ramblings
by: perlina m. anderkin

We have encountered a new wrinkle in aggravation which has us somewhat baffled as to the reason behind it.

Some weeks ago, an older lady in the county called me to ask if I had called her to verify her engagement announcement, which we had received over the phone at the Signal-office.

The lady was "rather bewildered" over the affair since there was no connection between her and the man named.

We were also bewildered, to say the least, since we could not figure out what anyone had to gain by this harassment and the "plot thickened" when the lady was contacted twice more by the same person, each time identifying herself as me, and both times coming back with the same story of verifying the supposed engagement announcement.

In fact, the last time was on a Wednesday night and she was told that we were sorry but the announcement had gotten by us and would be in the paper that week.

Needless to say, the announcement never appeared and, after thoroughly discussing it, we wrote it off as the strange actions of someone who obviously had little to do with their time.

But, the early part of this week, we had another lady to come into the office and ask if I was the lady who had called her to verify her engagement announcement to a man with whom she had no connection.

The lady repeated the same conversation almost verbatim that the first lady had told us and we began to get just a little angry.

We no longer take engagement announcements over the phone and haven't for some time now. In fact, we may get to the point where they have to "pop the question" right in front of us in order for us to be comfortable about printing it. And, as anyone who knows me can tell you, it's like pulling teeth to get me to conduct any Signal business after hours when these calls have been made.

Anyway, please do not waste your time with a conversation with anyone representing themselves to be me. If it is me, I will think of some way to let you know it for sure but if you receive such a call, please let us know immediately so that we may document these calls to the phone company who are very interested in all this foolishness...

After a spell of almost 70 degree weather, it was rather tiresome to discover Tuesday that what had been threatened for two days, actually going to happen.

We were forced to go home, put the seed catalogues away, and hunt up heavy coats, boots and gloves again.

Of course, February is still a winter month and we can expect this type of weather but that doesn't help any when you have already decided that an early Spring is on the way...

CAP employs coordinator of emergency assistance

The Christian Appalachian Project (CAP) is expanding its efforts to meet emergency needs for food, clothing and small crisis loans with the employment of Deanna Webb as a full time Coordinator of Emergency Assistance. The home base for Ms. Webb's work is Rockcastle County and the new central office for the program is located next to the Mt. Vernon Attic on Williams Street. The new emergency assistance office is open Monday through Friday mornings from 8:30 to 11:30, or may be reached by calling 256-4810. Ms. Webb is also coordinating CAP's emergency assistance work in Lincoln and Garrard counties. She is available at the Stanford Attic on Monday and Wednesday afternoons and the Lancaster Attic on Tuesday and Friday afternoons. In addition she is monitoring CAP's emergency program in Floyd County and investigating how CAP can best be of assistance to already existing programs in Madison and Pulaski counties. Ms. Webb comes to her new position with a varied background and much experience. She has worked primarily in church vocation and is an ordained Presbyterian minister. She did her graduate study at Louisville Theological Seminary where she specialized in Pastoral Care and Counseling. Prior to returning to Kentucky, she served two churches in northwestern Ohio. From 1973 to 1976 Ms. Webb was Director of Hazard-Perry County Community Ministries, Inc. in eastern Kentucky. "The Lord taught us that we are to feed the hungry, give drink to the thirsty, receive the stranger, clothe the naked, visit the sick—and imprisoned and whatever we do for the least ones we do for Him," says Ms. Webb. "This is why I am involved in Christian emergency assistance work." "I am looking forward to working with churches, local agencies, officials and concerned residents" continues Ms. Webb. "The better we are able to cooperate and work together and pool our resources, the more people we will be able to help with the least duplication of services." The Christian Appalachian Project estimates that it served over a thousand Rockcastle County residents with its emergency assistance program in 1983. It is looking forward to greater service in 1984.

"Though modesty is a virtue, bashfulness is a vice."

Partial Truth

Truth is essential for salvation. Solomon said, "Buy the truth and sell it not" (Prov. 23:23). Faithful continuance in the word is the key to having life (John 8:31-32). One who does not love the truth can be deluded and lost (2 Thess. 2:10-12). However, in order to please God, one must have the WHOLE truth. Truth is so powerful that partial truth becomes dangerous. Here are some examples:

1. Some religionists say, "There is no such thing as pain; it is all in your mind." This is partially true in that some imagine pain. Nonetheless, Jesus did not deny the reality of suffering (John 16:33). Pain is a safeguard to identify more serious potential trouble. To deny its reality and embrace a false doctrine (with its other attendant errors) signals a danger of partial truth.
2. Another partial truth: "Love conquers all." There is power in love (I Cor. 13: I Pet. 4:8). If properly understood and applied, it truly is what the world needs. But love does not excuse; it demands. It is not a substitute for obedience. Love will conquer all only for those who practice the type of love exemplified and required by Christ (John 14: 15, 23).
3. Another partial truth: "God saves one who is sincere and honest." It is certainly true that those who are not sincere and honest do not have the approval of God, but one may be sincerely lost as was Cornelius (Acts 10). Saul of Tarsus was conscientious and sincere even when he was rebellious before his conversion. Christ (Acts 23:1; 26:9).

4. Another partial truth: "If my conscience is clear, I will be ready to meet God." Truly one whose conscience condemns him is not ready to meet God (I John 3:19-21). There is a sense in which one should "let your conscience be your guide," if you know what is right and rebel to the point that conscience makes you miserable, you should listen to your conscience (2 Pet. 2:7-8). But what if the conscience has not been properly taught? One can have a clear conscience and still not be right, as did Saul (Act. 23:1).
5. A final partial truth: "God saves one who believes." This is partially true because one cannot please God without faith (Heb. 11:6). However, to stop at "faith only," leaving out other requirements for salvation such as repentance (Acts 17:30), confession of faith (Rom. 10: 9-10), and baptism (I Pet. 3:21) is to embrace only partial truth. There is indeed danger in partial truth!

Arts Council is reorganizing

The initial year in the organization of the Rockcastle Council for the Arts was truly successful. The first project, a musical production "By Hex," drew from the talents of over thirty county residents and was well received by the community. The Council met February 8, 1984 to reorganize for the coming year. Members Lisa Clontz, Danny McKinney, Vicki Cox, Patty Towery, Buzzy Carlotta, Martha Cox considered several possible projects for 1984. These include an art contest-outdoor concerts and a major play production. The Council hopes to provide an opportunity for all ages to participate and enjoy. In order to implement these programs the Council applied for and was granted over $1,000 by the Kentucky Council for the Arts. This money must be matched by our community support from any individual or organization is invited. The council will meet Wednesday, February 29 at 6 p.m. at the PCA building. Anyone interested in helping with Council programs may contact any council member for information.

Mrs. Osborne's 8th grade class at Roundstone Elementary School celebrated Valentine's Day in a special way this year, by raising money for the American Heart Association. The class held a "Mr. and Miss Sweetheart" contest in which the votes

Commodities

Commodities will be distributed Thursday, March 1, 1984 at Livingston Pentecost Church, Broadhead Baptist, First Christian Church and First Christian Church in Mt. Vernon, from 1:30 to 4:00 p.m. You must bring your commodity card.

Presenting Billy Hiatt of the local heart association with the money raised during the Valentine's Day event were Sherri Mink and Matt Manzi, Mr. and Miss Sweetheart.

House Bill 568 would increase school property tax

If House Bill 568 is approved by the Senate Rockcastle Counties, along with residents in 44 other school districts, will find the bite for school property tax considerably heavier—about 49% more.

The bill, sponsored by Rep. Joe Clarke, D-Danville, chairman of the House Appropriations and Revenue Committee, would require local school districts to impose a minimum property tax of 15 cents per $100 of assessed valuation.

Any district not enacting the minimum levy would not be eligible for state funding from the power equalization program.

Last year, Rockcastle received $291,857 in power equalization money, school superintendent Charles Parsons said, and this amount is increased a little each year. Parsons added that Parsons said this money is included in the general budget and that the board has "been trying to keep a little of it, as we could in contingency for (our) building program and this show up in our cash on hand at the end of the year."

Representative Danny Ford, R-Mt. Vernon, who voted against the measure, said he did so because "I feel like counties should have the freedom to levy any type tax they want to support their school system." Ford went on to point out that Pulaski County school district, of which he has a portion in his legislative district, presently has no school property tax but gets their local funding from a utility tax which gives them over $200,000 a year. Under the new school property tax, Pulaski would realize some $50,000 less in income.

And, this example is what Ford based his "no" vote on.

Monetarily, the required 15 cents per $100 assessed valuation tax would mean an additional $36.50 per $50,000 property assessment.

1983's tax bill was for 7.7 cents per $100 assessed value and the 1984 tax bill, which would go into effect July 1, 1984, if passed by the Senate, would reflect the 15 cents per $100 rate.

Overall, the 15 cents rate would realize $90,000 give or take a few thousand, in local tax money for the school system. And, projections are that $6.1 million would be raised the first year across the state.

The measure is similar to one adopted 26 to 11 last Friday by the Senate. But that measure, SB 219, sponsored by Sen. Michael Moberly, D-Lexington, would credit both the general property tax rate for schools and the special building tax to the 15-cent level. With the credit for the special building tax, it would affect only 25 school districts.

The bill sponsored by Clarke would include credit toward the 15-cent level just for the general property tax rate and not for the special building tax. Also, because of the defeat of an amendment sponsored by Rep. Harry Moberly, D-Richmond, it would not include credit for any of the so-called permissive "taxability tax, occupational tax and excise income tax.

County Judge Executive Bob Jasper recently signed a proclamation declaring February 18-25 as FFA Week in Rockcastle County. Looking on during the ceremony were, these FFA officers, from left: Dwayne McKinney, secreta-

This reform, not only speeds up the criminal prosecution, but it will give the District Judge a little more time to devote to their heavy caseloads."

increase imposed under Clarke's bill would be exempt from recall efforts.

"The goal is to see minimal use of the local property tax levy wherever a 'get power' equalization money," said Clarke in speaking against Moberly's amendment, which would include both a building tax rate and the permissive taxes as credit for the minimum 15-cent level.

Moberly's amendment failed, with 40 representatives voting for it and 55 against.

"We consistently hit the state level for more support of education and rank high (among other states) for that. But we're at the bottom for local effort," said Clarke.

In speaking against the bill, Rep. Jim Maggard, D-Jackson, said, "We are forcing school districts to adopt a 15-cent property tax rate to get power equalization money. And without power equalization, there will be no education in Eastern Kentucky. That's not fair. The people of this state are not going to accept more taxes."

Other counties affected by the 15 cents per $100 of assessed valuation include: Adair, Allen, arren, Breckinridge, Caldwell, Casey, Clark, Cumberland, Estill, Green, Hancock, Harrison, Hickman, Johnson, Logan, Monroe, Muhlenberg, Nicholas, Owsley, Rowan, Russell, Simpson, Todd, Taylor, Wayne, Washington, Whitley, Wolfe, Butler, Graves, Grayson, Hardin, Hickman, Leslie, Livingston, Logan, Owsley, Pulaski, Rockcastle, Ohio, Pulaski, Berea Independent, Coburn Independent and Greenville Independent.

SB 219 would affect these school districts: Butler, Casey, Cumberland, Estill, Graves, Grayson, Hardin, Hickman, Leslie, Livingston, Logan, Lyon, McLean, Madison, Marshall, Menifee, Muhlenberg, Ohio, Owsley, Pulaski, Rockcastle, Russell, Todd, Whitley and Wolfe.

Venters' changes circuit court term to continuous session

By an order dated February 16, 1983, Circuit Judge Daniel J. Venters abolished the traditional "terms" of court under which the Pulaski and Rockcastle Circuit Courts have operated for several decades.

In the past, jury trials in Pulaski County were held during three (3) terms per year. Each term lasted eight (8) weeks and was divided into a four week session of criminal trials and a four week session of civil trials. Trial sessions in Rockcastle County consisted of three 5-week terms each year.

The Circuit of the 28th Judicial Circuit is now a court of continuous session, with cases being set for trial "at the discretion of the Court."

process of reform.

As a trial judge in this Circuit, I have a constitutional obligation to provide an efficient and prompt forum for the resolution of legal disputes. There is much truth in the old adage "justice delayed is justice denied." If, as a trial judge, and the members of the legal community, do not undertake earnest efforts to recognize and amend the deficiencies of our systems, then we can expect more severe and less controlled reform to be imposed upon us from the legislature and the Supreme Court. Such super-imposed reform is already on the horizon."

Another reform instituted by Judge Venters is already in effect. The Grand Jurors of Pulaski County and Rockcastle County will be meeting every month to review cases for possible criminal indictments. Formerly, Grand Jurors only met during the Court terms, three times each year. If a felony was committed just after the Grand Jury adjourned, it would often have to wait up to 90 days for the next Grand Jury to convene before the prosecution in Circuit Court could even begin. "If a felony offense occurs, or is alleged, the prosecution in Circuit Court should begin as soon as possible. There is no reason to have to wait three months before a Grand Jury convenes. Having served as a District Judge, I am keenly aware of the need to relieve the burden on that Court. More frequent Grand Jury sessions will relieve the District Judges of the burden of conducting some of the preliminary hearings and bail hearings in cases awaiting Grand Jury action. This reform, not only speeds up the criminal prosecution, but it will give the District Judge a little more time to devote to their heavy caseloads."

Change to May primary will not affect county financially

"This change, ending the concept of limited terms during which the Court sat to conduct jury trials, will not, in and of itself, make a difference in the disposition of particular cases," Judge Venters explained. "But it is the first step toward improving the Court's ability to serve the needs of the public. We have reworked the constraints which limited to specific weeks out of the year when cases could be tried. We can now schedule cases for trials more efficiently, and more frequently."

"Given the present case loads of most courts, the most valuable resource we have is time," the Judge continued. "Unfortunately, we do not make good, efficient use of the time we have available for trial. For example, we have just concluded a 'criminal term' of court in which four weeks were allocated for trials. In fact, only four days were actually used for criminal jury trials. Cases scheduled for trial on the other days were disposed of by guilty pleas or dismissals, without trials. Those days would have been available to try other cases. It is not the fault of any person or office. It is an inherent defect in the system of scheduling cases for trial, which may have worked well to handle the caseload of a generation ago, but does not meet our needs today. I am beginning the

Some rural Kentucky counties fear a financial crunch if Gov. Martha Layne Collins signs into law a bill that would keep the state's primary election in May but Rockcastle isn't one of them.

Many fiscal courts would suffer because they had budgeted no funds in the current fiscal year for a primary election, some judge-executives say.

If Collins signs the bill or allows it to become law without her signature, it would become effective immediately.

However, Rockcastle County Judge/Executive Bob Jasper said that Rockcastle County had budgeted the usual amount for the election, but this is never enough, we always have to rake it up (the difference) from somewhere else," Jasper said.

The County Judge/Executives of McCreary, Wayne and Pulaski counties all said in a recent Courier-Journal story that the switch back to the May primary would cause a problem because of not having funds for the election appropriated in this fiscal year.

An official of the state Finance Cabinet said this morning that he was asking county officials who feared budget problems as a result of the switch to contact the governor's office before Collins puts her stamp of approval on the bill.

But Drex Davis, Jr., the field representative for the state Local Finance Office, said his office was not taking an active role in trying to urge the governor to veto the measure.

The state probably would take a lenient attitude toward any counties who went into debt over the issue, as long as it was a small debt, he said.

The state Local Finance Office has estimated switching the primary back to May would cost Kentucky's 120 counties about $1 million, Davis said.

In 1982, the General Assembly moved the primary from May back to August. This would have been the first year in which the primary was held in August.

FFA chapter observes national FFA Week

Members of the 161 Kentucky FFA Chapters will join with the approximately 500,000 other FFA members in the United States in celebrating National FFA Week, which starts February 18. Governor Martha Layne Collins, has signed a proclamation declaring February 18-25 as FFA Week in Kentucky.

National FFA Week always includes George Washington's birthday in observance of his leadership in promoting scientific farming practices. Washington is considered the patron

Arvin home broken into

The home of Dr. and Mrs. Orson Arvin in Mt. Vernon was entered some time last week by burglars. D&M are presently in Europe on vacation.

The theft was discovered Thursday night by the Arvin's son who was unable to give law officers a complete list of items missing although he did list three guns and some silverware.

Sheriff William Taylor said entry to the home was gained by breaking out a door window on the lower level.

Commodities

Commodities will be distributed Thursday, March 1, 1984 at Livingston Pentecostal Church, Broadhead Baptist, First Baptist Church and First Christian Church in Mt. Vernon from 1:00 to 4:00 p.m. You must bring your commodity card.

Residents near landfill given chance to "gripe"

Residents near the proposed county landfill site are being given an opportunity to protest the construction of the landfill prior to a permit being issued for construction by the Division of Waste Management, Kentucky Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Cabinet.

County Judge/Executive Bob Jasper said Monday he didn't see any real problems with the site, just off the Mullins Station Road, in the area are served by city water.

About one acre of the 50 acre site will be developed initially, Jasper said, and eventually 10 to 15 acres of the site will be used for landfill.

The county has received no financial help from the state or federal government but they have already paid the bulk of the engineering fees which is one of the big expense items, Jasper said.

Jasper does intend to still try for matching monies which were available at one time.

There is still at least a half acre of road to build to the site and a great deal of dirt has to be hauled from the industrial park to line the landfill with the right type of dirt.

Jasper said the landfill was such a priority item of the county's waste disposal program that the expense involved in hauling garbage to the landfill at Lily.

Host families needed for foreign exchange group

A group of twenty IFYE (International Fourth Youth Exchange) Ambassadors will be visiting the United States this summer and are interested in staying in Kentucky. Cockstons County and the counties which has been invited to host part of this group. This is the same program that allowed our county to host five youth from Luxembourg last summer.

The group will be arriving around July 21 and will be staying four weeks. Any one interested in being a host family should contact the Extension office.

By hosting one of the ambassadors, a family can become acquainted with other languages and cultures, and share in teaching about our culture. Hosting families are asked to continue their normal routines treating their exchange as a family member rather than as a visitor, so they can get an accurate idea of our lifestyle.

Snowfall

According to local weather records, keeper, Bud Cox, two inches of snow fell Tuesday afternoon and night.

The weather the whole week was such that school officials didn't feel comfortable taking a chance on the roads. They have already had an additional three days to make up through Wednesday, bringing to about 11 days the total "make-up" time so far.

RECC loan approved

Fifth District Congressman Harold Rogers has announced that the Rural Electrification Administration in Washington has approved a loan of $2,988,000 for the South Kentucky Rural Electrification Cooperative. Letter to the Editor

Dear Readers,

I have just learned that during the first week of March (March 6) Senate Majority Leader Howard Baker plans to bring to the floor of the United States Senate an amendment to permit children to pray in public schools. Chances of passage are very good if you contact your two senators by personal visit, telephone, telegram or letter. If senators must vote yes. A number are undecided. Among them are Kentucky Senators Walter D. Huddleston and Wendell H. Ford. It would make a tremendous impact on their decision if we, the people of Kentucky shared with them our support for vocal school prayer.

Mention that the alternate "silent prayer" amendment would make Transcendental Meditation the official religion of America. This cannot be supported.

PLEASE take time to telephone or write your senators about this very urgent need. Each telephone call and letter is recorded. Time is critical and winding down quickly. ACT NOW! Your voice is important. Let it be heard!

To call your senator, simply dial 1-202-224-3121 and ask for his office.

To write, address all correspondence to: The Honorable Walter D. Huddleston, The Honorable Wendell H. Ford, United States Senate, Washington, D.C. 20510. The only thing necessary for the triumph of evil is for good men to do nothing!

Annual community service scholarships

The Christian Appalachian Project announces its annual scholarship program designed to promote community spirit and involvement. This year $1,000.00 in scholarships money will be awarded to each of the following counties: Clay, Floyd, Garrard, Jackson, Jessamine, Knott, Letcher, Lincoln, Madison, Magoffin, Martin, Pulaski, Rockcastle, Whitley and Wolfe. Additional grants of $1,000.00 will be awarded to the Buckhorn Children's Center, Oneida Baptist Institute, Redbird Mission, and students of Kentucky School for the Deaf from the Appalachian counties.

These scholarships are unique in that grade standing and family financial circumstances are not the prime factors for selection. Citizens' Committees from each community select the recipient or recipients from their county based upon involvements and contributions to their local commuunities. Applicants for the scholarships must be graduating seniors. However, it would be beneficial to younger students to enquire into requirements of scholarships for future reference. Examples of student involvement might be volunteer work as hospital aides, visits to the sick and elderly, church related community projects, leadership roles in scouting, as well as community improvements

Nutrition Tips

Good nutrition makes you a winner

March is National Nutrition Month and "keeping in mind the 1984 Olympic Games the American Dietetic Association has made their theme "Everybody Wins With Good Nutrition." With the emphasis this year on sports and exercise, the American public needs accurate information on good nutrition practices. Americans spend millions of dollars every year on weight control. According to the American Dietetic Association, more than $50 million is spent annually on diet and exercise books alone. Many of the diet books are written by people who simply "want to" make money. And there are many books which promote quick weight loss diets that are unbalanced and often harmful.

Jill Stevens, the registered dietitian at the Rockcastle County Hospital, offered the following suggestions. To evaluate a new diet ask these questions:

1. Are foods from each of the four food groups supplied daily (vegetables and fruits; milk and cheese; meat, poultry, fish and beans; and breads and cereals)? If these groups are not included the diet is not balanced.
2. Does the diet rely on one or more "magic" foods or combinations of foods?
3. Does it provide fewer than 1000 calories a day? (This is very unsafe.)
4. Does it promise weight loss miracles, that sound too good to be true? If so, it is probably too good to be true.
5. Who is the author? Check their credentials. The author may have impressive sounding degrees after their name which mean nothing. Legislation has been proposed in Kentucky that would require a person to meet minimum education standards before they could be called a "nutritionist," "dietitian," or "nutrition educator."

Sunshine Ladies run gift cart

Thanks to four volunteers, the Rockcastle County Hospital has its first gift cart.

Pearlite Whitaker, Etta Mullins, Beulah Roberts and Eleanor Shafterly call themselves the Rockcastle County Hospital Sunshine Ladies. They became interested in the hospital several months ago when they came to the Skilled Nursing Facility to visit the residents, have prayer and read the Bible to them.

Mrs. Whitaker was the one who thought of starting a gift cart, and her friends were in agreement. The purpose of the cart is to have health and beauty aids and small gift items available to patients and visitors who are unable to leave the hospital to buy the things they need.

The Bank of Mt. Vernon supported the project by making a donation of $100 to buy the first merchandise. Several others have also made donations. They include Judge Bob Jasper, Mable Zaino, Alma Davis, Mildred Berry, Eric McKinney, Mrs. Ronald McFerron and Pearlite Whitaker.

The cart has been in use for a month, and Mrs. Whitaker reported that it has been well received by patients and visitors in both the acute and skilled facilities. She said, "They've told us they appreciate it and they are buying several items. That shows it is reaching out."

The ladies enjoy their volunteer work with the patients at Rockcastle. "We get a blessing out of it," said Mrs. Whitaker.

Boggs and Gutierrez look forward to bringing specialties to county

DR. KIM BOGGS will be taking a place on the Rockcastle County Hospital's medical staff, toward the middle of March, adding the specialty of pediatrics to the medical services available to the people in the county. Pediatrics specializes in care for newborns to age 18.

Boggs is originally from Wisconsin. He attended the Medical College of Virginia in Richmond, then went to Ohio State Medical College where he was taught while using his residency at Columbus Children's Hospital.

He decided to settle in Rockcastle County for several reasons. "I'm from a small town," said the 30-year-old pediatrician, "and I am anxious to get back to a small community. I like this area; the people seem to be down-to-earth, the pace of life is slower, and the community is very friendly."

He added, "The main reason I'm looking forward to the practice is I love kids and I like a challenge and a need for the particular type of care I hope to provide. There is a great need here, and we hope to be able to serve the community in a much improved way over what they've had to face the past several years."

Boggs took some additional critical training in the older child while doing his residency. "When I start here I plan on expanding my typical pediatric practice to include the adolescent. I think our adolescents of today are facing a multitude of problems, psychologically and socially as well as physically. The American Academy of Pediatrics is certainly trying to impress upon the pediatricians of today to make ourselves available to young adults."

He noted, "I think it's important not to cut these patients off when they reach the age of 12 or 13." Boggs concluded by saying, "I'm looking forward to getting down here and working with the community, with the health system, and to making myself available to the parents and children in this area." Boggs' practice will be located in the physicians' office building being erected across from the Skilled Nursing Facility in back of the hospital.

DR. MIKE GUTIERREZ, a specialist in internal medicine, will be starting his practice in Rockcastle County early in July. Internal medicine deals with adult diseases that generally do not require surgery.

Gutierrez, a native of Golden, Colorado (a suburb of Denver), almost didn't become a physician. He started college as an engineering student at the Colorado School of Mines and was drafted. He served in Vietnam for two years as a pathologist assistant in the Army, and when he got back to the United States he decided he wanted to get into the field of medicine.

After completing his degree in chemistry from Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore, Gutierrez went back to his home state and entered the University of Colorado Medical School. He decided to specialize in internal medicine and came to the University of Kentucky Medical Center to do his residency. He likes U.K. because it has a big university program without being in a large city.

Gutierrez had originally planned to practice in southwestern Colorado where he could participate in two of his favorite sports, mountain climbing and skiing. But he changed his mind. "I came out here to do my training at the University of Kentucky," said the 34-year-old internist, "and I decided to stay. They need doctors here more than in southwestern Colorado."

Gutierrez heard about the Rockcastle County Hospital through a friend, and came to the county on his own to check things out. He liked what he saw. "I guess I picked Rockcastle because a friend of mine told me they needed an internist very desperately since they didn't have one in the county."

He and his wife Alison moved to the county in November and they both commute to U.K. to finish his residency and she to pursue a degree in hospital administration. He likes living in this area.

"All my life I've wanted to live in the country," said Gutierrez. "And I'm delighted to be here. Rockcastle is a delightful place to live."

He got his emphasis in cardiac and respiratory diseases while specializing as an internist. He pointed out that in his practice he'll be dealing with serious, more difficult diseases.

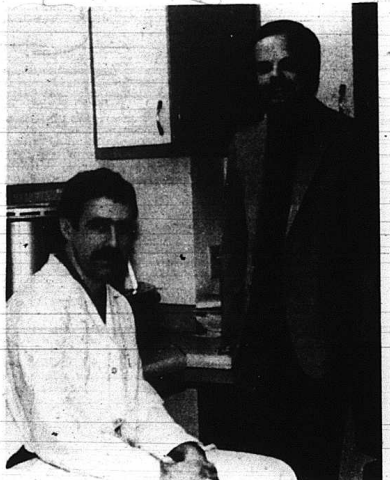

"I think, more than anything else, the one thing I can offer the people in the county that they don't have now is the ability to take care of the seriously ill without having them go to Lexington."

Several area residents met Gutierrez when he worked in the hospital's emergency room in November, and during the Christmas and New Year's holidays.

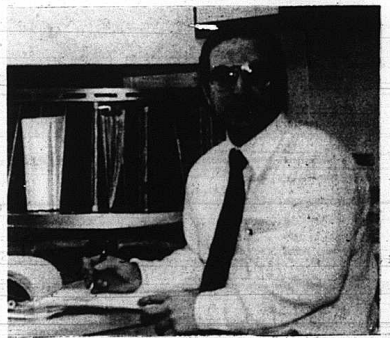

Gutierrez is anxious to begin his practice after spending the last several years in training. "When you get to the end of any training program it's like the end of a game," he said, "and you can't wait to get it over with!"

Does he regret not going into engineering? "Now that I'm in medicine I can't imagine doing anything else."

Gutierrez's practice will also be located in the physicians' office building in back of the hospital.

Dr. Kim Boggs, right, the county's new pediatrician, discusses the hospital with a fellow physician, Dr. P.J. Monteyne, left, who is a general practitioner. Boggs will begin his practice around the middle of March.

Dr. Mike Gutierrez looks over a patient's chart at the Rockcastle County Hospital. Gutierrez will join the hospital's medical staff in early July as the new specialist in internal medicine.

Outpatient surgery at RCH allows you to recover at home

No one likes to have surgery, but if it's a procedure that can be done on an outpatient basis it keeps a patient from having an overnight stay in the hospital. Out-patient surgery is usually done in the operating room, and if no complications arise, the patient goes home the same day as the operation.

under the direction of Dr. A.T.T. Thomsen, a general surgeon. He is aided by an anesthesiologist and an operating room nursing staff.

One of the main reasons for the increase in outpatient surgery is that insurance companies as well as Medicare and Medicaid have started refusing to pay for inpatient surgery that could have been done on an outpatient basis.

The steps to follow for outpatient surgery are simple. After the surgeon determines a patient should have outpatient surgery, he sets a date for the operation. In most cases he then instructs the patient to come to the hospital the day before the surgery is scheduled to have a urinalysis, a complete blood count and a chest x-ray. If the patient's surgery is arranged for early morning, they are usually home around noon after recovering and being released by the doctor.

The surgeon and the nursing staff at Rockcastle make sure that outpatients receive the individual attention and expert care that inpatients receive.

Several of the procedures performed at the Rockcastle County Hospital include the following: excision of cysts, lesions, and tumors, circumcisions, minor skin grafts, male and female sterilizations, repairing minor fractures, toenail removal, D and C's, and biopsies of the breast, cervix, and muscle.

Tonsillectomies, closing lacerations, and repairing hernia ruptures are also performed on an outpatient basis, along with several other operations.

An operating room nurse and the anesthesiologist check a patient's vital signs as she recovers from outpatient surgery at the Rockcastle County Hospital.

Rockcastle homemakers
enjoy international dinner

Rockcastle County's Homemakers enjoyed the tasty foreign foods brought by the members of the county's library dining room, February 24, 1984.

Flags of many countries made by Quail Club, were used as centerpieces on the white table cloths. The Brodhead Club placed the food and recipes on the serving table; the Rise and Shine Club had charge of the drinks and the displaying of the foreign items brought for display, and the Happy Hearts Club had the clean-up job.

Quail, also, supplied the table of her recent trip to Germany to visit her mother and tours she made to Switzerland, England, France, Austria, etc. Her experience in the National Airports proved interesting as she saw and heard people from so many countries. She was fortunate enough to see the Queen of England in that country; almost being kissed by a Frenchman on a street in Paris; visiting the old massive castles in Austria; visiting and dining with a German family; but decided that Switzerland offered the most beautiful scenery of all the countries that she

By Hilda Gabbard

Hello from Clear Creek. These past warm, sunny days have given folks on the creek spring fever. Of course the seed catalogues coming in the mail just made matters worse. I've been looking them over to find some kumquat seeds. I hear he asked Joe Abney if they saved any and Joe said "No, we have none but I may be able to get you some from Virgil and Cuma Abney over at Roundstone."

If any of you have some to share, mail to Cleve, Route 2.

Clear Creek folk send sympathy and love to the grief of Lorene Hurley whose father, Roscoe, Sloan of McKee, passed away after a long illness. In the last months Lorene and Raymond had visited her father and mother often to help with the housework. Lorene was slipping away. Lorene's sorrow of her mother who survives has long time companionship.

I'm sure you realize my last column was about three weeks late due to a mishap but none of us take the blame.

Matilda Miller was sitting at her kitchen table and reading. She could hardly wait for spring to come around when she could get out after the cold days of winter. As many others on the creek...

er to Mr. Vernon or Bera to do her grocery shopping. The Hardings, David and wife Kathy, had gone to Berea recently to visit daughter Kathleen and Hubert Abney. It was a kind of "going away party" for the Abney's son, Douglas, who was leaving for the Air Force in Texas where he will take basic training. The family gathered for the last time for the career he will undertake. We wish Douglas good luck from Clear Creek.

I asked Phyllis Harding about the 10 year quilt she was finishing this winter. "Oh yes, I finished that one last made another," she laughed.

Mary says the Clear Creek Baptist Church is in the planning stage for a revival service to be held in April. I will try to give you a definite date as soon as I hear and we hope you will plan to attend.

As I took my leave, Mary smiled and said, "We just wouldn't be without the Signal." I'm sure that is music to the Editor's ears!

Morgan Abney, nearly 94, of King Hollow, was in the Berea Hospital for a few days recently. The bereavement was hard on everybody this winter. I'm sure Morgan feels "If I could just see another spring, summer will take care of me."

Charley Northern and son, Randy of Hammond Fork and wife coming out of a grocery in Berea when I met them. Charley wore a full beard and Randy had the makings of one. What folks will do to keep warm in winter. I said, "I hardly knew you fellows!"

Charley was a onetime pupil of mine at the Anglin Falls School.

"That's because you're getting old," Charley answered with big grin and that I couldn't deny but did he have to be so truthful!

Eva Mullins was in Lexington along with kin-folks Margaret Linville, and Edd and Dorothy Mullins of the Scaffold Creek community. After looking out at a snowy winter and a glassy, ice covered lake, Eva was glad to visit the city and malls for a change.

Jean Harding had a nice visit from her aunt Dorothy and Uncle Vernon Riley from Dayton, Ohio recently who enjoyed the drive over the hills.

Jean has been babysitting for her daughter, Jeremy who is employed in Berea. She mentioned that I had found out during Valentine week carnation flowers were $25 a dozen and roses were $45 in the florist shop. She laughed and agreed with me when I said she and I were in the wrong business.

John B. Payne, Jr. set foot in Rockcastle County, the good old land where he once lived and chased girls, he hasn't quit I hear. He came back to Disputanta to visit his uncle Cleve Payne and to return to the grinds that he had borrowed. J.B. also was looking for some light-ever-lasting, a plant he used to smoke behind the barn as a boy (and who hasn't tried it long ago). With him was a friend, also from Cincinnati, Donnie Michale who said her parents came from Clay County and she understood all the country talk J.B. and Cleve were having.

Linda Johnson, our niece, who is employed by Dresser Industries in Berea says a fellow worker, Stanley Donahue of Jackson County takes the Signal and reads it.

with other workers. I think Stanley deserves a great big thank you from the Signal. And he gets to eat at the first table when we all come to eat.

We'd like to welcome Stanley and Ora Coffey of Hamilton, Ohio who is also a former Glee Club member as news readers of the Signal through the kindness of Ora's brother, Aster and Genevieve.

I went to school at Davis Branch with Stanley and his sister, Winnie. I admired the long plaid of blonde hair that Winnie wore. Stanley was a well behaved, neat and cleanly dressed boy who liked to play "Andy Over" with the rest of us kids around the schoolhouse. Today I realize it was the way their mother, Mollie Owens Coffey showed her love by the way her children were so clean looking with good manners.

Next week I'd like to tell you how I almost caused a change in principals of Roundstone School. My men: Give us the world the best you have and the best will come back to you.

Lice Control on Beef Cattle

Lice populations build up in the colder periods of the year when the environment on the animal is more conducive to lice survival. The entire cattle life cycle (egg, nymph and adult) exists only on cattle. None of the life stages can survive off the host. They cannot survive on other types of livestock or humans.

Lice are transferred from animal to animal by body contact in this fashion, an entire herd can become infested. During the summer, lice numbers are very low and usually concentrate on a few "carrier" animals. The hot summer and fall is a good time to try to eliminate lice from the herd. Lice biology makes it feasible to totally eliminate these pests from a herd if all animals are thoroughly treated.

1. All animals must be treated. If only one animal is left infested, that animal can serve as the reinfestation source for the rest of the herd.

2. Treat each animal twice. The first insecticide treatment kills the adult and nymph stage lice but leaves the eggs live and hatched from these eggs.

3. Keep the herd isolated from non-treated cattle. Any non-treated animal serves as a potential reinfestation source. Any new animals brought into the herd must be put through the "Double Treatment" program before they are allowed to join the herd. Also, cattle should be kept isolated with neighboring herds unless those animals have also been put through a similar "lice elimination" program.

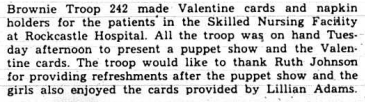

As you think about controlling lice, there are many effective ways and the cost varies with products used. The following is a cost comparison for treating 500 pound animals assuming that the cost for the container of material is $20.00. This is only a comparison and no product endorsement is implied.

Lysoff, pour on, 115-95 lb. animals treated per container at a cost of 17 cents per animal.

Warbox, pour on, 53 animals treated per container at 38 cents per animal.

Neguvon, pour on, 51 treated at 39 cents per animal.

Tiguvon, pour on, 51 treated at 39 cents per animal.

saint of the FFA and has come to symbolize the FFA treasurer.

Men who molded America came from the farms and plantations-farmer-statesmen of the past like George Washington and Thomas Jefferson. Future Farmers today are inspired by these same heroes of our Nation and her agriculture. The FFA theme for 1984 is "Vocational Agriculture and FFA-Keeping America on the Grow."

The Kentucky Association FFA Officers for this year are: president, Steve Meredith, West Hardin; vice president, Eric Bandy, Muhlenberg; Central secretary, Anthony Strong, Fulton County; treasurer, Dennis Truesdell, Tollesboro; reporter, John Lashbrook, Daviess County; Sentinel, Willis Coffey, Rockcastle County; Bluegrass Region vice president, Larry Britton, Woodford County; Lake Cumberland vice president, Scott Simpson, Pulaski County; Northern Ky. Dalton, 2127 Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort; and Advisor, Robert L. Kelley, 2125 Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort.

The Kentucky FFA Leadership Training Center, located in Hardinsburg, provided an opportunity for leadership development for approximately 1,100 members during the summer of 1983.

FFA Alumni Chapters are being organized in many counties across the state. The FFA Alumni Chapters are giving outstanding support to FFA members and their activities.

The FFA was organized in 1928 with the purpose of promoting leadership, cooperation and citizenship among high school vocational agriculture students. America's greatest return on investment will come in the form of its youth. The FFA theme, "Vocational Agriculture and FFA-Keeping America on the Grow" is promoted during this year. Vocational Agriculture and the FFA are helping prepare young people for careers in agriculture.

(Cont'd from P-12)

Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Tip Reppert and Melody were their son, Ronnie Reppert, Mrs. Reppert and son, Ronnie Dale of Conway.

I've enjoyed my phone calls recently from my brother, Ira in Tennessee and my sister, Myrtle in Amherst, Ohio and Hubert's brother and wife, Marion and Irene Chasteen in Fairfield, Ohio.

I also enjoyed talking to Mrs. Fieldon Carpenter by phone, she seems like such a good person and old fashioned too. I truly love old fashioned people and enjoy talked to them. Some day I hope to meet her. She told me she liked my newsletter in the Signal. She said every time she received the paper she always looked for the Fairview news. People tell me from time to time how they enjoy my writing. It always pleases me to hear of someone I have brought a little sunshine to and maybe helped someone along the way. With God's help that is what I like to do. I've always loved people.

Please, if possible have your family in Sunday School and church somewhere everytime. May God bless and keep you is my prayer.

Susan Mitchell DeBord, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tommy DeBord of Route 1, Brohead, celebrated her 6th birthday Saturday, February 11. She was given a party and received many nice gifts. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Lester Cottrell and paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Otis DeBord, all of Route 1, Brohead.

Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Wayne Mink would like to announce the birth of their first child, a son, born January 26, 1984, at Central Hospital in Lexington and has been named Kyle Reuben Wayne. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Hammond of Mt. Vernon and paternal grandparents are the late Eddie Harmon and Betty Jean Mink. Kyle was welcomed home by a cousin, Terri Lynne Abney.

Our poles are as high as everyone's. Our rates aren't.

A survey of 30 electric utilities shows that once again, KU's rates are among the lowest in the nation. We're about 39 percent below the highest listing, and 17 percent below the average cost for residential usage of 500 kilowatt hours in January, 1984. We are pleased that KU is lower than 27 other companies that reported.

We're working to keep our electric rates as low as possible. But even though our rates are low, the cost of providing reliable electric service continues to rise. Holding down the cost is everyone's concern and responsibility.

We will continue supplying the energy you need at the lowest possible cost. You can help by using electricity wisely.
