, here are some answers from barbecue experts at UNR Home Products, makers of the HAPPY COOKER™ covered kettle barbecue grills.

With a kettle, you can grill things you've never been able to do on regular open charcoal cooking equipment. You'll be amazed at how many meats, turkeys, whole chickens, duck, ling, game and hens.

Since heat is reflected from the lid and meat cooks evenly on all sides, you don't even need a rotisserie. The domed cover plays an important part in kettle cooking barbecuing. With closable vents, it helps regulate the intensity of the charcoal heat. The cover also keeps annoying flare-ups and excess smoke to a minimum.

With a kettle, you can cook out all year-round. Rain or snow won't stop you. The cover is there to protect the food. And, your HAPPY COOKER™, with its powder finish, is built to withstand the elements.

THE ONGOING BATTLE

LEXINGTON — Recruiting is the lifeblood of college athletics. And for the University of Kentucky basketball coaching staff it's a never-ending battle.

The Wildcats recently closed the book on another recruiting season when Ennis Whately, a sensational guard from Birmingham, Ala. signed with the University of Alabama.

That leaves the Wildcats with two incoming recruits for next year. Mike Balenger, a 6-3 guard from Jasper, Ind. and Troy McKinley, a 6-5 forward who led Simon Kenton to the Kentucky high school basketball title.

This recruiting drop gives when compared to the previous two years when UK enjoyed back-to-back top-rated freshman classes.

But the Cats don't have many gaps to fill, so rather than bring in a lot of players to get on the bench, Coach Joe B. Hall and his staff decided to concentrate on next year's recruiting crop.

The work has already begun. Hall's assistants, Leonard Hamilton and Jim Dismore, are busy crossing the country now, talking with coaches and talent scouts about next year's high school seniors.

Once school is out, the UK staff will visit various high school summer camps to evaluate the up-and-coming talent. Kentucky will host its own camp for three weeks in June.

Many of UK's top talent prospects for next year are right here in the Commonwealth.

Among the outstanding juniors this year were Todd May of York High School and a couple of standouts from North High: Robbie Valentine and Brett Burrow.

Burrow has strong UK connections. His father, Bob Burrow, was an All-America center at Kentucky in 1956. He has a brother, Brett, who is tall, he's 6-9 and still growing.

One of the best scorers in the state this year was Mark Line, a 7-foot-6 forward from Williamson, Ky. You can tell he has an eye on UK already.

Some people think basketball coaches take a three-month vacation during the summer. But that's not the case.

Recruiting is a continuous battle. And the Kentucky coaches seem to be good warriors.

New Covered Grills

Just in time for this year's cookout season, UNR Home Products is introducing nine new covered barbecue grills.

The latest addition to THE HAPPY COOKER™ line are two easily portable picnic grills, four adjustable smokers, two standard kettles and a deluxe adjustable kettle. These join the popular deluxe covered kettle barbecue grill already on the market.

Five of the models have an exclusive new UNR feature, a patented adjustable heat control system with a single lever control. With this, the charcoal fire can be raised or lowered to get better heat control.

Described as "America's best built barbecue," the grills are noted for quality construction and unique features. They are built for durability, versatility and good design, yet are reasonably priced. Available nationally in discount, hardware and department stores.

MINK
2nd DISTRICT

I would like to take this opportunity to share this Old English adage with the people of the second district of "Men, no measure." A general feeling among voters that integrity and a sense of responsibility in political candidates must count heavily in the final appraisal as to fitness for office.

The Constitution does not exclude the possibility that people will follow demagogues, hate-mongers, or corrupt leaders rather than men of integrity and good will. All it can do is make possible the opportunity for decent men and women to run for office. But this same opportunity is open to the evil element in society who may look upon politics only as a means to power, personal profit, or both. It is up to the people to decide which leaders to elect.

The typical rise in American politics is from the rank of a voluntary worker in the precinct through a series of stages upward.

This process generally weeds out the worst men along the way, but not always. A democratic system is not, as is so often assumed, a self-operating mechanism which automatically assures that the best will get to the top. At various times in American history high officials such as Cabinet members and Congressmen have ended their political careers in jail for common crimes like fraud and bribery.

These instances have given rise to the feeling among many people that politics is a corrupt activity in general. However, since democracy itself consists, in large part, of people acting together is both inaccurate and unfair. Most professional politicians and employees of the government are honest and decent no less so than the average American citizen who is neither a professional politician nor an employee of the government.

YOUR VOTE AND SUPPORT APPRECIATED.

ROCKCASTLE UNIT OF ACS "BACK IN BUSINESS"

The Rockcastle County Unit of the American Cancer Society is "back in business" after a long series of "ups and downs".

The Unit was originally organized in 1978. That same year, the group received the top fund-raising award from Kentucky Division of ACS for raising 300% of the amount of money raised in 1977. The educational and service phases of the organization were beginning to grow, but several key members had to drop out because of job conflicts, moves, etc.

In the winter months of fiscal '80-81, two charter members, Mike Bryand and Cora LePorin, and Dr. Jay Beard, a local dentist, decided that Rockcastle needs the cancer control program of ACS too badly to let the organization dissolve. They began a membership drive that resulted in a reorganization of the Unit in February of 1981 with Mike Bryant as President. Members of the new Unit include the three people listed above plus Dorothy Williams, Bill James, Charlie Nepler, Bill Riddle, Joyce Lark and Dr. Orson Arvin. Anyone interested in working with the Cancer Society is urged to contact Mike Bryant at 258-4416 or 256-5246 or contact any member of the organization listed.

Magistrate, First District.

pd. for by candidate

The Republican Primary is drawing near. Citizens of Rockcastle County will soon be selecting a Sheriff to serve for the next four years. Mr. Wilson Green and I are running as Deputies with Mr. Oscar "Larney" Durham.

We think the citizens of Rockcastle County want a Sheriff and Deputies who are concerned with law enforcement. We feel the time has come to elect officers who are willing to stand up for law and order. The people deserve to know who will be serving in the Sheriff's office as Deputies and we feel they desire men who are willing to serve in this capacity all four years of the term. If elected Deputies, we pledge to serve until the term expires.

After visiting and talking with many people in the county, we know the citizens are concerned about the vandalism in our schools, the stealing of cattle and livestock, the burglarizing of homes and business places and, especially, the harassment of the elderly. Many of our older citizens are "prisoners" in their own homes. They are afraid to leave home long enough to go to town or church because someone might break into their home while they are gone. Many sit at home with their doors locked and bolted because of the fear they must live with. The elderly in our county deserve our love and respect and not the fear and harassment that many live with.

If elected Deputies, we promise to work cooperatively with the Sheriff in helping to slow down and curb this violent behavior. We think this is a full-time job for three men and, if elected, we promise to work for the betterment of Rockcastle County.

Help elect Oscar "Larney" Durham Sheriff with Deputies Wilson Green and Junior French. Your support and influence will be greatly appreciated. We know we CAN and WILL handle this job in a respectable manner. We earnestly solicit your help and vote.

RESPECTFULLY,

and free you from the snag. Then the hook can easily be bent back to shape by hand and you are ready to continue fishing. This is an old crappie fisherman's trick, which works anytime you're fishing brushy areas with live bait.

So far, attractors have been established in Kentucky, Barkley, Barren, Rough River and Dewey Lakes. Most of the work has been done in the Kentucky-Barkley area, where three agencies—the Fish and Wildlife Department, the TVA and the Corps of Engineers—have all built attractors.

Maps showing the location of attractors in Kentucky, Barkley and Dewey Lakes are available from the Department of Fish and Wildlife, Frankfort, Ky. 40601.

And when you're out fishing, keep your eyes open for these attractor bouys—they're signs saying "fish here."

Property Valuation
Administrator

Kentucky Revised Statute 132.190.3 - Property shall be assessed for taxation at its fair cash value, estimated at the price it would bring at a fair voluntary sale.

Since I have been your Property Valuation Administrator, I have always tried to be fair and impartial in each assessment being made every year. Always thinking of YOU the TAXPAYER FIRST.

I have always fought the Department of Revenue, trying always to keep your assessment as low as I legally can, taking into account that all property must be assessed at fair cash value.

No one is perfect and almost everyone makes mistakes, but I believe Property Assessments in Rockcastle County are more equal today than they have ever been.

If any Property Owner has any complaint about their assessment, pertaining to fair cash value, or being equal with other property owners, I am always here, willing and having an attentive ear to each individual problem.

DEAR FRIENDS AND VOTERS:

I want to speak to you, the Rockcastle citizens that desire and believe in good, strict law enforcement. I believe that you are many and I'm depending on you to exercise your right to vote in the primary election. I have promised our elderly that I will use every means within my ability to see that they are freed from the molestations that have been taking place in our county recently. It's a shame when a person can't enjoy a night's rest. I say that we deserve more!

As I said earlier, I'm depending on you and I believe that I can. I feel good that you have depended on me in the past as scores of you have placed your children in my care as scout leader, baseball manager and various other ways. This summer, I am volunteering my services as an umpire in our little league baseball program. I believe that we need to work together to bring our children up in the right way.

I hope that you will look seriously at the candidates and, if you feel that I can be entrusted, please vote for me and I won't let you down.

Try to do more for her than a card.

Doug Cox, 6th, BES

Mother is a word I love. My mother reminds me of a dove. She's pretty, nice and gentle. I can turn to her when I need something. She's always there. My mother and I have so much fun together. She's just like a kid. She stands on her head and she dances. She roller skates and she runs. I love my mother, we have so much fun. Mother! Mother! Mother! We have our fusses, but we always make up with a kiss and a hug! Mother you're wonderful. I love you!

Mothers' Day is when all mothers get together with their family and celebrate. One day I forgot to get my mom a present, but she still loved me. My mom washes me and everything. She buys me things and I love her.

Mickey Chasteen, 5th, RES

Mother's Day never seems to go to mother's heads, even though she gets to lounge around and have breakfast in bed. But I think they deserve something a little better than the men's cooking, which is often bitter.

Tracy Burdette, 5th, RES

I love Mothers' Day. It's a special day to show our love to mothers. Mothers are special in many ways. They never turn their backs on you. They help you face your problems. I have a mother and I hope you do too, and if you don't I feel sorry for you. Mothers can be mean I guess you have seen. But still they're nice except when they make you eat your rice.
 Randy Anderkin, 6th, RES

To me, Mother's Day is a time to honor a woman who could never be replaced. This is why a special day has been set aside to thank mothers for all they gave up for you. And to remember all the times that she sat up and rocked you when you were sick. If you spent your whole life trying to repay your mother for all she's done for you, then you would have to devote your whole life. But all that your mother asks of you is that you grow up and lead a decent life and try to raise kids of your own just like Mom. So everyone show love and appreciation on this very special day.
 Samantha Spillman, RES

When I was small, my mother was there. When I lost my first tooth, she was there. She is always there helping me through life. She was there when I took my first step. When I hurt my leg I thought it was the end of the world. She was there. Then they put my braces on, she was there tell me it would be all right. And then we give mothers "only" one day out of the whole year for all of this!
 Sonya Bishop, 6th, RES

When I was little and would have fears, My mother always seemed to be near.
 My mom is always nice, She has accepted Christ, She never makes me eat my food, Because that would be crude, My mom is lovable and sweet, She always gives me plenty to eat.
 Michael Pickle, 6th, RES

The most special person in the world to me is my mom. She's there when I need her. She goes to college to get a degree in teaching, and yet she has time for my dad, brother and me. I think she is the greatest cook in the world. My mom is so great she gave up a new dishwasher just so I could have a piano and take lessons. She buys me clothes instead of buying her something, she lets my friends spend the night, takes me places and helps other people. May 10, 1981 is Mother's Day. We salute America's moms. Although my mom won't receive the Mother of the Year Award, I think she deserves it, because my mom is the greatest. So here's to my mother, Marsha Kay Baker!
 Carol Baker, 6th, MVES

Mothers are a special breed, They always help you with your every need, They care for you when you are sick, They will wash your hair and pull out the ticks, They always love you even when you've been mean, And after your bath, she'll make sure you're clean, They love and care for you no matter what, And when you have grown up and gone away, Don't forget your mother on Mother's Day.
 Jones D. Hiatt, 6th, MVES

At times I've been a stinker, In fact, a pest indeed, And there have been times when we've disagreed, But still I'm sentimental, today especially,
 And I'd like to tell you, Mom, That you mean the world to me!

the records showed that $981.06 was left in the account; however, none of the checks written on the account in the month of April appeared on that month's list of bills to be approved by the Fiscal Court for payment.

Ernest Mason appeared before the Fiscal Court and asked to be heard as a taxpayer and a citizen. Mason said that he had talked to Tom Emberson at the Attorney General's office in Frankfort and was told by Emberson that the procedure being used might be unlawful and he should ask for advisement from the county attorney.

County Attorney James W. Lambert told the Fiscal Court that he did not know the particular cases in which the vouchers and letters had been used, but that this matter should be looked at critically because "unlike the 1930's and '40's" needy persons can now receive welfare, food stamps and even emergency food stamps."

Ernest Mason said that after Judge Thacker told him he could see the special account, that later in the day he was denied access to the records, reportedly on order of Judge Thacker.

In other business, the court accepted the approval of the auditor's report of the treasurer's office and voted to raise election officer pay from $15 to $30 a day.

James Bowman, a former CETA worker, was hired as ambulance driver and will be paid from the ambulance fund effective 4-20-81. L.D. Bond was also hired as a grade operator at $4.50 an hour also effective 4-20-81 and Clayton Singleton was hired as a truck driver at $3.50 per hour retroactively.

Magistrate Deborde also brought to the court's attention to the fact that the county was operating without a garbage contract. According to Deborde, the present contract expired in March, but Judge Thacker said that the garbage contract stated that it was "effective until Revenue Sharing Funds run out."

The Fiscal Court met Friday in a special session called to set salaries for county officials and courthouse personnel for the next four years.

The salary schedule leaves all salaries as they presently are, with the stipulation of an allowed 5% cost of living increase yearly for elected officials and for some deputies. The schedule will become effective Jan. 1, 1982, and run through December 31, 1985.

Most of these salaries are paid from the county budget, the exception being the salaries set for deputies which are dependent upon fees collected by the office.

The following is a list of offices and salaries as were set Friday: County judge-executive, $17,829.35; administrative assistant to judge-executive, $9,672; secretary for ambulance service, $3,900; county attorney, $12,000; county court clerk, $500; chief deputy clerk, $9,500; first deputy, $9,000; second deputy, $8,100; third deputy, $6,700; sheriff, $1,320; deputy sheriff, $100,000; jailer, $600; maintenance man

$3,900; janitor, $7,392.; treasurer, $3,900; magistrates, $4,068.08 each; coroner, $2,400; deputy coroners, $600 each; county road supervisor, $12,639.96; drivers and laborers, $7,392.; grade operator, $9,504.; maintenance (road equipment), $10,560.

The court also voted to advertise for bids for construction of restroom facilities at the Broodhead Fairgrounds.

ing him to "exemplary damages".

In addition to the $1 million, in damages Cornelius asks that his contract be declared still in effect and that the defendants be enjoined from removing him from office without cause.

The suit is the fourth civil suit brought about as a result of the fall board reelection. Three defeated board members, Foyster, Cassidy, Bill Ray Turner and Hargis - Collins have charged, among other things, fraud and intimidation in the suits brought against the members who won their board seats.

Two suits were dismissed and one was ruled in favor of the new board member in Laurel County Circuit Court.

Cornelius' suit is the first of the four suits to be brought to federal court.

Civil suits give only one side of an issue.

Last year in the United States, over 1 million teenage girls became pregnant. In Rockcastle County, Kentucky, there were 34 births to teenage girls, according to figures released by the Kentucky Department of Vital Statistics.

The Alan Guttmacher Institute in its 1980, "Teenage Pregnancy: the problem that hasn't gone away," states that 29 million teenagers have had sexual intercourse, 85% of them before marriage.

8% of girls ages 13 and 14 have had sexual intercourse. In Rockcastle County, there were two births to 15-year-old girls in 1980.

Mountain Maternal Health League in Berea, Kentucky, is concerned about the increasing sexual activity among teenagers. Although the use of contraceptives by teens to avoid unplanned pregnancy has increased, teens are not using the most effective methods available. Part of the reason for this is the adverse publicity about birth control pills and intrauterine devices. More often, teens simply do not have the information they need to make intelligent choices about their own sexuality or about the use of birth control methods. Two-thirds of pregnant teenagers say they never use contraceptives.

The Education Department at Mountain Maternal Health League provides low-cost clinic and educational services to all men and women, including teenagers, to help them plan their families. Sexuality classes are conducted for schools, churches, parents, and other groups. Assistance is provided to school systems in the development of state-mandated sex education courses in the public schools.

Rev. Jerry Hopkins Called To Campus Ministry at Murray

The Reverend Jerry B. Hopkins, pastor of Mount Freedom Baptist Church in Wilmore, tendered his resignation as pastor of the church April 15, 1981. Mr. Hopkins has accepted a call from the Kentucky Baptist Convention to be campus minister at Murray State University in western Kentucky. The Baptist Student Union at Murray has recently built a large center at the cost of $650,000 and is one of the largest ministries of its kind in the state.

The Reverend Mr. Hopkins was born in Mt. Vernon, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Burl Hopkins and was educated in Kentucky schools through graduate school, having received both his bachelor's and master's degrees from Eastern Kentucky University and presently is writing his dissertation for completion of a Ph.D. in American History at the University of Kentucky.

Rev. Hopkins came to Mt. Freedom as pastor in December, 1975 and has led the congregation in extensive growth during the past five years. Many physical improvements have been made on the property, and the membership has increased along with financial responsibility to the church and missionary work around the world. In addition to the innovative church programs he has directed, he has been active in the community various organizations. A member of the Lion's Club, he served as its president during the year 1979-80 and has been a member of the Ministerial Association of Jessamine County.

Mrs. Hopkins, Lucynan, teaches in the Wilmore Elementary School. They have three children, David, 11, Sarah Elizabeth, one year and Hannah Marie, born in March of this year. They expect to move to Murray in June, and Rev. Hopkins will take up his duties as campus minister later in the month.

The completion of the BSU Center at Murray State has made possible a wider outreach to students. This ministry will include counseling, providing a fellowship among fellow Christians, coordinating special ministries such as evangelism, witness teams, missions work, summer missions, as well as special services involving a large choir, many students and team ministries. This may also serve as a liaison relationship between students and the church.

The position Rev. Hopkins has accepted is one for which he is well-prepared. His educational and ministerial backgrounds have flowed together over the past 18 years since his ordination, providing a wealth of experience in merging academic and church-related service. There will be many opportunities for serving pulpits on an interim basis and speaking engagements.

REVIVAL

There will be a revival at the New Hope Church of God on Highway 39 beginning May 11 at 7:30 in the evenings. Rev. Paul Floyd from Hope, Ky. will be the evangelist. Pastor Charles Whitman invites everyone to attend. Singers are welcome.

Rev. Jerry B. Hopkins

81 "A Better Way!" ANDY COLBURN

Democratic Candidate For State Representative 80th District

Traveling around Rockcastle County during this campaign, I have found that most people's main concern is for the economic condition of their families and their neighbor's families. Our district's unemployment has been running from 17 to 20%. I have also found many of those employed have to drive long distances to their jobs. This does not tell the whole story. Because many of their sons and daughters grow up and leave the area to seek employment elsewhere.

I have two young sons and I want the same for them that I want for all the youth of the District - A chance to stay at home and work. And, if they do choose to leave, to have the cultural and economical background to compete with others for jobs in other areas. There is a better way for the people of our District.

That better way is for the people to elect someone to go to Frankfort to work with a Democratic Governor and a heavy Democratic Legislature to try and reverse the economic trends that have plagued our District for many years. With the help of the people of the 80th District, I will work towards that end.

Summer Jobs Open To Youth

More than 5,000 summer jobs will be available this year to economically disadvantaged young people in 91 Kentucky counties, Human Resources Secretary Grady Stumbo recently announced.

The jobs are part of the federal Summer Youth Employment Program, which is funded by the Department of Labor under the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act.

Kentucky youths ages 16 through 21 years whose family incomes are at or below the federal poverty level are eligible for jobs under the summer program, Stumbo said. Participants will work a maximum of 320 hours, about eight weeks, during the summer. They will be paid the federal hourly minimum wage, $3.35, during their employment.

The jobs include a number of duties in the public sector, including working in local health departments, libraries and public pools as well as painting and repairing publicly owned parks and recreational facilities.

Last year, about 6,500 youths worked in the summer youth employment project in the balance of state area. "We've been allotted 388 more job slots this year," Stumbo said. "Through turn-overs, we expect to provide around 7,000 young people with summer jobs." Youths interested in the summer employment program should call the local Bureau for Manpower Services office. It is listed in the white pages of the telephone book under Kentucky State Government, Department for Human Resources.

Back To Basics: More Fiber In Diet

When the settlers first landed in this country, their diets were primarily grains and fruits and berries they gathered. We have come a long way in producing high yields in many different kinds of grains and production of refined food products. There is still much to be said about using whole grains and fresh fruits and vegetables in our diets, especially today, with everyone trying to make the most of their food dollars and concerned with proper nutrition. Consumers have found whole grain products to be nutritious, tasty and enhanced by mixing or serving them with meat.

Fiber is that part of cereal, vegetables and fruits which is not digested yet plays an important part in the human digestive system. Lack of fiber has been linked to cancer of the colon, diverticulosis, obesity and diabetes. Nutritionists recommend that we need 5-7 grams of fiber each day. This is equivalent to two cups of dried beans or ten slices of whole wheat bread or 2 1/2 cups of all-bran cereal. Of course, no one will eat that much food at one time. However, over a period of one day, the combination of several foods high in fiber will meet the needs. You can increase fiber by eating more raw fruits and vegetables, leaving peelings on them; use whole grain bread and crackers instead of white bread or biscuits, use bran cereals and include more whole grains such as cornmeal, oats and barley in your cooking, use brown rice instead of white, and add plain bran to your...

State EAP Funds Exhausted

The $1.5 million in state money allotted to fund the Emergency Assistance Program this fiscal year has been exhausted, according to William Huffman, commissioner of the Department for Human Resources' Bureau for Social Insurance. The state Emergency Assistance Program funds are matched with funds from the federal government.

Huffman said the program will be reinstated in July when 1982 fiscal year money becomes available.

The Emergency Assistance Program is a special fund to assist families with dependent children who lack basic necessities and are facing destitution. Applicants are eligible only one time in a 12-month period.

Nearly $7 Million Bonus On '75-'76 Burley Crops

By Bennett Roach

Nearly $7 million in "bonus" payments will be distributed to farmer-members of the Burley Tobacco Growers Cooperative Association early in June.

The distribution represents net gains earned on 1975 and 1976 crop tobacco which has been held under loan.

Checks will be issued to growers who pooled a portion of their crop in either of those two years. The 1975 crop earned $2,362,820.72 clear of expenses, and the 1976 crop netted $2,518,132.57, on burley consigned to the Growers' Association under price supports.

These payments are in addition to advance money received by growers at the time of sale. Only those farmers with pool consignments out of their '75 and '76 crops will share in the current distribution.

Approximately 150,000 checks are being prepared at the Burley Association headquarters, 820 South Broadway, Lexington, Ky., for the June mailing.

As there were large burley crops marketed in '75 and '76 the checks will reach growers in every tobacco county in Kentucky, Indiana, Ohio, West Virginia and Missouri—the states in which price supports are handled by the Burley Association.

When the disbursement process is completed the total returns to growers will be in excess of $23 million over the 40-year operation of price supports.

Last year the Association returned $390,180.74 to growers on the 1974 crop, and in 1976 about $11 million was distributed as earnings on the '69, '70 and '72 crops.

Distribution payments on tobacco under loan are made after an entire year's holdings are sold by the Association.

Net gains depend upon price received, costs of storage, insurance, processing, transportation and other factors, plus interest to Commodity Credit Corporation for advance payments to farmers at the time the tobacco is placed under loan.

Alvin R. Beckley, executive secretary-treasurer of the Association, said the '75 and '76 crops earned $11,143,684.87 in interest for C.C.C. Also, the growers' earnings on those crops included $522,785.77 interest, which is included in the distribution.

All of the loan stocks of tobacco held by the Association have been sold, but 24 million pounds remains on hand under deferred sales contracts. Settlements on these await final close-outs, after interest, storage and other costs, and final approval by Commodity Credit Corporation.

Rogers Backs Tax Cut In Speech

To House of Representatives

In a speech during debate on the 1982 Federal Budget this week, Fifth District Congressman Hal Rogers told his 434 colleagues in the House that he is supporting President Reagan's tax reduction plan because it will return over $71 million to the economy of the Fifth District.

"On top of the other improvements in the overall economy—reduced interest rates, a lower rate of inflation, and more jobs so our people can go back to work—I explained to the House that Reagan's three year, 30% across-the-board tax cut will save the average household in the Fifth District $413 and pump more than $71,000,000 into our local economy," said Rogers.

Rogers explained to his colleagues that this "cash-in-hand" is needed so the average person can buy groceries, pay the rent, meet the rising cost of energy and be able to save for a rainy day.

"Uncle Sam has been taking too much from our paychecks through taxes and too much from our savings, taking wages through inflation," the Kentucky Congressman said in his speech. "We deserve to have more of our hard-earned money to spend on our own needs instead of the spendthrift programs dreamt up by Washington bureaucrats."

Commenting on the overall benefits of the Reagan Economics Recovery Program, Rogers added that the Reagan plan is aimed at cutting inflation in half, creating three million new jobs and reducing the total tax burden by 1984.

"Something has gone wrong with our economy," stated Rogers. "The old policies just haven't worked. As the President noted the other night, it's time we tried something new to get inflation under control, bring down interest rates so folks can afford to buy a new car or home, and create new jobs so our people can go back to work."

New Summer Program at Centre College

High school students will have the opportunity this summer to study in the computer areas (mathematics and computers, communication of values and energy) at a new summer program being offered at Centre College, Kentucky.

The program sessions will run from June 15 to July 3 or July 17 and are open to students between their junior and senior year of high school.

These participants will be selected on the basis of academic achievement, leadership and learning aptitude. A letter of recommendation from a high school teacher in the program area is necessary along with a letter of recommendation from a high school counselor. Standardized test scores, such as the Scholastic Aptitude Test, will be helpful. Early submission of applications will insure optimum consideration.

The cost per week is $155; the total cost of the three-week program is $465 per student and the five-week program, $775. Financial aid is available. Further information on the summer program is available from Marshall Wilt, program director, Centre College, Danville, Ky. 40422 or 606-236-5211.

The program sessions offered:

Mathematics and the Computer (June 15 to July 3); exploring the modern uses of the computer. It will involve pre-calculus concepts dealing with equation-solving, functional relationships and graphing. Students also will learn to program computers and will have the opportunity to use the computer to solve mathematical problems. Dorothy Nelms, professor of mathematics, and John Kincke, associate professor of applied mathematics and physics, will be heading the session.

The Communications of Values in Western Culture (June 15 to July 3); speaking persuasively and writing analytically and gracefully. The students will study selected works of literature which articulate particular values and will write about the values reflected in these works. Students will also meet individually with Milton M. Reigelman, associate professor of English, to examine both the texts and the student's own style.

Energy and Society (June 15 to July 17); examining energy from the view points of physics, chemistry, economics and technology. Basic questions to be addressed are how and with what efficiency energy is converted from one form to another; how our personal values affect our positions on energy issues, and how our economic system functions with energy in the marketplace. Conrad Shiba, assistant professor of chemistry, Robert J. Brownlee, associate professor of economics, and Marshall Wilt, professor of chemical physics, will head this session.

Centre College of Kentucky is a four-year co-educational college of the liberal arts and sciences located in the Bluegrass region near Lexington.

THANKS

Thank God for you help along the way.

Every day for me, I know you pray.

Advice and kind words you always say.

No better family and friends could be had.

Always you taught me good, not bad.

Up hill arid down hill I went, I did as I was told, And went where I was sent.

If my load seemed heavy to bear, Your helping hand was always there.

I was encouraged to make my life worthwhile, By working the right style, Thirty years is a long time, But to me it was a great pleasure.

And worth every dime.

To you I owe my happy life, I got to teach because of your struggle and strife,

You always put my interest first, And took for your part the worst, now I've reached the top, That was my aim to not stop, No words can be found to tell you.

How great you are to have around.

Everything you did for me, In Heaven you'll be rewarded, you'll see,

You were always by my side, No matter how high the tide, I always did my best to teach each child the right way, Not for honors sake,

But to make their life useful every day.

Now, I've come to the end of my teaching road,

As a great family and friends, You helped me carry the load, At school and home I read the Bible each day,

And never forgot to pray. Memories are great, no sickness, Made me miss a day or be late.

At home and school we live by the golden rule,

I'm so honored to have a family, and friends, With such dignity and grace, That they helped me the world to face.

A special thanks to my family, Superintendent and his staff, principals, parents, teachers, aides, cooks, custodians, and children, also anyone who helped me in any way, I'm so grateful for all you've done. Hoping I can repay you, I can't find words to express my deepest appreciation for everything. May God's blessings be on you always.

ELECT

JAMES BOWMAN SHERIFF

Rockcastle County

No. 3 On The Ballot

For the past several years, I have taken an active interest in the improvement and betterment of Rockcastle County. This interest was the main reason for my decision this Spring to become a candidate for Sheriff of Rockcastle County.

I feel it is vitally important that a candidate take an interest all his or her life - not just at election time. I also feel that commitments other candidates make are part of the Sheriff's Dept. in the first place such as:

- (1) 24 hr. protection for the people.
- (2) Serving Warrants.
- (3) On Call When Needed.
- (4) Patrolling of Roads.

If elected, I will continue to take the same complete interest in our community as those of you who are acquainted with me know that I have in the past. This same interest will help me to carry out the duties of the Sheriff's Department to the letter of the law.

Beef, Pork Prices To Climb This Summer

Consumers can save grocery dollars this summer by filling their freezers now with favorite beef and pork cuts as prices are expected to rise nearly 2 cents a pound by August. With fewer hogs and cattle bound for market this spring, pork and beef supplies will be reduced this summer and will bring higher prices in the super-market, according to Dr. A. Lee Meyer, Extension economist in the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

Poultry production, and prices, should remain stable, he said.

Beef prices, stable since last August, will continue near current levels into May, then will rise gradually an average 15-20 cents a pound by summer's end, said Meyer. The higher prices are predicted because the number of fed cattle that will go to market before June is down nearly five percent, a fairly substantial drop, he said.

The supply of non-fed beef, used for ground beef and processed meats, will dwindle the result in much higher ground beef prices.

"We've seen hamburger prices under $1.20 a pound in the Lexington area for the last several months, while the national average price was $1.50," Meyer said. "But prices here probably will jump to $1.50 in the next few months.

Consumers would benefit by stocking up on beef, with the best buys wholesale cuts such as beef strip sirloins or beef rounds, which often are on special. Meyer suggested "anything under $1.30" as a good stock-up price for ground beef.

Shoppers also will pay an average 15-20 cents a pound more for pork by late summer, as hog production cutbacks are reflected in reduced supermarket supplies. Since March, hog production has dropped nine percent, Meyer said.

"Farmers have been forced to reduce hog production because prices have been lower than their costs," he said. "Last year, hog producers lost $10-20 on each hog they marketed in the spring. And with current prices, they will not make up this year for last year's losses."

Break-even costs for hog farmers now run above $50 per 100 pounds, said Meyer, when current prices are closer to $40 per 100 pounds.

Consumers will see reduced pork supplies and, increased prices beginning in June, Meyer said. He advises shoppers to stock up on pork before then, especially on cuts like pork loins that offer good buys.

Chicken prices, stable for the last several months, will probably stay the same throughout the summer and for the rest of the year, said Meyer. Chicken production bounced back and stabilized prices this winter after low production and increased prices last fall.

"Production was hurt last fall by low poultry prices at the supermarket, high feed costs and the hot weather in the summer," Meyer said. "Chicken prices increased 20 percent in the last half of 1980."

Those price increases, as well as the change of seasons, spurred poultry production for 1981. With chicken expected to be plentiful all summer, shoppers need not stock up, Meyer suggested, but may purchase only as needed.

Dear Sirs:

Please allow _____ to purchase groceries in the amount of $25.00. Please bill the Rockcastle Co. Fiscal Court for this purchase.

Hubert Thacker by: Anna C. Miller Clerk
County Judge Executive

TO THE VOTERS OF ROCKCASTLE COUNTY:

In the past few months, vouchers such as the one above (on which the names of the receiver and recipient have been locked out) have been handed out by County Judge Executive Hubert Thacker in the amount of approximately $3,018.94. In addition to food vouchers, such as the one above, there have been several given to paying heating bills.

While there can be no doubt that there are emergencies arising for those in need, there is also no doubt that there are already several social programs available through the state to take care of these emergencies.

As I understand it, in past years, only $1,000 was budgeted for this account; however, this fiscal year (an election year), $4,000 was appropriated - Is there a possibility the money is being used primarily to buy votes?

Consumer Alert

Attorney General
FUNERAL SERVICES

Although funeral services are not a popular topic, they are one of the largest purchases a family makes. The average funeral and burial cost more than $2,000. Because it is a grievous time, a person may not be as cautious as he or she normally would be when making such a large purchase.

"Making funeral plans in advance is one approach you might consider," says Attorney General Steven L. Beshear. "You can choose the kind of arrangements you want and prepare for the worst. Your family will be spared any uncertainty or disagreement when such arrangements are made, and they will have the added peace of mind when plans are made according to your wishes."

The first step is to think about your preferences and to make some basic decisions. Here are some items you might want to consider:

"You should discuss the cost when you make plans although this is not the only consideration. You may feel uncomfortable at first. Nearly everyone has trouble talking about death and funerals, and bringing up money "at a time like this" seems crass and unfeeling. But a funeral is a major purchase and should be treated as such.

"You might want to call several firms explain what you want and find out what they have to offer. This will give you a basis for comparison in choosing a funeral director and providing the practical information needed to complete your plans.

"Ask for the kind of arrangements that appeal to you. Funeral directors are attentive to the wishes of their customers that appeal to you. Funeral directors are attentive to the wishes of their customers and will respond to your preference. This is also true in the selection of caskets (a major item in a funeral bill).

"Call the cemetery for information and prices. When you call, find out if the cemetery permits headstones or requires ground level markers; requires grave liners or vaults and sells such items or charges for installation if you buy elsewhere. Also find out the fees for opening and closing a grave and the cost of perpetual or endowment care.

"Consider a prepaid funeral. If prepayment is involved, Kentucky law requires the firm to place all of your purchase money in a special bank trust account which must be refunded to you in full, plus accrued interest, at your request. Many firms have procedures for making prearrangements with a funeral director without prepayment.

Discuss your plans with your family even though it may be difficult for them and for you. Your death is the last thing they want to face, but facing it will be easier if they know your wishes and are prepared to carry them out.

If you have a consumer problem, please write to the Office of the Attorney General, Division of Consumer Protection, Frankfort, Ky. 40601.

Kentucky Horse Park Features Central Ky. Appaloosa Spring Classics I and II

The call of "Run Appaloosa Run" should bring the crowd to its feet at the Central Kentucky Appaloosa Spring Classics I and II, scheduled May 16 and 17 at the Kentucky Horse Park in Lexington.

"It's horse against horse and rider against rider," says show organizer John Muth. "The winner might have to go ten times and eliminate ten other horses. So the guts of the riders and the stamina of these Appaloosas really shows up. And the crowd picks its favorite and gets into it, too."

The two shows, each scored separately though held consecutively, will feature 54 classics each day, among them high-powered performance contests such as the Nez Perce Stake Race.

Muth says much of the excitement of the shows comes from the hardness of the horses and the drama of the elimination races. Each team of horse and rider tries to beat not the clock, but instead the pair galloping next to it. In these classes, the horses race around poles and barrels.

The show organizer says that in addition to stakes races, there will be halter classes, western and English pleasure classes and jumper classes. Horses and riders from many western and southern states are expected to participate.

The show, held in conjunction with a May 16 select Appaloosa sale, will begin at 8 a.m. each day in the Horse Park's Centerfield Arena. The show is sponsored by the Central Kentucky Appaloosa Horse Club, a non-profit organization, and entries will be accepted the days of the shows. Admission for spectators is free with a general admission ticket to the Horse Park. General admission tickets are $1.50 for adults and $1 for youngsters 7-12. Children six and under are admitted free.

More information on the shows may be had by contacting John Muth at (606) 233-4536.

Mother

By Rena Jordan

To my dear Mother who was loving and kind,
I reserve one day in May,
To God, on my knees, in prayers of mine,
These words I sweetly say:
You sent the birds, the sunshine hours,
To gladden all the world,
You sent the foliage and the flowers.

In radiant unfurled,
You sent the June, the stars, the moon,
The perley dew drops sweet,
And then, you sent us Mother dear,
To make it all complete,
Yes, God made all this universe,
And gave us all its glory,
It's really too much to put in verse.

Or even in a story,
But if we should choose a tiny part,
More precious than all other,
I'd say, truthfully from every heart.

We would say, t'was Mother,
We only have one Mother,
None else can take her place,
We never realize how much we need her.

Until we miss her face,
Money can not buy a ticket,
Nor gas to drive a car,
To go to my Mother's home this year,
The distance is too far,
I can only buy her flowers,
And place them on the sod,
Mother has a new home, now.

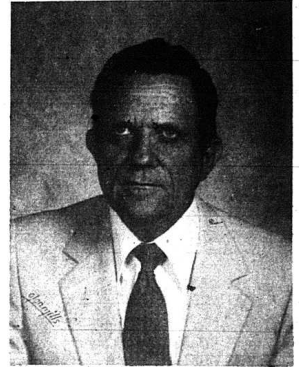

In Heaven, with her God,
If your mother is still with you,
Oh, take her to your heart,
You can't tell how soon the time,
When death, you two will part,
Many heartaches you've caused her,
Probably--while out in sin,
Many prayers she's breathed for you,
That God would bring you in,
Many sleepless hours you've caused her,
When you were cross or ill,
Many tears she's shed for you,
Even now, you cause them still,
So, take time to go see Mother,
And listie--when you go,

Give her a kind word and a kiss,
This she deserves you know,
If you can't make such a journey,
Then use the telephone,
It'll make you feel much happier,
When your love to Mother you've shown.

I want to remind you that I am a candidate for Jailer of Rockcastle County and I feel that I am well-qualified for this office especially with my EMT training. This training will enable me to handle most emergencies which might arise.

If elected, I would like to say here and now that I intend to serve three good meals a day - I also intend to allow visiting by the families whenever they want to.
