

Local deer hunters fare well

Gary Cromer of Mt. Vernon took this 28 pt. buck Saturday afternoon in the Skeggs Creek area of the county. This is Mr. Cromer's second deer.

Rev. Pete Hurd of Mt. Vernon raised what was probably the biggest turnip in the county with this purple top, 6 lb., 7 oz. turnip. Hurd, a member of the Mt. Vernon City Council, is shown with his granddaughter, Tabetha Clark, age 12.

Doug Deatherage shot this 11 point buck early Sunday morning on his first hunt. He shot it in the Blue Springs area of Rockcastle County.

Mental Health centers hold meeting in Lexington

The Kentucky Association of Regional Programs, a statewide organization representing the fourteen community mental health centers conducted its annual meeting on October 23, 1984 in Lexington.

Installed as President for a second term was Roland D. Mullins, Executive Director, Cumberland River Mental Health-Mental Retardation, Inc. with regional offices in Corbin. Mr. Don Fox, Executive Director, Western Kentucky Regional Mental Health-Mental Retardation, Board, Inc., was elected Vice Chairman and Ms. Daphne Norther, Executive Director, Kentucky River Community Care, Inc., as Secretary.

The Kentucky Association of Regional Programs (KARP) through the fourteen regional mental health-mental retardation centers represents approximately 67,000 mental health, mental retardation, and substance abuse clients in Kentucky. Also, KARP represents approximately 300 board members from various walks of life and positions of leadership who volunteer their services to the people in their region.

The community mental health center's main purpose is to prevent, reduce, or eliminate mental disabilities and their adverse effects. General services are designed for all age groups experiencing mental illness, mental retardation, alcohol and/or drug abuse, and other family crisis situations. Consultation, educational, and preventive programs are also available to the communities.

The mission of the KARP organization is "to improve the well being and developmental growth of residents of Kentucky by assuring that each citizen has access to a full range of services designed to meet their needs as provided for by, or through, a regional community mental health center."

A GIFT FILLED CAR MAY TEMPT THIEVES

To help insure the right person gets your holiday season gifts, always lock your car doors, even if you'll only be away for a few minutes.

A car loaded with packages on front or back seats can be an open invitation to thieves during the Christmas shopping season, even if the doors are locked and the windows closed. The best practice is not to tempt thieves by putting packages on display inside the car. Instead, put all packages in the trunk and be sure it is locked.

Then why bother with locking the door and rolling up the windows at all if packages are in the trunk?

Insurance. Personal belongings as well as those Christmas gifts may be covered if the car owner has a personal property floater insurance policy or a homeowner's "package" policy. However, thefts of personal property from a privately owned motor vehicle or trailer may be covered only if the thief forces the vehicle open while all the doors, windows, and other openings are closed and locked.

TOY SAFETY

Unwrapping new toys is one of the joys of childhood. Toys should be fun, but also safe. When selecting toys--

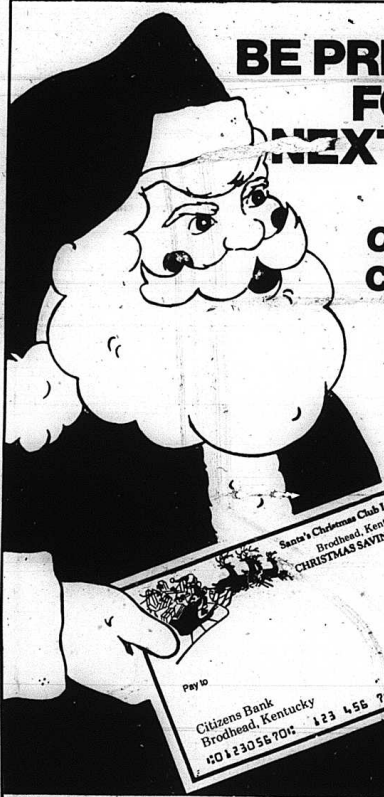

"Look for safety labels such as "non-toxic" on painted toys and "flame resistant" on fabric products.

"Check age recommendations. Toys okay for older children could be dangerous for little ones. Don't give tiny tots tiny toys or toys with small removable parts that could be swallowed.

"Arrows or darts should have blunt, soft tips. Keep darts and other toys with sharp points away from small children.

BE PREPARED FOR NEXT YEAR.

Livingston Mayor Bro. Billy Medley is shown inside the former jail at Livingston which is being converted into a senior citizens' center for the town. Bro. Medley said the town's share of the project was being conducted by volunteer labor and that Earl Baker, a resident, was almost totally responsible for cutting out the cells. The senior citizens' program is also helping with the project.

U.S. Treasury has $26.2 million in Burley No-Net Cost Account

By: Bennett Roach

An updated report on the No-Net Cost program is being issued this week as grower information, in advance of the burley tobacco market opening on November 19, for the sale of the 1984 crop.

The 1984-85 market will be the first season under the 9c per pound assessment, which the U.S. Department of Agriculture ordered some weeks ago. The 1984-85 market could add upwards of $50 million to the No-Net Cost fund, designed by Congress to offset any future losses to the taxpayers by requiring producers to shoulder the burden.

Paid in 1982 crop, $5,604,943.04, and in 1983 crop, $18,676,330.89. Total, $24,281,273.93. Interest, $2,005,803.88. Grand total, $26,287,077.81.

The funds are now in the No-Net Cost account, and earmarked to be applied against any future losses incurred in the price support program, beginning with the 1982 crop, and thereafter. None of the money has been paid out as of Oct. 31, 1984, and none will be unless a loss is incurred.

Officials of the Burley Association have repeatedly pointed out that none of the No-Net Cost account is held by the Association. The fees are collected by the sales warehouse, which makes the

At the time the No-Net Cost law was enacted the tobacco price support program was under heavy attack. The plan was widely acclaimed as saving the tobacco program.

Last summer by USDA order the fee was raised 4c a pound for the 1984 crop. In 1982 the fee, which is paid by checkoff at sales warehouses, was 1c per pound. For 1983 it was raised to 5c per pound, and now the rate is 9c. Everett Rank, national administrator of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, said the increase was "necessary to cover projected government losses on the 1984 crop, plus a portion of the losses expected on the 1983 crop."

The updated report is to be presented at the annual delegates' meeting to be held November 12 at the Springs Motel, in Lexington. The meeting is sponsored by the Burley Tobacco Growers Cooperative Association, for delegates in district elections held each September in choosing directors.

A booklet to be distributed at the meeting is being printed, reviewing the No-Net Cost account operation by the Commodity Credit Corporation and its financial situation. The review in part is as follows:

"On Nov. 15, adopt a friend who smokes."

Help a friend get through the day without a cigarette. They might just quit forever. And that's important. Because good friends are hard to find. And even tougher to lose.

New film on Corrie Ten Boom to be shown at First Baptist November 14

The new World Wide Pictures production, "Jesus Is Victor," is scheduled for Wednesday, Nov. 14, at First Baptist Church, Main, at Craig Street. The showing is open to the public free of charge, will begin at 7:15 p.m.

"Jesus Is Victor" is a personal and intimate portrait of Corrie ten Boom, a Dutch Christian who, until she was silenced by a stroke in 1978 at the age of 86, traveled the globe telling of her experiences. Miss ten Boom's experiences have been related in a number of best-selling books, as well as through World Wide's award-winning theatrical release, "The Hiding Place."

"Jesus Is Victor" gives the viewer an opportunity to meet

Corrie face to face to travel with her through the most trying times of her life. She and her family were responsible for saving the lives of hundreds of Jews through their work with the "underground."

This film represents Corrie ten Boom's final appearance before a camera just prior to her severe illness. Executive Producer, William F. Brown, describes Corrie ten Boom as a

The conference is designed to train social workers, ministers, emergency medical personnel, physicians, nurses, law enforcement officers and others to help the families of SIDS victims. Included will be discussions of initial emergency treatment, grief counseling, medical and legal implications and a history of the Human Resources Cabinet's SIDS program.

Scheduled speakers include program coordinator Ida Lyons, Louisville pediatrician and coroner Dr. Richard Greathead and Marie Clendenin of the Division of Community Services for Mental Health.

The conference is open to the public. Persons interested in attending may register by phoning Betty Lewis of the Rockcastle County Health Center, Mt. Vernon, (606) 256-4916.

Miss Owens in Centre production

Kandy Owens, a junior at Centre College is taking part in the Centre Players production of "Buried Child."

Miss Owens is the daughter of Floyd and Marie Owens, Mt. Vernon, Ky. She is in charge of the props for the production.

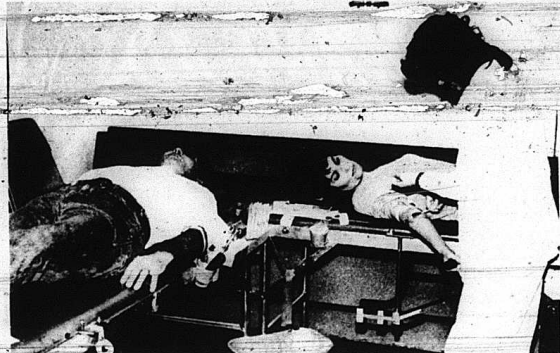

"At Centre, she is majoring in English.

"Buried Child," Sam Shepard's 1979 Pulitzer prize winning play, involves the homecoming of a prodigal grandson, who discovers that his family refuses to

Rockcastle Assn. of Baptists names Aldridge new Director of Missions

Dr. Charles Hedrick, interim Director of Missions for Rockcastle Association of Baptists and pastor of First Baptist Church, announces that Dr. D. M. Aldridge has become the new Director of Missions for the 22 Southern Baptist Churches in Rockcastle County as of November 1, 1984.

Dr. and Mrs. Aldridge have three sons, Bill, John, and David. He comes to Rockcastle Association on a part-time basis, having office hours on Wednesday and Thursday of each week, 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at the First Baptist Church, Main at Craig Streets. He will be available to the pastors and churches during those days, or at other appointed times. He plans to visit each Wednesday evening in a different church to meet the members of the churches. He will be available to preach in churches, or to be used in any way to benefit their needs. His office number is 256-4571, or you may write him at P.O. Box 446, Mt. Vernon, Ky. 40356.

Dr. Aldridge holds the D.M.A. degree, having attended the University of Southern Illinois, University of Kentucky, and Southern Baptist Theological Seminary. His wife, Kay, attended the Tennessee College for Women, W.M.U. Training School (now Carver School of Social Work) in Louisville.

Dr. Aldridge has pastored the North America Baptist Church, Berry Baptist Church, Blanket Creek Baptist Church, and served as Director of Missions for Grundy County in Tennessee. He served as Professor at Clear Creek Baptist School for four years, was President of Magnolia Baptist Institute for four years, and for 28 years served as the President of Clear Creek Baptist School, Pineville, Ky. During the past two years, he and Mrs. Aldridge served as volunteer Southern Baptist Foreign Missionaries in Zambia, Africa.

Dr. Aldridge invites any pastor or others within the county to drop by his office any Wednesday or Thursday at First Baptist Church, or give him a call if he can be of assistance in any way. Dr. Aldridge is employed by Rockcastle Association of Baptists and the Kentucky Baptist Convention. He and Mrs. Aldridge now reside in Lexington, Ky.

Mr. Mullins has served the Cumberland River region as Executive Director for the Cumberland River Comprehensive Care Centers, and has also served as Secretary, Treasurer, and Technical Assistance Committee Chairman for KARP. This will be his second term as President. His goals for the Kentucky Association of Regional Programs include:

1. To alert the community to the special needs of the mentally ill, developmentally disabled, and the addicted.
2. To increase awareness throughout the state relative to the impact of the community mental health centers, the various services they provide, and the large number of clientele they serve.
3. To implement support services for families of Alzheimer's victims, and to call attention to the special needs of these individuals.
4. To promote independent living for the mentally ill.
5. To coordinate with other groups such as the Kentucky Mental Health Coalition, the Kentucky Mental Health Association, the Kentucky Association of Mental Retardation Directors, The National Council of Community Mental Health Centers, and the National Association of Mental Health Administrators to insure that those in need have a voice.

Brodhead PTA news

The Brodhead PTA invites you to share in our observance of American Education Week, Nov. 13-17, 1984. Nov. 13. Our activities will begin with a chili supper from 5 to 6:30 p.m. At 7:00 there will be a variety show in the gymnasium. Those of you who attended this event last year will remember the great success it was and the fine quality of the program. This year's theme for the variety show is "Careers on Parade." All children are participating in the program and are eagerly looking forward to performing for you. The public is invited. Activities classes are involved with the "Power of Knowledge." The students will be given a copy of the pledge to sign and will ask for their teachers and parents to help them fulfill the pledge. A sample of that pledge is below.

We would like to encourage all parents to attend the "Town Forum" on Thursday, Nov. 15, at (Cont. to 20)

Veterans' Information

Q: Does the issuance of a VA Certificate of Eligibility guarantee the approval of a GI Home Loan?

A: No. In addition to being declared eligible for a VA Guaranty home loan based on his or her period of service, the veteran must apply for a loan from a bank or other lender and meet the qualifications of that lender.

Should you need assistance, Mr. James H. Williams, a representative of the Kentucky Center for Veterans affairs will be in Mt. Vernon on November 16th.

The representative will be there to assist veterans, their families, their dependents, or beneficiaries, in presentation, proof, and establishment of all claims, privileges, rights, and other benefits which they may have under federal, state, or local laws.

The office will be located in the courthouse (Treas. office), and office hours will be from 9:00 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Two inmates walk away from Jail Monday night

Two Rockcastle County inmates have escaped from the Rockcastle County Jail.

Gerald Cotton, 27, of Mt. Vernon, and Jeff Prewitt, 23, also of Mt. Vernon, walked away from the facility some time after 9:30 Monday night, according to Deputy Jailor Jeff Abney.

That another deputy, Stanley Mullins, was on duty at the time of the escape and that he was "overpowered" by the two men after he allowed them out of their cell to use the telephone.

Abney said that one of the two men told Mullins that he needed to use the phone. When he opened the door to the cells to tell him that it was o.k. to pick up the phone, both men forced their way past Mullins, leaving the jail.

Both men were in jail on various charges, which included Prewitt: convictions on four counts of theft by unlawful taking, criminal abuse in the third degree, possession of forged instruments, and theft by deception, according to records on file in the circuit clerk's office.

The records show that Cotton was awaiting a preliminary hearing on charges which included receiving stolen property, resisting arrest, possession of marijuana, and assault in the third degree.

Cotton had been in jail under a $20,000 bond since October 28 when he was arrested by State Police detective, Glen Dalton.

Prewitt was serving a 12-month sentence in the county jail on each of his convictions and had been in the facility since August 24 of this year, according to the records.

Both men were still at large at press time.

Berea College Will Publish "Appalachian Heritage"

Berea College will assume publication of APPALACHIAN HERITAGE magazine, a quarterly publication founded 12 years ago by Albert Stewart of Hindman, Ky.

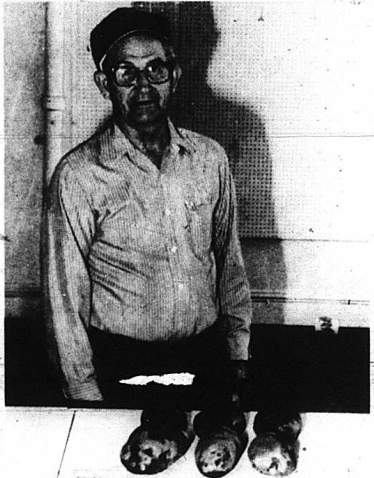

The proposal to move the magazine to Berea was approved Saturday at the regular meeting of the college trustees. President John B. Stephenson reported.

Finally, we would like to submit the following thoughts for you to consider. We are proud to be a part of today's great educational movement.

A Strong Defense Requires A Good Education

The defense of our nation is rapidly using more and more advanced high-technology in communications. A solid education is the key to our continued strong defense. Without men and women with training in science, mathematics, communications; computer technology and foreign language skills we could become second in defense to other nations.

Training begins in our schools and the federal government must give as high priority to this vital resource as it does to funding pentagon requests. Leadership development cannot continue when schools have outdated equipment, insufficient textbooks or the salaries to attract the best teachers.

Community-wide support is urged during American Education Week, November 11-17, 1984 because educational excellence is the key to our national defense.

More Parental Involvement Urged in Schools

Parents have a remarkably positive attitude toward schools states a recent survey on parental involvement. However, a shocking 36 percent said they never had a conference with their teacher concerning their child. A remarkable 21 percent have never talked to a teacher before or after school.

During American Education Week, November 11-17, 1984, educators strongly urge parents and citizens to visit their local public school. Parents and teachers share a deep concern for a child's welfare, and there is no better way to encourage the growth and development of children than by working together to meet his or her educational needs.

Teachers have numerous suggestions about things a parent may do to help a child in school. Some suggestions are to give certain kinds of help with homework, setting up a study area and help during verbal skills with special techniques the teacher can provide.

Polis indicate that parents recognize that many problems that assail the schools are due to parental apathy.

Make an appointment now to visit your child's school to better understand how you might help.

- 1. PLEDGE:
1. I know that you are the greatest power in the world in the area of knowledge.
 2. I want to be smart. Dumb, mismanaged people go through life missing so many rewards that could be theirs.
 3. I will learn my basic skills and be expert in them.
 4. I will read books on the subjects that interest me most. But I will also read books and articles on other subjects to broaden my awareness of what is happening in the world around me.
 5. I will discuss at dinner time what I have learned or questioned at school today.
 6. I will study the ideas and dreams of our history so how they can help me today.
 7. I will spend some time each day to think about my future, to discuss it with people I respect and to work on plans using the knowledge that can guarantee that future.
 8. I pledge that to those who love me and are trying to help me succeed, I will be grateful. I pledge it to myself!

Change in dialing system goes into effect Friday

Beginning Friday night at midnight, phone customers in Rockcastle County will be experiencing a change in the way they dial local numbers.

W. W. Thomason of Contel in London said Tuesday that the new system will enable his company to provide a bigger variety of, and better service to phone users in the county.

"The only major change for residents in Rockcastle will be that they will have to dial all seven digits to reach the party they desire," Thomason said. "While I know this seems like it is a step backwards from the old system where most people could dial only five numbers and reach who they wanted, it is not," he said.

Thomason said that Contel had spent over 3 million dollars on the new system in the county, installing the most modern up-to-date equipment available on the market. According to Thomason, the move will make the quality of phone conversation much better in the county and will enable his company to offer some new and much needed features.

The director of public relations said that, with the new system, every home in Rockcastle County will eventually be able to have their own private number if they so desire. He said that with the old system this was not possible.

Thomason said that anyone worrying about rate hikes shouldn't. "The basic rate that our customers now pay will remain the same," he said. "The only extra cost will be left up to our customers when and if they decide to take advantage of some of our new accessories."

He said that Contel had replaced their old copper cable in the county with a new fibre optic cable about the size of 1/10th of a human hair which will allow a substantial number of more phone calls to be carried than the old cable.

The new features that will be offered, according to Thomason, are call waiting, call forwarding, touch tone dialing, and speed dialing.

Thomason said that each customer in the county should receive a brochure in this week's mail explaining each of these features and the new dialing system.

have already spent all this money ($22,000), and it won't cost any more for an appeal, and I think you all would be better off to keep your hands free and leave your options open."

Livingston resident Danny Hitton was not very happy with Clontz's recommendation and made his opinions known when he addressed the court. "I don't think you should wait for two years before you do something about the landfill and the county's garbage problem. It has been a problem for years, and it's getting worse. You need some kind of plan of action, and I'm sure there are several concerned citizens in the Livingston area that would be more than happy to serve on a committee," Hitton said.

Judge Jasper told Hitton after the motion died that the county was going to look into other avenues and consider such solutions as selling a franchise in the county while they were waiting to hear something on the landfill.

The Fiscal Court met on Wednesday (press day) this week, because of Tuesday's election.

A complete court story will appear next week.

REVIEW STATUS GRANTED FOR HELICOPTER SERVICE

The Cabinet for Human Resources has granted nonsubstantive review status to a proposal by the University of Tennessee Memorial Hospital to establish emergency helicopter ambulance service to 15 southeastern Kentucky counties. Counties to be served include Bell, Clay, Clinton, Cumberland, Harlan, Knaw, Laurel, Leslie, Ledtcher, Lincoln, Perry, Pulaski, Rockcastle, Wayne, and Whitley counties. Cost of the project is $1,332,550.

Nonsubstantive review status permits the applicant to waive formal review procedures normally required for a certificate of need.

Newly-formed interagency Council will provide help for needy persons

By: Leigh Anne Hlatt

Needy persons in the county now have another source for help in the newly-formed Rockcastle County Interagency Council.

The Council will draw together all of the county's agencies and individuals involved in people to people work, said Dorothy Williams who came up with the idea two years ago.

Ms. Williams, who lives in the county and describes herself as an "independent person who works with the poor," is finally getting to see her idea in the formation stage. The council has held two meetings and elected three officers. Ms. Williams is the president. Dave Alther, the pastor of the Bethany United Methodist Church, is the vice-president, and Betty Carter from the county's Weatherization Office is the secretary.

The goal of the council is to identify the resources available to people who have needs and to try to meet those needs more efficiently.

"The entire interagency council will not be controlled by any one agency," said Ms. Williams, "but will allow all of us to interact, and this will reduce overlapping (of services provided) and enable us to efficiently reach more people who have needs."

The council will arrange for individuals or families to get the material things they need such as food, clothing, and fuel. And the organization will also work with people to help them solve any personal problems they have. Ms. Williams thinks this is as important as meeting physical needs.

She said the council has not identified any limit as to what kinds of problems they will deal with. As it now stands, people can come to them to get help for everything from alcoholism to spouse abuse to mental illness. The council members will either provide the counseling needed or refer the person to another qualified resource.

To give an example of the council's scope, Ms. Williams said that people can even get advice on growing gardens and other environmental concerns from the Appalachia Science in the Public Interest organization.

The council is now identifying its membership and has sent invitations to all formal agencies in the county and to individuals who might be interested.

Several of the agencies and groups who attended the first meetings are community ministers, the county Extension Service, the Department for Human Resources, the Christian Appalachia Project, the Health Department, and the Weatherization Office.

The council is also contacting public officials in Mt. Vernon, Brodhead, and Livingston to get them involved.

One of the group's first projects is to compile a directory of needy persons. "I lists all of the resources where they can go for help. Ms. Williams hopes to see the directory ready for distribution by the beginning of 1985.

The council meetings are open to the public so that individuals can point out areas in which needs in the county are not being met. Ms. Williams plans on having a speaker at each meeting in the near future and has already contacted the woman in charge of the state's food bank to arrange for her to speak to the council.

Ms. Williams said the interagency council is a first for the county and that it has been needed for some time. "I'm entirely hopeful for it," she said. "I think this will be something valuable for the people in the county and helpful also to those who work with the people so we'll know what's not being provided."

The Rockcastle County Interagency Council meets the last Tuesday of each month at noon at the Exit 59 Restaurant, and anyone who is interested is welcome to attend. The next meeting is scheduled for Nov. 27. For additional information contact Dorothy Williams at 256-5391.

McCormick upsets Huddleston

Taylor, Adams re-elected to local Board of Education Tuesday

By: Richard Anderkin

While it was not a surprise that the two incumbent school board members were re-elected Tuesday during the county's General election, the margin by which they claimed victory was.

William J. Taylor, a member of the Rockcastle County School Board since he was appointed to fill John E. Harris' term, faced his first ever opponent this year, Mrs. Shirley Long, and walked away with an easy victory Tuesday 900 to 497.

Kenneth Adams, who has also been a veteran of the local board since he beat Dr. Jack Lewis in 1982, also won handily over Roundstone P.T.O. President Jack Wren 789 to 349. This was Adams' only opponent since he defeated Larry Burdette in 1979.

The big surprise of the entire election night was the fact that the state of Kentucky will send a new Republican senator to Washington in January. Jefferson County Judge Mitch McCormick, who made this campaign stop in Rockcastle County after announcing his candidacy, surprisingly, to everyone but him, defeated Democrat two-term incumbent Walter "Doc" Huddleston in a close race across the state.

Huddleston, who was probably most surprised by the results, had been enjoying a big lead over McCormick in all the latest polls, but McCormick, who had just from the start that he hoped President Ronald Reagan's "coat tails" would help him in his effort to unseat the popular Democrat from Elizabethtown narrowly won.

McCormick, who had worked very hard and long on his campaign, got a big boost from the President who carried over 60% of the popular vote in Kentucky.

McCormick is the first Republican to win a statewide office since 1967 when former Governor Louis B. Nunn was elected. Huddleston is asked for a rerun.

Rockcastle County voters gave their support to both President Reagan and Mitch McCormick, as well as incumbent Congressman Harold Rogers, carried off 14 precincts in the county.

Rogers also won re-election to his third term as he defeated token opposition candidate Sherman McIntosh by more than a 3-1 margin in the 5th district.

President Reagan received 3,998 votes in the county, while Walter Mondale got only 1,089. Reagan even carried Brown, the only Democratic precinct in the county, by 152 votes, as did McCormick by 37 votes. McCormick had a total vote in the county of 3,685 compared to Huddleston's 3,344 total. Rogers received 3,976 votes while McIntosh garnered only 786 votes. 80th district state Representative Danny Ford of Mt. Vernon, who was unopposed, was the biggest vote getter in the county in this year's General election as he received 4,150

While Rockcastle County is a heavily Republican county, and the fact that all of these men, who are Republican, won easily was no surprise. The big surprise was that President Reagan won every state in the Union except for Mondale's home state of Minnesota and the District of Columbia.

Locally, observers could have said that all of the races were over after election officers finished counting the absentee ballots at around 5 p.m. The absentees told the story of how the county would go in both the national, state and local elections.

Incumbent Kenneth Adams beat Jack Wren by a margin of a little over 2 to 1 in absentee votes, and when the vote had been counted in Roundstone, Conway and East Mt. Vernon, the margin was still over 2-1. Adams won each of the three precincts, getting 255 votes to Wren's 91 in Roundstone, winning 274 to 158 in Conway, and receiving a vote of 238 to 91 in East Mt. Vernon.

Mr. Adams will return to the Board of Education for his fifth term. The same was true of the vote in the second education district where Mrs. Shirley Long lost all three of the precincts, although not as bad as the absentee count had indicated. Mrs. Long ran a credible race polling the 497 votes.

Mrs. Long, a teacher, lost the absentee vote 31 to 9, while in her home precinct of Brown, she lost 288 to 140. In the precinct with

Landfill application still in effect after tie vote

By: Richard Anderkin

The courtroom was full, the stage was set, the motion came: "I make a motion that we withdraw the application," said fifth district Magistrate Joe Clark. Tom Denny seconded it. W. H. Wren explained to the court that he had always been against the proposed site, and he voted "no" with Clark and Denny. The motion came during the county's regular monthly meeting Wednesday.

But, once again, the motion did not pass. Third district Magistrate Alex Albright, first district Magistrate Donald Rowe, and County Judge Bob Jasper all voted "no," a 3 to 3 tie.

Before the vote, local attorney Carl Clontz, who represented the county during a state held public hearing concerning the landfill, told the court and persons in the courtroom that it was his estimation that it would be from 18 months to 2 years before the court would have to decide anything on the landfill. He said that the application was in the Department of Human Resources' hands, and that they could reject it or approve it and issue a permit.

Mr. Clontz went on to say that Larry York, attorney for Livingston residents, had told him that if the County residents needing food can get help

By: Leigh Anne Hiatt

County residents who have run out of food stamps, need clothing or money loans can get help from the Christian Appalachian Project, according to Laurie Pollard, the emergency assistance coordinator for CAP.

The Christian Appalachian Project is a non-denominational, non-profit organization that receives funding from contributors from all over the United States.

The CAP's food pantry, which operates on this funding, is located on Williams Street in the office next to the Attic where the Health Department used to be. The pantry is open from 8:30 a.m. to noon on Monday and Tuesday and from 1 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. on Thursday and Friday.

People who go to the pantry can get a three-day supply of food if their food stamps have run out or they're waiting to receive them. They can also get clothing vouchers which can be traded in for used clothes at the Attic, a business also run by CAP. And if needed, persons can even get money loans for shelter, utilities, and medical expenses.

Ms. Pollard has found that generally people don't abuse the services offered by the food pantry. Those in need can get food about once every three months and clothing twice a year (for warm and cold weather). However, she refuses to give out additional money if people have a loan they haven't repaid.

If people express a need, she will usually help them out. "I have no income standards, and I have to use my judgment," she said. "Only two times have I turned people down because I felt like they weren't managing their income."

The CAP pantry is open year-round, and most of the food comes from Dare to Care in Louisville or food wholesalers. Ms. Pollard said she stocks staple items such as pinto beans, macaroni, crackers, applesauce, soup, cereal, powdered milk and baby food. A woman recently called and donated 50 bushels of sweet potatoes.

The pantry is also glad to accept canned food donations, but they have no way to keep fresh vegetables.

Ms. Pollard has found that July and December are the busiest months for the food pantry. Although many people garden in the summer or get vegetables from their neighbors, it's in July that the state reduces money given for utility bills. Therefore, people receive lower amounts in food stamp money and often run out before the month is up.

And in December, people begin worrying about Christmas as they call on CAP for help. CAP also has a Christmas basket program that families and the elderly can sign up for in August.

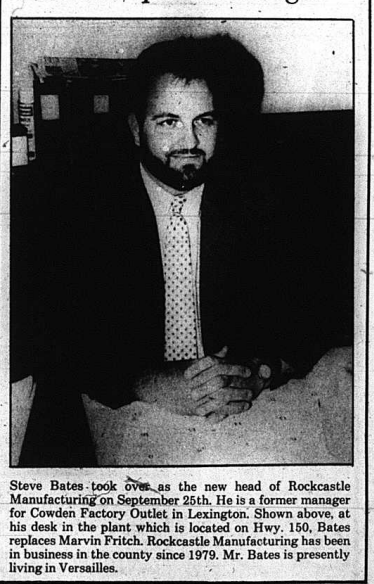

Ms. Pollard said the food pantry is getting to be well-known in the county by needy families and by such agencies as Comprehensive Care, the Bureau for Social Services, and the Health Department.

Betty Lewis, who has a Master's in social work and is employed by the Health Department, often uses the food pantry for needy people. "We see mostly elderly people," she said, "and I think there are many that do without food to pay for fuel in the winter and their nutrition is very, very poor because of that. And that's when I use the food pantry most."

Mrs. Lewis said most of the elderly are prideful and are often unwilling to ask for help. She can usually tell by observing and

Opinions

Dear Mr. Anderkin:

In the article concerning asbestos at Brodhead, Dr. Burdette states that the material was "overlooked by the inspectors while the building was first checked for asbestos."

Asbestos is a mineral with nearly unique properties. The good qualities of asbestos (and there are quite a few) cause it to be a major or minor component in many items. Among others, asbestos may be used in textiles, electrical insulation, filtration media, maximum-strength asbestos cement products, friction materials such as brake linings and clutch facings, paper, pipe covering, reinforcing filters in plastics, floor tile, and asphalt road and airfield pavements. (Source: "Asbestos: An Information Resource," U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.)

Obviously, complete removal of all asbestos from the environment would probably require not only the demolition of the building but the removal of the parking lots and most roads leading to the schools.

I first checked Rockcastle County Schools for asbestos in 1979. Even at that early date it was recognized that one important criterion was needed for asbestos to be a danger to human beings. This requirement is for the body to come in contact with loose asbestos fibers (usually floating in the air).

In order for these fibers to be released into the air, the asbestos must be friable (readily crumbled of brittle). Thus, what I, as a Health Department inspector, was looking for was this "friable" asbestos.

The material found in the kindergarten room at Brodhead Elementary did not qualify as "friable" until it was disturbed by the workmen in 1984.

Shortly after I took samples and confirmed asbestos in several locations, it was decided to transfer responsibility for detection and removal of asbestos to the Department of Education as the logical agency where schools were involved.

Since then, the Cabinet for Human Resources and the Health Departments have played only a peripheral role in the detection of asbestos in schools, usually limited to submission of samples gathered by school personnel for laboratory confirmation of asbestos.

tos content.
I do not believe Dr. Burdette was incorrect in saying, but that is how some members of the public will interpret his statement. The fact is that the asbestos found in the schools since 1979 is not that type for which I was looking when I did my inspections.

Why Town Forums on Education?

Robert F. Sexton, Exec. Director
Prichard Committee for Academic Excellence

(This statement is the first in a series to be published prior to town forums on November 15, 1984.)

Education has been a much discussed topic for the last few years. How often have you heard someone say, "The problem with the schools isn't so much what to do. It's how to do it"? And how often have you heard "people get the schools they deserve; schools just won't improve until people get involved and show they care"? Both statements are fundamental to improving education in Kentucky.

Coming up with good ideas isn't easy, but many sincere people are trying. Much has already been accomplished by Governor Collins, Superintendent McDonald and the 1984 General Assembly. Now Governor Collins has a Council on Educational Reform. Superintendent McDonald has a Committee for a New Direction, members of the General Assembly have been working on new ideas since before the last legislative session; and our citizens' committee, the Chamber of Commerce, and groups of schools teachers, parents and many local school officials have been concerned for some time.

But when the time arrives for turning ideas, no matter how good they are, into reality, "how to do it" becomes the big challenge. Yet the solution is right in front of us—to create change people really do have to show that they care and they do have to get involved.

The first step is for people to come together in their communities to think about and talk about and then to do something about their own schools. To encourage this local discussion we are working with the Governor and Superintendent of Public Instruction and many groups and businesses which are concerned about Kentucky education to organize "town forums" all across Kentucky.

These forums will be held at 7:30 p.m. Eastern time (6:30 p.m. Central time) on Thursday, November 15. One hundred seventy-five school districts, out of a total of one hundred eighty-four, have committed to have meetings. Parents and citizens, teachers and school officials, business people and others will gather to talk about what we really want our schools to be doing.

This meeting is just the first step toward engaging the public in the schools. If these "first" town forums go well and if enough people care, they will continue through local commitment into 1985 and beyond. Real reform will take time.

Educational improvement will come only when people prove, especially to those running the schools and those in elected office, that they care enough to act. Our Governor and legislators must hear that their efforts for education are supported. And the cynics must have that challenge that "people get the schools they deserve" answered with "we want good schools, and we're going to get them!"

Find out about your town meeting—help organize it—attend it. Your school superintendent will probably know the details about your town forum. Or you can call or write us and we will tell you who is organizing the town meeting in your area. We can be reached at (606) 233-9849 or (606) 885-6902 or at P.O. Box 1658, Lexington, Kentucky 40522.

the 98th election in the county. West Brodhead, Mr. Taylor outpolled McLong 300 to 186, and in North Brodhead, where 519 voters went to the polls. Mr. Taylor got 281 votes to Mrs. Long's 162.

Mr. Taylor, a retired teacher himself, will return to the board for a sixth term.

Mrs. Edna Cameron, Climax and Orlando's school board member, was unopposed and received only 98 votes. Mrs. Cameron will be taking her seat on the board in her second term. In 1980 she defeated incumbent Mrs. Isabell Mason to gain her position.

In Rockcastle, the Sheriff's succession amendment was approved as it was across the state.

On Tuesday night with 89 percent of the vote counted, over 450,000 Kentucky voters had said "yes", while only 263,000 had voted "no." The Sheriff, who had been the only office holder in the county courthouse not allowed to hold office in succession, will now be allowed to succeed him/herself.

The amendment was passed in 10 of the county's 14 precincts, receiving 1,225 "yes" votes to 807 "no" votes. The precincts of East Livingston, West Livingston, Bullock, and Climax voted down the amendment, and only one more "yes" vote than "no" vote was cast in Brown.

In Livingston, Bro. Billy Medley, who was running unopposed

Rockcastle Co. Mixed League

BOWLING NEWS

Week of November 1, 1984

Pensol Pac is now back in first place in the Rockcastle Co. Mixed Bowling League with 20 wins and 12 losses. The Born Losers are right behind them with 19 wins and 13 losses and the High Rollers have dropped to third with 17 wins and 15 losses.

The A Team won High team series this week with a 2,455 and the Wildcats had second with a 2,387.

The A-Team also had first and second High team games with an 829 both games.

High men's series went to Dale Winstead with a 597 and Tim Reynolds took second with a 574.

Russell Houk took High mens scratch with a 223 and Dale Winstead had a 220 for second place.

Carol McGuire took High women's series scratch with a 562 and Evelyn Mullins took second place with a 519.

Evelyn Mullins also took High women's game scratch with a 193 and Carol McGuire had a 192 for second High women's game.

High men's series HDCCP was taken by Dale Winstead who had a 708 and Tim Reynolds took second place with a 673.

Dale Winstead also took High men's game HDCCP with a 257 and second place goes to Russell Houk who had a 252.

Judy Lawless took High Women's game HDCCP with a 236 and Kelly Pensol had a 229 for second place.

High Women's Series HDCCP goes to Carol McGuire with a 646 and Evelyn Mullins had a 618 for second place.

Jack Noe still holds High men's average with a 177 and James Noe has second high men's average with a 175.

Carol McGuire also still retains High women's average with a 167 and Evelyn Mullins has second high women's average with a 159.

for Mayor, received 43 votes, and District Judge Michael Cain, who was also running without opposition, received 639 votes.

The election had a large voter turnout across the county as well as in Rockcastle County where 5,542, or over 65% of the registered voters in the county, went to the polls.

asking questions during home visits if people are running out of food.

"I've used it a lot to tide them over. I usually go and request it and take it myself. The younger families will usually ask and are able to go to the food pantry themselves."

Mrs. Lewis said the biggest need she's seen for the poor in Rockcastle is transportation.

While most people can usually manage to get in county transportation to the doctor or the health department, they have a difficult time getting out of the county to crippled children's clinics or specialists' consultations. "It's a very, very deep void, I think."

County Judge Bob Jasper said that people used to come to the Judge's office if they needed aid, but that not too many come now. The county still has a small budget for emergency cases.

Anna Rose Mullins, the administrative assistant to Judge Jasper, said people have not come recently like they had in the last two years. She thinks that other service organizations have taken the place of the county and people in need have learned to turn to them for help.

When the nation took its first census in 1790, only five percent of the population lived in cities or towns. Most of the 3.9 million people lived in farm areas.

To the Citizens of Rockcastle County:
Even though I was unopposed, I thank each of you for the confidence shown in me by your vote Tuesday. I pledge to faithfully fulfill the duties of District Judge. I now ask for your continuing support.

If Johnny can't read, is it because you didn't

Attend the Town Forum
Thurs. night, November 15
7:30 p.m.
Rockcastle Co. High School

This is your chance to let your voice be heard on the quality of education in Kentucky schools. The Prichard Committee, a group of Kentucky parents, employers, and citizens committed to Academic Improvement, invites you to share with us your ideas including:

- How can your schools do a better job for your child?
- How would you like to become involved?

Please jot down your ideas, and let us know what county you're from.

Improvements won't come overnight, but by working together, we can identify the problems, seek solutions, and find new directions to progress.

You'll be taking a step toward improving not only our schools, but also our future. Then if Johnny still can't read, you won't wonder if it's because you didn't.

Attend the Town Forum on Thursday, November 15 at 7:30 p.m. at RCHS.

County Correspondents

Disputanta

By: Hilda Payne Gabbard

Hello from Clear-Creek Valley.

You've heard that men are only "boys grown tall" and, by George, Halloween might prove it here on Clear Creek. A bunch of fellows decided to live old times over again and go trick-or-treating. But the joke was on them. You see, each forgot to wear a mask, but people were scared into treating them anyway by what they saw. I hear some of the fellows were Don Gadd, Cleve Payne, Joe Abney, Raymond Hurley, Robert Smith, John Gabbard, Charley Northern, Police Chief Junior King (I like candy, too," he said), Landis Harding, Ronnie Owens, Jerry Nicely, and others.

Some years ago, Clear-Creek's school children were sent by bus to Brodhead Grade and High School. A young teacher inspired the kids so that they went out into the world with his parting words urging them to "make their mark out there."

Many remember Charles Eddie Hurt as a teacher they liked. Time passed, and Charles moved on to the Somerset Community College where he spent some time in the field of education. The reason I write of this fellow is because I heard of some remarks that is said to have made recently to friends about his retirement.

Eddie was asked how he could retire from the laboring group at such a younger than usual age. "No problem," he said. "It wasn't hard at all. I just lay down the keys and walked out."

That seemed a sound reason enough, but, in my opinion, Charles Eddie really put the sauce on the goose when he also said, "If I'm reading the Lexington-Herald-Leader or the Courier Journal about all the killings and messes in the world, and I see the Signal has come in the mail, too, I just lay them down and read it first." We need more like you, Eddie! Good luck in your retirement.

At last, Billy and Dorothy Baker of Goodrich, Texas, I can answer your nice letter that I received in September and lost among my papers in the process of moving. Today I found your letter and the pictures that you sent me. It was in August that you came home to Rockcastle to visit and renew old memories. Dorothy is interested in tracing the family history and quotes me many names and dates, especially of her husband's mother, Matilda Jane Gadd, who married William C. Baker.

While here on this visit home, the Bakers went to the Signal office to meet me, she writes. I do not work in the plant but send my column in weekly. I come in monthly on business (to see what week they think of throwing my writing in the trash can), so it would be an accident if you found me there. My office is my kitchen and I do roam the county. I like doing this work and meeting people. Some like to talk to me, and some hide, but one cute blonde suggested I hang myself for telling her secrets, but she giggles a lot, so I know she doesn't mean it.

The office girls get Dorothy Baker's name, so I asked for it in my column, and here comes this interesting letter from the Bakers who trace their kinfolks back to Disputanta and in burial places at Scaffold Cane Cemetery.

Dorothy even sent me a drawing of what she thinks the Reader's Button idea should look like, but that's all over due to the youngest member on the Signal work force, 4 year old Travis Anderkin. Why, he even has his own office in the big front office room. I'll admit it is a large cardboard box with windows and doors in it, but many have gotten a space. He is very nice to me now (since I dropped the button idea), and I visit him in his office when I go there, hoping for an interview.

Welcome to the Signal Family Reader, Floyd Legear, son of Emily of Richmond, Ind. He's bound to think Christmas has come back in October, for his dad, Tom Legear has gifted his son, Floyd, with a year's good reading in the Signal about happenings of Clear Creek and Rockcastle.

Floyd was born and raised here on Clear Creek, swimming in its cool, deep water holes under the willows with other boys on the creek. But, too soon, he grew up, and "the grass, I guess, looked greener" beyond these hills. Persimmons and big blue wild grapes will get ripe with November's frosty nights on the ridges, Floyd, and we'll think of you far from this valley as a group sits around a big fire in the woods. If you can't be here, happy reading to you and family.

Itell you if Mt. Vernon had a Miss America contest, Karen King, one of the Pic Pac Market owners there, would sure win it hands-down with the picture I saw in the Signal. If I could have had such luck.

Chester and Madalyn Legear Abrams were down to visit her dad, Tom and Nannie Legear. Tom said they visited Dewey and Vergie Thomas in Somerset, then came back to spend some time with Jim and Fabra Dees on Hammonds Fork Road.

Ella Abney McCracken was telling me she had gritted some corn recently to make fresh cornmeal, which made into bread causes a fellow to swallow his tongue as he eats it along with turnip greens, fried "side meat", and fried apple pies. That woman knows how to make a person drool and smack their lips! But she had already cooked and eaten the stuff. I was out of luck again.

Right here I'm having second thoughts again about something. Last week, I told you of attending the inauguration at Berea College. I was privileged to meet on the campus afterwards. Berea's WKXO Radio's news director, Wayne Gregory, who had been asked by the College to narrate the program as the procession of dignitaries made their way into the large building. This entire program was broadcast out of Louisville on Centel Cablesat later.

WILDIE - THEN AND NOW

A scene of long ago from Wildie. Jim Branan's store with Lou Payne and Ella Franklin on the porch platform. Jan Stevens' store now is located to the right.

W.R. Baker of Texas came back to visit Wildie, his boyhood home, this past summer and was so happy to stand "smack dad" in the middle of it to recall the past. Welcome home, W.R.

"I was surprised they asked me," said Gregory, even though he had been in the business since he was 16 years of age. "I'll not tell how long ago that was. A body doesn't want their age spread around when he's a single man. Wayne may need all the help he can get even though, I'm closer, girls, he is handsome and has a fascinating voice. So I know why he was chosen." "But I was also honored to be the narrator," he continued.

Well, I was honored too, when, busy as the man is, he told me he had read my column and wanted to meet the writer. Naturally, I was pleased, but you know, I'm thinking that he had more on his mind, such as trying to flatter me out of the potent melon seeds of the plumgranny (which I am pushing) when he has heard of their power with bashful girls. It means to plant some and raise his own to be ready for next summer's romantic nights. The girls can't resist you, Wayne, if you have some in your pockets.

For those interested, beginning Thursday, November 15th, the Mt. Vernon Signal will be on sale at Johnny Todd's Market on U.S. 25 South in Berea. Till next week, I give you the first verse of a four part poem.

"The Man Who Thinks He Can't"
If you think you are beaten, you are
If you think you dare not, you don't
If you'd like to win, but think you can't,
It's almost a cinch you won't.

Miss Cromer selected for "Who's Who" publication

Miss Martina Jo Cromer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cromer, of Mt. Vernon, Kentucky, has been selected to appear in the 1985 edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities," according to Cumberland College's president, Jim Taylor.

Martina is one of 39 Cumberland College students who have been selected as national outstanding leaders.

Campus nominating committees and editors of the annual directory have included the names of these students based on their academic achievement, service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activities and potential for continued success.

They join an elite group of students selected from more than 1,500 institutions of higher learning in all 50 states, the District of Columbia and several foreign nations.

Each year the faculty of Cumberland College nominates students with eighty hours or more, whom they believe are among the outstanding upperclassmen based upon such criteria as future worthwhileness, citizenship, and leadership in academic and "extracurricular" activities. scholastic achievement is also considered but is not necessarily the chief requirement. A representative committee of the college makes the final selection and recommends a limited number of these students to the national office.

Outstanding students have been honored in the annual directory since it was first published in 1934.

Dr. John Duke, Dean of Student Services and Chairman of the "Who's Who" committee at Cumberland, stated, "This is the highest honor bestowed upon a student of Cumberland College by the faculty."

The town of Tarzana, Calif., was named for the fictional character, Tarzan, whose creator, Edgar Rice Burroughs, lived there for many years.

Local People Patients
At Cardinal Hill

Three persons from Rockcastle County have been patients during the past year at Cardinal Hill Hospital, Lexington, according to a report issued by the Medical Records Department. Eighty Kentucky counties and five other states are represented in the report.

Cardinal Hill Hospital is a 100-bed facility providing comprehensive rehabilitation services to disabled persons in the areas of brain damage, stroke, spinal cord injury, and general physical disability. The hospital also operates a developmental stimulation program for about fifty children, 6 months to 6 years old, that deals with any combination of problems with young children.

Is One Church As Good As Another?

This question is frequently asked by sincere, honest people seeking the truth. There are many good people who believe one church is as good as another, and that all churches are equally good and scriptural and that we can be saved in any one or none of them. There are many churches (religions) in the world, divided and subdivided into different denominations, each one of which is characterized by a distinctive name, a particular creed, a body of doctrine, a form of organization and a type of worship peculiar to itself and different from all other denominations.

The answer to this question depends upon what one means by the word "church." If by church, one means the churches started by man and which constitute what is usually called the denominational world, the answer is a definite YES. One human church is just as good as another, as far as God is concerned. From His viewpoint, one denomination is just as good as another, for all are useless, yet even harmful, with reference to man's salvation. This is undeniably proven by the fact that God has promised to root them up (Matt. 13:13). A clear understanding of Bible teaching never led any man to start a denomination, or to be a member of one. Because denominationalism is division, and God condemns religious division (John 17:20-21; 1 Cor. 1:10), and those who promote it (Rom. 16:17).

The Bible reveals but one church. "Upon this rock I will build my church" (singular), said Jesus (Matt. 16:18). "This is ONE body" (Eph. 4:4), but the body is the church (Col. 1:18), and "the church...is his body" (Eph. 1:23). There is "yet but one body" (1 Cor. 12:20). It is easily seen, therefore, that nobody ever decided to promote religious division as a result of a clear understanding of the scriptures.

In contrast to these plain teachings, we have some 1300 religious bodies in the world today with the claim that one of them is just as good as another. This is true only if we are speaking of human churches. But if we include the Lord's church in the statement, it is as false as can be. All human churches together cannot be as good as the Lord's church. Hence, the truth can be stated simply; one church is not as good as another.

The church of Christ is the body of Christ. We "speak as the oracles of God" (II Pet. 4:11). We do not seek to substitute any doctrine by any human creed. We obligate ourselves to authorize everything we teach, believe, or practice by the Bible or give it up. Why not investigate the church of Christ and prove to yourself that it is neither human nor denominational, but the church you read about in the Bible.

The one church of the Bible is not an amalgamation of all earthly churches, as some think it is. Obviously since these churches are themselves divided, they cannot form one unit or one body, functioning under the one Head, Christ Jesus. "Is Christ divided?" (I Cor. 1:13), asked the apostle Paul. The answer is evident. He is not. We must then necessarily conclude that His body (the church) is not divided, but is "perfectly joined together." (I Cor. 1:10); a phrase which in no way describes denominationalism.
