These "Little" Rockets, holding 5'8", 150 lb. running back Jeff Hansel, are making an effort to get your attention because they want you to come out Friday night and support the Rockets when they host the Clay County Tigers in the second home game of the season. The Rockets are undefeated thus far, but so are the Tigers, and it promises to be an exciting game. Providing support for Hansel, as they do for all running backs during game are: from left, Eugene Crayden, 6'5", 260 lb.; Elmer Robbins, 6'3", 260 lbs.; Burley Burkhardt, 6'2", 226 lbs. and Eric Jackson, 6'2", 230 lbs.

The Rockets desperately needed a first down to stay in the game Friday night against the Lincoln County Patriots and it was close, senior running back Scotty Robinson shows just how close, but junior back Gary Fain had put out the extra effort to keep the Rockets alive! On the very next play, Robinson scampered across the goal line from the 5-yard line for the Rockets second touchdown as it turned out. Good Rockets defense kept the Patriots from threatening in the last few minutes of the game and the Rockets celebrated their first win ever over Lincoln County, 16-12.

Rockets get first win ever over Patriots 16-12

By Richard Anderkin

The Rockcastle County Rockets football team pushed their season record to three wins and no losses last Friday night as they defeated the visiting Patriots from Lincoln County, 16-12.

Lincoln, who had a record of 1 and 1, was the toughest competition that the Rockets had faced thus far this year and it was the first time since the two schools have been playing each other that the Rockets have won.

As in the previous two games, the Rockets won the game at the line of scrimmage. Rockcastle's big front line took control of the game in the fourth quarter to give the Rockets the come-from-behind victory.

The Rockets got on the score board first after Senior Jeff Hansel recovered a Lincoln County fumble on the Patriots' 18 yard line.

On the Rockets first play from scrimmage, a Lincoln County player jumped offside and the ball was moved to Lincoln's 13 yard line. On the Rockets next play, Hansel gained two yards and moved to the ball to the 11. Senior Scotty Robinson gained three yards on the next play which was enough for a Rockets first down and put the ball on Lincoln's 8 yard line with a first and goal. Another offside penalty on Lincoln gave Rockcastle the ball with a first down on the four yard line. Three plays later, Robinson went from the one to give the Rockets a 6-0 lead. Senior quarterback Chris Cornelius went around right end and scored the extra two points and the Rockets led 8-0 with only three minutes and 51 seconds gone in the first half.

Taking the early lead, Rockcastle looked like they might run away with the contest as they had in the past two games but the Patriots struck right back. Lincoln took Rockcastle's kickoff and marched the ball straight back up the Rockets' throat. After returning Rockcastle's kickoff to midfield, Lincoln wasted little time in putting a score on the board.

Seven plays and 50 yards later, Lincoln scored on a 29 yard run from scrimmage. Their extra point attempt failed and with 4 minutes left in the first quarter, the Rockets led 8-6. Neither team could get much else going on offense until late in the first half when Lincoln County put together a 65 yard scoring drive which resulted in a touchdown with only a minute and a half left on the clock in the first half. Their extra point attempt failed once again and Lincoln led 12-8 at the end of the first half.

However, in the second half, the Rockets looked like a completely different team as they dominated the line of scrimmage and took control of the game.

The ball switched hands several times during the half until about half way through the fourth quarter when Senior Greg Long picked off a Lincoln County pass and ran the ball back to Lincoln's own 38 yard line. A clipping penalty on the play after the interception caused the ball to be brought back to the Rockets' 43 but this is when Junior running back Gary Fain went to work. Fain, who had his best game yet in the backfield, picked up key yardage on several plays that helped to Rockets to push the ball down the field toward Lincoln's goal line. Nine plays and two crucial runs found their way on fourth down situations by Fain and the Rockets' scored again. This time fullback Scotty Robinson scored on a six yard run from scrimmage to give the Rockets a 12-8 lead.

Cornelius added the two extra points on the same play that Rockcastle used to score the other extra point and Rockcastle had a 16-12 lead with only 4 minutes left in the game.

After, Lincoln took Rockcastle's kick they did nothing on offense and turned the ball back to the Rockets after only four plays. Rockcastle killed the clock and preserved their third straight victory in as many tries.

After the game a very happy head coach, David Hansel said "It was a total game effort tonight. Our boys really dug in and played good football when they had to. My two assistants, Makin and Hiddle, did excellent jobs with the defense and offense which helped us to pull out the victory. Hansel went on to say that the large crowd present at the game, was uplifting to his team which had worked very hard the week before in practice, which enabled us to beat Lincoln for the first time."

The offensive players of the game were Gary Fain, who made several crucial runs during the game and lineman Burley Burkhardt, who threw several key blocks in the Rockets last scoring drive. Hansel said that defensive honors had to go to the whole defensive unit with the exception of Burkhardt and Jeff Hansel who each had seven tackles and six assists.

Rockcastle will host Clay County this Friday night and, according to Hansel, it should be a dog fight all the way. Clay County is undefeated this year and is coming

Major Oscar "Bucky" McNew and family return for visit in style

By Leigh Anne Hlast

It's not every day that a man who flies his family home from California for a visit pilots the plane himself. The fact that McNew is now stationed. They stopped in New Mexico on the way and eventually landed at the Cessna in Berea. During the week, McNew was in the county visiting family, he gave airplane rides to several relatives and friends anxious for a bird's eye view of familiar territory.

The fact that McNew was the one totting awed passengers in the air around Berea, Conway and Wildie is a bit ironic if you know his background. "I remember when I couldn't have been more than nine or ten years old," said McNew. They had a carnival up here at Berea and somebody was selling helicopter rides for $3. I went to the bank and robbed my account and gave them $3 to take me for a ride over Berea."

Actually the rest of Bucky McNew's story reads like a biography of a local boy who leaves home and makes good.

It all started at Conway where McNew grew up. He is the son of Cynthia and the late Claude G. McNew, who was a dispatcher for the L&N Railroad. McNew was born a twin on August 23, 1948, and given the name Oscar Hayes at birth ("Bucky" was a nickname that stuck).

Paul is his twin brother and they have an older brother, Gilly. His education began in a two-room schoolhouse near where he was raised. From there he went to Roundstone School and then on to Mt. Vernon High School. It was during high school that he developed a flair for mathematics.

He pursued that interest during his four years at Berea College where he majored in math and minored in German. He didn't enlist in the air force until after he graduated from Berea.

"I had more or less

Other business, Rockcastle County Coroner Bill Dowell came before the court to ask for two new two-way radios for the coroner's office. After voting a total of three times on three separate motions, the magistrates finally agreed to give Dowell one of the county's old radios out of a county road truck and to buy another one from Paul Hart's personal radio and leave it in his county truck. The cost of the radio was $350.00.

Mt. Vernon City Councilman Pete Hurd asked the court to approve the purchase of $1,500 worth of material so that the city could go ahead with the new sidewalk to the senior citizens center at the library, which the court agreed to do. Hurd also said that the county chip and seal a 200 foot section of the Lake road around Lake Linville. Magistrate Donald Rowe said that since the road is in his district, that he would have the work done.

The court voted to pay their bills and adjourned.

planned to join the air force while I was in college," McNew said. "I've always wanted to fly." He finished his three months of officer's training a year after he left Berea, where two weeks before the war was to go to pilot's training he married the sister of one of his good friends from college.

His wife, Juanita, had finished her freshman year at Berea College and she was with him in Big Springs, Texas, where he was stationed for a year of intensive pilot's training.

Bucky and Juanita McNew sat casually on a couch in his mother's white, two-story farmhouse, where they remembered their early years together. At Big Springs there was class starting every six weeks or so, with about 40 potential pilots in each class. "We would go in early in the morning, about 5 or 6 o'clock," McNew recalled. "We'd fly once or twice each day and the rest of the day was for classroom work. They must've had 100 planes on base." The rigorous training went on all but the strongest pilots. "I would say that probably half the class that started at that time, finished."

With his pilot's training over they moved to the Strategic Air Command's single training base for their air crew. At Castle Air Force Base, the KC 135 and that's the plane he's flown ever since. The KC 135 is a tanker or refueling plane. McNew said that about any other jet airplane in the air force inventory: fighters, bombers, transporters.

Game time is set for 8 p.m. at the high school.

...an time. All in all, our committee thinks it will be a big improvement for Main Street, and we believe you will be proud of the improvements to your town.

New Contract Signed With Procter-Davis

Procter-Davis-Ray of Lexington. A four part contract has been agreed upon with the firm. The contract, the P.D.R. Engineering Firm is to conduct a study on Criteria and Guideline program whereby they will provide a coordinated architectural character design for both signage and building design for the one block area.

The second part of the contract calls for P.D.R. to conduct a "Retail Merchandising and Assistance Program" whereby they will provide technical expertise to downtown business owners to upgrade their marketing approach and improve the interiors of their business and their displays.

The third part includes "Individual Design and Rehabilitation of Buildings" whereby the property owners will be advised of the historical aspects and characteristics of their buildings, what possibility for the structure and the advantages and disadvantages of the rehabilitation program.

The fourth part of the program will be a L.D.C. conducted tour of Winchester and Danville to see what these towns have done on their REVitalization programs. The L.D.C. plans to invite local business and professional people, civic leaders, city councilmen and other interested parties to take the tour. It has been tentative scheduled for September 30th. The L.D.C. also has a bus for the tour and provide a lunch for all who plan to take the one day trip.

Greening Up of Downtown

The "greening" lights, trees, brickwork and other improvements are going to cost far more than what grants we have received to make the improvements. Since it has been suggested that to raise money for these and other improvements in the Mt. Vernon area, the L.D.C. "sell" the trees on Main and other streets to individuals who wish to honor a loved one, or just to say they own a tree on Mt. Vernon's Main Street.

A plaque would be placed at the base of the tree explaining who "bought" the tree or in honor of someone or that the improvement was paid for by a civic minded person or civic club, etc. The price would be suggested $50 for each tree plus cost of plaque. I would appreciate your thoughts and comments on this idea.

Business Directory: One of the suggestions of the first year's program was that a business directory of Mt. Vernon business places, the merchandise they sell, of the professional people, and services and where to buy certain merchandise be printed. This is being worked up. The cost of placing the name of your business in the directory would be $2.00 plus $1.00 for each item of merchandise listed. For example, if the Western Auto Store wished to list the name of the store at $2.00 and under merchandise they wish to list tires, the cost would be $3.00 total.

Merchants Benefit

The property owners and merchants are getting some excellent free advice and suggestions to make their business better in our second year's program. It is hoped they realize the advantages of the program. Let's not let Berea, Richmond, Somerset and other towns take our business, that's money out of our pocket-let's keep it in Mt. Vernon.

Next Meeting

The next meeting of the L.D.C. is scheduled for September 13, 1983 at City Hall at 1:30 p.m. The Board of Directors and members need you and your ideas. Join us.

Mt. Vernon receives revitalization funds

The Kentucky Heritage Council has awarded $3,100 to the Mount Vernon City Local Development Corporation to aid in the rehabilitation of downtown Mt. Vernon. The project is one of fifteen (15) selected to receive a portion of the $75,000 in state funds allocated for grants. All grants require 50% matching funds from local sources. The grant to Mount Vernon will establish a revolving loan fund to help and encourage the merchants to rehabilitate their commercial buildings. The Mt. Vernon Business District is currently awaiting approval for listing in the National Register of Historic Places. "Mountains are the places of nature." Lord Byron

The tanker has a boom underneath the tail of the plane which is his and the controller. During a refueling operation, the boom operator brings it out and extends it. The boom operator close formation below and behind the boom operator who positions the boom (a inch tube) in the receiver. The boom is locked into position, the pilot turns on pumps, and fuel flows into the receiver.

And all this is done at 400 miles per hour. 450 miles per hour if the receiver happens to be a fighter plane. Simple, right?

McNew stressed that the KC 135 he flies is compatible with just about any airplane that has a refuel. The KC 135 is really a Boeing 707 and can fly up to 9,000 feet, nine-tenths of the speed of sound.

"It can go fast enough to refuel any jet that could be built, really, because we wouldn't be refueling at supersonic speeds and all airplanes are capable of subsonic speeds," said McNew calmly.

But the intricacies of a training mission take second place to the Strategic Air Command's main duty. "I've been in the KC 135 for 20 years," McNew went on, "our primary mission is to sit a alert. SAC's maintains a certain percentage of its bomber and tanker force on a 24-hour alert, ready to take off in just a few minutes. I've averaged probably one week per month on alert."

Has there ever been an alert? "Not yet in other words, we've never taken off on an alert. I know we never do." But if there was a threat, would the SAC crews be among the first to hear about it? "I was stationed at that point. Presently, that was all he would comment on." The six years the McNew spent at Seymour Johnson were eventful.

Their first daughter, Cindy, was born and their second daughter, Joy, was born while they were on temporary duty in San Antonio, Texas. And after serving as co-pilot for two years, McNew was upgraded to first pilot, or air craft commander.

He was put in charge of his crew members, which included a co-pilot, a navigator and a boom operator. In fact, he had the first female boom operator at Seymour Johnson on his crew. That was in 1978 when women were just beginning to fill crew positions on air force planes.

In 1979 Bucky McNew asked for an assignment to Fairchild Air Force Base in Spokane, Washington, and was granted a transfer. His main duty at Fairchild for two years was to serve as an evaluator on check-out of new crew members. He did even more flying then, because he flew with his own crew besides evaluating many others.

Both McNew and his wife enjoyed living in Washington, and when he was given the decision to move him back to Merced, California, this spring to take an instructor's position. McNew said of the air force, "You can tell them what you want and you might get it and you don't look for it. He likes his new role and as an instructor for potential SAC's pilots, he's sitting at much or more than ever before."

In the 12 years McNew has been in the air force, his mission has taken him to places that most people only dream about: England, Spain, Turkey, Argentina, Mexico, Honolulu and the Philippines. "They have to have tankers to carry fighters across the water," said McNew. "I suppose they don't have enough fuel to make it. We always escort them over the water, every time. We'll fill them up with gas." What are the advantages of aerial refueling? "It's a tactical and tactical importance both," he said quickly.

"Long range bombers need the gas to make it all the way around the world. And fighters can go across both oceans without having to go north and stop to refuel. And in combat, time is a big factor."

McNew has learned to cope with the pressure. "The responsibilities don't bother me, but I feel them. I don't do anything to make him nervous." "Checkrides," he said simply and laughed. "I don't like to be evaluated myself. I got a single-engine rating on my license so I could fly small planes. I was evaluated for that and I told Juanita that was the first time I'd ever paid anybody to give me a check-out."

McNew's not sure when he'll leave the air force, whether he'll retire after 20 years or put on civilian clothes sooner and move closer to home. But one thing is certain; he drafts the day when he is not flying professionally. "A lot of people get out of flying jobs and don't do anything else later in their career," he said, "but I'd really rather keep flying."

Juanita has been up twice with him during a normal mission to see what he does on the job, and he took her and their daughters up once this summer. Cindy is now 8 and Joy is 6. Cindy was nonchalant about the flight. "It was kind of fun. We slept most of the time because we got tired and it made us dizzy."

Perhaps a major command loses some of its glamor on a daughter, but for McNew's mother, Cynthia, the thrill of her son's profession is still there. "I tried my best not to have a daughter in the air force because I hated to see him so far from home and I felt it was hard on my mother. But I'm very proud of him and I pray for his safety almost constantly." She's visited him everywhere he has been stationed. McNew returns by delving in a home computer, playing the piano and guitar and riding his motorcycle. In fact, he and David Parsons of Wildie, have taken three cross-country tours on motorcycles.

David Parsons said, "I got acquainted with Bucky when we were in grade school. We've been friends ever since and it's unnecessary the way we think alike." Parsons said that McNew's air force job puts him in the position to experience new things that satisfy his adventurous spirit. Although distant, Parsons has reported the two men for several years, Parsons said of McNew's family, "They are dear to me."

Joe Lambert, a local attorney got to visit with Bucky McNew while he was in the county. They both went to high school together and graduated at the same year. Lambert found McNew virtually unchanged.

"He was as much a mirror image of my recollection as anyone I've ever seen after a long absence, noted Lambert. "He's still quiet and reserved. I remember that he was extremely intelligent and I would've expected him to be a professor."

Lambert went on to say that McNew's military career has changed. "That's not to be critical, that's to be complimentary. He's a basic, honest and modest person. He's the type who would inspire confidence in the military." For the same reason, Lambert said a person like him is encouraging to the average citizen.

The challenges and the excitement of his job are not lost on Bucky McNew. He considers himself lucky to have a job that he loves so much. "I've said that many times and that's what I tell all my students. I try to lead them to the appreciation of it." He became exuberant. "I believe they pay us to do this."

Public hearing focused on water situation in county

By Richard Anderkin

Some people are mad about it and some people just want an explanation as to why they haven't got it. The question is water and the answer is a popular topic among many residents of Rockcastle County these days.

The Mt. Vernon City Council, under the direction of Councilman Tom Welch, held a public hearing at the fire station in Mt. Vernon on Tuesday, August 30th, for persons living in Rockcastle that still do not have water service to their homes.

Over 250 people attended the meeting as well as most of the county's magistrates and members of the Mt. Vernon City Council.

The largest majority of those attending the meeting were families that had paid a hookup fee to water district but who have never received service. Two such people that attended the hearing were Bill McKinney and his father, Arthur. Bill McKinney said that his dad paid a $75.00 hookup fee to Western Rockcastle Water District in 1973 and that he himself had paid the same fee in 1975. Both men are still waiting for service.

At all the meetings of the Water District they told us that there had to be 12 people per mile that wanted water. At one time, we had 12 people on our road (the Ottawa School Road) that wanted water, but we never got any," Bill McKinney said.

Our water plant has been pumping water 24 hours a day since June 1st and I don't see how we can accommodate the 200 customers that Western wants to add to their service area." Mt. Vernon Water Superintendent Matt Powell said during the Public Hearing Tuesday night. "If the demand for water is greater than the amount we have, we will probably run out. We simply can't supply water to these other counties and take care of the people in our county."

Besides supplying their own customers, Mt. Vernon sells water to Western Rockcastle Water District, Northern Rockcastle Water District and the City of Brodhead.

However, Tuesday night, the engineer for Western told the crowd that Farmers Home Administration, which supplies most of the funds for the laying of new water lines, required only eight hookups per mile and not twelve which had been previously stated.

50 people who voiced their opinion during the hearing. The majority of the discussion focused on the fact that Western Water District had received a grant for more water lines and the most of the new lines are going into Lincoln and Pulaski counties.

"That is exactly why we held the Public Hearing," said Councilman Welch. "We wanted to know how people that had already paid for water felt about Western supplying water to other counties before taking care of people who live in Rockcastle County," Welch said.

The councilman said that Western had solicited customers in the Red Hill, Sand Springs, Brindle Ridge and Gauley Branch areas of Rockcastle about four or five years ago and everyone that signed up paid from $75.00 to $80.00.

"Since we (the city) are the suppliers of the water for Western we think that people in Rock-

School board won't hire instructional supervisor for county school system

Superintendent Charles B. Parsons decided not to recommend the employment of an instructional supervisor for the school system -- a move which Parsons felt would help upgrade the education system in the county.

Parsons told the board, at their regular meeting Tuesday night, that he had contacted the state Department of Education about the extra supervision unit and had been told that, based on the school enrollment, the system qualifies for only one unit. This means Parsons said that the salary for the additional instructional supervisor would have to come from general funds -- a minimum of about $25,000.

The superintendent said Charles Schultz, deputy state superintendent, had offered help from the state Department of Education to raise the students' scores and someone from that department will be in Rockcastle County the latter part of this month to begin the process.

Mr. Parsons listed some of the things that are being done in order to provide more instructional time for students and these include primarily cutting back on classroom interruptions, particularly where the interruption would interfere with the teaching of basic subjects such as English and math. Mr. Parsons also said it had been recommended to principals that there be no daytime ballgames and that assembly programs be cut drastically. Parsons said that principals had also been asked to find time to increase instructional supervision.

The second item on the agenda which warranted the most discussion by the board was a request by the Kentucky Civil Liberties Union (KCLU) asking the board if they were in compliance with a recent ruling concerning the removal of the Ten Commandments from the classrooms.

Parsons told the board that he had not responded to the letter which asked the board to comply with their request or be included in a class-action suit which they were preparing against systems not in compliance. The superintendent had asked the board's attorney, Carl Clontz, to the meeting to give the board his opinion of the request.

Clontz told the board that the KCLU would eventually force the issue and the board would get tagged with court costs and possibly an attorney's fee. Clontz admitted that he knew the board's decision would not be a popular one in Rockcastle County, "but I guess we should have to obey the law like everyone else."

Clontz went on to say that he personally felt it was "a bad policy to violate the law," and he further said, "I don't believe it fosters respect for the law in children for a public body to violate the law."

Moreover, Clontz added, the board is obligated to follow an Attorney General's directive until a court says otherwise.

The Ten Commandments were posted in the classrooms by the Rockcastle County Baptist Association which collected funds to help defray the approximate $3,900 cost of the project.

Obviously unwilling to deal with the issue, the board decided to forego a decision at least until next month's meeting with Supt. Parsons promising to keep the board abreast of any further developments.

Also during the meeting, Mr. Parsons informed the board that a part-time physical education teacher was needed at Brodhead Elementary School in order to have the necessary personnel to comply with the state's requirement of 100 minutes per week for grades K-6 and 75 minutes per week for grades 7 and 8.

Parsons told the board that there were two options available to remedy the situation (1) counting-recess time as physical education time provided it is supervised and games are played and (2) hiring a part-time teacher.

to follow an Attorney General's directive until a court says otherwise.

Garbage and road maintenance are "hot" topics at Court meeting

When the Rockcastle County Fiscal Court adjourned Tuesday morning, after their regular monthly meeting, the magistrate was visibly upset.

First District Magistrate Donald Rowe asked Judge Jasper in an open meeting why the roads in his district would not be chipped and sealed next. He said that the magistrate and the judge had drawn up a schedule to go by and that he was next in line for the work.

"My district is supposed to be after Tom's (Denny) and he is finished but I haven't seen any equipment in my district yet because it's in your district, Joe (Clark) and I don't like it," Rowe said. "If this happened to you, you wouldn't like it either," he said. Clark, he said, made him look bad when people asked him when the county was going to chip and seal roads in their district and he told they would be next in line and then for some reason the schedule gets changed.

The magistrate asked Judge Bob Jasper several times as to why the change had been made but the Judge did not have an answer for Rowe. "Well, if you don't know, then who does?" Rowe asked the judge.

The question of garbage was brought before the court by garbage collector Clarence "Jibb" Hasty, who told the court he wanted to prosecute people who had been dumping garbage illegally. He said that he had warrants for several people whose garbage had been found dumped at the site after he had been there for hours, but that he couldn't get the county attorney to prosecute them. "That's not true, Jibb," he said. "I did not," said County attorney James H. Lamborn, who was present at the meeting. Hasty told the court that he did not think that just going through garbage and finding the names of people in the bags would be enough to follow an Attorney General's directive until a court says otherwise.

The Ten Commandments were posted in the classrooms by the Rockcastle County Baptist Association which collected funds to help defray the approximate $3,900 cost of the project.

Obviously unwilling to deal with the issue, the board decided to forego a decision at least until next month's meeting with Supt. Parsons promising to keep the board abreast of any further developments.

Rockcastle man arrested after shooting incident

A Rockcastle County man is listed in critical condition at the U.K. Medical Center in Lexington after he was shot once in the chest at a house in Mt. Vernon on Friday night, according to Rockcastle County Sheriff William Taylor.

Taylor said that Glenn Pittman, 54, of Mt. Vernon was shot with a .38 caliber pistol at close range at the home of Bonnie Carter on the Sand Springs Road.

Otis Kirby, 22, of Route 5, Mt. Vernon, was arrested Saturday morning around 7:30 a.m. after he turned himself over to authorities at the county jail.

Kirby, who was already red out of jail on bond for allegedly stabbing Mark Baker, was lodged in the Rockcastle County Jail under a $25,000 cash bond. His preliminary hearing has been set for September 12th.

Sheriff Taylor said the shooting apparently resulted from an argument over a can of beer. Several other people were at the house when the shooting occurred around 2:30 in the morning.

Commissioner Harold Rogers took advantage of a Senate recess to visit his constituents in Rockcastle County last Thursday. The turnout for Rogers' coffee hour was impressive. Rogers has been publicly announced just prior to his up-date on the tobacco program, inflation and other issues that will affect personally. Rogers also told the crowd what details he knew at that time, of the Senate's budget which has been publicly announced just prior to his arrival in the county.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

Is there any particular reason why the Boy Scouts in this community do not deserve the same consideration by your paper as do other groups with their publication?

Well in advance, pictures and news items were brought to you about Scout functions but you have yet to print them. It may make our group a nice Christmas present but I think your readers would rather see and read the news at the time that they occur.

For the second year, your paper has failed to print one of the Scouts most important activities that Being Scout Night. This is the time that boys are signed up to begin their year of Scouting. Interested boys cannot sign up if your paper fails to publish the necessary information. Scout School Night will already be over by the time this letter is published-if it gets published.

We would like all interested boys to know that if they have missed this sign up class that they may still join Boy Scouts, Cub Scouts, or Tiger Scouts at anytime they desire by contacting the following persons.

Ralph Mosley, Boy Scout Master, 256-4074; Don Stewart-Shackelford, Unit Commissioner, 256-5064; or 5054; John Rush, Cub Master, West Main St. Mt. Vernon.

Thank you for publishing this letter.

John W. Rush

ED's Note: Although Mr. Rush's letter may be true about some news items not getting in immediately, they are certainly not delayed on purpose. We appreciate the Scouter bringing their news in and only last week pictures of the activities in which Pack 248 boys have involved in appeared in the Signal. If Mr. Rush were familiar with the operation of a weekly newspaper, he would realize that it is a difficult job each week to get all the news in the limited amount of space available. We're sorry Mr. Rush, we'll try to do better in the future.

Hello from Clear Creek. Summer holds on with hot days but September creeps in with cool nights. I'll along the banks of Clear Creek, looking in to slow moving water under the willow trees where minnows play. The large leaves of poplar trees fall into the water and began a journey downstream. The roadside is lined with colorful yellow flowers and autumn is here.

I walked around the large place make that fronts Eva Mullins' home. The stone structure stands on a high hill and looks over the valley much as the fortresses and long ago were built to guard the owner and people nearby.

"Miss Eva" makes each day count by keeping busy doing many interesting things. I saw a flower garden quilt of different designs which was on a quilting frame. Eva was doing the quilting with the old time briar stitch and it was lovely to see. She showed me flower plants that had been ordered earlier from South Carolina of the hibiscus with its large pink blossoms. A camellia bush was filled with buds which would bloom in winter. Then I looked at some dead leaves which had been eaten by Jap beetles until they had made a design of lace of the leaves. Eva had gathered these large leaves, sprayed them with a gold or silver kind of paint, and planned to use for Christmas tree ornaments. You can't imagine how delicately beautiful they were.

Next she showed me a "guest book" that she has kept through the years of visitors who came to fish in the lake or to see the interesting stone house built by Eva and husband Bert. Many of the addresses were from a great distance.

Eva walked with me to her mailbox as I left, crossing the meadow by the lake or by going down into the rushing stream fed waters of Clear Creek's beginning. It was a peaceful scene on the log bridge as butterflies flew among the drooping willow. When we got to the mailbox, a wasp promptly stung me and I went my way.

Next she showed me and Howard Harding, who is a descendant of old timer Civil War veteran John W. Harding, how my new house. They are gradually building a new home, Jean told me, and it will be very nice as they have planned it. Jean was proud of the kitchen which had many interesting features in the construction. The cabinets, built of stained wood, were in an unusual design made by Howard. Also he had used cherry, walnut, poplar and cedar wood to make a chopping block for Jean and it was an interesting part of the kitchen. I admired the sturdy shelves made of seasoned, silver color barn wood. Jean said they planned to put this kind around the wall of the living room.

Water was brought from an opposite hill across the road and, up into the new house. "I waited a long time for that water so really appreciate it," Jean said.

They returned to Clear Creek in 1984 after living elsewhere and settled near kinkfolk to raise seven children.

One piece of furniture Jean showed me was an antique tin "pie safe" as it used to be called. This brought back memories of long ago days to me as I'm sure it will be to some of you.

For a hobby, Jean dresses old dolls for people and also to sell. She uses a plastic made from seeds, using different sizes to make her design on a wood background. I saw a large rooster and owl she had made and you can't imagine how very attractive they were.

West Carrollton, Ohio - is visiting with the family. Don and Linda Gadd find it quiet and peaceful at home with five children back in school, ranging from the fifth to the eleventh grade.

"I start cutting tobacco this week and we're waiting for our crop of peppers to turn red as that is the way the buyers want them right now," Don said.

"And, yes, we have a turnip patch this year again," Linda laughed. I didn't ask where on the farm it was planted and she didn't tell me but I can wait.

The previous Saturday, the Gadd's entertained with a barbecue picnic for Linda's 78-year-old grandmother, Ida Lamb, who was visiting them for the first time in the 10 years they had lived here.

Moving on, I found Betty Chasteen King at home. Now Betty and husband, Howard King were former pupils of mine attending the Disputanta School in the upper grades. They were sweethearts even in those days, slipping notes when I was busy, across the school-room. So I was not surprised some years later to hear that they had gotten married. She and Howard are both 45 years of age but I could hardly believe it for she looks to be the same pretty, shy, girl with the red hair.

in school. They have raised six children and have grandchildren playing about. Their nice home is made of bedford stone and Howard is known as a "top-notch" dry wall man in the construction business working at Lexington. Across the road from the Kings, lives Ann and Bill Ramsey, newcomers to Clear Creek, who have built on the old Jim Hammond property. Recently Ann and Bill went on a vacation trip to visit homefolk and attended a two family reunion at Fairstone State Park in Virginia. When they returned, there was a yellow ribbon tied around a large hickory tree in their yard with the words, "We missed you. From the Kings." Ann enjoyed the ribbon from her neighbors. More next week on neighbors up the creek. Till then, Experience is yesterday's answer to today's problems.

Northside Baptist to celebrate 10th year with special services

Sunday, September 11, Northside Baptist Church will be celebrating its 10th year as a church.

In honor of the occasion, special services and events are scheduled for this Sunday. Friends and supporters of the church are invited to join with church members in any or all phases of this special celebration.

Former pastor, Bro. Harvey Pensol of Mt. Vernon, will bring the message at the regular morning worship service which begins at 11 a. m.

The morning service will be followed by a dinner at the church and Bro. Henry Parrott of Campbellsville, former association missionary for Rockcastle, will deliver a message at a special afternoon service at 11 a. m.

Northside Baptist Church was first organized as a mission of First Baptist Church of Mt. Vernon during the pastorate of Bro. Lee Hopkins. The mission was located at Horseshoe Bend where dedication services, conducted by Bro. Wendell Belew were held on June 14, 1898.

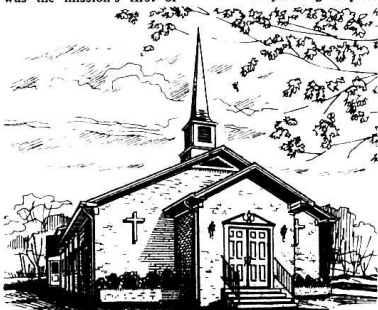

The mission was organized with the help of five workers, Mr. and Mrs. Lance Dillingham, Mr. and Mrs. Asher Cummins and Mr. George Parrott, with assistance from Mrs. Nancy Cummins and Wesley Smith.

The Sunday School was with the help of associational missionary, Bro. W. L. Reynolds and students from Georgetown Baptist College.

Mrs. Elizabeth Zeiger, with the help of mission leaders, held two Bible schools in Northside's early days.

The rapid growth of the mission necessitated more room, so the mission moved from the two room meeting house to the church building which was once the old Pentecostal Church building, north of town on U. S. 25.

At the time of the relocation, the attendance was approximately 50 persons. Bro. Eugene Bradley was the mission's first of-

Rockcastle Co. Homemakers Annual Meeting

On September 1, 1983, at the Family Life Center in Renfro Valley, dinner was served to 61 County Homemakers while Betty Machal and Elizabeth Mullins rendered dinner music of patriotic songs on the Elizabeth Machal piano. The majority of the diners were dressed in "western style" clothing.

The program that followed was Welcome by Rosalind Philbeck, the county's president; devotional by Rachel Lakes and Carolyn Chastain of Sunshine Homemakers; Recreation by Bettie Baker and Bea Hensley; program, "Way Out West" by Gladys Bussell, Elizabeth Mullins, Rose Thompson and Noretta Thompson. They showed slides and made comments of the National Extension Homemakers Club Tour they took about a month ago.

Presentations of individual awards by Rosalind Philbeck for perfect attendance to their homemakers meeting last year were given to Betty Baker, Mrs. Bishop, Afta Bullock, Carolyn Chastain, official pastor. The second place was Bro. James Mitchell.

During the next pastorate, that of Bro. Wilford Brown, who was then pastor at Clear Creek Baptist School at Pineville, the membership grew to 72 and Sunday School attendance averaged 75 to 80. In order to meet the needs of the growing mission, land was purchased on High Street, (on the same side as town,) for the construction of a new church building.

Amos Owens of Burr Creek was the original Northside building for a cost of $9,000. Pews were purchased for the building by the state Women's Missionary Union.

The new building was dedicated in May, 1985 with Bro. J. William Hall bringing the dedication message.

Following Bro. Brown's 4 year stay at Northside, Bro. Jack Moore was called as pastor in 1966. Moore was followed by Bro. Harvey Pensol, who served as pastor from August 1988 to July 1977.

During Bro. Pensol's pastorate, much organizational and record keeping methods were adopted, the bus ministry was enlarged and a new piano was purchased.

A three room trailer was added to the back lot for additional Sunday School rooms as the mission grew.

In 1972 an educational wing was added to the church. Floyd Stokes constructed the wing for a total of $8,000.

Church youth groups including the Royal Ambassadors, Girl's Auxiliary, Acteens and Mission Friends were initiated.

Mrs. Emily Pensol worked with her husband in the development of the educational program at Northside and served as music director and pianist during the Pensol's 9 years at Northside.

In 1973, a request was granted Northside from the mother church to allow for the organization of Northside Baptist Mission into a cooperating Baptist Church. The first four deacons of the church were Phillip Owens, Bobby Kendrick, Jones Hiatt and Floyd Singleton.

Again the church expanded with the addition of a second story to the educational wing providing 5 more Sunday School classrooms. Preston Collins was contractor.

The playground area behind the church was blacktopped, next, with help from the state WMU. The last project to be completed by the church was a twenty-four sanctuary extension and extensive remodeling project completed in 1977. The added room provided increased seating capacity from 140 to 250. The cost was $20,307 with Arlos Proctor and Son, contractors.

Following Bro. Pensol's resignation, Bro. Lester Caldwell was called to the church to fill the vacancy in December of 1977. Bro. John Justice, who now serves as pastor, came to Northside in 1982

On the average, five children are born daily with cystic fibrosis; three die from it. In addition, an estimated 10 million Americans—one out of every 20—are unknowing and asymptomatic carriers of the gene that causes CF. A child parented by two carriers of this disease has a 25% chance of being born with cystic fibrosis, and a 50% chance of being a carrier.

For more information about the fund-raising event in this area, please contact Mrs. Cromer.

Capture those maturing CD dollars in one of our New Certificates or a Money Market Investment Account!

Many new and innovative financial programs have been instituted at our bank since many of our customers have purchased one of our certificates of deposit. Two new programs are the Money Market Investment Account and longer term Certificates.

ADVANTAGES OF MONEY MARKET INVESTMENT ACCOUNT

One of the investment routes worth considering if you are holding a maturing CD, is a Money Market Investment Account, now earning an attractive interest rate competitive to mutual money funds. You enjoy easy access of funds without penalty and a continuing high interest return, when the minimum balance is maintained. Of course, you can count on FDIC insured protection to $100,000 for all your funds on deposit, including the Money Market Investment Account, unlike uninsured mutual money funds.

NEW SAVINGS CERTIFICATES

You can depend on us, also, for a more stable and guaranteed interest income, when you purchase one of the new certificates of deposit at a fixed interest earning rate. Interest return, length of maturity and required minimum deposit varies with each certificate. Locked in interest to maturity with FDIC protection, a safe sure investment with us.

When you have CD's maturing and you desire to reinvest these funds, we urge you to take the time to visit with one of our financial experts to ascertain the best approach financially for you. Stop by for complete details and current interest earning rates for our various savings programs. We welcome your inquiries. We never charge for consultation.

It's never too early to preplan.

Grandma looked so cute in her picture. She would often tell me how long it took her to get ready for that particular pose. The dress, the background, her hair... everything had to be just right.

"Because Grandma was such a stickler when it came to planning, I was surprised to find that when she died, she hadn't taken the time to plan her funeral. It sure would have saved Mom and the rest of our family a lot of uncertainty and anguish concerning the type of service she would have wanted.

"I realize now there's a free service available to anyone who wants to write down their funeral wishes for their family to follow. It's called preplanning and is available through your local Golden Rule funeral home."

Tobacco Black Shank

Now is the time to identify black shank potential for the 1984 crop. The first step in black shank control for the 1984 crop is to determine how much black shank is present in this year's crop. Now is an excellent time to handle that chore because most phases of the disease are easily observed. Black shank has three distinct phases: (1) Root rot (hidden black shank), (2) Stalk or shank rot and (3) leaf blight. Hidden Black Shank is very common in Kentucky and this phase is difficult to recognize most years. However, the symptoms are very obvious this year. Affected plants appear stunted, fire badly, with some scalding or wilting in hot dry weather. The stalk or shank rot phase is easily detected because the plants wilt rapidly. Yellowing is extensive with burley. The lower part of the stem becomes charcoal black and the pith area inside the stem becomes hollow or separates into disks. The root system has usually rotted from the earlier hidden phase of the disease, but not always. Leaf blight black shank is not common this year due to the extended dry weather, but some foliar blight has appeared following the recent rains. Symptoms of foliar black shank appear as large greenish-brown lesions with concentric rings. Usually, these lesions are on the bottom leaves where rain splash moved the fungus from the soil to these leaves.
