"ESSAY CONTEST"

[Cont'd from 18]

bring new life to worn-out farms.

Erosion has already destroyed more than fifty million acres of farm land in the United States, an area the size of Idaho. It has partially destroyed another fifty million acres and is threatening about a hundred million more. The yearly loss by erosion is estimated at $2.5 billion dollars.

The main causes of erosion are the actions of air and water and changes in temperature. Running water, rainfall, waves, ice, and wind all help to wear away earth and rock.

Serious damage can be caused by erosion. Erosion can sometimes be controlled by contour plowing. This method prevents soil from washing away. It stops erosion and conserves precious rainfall.

Most causes of soil erosion is heavy rainfalls. The water rushes off the land into rivers and lakes carrying valuable soil and causing destructive floods. Most of the rich soil in the United States is being destroyed by improper farming. We have lost quite a bit of topsoil, as I stated earlier. The topsoil is the part of the earth in which our crops grow. Every rain drop that falls on unprotected ground carries away more and more soil. Cutting back on erosion in sloping land have made it more difficult for water to soak into the soil.

Most of the food that supports living things comes from the soil, either directly or indirectly. The soil forms a very thin layer on the earth's surface called topsoil. Soil averages only two or three feet in thickness, compared with the earth's diameter of about eight thousand miles. And the fertile top layer of soil, called topsoil is usually measured in inches. The forces of mother nature are constantly at work making soil out of rock. Plants and animals add rich plant food called humus to the topsoil. It takes several hundred years to build an inch of topsoil, by natural means. But this inch of topsoil may be washed away, or blown away in a few years, or even a few weeks, if water or wind erosion is permitted by man.

Sloping land without a cover can lose as much as sixty truck-loads of soil from an acre in a year. Raindrops splashing the surface soil move a little of it away with each splash. This action is called splash erosion. Often the farmer is unaware that sheet erosion has taken place until high colored substances begin to show through. Then it's too late.

Hard rains can carve gullies in hillsides. Wind may erode both sloping and level lands.

Once the use of the land has been established, a good farming practice must be used. Rotation of farm crops is one of the most important of these practices. This means that a farmer must not plant a crop, such as corn year after year on the same land. He must alternate it with other crops such as soybeans, which use elements from the soil.

Other good farming practices compel rain water to soak into the ground instead of running off. These practices include cross slope and contour plowing, and laying out fields in stairstep terraces on gently sloping land. Erosion can be checked by planning strips of cultivated crops, such as corn.

Farmers once believed that all wet land should be drained for growing crops. But now it is recognized that other wet lands should often be preserved. They furnish a haven for wildlife and help supply ground water.

Grass is not to be limited on pasture lands, especially in dry regions. No more grass should be grazed off than will grow back each year.

The soil is our greatest resource, and soil conservation one of our greatest problems. President Theodore Roosevelt once said, "When the soil is gone, man must go, and the process does not take long."

The first problem in soil conservation is to decide how the land shall be used. It is the best practice to plant cultivated row crops only on level sloping land. Tobacco, corn, and potatoes are examples of row crops. The farmer must loosen the soil between the rows to kill weeds and keep the soil porous so that liquids may pass through. Soil cultivation in this way on steeply sloping land easily leads victim to erosion.

Since 1937 the states of our nation have adopted soil conservation district laws, allowing the farmers of a county or valley to organize for soil conservation. When a district is formed, the Soil Conservation Service furnishes an expert to help in farm planning. The farmers elect a committee to work with him and decide what measures to take. Today over eighty percent of the farm land in the United States is so organized.

In summary, I have talked about farming relating to soil erosion and conservation, soil being the most abused resource, and also how farmers can plant crops to prevent soil erosion. We need our precious soil. We need it for food and support for animals and us too! So, remember help save our soil. It is quickly vanishing.

Correction

Because of a typographical error, the cost of a planner, planned for purchase by the Board of Education for the Industrial Arts Dept. at the high school, was incorrectly listed at $52,000 in the January 5th issue of the Signal.

The correct purchase price is $5,200. The Signal regrets this error.

It was a December to remember ...

And now, it's time for the bills to start drifting in from those holiday purchases—like the last-minute gifts you bought with your credit card.

It's easy to forget that another bill may reflect your yuletide purchases, too. If you are a typical customer, your electricity usage was greater, causing your electric bill to be higher than usual.

The month of December was one of the coldest on record. On the average, your heating system had to work more than 25% harder in December 1983 than in a normal December. And last month's heating needs were nearly 75% greater than in December 1982.*

We're glad we were able to meet the demand for electricity during this cold snap. But none of us should waste energy. Develop good conservation habits. And let our Home Energy Audit show you how to make your home more energy-efficient.

Somer set attorney William T. Cain, right, was administered the oath of office as District Judge for Rockcastle and Pulaski counties last Friday by Circuit Judge Dan Venters. Cain, a native of Somerset, was named to fill the position vacated by Venters who was elected Circuit Judge in November.

Cain received congratulations from some of those present at Friday's swearing-in ceremony in the courthouse. Shown congratulating Cain in the picture is Republican County Chairman Alonzo McCollum. Also in the picture is Circuit Court Clerk Denver Miller and his clerk Jean Chatterle.

Rep. Ford's bill would change requirements for driver's license

A bill introduced in the Legislature last week by state Representative Danny Ford, R-Mt. Vernon, is aimed at reducing high school dropout rates by tying academic standing to a student's eligibility to apply for a driver's license. The bill, which possibly may be unconstitutional, reportedly has widespread support from a number of legislators and educators, including local school superintendent Charles B. Parsons, who said Tuesday that he had told Ford that the bill had some good points, "but, I think it would be hard to get passed." Parsons added that the two main points of the bill are good - to stress academic achievement and stress students staying in school.

The bill seeks to cut the dropout rate in state schools and improve test scores by requiring certain minimum academic standards to qualify for a driver's license.

In a telephone interview prior to submitting the bill, Ford said, "A 16-year-old student who wanted to apply for a license would have to have at least a 2.5 (C plus) grade point average and a student who had dropped out of school wouldn't be eligible for a license until he turned 18."

In addition, a student who obtained a license but later dropped out of school would "lose their license," as would any student who dropped below the 2.5 average grade level.

Ford, who said he talked to a number of educators and legislators before introducing the bill, said the notion "appears to have a lot of support."

The bill picked up 10 or 12 co-sponsors on the day (Friday) it was introduced.

Ford reported.

On the constitutionality question, Ford said that such a question may be decided by the legislators as they debate the bill or may be decided by the courts if the bill becomes law and is challenged by citizen or citizen's group.

Ford said the bill hasn't yet gone to a legislative committee and may not come up for consideration by the Legislature for some time.

Ford agreed with the assessment that nothing like this has ever been proposed before and said, "We'll just have to see how it goes."

Ford gets seat on appropriations committee

Representative Danny Ford of Mt. Vernon has been appointed to the Appropriations and Revenue Committee, which is the most powerful committee in the state legislature.

The Appropriations and Revenue Committee, one of the hardest working committees, oversees the preparation of a budget that funds all of state government.

Republican Floor Leader Richard Turner, in announcing Representative Ford's appointment stated, "An extremely accurate way of telling how much respect a legislator receives from his peers is by looking at his committee assignments. And, you can tell me I think very highly of Danny, because he serves on the most important committees."

The Appropriations and Revenue Committee has already begun to hold hearings on the 1984-85 state budget.

On his new assignment Representative Ford remarked, "The most important responsibility of the state legislature, as required by the Kentucky Constitution is the enactment of a two year budget, and I am both proud and humble that my colleagues want me to represent them on the Appropriations and Revenue Committee."

Representative Ford continued, "I want to make sure that our educational systems are adequately funded, especially the rural school districts. Representative Woody Allen, Republican Whip remarked, "Danny has an agile mind and a strong sense of commitment, he works very hard for the most efficient government we can have for Kentucky."

at the best price for all Kentucky taxpayers.

Representative Ford, a 31-year-old Republican in his first term, is the youngest legislator to be appointed to the prestigious Appropriations and Revenue Committee since it was formed in the late 1960's.

Also, Representative Ford serves as member of the Business Organizations and Professions, Agriculture and Small Business Committee, Task Force on Small Business and the subcommittee on One-step Permitting.

Health Dept. gets new home

The new Rockcastle County Health Center is now open and operating at its new location on Richmond Street in Mt. Vernon (site of the former Dinner Bell Building).

The move was made last Wednesday and an Open House is scheduled for the near future.

The center houses all the offices of the Rockcastle County Health Department and Home Health Service. In addition to the various offices for the two agencies, there are three examining rooms, a laboratory and x-ray room.

One of the best things about the new building is that there is no debt attached to its construction. It has been paid for primarily with funds saved from tax monies of the local health department over the years, some Home Health funds and a small grant from the state. The county furnished the land for the building.

The building was constructed by Built-Well Development Corp. of Broadhead.

(Ed's. Note: We had planned to have a picture or two of the interior of the new building but a combination of a malfunctioning camera and the same problem with the photographer, did us in. We will remedy the situation however in next week's paper.)

10 percent expected to participate in milk program

An estimated 10 percent of the county's 43 dairy farmers will participate in a new federal milk diversion program aimed at reducing the response to the commodity stockpiles, according to local Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service Director, Harold Ballinger. And, Ballinger estimated that only 10 percent of the dairy producers across the state would participate in the program.

Ballinger, along with the ASCS Service Director's from Jackson and Laurel counties and a UK dairy specialist, met in London last Tuesday and Ballinger said his estimate of the low participation was based on the explanation of the program to the dairy farmers present. However, the ASC director in Pulaski County estimated that 30 percent of the 190 dairy farmers there will participate.

"It (the program) is not as good as it appears to be," Ballinger said.

Money taken in theft at Brown's Supermarket

A little over $100 was taken in a theft last Friday, January 13th at Brown's Supermarket, located between Mt. Vernon and Broadhead on 150. According to state Trooper Darrell Presley, who is investigating the theft, the money had apparently been left on the counter after being taken from the register just prior to closing the store.

Presley said store personnel told him that four persons were in the store at the time but they were unable to identify any of them or give a very detailed description.

Rep. Danny Ford

Local weatherman Bud Cox had "measurable precipitation" to measure early Wednesday morning as 5 inches of the white stuff had already fallen at 7:30 a.m. This picture was taken about 8:30 and another half inch had already been added. This was the big best snowfall for Rockcastle County in several years and we were warned well in advance of its coming but somehow that didn't help much if you had to get out in it anyway and sink over your shoe tops.

INDICTMENTS RETURNED

A Rockcastle County Grand Jury recently returned several indictments.

Among them are: Commonwealth of Kentucky vs. Randy Graves, burglary in the third degree and theft by unlawful taking over $100.

Commonwealth of Kentucky vs. Tracy Fletcher and Kevin Fletcher, theft by unlawful taking over $100.

Commonwealth of Kentucky vs. Jeff Prewitt, criminal abuse in the first degree.

Commonwealth of Kentucky vs. Jeff Prewitt, theft by deception of value over $100.

Hello from Clear Creek!

A yearly poll is taken to find the most popular man in this country. I believe if one is taken on Clear Creek now, you will find the count shows the most popular man here is our mailman. We appreciate his fighting the snow, icy roads, and coldness to put the mail in our boxes. Every week day he brings us excitement in the form of newspapers, letters or packages. Even the "junk mail" is welcome because of the dullness of winter days. Of course, it's better on Thursday when we pull the "gold old Signal" from our box getting news county wide at a cost of less than 15 cents per copy. Where else could you get as much for that one a bad winter day when you have "cabin fever" and are "climbing the walls"? The womenfolks on the creek are knee deep in handiwork and quilt making. If Phyllis Harding doesn't hurry up with that quilt she is working on, having started it 10 years ago she told me, her husband Perry is going to get awful cold. I want to tell Juanita Fordyce of Livingston how very much I enjoy her poetry. The week she wrote

Phyllis Stafford, left, a University of Kentucky junior in interior design from Lexington, explains her design for a Doctors Plaza to be located in Mt. Vernon to Allison Gutierrez, a UK graduate student in hospital administration whose husband will have offices in the plaza. The Gutierrezes have donated $500 to the UK interior design endowment fund for the design work done by the UK students. Dr. Gutierrez is an internal medicine physician in Mt. Vernon.

The Mt. Vernon Signal Thursday, January 19, 1984 P-7

"Farewell to 1983" was great. Her thoughts of the past blended into words with rhyme, went over well in what all of us must surely feel. I look forward to hearing from Juanita again.

Martha Hill said her sister, Eva Shearer Anderker, had been operated on and is very ill at the Pattie A. Clay Hospital in Richmond.

Cleve Payne is the kind of fellow that if it were raining soup, his bowl would be turned upside down. In the fall of 1982, having bought a garden tractor with a snow blade, Cleve attached it in late October to be ready for what comes. Well, you know we didn't have enough snow that winter to hardly track rabbits. So this winter of '83, Cleve delayed putting on the snow blade and snow we have had since Christmas week. "Aw shucks, let everybody wade it. I'll stay in," he said to Blanche, his wife.

Lillian Thomas, Tavane Phillips and daughter Ah-lashia of Davis Branch were shopping in Berea recently. They must have had cabin fever, or else to get out after the bad weather had kept them at home for most of the month.

The children of Mollie Owens Coffey brought her back in her last sleep to be buried by her husband Sam, who passed on many years ago. Almost 94 years of age, Mollie lived most of her lifetime on Clear Creek but after Sam passed away, she moved to Ohio, spending her last days near her children.

Mollie and Sam were a hard-working couple who raised seven children and helped them make their start in the world. Sundays would see the family in church, devoting that time of the week to the Lord. I knew her as a good, kind' woman who would help others. Now, Mollie is a memory of Clear Creek's past days and a good memory.

Many Payne, Peggy Rowlett - of Berea, John and I were guests of Cleve and Blanche Payne's for a birthday dinner Sunday, January 8th that Blanche had given for Cleve. She had prepared a wonderful meal but I wondered at the end when she came carrying a cake with only one candle. Would have been too heavy, I guess.

Cleve received several gifts including two cigars, a pack of toilet bowl freshener, a writing pen, two plugs of tobacco, candy and other useful items.

Myrtle Gabbard with Anne Spurlock of Berea stopped by to bring Cleve a gift. There's no use (Cont. to 9)

4-H Area Record Judging
Twenty-five Rockcastle county champion 4-H project records were judged at the Wildermere Trail Area Project Book Judging event held recently. The number of books from our county represented a 150% increase over last year and gave us the largest number of books in competition.

The hard work and time that went into preparing the project books was evident as many records were awarded champion. These 4-H'ers participating and their awards were as follows:

In the Senior Division, James Hamilton received two blue champions, two red champions, two red and one white for his seven record books. James will be sending two of his records, Horse and Rabbit, on to the State Record Judging.

All 4-H'ers competing in the Area Record Judging will be invited to an Area Awards Banquet tentatively scheduled for February 25th. Congratulations to all these 4-H'ers for their record book accomplishments!

spoiling the man. Why he'll expect this every year.

Conley Saylor, once a Rockcastle boy, is truthful fellow. Seeing him in the past few days I said, "Well, I haven't seen you around since last year and you haven't changed a bit".

"Oh, but I have. It's hard for a man to go through all that Christmas eating and not change in weight," Conley informed me. I saw what he meant.

Bill Bullen of Lower Clear Creek is known to be a successful farmer. We passed his farm sometime ago and noticed him covering his strawberry plants crop with straw. He must have gotten signs from the woolly worms that we were going to have this kind of winter.

Farmers are sharp fellows in depending on signs of nature to help them raise their crops. Now, take Steve Bullen and Clyde Linville of the Scaffold Cane Community who depend on the Farmer's Almanac to tell them the best time to plant crops.

Not only that, I've heard, but Steve and Clyde have staked out groundhog holes to tell them how soon spring will be here. I guess they got that from Bill Stephens who "runs the hounds" with Clyde.

I tell them always keep your head up, but be careful to keep your nose on a friendly level.

MISSIONARY MEETING

The temperature going up to 35 degrees, made it possible for the Ladies Aid Missionary Society to meet at Kay Carr's home on Thursday at 7:30 p.m.

A letter was read from Mike and Brenda Dixon. A planning their move from Antiqua to the Twin Cities of El Paso in the U.S.A. and Juarez in Mexico where 1 1/2 million people could be reached rather than 7,500 people on Antiqua Island.

The group decided to continue to support this former minister and his wife, a Broadhead Christian Church, in this new venture as missionaries.

They also decided to help a present K.C.C. student who is a member of the Christian Church at Broadhead.

To help with these pledges, the ladies of the church ordered the famous small Kwik-Kut tooth edge and plain edge choppers.

Psalm 10 and Ephesians 4:31-32 were read by Elizabeth Mullins to start the lesson "A New Year," stressing the point that God should be the leader in the fresh start in our journey of life. Lou Payne closed these thoughts with one of her beautiful prayers.

A beautifully set table, by Kaye Carr, with a variety of foods and drinks, refreshed the eleven females present.

Next month's hostess will be Linda Adams and the lesson will be given by Marjorie Shivel.

Priorities of Life

"Take heed, and beware of covetousness: for a man's life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth." (Luke 12:15)

How easy it is to so over indulge and over emphasize the relationships, emotions and activities of life that our perspective is lost. Thus it is that Jesus sent a warning that we need to get our priorities of life straight. There is more to life, things to which we give the highest priorities. We have a Hierarchy of life, but not too seriously should we our attitude toward marriage. Why? Our duties to our minister at death, never to be resumed (Matt. 22:9-30). But, our duties to God never end. While living we are accountable to Him, and after death we must answer to Him (2 Cor. 5:10). For these reasons, the desire of a mate should never take precedence over duty to the Lord (Lk. 14:26, Matt. 6:33).

JOY: We need doses of good clean fun and for the same reason we need dates (Prov. 12:22). But Solomon's conclusion was that there is more to life than having a good time (Eccl. 2:1-11). Wise use of time (Eph. 5:15). It involves a balance between enjoying life (Eccl. 8:15) and rejoicing in the Lord as did Paul (Phil. 4:4). Give the emphasis to rejoicing in the Lord, for God will "Ask" us about it (Eccl. 3:22).

We should have learned from the rich fool (Lk. 12:13-21) but we haven't. We rush to make more, buy more and have more, forgetting that our lives aren't made up of what we possess (Vs. 15). Sadly, some do not learn this until death (Vs. 20). Wives and husbands, parents and children are virtual strangers who have never known one another because of unnecessary time spent in chasing the dollar. Treasures in heaven have priority over treasures on earth (Matt. 6:19-21).

Friends, John wrote, "And the words passeth away, and the lust thereof: but he that doeth the will of God abideth forever" (1 Jno. 2:17). For these reasons, and for the sake of our souls remember that there is more to life than we often make of it. Obey the gospel (Mk. 16:16), and live faithfully for the Lord (Rev. 2:10). What are your priorities of life?

Winter safety tips

Rockcastle County has already experienced some severe weather this winter, and it's important to know how to cope with it. Gary Asher, head of the Engineering Department at the Rockcastle County Hospital and county coordinator for Disaster and Emergency Services, offered the following safety tips from the National Weather Service.

Get independent. Check battery-power equipment, a heating fuel, food stock and other supplies.

Dress for the season. Layers of protective clothing are more effective and efficient than single layers of thick clothing. Mittens are warmer than gloves. Hood should cover the mouth to protect lungs from extremely cold air.

Don't kill yourself shoveling snow. It's extremely hard work and can bring on a heart attack, a major cause of death during winter storms.

Take winter driving seriously. Keep your car "winterized". Carry a winter car kit containing equipment to help you keep warm, visible and alive if you are trapped in a winter storm.

If a blizzard traps you, avoid overexertion and exposure, stay in your vehicle (but keep it ventilated) exercise, turn on your dome light at night, stand watches and don't panic.

Asher also expalined the definition of several words used in winter forecasts.

Ice storm, freezing rain and freezing drizzle means that a coating of ice is expected.

Heavy snow means a fall of four to six or more inches is expected in the next 12 hours, or six or more inches in the next 24 hours. But heavy snow can mean two or three inches where winter storms are infrequent.

Blowing and drifting snow means strong winds and greatly reduced visibility.

Blizzard means windspeeds of at least 35 miles per hour, continuous falling and/or blowing snow, and temperatures of 20 degrees Fahrenheit or less, over an extended period.

Severe blizzard means windspeeds of at least 45 miles per hour, dense snow and temperatures of 10 degrees or less.

Cold wave means a rapid fall in temperatures within a 24-hour period that will require emergency protective action.

Watch means a winter storm is approaching and warning means a winter storm is imminent.

Asher said, "If people will follow these tips it should increase their chances for safely riding out a winter storm."

Boys lose to Pulaski, beat Model; Girls defeated by Lady Lions

Both the boys' and girls' basketball teams are struggling — each lost last week, the girls to Garrard County and the boys to Pulaski County. But, the boys bounced back Tuesday night to defeat Richmond Model, 69-49.

The boys, after being down 22-11 at the first quarter, pulled to within three points at 26-23 in the second quarter, mainly on four straight field goals by senior guard Roger Isaacs.

However, Pulaski rallied and held a 7 points, 34-27, lead at half-time. Then, after getting the first bucket of the second half, the Rockets started to lose ground. Pulaski was getting the inside and outside shots to fall and the Rockets just couldn't keep up. In the third quarter, the boys outscored 22-10 and the fourth quarter saw Pulaski add 26 more points to their total of 82 while the best the Rockets could muster was 10 more points for their final 48.

Leading scorers for the Rockets was center Chad Brock with 15; Isaacs got 13; Chris Cornelius 10; Shannon Bishop and Harold Graves, 4 each and Benny Blanton, 2.

Tuesday night, the boys played Richmond Model and, after a rocky first quarter, the Rockets got on track and outscored Model in each of the remaining three quarters of play.

Brock was high point man with 23; Bishop got 16; Isaacs, 13; Bruce Blanton, 9; Graves, 6 and Garry Fain and Tony Harrison, 1 each.

The Rockets next game, weather permitting, will be at home against Boyle Co. Friday night and next Tuesday night, the Rockets will host district-rival Jackson County.

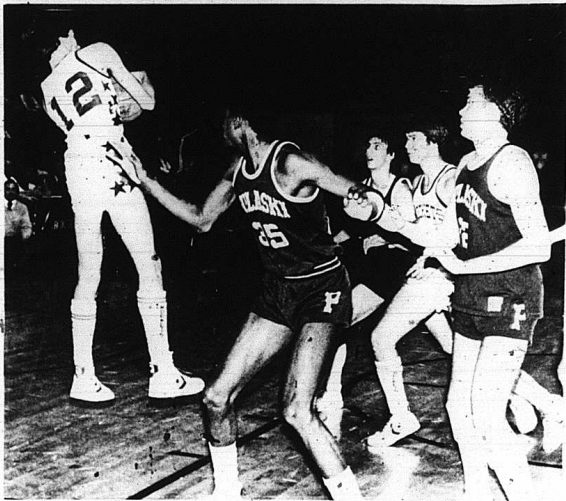

The girls lost to Garrard County, 52-40 last Thursday night and they shouldn't have. But, they were simply out-hustled and that and numerous turnovers spelled their doom.

The girls spotted Garrard County to a first-half lead of 26-15. And, the Lady Lions got as far ahead as 32-16 before the Rockets fought back to cut the deficit to 11 at the end of the third quarter.

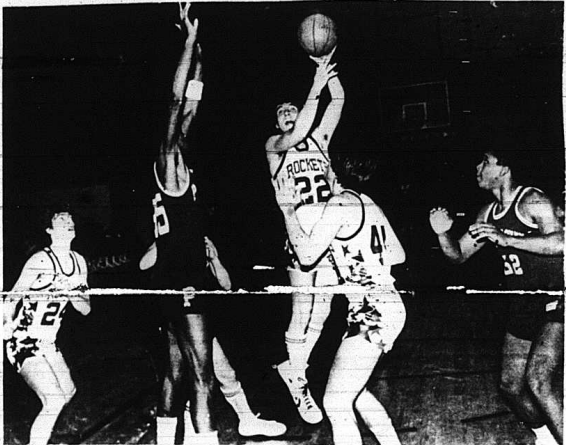

The Lady Lions made numerous trips to the free throw line during the game and they were impressive there.

Leading scorer for the Rockets was senior Theresa Sturgill with 17; junior forward Betty Milburn got 11 and Paige Anderkin and Tammy Faulkner each scored 6 points.

The girls' Monday night game at Monticello was called off due to the weather. They are scheduled to host Williamsburg this Thursday night and Clay County next Monday night.

Sophomore forward Jackie Woodall grabs a rebound for the Rockets against the much-bigger Pulaski County team last Friday night. The Rockets were beaten 82-48 in the contest. Also in the photo is sophomore forward Greg Mink.

Senior guard Chris Cornelius tries a shot against Pulaski County. Cornelius scored 10 points in the game which saw the Rockets get to within three of PC in the second quarter. But, the much-bigger team came back strong for the win. Also in the photo are Shannon Bishop, No. 24, and Chad Brock, No. 44.

Sophomore reserve guard Benny Blanton found himself trapped along the baseline Friday night by three Pulaski County players and there was a friendly Rocket face in sight. Blanton scored 2 points in the game which the Rockets lost 82-48 but they were trying desperately to find the ball during action Friday night against Pulaski County.

Bernheim hunt still needed

A serious deer overpopulation problem still exists on the Bernheim Forest Refuge and along its immediate perimeter in Nelson and Bullitt Counties and the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources has no intention of cancelling the emergency deer hunt set for February 3-6, Department Commissioner Carl E. Kays said today.

Reports of heavy poaching in the Bernheim vicinity have caused some to question whether the hunt would go on as scheduled. "Our evidence indicates that these reports have been greatly exaggerated," Kays said, adding that while poaching in the area, as in the rest of the state, is a constant problem, "we have no hard facts to support the claims that poachers have reduced the population enough to make the hunt unnecessary."

John Phillips, the department's deer specialist, was on the Bernheim Refuge Jan. 11 and without leaving the roads observed approximately 75 deer between noon and 4:30 p.m., Kays said. Phillips also counted "literally thousands" of deer tracks in the one-inch snow which blanketed the area.

Phillips reported that about half the deer he saw exhibited symptoms of severe malnutrition. "Their ribs and hip bones were showing and they had obvious pot bellies," the biologist said. Phillips also reported finding a dead fawn on the area that had apparently died of starvation. The deer weighed about 35 pounds, half what a normal deer its age should have weighed, Phillips said. Fawns born last spring would have been weaned by September and would have to compete with larger adult for the available food source. The completion of a successful hunt on Bernheim and the surrounding area should alleviate the poaching problem, Kays said, since the hunt will reduce deer numbers and cause the poachers either to give up or to move to more productive areas.

"We intend to run heavy patrols during the hunt and to strictly enforce existing laws against trespassing and hunting without permission," Kays said. Hunting on the private lands around Bernheim Forest will be only by permission of the property owner, and it is up to each individual to allow as many or as few hunters—or none at all—on his land as he wishes, Kays said.

Interest in the hunt is running high, with over 10,000 letters of application already received. Applications must be received in the department's Frankfort office by 4:30 p.m. January 13 and the random drawing to choose hunters will begin January 16.

"MILK PROGRAM"

The main drawback Mr. Ballinger sees to the program is that farmers are very restricted on how they dispose of their excess dairy cows in order to cut back population 5 to 30 percent. "Cows must be sold for slaughter, to another producer in the program, or for export and they won't bring but about $300 on the market now," Ballinger said.

"That's a loss of about $900 per cow and most dairy producers have already culled their herd and don't want to lose this much money," Ballinger said.

"Also, Ballinger said that farmers established their base with the dairies late in the year and that when the program goes out in March of 1985, producers would be held to this base or have to take a less price per pound for milk produced over their established base.

However, the government made it so attractive for people to get involved in the business that it has sort of gotten out of hand.

Participation in the program is voluntary.

"WINTERCARE PROJECT"

Care Program to provide a way for members to contribute to the fund.

A space is provided on your electric bill for you to indicate your desire to make a voluntary contribution of $1.00 or more to the fund. Your donation must be added to the amount due on the bill, simply write the amount you wish to contribute in the space where it says "WinterCare $_____ on your bill card and add it to your bill payment. Contributions through the Utility may be claimed as a tax deduction.

Contributions will be forwarded to WinterCare Energy Fund, Inc. in Lexington for distribution in Jackson County's service area through the Community Action Agency. Funds will be distributed according to the number of members served in each county qualifying for assistance. Community Action will provide established poverty guidelines to determine who will receive the assistance, regardless of who provides electric service.

Since the fund will be audited and both Jackson County RECC and the Community Action are providing the administrative costs of the program, contributors are assured that every dollar donated will go to help the needy. Conservation District Holds Monthly Meeting

The Rockcastle Conservation District held their regular monthly meeting on Monday, January 16, 1984, at 5:30 p.m. in the Soil Conservation Office at Mt. Vernon. Members present were D.A. Robbins, Lloyd Cain, Tommy Mink, Jack Dalton and Wallace Proctor. The poster-essay contest was discussed. All schools have been notified as to winners and an awards presentation will be held in April. The board also discussed some potential RC&D and RAMP projects for the county. David Stipes, District Conservationist announced that he would be working Lancaster on a part-time basis in addition to Mt. Vernon for a while. David also reported that the Measure Plan for Lake Linville is all complete. The meeting adjourned at 4:30 p.m.

Dear Editor,

I write to inform you of the recent action taken by the KEA-Central District Board of Directors at its January meeting. Unanimously, the board adopted a position opposing any type of competency testing for teachers presently employed. (This position in no way conflicts with or diminishes the board's support of competency testing for beginning teachers.)

The KEA-Central District Board questions the legality and equity of any condition for continuing employment for teachers currently employed. Moreover, it firmly believes that a procedure now exists which both allows for and prescribes a procedure for dismissal.

The board seeks quality education. However, it does not see the testing of experienced teachers as a means of attaining quality.

Sincerely,
David Allen, President
KEA-Central District

Jenny Hunt,
Board of Directors
KEA-Central District

Special project funds available

According to Mr. James E. Brown, Chairman of the Rockcastle County ASCS Committee, the Secretary of Agriculture has announced new initiatives to encourage more farmers to reduce soil erosion and improve natural resources. One such initiative is a special ACP for farmers enrolled in 1984 commodity program requiring an acreage reduction. Mr. Brown went on to say the Agriculture Department's goal in implementing this project is to determine a producer's willingness to make a long-term commitment to retire highly erodible land.

Cost-share rates for this project is 90% of the actual cost to the producer not to exceed an amount established by the County Committee. Sign-up period is scheduled Jan. 16 through Feb. 24, 1984.

The ACR Special Project will be coordinated with SCS and FS at the state and local levels to provide necessary technical assistance in determining cropland eligibility. Land Eligible must be land eligible for acreage reduction under one of the commodity programs, that is land that has been row cropped 2 of the last 3 years. Under this special project the land considered will only be eligible for cost-sharing in class 3e soil or above. Participants are assured that the acreage within the project will be eligible for any acreage reduction program through 1985.

Practices approved for this type project are: ACR-1 and ACR-2 Vegetative Cover and ACR-2 Tree Plantations. Acreages seeded under the ACR-1 shall not be mechanically harvested during 1984. Producers interested in this type of cost-share assistance should contact the Rockcastle Co. ASCS office. Remember the sign-up period ends February 24, 1984.

PSST!

We wanted to be the first to let you know that our energy management program is now underway.

We are placing equipment in several homes in our service area to find out how and when families use electricity.

We have found the time that consumers use electricity is an important factor in future electric costs.

Our projects are now in the early stages and the outlook for positive results looks good for all members.

Now that the cat is out of the bag... we're anxious to get started.
