Caressman Rogers Addresses the Issues and Answers Questions

Fifth District Congressman Harold Rogers spent over an hour answering questions and discussing problems with Rockcastle Countians who attended a meeting at the co Wednesday afternoon.

The main concern of many citizens attending the meeting seemed to be the status of Social security.

In answering these con-cerns, Rogers stated that many of the specifics of the specific of the sp of the specifics of and and what the changes to come will mean are cloudy to him. He admitted that he does not agree with the administrations pro-posal to change the system especially with regard to the penalty for those anticipating

He further stated that the administration and the ways and Means Committee are studying the system and said, "Things are going to be okay; don't were " don't worry."

Adams' Desire to Play Led Him to Symphony

By Nancy Mullins

By Nancy Mullins

The situation is improbable, of course, but it would be interesting to know what this community would be like if we had been able to keep all those people born and reared here, who have moved away, especially those who have become successful. Successful, of course, has many connotations but after an update on this former Rock-castle Countian, I think you'll agree, thi he has perhaps achieved a youthful goal-to become successful musically.

To those who knew Jack Lincoln Adams during the years he spent here, there was probably little to make them think that this musically intense and talented person who made Mt. Vernon High School Band and later Rockastle County Band proud at regional contests and festivals, would be satisfied to stay here.

One of his former band students, Martha (Sowder) Cox, who played clarinet during her high schol years recalls,

That was more than we expected in such a rural school with limited resources, but we received much more from Mr. Adams. Because of his enthusiasm for music, he instilled an intense desire in his students to tackle the most difficult tasks. After being successful many times in these difficult tasks, his students learn to feel immense pride in themselves and their ability. He themselves and their ability. He taught and demanded total respect in no uncertain terms and accepted nothing less than the very best from his students. Legislative Report

By Rep. Harold DeMarcus

On July 28th the executive administration announced, in very general terms, the details of its fourth budget cut.

During that announceme the administration claimed that the total of its four budget cuts was $676 million or 16 percent of the entire budget.

Those are impressive fig-ures. Also, those figures are a bit misleading.

The administration's bud-The administration's ounget cuts for the last two years total $489 million, not $676* million. That's 11.2 percent of the original 1980-82 budget, not 16 percent as was claimed by the executive branch.

General Assembly, the state's General Fund budget for 1980-82 totaled $4.349 billion. That budget was based on estimates of state revenues that eventually proved to be too high.

ly proved to be too high. Revenues for fiscal year

180-81 ran $159 million below estimates. State officials now expect revenues for this fiscal year to run $232 million below original estimates.

Also, revenues for fiscal year 1979-80 ran almost $48 million below estimates. Since the present_administration took office during the last part of that fiscal year, they had to make up the difference.

The total of these figures add up to $489 million that the administration had to make up by reducing expenditures.

by reducing expenditures.

The higher figures used by the administration include not only the $489 million in budget cuts, but also another $187 million in reduced growth of expenditures.

Certainly, state spending under the present administration has grown less rapidly than in previous administrations. However, the retarded growth in state expenditures has been due to a recessionary economy and not because of any frugality on the part of state government.

ENERGY USE SURVEY

Help Us Serve Your Energy Future

The surveys are out, but the returns aren't all in. As your rural electric cooperative, we are doing all we can to determine your future electrical needs. That's why we've sent you a second copy of an easyto-answer questionnaire that will help us plan more efficiently for your future electrical requirements.

Many of your fellow RECC members have returned their surveys, and we need yours.

Everyone has more to do than time allows, but please take a few minutes to mark this extremely important survey form. It will cost you nothing except a little time. We're even paying the postage.

This is your chance to help plan for your own energy future. That should be worth a few minutes of your time.

To Agree or Disagree

I sincerely appreciate all comments from those who read our Signal articles, whether pro or con. I am encouraged by so many who read the articles and who take the time to make comments about them. I do not expect everyone to agree and if I ever fail to teach the and if I ever fail to teach the truth on any subject (none of my critics have ever accused me of this), I would not want anyone to agree. On the contrary, I would hope that some observant reader would call the error to my attention and I will quickly correct it.

Everyone did not agree with My Lord when He walked among men. Now, before someone gets the impression that I am placing myself in the same category as Jesus, let me make it clear has a least a mu using Him as an example to show that no one ever had the favor of everyone. If people rejected the words of the Mastutacher when he spoke them audibly, who am ha looty servant.

Leach only what I find everyone I teach only what I find revealed in the Bible hoth positive and negative truths. For example the positive the helicyth had be saved the negative fails in the same had be admined "Would be a faithful servant of Christ, "He that believeth not shall be saved, but it is not necessary for him to be aptized." That would pleabative in the had be aptized. That would pleabative have herefore disagreed, with me would then agree, but it would not please Christ because that's not what He will find the shall be saved, but it is not necessary for him to be aptized. That would pleabative the had said that, that's what I would teach! I would teach! I would teach that when they know full well that that is not what He said.

He said!

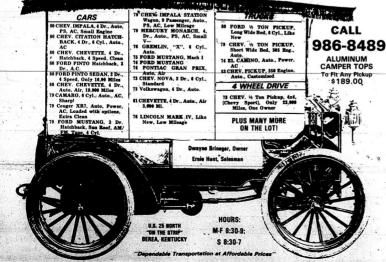

Whether or not a loved one who has passed from this life was baptized has absolutely no bearing whatsoever on the words of Jesus, nor does our obedience or discobedience have any effective the destiny of that loved one.

He or she is in the hands of a just God who will make no mistake, and try a ections will have nothing to do with the cutcome of that judgement "Every one of us shall give account of himself to God" (Rom. 14:12). "He that reject the me, and receiveth not my words, hath one that judgeth him: the words that I have spoken, the same shall judge him in the last day," said Jesus (John 12:48). For this reason I warm against those who teach otherwise. Dear friends, I am not the author of "He shat pieces and the surface of the shall be saved" but will be judged by the same shall be saved but will be judged by the same shall be saved but will be judged by the same shall be saved but will be judged by the same shall be saved but will be judged by the same of the same shall be saved but will be just a same of the same shall be saved but will be just a same of the same shall be saved but will be saved but will be saved but the same of the same shall be saved but will be saved but the same of the same shall be saved but will be saved but the same shall be saved and saved but the same shall be saved but the same shall be saved and saved but the same shall be saved but the same shall be saved but the same shall be saved but the saved but the same shall be saved but the saved but the saved but the saved but the same shall be saved but the saved but the saved but the saved but saved but the saved but saved but the saved but t

The Chila Sarly
To Prevent Grub Losses
Kentucky cattlemen should reat cattle for grubs during the next few months to prevent possible weight gains, reduced milk production and lower quality beef and hides. Cattle infested with grubs may not convert feed efficiently and may show reduced weight gain, according to Extension entomoogists in the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture. Damage depends on the number of 'grubs and how long they remain in the animal. Milk production decreases of 10 to 15 percent and beef gain reductions of one-tenth to one-fourth pound per day as a result of grub-infestation have been reported.

If you control is attempted later than that, some damage already will have occurred and dead larvae may cause additional harm to cattle. The life cycle of the cattle grub makes early treatment necessary. Adult grubs lay eggs on the hairs of the animals in the spring. CUT COOLING COSTS

As long as a room air conditioner sits in a window, whirs and blows out cool air, most consumers pay almost no attention to it. But with most consumers pay almost no attention to it. But with increasing electrical costs, you should take some time to help your air conditioner do its job as efficiently and inexpensively as possible. To help you get the most from your air conditioner, we offer the following tips:

Place your room air conditioner in the window providing the best air distribution into the room you wish cooled. Don't

Blanche Vegetables
Before Freezing
Blanching before freezing is one of the most important steps in preserving fresh vegetables safely, but it's a step that many people skip. Vegetables that are not treated in boiling water edvelop off-flavors, colors and odors. In addition, they lose vitamins A and C, thiamine and riboflavin. In comparison properly blanched vegetables will keep eight to 12 months in the freezer with little loss in eating freezer with little loss in eating quality or nutrition. The only vegetables you can take a shortcut with are green peppers Although some blanch vegetables by putting them in the dishwasher or even a washing machine, these methods are not safe. They don't get to boiling tempera-tures which are necessary to inactivate enzymes. They certainly clean, but they are not blanched.

The recommended blanch . The recommended blanching method is to immerse the vegetables in boiling water before freezing. This is done by putting a small quantity of vegetables, in a large amount of boiling water for a short time-usually from three to five minutes. The exception is corn which requires more time.

NOTICE

The Kentucky Department of Transportation is advancing plans to construct a new bridge over Roundstone Creek on Ky. 490 at Livingston. This progress will require removal of the existing bridge which has been determined to possess limited technological significance as one of the state's last remaining Whipple Murphy Thru Trusses with Phoenix Columns.

Because of the technological status of this bridge it is a good candidate for preservation. Therefore, the Department of Transporation does hereby offer this bridge free of charge to anyone who will remove anyone who will remove assuring preservation of its technological features.

Anyone interested in acquiring the bridge should contact Mr. David W. Byers. District Manager. Somerset District Office. US 27, P.O. Box 780, Somerset, Kentucky 42501. Phone (606) 678-8111. No offers will be accepted after September 14, 1981. Posting of Bond Will Be REquired. 2x2
