Disputanta

By Hilda Payne Gabbard

Hello from Clear Creek. I can't hear of any New Year's resolutions being made. Guess folks are just going to do the best they can in this new year ahead.

The past week has been typical January weather, dark, cloudy and cold. Hog killing time is here with back bones and ribs being put on the table along with turnip greens.

The folks in King Hollow really had it rough with frozen water pipes last week as well as a lot of others.

Charley Junior King, wife Diane, Bertha Long and Edna Heckman of Dayton, Ohio took Christmas dinner with their father Charley King and Nina Beatty.

Eligah and Julia Abney's visitors were son Anthony and wife Shirley with son Scott from Berea who came to spend Christmas Day. Julia went all out to prepare a table with good food for the holidays and because the kids came home.

Bertha Long had to depend on her brother, Charlie Junior King to drive her on these snowy, icy days. So he and Diane went with Bertha to visit her daughter, Carolyn Nicely and family on Hammond Fork Road during the holidays. They were served coffee and cake. Carolyn is a whiz at making beautifully decorated cakes.

Carolyn has accepted a position with the Pic Pac Market in Mt. Vernon. She makes the daily drive-out of these hills from Clear Creek.

Mary Thomas of Shearer Hollow has been in the Berea Hospital for an operation. As she has been transferred to the Sowder Nursing Home at Brodhead to recuperate. We send her our best wishes in regaining her strength.

Mary always wears a pleasant smile and when I went to the hospital to see her, she said, "Hilda, you always looks so pretty". I knew she was out of her head. Does she know it's wrong to tell fibs?

Tom Leger called to tell me that he had taken part in a New Year's surprise party. He and wife, Nanie, daughter, Alberta Swiford, and nephew Ted and wife Ina Johnson went to the Big Hill section in northern Rockcastle, all taking food for the dinner for Tom's sister, 88 years old Chessie and her husband James Van-Winkle. It was also James 90th birthday. So a surprise it was for the couple.

Tom said there was so much food, including a big bowl of black-eyed peas brought in by relatives and friends. Now I wonder if Tom had to eat at the "second table" as it was called when large families would get together in the hills.

When I visited Mary Thomas in the hospital, I met her roommate, Kathleen Hunt from Mt. Vernon, who was also a patient. In talking to this attractive woman I learned she was an upper grade teacher of the elementary school there and liked her work. Teachers like to talk of their experiences in the classroom and we were enjoying ourselves, along with Mary, when a nurse came in. They probably thought the patients were well enough to go home and that I should be thrown out too.

Della Rector Hensley of Copper Creek writes that she remembers her girlhood days on Clear Creek when we young folk enjoyed going to parties and square dances.

My son, Chessley and wife, Judy Cornett from Northern Kentucky visited us December 26th, bringing us gifts, the date being his birthday. "I always come home then," he said. Doesn't he know at 39 that you can't expect a cake with candles. It would set the place on fire.

For this month of January, I would like to wish some folks a happy birthday. At Berea, Inez Miller Stanley, Jimmy Croucher, Lydia Williams, Elsewhere, Lorene Fowler, Charley King, Cleve Payne, Lou Payne of Brodhead (and mine). These are the ones I know but we'll wish others with a January birth-date happiness too.

Till then: The man who never makes mistakes loses a great many chances to learn something.

Sophomore forward Greg Mink tried to muscle the ball into the goal against a defending Briar Jumper during action Friday night at RCHS. The boys have been having a rough go of it thus far this season, having won only two games. But, they do hustle and should get their offensive game together more as the season progresses.

Senior guard Roger Isaacs fights for a rebound during the Rockets game last Friday night against the Somerset Briar Jumpers. Brock No. 44 and sophomore forward Jackie Woodall, No. 12. The Rockets will host Pulaski Co. and next Tuesday night, Richmond Model will come to town. Also in the photo are center Chad Somerset was too big for the Rockets to handle and won 75-52. This Friday night,

Boys lose to Somerset; Lady Rockets defeat Estill Co. in OT

Junior forward Betty Milburn and senior center Kristi Martin, No. 32, fight for a rebound Monday night against the Estill County Lady Engineers. The girls won the game in an overtime 41-39 to revenge an earlier 9-point loss at Estill County. Milburn and Martin both played excellent games for the team as did senior guard Theresa Sturgill, No. 22, who was high-scorer for the Rockets. The girls will play Garrard County Thursday night at home.

The Rockcastle Rockets went down to defeat last Friday night to a big hustling team from Somerset who dominated the action all the way to their 75-52 win.

The boys fell behind 6-1 in the first quarter before closing the gap to 12-9 at the 10:00 mark. Somerset then outscored the Rockets 6-2 for the 18-11 first quarter margin.

The Rockets fell further behind in the second quarter and found themselves down 34-21 at half-time.

The same was true of the third quarter when the Rockets were outscored 11-9. Three Rockets, Shannon Bishop, Chris Cornelius and Chad Brock were in double figures.

The Tuesday night game, scheduled at Jackson County, was rained off due to the weather.

The Rockets next scheduled games are with Pulaski County Friday night and Richmond Model next Tuesday, both at home.

GIRLS LOSE TO LONE JACK; BEAT ESTILL IN OT

The Lady Rockets didn't fare so well at Lone Jack last Saturday night, losing 57-31, but they came back Monday night to revenge an earlier 9-point loss to the Estill County Lady Engineers by winning, in overtime, 41-39.

The Rockets have been playing without the services of their big freshman center, Sandy Hunter, who is ill, and she was missed at Lone Jack where the Rockets found it tough going against the much taller Fillies.

It was also a very unusual game in that the Fillies just don't commit fouls, at least according to the men who refereed the game, as they called a total of 4 fouls on the Fillies while whistling over 20 on the Rockets.

The girls fought back in the first half, after being down 8-0, to come Jack, and pulled to within 3 at one point, 10-7. But the 8-1 fillies game took and steadily increased their lead for the final 57-31.

Leading scorer for the Rockets was senior Theresa Sturgill with 13. Kristi Martin, Tammy Faulkner and Diane Mason scored 4 points each and Melissa Partin, Caroline Machal and Paige Anderkin each scored 2.

Monday night's game against the Lady Engineers of Estill County was a different story however as the Lady Rockets hustled hard throughout the game and erased an early 15-5 deficit.

The girls were down 7 at the end of the first quarter, 19-12, but had pulled to within 3 at half-time, 28-25. They took the lead for the first time in the middleways of the third quarter, on a goal by senior center Kristi Martin, and then lost it again to trail by three at the end of the quarter.

Then, in the fourth quarter, junior forward Betty Milburn got two quick buckets and the girls were again ahead 35-34. The Lady Engineers took the lead back on a free throw and a field goal but, with time running out, sophomore guard Paige Anderkin hit a baseline jumper to send the game into overtime.

Milburn drew first blood for the Rockets in overtime but the Lady Engineers came right back with a field

"RECIPES"

Bake in 350 degree oven until hot. Serves 10 to 12.

Real Cheesy Beef Casserole

1 lb. ground beef

1 tsp. salt

1-16 oz. can mixed vegetables

1-10 oz. can cream of mushroom soup

1/2 cup whole milk

2 cups grated American cheese

1/4 oz. package potato chips (slightly crushed)

1 tsp. minced dried onions

1/2 tsp. pepper

In large skillet, brown meat and drain. Stir in salt, pepper, onion, mixed vegetables, mushroom soup, milk and 1 cup cheese. Place above mixture in 9x12 pan in 350 degree oven for 30 minutes. Remove from oven and sprinkle remaining cup of grated cheese and potato chips on top. Return to oven for 15 minutes. Serves 8.

Stewart added, "He laid out a pond on my farm—he did good work."

Billy Hiatt of Mt. Vernon also spoke highly of Colson. "Clay was very unselfish with his time. He was knowledgeable in his profession, and he had the ability and the willingness to convey that knowledge. He is a very practical, down-to-earth man and was highly respected as a soil conservationist."

Hiatt went on, "I had the privilege of working with him in developing the Kentucky Christian Assembly church camp. I recall that he demonstrated one distinct trait—he never straddled the fence. He made his position clear and you always knew how he stood on a particular matter or issue."

"He has been a great contributor to our county."

goal with 50 seconds left in the game.

The Rockets held the ball down to 8 seconds when Sturgill was called on to do or die and she did with a long outside shot that sailed through the basket and won the game.

The girls managed to play the game without anyone fouling out even with Sturgill and Milburn both playing most of the fourth quarter with 4 fouls each. The fouling situation got a little better in that the Lady Engineers collected one more foul than the Lady Rockets did the first half but the Rockets collected 3 more than the Lady Engineers did the second half.

The girls are scheduled to play Garrard County Thursday night at home and Monticello, next Monday night, at Monticello.

continues to teach the adult Sunday School class at the Broadhead Christian Church that he's taught since 1949. I asked him if he would do anything differently if he had his life to live over.

"I don't know that I'd do anything a whole lot differently. I've been in some kind of service work since I got out of school and I've enjoyed all of it. I've been blessed with a good bunch of children and enough to eat. I have no fine place, but a home and good friends."

Then he added in his matter-of-fact way: "I value them above almost everything."

Bill Stewart of Wildcat commented on Colson. "I knew him ever since he came to the county. We were friends, and I served with him in the Soil Conservation Board for years. I always enjoyed working with him."

THE BANK OF MT. VERNON

Somerset attorney named District Judge

A Somerset lawyer has been appointed District Judge for Pulaski and Rockcastle counties.

The announcement of William T. Cain's appointment was made last Thursday from Gov. Martha Layne Collins' office.

Cain, 41, won out over two other Somerset lawyers—John W. Polk and Michael L. Henry—for the job. HE will fill the position vacated by former District Judge Daniel J. Venters, who in November was elected Circuit Judge in the 28th Judicial Circuit.

In an interview with the Commonwealth-Journal Friday, Cain said, "I was sort of shocked. That sort of thing doesn't happen every day."

Cain said he expected to be sworn in toward the end of this week, or as soon as he can wind up the details of his private law practice with Thomas E. Utley, Jr. He has also said he will resign his position as chairman of the Somerset Board of Education, probably at the next regular meeting of the board.

Cain graduated from Somerset High School and from the University of Kentucky in 1965. He graduated from UK law school three years later and joined the law practice of John Prather in Somerset.

In 1975, he joined the law firm of Smith and Blackburn and later practiced with Utley and Joe Travis, who now is Somerset City Attorney.

Cain and his wife, Karalee, have one child, Andy, 10.

Two more physicians will open practice here in near future

By Leigh Anne Hiatt

The Rockcastle County Hospital has announced that two physicians will be added to its medical staff within the next six months.

Dr. Kim Boggs will begin his practice in March. He is presently finishing his residency in Columbus, Ohio, where he is specializing in pediatrics and taking some additional critical training in the older child. Pediatrics specializes in care of newborns to age 18. Boggs will have an office on hospital property.

Gutierrez has acted as a weekend Emergency Room physician several times since November, and will continue to do the same until he opens his full time practice. His office will also be on hospital property.

Gutierrez, who is also in the county, and he is presently commuting to U.K. from Mt. Vernon.

Dr. Roger Hornsby, the administrator for the Rockcastle County Hospital, said, "The hospital is pleased that it is able to offer these two new specialties, pediatrics and internal medicine, that have not been available to the residents of the community in the past. We feel that this will enable more people to receive their health care here instead of having to go outside the county."

Pence added, "We're hopeful that additional physicians may be coming before the year is out."

BANKS TO CLOSE FOR LEE BIRTHDAY

Both the Bank of Mt. Vernon and Citizens Bank of Brodhead will be closed Thursday, January 19, in observance of Robert E. Lee's birthday.

What a Difference—The top photo was taken Monday afternoon when it was a "balmy" 59 degrees. The sun was shining and people were out in their shirt sleeves. But, Tuesday morning, Rockcastle residents awakened to rain and a winter storm warning. Sure enough, temperatures started dropping and it began snowing later in the morning. Roads got very slick and travelers advisories were in effect across the state. School was called off both Tuesday and Wednesday. However, total accumulation was only one-half inch but it was cold. The bottom photo was taken early Wednesday. The official low Tuesday morning, according to Bud Cox who keeps the weather records, was 12 degrees.

Local Education committee adopts two recommendations

The Rockcastle County Committee on Excellence in Education met Monday night and approved two recommendations to the local board of education.

The two recommendations call for a mandatory visit by each board member to each individual school twice during the school year. During these visits, the board members will meet with principals, teachers and student representatives on their perceptions of problems and goals for the school.

The second recommendation was for an annual assessment of performance across and other test results by research staff from the state Superintendent's office.

One proposal that failed by a big majority was for the formation of a citizen's advisory committee.

The state purpose of the committee would be to broaden input to the school board on problems confronting the school system.

The committee would have been made up of two members from each local district for a total of 10 members.

Those opposed to the recommendation said they felt the committee was not necessary since the school board meetings are open to the public.

County woman wins top prize in state recipe contest

A Rockcastle County woman was recently named second place winner in the state Farm Bureau recipe contest.

Mary Ann Bullock of Brodhead won with her recipe for ham roll-ups (see top three winning recipes at end of story).

The contest was held in conjunction with Farm Bureau's state convention held in December at the Hyatt-Regency in Lexington. The cook-off was held at UK's Home Economics Dept.

Mrs. Bullock, a former Mt. Vernon city clerk, said cooking has always been one of her hobbies. Her son, Frank, is a secretary and director of the local Farm Bureau organization and her husband, Jess, is an executive vice president of the

Mrs. Mary Bullock, left, recently won second place in the state Farm Bureau recipe contest. As her prize, she received a microwave oven, donated by Southern States Cooperative. With Mrs. Bullock in the photo is a home economist for Southern States who made the award presentation.

Federal drought assistance is available to farmers from FmHA

Help is on the way to Rockcastle County farmers who suffered during one of the county's worst droughts in memory last summer.

Applications for disaster assistance from local farmers are being processed as fast as they are received, according to Roger Hornsby, head of the McKee Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) office, said an effort is being made to speed checks to eligible Laurel farmers.

"That will allow us to complete many of the preliminaries now," he said.

"Once the preliminary application is submitted, the farmer can wait until losses are determined before providing the final information needed to support earlier estimates."

Hornsby also said that farmers could write the FmHA office at McKee,

Ky. 40447 or call 287-7126 and the application form would be mailed to them.

Rockcastle farmers can make application on the first and third Wednesday of each month when the FmHA office in Mt. Vernon is open on the top floor of the Board of Education building or the office will be open by appointment if these days are not convenient, Hornsby added.

Local telephone rates went up 13 percent January 4

Local telephone service rates will rise an average of 13 percent for Continental Telephone customers as a result of last week's rate increase granted those companies by the State Public Service Commission.

The new rates, which became effective January 4, when the PSC order was released, aren't nearly as high as what the company had requested, and because of that, Continental Telephone may ask for a rehearing or may challenge the increases in court.

Local farmers who suffered drought losses become eligible for FmHA emergency loans on October 7, last year.

"They have six months, or until April 9, this year, to apply for loans."

"Based on preliminary assessments, we expect that about 150 to 200 farmers in Rockcastle and Jackson counties will apply for emergency loans," Hornsby said.

So far, he said, the McKee FmHA offices has received about 35 applications.

He said he has urged farmers to submit their applications early, even if they cannot yet certify actual ConTel's London office general manager L.W. Darden said Monday that his company still is studying the order and may decide within "a week to 10 days" to challenge it.

"Of course we were disappointed with the amount of the grant," Darden said. "We felt like we had offered the facts necessary to justify the increase we requested."

The PSC awarded ConTel only $1.9 million of a $5.3 million requested rate hike.

COMMODITIES TO BE DISTRIBUTED

The Rockcastle County Commodity Committee will be distributing commodities on January 17 from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m.

Bring your green distribution card to the site where you made application.

If you do not have a green card, you may apply on that day.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

This letter is in response to the recent article in your paper about our county coroner. As a citizen and taxpayer of the county, I am appalled at the fact that the dog catcher receives more than our coroner. Our coroner does an excellent job and certainly deserves more. I am sure that to hold the position of county coroner, he must meet strict qualifications and be trained in this area. Our dog catcher on the other hand doesn't need any special education and I suppose any resident of this county over 18 could fill the position.

A few years ago, I called the man who was then the county dog catcher. I told him we were having problems with a stray dog in the area. He told me to try and handle it myself as he was very busy working on his farm. The county is full of stray and abandoned animals that need to be picked up but how many human corpses do you see scattered about. And if you did happen to find a corpse and call the coroner do you suppose he would say, "Handle it yourself."

Beverly Carter Sexton
Rt. 1
Orlando, Ky.

"Education Committee" (Cont. From Front) as it is presently written. The majority of the group opposed the resolution on the grounds that the counties should first be given a reasonable chance to correct the problems causing the poor test scores.

Kevin Fletcher, owner of Fletcher Sign Co. in Mt. Vernon, recently presented Martha Brown, 4-H agent with the logo he designed to commemorate the 7th year of 4-H in Kentucky. The design will be used across the state to celebrate the anniversary.

The committee did appoint a sub-committee to draft a letter, to the Pritchard Committee—the committee for the annual resolution—to the state Board of Education, stating why the local group is opposed to the resolution.

The following are minutes from the December meeting. Approximately 40 persons attended the December 5th meeting of the Committee for Education Excellence at the Rockcastle County High School. Over half of those in attendance indicated they were family members with children in the County school system. The meeting began with reports of earlier meeting of two of the subcommittees. Mr. Charles Parsons, Superintendent and Chairman of the Administration Subcommittee, reported that members of the subcommittee had met to discuss school discipline. He said that it was the consensus of subcommittee members that Rockcastle County did not have the serious problems of drug abuse or violence that plague some schools. Mr. Bige Towery, Chairman of the Curriculum Committee, indicated the members of his group met and discussed the educational skills based curriculum that is being used by Rockcastle County. Mr. Towery's presentation led to a discussion by the group about whether following this curriculum plan will lead to an improvement in the performance scores of the School's students, which have been of much concern because of recent rankings near the bottom among school districts in the State on basic reading, mathematics, and reference skills. Mr. Towery said he believed the implementation of this plan would help. One teacher indicated how he was using the plan and individual test scores to identify students who had not performed well on the skills tests to develop programs of improvement for them.

Particular concern was expressed regarding the performance of students on reference skills, one of the test areas. This was a skill area in which the County had ranked most poorly. Several persons wanted to know exactly what kinds of knowledge was tested by the reference skills test. Mr. Parsons indicated that he had looked at some of the questions in this area. He said they required students to be able to apply their knowledge of mathematics to interpret charts and graphs or to read passages and make interpretations from them. Mrs. Laura Durham, Director of the High School Library, said that the reference skill tests were not tests of whether the students had the skills to properly use library resources. She said she thought the County's students were generally well trained in this area. She indicated that she thought the major reason for the poor performance of students in the reference skills areas, as outlined by Mr. Parsons, was the general lack of preparation of the students for taking such tests. Mrs. Durham said she thought students are currently being better prepared to take this test and that they would score better in future tests. Mr. Parsons was asked whether the test score had been used to identify particular problem areas and patterns of difficulty and whether they had been used to develop a plan of improvement. He said that they had been studied extensively by Mr. Douglas Hamm, but he could not say for sure whether a plan for improvement had been developed. He indicated that a major question whether the evaluation subcommittee could get the test results to analyze to identify problem areas and recommend improvements, Mr. Parsons said he thought this could be done. He added that individual student results were confidential and, of course, not to be made available. Another area discussed was truancy in the school. This topic came up in a discussion of ways the school system could obtain more money to be able to reduce the average class size. It was pointed out that the school system's receipt of state funds was dependent on the average daily attendance. Mr. Garland Cummins reported that the major problem with attendance involved repeat offenders who frequently come from families with poor home life, who were indifferent about whether their children attended school. Mr. Cummins was questioned about how successfully he had used the court system to force parents of these children have them attend. Gary Cromer, Chairman of the Committee, said he had checked to see how frequently court actions had been taken and that he had been told that there had not been any in over a year. Mr. Cummins indicated that he did not agree with this statement, but failed to cite any contrary information. He did say that he would appreciate help from anyone on the Committee to help persuade the court of the need to enforce school attendance. Mr. Cromer said he had talked with Judge Dan Venters who commented that he would see that the law was properly applied in any cases brought before him. Mr. Charles Parsons gave a summarization of the recent meeting of the Kentucky Association of School Superintendents at the request of Mr. Cromer. He said he had not been able to attend the meeting because of a conflict; however, he said he had received information on the meeting. His report indicated that the Association shares the concerns of the many other groups about the level of education in Kentucky. He indicated that a major concern was finding the financial resources may believe are needed to improve education. Mr. Parsons indicated that this is an especially difficult problem in counties such as Rockcastle where the local tax base is not very strong. He said that unless the public was willing to vote more financial support that there is not much that can be done to improve the situation. This report led to a brief discussion of some of the improvements planned for Rockcastle County schools. One discussed in particular by Mr. Parsons is a plan to add more computers to the school system with the purpose of developing computer literacy for all students. He said that there is the possibility of developing a computer science laboratory in the high school. Elmer Whittier, a member of the Evaluation Committee, asked whether the school system has sufficient teachers trained in computer science, mathematics, and business data processing. Mr. Parsons responded that such teachers are available and that they are taking training. Mr. Whittier suggested that it might be helpful to examine the training program of

FOOD AND FITNESS ESSAY CONTEST

All youth, ages 13 through 18, are invited to participate in the United States Department of Agriculture Food and Fitness Essay Contest to learn more of the American food and agriculture system and to increase creative writing abilities.

The theme of the essay contest is "Food: America's Growth Industry."

All phases of the food industry, including production, processing, distribution and marketing may be covered in the essay. Participants may choose to cover only one aspect under this broad theme. Examples of suitable topics include: New Foods as "Nutritional Insurance," National Food Supply, Food Marketing Techniques, Food Additives, Food Industry and the National Economy or Food From Farm to Grocery Shelf.

The essay can be used as a classroom assignment or youth may choose to participate independently. If used as a classroom assignment, teachers are asked to submit their top two essays in each age category.

All participants will receive certificates. They will be competing in three age levels: age 13-14; age 15-16 and age 17-18. First place winners in each category will receive medals and a $25 cash award from Rockcastle Farm Bureau. The three winning essays will be submitted to the state contest. State winners will be submitted to a National Contest where trophies, prizes and trips to Washington, D.C. will be awarded.

Background material for the essay may be accumulated through research of written materials, individual experiences and interviews. The essay may not exceed 500 words. It may be either typed or handwritten, but must be the work of the entrant.

Entries must be submitted by February 1, 1984 to the County Extension Office.

EKU to offer classes here

An organizational meeting for three extended campus undergraduate classes being proposed during the 1984 spring semester by Eastern Kentucky University will be held Thursday, January 12 at 6 p.m. at Mt. Vernon Elementary School.

The courses to be offered are: HIS 203-American Civilization since 1877; ENG 101-English Composition I; MUS 271-Enjoyment of Music.

Sufficient enrollment will be necessary for the course to be offered. For more information, contact the EKV Division of Continuing Education, Perkins Building, telephone 622-2001.

ABSOLUTE Auction

Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Lawrence's
97 ACRE FARM In Tracts
Saturday, Jan. 21, 1984 10:30 a.m.

Near Brodhead, Ky.

LOCATION: On US 150 near Brodhead. Also on the Negro Creek Road and on the Dug Hill Road. Auction signs are posted at each location.

Due to other business interest and in order to reduce their farming operation, Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Lawrence have authorized our company to sell this well-located farm for the absolute high dollar.

Each tract will be sold separately, reserving the right to group or combine in any manner to reflect the best returns for the owners.

TRACTS LOCATED ON HIGHWAY 150

- Tract No. 1 - 3.85 acres, level, city water available, 329 ft. of road frontage on US 150.
- Tract No. 2 - 3.68 acres, level, city water available, 263½ ft. of road frontage on US 150.
- Tract No. 3 - 4.11 acres, 265 ft. of road frontage, level, city water available.

Any of these tracts not only offer agriculture potential but also commercial possibilities.

TRACTS ON THE DUG HILL ROAD (STATE ROAD 1229)

- Tract No. 4 & 5 - each contain approximately 1.35 acres and each front 209 ft. each on the Dug Hill Road and is level land.
- Tract No. 6 - 6.79 acres, level bottom land - creek.
- Tract No. 7 - 6.75 acres, level bottom land - creek.
- Tract No. 8 - 6.84 acres, level bottom land - creek.
- Tract No. 9 - 8.91 acres, level bottom land - creek.
- Tract No. 10 - 8.76 acres, level bottom land - creek.

Each of these tracts have city water available.

TRACTS LOCATED ON THE NEGRO CREEK ROAD

Although Clay A. Colson isn't a native of Rockcastle County, it has been his home for the last 38 years. Many area residents may not realize that they are now reaping benefits from the progress Colson helped make for the county in agriculture and soil conservation.

The improvements that my generation take for granted were often made Lexington visited his grandmother, Mrs. Lona Logsdon awhile last Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Gary Giarratano and son, Nathan and Mrs. George Burton were in Somerset last Thursday to consult Mrs. Burton's doctor.

Mrs. Elizabeth Stokes visited Mr. and Mrs. George Burton awhile Friday evening.

Mattie Owens of Somerset visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Burton Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Bessie Clark was taken to the Rockcastle Co. Hospital after receiving a fall at her home recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Troy Roberts of Rutledge, Tennessee visited Mr. and Mrs. George Burton, Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Roberts and Mrs. Burton attended the funeral of Mr. Luther Hayes, Jr. at the Watson under Home at Brodhead, Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. W.H. Goins has returned home from the hospital after falling and breaking her leg recently.

Sympathy is extended to the family of Mr. Luther Hayes, Jr. of Fairborn, Ohio in their time of sorrow. Mr. Hayes was formerly of Rockcastle County.

Mrs. Shirley Burton, Mildred Hunt, Mr. J.R. Blanton and son Rodney, Mr. Earl Blanton and Mr. Paul Blanton visited Mr. Denver Brock of Blue Ash, Ohio, who is very ill.

possible under the leadership of Clay Colson. He helped begin a county milk route and dairy industry, improve production of corn, wheat and hay to support the livestock industry, build ponds and develop springs for water sources, and lay thousands of feet of tile to drain land so it would be usable.

To get to Colson's house from Mt. Vernon, you wind your way around the old Brodhead Road and eventually turn off onto a gravel lane. It is a large, level field. You follow the lane for almost a mile, make a curve, and suddenly you're at his brick home.

Colson was just getting in from the barn when I got there. He took off his shoes, and settled his tall, straight frame into a rocking chair in his living room. His hair is turning white, but he hardly looks 67 years old.

He is the second one of four boys, and was born in Pulaski County at O.K., Ky. After going to high school for two years at Eubank and two at Somerset, he entered Berea College with a Kiwanis Club scholarship and $15 in his pocket.

"I majored in agriculture in a class of about 13," said Colson. "I worked at the dairy for four years. I started out at the library and changed to the dairy so I could get more labor. The most I ever made there was 18 cents an hour."

Colson worked his way through Berea College by staying-through-summer vacations and Christmas holidays. When he graduated in 1937, he had $28 in his pocket.

He met his wife Nellie while he was in school. She had come from North Carolina to be in the nursing program at Berea College. They married a few months after he got out of college, and moved to Center Street in Berea.

Colson's first job out of college was as an assistant county agent with Robert F. Spence, who was only the second county agent in the state. He and Spence covered Rockcastle County and southern Madison.

"Mostly I was working with 4-H club members," said Colson speaking in his straightforward manner. "There were 1,100 4-H members. The Home Demonstration Agent and me visited every one of those at home and reviewed their projects in the summer of 1937. We were on the roads almost night and day."

He remembered a boy from Wildie who won the county winning project award that year. I asked if the others made fun of a male doing that kind of project, and he answered, "No, he was good and they respected it."

After a year he moved to Letcher County to be the County Agriculture Agent. He found out that the job also included the responsibilities of the Home Extension Agent. He gave a burst of laughter and said, "You should have seen me helping girls sew!"

While Colson was in Letcher County, his wife worked as a registered nurse at the now defunct Jenkins Consolidated Coal Company Hospital. After three years Colson decided to make a change.

"I took a sabbatical leave from my job and went to U.K. for my master's in agriculture while Nellie worked at the Good Samaritan Hospital." In a year's time he took 53 hours of classes, which was 21 hours over a normal load.

He took the excess hours because there were courses he wanted above his requirements.

"After I graduated from U.K. I went to work as the Associate County Agent in Jessamine County," he said. After a year there he had orders to go to Irvine. "I was there from '41 to '43, agriculture while Nellie worked at the Good Samaritan Hospital."

Colson explained that the extension program was cooperatively run by the U.S. Department of Agriculture and U.K.'s College of Agriculture. What exactly did his agriculture jobs entail?

"You promote better livestock of all kinds, better crops productions, forage production, and pasture management. I was the go-between for the Experiment Station at U.K. and the farmers, taking research and information to them so they could do a better job farming."

"It wasn't until October of 1943 that I resigned his extension work and went with the Soil Conservation Service. "I started to work and went for a year divided between Pulaski and Johnson Counties."

I mentioned that he must have moved frequently in those early years, Colson agreed. "We figured" once I moved 17 times in very few years."

Colson's career was interrupted in 1944 when he was drafted into the Navy during World War II at age 29.

He had one son, Bill, at the time, and another son, Bob, was born while he was in the service.

"I went in as an enlisted man," he explained. "And then I went into officer's training." Colson stayed in the Naval Reserve after the war was over, and retired from that in 1961 as a lieutenant commander.

Actually, Colson had tried to get ahead of the draft by joining the Air Corps prior to his stint in the Navy. He volunteered, and had passed all the tests until he got the results of his x-rays. After the Air Corps officials saw what appeared to be spots on his chest, they refused to swear him in.

Colson got an amused look on his face. "I pursued all this, and had 13 more x-rays. There wasn't a thing in the world wrong with me—there was something wrong with the film!" He was drafted by the Navy six months later.

In 1945 Colson came to Rockcastle County and started to work again with the Soil Conservation Service. The service was run through the U.S. Department of Agriculture, and his job was to work with the farmers on farm planning.

The years after the war were very productive. Colson worked with the farmers and supervisors to organize the county's first soil conservation district. Other responsibilities followed.

"When I came here there wasn't a milk route or anything. Along with the county agent and the agriculture teachers we got the milk route started, started the dairy industry in the county, and improved the production of forages to support livestock."

I brought the first fence into the county and planted it on John Houston's farm. Now there's thousands of acres of it. And I had one hundred of thousands of feet of tile to drain land to increase production."

Colson also helped build hundreds of ponds and spruce hundreds of acres for livestock and water and home use. At that time there wasn't a major water source in the county.

He spoke excitedly, "The idea for Lake Linville was originated in the county and the way back from a soil conservation meeting. The state highway people had told our supervisors that it was possible to cross a stream with a highway and build a dam for city water. Clyde Linville was the mayor. He persuaded the City Council to get it built. He was instrumental in getting it done, and that's why it was named Lake Linville."

Clay Colson bought the farm—he lives on now in 1958, and moved there about three years later. He donated land in Brodhead for the Kentucky Christian Assembly church camp in 1963.

Colson was a member of Cedar Rapids Country Club. He had two more sons, Charles and David. Colson explained that Charles got an appointment to the U.S. Military Academy through fifth district Congressman Robinson. He was at West Point for four years and came out as a second lieutenant in the Army. Charles had learned the Vietnamese language, and spent some time in the Vietnam War as the only American in the Fifth Vietnam Ranger Battalion.

During the war he was wounded and received a purple heart. Colson retired in 1972 from the Soil Conservation Service. He farms full time now, and also raises livestock. Since 1979 his son David has been his partner on the farm, and will probably take it over some day. Colson seemed pleased when he spoke of the arrangement.

In the meantime, Clay Colson may relax in a rocking chair, but not for long. He still serves on numerous federal, state and county organizations. He travels to meetings at Lexington, Louisville and even Denver, New Orleans, and Phoenix. He also enjoys horseback riding in the Saddle Club, another organization he helped to originate. And he
