Ransom Hensley, 60, of Brodhead points out where vandals struck at his home located near the Brodhead Post Office last Wednesday night. Mr. Hensley said he had completed painting two outside walls of his home a cadet blue before Wednesday night when vandals sprayed red paint at random over the window and walls and wrote what appeared to be "Helter Skelter" on the side wall. Hensley said the home belongs to his nephew David Taylor, who asked him to move into the house in May because he feared it would be burned down if unoccupied. Mr. Hensley is a disabled coal miner.

Bennett Burton Dies Suddenly Sunday from Sting

Bennet Burton, 45, of Mt. Vernon died about 2:00 p.m. Sunday, a few minutes after he received a sting from a yellow jacket, according to local coroner, Bill Dowell.

Dowell said that Burton was on an outing with the Saddle Club and was near the St. Petre Cave when apparently a yellow jacket nest was disturbed. Burton was stung once on the forehead and died a few minutes later.

According to one of the members of the Saddle Club who is a nurse, she administered aid to Burton in the form of a shot to counteract the sting; however, it did not revive him. According to her, another member of the riding club employed the techniques of cardio-pulmonary resuscitation, but was unsuccessful.

Burton had been stung on the leg by a yellow jacket within the last month and was ill for a couple of days according to Dowell.

Burton died from anaphylactic shock, according to Dowell, who said no autopsy was performed.

He was born in Rockcastle County, February 21, 1936, the son of George and Vallie Griffin Burton and was employed by the Rockcastle Auto Parts and a member of the Rockcastle Saddle Club. Mr. Burton served with the U.S. Army from 1958 to 1960.

Besides his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Burton of Mt. Vernon, he is survived by his wife, Mrs. Shirley Blanton Burton; one daughter, Sheila Burton; one brother, Mr. Harris Burton of Rt. 2, Berea; two sisters, Mrs. Mattie Owens of Rt. 3, Somerset and Mrs.

Barbara Anglin of Mt. Vernon. Funeral services were held Tuesday, August 18 at the Dowell and Martin Funeral Home by Bro. Rolla Cornelius. Burial was in the Negro Creek Cemetery.

Pallbearers were: Doug Singleton, Everett Adams, Brad for French, T. Watts, Brad Reynolds, Sherman Ponder, Jr., and Emory Martin.

School Meal Prices Increase

The price of meals served at the county school cafeterias will increase when school gets in full swing this Friday, according to E.J. Smith, Food Service Director for Rockcastle County Schools.

Full-price lunches will be 70 cents for high school students this year-up 10 cents over last year. Reduced lunch for high school students will be 30 cents.

In the elementary cafeteria, the full-price lunches will go from last year's 55 cents to 65 cents this year, with reduced lunches selling for 25 cents.

Breakfast, which is served to approximately 800 students county-wide, is up from 25 cents to 30 cents this year.

According to informed sources, the family income level, qualifying approximately 65% of the approximately 2800 lunches served daily to be received free or reduced, will be dropped to exclude some who have been receiving free lunches.

Lunch money collection is the responsibility of each school therefore, the policy with regard to charged lunches varies with each school.

Smith said that lunch prices did not have to be increased as much as school officials had feared last year when threats to cut lunch room funds were first made.

Smith cited food and labor price increases and federal cuts, both in food and money subsidy, as reasons for the increased meal prices.

Blue Mold Again Problem for Area Farmers

Blue mold, which caused significant damage to Burley tobacco crops in Kentucky two years ago, is rearing its ugly head on the farming scene once again in Kentucky tobacco patches.

Last year, due to the general drought, area farmers did not see blue mold in the patch.

However, some surrounding counties are especially plagued by the plant disease this year and some has been detected in Rockcastle County according to Tom Miller, County Extension Agent.

Blue mold is a downy leaf mildew caused by an airborne fungus. The disease is erratic in Kentucky, appearing for a few years, then disappearing only to return again. However, when it is here, it is a serious threat to all plant beds in the state because all tobacco presently grown is highly susceptible. Greatest damage usually occurs in beds located in the shade or low wet areas and in very early and very late beds. Blue mold is favored by wet foliage from rain, dew or fog, by cool temperatures (60-85 degrees) and by low light intensity due to shade or plant bed covers. Each of these factors plays a major role in the disease, but when all are present at once, the disease is capable of destroying the entire bed. Presence of a bluish downy mildew growth on the leaf is the best diagnostic feature of this phase of blue mold.

In the field there are two kinds of blue mold, leaf blight and systemic blue mold. Leaf blight manifests itself first with yellow spots and then the development of a blue-gray mildew on the lower side of the spot. Later these spots will turn brown and die. During overcast, wet weather these spots can become so numerous as to destroy the entire leaf.

The fungus invades the vascular system causing a brown discoloration just beneath the bark in the systemic blue mold phase. Since this phase interferes with nutrient movement and growth, considerable stunting, yellowing and discoloration often results.

Mills says that at this harvesting or near-harvesting stage, farmers are faced with the decision as to what to do based upon whether the fungus is in an active or a dormant stage and how ripe the crop is.

If the tobacco is too immature to cut, then spraying with a fungicide is about the only other alternative. Mills says, however, that the problem most farmers have with this is that they cannot effectively spray since they do not have the necessary equipment and it is almost impossible to get complete coverage by hand spraying.

If the tobacco is ripening and near the harvest stage, the extension office recommends

Unpaid Traffic Citations are Main Topic at Council Meeting

Trial Commissioner Robert Robinson was present at Tuesday night's called meeting of the Mt. Vernon City Council to discuss the city's problems with collecting fines for traffic citations.

Mr. Robinson told the council that he had discussed the problem with City Clerk Mary McClure and that his suggestion would be to publicize the fact that warrants would be issued for persons with unpaid citations, after a certain number were accumulated. Robinson pointed out the council that if citations were issued the cost for a $1 traffic ticket would be $36.50 including a $25.50 court cost charge and a $10 fee for the Sheriff to serve the warrant.

He said he felt if people were aware of the extra cost involved that they would be more receptive to paying the $1 fine within the prescribed 24-hour limit.

While council members seemed to be in general agreement with Mr. Robinson's suggestion, no action was taken but more discussion on the problem is scheduled for next month's regular meeting.

The question of a curfew ordinance was once again brought up by Councilman Tom Welch who reiterated his former position that such an ordinance was needed to help curb the crime problem being encountered by both businesses and private citizens in Mt. Vernon.

On this question, Robinson told the council that two years ago when Livingston implemented an ordinance of this type, they asked for an Attorney General's opinion as to its legality and were told that it was legal. However, this is only an opinion and would have to be court tested.

Robinson suggested the council might have their city attorney explore the ramifications of such an ordinance.

In other business, the Council:

Approved a 10% pay increase for waterworks employees, retroactive to July 1; passed a motion to notify Sterling Hoskins, boat dock operator, not to rent a trailer which he has moved onto the boat dock premises; approved

Elmwood Project

Members of the Elmwood Cemetery Association and several other interested persons met Friday night for the purpose of discussing a means of setting up a non-profit organization to provide pretax care for Elmwood Cemetery.

By involuntarily in this manner, the organization can accept tax-free donations, hopefully to total $50,000, the interest from which would be used to defray the annual upkeep costs.

Anyone needing more information or wishing to make a donation should contact Henry Cox or Greg Mullins.

Water Tastes Bad Again

It is that time of year again when area residents complain about the bad tasting drinking water.

While some residents say they don't notice any distinctive bad taste, others are busy hauling drinking water and claim they can't even drink coffee made with it.

According to Matt Powell, Jr., water superintendent for the city, there is nothing that can safely be done about it. The water is 100% safe and pure, according to Powell, who sends four water samples to Frankfort each month.

He says that algae and grass at the bottom of the lake bloom this time of year causing the lake water disturbance which manifests itself in the changed odor and taste of the water.

Powell believes that due to this year's increased rainfall and cooler nights, the seasonal situation may not get as bad as last Monday.

Monday-night city workers and fire officials "flushed the lines" at the fire hydrants in an effort to help alleviate the problem.

Creating Doll Fashions Has Been Fun and Successful Venture

By Nancy Mullins

Dolly H Fashions, a new enterprise started by two local ladies named Harris (Almeda and daughter-in-law Julianne) has so expanded since June 15, when the two Ms. Harrises took their first order, that they are beginning to wonder if they can personally handle the volume of business they have received and anticipate receiving.

The business, as the name indicates, has to do with doll clothes-the quality kind.

The prices of the doll designs they make range in price from $15 to $100 and are made for dolls which range in value of from $25 to $1,000.

Almeda Harris, "design supervisor," never had a sewing pattern until the youngest of her 5 children was grown. She made the coats, boys pants and "everything wearable" for all her children simply by cutting it out.

She has made wedding gowns for her daughters and others. "I used to sew on a treadle machine and wore out 2 electric ones so you know I've sewn a lot," says Almeda, who smiles when she says she enjoys sewing.

A few years ago, when her children began to leave home and she had less sewing to do, she began designing, making and selling Barbie Doll clothes which makes her no stranger to the doll clothes business.

The unique aspect of Almeda's ability in the business is the fact that she can look at any picture, dress or hear a description and come up with a duplicate.

In the world of doll collecting and trading, it is very advantageous to know someone who can copy an old original Madame Alexander outfit, for instance.

This Thursday, August 20, the two women will be traveling to Po-Pogues' Dept. store in down wn Cincinnati to take part in the first day of the store's annual 3-day Doll Show which last year attracted over 1,800 customers during the opening two hours.

They will have a table with their name at the show even though they made contact with the store too late to be included in the advertising packet which was sent to prospective buyers.

Pogues has ordered several outfits from Dolly H including some 3-piece Bye-lo Baby chistering layettes to sell in the store. At the show, however, they will be taking orders from their line which will be on display and will be taking orders through the store to dress antique and expensive collector dolls. The antique dolls often require extensive research to find out what they once wore. They buyer has to pay a deposit

Letters to the Editor

Editor:
 I did not receive a notice of renewal so I hope I am not overdue. I miss the Signal very much when it does not arrive on date. So if there is a mistake in time or amount, I'll be glad to make it right, as all who have strayed from the home state say, I enjoy the Signal.

I clip articles and pass on to interested friends. I especially like the articles of Nancy Mullins and hope she continues to write about the warm-hearted, unselfish people of Rockcastle County and the hill country I feel blessed by God. I do not always agree with the Rev. Austin Mobley. I hope he is not reading his Bible for the sake of argument. To my way of reasoning you take the whole Bible, add the love and forgiving spirit of God and realize God is the Judge. I feel when we get to Heaven, we will see people from all walks of life that God has

Racing at the Rock

It was a night of fast and furious action at the Rockcastle Co. Speedway Friday night, August 14th, with a 75-lap late model feature race, which paid $1,000 to the winner.
 The mini-stocks started the night off with W.C. Chambers in Car T-9 winning the feature.
 Sportsman feature went to Bobby Carrier in Z-9, who has a string of six wins and no losses. His car is fast and handles well. Just ask the team of Jerry Campbell and Jerry Masters, who finished second.

 The main event had a 17 car field to start. After qualifying, Car P-1 of H.E. Vineyard was on the pole with Don Cox in P-7, on the outside.
 The race was underway and soon it turned into a three car race among Don Cox, followed by H.E. Vineyard and Eddie Carrier in C-8.

 As the cars came out of turn two, they ran into slower traffic, when Don Cox tried to pass he got too high on the track and ran into an embankment wrecking the right side of his car.

This allowed H.E. Vineyard to take over the lead. As the race continued, it was a fierce battle between Vineyard and Carrier.

Carrier made his move coming out of turn four when both cars came up on slower traffic. About five laps later, there was a slight altercation in turn four with Carrier's car spinning out but he got under control only to blow the engine on the 69th lap.

This allowed H.E. Vineyard to go on the checkered flag and the $1,000. E.M. Snowder in Car 72 finished second coming from 7th place at the start. Third went to Dale Napier in Car #12.

 Coming up at the Rockcastle Speedway will be a 50-lap race with $800 to win on August 28th.

NOTICE: The Rockcastle Mixed Couple Bowling League will have a meeting at 7:30 Thursday Sept. 10th at Maroon Lanes in Richmond. Bowling starts at 8:30. Please notify Carol McGuire before August 24th, 258-2288.

UK FOOTBALL IS IN HIGH GEAR
 LEXINGTON — The Shively Sports Center, where Kentucky's football team is going through practice sessions twice a day, is a busy place. Fran Curci started the yearlings through their paces Monday and the varsity won't actually join the practice sessions until Friday.
 Perry Moss, who came back to UK midway through last season as the backfield coach, has been elevated to the position of offensive coordinator. One of the things Perry has done this summer is get some of the big guys on a diet. Doug Williams, a highly regarded offensive lineman from Cincinnati, has gone from 292 lbs. to 260. Gerald Smyth, a junior from Eglewood, Ohio, has shed 25 pounds and Kevin Kearns, who is being switched from defensive tackle to center this season, has dropped 15 pounds.

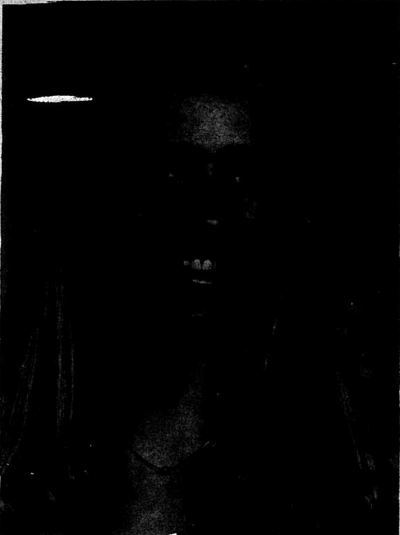

Sold out. There are no tickets remaining for Kentucky's six home games. The last to go were for the Clemson game. That school returned some of the tickets UK had sent. There are some tickets at the Memorial Coliseum office for Kentucky's games on the road.

There's a lot of activity around the football program but next to none for the basketball players. The entire squad spent the summer in Lexington either working or going to school.

Jim Master and Bret Bearup returned recently after taking part in the National Sports Festival at Syracuse University. Master made the All-Tournament team as his team won the silver medal.

The players have all gone home for a short vacation before school begins Aug. 26. After that the players will begin their conditioning program of running and weight lifting. Coach Joe B. Hall just returned last weekend from Ireland, where he's been conducting basketball clinics and, I'm told, getting in a little fishing.

The Lady Kats, Kentucky's women's basketball team, is in Japan. The Lady Kats will play a seven-game series with the Japanese team before coming back to Lexington Aug. 20.

Get the Jump on Fun

Scouting, around the world, has become one of the major influences on young men. Through specialized programs young men develop traits that will enable them to become better citizens, better leaders and competent workers.

Scouting, which began in 1910, has always had a strong moral component and helps young men to have confidence in themselves. The training a Scout receives not only enriches his life, but also the life of his family and community.

The tradition of scouting has been well represented in Rockcastle County this past year by Pack 263, Pack 69 and Troop 263. During the first week of school, there will be an opportunity for more young men to join the scouting program. Watch and be ready to Get the Jump on Fun.

Scout school night schedule:
August 25, Tuesday, 7:00 p.m., Mt. Vernon Elementary; 7:00 p.m. Brodhead Elementary.

August 27, Thursday, 7:00 p.m., Livingston Elementary and 7:00 p.m. Roundstone Elementary.

Faster Trials Coming in Circuit Courts

In another step to shorten the time it takes to get cases tried in circuit courts, Kentucky's Chief Justice John S. Palmero has divided the state's 57 circuits into ten administrative regions. Rockcastle County is one of the thirteen counties in the Southeastern Region of Judicial Circuits presided over by Circuit Judge Henry V. Pennington, Danville. Elected by his fellow circuit judges as chief regional judge, Pennington assigns additional circuit judges to try cases in those courts during an emergency at a particular time, and generally supervises the administration of the seven circuits in the region.

Just employed as regional court administrator for the Southeastern Region is Kevin R. Krall, a native of Cleveland, Ohio, presently living in Iowa. Krall has a Bachelor of Arts degree in Criminal Justice from the University of South Dakota and a Master of Science Degree in Judicial Administration from The American University, Washington, D.C. Both degrees were received with highest honors.

In announcing Krall's employment Judge Pennington noted Krall will reside in Danville but will make frequent visits to all thirteen circuit courts in the region to assist judges, clerks and other personnel in expediting trials and with other administrative matters. "We have every intention of carrying out the

A total of eighteen persons received injuries, five motorists were arrested for driving under the influence of intoxicants, fourteen persons were arrested for public intoxication, thirty-six criminal investigations were made resulting in thirty-four arrests and three stolen vehicles were recovered.

Marijuana Destroyed

On Tuesday, August 4, near noon, Kentucky State Police Detective Charles Loomis, Ken Crider, J.B. Scott, Cary Eaton, David Campbell, Ernie Boggs and Trooper William Stewart raided two farms on Ky. 11 in Clay County near the Knox County line. Approximately three acres of marijuana was destroyed. Estimated value of the marijuana is $600,000. Arrests are pending at this time.

Laurel County Bod of Ed. Taken Over

On Monday morning, August 10th at 8:10 a.m. J.B. McCreary, white, male in his 40's took over one office at the Laurel County Board of Education. Lieutenant Bobby Walker and Sergeant James Wilson went into the office and took McCreary into custody and lodged him in the Laurel County Jail for concealed deadly weapon. Other charges pending under investigation by Trooper G.A. Tomlinson.

Trooper Silvers Assaulted

On Sunday, August 9, Trooper Jimmie Silvers was assaulted while at the Rockcastle County Jail. Trooper Silvers said, Mr. Krall's background and training will be of invaluable help in accomplishing that goal, Pennington noted.

Trooper Silvers was booked into jail Charles Denny Sower, 32, of Lexington and John D. McFerron, 33, of Mt. Vernon for "Driving under the influence of intoxicants" and "Public Drunkenness."

Sower allegedly jumped onto Silvers' back, starting a fight. When Sower jumped Silvers, McFerron, along with Bernice B. Suffridge, 31, of Lexington and Eddie Kirby, 53, of Mt. Vernon reportedly joined in.

A Mt. Vernon Police Department officer assisted Trooper Silvers in regaining control of the subjects.

All four were lodged in the Rockcastle County Jail. Trooper Silvers sustained minor injuries during the altercation.

Farmers Expecting Low Crop Yields Should Notify ASCS

"Rockcastle County farmers who think they will be eligible to receive low yield payments on their wheat and feed grain crops should contact our office as soon as possible," Billy Lawrence, Chairperson of the Stabilization and Conservation committee, said.

The ASCS disaster payment program covers crops affected by natural disasters such as strong winds, hail, heavy rains or drought. To be eligible for disaster benefits, however, farmers must have filed an accurate acreage report and the county committee must determine that the production loss was caused by the natural disaster. Payments are authorized for a farmer whose crop yield is less than 60 percent of the established yield for wheat and feed grains.

Farmers who store all or a part of their harvested crop on the farm must have this production measured by ASCS before it is put to another use or commingled with production from another farm, he said. "Farmers who sell their production should identify any corn or wheat sales slips, by farm, for proven yields or proven production and turn in their slips when harvest is over," the ASCS official said.

If the crop is so poor that it will not be carried to harvest for grain or lint, ASCS must appraise the crop before its destruction or substitute use.

Disaster claims must be filed within 15 days after harvest.

WHAT'S YOUR ANSWER?

A few days ago a survey about your electrical needs may have arrived at your home and at several other residences in your RECC's service area.

It is a brief, easy-to-answer questionnaire that will provide us valuable information in deciding how much electricity you're going to need in the near future.

Many RECC members have returned this very important survey, but there are many who are still being counted on to send in their responses.

If the results are going to help us continue planning efficiently for future electrical requirements, a high percentage of the surveys must be returned to us as soon as possible.

The survey is easy to mark, extremely important, and will cost you nothing except a little time. This is your chance to help us and yourself in planning for our energy future today.

Local 4-H'ers At State Fair

Four Rockcastle County 4-H'ers participated in the Kentucky State Fair 4-H Land Judging Contest Monday, August 17. The contest consisted of scoring four plots of land for factors such as slope, erosion, depth of root zone, aeration and drainage, land capability and conservation measures needed to protect each site. 4-H Land Judging incorporates project work into actual experience which will help in making land use decision for future farmers.

Special recognition was given to Devin Ford for placing third in the junior division of the state contest. Mr. Harris, from the Kentucky Department of Agriculture, presented Devin with his blue ribbon and soil probe. Next year, Devin will be in the senior division and compete for a trip to Oklahoma to the National 4-H Land Judging Contest.

John Ford, Jeff Winstead and Troy Taylor were also members of the Rockcastle County 4-H Land Judging Team. Each received a red ribbon for their judging skills and a better understanding of how to prepare for next year's contest.

spread them in the sun until the beans are hard and brittle.

To make the beans keep through the winter without getting buggy, pasteurize them in an oven on a cookie tray by heating them for 10 to 15 minutes at 175 degrees or 30 minutes at 150 degrees. Cool and store in a moisture-proof container with a tight-fitting lid.

Dried beans should be soaked overnight before they are cooked. Use as you would dried beans purchased in a store. They are high in protein and an economical substitute for meat.

Use the Right Kind Of Salt For Pickles

When homemade pickles don't turn out crisp and firm with good, bright color, often times it is because of the salt-using the wrong kind of salt or using too much salt or not enough.

Coarse pickling salt or pure granulated salt is recommended for making pickles. Table salt contains additives which prevent caking and these additives can make the brine cloudy; also, iodized salt darkens pickles and is not recommended.

Rock salt or ice cream salt should not be used for making pickles because these are not pure and are not intended for use in food.

Too much salt makes cucumbers shrivel and not enough salt makes them soft and slimy. So it's important to use the right kind of salt and to measure it carefully. For information on making pickles and relishes at home, call the Cooperative Extension Service office (256-2403).

Implants Spur Calves' Growth Rate

Growth-stimulating implants offer commercial beef cattle producers a speedy method of increasing growth rate of calves. But their use as profit-boosters is often neglected by beef producers.

Using growth-stimulating implants increases rate of gain, is economical and requires little skill, according to Extension beef cattle specialists at the University of Kentucky.

Producers who use implants in calves can expect an increased gain of about six percent for suckling calves and 10 percent for growing calves. Calves getting good quality feed and gaining at a fast rate will have an even greater response to growth-promoting implants.

Implants come in the form of pellets that are inserted in a calf's ear. They generally cost about one dollar per calf and bring returns many times greater than their cost. In trials conducted in 28 Kentucky counties, implanted suckling steer calves gained an average 27 pounds more than non-implanted calves. That one dollar spent for each implant yielded at least fifteen dollars worth of additional gain.

Two effective and safe growth-promoting products, Synovex and Ralgro, are currently available as implants. Synovex is a natural hormone implant which has been on the market for nearly 20 years. It is available in two forms: Synovex

S for steers weighing 400-1,000 pounds and Synovex-H for heifers weighing 400-800 pounds. It comes in cartridges composed of eight small pellets, deposited under the skin in the center of the back of the ear.

Ralgro, which is not a hormone, contains Zeranol, which stimulates the pituitary gland to produce increased amounts of growth hormone. It may be used on calves from birth to market weight. A dose of Ralgro contains three small pellets which are placed under the skin on the back of the ear about an inch from the head.

Producers must take care to implant pellets correctly. If Synovex pellets are crushed during implantation, they may cause undesirable side effects or abnormal behavior such as bulling. To implant pellets correctly, insert the full length of the needle on the implant gun under the skin. Pull the needle out about half way as the process of expelling pellets is begun. If implanting is done correctly, the pellets will feel like peas in a pod rather than like a ball or cluster.

Beef producers can easily implant growth-promoting products in calves during other routine practices such as vaccination, castration and deworming. Calves may be implanted every 65 to 100 days for additional gain, while calves within 65 days of slaughter must not be implanted. Some feedlot managers prefer calves that have not been implanted because the extra gain tapers away from the "compensatory" gain they normally get from thin calves. Beef producers occasionally may encounter some buyer resistance to implanted cattle, but the benefits of using implants far outweigh the disadvantages. The commercial cow-calf producer should be concerned primarily with achieving the most production in his own operation.

Producers should not use implants on either bulls or heifers they intend to keep for the breeding herd. Bull calves treated with growth stimulants have been shown to have small testes, decreased sex drive and decreased semen production compared to non-implanted bulls. The effects of implants on heifers' breeding performance is not clear. But since some studies have shown detrimental effects, it is not recommended to use implants on heifers destined for the breeding herd.

rush in the morning to get off on time.

Breakfast is an important meal for youngsters. To stay alert and learn a child needs to start the day with breakfast before he rushes off to catch the bus. It need not be a big meal—often times youngsters don't have a big appetite in the morning. So a light breakfast of cereal with milk and a fruit or a sandwich and juice will do the trick.

Studies show that children who come to school without breakfast don't learn as well as children who have eaten. So, don't handicap your child. See that he eats breakfast. The take-off is important!
