Meeting Held to Organize Forest Products Co-operative

About 35 people attended a Tuesday morning meeting aimed at researching and organizing a forest products co-operative in the county.

Bob Fields, director of Cleft Rock, a Baptist missionary retirement village and church retreat in the Pongo area, briefly outlined the purpose of the meeting and the need to cut and utilize cull timber thus allowing better veneer timber to develop.

He said while firewood seems the simplest and safest market to try to develop initially, future possibilities for the cooperative might include charcoal, pine posts, pulp wood, wood chips, railroad ties and yellow poplar (which

Farm Projects Keep These Two Busy

Part II Accent on Youth

By Nancy Mullins

Anthony Brock and Chris Poynter, both 15 and both of Route 3, Brodhead, cite their desire to be outside, to be their own boss and to work at their own speed as reasons for enjoying farming.

Anthony lives with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Teddy Brock, on their farm and helps with the farm work there and with his grandfather, Dewey Brock's farm.

Anthony's FFA hay production project won first place in competition on the local level and went on to win third place in state competition. Judging in hay competition is done on the basis of weight (how many tons per acre), how many bales and how many acres.

This year, Anthony has 13 acres of alfalfa hay. Anthony's other FFA projects are tobacco and corn. This summer, he is raising 2,100 pounds (almost an acre) of Burley and 26 acres of corn. Any farmer knows, with crop responsibilities like this, you can't sit in the shade and drink lemonade.

The financial arrangement of his farming operation works something like a tenant; he has to share the profit with the landholder. He says that he, like the average American farmer these days, doesn't make much by the time expenses are counted. This year, for instance, fertilizer went up, as it has for the last several years, and cost him about $210.00 per ton. Every year, supplies farmers need go up in price but the price he gets for the crop either goes down or does not go up in proportion to the cost of production.

Anthony is young to be assuming such a responsible position on the farm but he says he likes to work and plans to farm after he graduates from college, even if it has to be part-time.

Even though farming takes most of his time during the summer, when fall comes, he plans to be on the farm. The team at RCHS, as he has for the past two years.

At times, when the crop work is "caught up", Anthony takes time to go hunting and fishing. That's also when chores that get put aside for "when we have time" get attention. When asked if he ever just kicked up his heels and did nothing, he said, "No", that he usually was busy at something all the time.

Next year Anthony will be a junior and is taking Ag. Mechanics, a two-hour a day course in which students learn to repair farm machinery and get some training in welding and electricity.

Chris Poynter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Robinson, likes the cropping aspect of farming better than raising and caring for animals. He lives and works on his family's 256 acre farm on the Old Brodhead Road and says that one reason for his preference may be that he likes to operate the machinery.

Neither Chris nor Anthony enjoy milking, even though both have dairies on their farms. Someone is hired to do the milking on Chris's parents' farm, but he and his brother, Matthew, take turns on weekends with this chore. Chris says that even though the dairy is fully automatic, there is the job of washing down walls and floors after each milking.

As an FFA project, however, Chris has two pure bred Holstein heifers which will eventually go into the milking

Judge-Executive and Magistrate Clash Over AG's Opinion

By Rick Anderkin

A city officer can't serve as a county officer at the same time, says Kentucky Attorney General Steven Beshear. County Judge Executive Hubert Thacker presented a letter from Beshear to the Fiscal Court Tuesday at their regular monthly meeting.

The letter concerned Magistrate Frank DeBorde who has been employed by the City of Mt. Vernon as a police officer and who has also served as magistrate since 1978.

County Judge Executive Thacker said he asked for the Attorney General's opinion in this matter about a month ago.

The letter, which is addressed to Judge Thacker, states a Kentucky law that says in effect that a county officer cannot serve as a city officer at the same time. The letter also said that one of the posts should be resigned.

Magistrate DeBorde told Thacker and the court that he had resigned from the police department over a week ago and that he had been working only part time to begin with.

DeBorde went on to say that he didn't see any difference in a Magistrate and a City Policeman and a Magistrate and a Bus Driver. DeBorde also told the Judge that it was a political scheme "right here before the election."

PUBLIC MEETING

There will be a public meeting for the Elmwood Cemetery Association August 14 at 7:30 p.m. in the Rockcastle County Courthouse to discuss the organization of a perpetual care fund and also the organization of donations on a tax-exempt basis.

Everyone is urged to attend this meeting.

Board Fills Two Teaching Positions at the High School, Opens Bids & Hires Personnel

The Tuesday night August school board meeting was taken up, for the most part, by routine pre-school business including the hiring of two more teachers.

One position filled was a social studies position at RCHS made vacant when Glen VanWinkle accepted a position as principal at Roundstone earlier this summer. Dale Whitaker was hired to fill this teaching position and Kenneth Cornelius, former assistant principal at the high school was hired to fill the vacancy created when RCHS math teacher Glenda Jones of Laurel County resigned to accept a teaching position in that county.

The board, in other business, approved the substitute teacher salary schedule which pays $35.00 per day to a substitute with a teaching certificate and more than 10

"No, if it was a political scheme then I would have brought it out before now," Thacker returned. "Once I got it in here, I had to bring it to the attention of the court," he said.

Magistrate DeBorde then made a motion to have a full scale investigation of the entire Fiscal Court and asked that it be put into the minutes. However, DeBorde's motion died for a lack of a second.

After the Fiscal Court meeting, Judge Thacker, on question, said that a private citizen or the County Attorney would have to bring charges against DeBorde for something to happen.

During the meeting, DeBorde also reminded Judge Thacker that the Attorney General's ruling is, "just one man's opinion and not law."

In business that was voted on during the meeting, the court accepted tax settlement of Sheriff Henry Lee Abney, who collected $119,554.33 in taxes last year.

Magistrate Danny Sargent told the court that the Library wanted free rent and he felt they should have it. Sargent made the motion and it carried unanimously. The Library has

Million Dollar Suit Filed Claiming Damages from Toxic Chemical in Caulk

A Civil Suit (81-CI-102) asking for $1,000,000 in punitive and compensatory damages and $50,000 for damages related to negligent, careless construction work on their home has been filed in District Court by Joyce and Billy A. Bussell of Brodhead against General Adhesives and Chemical Company of Nashville, Tennessee, the Barna and Damner Company of Oneida, Tennessee and Doyle Carrender and Arlin Harris of Modern Log Homes of Somerset, Ky.

The suit, filed July 8th, alleges that the three defendants, with wanton and willful disregard for the safety of others, represented the product, "Butyl Caulk", containing a poisonous and toxic chemical, to be safe to the consumer.

According to the suit, "Butyl Caulk" was used in the interior of the Bussell's log home near Brodhead and alleges that it caused severe and prolonged physical ailments to the owners. These ailments have and are expected to continue to require extensive medical treatment.

A civil suit contains only one aspect of the controversy.

ACCIDENT

An August 1st accident on Kentucky 1004 sent one passenger from the lives of two vehicles involved in the mishap to the Rockcastle County Hospital.

According to Jimmie Silvers of the Kentucky State Police, George Dooley, 25, of Mt. Vernon was traveling east and Timothy Mason, 20, of Cincinnati, Ohio was driving west in 1974. As they met in a curve 2.2 miles east of Mt. Vernon, Dooley swung over into the opposite lane and struck the Mason vehicle in the left front.

Barbara Dooley, 20, of Mt. Vernon and Lisa Mason, 18, of Cincinnati, Ohio both received class 3 injuries.

DOT TO RESURFACE 5.3 MILES OF COUNTY ROAD

The state Department of Transportation's recent $4.5 million addition to the state-wide resurfacing program will include 5.3 miles of road in Rockcastle County.

The Transportation Department now intends to resurface a record 900 miles of roads in Kentucky this year at a total cost of more than $31 million.

In Rockcastle County, roads being resurfaced include Ky. 70, Brodhead-Erskank Road, from Ky. 1650 to U.S. 150, and

U.S. 25 South to be Closed to Remove Overhang

General Manager of the Ky. DOT Highway District 8, David W. Byers, has announced that beginning Monday, August 17, 1981, US 25 will be closed to through traffic from its interchange with US 150 in Mt. Vernon to its intersection with I-75 at Burr. US 25 will be closed to all traffic from the southeast city limits of Mt. Vernon northwest a distance of 0.108 miles.

Through traffic will be routed over I-75 from the Burr Interchange to the Renfro Interchange and over US 25 from the Renfro Interchange to the US 150 intersection.

This road closure is expected to last approximately 3 months for the purpose of making a backslope correction (remove rock overhang) on the north side of US 25 at the southeast city limits of Mt. Vernon.

The Department of Transportation on June 30, 1981, awarded a contract in the amount of $91,571.27 to Melco-Greer, Inc. of London, Ky., for performing this work.

Permanent Tax Relief For America

I know you've heard it a thousand times on the TV commercials, "How do you spell relief?" Well, I spell relief P-A-X C-U-T, and so does Congress.

As you likely already know, last week I voted with the House of Representatives and the Senate to pass President Reagan's broad program of sweeping tax cuts for all Americans, including tax relief for every single taxpayer as well as the small business man or woman who provides so many jobs for our people.

These tax cuts are part of President Reagan's overall economic recovery program, and represent a real opportunity for America; an opportunity to get the economy moving again so we can cut inflation, cut high interest rates, cut unemployment and provide a new beginning for the people of this nation. Here are the details of the bipartisan tax package as it emerged from the House:

Relief For the Average Taxpayer

The cornerstone of the tax cut package I voted in favor of is the 25% across-the-board tax cut for individual taxpayers over the next 2 1/2 years. The Democrats in the House wanted just a 15% tax cut over two years, but over the long haul, this would mean that you would actually have an increase in taxes because most taxpayers under the Democrat plan, would still be shoved into higher tax "brackets" every time they got a cost-of-living raise in their paycheck.

Also, this tax cut is permanent. Taxes will be adjusted according to inflation so that if inflation goes up 10%, you won't be shoved into a higher bracket. Unfortunately taxes rise 15% for every 10% rise in income under the present law. Congress has changed that and given every American a permanent tax cut.

One part of the tax plan which should interest many folks in Kentucky is a provision for a 15% tax credit for buying an energy-efficient wood or coal burning stove. Many Kentuckians rely heavily upon coal and wood to heat their homes, and it makes sense to offer such a tax credit at a time when our nation is looking more and more to alternative forms of energy.

More Savings and Lower Interest Rates!

One of the major boosts for the business community comes indirectly through a tax cut to individuals. Starting next year, individuals will be encouraged to save more for retirement (or any other purpose for that matter). Increased savings means that the banks, savings and loans, and credit unions will have more money to lend at lower interest rates for new cars and homes.

These lower interest rates also mean that businesses, both big and small, will be able to borrow money to expand their shop or plant to produce more and hire more of our people. The same is true for farmers. Machinery is expensive and many farmers have had to make do with inadequate tractors and other equipment because they haven't been able to afford the high interest rates.

The ripple effect of lower unemployment is tremendous because when more people are employed, more taxes are paid to state, local and federal governments. Not only that, but less is spent for various government payments and local businesses benefit when more people have money to spend on more than just the necessities.

Small Business Relief

The Reagan tax plan includes a comprehensive package with strong incentives for business expansion, which will lead to hiring some people. Under the plan, business will be allowed more rapid depreciation of business equipment so they can afford to invest in new equipment and buildings. This depreciation schedule covers everything from new buildings to a new photo-copier, and from a delivery truck to a restaurant freezer.

Small business also benefits from the 25% income tax cut for individuals. There are 14 1/2 million small business owners in the United States, and 13 million of those (89%) file individual income tax forms. Under the Democrat tax plan, these small business men and women would have received only a two year, one shot tax cut. Under the bill that passed, these same business people will have a permanent tax cut phased in over the next three years the same as everybody else.

Saving The Family Farm and Business

Finally, the Republican-sponsored tax bill will essentially phase out the federal estate tax (I would prefer to call it the "death tax"). This is the tax which forces many heirs to sell the farm or business that has been in the family for years and years just so they can pay the taxes! His isn't right.

Under the new tax law, the family farm and family business will be saved by exempting up to $600,000 in estate transfers within the family—all those years of hard work won't be lost to the tax collector.

Americans have needed real tax relief for many years now. I feel very privileged to be able to vote for an honest, permanent tax cut in my first year as your Congressman.

"careers in the 80s"

Computer Science Job Market Expanding Rapidly

By Avery Jenkins
UK Information Services

Computer science, one of the nation's newest professions, is plagued by growing pains. The industry is feeding upon itself—luring teachers away from colleges with attractive salary offers. The results will be fewer trained professionals.

Modern computer science began in the middle 1950s and since that time has touched the lives of all except primitive peoples still living in backward countries.

The pace will not slacken, but increase. And people will have to become involved, say today's computer scientists.

"The ability to understand this (computer) technology, and use it wisely, will be a necessity in computer science in 1990 and beyond," said an authority writing in a computer science journal recently.

Demand for personnel with computer science degrees and training far exceeds the supply. The demand for people with the Ph.D. degree is five times higher than the supply. Many high school teachers and college professors with computer science training are quitting academia to go into industry.

A starting salary for a person with a bachelor's degree in computer science is about $17,000 to $20,000 a year. Those with master's degrees start as high as $24,000.

The problem of how to retain computer science faculty members in colleges and universities has hit the nation's institutions simultaneously. The University of Kentucky is among those institutions. Dr. Forbes Lewis, chairman of the UK department of computer science says,

"We are trying to compete with the industry where a person with a Ph.D. degree in computer science can begin working for $35,000 a year. Presently, we're fully staffed even though the number of students majoring in computer science has more than doubled in the past few years."

The number of majors in computer science at UK rose from 179 in 1976 to 475 in 1979, an increase of 265 percent.

Lewis said that UK has been forced to cut the graduate program back to a limit of 50 graduate students. It has been as high as 55.

"We need at least five or six more faculty positions to keep up with demand that is growing in this profession," Lewis added. He said that many colleges and universities, including UK, are trying to ease the faculty shortage by hiring part-time instructors from the computer industry.

Dr. Martin Solomon, director of the UK Computing Center, says that nationwide sales of computers, particularly for computer scientists far exceeds the supply in today's market.

The ability to understand computer technology will become a necessity of society by 1990 and beyond says an authority in the field. The demand for computer scientists far exceeds the supply in today's market.

ly the smaller ones for home and office use, total about a million a year.

"Computers of the future will have to be designed so that people won't require technical training to use them," Solomon said.

"As more and more people learn to use computers, the role of the trained professional, the person with a college degree in computer science will be to design better systems and redesign those that are now in use, and are not as good as they could be.

Computers are being used for everything from cooking meals, to drawing maps and forecasting the weather. But there is a major obstacle that will be to get computers into the future, says Dr. Solomon. That problem is finding ways to integrate the hardware (machines, terminals) with the software (system designs).

people who design the systems don't take into account the inherent failings in people. People are simply error prone; they often can't follow instructions and produce the results they are trying to get. I think this whole area will have to undergo rethinking in the future."

Turning to the plight of colleges and universities, Solomon said the lure of industry will continue to plague the academic community for a long time.

"Fortunately for higher education, there are still some people who would rather have a flexible schedule, academic freedom and less money instead of the kind of stress that often goes with the high-paying executive jobs," he said.

Squirrel Season Opens August 15

An 11-week segment, beginning Aug. 15 and ending Oct. 31, opens Kentucky's two-part 1981 squirrel season, according to the state Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources.

Customary bag limits apply to the upcoming squirrel season, six daily and 12 in possession (during two or more days of hunting).

Gray and fox squirrels may be taken with breech-loading rifles of less than .240 caliber, handguns, longbows, compound bows and any type of muzzle-loading firearm. Shotgun slugs may be used, but slugs and buckshot are prohibited and may not be carried while squirrel hunting.

Licensed hunters may take squirrels from one-half hour before sunrise until one-half hour after sunset.

Surveys by wildlife biologists indicate that Kentucky's current squirrel populations probably are lower than those in recent years, particularly in the eastern areas of the state. Biologists base their predictions primarily upon measurements of the squirrels' food supply.

original decision. If, after the review, you still disagree with the decision, you can ask for a hearing before a hearing officer if the amount in question is $100 or more. Again, a request for a hearing must be made in writing within 6 months.

Q. When I applied for social security retirement benefits at 65, I was told that if I work and earn over $5,500 this year, my social security check will be reduced $1 for every $2 I earn over the limit. But I was also told that my benefits would not be affected by the amount of my company pension or by the amount of my investment income. I am confused.

A. Social security benefits are intended to partially replace earnings which are lost when someone is unable to work because of age, disability, or death. Thus, only earnings are considered under the earnings test. In fact, people are encouraged to have other forms of income to supplement social security benefits. To learn how specific types of income are treated, contact any social security office.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Q. I submitted all my medical bills to Medicare but I don't think they have paid me enough. Is there anything I can do?

A. The "carrier," the insurance organization that handles your medical insurance claims, makes the decisions as to whether a service is covered by medical insurance and the amount of the payment. If you disagree with the decision, you should request in writing to the carrier or to any social security office that your claim file be reviewed. FANS SHOULD IGNORE BASEBALL

LEXINGTON — Don't tell me that, Spokesman appearing before the press after the baseball strike was settled, were saying that nobody had won and nobody had lost. They meant baseball players and owners. The fans never got a mention. The losers, of course, were the fans.

This Sunday they'll pick up the ragged season with the All Star game. The end of the longest strike in the grand game came in the wee hours of the morning last Friday, ending the baseball blackout after 49 days. Now, the fans are expected to come marching back into the stadium just as if nothing had happened. Sadly, I think they will and they will be ignored when there's another dispute in baseball just as they were ignored this time.

Wouldn't it be interesting if baseball threw its party and nobody came? I expect the stadium to be packed for the All Star game; but wouldn't it serve the greedy owners and players right if the fans stayed home? It's the only way the fans will ever get respect. As long as they're willing to forgive and forget, they will be the mistreated innocent bystanders they always have been. If droves of fans turned in their season tickets and asked for their money back, they would send the baseball people a message they would understand.

The baseball strike was settled for three reasons. One — if the strike had gone just a few weeks longer it would have been too late to save anything from the season. They would have had to cancel it. Two — the average salaried players were beginning to feel the pinch of not getting a paycheck. Three — the baseball owners' insurance was scheduled to run out this month. Every one of the three reasons again ignores what should be the most important person in the negotiation — the fan.

I don't know how you feel about it but when I first heard the news last week that the baseball strike was over, as much as I love the sport, my first reaction was, so what?

PSC and Kentucky Utilities Announce Rate Refund

The Public Service Commission of Kentucky and Kentucky Utilities Company announced today that an agreement had been reached for resolving the outstanding issues remaining in PSC Case No. 5915 and the court litigation which ended June 19, 1981.

KU will mail refund checks by August 14 based on the amount collected greater than the final approved rates for retail customers served for the period May 15, 1974 to June 23, 1975.

In addition to the principal sum to be refunded, KU will add interest at the rate of 6% per annum for the period of May 15, 1974 to August 18, 1981. The total amount to be refunded is $7.1 million plus interest. A residential customer using an average of 750 KWH per month during the full refund period is expected to receive approximately $15.00.

As a part of the agreement KU and the PSC attorneys will prepare a stipulation to the Franklin Circuit Court for resolution of the questions of whether the Commission's Order of July 10, 1974 governs the total refund liability for the period of May 15, 1974 to August 18, 1981 or only a portion of that period, and if the refund amounts for customers KU cannot locate or account for must escheat to the Commonwealth or may be applied as a credit against future bills of KU's existing customers.

If the courts hold that two separate time periods are proper for calculating the total refund liability, KU will pay additional interest in the amount of the difference between 10% and 6% per annum for such of the period July 11, 1974 to August 18, 1981 as the courts may determine.

KU also will be submitting a plan to the PSC setting forth the terms and conditions of the refund. In addition KU will submit the estimated cost of making the refunds to the PSC. Under the agreement recent Commission orders concerning the refund are being withdrawn and a public hearing which had been scheduled for August 14 has been cancelled, and the Company's recently filed lawsuit challenging the orders is being withdrawn. Joining in the agreement are the intervenors in the case, including the Attorney General's Consumer Intervention Division.

been paying $50 a month. The court also voted to hire George Wallis as ambulance driver to be paid out of the ambulance fund at $3.63 per hour, not to exceed 40 hours a week and to hire Clayton Singleton as heavy equipment operator at $4.50 an hour and $3.50 an hour for truck driver. The court also approved a 25 cents raise for road workers.

The court also anticipates to receive $68,000 from the Wallick Construction company for sale of land at the fairgrounds for public housing. The money is to be put into the '81-82 budget.

The Fiscal Court also voted to transfer $3,500 from Ambulance and Misc. expense account to the Recreation account for lighting of the Roundstone baseball field.

Very few items were on the agenda for this monthly meeting which lasted only about 30 minutes.

"PIREWOOD"

has now been approved for construction purposes.

According to Fields, there is also the possibility of a power plant being built between here and Bowling Green which would be fueled by wood chips. He said that the firewood business is most appealing now because of the low overhead and the fact that it would give farmers off-season work and income.

One plan, according to Greg Stephens, conservation officer for the county, would be to have a wood-lot near I-75, where the firewood could be brought any time and haulers could receive a cash payment. A manager would serve as salesman for the product hopefully in cities like Lexington.

Stephens, who helped direct the meeting, told the group that the Agriculture Cooperative Service would lend assistance to the group by helping determine the feasibility of such a venture and by helping develop a market.

Members of a committee whose purpose will be to further investigate the possibility of the cooperative effort are: Burgess King, Steve Trebalo, Harold Ballinger, Emmitt Foster, Bob Fields and John Houston.

IN MEMORY of Stephen Rowland, who died July 27, 1974.

It was early in spring, when I first got the news, My son came in from school with what, Seemed like a bad case of blues, He tried to hide his hurt and pain.

But it was cutting him like a knife, His closest and best friend had learned.

He was about to loose his life, Mom, he said Stephen said, He thinks the end of time is near.

But that he is saved, and he has no fear, Stephen had spoke to him of God and allis power,

But my sons heart was breaking with each waking hour, Stephen had nothing to loose And everything to gain,

But all that loved him was suffering great pain, His will was strong, he never complained,

He knew what was happening, 'And felt he was to gain, I saw my sons heart break many times,

When he spoke of Stephen, but Stephen would always assure him,

He was going to Heaven, The wild flower garden I started last spring,

Continued to bloom all through spring, I cried a lot for Stephen while I worked with those wild flowers,

And for Chris who was hurt so much for his friend, Then in July, while looking at the last of the wild flowers for the season, I felt strange, and I guess there was reason, A black hearse went down the road, I knew the flowers were gone for the season, but would bloom again,

And Stephen was in Heaven.

Written the morning Stephen Rowland died for my sons memory and friendship, and the great courage of Stephen.

It's amazing what Christian young people can do when they let God have complete control. This was demonstrated at the First Christian Church Sunday, August 2, when the youth had charge of both morning and evening worship services. Several young people have accepted Jesus in their hearts and been baptized and other have grown in grace and knowledge of the Lord and Savior Jesus Christ this summer since Terry Thorton, our youth minister, has been with our pastor, Bro. Jerry Perry. Terry will be returning soon to complete his senior year at Kentucky Christian College. We appreciate his work of faith and labour of love in working here for the glory of God.

Mark Hopkins opened the services with announcements and congregational singing. The high school and college Sunday School classes composed the choir. Mrs. Ruth McFerron and Miss Virginia Hunt were the pianist and organist. Special Sunday morning, Earl Lewis Hammons and David Craig, duet; Cassandra McCauley, soloist and Donna Young, piano solo. The youth deacons serving were Mike Hopkins, Scott Henderson, Tim Young, Bobby Hammons and Dwayne Hadley. Jeff Hammond brought the morning worship message. His main text was John 15: - Jesus said "I am the vine, ye are the branches; he that abideth in me and I in him, the same bringeth forth much fruit; for without me ye can do nothing." In two other scriptures he stressed the words "God ye", Matt. 28:19 and "I do" Philippians 4:13. Invitation, prayer and dismissal hymn. "SCHOOL BOARD"
The board vote to employ the coaches and grant a 7% salary increase. Head coaches, Larry Woods, Roscoe Denny and Preston Parrett, who now receive $2,508 extra salary for their coaching duties, will receive a $188.00 raise. Assistant coaches on the secondary level receive an extra $1,284 for coaching and their raise amounts to $84, annually. Ryan Riddle, David Hanzel, Judy Bullock and Richard Bray are assistant coaches at the high school.

Elementary basketball coaches receive a salary of $842 and football coaches receive $535 plus the 7% raise. During the 1981-82 school year Charles Carter will be coaching the boys basketball and football teams and Judy Bullock will be coaching girls basketball at MVES. Gary Scott will assume the coaching duties at BES and Harry Lee Holland at RES. Assistant coaches for the elementary schools have not been named as yet. John Hale and Preston Parrett coach girls and boys basketball at LES.

Roscoe Denny, boys athletic director and Preston Parrett, girls athletic director, each receive an additional $300 yearly.
In other business the board approved the Title 6-B Handicapped Project with Joan Peoples as school psychologist, and evaluator, authorized the superintendent, Mr. Charles Parsons, to make any necessary changes or transfers of personnel in order to start school and approved contracts with surrounding school districts to educate non-resident pupils.

The board also agreed to set the tax rate for the next year at 6.5 cents per $100 which would limit the increase in revenue generated by 4%. The tax rate last year was 7 cents per $100, but the raised assessments allow for lowering the tax rate the coming year. A public hearing for the tax rate was set for the next regular board meeting in September.

Lunch increases were authorized to meet federal cuts. Paid elementary lunches this year will be 65 cents for elementary and 70 cents for high school students. Reduced price is 25 cents and 30 cents. Breakfast price is 30 cents and 15 cents (reduced). Extra milk will cost 20 cents and there will be free milk this year.

Pilot Life Insurance Co., which provides an individual student policy, was approved by the board. Local agent for the insurance is Arletta Norton.

The board authorized advertising for bids for coal and coal haul to be awarded at the next board meeting and voted to approve the purchase of buses from the state bid contract.

Southern Belle got the contract to provide milk to the school lunchrooms and Kerns placed the low bid for bakery products. There were thirteen food distributors bidding on the various food items with the low-bidding company awarded the sale in each of the items. Institutional Distributors placed the low bid for dishwasher compounds.

The board accepted the only bid to make school pictures from the McEachern Company of Loudon, Tennessee, the single bid from Lexington Exterminators and the only bid from Multi-County Garbage haulers for disposal of waste.

Chevron received the gasoline contract provided the price quoted includes tax. The contracts to provide oil and lubricants were fairly equally distributed between Chevron and Marathon. Marathon was awarded the fuel oil contract.

"ROADS"

Ky. 1229, Dup Hill-Lincoln Co. Line Road, from Ky. 1650 to U.S. 150.

Bids for the project will be taken August 21.

"The entire road resurfacing effort state-wide is a result of economy moves within the department designed to put more dollars into the actual road program," Transportation Secretary Frank Metts said.

"Every dollar we save by consolidating functions or abolishing non-essential positions is a dollar we can apply toward maintenance and construction of Kentucky's highways," he said.

The number of employees in the Department of Transportation has been reduced by 25 percent since Metts was appointed Secretary of Transportation in December 1979. "We are saving $35 million a year just in personnel costs," he said.

"We have consolidated and improved the organization of such responsibilities as highway maintenance, equipment repair, and planning without any reduction in services to Kentucky citizens," he added.

From the City Recreation Department

By Da. Gallagher
CITY PARK MOVIE

"Thanks to all those who came to the movie at the City Park last Friday night. That kind of support will really help in getting a great recreation program off the ground (even without air traffic controllers). Be listening for the next one. It should be in a couple of weeks.

IN THE MEANTIME, we'll be having a "Playground Bible Club," August 10-14. Parents, if you have boys and girls, age 6-11, this is for you. This Bible Club is entirely without regard to church affiliation, and is to acquaint children with popular bible stories. There will be songs, games, refreshments and much more. It will be held every day, 10:00 a.m. till 11:30 a.m. Friday will be a special day full of games, magic, watermelon and all sorts of clowning around. Hours Friday will be 10:00 a.m. until 12:30 p.m. and will be held near the playground in the city park at Lake Linville. So parents you can help in two ways. Round them up and get them here every day (you are welcome to stay and watch). If you can help by providing some sort of refreshments such as cookies, kool-aid, etc., you will make several young children very happy. For more information on Playground Bible Club, call 256-4970.

AND NOW A WORD FOR THE SPORTS ENTHUSIAST. On Saturday, August 15, there will be a 5 mile "Remfro Marathon" beginning at 10:00 a.m. (So that those not-so-energetic-types will be able to get enough sleep before coming out to watch). At 12:30 p.m. we will kick off the "First Annual Horseshoe Pitching Tournament." All interested runners and itchers watch around town for more details on entering these events.

ONE LAST ITEM. Anyone interested in brushing up on tennis skills (mainly for beginner and intermediate players) should mark the week of August 17 on your calendar for the TECHNIQUES OF TENNIS. Interested players should try to attend a short meeting this Friday evening at 7:00 p.m. at the park to work out a time schedule for the week. Call 256-4970 that evening if you are interested but can't attend the meeting.

Burley Outlook Not So Bright: Flue-cured Selling at Record

By: Bennett Roach

A long-drawn-out burley tobacco harvest season is at hand for the remaining weeks of August and through September. The crop, all over the belt, is rated highly "spotty" and extremely varied as to quality and stage of growth.

Some early planted fields which were topped in July are ready to head the harvest parade. In these, the quality is good, but elsewhere the crop is uneven and showing the effects of blue mold, black shank, aphids and the excessive rains that delayed planting last spring.

Many growers and tobacco leaders are now expressing doubts about the predicted large crop. Hopes are beginning to fade about 1981 being a big production year, following the last two years of short crops.

Government poundage estimates, soon to begin periodically as the season advances, should afford some solid indications of the actual outcome and whether expanded plantings under the 7 1/2% quota increase will bring the desired boost in 1981 production.

Under normal production, the quota increase would have meant a 661-million pound crop. With this in view, hopes were held early that the burley industry soon would be headed back to a normal supply of tobacco.

But now, only ideal growing conditions the rest of the season can bring 1981 production to normal, some are predicting.

This is particularly disappointing to the Burley Tobacco Growers Cooperative Association and to the burley trade in general as leaf demand is strong and markets in the southern flue-cured belts are seemingly having a record high year.

With flue-cured selling as high as $190 per hundredweight and averaging $160 and upward, growers in the south are

Jackson Co. RECC Urges Members To Participate in Electrical Use Survey

Several randomly selected member-consumers of Jackson County RECC will soon be receiving a survey form in the mail which is designed to quickly check information concerning the member's residential use of electricity. The survey will ask questions concerning heating and cooling equipment in the home and the appliances that the members have or plan to purchase. The survey forms are return-addressed and pre-stamped for the convenience of the members to return after completing the form.

"This survey of electrical use in the home will assist your cooperative in developing a better understanding of the member-consumer's electrical use habits and future electrical needs," Lee Roy Cole, Jackson County RECC President and General Manager explains. "We feel the information gained from this survey could have a significant impact on our future electric rates," continued Mr. Cole.

Jackson County RECC is one of 18 rural electric cooperatives assisting East Kentucky Power Cooperative, which is conducting the survey program. By determining the power needs of the 18 member systems, East Kentucky Power can plan additional generating facilities at a time when the power is needed and not before.

Information returned by the selected members will be held in confidence, however, the accumulated information will

"This information will certainly help the co-ops combat the ever-rising cost of energy,"

Mr. Cole concluded. "The consumers are really helping themselves by filling out this very important survey, so we hope they will take just a few minutes and mark the questions. We will all benefit from it."

WE NEED YOUR HELP!!!

You may think electric bills are like the weather: "Everybody's talking about them, but nobody's doing anything about them." Now you have an opportunity to help yourself, and help us do something about the future cost of electric energy. And it will only take you a few minutes.

In the next couple of days, a selected group of rural electric members will be mailed a brief survey form which will be extremely important to the future planning and construction of power generating units and other facilities to serve your needs. Your answers will help us make decisions concerning your co-op's future electrical requirements.

This all means that the survey information you send us will help us determine when additional equipment and facilities, which would ultimately reflect on your electric bills, are needed. We're counting on you to help yourself and your cooperative, so please take a few minutes and fill out the survey.

It won't cost you anything. The form is self-addressed and pre-stamped. Just fill it out and drop it in the mail.

IT'S IMPORTANT TO ALL OF US.

"One stop banking is a real feather saver - Take it from me."

Speaking from experience as one who gets around, there is nothing to be gained from fluttering about town collecting berries when one bush in your own neighborhood bears them all. It is one thing to exercise the wings now and again, but it's another to wear them out needlessly. I'm a bird, I know these things.

For example, I have saved many a tail-feather with one stop banking. By utilizing a financial institution, that offers personalized checking, savings programs and features night depository service, notary service, bank-by-mail, money orders, travelers checks, loans, safe deposit boxes and always, financial counseling, banking becomes a simple time saving event.

My confidence in these hometown bankers is bolstered by their years of experience serving the community.

Speaking as a bird that gets around, one-stop banking makes good sense.

Preserving Corn

Pint Jars for Creamed Corn
Why do you have to process cream-style corn for such a long time when you can't? And why are you only supposed to use pint jars? These are two questions that home canners ask every summer, and here are the answers:

Because heat penetration is slow for cream-style corn, it takes a long time for the corn in the center of the jar to get hot enough, so extra processing time needs to be allowed. If you put it up in quart jars, the corn nearest the sides of the jars gets way too much processing time-which can practically ruin the flavor-while the corn in the center still may not be hot enough for long enough to destroy microorganisms that could cause food spoilage or food poisoning if allowed to survive.

Canning Directions

Choose young and tender ears of corn. Pick them, husk them and wash them just as quickly as possible. Then cut corn from the cob at about the center of the kernel and scrape cob.

Raw Pack

Pack into clean pint jars to 1/4 inches from top. Do not shake the jar or press the corn down. Add 1/2 teaspoon of salt to each jar, if desired. Fill the jar to 1/4 inch from the top with boiling water. Wipe jar rims clean, adjust jar lids, and process in pressure canner at 10 pounds pressure for 95 minutes.

Ho Pack

After cutting corn from cob and scraping cob, add 1 pint of boiling water per quart of corn and heat to boiling. Pack hot corn to 1 inch of top of pint jars.

Kesha Michelle McClure, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McClure of Mt. Vernon, celebrated her 2nd birthday at her home Saturday, August 1st. Those attending were, Kristi McClure, Shonda McClure, Andy Kidwell, Lori Kidwell, Joshua McClure, Vicki Miller, Slade Moore. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grover McClure and Mr. and Mrs. James Moore, all of Mt. Vernon.

Add 1/2 teaspoon salt to each jar, if desired. Adjust jar lids, process in pressure canner at 10 pounds pressure for 85 minutes.

After processing, remove jars from canner and complete seals, if necessary. After 24 hours, test the seals to be sure they're all tight. Remove screw bands, wipe jars clean, label and store in a dark place that's as cool and dry as you can manage, and there they'll be safe from freezing in winter months.

Don't Cut Processing Time

Don't be tempted to cut minutes off the processing time because you want a fresher-tasting product. And do boil all canned corn 20 minutes before tasting or serving.

If you're not satisfied with the flavor of canned corn, you might decide to use it mostly in casseroles and soups. If you have a freezer, that's the best solution for preserving fresh-tasting sweet corn.

If you can make somebody smile
By showing that somebody
Do it now, do it often
Till you have time to smile
And if somebody smiles at you
It's bliss.
Has brought you joy somehow.
Don't save your thanks for later
Take time to say them now.
For if you miss your chance to show,
Your love for fellow men
The perfect time the perfect chance.
Might never come again
