Boese have returned home from a week's vacation in Montgomery, Alabama where they visited their niece, Mrs. Teddy Wayne Kelly and enjoyed 80 temperatures for a couple of days while there.

Enjoying a delicious supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Croucher in Berea on Christmas Eve were Mr. and Mrs. Cletus Peters and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Brock and children, Brian and Tara.

Visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Chasteen last Saturday afternoon and evening were Mrs. Mary Ann Williams and son, David of Berea, Mr. and Mrs. Junior Chasteen and son, Rodney also of Berea, Mrs. Janet Ridgell and Sherry and Mrs. Darleer Church, Tammy and Tonya.

Mr. and Mrs. J.B. Alexander and family of West Dales, Wisconsin visited with his brother, Eugene and family awhile last Thursday night. They were enroute home from Crossville, Tennessee where they had visited Mr. John V... and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Carey and family.

Well, we (the Chasteen family) all enjoyed the holidays very much. We visited each other and ate with each other but Hubert and I enjoyed a delicious Christmas dinner at the home of our son, Wayne and his family. To me, Christmas is an enjoyable time but also a sad time. Many people don't celebrate the birthday of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, but they think more of themselves and those around them. I always think of those who are ill and the ones who are spending their first Christmas without a loved one who has recently passed away.

Jobless rate for area down slightly in November 1982;

Rockcastle's is 11.3%

By Nancy Mullins

A recent economic update from the Kentucky Department of Human Resources reports that half of Kentucky's 120 counties have lower unemployment rates for November than October, leading to a slightly lower statewide jobless figure.

The November unemployment rate statewide was 10.7%, down from the 10.8% October rate. The national figure for November was 10.4%.

The unemployment rate in the Cumberland Valley District, which includes Rockcastle, Jackson, Clay, Laurel, Knox, Bell, Harlan, and Whitley counties, dropped from 13.2% in October to 12.9%.

Rockcastle County had the district's lowest rate of 8.9% while Harlan County reported 17.3%, the highest. The largest percent of layoffs there were in the mines, according to DHR statistics.

Bell County ranked next to Laurel's low with an unemployment rate of 11.1% followed by Rockcastle with 11.3%. Knox 11.5%; Clay, 12.6%; Whitley, 12.6%; Jackson, 16.9% and Harlan.

Of approximately 13,973 persons living in Rockcastle County as of the 1980 census, 6,321 are members of the work force, that is, they are now employed or are actively seeking employment. Of those, 5,605 have jobs and 715 are jobless.

The county unemployment rate has nearly doubled since 1976 when the rate was 6.6%. However, Rockcastle would be feeling the effects of a more severe jobless plight were it not for the two industries Mt. Vernon Plastics which provides 109 jobs and Rockcastle Manufacturing with 96 more local jobs.

The local school system remains as it has for years the single concern employing the most persons, a total of 320. The Rockcastle County Hospital is second with 140 full and part-time employees. The two banks provide 43 persons with employment and Sower Nursing Home has 35 employees with an expected increase due to expansion.

Rockcastle Manufacturing also plans an increase in jobs offered in the near future.

The leading industries in Rockcastle remain as farming, tourism and more recently small manufacturing including saw mills. Approximately 345 persons are employed as farmers on the 857 farms in the county.

Those who are employed as a result of the tourist industry are hard to calculate due to fluctuation and variety of endeavors.

In 1970, 37% of the work force left the county each day to places of work and 24% of all workers employed by governments.

Rockcastle has 4,729 households with an average of 3 persons per household. The latest figures show that of these households, 1,203 receive food stamps. However, more than 40% of these households have an income judged by the Government as less than the poverty level.

Of the eight-county district referred to previously, Rockcastle and Laurel had the highest average median family incomes, both with $12,200. Statewide, Robertson County's unemployment rate of 28.8% was the highest while Fayette was low with 5%.

Looking backward at Rockcastle's population growth pattern, it is interesting to note that since 1940, when the population peaked at 17,165, there had been a decline in population until the 1980 count which reflected a 13.6% increase.

Population statistics for Rockcastle made available to us through the county extension agency's office are as follows: 1829-8,897; 1860-5,343; 1910-7,145; 1880-9,670; 1890-9,841; 1900-12,416; 1910-14,413; 1920-15,408; 1930-15,149; 1940-17,165; 1950-13,925; 1960-12,334; 1970-12,300; 1980-13,973.

According to the 1980 census, over half (7,742) of the county's population is in the 18-64 age category. Of those 3,825 are male and 3,917 are female. Of the total population, 6,321 are either employed or actively seeking employment, leaving only 1,421 others who may be students, housewives, disabled persons, early retirees and others who do not receive wages.

The projected population for the county in the year 2000 is 16,000 persons. It can be safe to assume, considering some of these indicators, that the great migration from the area has at least slowed down and that there is a trend to return and retire or return and seek employment in the area.

If the trend continues, let's hope that we can continue to keep pace with the changes by providing employment opportunities and supporting new and existing local businesses.

Unemployment

four more weeks

Federal legislation signed into law January 6 by President Reagan means that jobless Kentuckians will be eligible for an additional four weeks of unemployment insurance benefits. An estimated 4,000 unemployed persons in the state will receive a maximum of four additional weeks of benefits as a result of the law.

Persons eligible for the additional benefits will be notified by mail, through the Cabinet for Human Resources. In Kentucky, the Cabinet's Department for Social Insurance administers the unemployment insurance program.

The federally funded extension is part of the Federal Supplemental Compensation (FSC) program which was started September 12, 1982 and will end March 31, 1983.

Human Resources Secretary Buddy Adams explained that the new four-week extension and two earlier extensions will allow many persons now receiving unemployment insurance benefits to collect benefits for over a year.

Including this latest round of extensions, a total of 53 weeks of insurance benefits can be collected by some people currently unemployed. The extensions are in addition to the 26-week state unemployment insurance program.

"It is hoped that this new federal legislation will carry to better times most of the over 400 Kentuckians whose benefits have exhausted since mid-September," Adams said.

The Mt. Vernon Fire Department was called to the scene of the above fire around 6 p.m. Monday evening. However, the firefighters arrived too late to save Floyd Bullock's home, which was completely destroyed by fire.

NOTE

There has been some confusion, according to County Clerk Irene Bales, concerning when to buy licenses this year. Do not wait until your birthday month to renew tags. Check expiration month on present tags or on old license receipt.

Pre-college curriculum for fall's freshmen

Next fall, students entering high school for the first time will be required to take a prescribed curriculum if they intend to gain untested entrance to any of the state supported colleges and universities.

The stiffer pre-college requirements were adopted for the states high schools by the state Council on Higher Education January 13 after the plan had been earlier approved by the State School Board of Education.

Previously, the only requirement for college admission was a high school diploma which represents a minimum of 18 hours credit.

The plan approved last Thursday raises the required number of credits from 18 to 20 and makes mandatory four years (units) of English, three of mathematics including Algebra I, II and Geometry, two units of science which must include Biology I and either Chemistry or Physics and two units of social studies including World Civilization and U.S. History. The nine additional credits can include seven electives plus one unit of Health/Physical education and one unit of Citizenship which is already required by the State Board of Education for graduation.

Recommended, but not required, for college-bound high schoolers, are two units of foreign language and one or more in computer literacy.

Henry Snyder, executive director of the Council on Higher Education, told board members that the pre-college curriculum reflects the council's interest in strengthening the minimum competencies. The reason for the newly established requirements according to Frank-fo's Edward Prichard, Jr. who headed the citizen's committee formed to study higher education, was to ensure collegiate success and lessen the need for remedial education at the state's universities.

Burley Association to handle '82 carryover

By Bennett Roach

An emergency one-year program for handling excess tobacco from the 1982 burley crop is being shaped up for farmers of this area by the Burley Tobacco Growers Cooperative Association.

Details as to time and place of delivery are being drafted, to be put into operation after the market closes, in February or March.

Growers will be notified through the news media at that time, as to delivery dates and location of receiving stations.

Such tobacco cannot be sold without penalty until next marketing year, which begins October 1. It will be processed and stored, then offered for sale by sealed bids.

Any unsold will then be placed under loan in the Burley Growers' Association's regular inventory, and will become part of the Association's 1983 loan receipts. Growers will receive advance payment by grades at 1983 loan rates, less some expenses.

U.S. Department of Agriculture officials at Washington said the carry-over program is limited to the producer-owned and operated Burley Tobacco Growers Cooperative Association, Lexington, Ky. and the Burley Stabilization Corporation, Knoxville, Tenn.

This exclusive designation of the two grower-cops, says USDA, is to assure the excess leaf will not reach commercial trade channels, and will not be sold before the next marketing year, in compliance with marketing quota laws.

However, the program is voluntary and growers may store their carryover tobacco on their own farm or in warehouses, as long as it is kept separated from other crops, according to Everett Rank, head of the USDA Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service.

Almost one thousand families sign up for assistance with paying winter's heating bills

Those elderly or disabled persons who signed up for assistance with this winter's heat bills at the local office of the Bureau for Social Insurance, should be receiving notices shortly, certainly within the next week, according to Linda McCauley, director of the office.

According to Ms. McCauley, 442 applications were taken from local elderly and disabled persons.

The office began taking application January 3 and as of Tuesday were taking additional applications from families other than elderly and disabled through the Crisis Intervention program.

Ms. McCauley said a total of 835 applications had been received as of 11 a.m. Tuesday morning.

Jaycees to have benefit ballgame

The Rockcastle County Jaycees will be sponsoring a night of country music and a basketball game Friday night, January 21, beginning at 7 p.m.

The event will be held at the Rockcastle County High School with admission $2.00 for adults and $1.00 for children.

Following an hour of country music, the Jaycees will go to the court against the disc jockeys of Lexington radio station WVLK AM, K-93 FM and members of TV station Channel 27.

Mr. Rank said approximately 50 million pounds was raised in 1982 in excess of 110 percent of farm quotas, due to last season's excellent growing conditions.

Meanwhile, the Burley Growers Association is receiving increasing amounts of tobacco in the market, now 27.9 percent for the season, and on some markets as high as 40 percent.

A total of 141,920,541 pounds has been taken under loan as of January 15, said Alvin R. Bekley, executive secretary-treasurer of the Association, and the USDA is now projecting the total will reach 200 million pounds.

Approximately 100 applications have been taken and 97 of those families have received emergency relief from the local Weatherization office, according to Betty Carter, officer manager. The emergency aid comes in the form of vouchers for fuel to heat homes of these families.

Ms. Carter said about $6,053 of the $10,000 grant has been spent. The emergency relief for needy Kentucky residents is being administered through the Kentucky Department of Human Resources.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

I, Ralph Mullins, Jr., one of the Mt. Vernon Red Devils basketball players, want to take this time to say thanks for the flowers and for caring. My arm is doing just fine now. I also want to thank every one who visited me at home. I appreciate everything that each and every one did for me.

Thanks,

Dear Editor:

I would like to thank those who helped me and my family in any way following the recent fire which destroyed our belongings.

Thanks again,
 Edgar Junior Overbay

Dear Editor:

Won't you please publish the following:

I am 75 years old. I am much disturbed concerning Social Security. Beginning in 1936, about five billion of it was spent on Vietnam; billions have been spent on Israel, Poland, South America and SSI. The SSI recipients never paid one cent to Social Security. Now we are told Social Security is broke. One need not ask why not one cent of above mentioned came from the Civil Service fund, that's where the politicians get their gravy.

Why are the civil servant recipients better than we who have paid into Social Security? A lot of talk goes on in Washington about economizing. Why not combine Social Security and Civil Service. We are all good Americans.

Why don't we petition for a national referendum vote and have paid into Social Security? We are all good Americans. Why don't we petition for a national referendum vote and have paid into Social Security? We are all good Americans. Why don't we petition for a national referendum vote and have paid into Social Security? We are all good Americans.

many old nanny goats in both House of Representatives and the Senate who have been there twenty to thirty years. They feel that they own America. Women should organize and vote out all who voted against ERA. Don't just think about it, get busy and do it. I have heard Hollywood called a house of many different names, some not at all complimentary names. We have a President out of Hollywood elected principally by the by the Hollywood going because our people are so disgusted with corrupt politicians that only a meage one half of our voters voted.

If 10% of all money earned from any source for the next twelve months was contributed to defense of America very few of our Social Security recipients would refuse 10% of our Social Security.

We had better get together, fight and vote or we will all sink. One thing more, I don't think women are inferior to man but our inferior. A few psychological and environmentally may be, but only because they think they are inferior.

We have millions double dipping. They enter one of the armed services, stay 20 years, retire, work long enough at Civil Service to retire, draw two checks. Many then work and pay into Social Security, retire or quit on disability. They draw three checks.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

I am writing this letter to the effect of all the rumors that are being spread around about the Studio Restaurant. Anyone saying anything other than it is a nice place to eat, relax, and enjoy yourself are false. Much money, time and effort have gone into the Studio to make it the place that it is. Persons making any false statements about the Studio can be held liable. Since my son has opened the Studio there have been several people who would like to destroy it. I am taking this time to voice my opinion and if you haven't been there to see it yourself, you have no opinion.

Disputanta

By Hilda P. Gabbard

Hello from Clear Creek! A farmer can't just quit at year's end. Already there is talk of buying supplies for tobacco ground, leasing acreage, and deciding where to put the plant bed. Mary Harding said John had been to Mt. Vernon that day to check on some of the things they would need.

The children of John and Mary Harding, with their families, all came home to help their parents celebrate Christmas Day. They were Wayne, David, Kathleen, Betty, Linda, Esther and Janice. I saw a beautiful, blooming plant which was one of Mary's gifts John. It seems, was not being forward to January 2nd when he would be 74 years of age. A man is only as old as he thinks, John, so you can be like Eli Chasteen who is 39 and holding he says.

Up Anglin Falls Hollow A branch stream of Clear Creek comes wandering out of Anglin Falls Hollow bringing the fresh breath of the hills, rocks and fallen leaves with it. A breath taking scene is before you in traveling up the road where the mountains with rocky cliffs seem to almost come down on you, so narrow is the valley. Pioneers long ago put their roots down here and left a sturdy stock of people to carry on.

We drove to the very foot of the high mountain which seemed a barrier to the roadway. Only traces of an old wagon road, that pioneers used, led over the old timers Ike and Molly Harvey, Fred Jones' family and the Courtney family. It was here we found Cameron Bartlett living in a rustic house which he had helped remodel this summer past when he had moved from Disputanta. He likes living in the wilds, he says. Cam is the Santa Claus looking man down to his short figure, white whiskers, blue eyes and all. He, being a jovial person, played Santa Claus in his costume to some friend's children the past holiday. Believe it or not Cam said, "but the adults seemed to have as much fun as the children when I bounced in carrying a bag on my back." Cecil and Bert Eva Clark live in a nice brick home here in the hollow. He drives to Lexington every day being in construction work there. Bert, Eva told me that the tiny dog lying on the floor, and the parakeet bird climbing up some vines, played together sometimes. I could hardly believe it but I hope the tiny dog, had been fed first before, their little. Their small son, George, came in and talked of school. Seems math was giving him trouble. That, along with the teacher who didn't believe George had done his homework and then lost it, was ruining life for this eight year old kid. He is learning that there will be days like this ahead. Lura Anglin-Clark and daughter Kay (who didn't give me the sweater she had made and which I hinted for) met at their door all smiles as they asked me in Lura with such a warm thumb with pliers, had not done any good with the two plungermy seeds. I had given her last spring, she explained. We had hoped to get another crop on the creek beside peppers, as Tex Russell raised, or strawberries as Bill Bullen on Lower Clear Creek had Anyway, Lura and Kay showed me a lovely quilt they were making. The fact that absent-mindedly, I had started out the door with the plastic bag, which contained the quilt they were making did not seem to bother them, but left me very embarrassed. Kay had been having trouble with her ears so Lura and son Robert, had taken her to St. Joseph Hospital in Lexington to be treated recently. Robert Clark lives in the old homestead of his grandfather, Jim and Dema Anglin, both now deceased. On this day Robert was tearing down some old buildings on the place. One was the old barn in which I stabled the horse I rode to teach Anglin Falls School years ago. It seemed

Hospital Focus

January Employee Of the Month

By Leigh Anne Hiatt

The January 1983 Employee of the Month at the Rockcastle County Hospital is Christine McClure. Mrs. McClure began working in the Medical Records Department after she was hired by the hospital in 1979, but she started out in the Admissions office in 1978 under the CETA (Comprehensive Employee Training Act) program.

She finds her job in Medical Records a challenge. "There's a routine, but I never do the same thing every day," she said. "I'd rather work in this department than in any other department in the hospital."

Mrs. McClure and her husband, Wayne, reside on Rose Hill Road in Mt. Vernon. They have one daughter, Jessica.

Martha Alice Hellard celebrated her first birthday December 8, 1982. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hellard and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Hellard of Route 2, Mt. Vernon and Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Doan of Route 2, Livingston.

Lady Rockets downed by Trojans 56-48

The RCHS Lady Rockets put up a hard fight Monday night, against the 15th ranked Monticello Lady Trojans, but a disastrous third quarter spelled the Rockets' doom in the 48-56 loss.

The Rockets were ahead at the first quarter stop, 15-14 with center Cynthia Holbrook putting in a last second bucket for the lead. In the second quarter, reserve guard Donna Farthing provided most of the Rockets' offense, scoring 9 of the 12 Rockets' points scored that quarter.

At half-time, the score was knotted at 27 all.

But, the third quarter wasn't the Rockets' best as the clock had ticked down to just 50 seconds left in the period before Farthing managed to put two points on the board for the Rockets. Before the quarter ended, senior forward Debbie Bowman scored one point at the free throw line to bring the Rockets' final scoring for the quarter to 3.

However, during the same period, the Lady Trojans put 10 points through the hoop.

In the fourth quarter, the Rockets rallied to pull within 3 at 48-51 on a field goal by senior guard Kelli Thomason from downtown.

But, the Lady Trojans held on for their final 8-point victory.

Farthing was high scorer for the Rockets with 19 points; Holbrook and Bowman scored 8 each; Thomason got 5 and Stephanie Wolfe and Teresa Sturgill, 4 each.

In the B-team game, sophomore Betty Milburn scored with 8 points at the Rockets' 33-28 win.

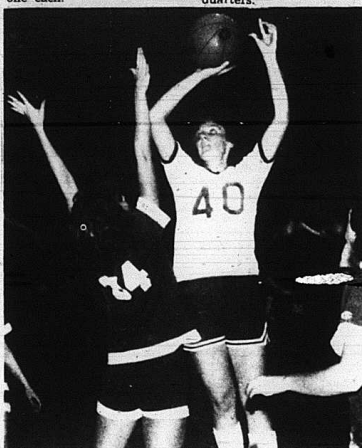

The girls led at all the quarter stops but looked, at one point, as if they might be undone at the charity stripe as 17 of the B-team Trojans' 28 points came there. They were only able to convert one field goal each in the second and third fourth quarters and two in the fourth.

Assistant Coach Judy Bullock cleared her bench in the game with ten players scoring.

Freshman Diane Mason was second high with 7 points; center Kristi Martin got 4; Melissa Partin and Penny Brown scored 3 each; Caroline Machal, Tammy Faulkner and Paige Anderkin each scored 2 points and Joyce Bussell and Vickie Montjoy scored one each.

Boys Win by 3 Over Richmond Model
The Rocket Boys team turned out a 3 point win over Richmond Model Tuesday night after leading all quarters.

Senior-center Cynthia Holbrook, no. 40, goes high over a Monticello Lady Trojan for a basket during Monday night action at RCHS. The Lady Rockets were defeated 56-48 by the 15th ranked team from Wayne County. Holbrook scored 8 points for the Lady Rockets in their losing effort.

In the first quarter, Rockcastle led 21-15; the second, 35-27 and in the third 50-47 for 64-61 win.

Scoring for the Rockets were Mike Harmon, 3; Chad Brock, 16; Shannon Bishop, 4; Anthony Brock, 11; Chris Cornelius, 16 and Roger Isaacs, 14.

a dying of the past when an old building goes.

James and Paula Peters Cobb live in the one-time home of Mason Anglin, Lura's great grandfather. This had been the home of James' father, Burnam Cobb who had a tragic accident years ago, causing him to spend his last years in a wheel chair. James, 28 and Paula, 25, have lived here almost two years coming home from Scaffold Cane. Their nine year marriage has brought them two children. James works at Richmond and Paula works at being a mother she said.

You admire these young people who also work for the Lord as James is a trustee for the Southside Baptist Church and Paula is a teacher in their Sunday School. Her face had a familiar look and then she told me she was the granddaughter of Sarah Chasteen Bullen who had lived on Chasteen Hill long ago and grew up with my older sisters. Neighbors were so close that we seemed family. So pretty Paula Cobb seemed a relative.

It seemed a neighborhood of close kinfolk when I found James' sister, Phyllis Cobb Burdette and husband, Terry, lived in the next home when I stopped and inquired if the wildly barking dogs would chew up a stranger. I had seen Phyllis, who drives a small school bus up this side road during the school year, but never had a chance to actually talk to her. I found her to be a talkative, pretty blonde, who says she doesn't mind telling her age at 35 and Terry's is 40. They live in a rustic log house built in recent years and did part of the construction themselves.

They have one child. Phyllis greatly admires one of her former teachers and said she had been inspired by her philosophy. Eva Mullins can take credit for helping a child form a viewpoint on life which she carries over into adulthood. In talking to Phyllis, I found she was deeply committed to her religion. On the wall was a large 17x22 board which was a background for many, many Indian head arrows which were collected from this region by Phyllis' father, Burnam, as a hobby at one time in his life. It seems the Indians liked the land here too, there were so many arrows.

Leaving the quiet, peaceful hollow, I felt the urge to settle here as these folks did.

Till then: Do not judge your age by the number of years but by the number of friends.

BURLEY PRICE SUPPORT

The burley tobacco price support adjustment in November and the three percent increase in quotas for 1982 have in some cases been presented in a less than informative manner, according to State Executive Director Hart, Kentucky State ASCS Office, Lexington.

The three percent increase for 1982 was warranted based on the formula of supply, use, foreign and domestic stocks, etc. when quotas were announced in January 1982. The 1982 quota with the increase was still 8% less than the 1981 effective quota (low production in 1980 caused considerable carryover quota).

The burley price support of $1.81 announced in January 1982 was an increase of 18 cents per pound. The new No. Net Cost Program Law, requiring farmers pay the expense of the program, went into effect in July and authorized the Secretary to reduce the support level if deemed necessary considering stocks on hand and our ability to compete with foreign markets. (Foreign burley can be imported for about 90 cents per pound.) Secretary Block determined to reduce the price support level to $1.75 (12 cents above 1981 support) to assist our burley to stay more competitive and to help assure less cost to the farmer.

The government pool is taking over 25% of the 1982 crop with record pounds being marketed (780 million). The cost to store this could cause an increase next year from one cent per pound now paid by the farmer. Flue-cured farmers will pay seven cents a pound in 1983-up from three cents in 1982. This is because of the increased stocks in the pool and the law requires the farmer pay the costs.

Secretary Block and ASCS are most interested by protecting the future of the burley program, seeing that burley brings a fair return while being competitive in the world market and assuring that costs to operate the program do not become a burden to the farmer.

Feeding the Beef Herd Through Winter

By Tom Mills
County Extension Agent
For Agriculture

With winter upon us, beef producers begin a balancing act. They have to try to hold down winter feed costs which is one of the biggest expenses in maintaining a herd and at the same time provide their cattle with adequate nutrition at the most critical times of the year.

Cows can usually survive the winter on poor nutrition, but there may be long-term effects on productivity. Some effects are apparent right away, but others may now show up until two or three years later in terms of reduced calf numbers and lower profits. Inadequate nutrition, especially through the winter, can result in poor reproductive performance. Thin cows rebreed more slowly, replacement heifers and first-calf heifers often skim a year before calving, and the time between calves increases. Health problems also increase, since animals may have vitamin deficiencies and may become more susceptible to internal parasites and respiratory illness. Lower minimum nutrition also may mean lower weaning weights. Under-nourished cows produce less milk, and calves may not be weaned early.

So producers cutting back too much on feed-and nutrition will likely cut their income. Cull cows usually will weigh less and will sell for less, and small calves mean fewer dollars. But a little planning can help producers prepare for their herd's nutritional needs and avoid excess feed expense. Sample and test your forages for their nutritional value so you can supplement forages correctly and efficiently. Many times early-cut grass hays and grass-legume mixtures may need only mineral or vitamin supplementation to meet the needs of dry pregnant beef cows.

After you take inventory of how much feed you have and how good it is, plan to allocate it to cattle on the basis of need. All beef cattle do not have the same nutritional requirements. Feeding all cattle the same means you'll overfeed and underfeed, and will waste feed dollars. For example, feeding dry cows and lactating cows together results in overfeeding the dry cows. Most herds can be split into two or three groups. Young calves should have first priority, lactating heifers next, then lactating cows. Mature dry cows can use lower-quality roughage. Consider reducing the size of your herd, since you can't afford to feed poor-producing or non-pregnant cows. If you have kept production records—such as the cow's age and weaning weights of calves—on each cow in your herd you easily can identify and cull problem cows. If you don't have records, call in a veterinarian or identify skilled technician to identify non-pregnant cows and examine your animals for soundness. Cull cows that have lost their teeth, or that have feet and leg problems, bad eyes or unsound udders.

Use storage and feeding methods that make the most of your hay. Improper storage and feeding, especially of large round bales, can result in losses up to a third or more. Store round bales adequately spaced on a well-drained site. Feed hay on top of grass or in hay racks, not in mud. And force cattle to clean up hay before you make more available. Feed lowest-quality hay first so the best hay is available during late winter when the cattle really need it.

Increase the amount of feed during severely cold weather. Cows with a typical winter hair coat are comfortable at 32 degrees if they are dry, but if the temperature drops much below that, they need more feed. As a general rule, increase the amount of feed one percent for every degree under 32 degrees. For example, if the actual temperature is 15 degrees, and the wind speed is 15 mph, the wind-chill index makes the effective temperature zero. That's 32 degrees below cattle's comfort level, so their energy level should be increased by 32 percent or about a third.

Keep a close watch on the water supply during cold weather. Remember to keep water available at all times, which means breaking ice in water tanks and ponds daily. Letting ponds freeze over without opening up places for cattle to drink from, may cause them to walk out on the ice and possibly break through.

1982-A STORMY YEAR FOR BURLEY TOBACCO

By Bennett Roach

The record high-priced tobacco market and the whopping big crop now being marketed in 1982 has revolutionized things for burley growers and their trade.

As the old saying goes, it's a new ball game—almost. Drastic changes have taken place, more so than in any year since price supports and production control went into effect in the 1930's.

As a year-end summary by the Burley Tobacco Growers Cooperative Association shows it, a chronology of 1982 records an almost continuous parade of changes—and the end is not yet in sight.

First, it was a stormy year in Congress. Anti-tobacco legislation flourished in Washington like the bumper burley crop thrived in the fields. Some of the storm was a leftover from late 1981, when the price support program narrowly squeaked through committee hearings. At one time in the House a single vote saved the program—the closest to extinction since the 1930's," said one tobacco leader.

At the start of 1982, with the 1981 markets ending on a surprisingly encouraging note of strong prices and a minimum of pooling, the year had begun rather hopefully. After three short crops the USDA reassigned the high marketing quota of the year—before 800 million pounds. It even raised it by 3 percent, calling for 681 million pounds.

Then came field hearings on the No-Net-Cost Program. These furnished a breathing spell for tobacco forces after their hard-fought series of battles in Congress. Over a period of several weeks hearings were held in every corner of burley country, some under congressional auspices, others grower or industry inspired.

A major hearing was at Lexington, Ky., when growers got a preview of sweeping proposals in line with federal cost-cutting. As it turned out, all the major changes asked—assessment fees and the power to lower loan rates—were adopted as Congress passed the No-Net-Cost Program.

Peace might have been expected after this, but controversy continued throughout the spring and summer. There was battling over major and minor points, such as fall leasing of flue-cured, new limits on sale of burley allotments, hiking the fee for grading, marketing of warehouse floor sweepings and charges for market publications.

Then at mid-year came the lively flight over raising the federal tax on cigarettes to 18 cents a pack, twice the existing rate. The levy was enacted over strong opposition, and it went into effect January 1, 1983. Tobacco interests are predicting it will reduce consumption 3% to 5% and also adversely affect state revenues from cigarette taxes.

It was a year of dwindling U.S. share of world tobacco exports. This stood at 57 percent of the world market in 1964, but declined 27 percent by 1980, and then to 22 percent in 1981. Under lower foreign competition the decline continued in 1982.

If the pocketbooks of burley growers were hit by the new 1 cent per pound contribution to build the no-net-cost tobacco fund, they were struck even harder by the change in the formula which permitted the Secretary of Agriculture to set lower support prices. This was done just before the 1982 market opened—a 6 cents per pound slash average across the board, lowering the $1.75 per pound instead of the $1.81 announced last spring.

Under the new regulations many tobacco leaders are predicting a similar drop to be ordered in next year's support levels, if the Secretary determines the supply-and-use situation and foreign trade conditions justify it.

Also, the growers may almost certainly be required to increase their contributions to next year's no-net-cost fund, due to the record amount of 1982 pooled burley. The amount consigned to the Burley Association under loan reached 106,963,092 pounds before Christmas, and is expected to continue that pace for the 1982 season, bringing vastly increased costs in interest, handling and storage.

Another significant development was the reversal of USDA policy on marketing burley in sheets. Earlier this type was ineligible for price support, but soon after market opening sheeted burley sales were placed under supports, like baled and hand-tied.

One good-news event during the year was the distribution to growers of $8.2 million in gains on 1977, '78 and '79 crops over 150,000 produced by the Burley Tobacco Growers Cooperative Association.

This brought to over $32 million the total distributed to growers by the Association in the 41-year operation of the price support program. But it also is the apparent end of such "bonus" earnings, as the no-net-cost fund is to receive any such gains hereafter.

SPEAKING WITH THE BIBLE SPEAKS

By Austin Mobley
Minister
Providence Church
Of Christ

Frequency of Observing the Lord's Supper

On the occasion of eating the passover with his disciples, Jesus instituted the Lord's Supper (Lk. 22:15; Matt. 26:18, 26). From the elements supplied for this Jewish feast (unleavened bread and fruit of the vine), this memorial was inaugurated.

Jesus told these disciples that He would not "drink henceforth of this fruit of the vine until that day when I drink new with you in my Father's kingdom" (Matt. 26:29). When the kingdom (church) was established as recorded in Acts 2, Luke informs us that those who were saved continued steadfastly in "breaking of bread" (Acts 2:42). The Corinthian church observed the Lord's Supper following instructions of Paul (1 Cor. 11:23-34), and the Lord's disciples came together upon the first day of the week to break bread (Acts 20:7).

New Testament churches observed the Lord's Supper EVERY FIRST DAY of the week. On this point, turn to Acts 20:7. The record says: "Upon the first day of the week, when the disciples came together to break bread, Paul preached unto them..."

This passage says that the brethren came together on Sunday on the first day of the week "to break bread", to observe the Lord's Supper. Some argue that the passage does not say "every first day of the week". God told Israel to "remember that sabbath day, to keep it holy" (Ex. 20:8). This statement does not expressly say EVERY sabbath day, but EVERY sabbath day is the meaning conveyed by the use of the definite article before the word sabbath. The faithful Jew kept the sabbath day fifty-two times yearly in obedience to the commandment of God.

Even so, faithful Christians meet together fifty-two times yearly to break bread. How many times does the first day of the week come? Fifty-two. When Christians meet together EACH first day of the week (Sunday), to break bread, fifty-two times yearly, they are meeting on THE first day of the week, according to the approved apostolic example presented in Acts 20:7. There is absolutely no authority to have the Lord's Supper on any day other than the first day of the week. Every week has a first day-so Christians meet on the first day of every week to observe the Lord's Supper.

Now, we turn to I Corinthians 16:2. Paul says: "Upon the first day of the week let every one of you lay by him in store, as God has prospered him..." This passage refers to the contribution. Based upon this passage churches take up a collection EVERY Sunday, even though this verse does not say EVERY first day of the week. That is, this verse does not explicitly employ the word "EVERY". How is it that the phrase "on the first day of the week" means on the first day of EVERY week with regard to the Lord's Supper, but the same phrase does not mean on the first day of EVERY week with regard to the Lord's Supper?

Consider Acts 20:7 together with I Cor. 16:2. (1) Brethren came together on the first day of the week. (2) They came together to break bread. (3) But, they contributed of their means EVERY first day of the week. (4) Therefore, they came together to break bread EVERY FIRST DAY OF THE WEEK.

IF the early church observed the Lord's Supper every first day of the week, then we MUST observe the Lord's Supper every first day of the week. Observing the Lord's Supper monthly or quarterly is not in harmony with the Scriptures and is thus wrong.

School parking habits are hazardous

If there were an emergency which required rescue workers, an ambulance or a fire truck at Mt. Vernon Elementary School between 2:45 and 3:15, the problem could become more serious and complicated by a situation which continues to exist at the school, according to Buford Parkerson, school principal. The situation to which Parkerson refers is the hazard caused by parents who come to school to pick up their children and block traffic lanes in the parking lot.

The problem is not lack of parking space, says Parkerson. Enough available spaces are there, he says, during the time period for all those who need to park.

"So far," he says, "we've been fortunate that we have had no emergencies," but he feels it is better to be safe than sorry should something happen. The problem is pounded by the fact that the handicapped bus has to get close to the trailer to load handicapped children

Blocked traffic lanes at the MVES parking lot pose an extreme hazard in case of an emergency at the school. Parents are asked to park in designated spaces in the afternoon.

The handicapped bus must use traffic lanes in the parking lot at Mt. Vernon Elementary to get close to classrooms where handicapped children are housed. Blocked lanes sometimes cause the driver problems.

twice each afternoon and sometimes is unable to do so because of blocked passage. Parkerson said he has known of the driver having to park off the lot and some of the children to the bus.

Parents who bring children are also asked not to pull through the bus loading and unloading area. This has been a problem especially in the mornings, the principal says.

Parents are asked not to drive their vehicles through the bus loading and unloading lane at the grade school when bringing children to school and picking them up.

Pressure-Cooked Meals Save Energy in Kitchen

A pressure saucepan is a real miser when it comes to using gas or electricity, and every little bit of energy saved makes a difference these days.

It's a wonderful time-saver. It can conserve food nutrients, too. Try planning a week's menus around this kitchen helper and you'll be surprised at its usefulness.

Don't limit your pressure saucepan to quick-cooking vegetables or a pot roast. You can also prepare dinners and stews with it, as well as cereals, breads and even desserts.

Advantages

Using a small amount of water keeps down the loss of vitamins and minerals that might otherwise dissolve in the cooking liquid and be "lost."

Once the pressure saucepan heats up to cooking temperature, the heat is turned down to the lowest level at which it can maintain the necessary pressure. This means that a high heat setting is needed for only a few minutes, and foods cook in one fourth or less of the usual time.

Need a New Gasket?

If you haven't used your pressure cooker for awhile, be sure the rubber gasket hasn't deteriorated. It should be smooth and sound and snug-fitting so that it will not leak steam and lower the pot's efficiency.

Many hardware stores stock gaskets for various sizes and brands of pressure saucepans. Don't try to "make-do" with an old gasket that has lost its elasticity.

Study Your Recipe Book

Study the recipe book and manual that came with your saucepan. If you've lost it, send to the manufacturer for a replacement. You'll need it for instructions on using your saucepan, for recipes and for exact processing times and pressure settings.

Pot Roasts and Stews

Pressure cooking quickly seasons and tenderizes budget-priced meat cuts that usually need hours of simmering. Potatoes and other vegetables can be added during the last few minutes.

Soups and stews are particularly quick and easy to prepare with a pressure saucepan. You can quickly thaw and partially cook a stewing hen, for instance. Then cook it and bone it; put the meat back in the cooker, add vegetables and seasoning, and cook it a

Commonwealth of Kentucky AUDITOR OF PUBLIC ACCOUNTS

Frankfort, Kentucky 40601

July 20, 1982

Honorable John T. Brown, Jr., Governor

Honorable Robert Jasper, County Judge Executive
Members of the Rockcastle County Fiscal Court

We have examined the Statement of Assets, Liabilities and Fund Balances Arising From Cash Transactions of Rockcastle County as of June 30, 1981, and the related Statement of Cash Receipts, Cash Disbursements and Changes in Fund Balances for the year then ended. Our examination was made in accordance with the "Standards for Audit of Governmental Organizations, Programs, Activities and Functions," issued by the Comptroller General of the United States, and accordingly, included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

As recommended by the State Local Finance Office, pursuant to KRS 88.710 the accompanying financial statements are prepared on a cash basis. Consequently, certain revenues and the related assets are recognized when received rather than when earned, and certain expenses are recognized when paid rather than when a liability is incurred. Accordingly, the accompanying financial statements are not intended to present financial position and results of operations, in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles.

In our opinion, the accompanying financial statements present fairly the assets, liabilities and fund balances arising from the cash transactions of Rockcastle County at June 30, 1981, and its cash receipts and disbursements during the year then ended in conformity with the accounting system used, applied on a cash basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

The supplemental information presented in this report is not necessary for a fair presentation of the financial statements, but is presented as additional supplementary data. This information has been subjected to the tests and other auditing procedures applied in the examination of the financial statements mentioned above, and in our opinion, is fairly stated in all material respects in relation to the financial statements taken as a whole.

We conducted a study and evaluation of internal accounting controls, some of which are incorporated in the statute, regulations, and Uniform System of Accounts. The significant internal accounting controls are as follows: 1) Requests are to be deposited intact; 2) Segregation of duties; 3) Proper authorization of disbursements; 4) Disbursements by warrant or check, countersigned by the County Judge/Executive and the County Treasurer; 5) Bonding requirements; and 6) Fixed asset control; Our study and evaluation of internal accounting control included tests and review of each of these areas. A material weakness identified as a result of the evaluation is as follows:

We recommend the fiscal court review the bonds of the Sheriff and the County Treasurer. Each official is now bonded for only $20,000. We advise the court to require bonds of these officials in an amount commensurate with their financial responsibilities.

We also conducted tests of compliance with state and federal laws and regulations including federal revenue-sharing requirements enumerated in the Audit Guide and Standards for Revenue Sharing Receipts issued by the Office of Revenue Sharing. Unless otherwise noted below, the tested items were in compliance with applicable state and federal laws and regulations. During our examination, nothing came to our attention to cause us to believe that the untested items were not in compliance.

Recommendations and areas of noncompliance are as follows:

By complying with KRS 88.220 which allows for amendments to the budget, the county could have avoided being in conflict with KRS 88.220, the Uniform County Budget Law. The Revenue Sharing Fund budget was overspent by $4,345.

The county expended funds from the Grandstand and Exhibit Hall Fund and Rockcastle Ambulance Fund without the funds being budgeted as required by KRS 88.240.

The county is in violation of KRS 88.005 which requires the county to adopt an administrative code.

Respectfully submitted,

/s/ James B. Graham
Auditor of Public Accounts

The above transmittal letter accompanying the audit report presented to Fiscal Court and is published pursuant to KRS 83.090(2).
Copies of the complete audit report are available upon request by contacting the Auditor of Public Accounts, Room 108, Capitol Annex, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601.

Nurse Ed Calhoun said James came to them from U.K. last August in a stroller he has since outgrown and was desperately in need of the chair. The hospital does not have funds to provide this sort of equipment and when Ted Rose, president of REACT was himself a patient at the hospital he learned of James' need. James' mother, Mary and his sister, Samantha are pictured with him as well as Rose, far right, and Ernest Bryant, vice president, second from right.
