Trebolo certified Tree Farmer

Stephen Trebolo's woodland near Brodhead, was recently certified as a Tree Farm by the American Tree Farm System. Kenneth Thompson, Service Forester with the Kentucky Division of Forestry, presented Mr. Trebolo his certificate for his good forest management in behalf of the American Tree Farm System.

Mr. Trebolo began his woodland management in 1978 when he contacted a service forester from the Kentucky Division of Forestry to look over his woodland and develop a forest management plan to better improve his woodland. Since that time, Trebolo has followed a program to protect his woodland from wildfire, insects, disease and destructive grazing. Since 1978, he has improved his woodland by deadening worthless hollow trees and damaging grapevines. In overstocked woods, trees have been deadened or removed for firewood to provide additional growing space for developing crop trees. As of this date, over two thirds of his woodland has been improved and six acres of trees have been planted.

Everyone is welcome and bring your children. Also, all P.T.A. members with children under school age bring them to the April 24th meeting for fingerprinting.

"ASBESTOS" (Cont. From Front) meeting, that the county did not have the money to remove the asbestos.

"CITY COUNCIL" (Cont. From Front) feel they should be provided with service.

City Councilman Joe Martin told the men that he had talked to Wayne Stewart, owner of Mt. Vernon TV Cable, and that Mr. Stewart was in the process of negotiating with Mr. Burke, who is providing service to their area at the present time.

However, Mr. Martin and McClure were not optimistic about Martin's comments and they told the council that they should have to come up with a solution. "We've been over and that same story over and over," said Mink, "and we think it is your all's place to work something out," he said.

City Attorney Carl Clontz recommended to the council that they notify Mr. Stewart by letter that he is obligated to provide cable service to the families and if he does not comply they (the council) will have to look into the possibility of canceling his franchise.

All the council members, as well as Mayor Roland Mullins, agreed with Clontz's recommendation and voted to proceed with the recommendation.

Clontz further stated that Mr. Stewart does not have to negotiate with Burke unless he intends to use the cable that Burke has already installed.

Mt. Vernon will be getting a mini-park within the city limits, according to Floyd Owens, director of the city's revitalization project.

Owens told the council that the revitalization board has made plans to construct a mini-park at Spouts Spring (now known as Cox Trailer Park). He said that Spouts Spring is where Mt. Vernon began in 1793 and this was the reason for the construction of the park.

In other business, Mt. Vernon fire chief John Cox and other members of the department, met with the council to ask that they consider putting a second story on the fire station building.

The department wants the story added to meet and to install a new kitchen and restroom.

Mayor Mullins turned the project over to councilmen Joel Centy, John Cox and Pete Hurd who are to do the preliminary research on the project.

"Letters to the Editor" (Cont. From 2) I think it's time a woman should run for Sheriff. Women seem to be the only ones concerned about children. If any woman would run for Sheriff, I'd like to run as Deputy and if I was Judge, I would ask the drinks that live on food stamps how they get money to buy whiskey, beer, cars and gas to run up and down the road all night. If they could buy food.

RCHS Choral Dept. to present Spring Concert Monday, April 23

Tickets will be sold in advance for reserved seats. Those sold at the door may have secondary seating. Tickets are $2. Buy them in advance from chorus members or phone Mrs. Wilcox, at 758-8320 or 256-4816.

The concert will have a cabaret setting with delightful refreshments catered by the Home Ec Department's commercial foods class taught by Mrs. Betty Glover.

The event has been choreographed by two of Eastern Kentucky University's Show Choir members, Johnnie Dell Wilcox and Mike Miller. Also by Jennifer Cox and Mary Beth Baker, senior members of the choral department.

The schedule for the Castle Chorus performances are: Thursday morning, April 19, Roundstone Elementary School; Friday morning, April 20, Mt. Vernon Elementary School; Friday afternoon, April 20, Brodhead Elementary School; Monday night, April 23, public concert, at the high school at 7:30 and Tuesday morning, April 24, a performance for the students at RCHS.

Brodhead PTA Sponsors Fun and Games May 4

Brodhead's PTA has scheduled its Spring Festival for Friday night, May 4th, beginning with a soup bean supper at 5:30 p.m.

Events following will include: ugly man and prettiest woman contest, cake walk; disco room; bingo; dunking machine; country store; face-painting; raffle table; frog-leaping; basketball throw; musical chairs and numerous other games to delight the young and old.

Students at Brodhead Elementary have been preparing posters during the past two weeks to make you aware of this big fundraising event. Please take notice in the upcoming weeks of these posters in our merchants' windows.

This fund raising will help your child. Fund-raising in the past (Book Fair, chili supper, cookie sales and bake sales) have gone toward purchasing the gymnasium, safety pads for gym and set-up of the principal's emergency fund.

The Spring Festival will hopefully fund a divider net for the gym and supply matching money for a covered walkway between the main and adjacent classrooms.

Kids, save your money! Moms and Dads, mark your calendars! See your friends and neighbors have fun in support of a good cause. The Brodhead PTA appreciates your support.

Disputanta

By: Hilda Payne Gabbard

Hello from Clear Creek! I'd like to correct some of last week's mistakes I made and make apologies to Noel and Bonnie Kendrick, who did such a great job with their daughter, Tonya, in their singing and music. I didn't put their last name in a column.

I failed to edit my copy before sending it to the Signal office (as I always do) being in a hurry. I barely made the mail.

When I said I was upset over the mistake, someone said, "The Kendricks are so good with their music, everybody in the county will know whom you mean." But over 2000 copies are mailed out over the county and all the readers might not know. In fact, one fellow had a big laugh over it (wonder if he never made a mistake).

Also, in naming visiting preachers, I left out Bro. Jack Frost of the Bethel Baptist Church near Berea, who was kind enough to come one night to our revival at Macedonia.

It seems we arrived too late one night (John says it's a habit of mine) to hear Sherri Mink of Brindle Ridge, granddaughter of Bill and Flossie Stephens, sing. Sorry I missed her lovely voice in song and am now thanking her for coming to sing for us.

Just as we eat "leftovers" of a good meal, I have enjoyed the "leftovers" of our revival all week past. We attended church Sunday at Macedonia where a good crowd gathered.

Bro. Jim Whitaker was in fine form, still filled with zeal for the Word, as a carryover from our revival. He saw how Bro. Osman had kept the back row (as well as the side) where Cousin Bill was sitting.

Bro. Jim let go with God as his "backup." Bro. Osman said in one sermon that we all needed "God as a backup" in our lives. Leonard Abney of Berea and Orlando heard I had been hiring folks to come to church (during the revival). So Leonard attended church there Sunday. When he hinted that he wouldn't mind at all having a cup of sassafras tea if someone dug the root for him, I quickly told him the bargain was over, and I didn't want to be on the other end of a grubbing hoe.

After church, we drove down to U.S. 25 and up the hill to Sigmon Cave, once a scenic place, to eat some lunch. It would be pretty yet if it weren't for the vandals who want all the world to be a mess and as dead a loss as they are.

Our next stop was Sowder Nursing Home at Brodhead where all the patients live in such a beautiful, clean, light "paradise." I say this because no matter how many are bedridden and helpless here, the place is bound to help and cheer the patients and their folks who come to see them. It is so nice, clean and cheery with good food (I know for I ate there once as a guest), I thought of asking for a bed myself.

The reason I tell this is because I saw proof Sunday of how the folks and workers help the old and helpless when we walked into the room of my dear friend, Mary Shearer Thomas, from Davis Branch Road who has been there for a few months. There is such a change in Mary since I last saw her at the hospital in Berea where she had been ill some time ago.

"You look like the pretty girl Chester talked into eloping out of an upper window of your dad's house years ago, I'm sure," I told Mary as I greeted her sitting up in a chair, wearing her prosthetic robe.

She says she has gotten so many cards and letters and would welcome more. This thoughtful gesture of folks has added to her day. Across the hallway, we went to a room where Pearl Vanwinkle lay, living in a dream world of no remembrance. I kissed her cheek and held her hand for all the good days we had in Clear Creek when we visited her and Bodie. Her "I've gone on and is waiting over there" for Pearl while she waits here for God to take her hand on the journey that we all must go.

It will not be a sad journey for He has said when we go through the valley of death, He will be with us, never forsaking nor leaving us. While I stood in the room, I saw two women who were standing in sorrow by the bed of the woman whom they knew and loved (as I learned).

John introduced me to them, Bodie's nieces - Ruth Vanwinkle Richards and Hazel Vanwinkle Baker, daughters of Bodie's brother, Joe and Henry Vanwinkle, who had come to see Pearl.

When each woman gave me her hand in friendly greeting, I knew they came from the strong background of mountain women as we are in this part of the country. Each told me how glad they were to read the Signal over at Orlando. Always out for news, I asked what the people over at Orlando were doing about Spring.

Ruth said, "We're raising a garden, getting ready to plant our new potatoes next week." "Then if I should come by this spring, would you fry up a skillet of new potatoes, nice and brown?" I asked.

In true mountain hospitality, Ruth answered quickly, "Oh, yes, I'll be glad to do that," then laughed as she saw my teasing grin. But I might just fool her and stop by in the Spring!

I send Birthday Greetings April 11th to a former Clear Creek boy who never left the hills - he just transferred to larger ones at Pineville where he served two terms as their county attorney. He has now retired from the "political world," with his wife Stella, herself a retired teacher (bless us all), to their home at Middlesboro, Paris Swinford, son of John Sherman and Daisy Swinford, once beloved citizens of Clear Creek.

As a young fellow, Paris would ride through the hills horseback with the country gals. They said he always carried a pigpen in his pocket to give the girl. Now that's probably how he won a pretty girl like Stella to share his future.

Till next week: Sin will take you farther than you want to go. (Dale Osman).

Ruth Abney with one of their "watch dogs" they keep on the place. I'll bet it's to watch that Joe doesn't slip off to drop a hook in Clear Creek under the willows where the "red-eyes" swim.

Joe Abney, sitting on his bench, announces the birth of their son, if he can slip away from helping Ruth houseclean and go rabbit hunting one more time. That dog has "spring fever," you can see.

Terri and Charles Hasty of Mt. Vernon, announce the birth of their son, Brent Alan Charles Hasty, born at Lake Cumberland Hospital in Somerset. He weighed 10 lbs., 4 ozs. at birth. Maternal grandparent is Mrs. Kay Burdette and the late Terry Burdette. Paternal grandparents are Nadine Doan and Charles Hasty of Mt. Vernon. Great grandparents are Edna and L.C. Burdette and Geneva and Arlis Doan.

Elephants spend up to eighteen hours a day feeding, during which they may consume up to 100 pounds of hay.

Ambulance service exceeds set goal of $5000

By Leigh Ann Hiatt, RCH Public Relations

The people of Rockcastle County showed their desire to support the county's ambulance service when they pledged almost $6,000 Saturday during a radio-a-thon to raise money for a new ambulance. The amount raised exceeded the $5,000 goal set for the fund drive.

Mike Barr, director for the service, was pleased with the results of the fund drive. "I want to thank everyone for their contributions and gifts to the ambulance service," he said. "I also appreciate the help given by the ambulance service board members, the ambulance drivers, the Bank of Mt. Vernon, Charles Napier and WRVK and James W. Lambert and Joe Lambert, for the use of their law office."

Charles Napier, salesman and deejay for WRVK radio station in Renfro Valley, conducted the radio-a-thon in front of The Bank of Mt. Vernon. "I was super impressed," said Napier about the money raised. "We've got loyal, concerned people in Rockcastle County. Once it started moving, it snowballed."

The ambulance service board's treasurer, Tom Welch, commented, "To all the people of Rockcastle County, we the committee of the Rockcastle County Ambulance Service, are certainly grateful to you for your generosity and outstanding contributions to the ambulance service on April 7."

The radio-a-thon concluded the first annual Rockcastle Ambulance Service Contribution Week, proclaimed for April 1 - 7, by County Judge Bob Jasper. The proceeds will help purchase a new ambulance to replace one of the old ones with 175,000 miles on it.

The new ambulance will cost $30,000 without equipment and is being custom-built by Horton Manufacturing in Columbus, Ohio. Some of the features of the model will have a diesel engine, a custom interior designed especially for Rockcastle County's needs and numerous safety options made to protect both the driver and the patient. The vehicle will be delivered sometime next month.

A demonstration model of the new ambulance was parked in front of The Bank of Mt. Vernon for public viewing during the radio-a-thon.

The amount of the pledges went up during the fund drive when Barr promised a free ambulance ride within the next year to the hospital of the patient's choice if they donated $100 to the fund drive.

The ambulance service will borrow the balance of the money necessary to purchase the vehicle and the money raised from the fund drive will enable them to borrow less than they had expected.

Barr noted that it's not too late to contribute to the purchase of the new ambulance. Anyone wishing to make a donation can send their check to the Rockcastle County Ambulance Service, Rt. 4, Mt. Vernon, Ky. 40456.

Citizens complain about T.V. cable at Mt. Vernon's council meeting

By Richard Anderkin

Over 20 families are upset because they cannot get television service to their homes.

Marvin Mink, Roger McClure and Johnny Cromer were all present at Monday night's City Council meeting to ask the council to do something about the problem.

The men are among the twenty odd families that live on Rose Hill Road near Lake Linville and they have been to the council on more than one occasion asking for help.

"At the present time, the families in that area have cable service from John Burke, a TV cable operator, but they are not satisfied with it.

"We can only get two stations now and we think the city is obligated to see that we get cable service," Johnny Cromer said. The families are upset because the city council awarded a franchise to Mt. Vernon TV Cable last year.

The franchise is for the entire city of Mt. Vernon and, because these families live within the city limits, they

Brodhead fire department to cease county runs unless help is found, public meeting scheduled

By Richard Anderkin

Unless something is done in the near future, the Brodhead Volunteer Fire Department will have to quit making county fire runs in Western Rockcastle County, according to officers of the department.

"The Brodhead department has been making county fire runs since 1974, which is longer than any of the other departments in the county have but, unless something is done soon, we will be unable to provide that service," said Brian Bussell, an officer in the department.

"The problem is that the fire truck we use now on our county runs is almost to the point of not going," added deputy chief DeAlva Bussell.

Brodhead has a 1948 open cab Chevrolet which they use on fire runs outside the city limits.

"Our old truck is dangerous. I drove it to the last fire we had and it is simply not safe to meet anyone on the road in it," the deputy chief said. "We're going to fight these fires as long as we can but it is only a matter of time before our truck falls down."

These comments came at a meeting of the volunteers at the fire station in Brodhead last Thursday night and followed a visit to the fiscal court meeting Tuesday by several department members.

At that meeting, Brian Bussell, as spokesman, asked the court for help (as they had already done on two previous visits to the court) in purchasing a new truck for the county runs. But, again, they didn't receive any encouragement from the magistrates.

"We were told by one of our magistrates that if we would go up to the fiscal court in January, that we would get a new fire truck," said one of the officers, "but, we haven't gotten any response from them and they put us off this month too," he said.

"We are to the point that we don't know what to do. We don't want to quit fighting fires in Western Rockcastle County because we're going to have to," said the officers.

In an effort to see how residents feel who live in the areas they cover by fire protection, the department has scheduled a public meeting for this Friday night at the Brodhead Elementary School at 7:30.

Asbestos present in county court house

By Richard Anderkin

Over 100 people stand a greater chance to get lung cancer, unless something is done about the asbestos particles in the ceiling of the Rockcastle County Courthouse where they work every day, according to Steve Midkiff, local health inspector.

Midkiff said Tuesday that while no one could be sure, the potential for asbestos in the ceilings in the old courthouse is 95 percent.

"Asbestos particles are released into the air when damage is done to a ceiling. When this happens, the chance of picking up some of the particles is much greater," Midkiff said.

He said that there were several places in the courthouse where asbestos was damaged and that he got the sample he used in testing for asbestos out of his own office in the old health department area of the courthouse.

"It has been about two years since I released my report on the findings and nothing has been done about it," he said.

However, Midkiff went on to say that as far as he knows, no laws have been passed that deal with asbestos. He said that while the situation at the courthouse could be dangerous to some people, the fiscal court was not in violation of any existing law at the present time.

Midkiff went on to say that some people could work in the courthouse for 20 years and not be affected in any way by the asbestos but, on the other hand, it was possible that other people could get cancer because of it.

The health inspector also said that asbestos has been linked to form of lung cancer called Mesothelioma.

"There are two ways you can get rid of asbestos," Midkiff said. "You can either seal it or move it. Sealing asbestos usually does not do a very good job because it tends to soften the asbestos, which in effect makes for a worse situation than you already have."

While there are two solutions to the asbestos problem, the Rockcastle County Fiscal Court and County Judge/Executive Bob Jasper have chosen not to use either one.

Judge Jasper told Channel 18 news reporter Tim Weidorn after last Tuesday's Fiscal Court meeting.

Interview with Ford

Representative Danny Ford, 80th District Representative, will speak out on the past legislative session and how his actions could affect the citizens of Rockcastle County.

What he thinks was accomplished in Frankfort and what he thinks should have been accomplished. All next week.

Elmer Hale, president of the Mt. Vernon Lions Club, is shown presenting a check for $100 to Sheriff William Taylor as a donation toward the radios the Sheriff's Dept. is trying to buy for all state police cars in the county. Taylor said this would enable the department to have better and faster communication with the State Police in times of emergencies. To date, the Sheriff's Dept. has received almost half of the needed $1,500 for the four radios.

A special thank you goes to the "Joy-makers" who provided the gospel music before the basketball game. Some of this group had to leave their jobs early in Greensboro in order to get to Brodhead by 6:30 as we requested. After their performance, they refused to be paid. In fact, they would not even accept expense money. This is a very talented group and the Rockcastle Jaycees deeply appreciate their help.

Thank you,

Dear Editor,

I hope you will print this letter. There needs to be some law and order in Calloway and Sand Hill. I've lived in Calloway Hollow for 24 years and drunks have run up and down through Calloway to Sand Hill every week and through the week most of the time.

I always try to mind my own business but when they start shooting towards your house, I think it's time to do something about it. I've put up with them sneaking their way in and so on but shooting is something else.

I've got seven grandchildren and they visit often. I can't take a chance on what might happen next time. I want something done about it. I'm going to call the Governor and get the F.B.I. to control this.

Letters to the editor

Dear Editor,

The Mt. Vernon PTA would like to extend their deepest gratitude to the following for their assistance in the fingerprinting of the children at Mt. Vernon Elementary School:

The Mt. Vernon administration and teachers, Harry Sparks Vocational School and staff, a special thanks to the FELA girls, Mrs. Lisa Hunt, Paul Blevins, Henry Hines and The Print Shop, WRVK and the Mt. Vernon PTA mothers who gave of their time and hard work.

Due to community effort from those mentioned above, this was a very worthwhile and gratifying service provided. Once again, it shows when a community works together, good things can happen.

Sincerely,
Julianne Harris
Vicki DeBorje
Editor.

This past Friday night, the Rockcastle Jaycees sponsored a basketball game and gospel music show to raise money for our annual Christmas party.

We would like to take this opportunity to say thank you to a number of people who helped us.

These people include the "Tube Jocks" from Channel 27-K-93-WRVK who provided the opposition in the basketball game, to Richie Bray and Bill Sower for doing a great job refereeing to Charlie Napier for providing and setting up his PA system and for acting as emcee, to

Ask, Seek, Knock

"Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you." (Matt. 7:7).

God hears and answers His children. Jesus positively said, "Ask - receive, seek - find, knock - it shall be opened." He then illustrated by showing that fathers in the flesh are concerned about their children's welfare and that God is infinitely more concerned (Matt. 7:9-11).

Ask - Seek - Knock. These three words suggest an increasingly unrelenting persistence in prayer. But what is involved in this instruction?

There is the ASKING in the spoken words or prayer. In asking we show our dependence upon God and our consciousness of needs. "Give us this day our daily bread" (Matt. 6:11) is an example of asking God for needs of the physical body.

SEEK suggests the personal effort of the one who prays to do his part toward getting his prayer answered. As we ASK for daily bread, we must put forth an honest effort to obtain it (Eph. 4:28). We need not expect God to send down manna from heaven since miracles are not manifest today. And it goes without saying, that those who SEEK God in prayer must first SEEK His kingdom (Matt. 6:33). We must also KNOCK.

This suggests fervent persistence despite difficulties and circumstances, a vital factor in effective prayer. Just as someone may not open a door to our first knock, God does not always grant our request at our first knock. He may be testing our seriousness, preparing us to receive it, or He may say, "Not now; wait awhile."

Corresponding to the three words ASK, SEEK and KNOCK are the three words RECEIVED, FOUND, ETH, and OPENED. These are CONDITIONAL promises. Acceptable prayer involves one's being a Christian (1 Pet. 3:12), asking in faith (James 1:6-7), according to God's will (1 John 5:14); and not asking to gratify his own lusts (James 4:3). If these conditions are not needed, the DOOR of prayer is closed.

We should resolve now to pray regularly. If we keep our line of communication open to heaven, when we have some need, the blessings will flow quickly and freely, for Jesus said, "Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you." When did you last pray?

Work and play safely around electricity.

When you take to the great outdoors this spring, be careful near power lines.

Stay away from overhead wires when installing an antenna, using ladders and scaffolds, trimming trees or cleaning gutters. Be sure there are no underground utility lines in the area before digging.

Teach your children never to climb trees near overhead lines. Utility poles, towers and substations are off-limits, too.

Make sure your children fly kites or model airplanes on dry days far from power lines. Kites should never contain wire, metal, foil or wet string. If anything gets tangled with a power line, give it up - don't try to retrieve it.

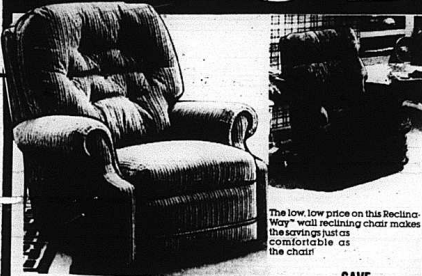

Use electric hand tools that are properly grounded and in good repair. Never use them in rain or dampness. Install ground fault circuit interrupters at outlets for added safety.

Keep away from fallen lines, and report them immediately.

Electricity is a powerful servant. We're concerned that you use it safely.

GETHSEMANE
 By Juanita Fordyce

Jesus came with His disciples to "Gethsemane that night. To His disciples this seemed right. There were occasions on other days When Jesus had come to the garden to pray. My soul is exceedingly sorrowful unto death said He. Tarry here a while with me and watch. And going a stone's throw away. He fell to the ground and began to pray. Father all things are possible with thee. Please let this cup pass from me. Nevertheless thy will be done. Cried our Savior, God's only Son.

He came to his disciples and found them asleep. He asked Peter could you not an hour keep? Returning again to the garden to pray. His feeling of extreme sorrow would not go away. Come an Angel from heaven to comfort and aid. And his sweat fell as great drops of blood as he prayed. Again He asked 'let this cup pass from me But would willingly accept whatever must be. Three times he came and then asleep. Three times returning to pray and weep. Sleep on now, take your rest said He, it is done. I am betrayed said the Father's only Son.

Make Maximum Use of Spring Grazing Season

As pastures begin to turn greener and start the rapid spring growth phase, many farmers are thinking about how to make maximum use of this forage with their cattle. Some pointers for grazing cattle on spring grass from livestock Extension specialist at the University of Kentucky are: do not stop feeding cattle too soon; check fences and consider additional fencing; implement a health and parasite control program.

The average date that Kentucky cattle can gain, depending on pasture as a major source of nutrients, is April 15, but even this may be too soon to completely depend on pasture. Cattle that are lactating have very high needs for energy and other nutrients.

High-moisture forages often cannot supply enough energy to allow the cattle to maintain their body weight, supply milk for the calves and rebreed. This is especially true with first-calf heifers. Continue to supplement the diets of cattle with silage, high-quality hay or 3-5 pounds of grain, and continue to supplement with a mineral mix containing major sulfur and phosphorus.

Relative to the second point, the grass is always greener on the other side, so before turning cows into spring pastures, check your fences and water gates to make certain they haven't developed new weak places over the winter. Consider whether cross fences for developing a pasture rotation plan would allow more efficient utilization of pastures.

Finally, work with a local veterinarian to develop a health program. Parasite control is of primary importance at this time of year and remember that pasture rotation helps control internal parasites. Cattle should be wormed using any of several types of commercial worming products and a program to control face and nose flies should be developed.

Insecticide ear tags work well, although there may be problems with flies developing resistance in some areas. To avoid problems, follow directions carefully, use two tags on all animals, don't put tags in until fly season starts around late May and consider alternating fly control methods.

Watch out for the door-to-door approach

A door-to-door salesman comes to your door on an alleged referral from a neighbor. You are told that you were recommended as a potential representative for a company selling built-in vacuum cleaners. Nothing he says indicates that you are being approached as a potential customer.

You learn that the company will pay you $75 for each customer referral and an additional $75 for each referral that results in a purchase. The price of the vacuum system is $650. However, to be eligible, you must purchase the system. The salesman assures you that your price is not really a problem because of the money you will receive for many referrals.

What you don't know is that the company usually stops paying after the first $75 referral, and you are left to pay a ridiculous price for the vacuum cleaner.

Referral selling is illegal in Kentucky and there are other laws that relate to door-to-door sales.

The three-day cooling-off period, also called the home solicitation sales law, gives you three days to cancel a purchase that is made at home and costs more than $25. A statement about this right to cancel must be printed on the contract. If you choose to cancel, you must do so in writing. It is wise to send the written notice by certified or registered mail, with return receipt requested. But realize that insurance and goods provided in an emergency are excluded from this law.

Under law, all sellers of magazines, Bibles, periodicals or other printed materials must register with the county court in the county the solicitation takes place. If you are approached by telephone, ask for the number of the registration receipt. You may void contracts if the person has not registered. The law does not apply to fund-raising sales by school organizations if the superintendent of the school system has filed a written report with the county clerk, identifying what is being sold and the names of the students participating.

Finally, the door-to-door sale of hearing aids is prohibited in Kentucky. Before buying a hearing aid, you must obtain a written medical clearance from a licensed physician and you must be tested for hearing by a licensed physician or audiologist. These requirements protect you from false claims by the seller concerning your need for a hearing aid and the safety of the product. If you desire, you may request a hearing aid requirement in writing. After purchasing a hearing aid, you are allowed 30 days to cancel this sale if not satisfied.

Everyone loses to wildfire

Whose loss is it when a wildfire burns through a stand of timber? Many people might answer this question by saying that only the landowner loses anything and then only in the event of a major fire. However, every citizen of this county and this state loses when any wildfire burns any woodland.

"Many people never consider the way a wildfire affects everyone through both direct and indirect costs," states Jim Winter, District Forester for the Kentucky Division of Forestry. "The most immediate loss is the cost in taxpayers dollars to control the fire, but there is a long-range loss even more costly than this."

Most fires in this area do not kill larger trees, but any fire damages the base of the tree eventually causing an open wound. Insects and rot enter this wound and the average tree will eventually lose over 60% of its potential value because of this decay. But the loss doesn't stop there. Landowners, loggers and mill operators have lower value timber and products, so there is less money available to re-invest or spend on wage equipment, gasoline and other local goods and services. This helps slow the whole local economy. Studies have shown that this loss in timber value and loss of value added to the local economy, both accumulated over the 75 years needed for timber to mature, will average over $2,000 per acre of woodland burned. This $2,000 cost of controlling the fire, is everybody's loss, so it is everybody's benefit to prevent forest fires.

For more information, contact any Forest Ranger or contact the Kentucky Division of Forestry, P.O. Box 130, Pineville, Kentucky 40377, phone 606/337-3011.

Postal Inspectors warn public about COD fraud

Numerous complaints nationwide are being received concerning vacation packages being offered by various firms through use of COD Service.

The Postal Inspection Service has reported initial contact with the public is made via the phone or post-card to notify the recipient that they have been selected by computer to receive an exciting three-day, two-night vacation in "one of 32 different major resort areas including Atlantic City, Mexico City, Canada or the all-new Disney World Epcot Center."

They are promised first class accommodations for four and, as a further incentive to accept the package, a coupon for a lifetime supply of Kodak color film and several hundred dollars of vacation discount books is offered. For their part, recipients are asked to accept a COD package through the mail usually costing $39.00 to cover the expenses incurred in the processing and handling of the vacation package.

Investigation by U.S. Postal Inspectors disclosed recipients were led to believe no other additional payments or fees would be necessary. However, customers noted the packages did not include transportation to or from the resort areas, many additional fees and surcharges were required, and the free film and vacation discount books were available only if additional payments were made for processing and handling.

Based on early inquiries about the travel offer, thousands of victims nationwide are losing money to this scheme. With summer approaching, similar schemes may appear. Consumers are asked to check the legitimacy of the advertisement and company before accepting a COD. The U.S. Postal Service allows customers to read and copy the name and address of the mailer from "COD mail" while the mail is in the possession of a postal employee. The addressee always has the option to refuse or accept delivery of a COD article.

The majority of business people who use the mails are legitimate and their business, Postal Inspectors say. To avoid problems, consumers receiving COD's through the mail should deal with reputable firms known to the consumer. If COD merchandise is unsatisfactory, the consumer should first correspond with the sender. If consumers believe a mailer is involved in blatant merchandise misrepresentation, they may refer the information to the Chief Postal Inspector, Washington, D.C. 20260.
