The night's lesson was on "What the Bible Says About Judgment." We should live every day knowing that we will be judged by our Lord. The judgment's reality will make those prepared happy, but the unprepared will be unhappy. God will settle His accounts. Every tongue will confess, and every knee will bow. This lesson was ended by appropriate poetry and prayer. A delicious fruit salad and cake were served by the hostess with assorted drinks before the group adjourned.

MOUNT VERNON, KENTUCKY 40456

VOLUME 98 · NUMBER 15

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 15, 1984

Council hires new city clerk

The City of Mt. Vernon has a new city clerk. Mr. Vernon resident Kaye Rader was hired to fill the position vacated by Ms. Mary McClure after she resigned.

Ms. McClure did not give any reason for her resignation in her letter she presented to Mayor Roland Mullins, according to Mullins who said that Ms. McClure had worked for the city for at least 7 years.

Ms. Rader is a former secretary at the Rockcastle County Hospital and the Comprehensive Care Department in Mt. Vernon. Council members voted unanimously to hire Ms. Rader at an October 29th special called meeting. Her salary is $11,000 per year.

Residents of the city of Mt. Vernon could have their own place to go swimming next summer. Council members voted unanimously Monday night on the recommendation of councilman Jack Renner to have Mayor Roland Mullins start the initial work on an application for $30,000 from the Federal government through the Parks and Recreation Department.

If the grant is approved, the city plans to build a swimming pool somewhere in the city limits. The city will also have to match the $30,000 with either money, labor, land, etc.

City resident Jack Noe sent a request to the council meeting for sewer lines to be run to his home which is adjacent to the Fairground Hill area project where sewer lines and bathrooms are going to be placed. Mayor Roland Mullins said that he would ask the engineers to include Noe in the project. Presently his property is not included in the scope of work.

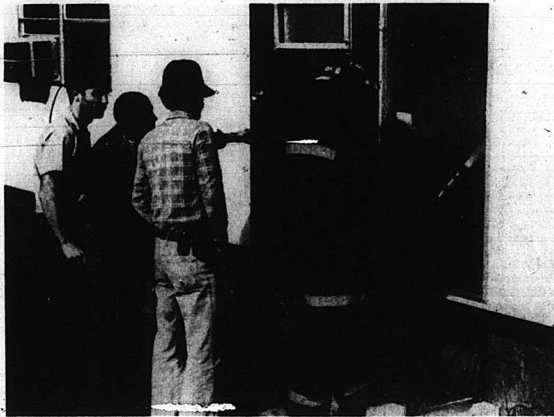

No changes for Huddleston or McConnell in recanvass

The voting recanvass has been completed in Rockcastle County, and while no more votes were found for either Walter 'Dee' Huddleston or Mitch McConnell, some errors were found.

County Clerk Mrs. Irene Bales said Tuesday that President Ronald Reagan received 9 more votes to his credit than initially counted, and that incumbent School Board member Willie J. Taylor lost 90 more than was first tallied.

Mrs. Bales said that Taylor's total changed when election commissioners opened the machine at West Broadhead. "Last Tuesday, election officers thought that a 900 for Mr. Taylor and it should have been 390 in that precinct," Mr. Taylor received a total vote of 990 votes.

In last week's Signal, two vote totals in the tabulation page were given. President Reagan's total in Rockcastle County should have been 4,328 instead of 3,998, and Senator Walter 'Dee' Huddleston's total should have been 1,475 instead of 1,344.

Answering Fire Call- The Mt. Vernon Fire Department was called to a fire at the home of Janie McGuire on the Wabed-Jones Road around 10 o'clock last Thursday morning. Firefighters confined the blaze to the kitchen area and the trailer received only minor smoke and water damage. Shown above are, from right: Eddie Moore, Calvin Rader, Jack Weaver, Russell Barron and Randall Reynolds.

County will try to sell garbage franchise in next six months

The Rockcastle County Fiscal Court is looking at new ways to handle the growing problem of garbage collection in the county.

During this month's regular monthly meeting at the Courthouse, fourth district magistrate W. H. Wren made a motion to give County Attorney James H. Lambert the authority to begin preparing the proper documents to sell a garbage franchise in the county. Wren's motion, which passed unanimously, came about after much discussion on the proposed landfill site at Pine Hill.

Livingston area residents who are against the site on Linda and Emmett Foster's property told county members that they would be very glad to help the county in forming a committee to look for alternate ways to dispose of garbage. No committee was formed, but Wren's motion passed, and it seems that franchising is the inevitable conclusion in harnessing the county's ever present garbage problem.

The court also voted to continue Deputy Sheriff Clarence "Jibb" Hasty's contract for garbage collection for six more months or until the county has set up franchises.

Mt. Vernon City Councilman Pete Hurd was present to ask the county to hire a person at the Livingston Senior Citizens for six hours per day. The center is the newest one in the county. Hurd got a "no" response to his question.

In an unusual request, Linda Foster asked the court to pay her $125 a month rent on the proposed landfill site. Mrs. Foster also did not receive any type of motion on her request.

A county road that was closed in 1979, and reopened and closed again, was also brought up in this month's Fiscal Court meeting once again. Attorneys representing David Gregory, owner of Gregory's Motel near Benfro Valley, asked the court to reopen a county road on property that Gregory owns. Mr. Gregory told the court that he owned all the property on one side of the road and half the property on the other side.

A check of the minutes of a 1979 meeting showed that Mr. Gregory asked the court to close the road in question to everyone but himself and his son, Bill, but since then he has changed his mind. "After I found out that this couldn't be done, I didn't want it closed," Mr. Gregory said.

At the request of Mr. Gregory's attorney, the court also voted to have an electric fence, reportedly belonging to Mr. Gregory's son William D., which is across the road, taken down.

Finally, the court voted to donate $100 toward the purchase of a new flapjack in the Courthouse yard.

Over 930 applications taken for assistance in heating home

To date over 930 persons have applied for assistance in heating their homes in Rockcastle County this winter. Linda McCauley, supervisor of the local Welfare Office, said Tuesday that although this many people had applied for help, her office was still taking applications.

The Federal Government allocated over $30 million for this project and according to Miss McCauley, some money is still there. "We will be taking applications until the State tells us to stop," she said.

Miss McCauley explained that aged and disabled persons got the first chance to apply for help, and that 388 of them did so in Rockcastle County. She said that 548 persons with low incomes have applied this far.

The supervisor said that the program changed this year to some extent, reducing the payments and increasing the income one could make. She said that by reducing payments, more people could be helped.

School board will appeal OSHA fine and citation

By: Richard Anderkin

The Rockcastle County Board of Education voted unanimously last Thursday night to appeal a recent fine and citation issued against them by the Kentucky Department of Labor, Occupational Safety and Health Program for the improper removal of asbestos from a kindergarten room at the Broadhead Elementary school.

Board Chairman Dr. K. R. Burdette said during the meeting that he thought the fine and citation were unfair and undervaluing of the board. "I think Mr. Bradley (maintenance supervisor) and we (the board) should be commended for getting this thing out in the open and getting it taken care of," Burdette said.

Burdette said "We could have just had Mr. Bradley point over the material and no one would have ever known it was asbestos. Instead we had it tested to see if it had asbestos in it, and then we had it removed. We have always done the best possible job removing the asbestos in our schools, and I don't think we deserve what we got. I'm for appealing it and not paying the fine," he said. The fine was $630.

School Superintendent Charles Parsons said that the contractors who removed the remainder of the asbestos from the room in question told him that the material was so hard that it could not be made fibrous even when hit directly with a hammer several times. "If a hearing is held on this matter in Frankfort, we will call him in as a witness on our behalf," Parsons said.

When asbestos becomes fibrous, it is considered to be much more dangerous because the fibers get into the air and can be breathed in by people. This type of asbestos is known as "friable" and it is believed by London and Associates, the firm that removed the material from the classroom, and by Parsons and Board members that the material taken out was not "friable" asbestos but "chrysotile" and that it did not pose a threat to anyone's safety. Chrysotile asbestos does not release any fibers into the air.

According to Parsons no date has been set for the hearing.

After only two years of coaching, Assistant RCHS football coach Jerry Makin has resigned. Superintendent Parsons submitted a letter of resignation from Makin to the Board Thursday night. The Board voted unanimously to accept Makin's resignation. The Rockets were 1 and 9 this season. Two parents were also at the Thursday night meeting to voice concern over a problem with their daughter and a bus driver. Dick Artley told Board members that his daughter, a Mt. Vernon Elementary School student, had taken a note from her mother to her bus driver, Bob Pybas. Artley told the Board that Pybas told his daughter not to bring any more notes, and that if her mother did not like the way he was driving the bus, to come and drive it herself and see if she could handle the 60 kids.

Superintendent Parsons told Artley that he would have Transportation Director Ritchie Bray look into the matter, and if he had any more problems to let him know.

"In other business, the Board voted to hire Geraldine French, Tamara S. Coffey, Della Scoggins, Juanita Stanley, and Deborah Philbeck as substitute teachers.

Approved G.E.D. certificates for Jamie D. Elkins, Carolyn S. Whitmore and Katherine L. Harding.

Approved advertising for bids for worker's compensation insurance for 1985.

Refused to pay for the re-testing of two Broadhead classrooms in the main building for asbestos fibers by the P.T.A. The cost was $785.

Approved entering into a property damage suit with other school districts in the state against Johns-Manville Corporation in an effort to recover some of the cost of removing asbestos. Johns-Manville is the bankrupt company that was the largest supplier of building materials that contained asbestos.

Approved the purchase of three new station wagons from Ernest Stanley at a total cost of $5,100.

Approved the purchase of six new school buses for next school year at a cost of $118,958.

Approved the sale of three vans at the new School Board meeting by sealed bids.

Employed Richard Vanable, Jr. and Betty Jo McKinney as substitute bus drivers.

Accepted the low bid on school lunch foods and supplies from sealed bids that were received.

The next regularly scheduled Board meeting will be December 6 instead of Tuesday, December 4.

"Scapino" opened and closed last week end with two shows, Friday and Saturday nights, at the Cedar Rapids County Club. The second production of the Rockcastle Council for the Arts for 1984 featured a dinner-theatre setting.

Need more parents in youth sports program

Dear Editor:

I'd like to begin by thanking you for all your coverage of our young people in sports here in our county. For all the spots in your paper concerning our Little League baseball program of which I am a manager of one of the teams, to T-Ball which my wife, Clarice, was actively involved.

I'd like to appeal to all the parents who will have children participating in a baseball program next summer. Get involved, find out what's going on, volunteer for some job to help the program out. Let's all get behind our youth and help them have better programs.

I'd like to say that, all in all, I think this was a pretty good season too for the Youth Football League. We got a late start getting it organized and off the ground this year, and we started playing before we really had enough time to prepare. We extended playing this year down to 3rd graders and had small team games on Saturday. They all did well. All the teams ended up in a tie.

This year there were still just four teams active in the county—two Mt. Vernon teams, Buccaneers and Stealers, one Roundstone team, the Redskins, and one Brodhead team, the Bengals. I feel sure there were enough kids that got interested in this program this year to enlarge it to at least two or three more teams. I'd like to see Livingston children get a chance to play in not only basketball, but also baseball and football. Before this county goes on any more years, it will show the rest of the surrounding counties we are ready and able to really compete!

I'd like to also take this opportunity to express my sincere thanks to the merchants who sponsored food for the Steelers football team during our recent trip to Georgetown: Convenient Food Market, Carter's Market, King's Pic. Pac. and Saylor's Pharmacy.

We didn't take a big team to Georgetown. We took 3rd, 4th, and 5th graders. Although they only scored one touchdown against a tough team, they enjoyed the trip and appreciated the food and drinks. Thanks to the little guys from Brodhead who went with us and helped make up a team.

Again, thanks merchants. Thanks, editor, for your space, time, and publications.

I'm looking forward to the 1985 teams!

Sincerely, Paul Kirby

Cemetery inventory help needed in county

Dear Editor:

A monumental effort is being made to locate and inventory as many cemeteries in Rockcastle County as possible. To date we have found some cemeteries that have only fieldstone markers. Your readers may be able to tell us the names of some of those in unmarked graves. A list of cemeteries and the location of each follows:

On the hillside near the Old Calloway schoolhouse there are three (3) graves with fieldstone markers. Who are these people? Near Druthers restaurant on Route #25 north of Mt. Vernon on a hilltop are several graves. We have been told that members of the Acy Bryant family are buried there. What are their names?

At the old C. C. Carter place (now owned by Ken Cromer) there are several graves with fieldstones only. We have been told that one person buried there is Charley Adams, and uncle of Roscoe Adams. Who are the others buried in this cemetery? If anyone has information about these cemeteries, names of those buried there and, if possible, birth and death dates, please contact me soon.

Sincerely, Jeanne Snodgrass Bonham 516 Hickory Hill Lane Cincinnati, Ohio 45215

Please help collect aluminum cans

Dear Sir:

I am a member of Mt. Vernon Troop 263, Boy Scouts of America. I am working to become an Eagle Scout. My project is to collect aluminum cans for recycling. With the money from selling the cans, we are going to purchase some new gun equipment for Roundstone Elementary School.

I am asking for your help, especially in the Roundstone area. All the students at Roundstone have been asked to help. The cans can be sent to school, or you can drop them off at Hayes' Market at Conway.

Your help will be greatly appreciated.

Sincerely, Chad Merritt

"Scapino" cast is Woman's Club guests

By: Brenda Lambert

At the October meeting President Judy Stewart-Shackelford called the Woman's Club of Mt. Vernon to order, led the members in the Pledge of Allegiance, and then asked Betty McKinney to introduce her special guests.

Mrs. McKinney explained that the group she had invited are members of Rockcastle Council of Arts, which was created in 1982 under the aegis of a federal grant. This organization has produced two summer theaters and has been rehearsing for a dinner-theater, "Scapino," under the direction of Allen Pensol.

Mr. Pensol discussed his work with the group and then he turned the program over to Ken Johnson, Patti Towery, and Jack Lewis, who performed a compacted version of "Benjamin Franklin Goes to Paris," a delightful, fast-moving scenario of Franklin's diplomacy and charm.

The president thanked the group for their entertainment and then proceeded with the regular meeting—reading of the minutes, the treasurer's report, presented by Mrs. Karen Noe, and the devotional, given by Mrs. Dorothy Landrum.

Other items discussed were 50-year pins for Mrs. Ruth McFerron, Mrs. Gertrude Hilton, and Mrs. Molly Bryant (motion passed); the election of Tami Huffines as recording secretary, and approval of budget.

After the meeting adjourned, the 16 members enjoyed a vast array of cheeses and vegetables provided by Mrs. Shannon Beales; Mrs. Carolyn Huffines; Mrs. Evelyn Raines; Mrs. Vera Stephenson; and Ms. Tami Huffines, hostesses for the evening.

These ladies also placed on each table a vase of red roses and white carnations, flanked by two white candles.

In the "Thanks" (note from the Church Messenger) to those providing meals during the revival: Jean Towery, Bill Stewart, Betty Lewis, Bonnie Coffey; Martha Parsons, Bea McNew, Barbara Clark, Elizabeth McNew, Ione Parsons, Linda Stone, June Stoves, Belle Huff, Christine Brown. Also for housing: Missionaries Dean and Judy Davis enjoyed the hospitality at the home of Mrs. Jean Towery and Mrs. Christine Brown.

Continuing from the Messenger: "Our Homecoming on Sept. 30 was a great day that everyone enjoyed. Two of our former ministers were with us, Dean and Judy Davis, and Larry and Ada Johnson. Many folks from Florida, Indiana, Ohio, Tennessee, Kentucky, also from California, returned to be with us. Next Homecoming is scheduled for Sept. 29, 1985.

Jim Davis, son of Dean and Judy Davis, is now on his first furlough to the States since going to the mission field in Zambia, Africa. He will be with us on October 28. At present, he is working with his living-link church in Indianapolis, and we are looking forward to him sharing his work with us before his return in the summer of '85.

Our sincere sympathy to the family of Rance Coffey, who was the oldest member of our community (Wilde) at 99 years, and a member of the church since 1928. Also the church family extends its heartfelt condolence to Llysses Baker upon the death of his brother-in-law, Ernest Robbins, on Oct. 8.

With my two children, I had the opportunity recently of viewing Wilde from a different perspective - from the air." Pilot Buckley McNew. Our course took us across the Bluegrass Ordinance, Richmond to Wilde, and to Berea. About 1,400 ft. above sea level at 130 mph. Everything on earth seemed so small and minute. It was a thrilling experience. I wonder, how does God view our lives? Small? Minute? Insignificant? Meaningless? Certainly not! We were created in His image. He breathed into us life. We do mean something to God. As He loves each and every one to the extent that He allowed His Son's blood to be shed for us.

Hello from Clear Creek! All that big wild "yada" you will be hearing Friday night, Nov. 16, will be a bunch of us well-wishers at Tom Leegar's house helping him to celebrate his 90th birthday. From the active life he lived, could you believe that man is within 10 years of being 100 and still going strong? Or he was last Sunday when he and pretty wife, Nannie, went to Church and returned home with us for dinner after Church. It reminded me of Mother and Dad's life long ago to have Church folks come to your home.

Tom is, and has been, a good man, and the Lord is still giving him time on his "life note." We say Happy Birthday to Tom Leegar, a Clear Creek pioneer. Attendance was short this past Sunday in our Church due to the dark, windy, rainy day (we hope). But the spirit was there in the old white Macedonia Church House of my and Bill Stephens' mother, Mrs. W. Stephens, a good speaker. Bro. Glenn S. Tynes of Tynes in Jackson for the day.

I always like to read the titles of the movies on the front of the theaters. So I found the one last week puzzling when it read: "Teachers: R." Now I know some of them had been rough, and John said he had share when they caused him to stand and eat off the mantel for the teacher discovered the tricks he did rather than learn.

The Mt. Vernon Signal Thursday, November 15, 1984 P-7

But right now calling teachers "rough" when we need good publicity to help education, is too much!

John and I joined Cleve and Blanche, Sunday, Nov. 11th in helping her celebrate her birthday with a beautiful cake presented by a friend. Along with family members were their son, Jerry, and wife; Sandy Payne, from Richmond, Blanche, when asked her age, said she was "summers" between 29 and 39. Boy, we women just won't quit.

Cleve is serving on the jury at Mt. Vernon this week. Good thing it's happening after the Halloween last week.

The county road department men have been doing a great job of patching up holes on Clear Creek roads before winter weather sets in. Thanks, fellows, for saving the wear and tear on our cars and trucks, not to mention easier riding.

Stopping in at Mt. Vernon's Druthers Restaurant for a meal of, I hoped, cooked turnip tops, fried pumpkin, and hockies made with newly ground corn meal. I ran into retired friends, Ted and Verla

TO THE VOTERS IN THE SECOND DISTRICT

Precincts: Brown, W. Brodhead, N. Brodhead

I would like to take this opportunity to thank all those who supported and encouraged me in any way in the recent school board race. Your concern for our schools and your willingness to take a stand for improvement is deeply appreciated.

I Do Not Feel Defeated. I feel instead that it was a victory that 497 people in my district alone were willing to raise their voice in favor of putting emphasis on classrooms and students' needs rather than on political considerations.

My Goals Have Not Changed. My hope was and is to improve the schools in Rockcastle County. I believe this can be done if the people of the community become aware of the problems and are willing to work for needed changes. We have come a long way toward that goal. Information has been published about what good schools are like and about duties of school boards and school board members. Community discussion of issues has occurred and has helped more people to be aware of and concerned about national issues. More people have faced the fact that the schools are the backbone of the community and the quality of all our lives. More people, including myself, have realized that schools are our business. 497 concerned, honest people stood up and were counted. I am proud of you.

I believe it will be difficult for our school leaders to ignore the dissatisfaction expressed by 497 people in my district. I believe they will be politically astute enough to know that we will be watching to see if they put as much time, energy, money and brain power into improving our schools as they did in winning the election. I believe that we will grow stronger in numbers and in fervor if improvements are not made. I personally do not care who makes the improvements as long as they are made.

Progress Has Been Made as a Result of Community Involvement. I cannot end this article without adding one more batch of information. Mr. Parsons published on Nov. 1 a list of "positive things" in our schools, consisting of 16 items. I am glad we have each of these positive things in our schools, but we must not be misled about how they came about. These positive things are a direct result of parents, teachers and community members getting involved and pushing for positive change. Here is the evidence for my statement.

- (1) Test scores came up last year; they had been low for many years and received attention only after publication of rankings by state and district which revealed Rockcastle County to be at the bottom of the barrel. Parents became upset and demanded attention.
- (2) At least two items on the list - the Kindergarten program and the Gifted and Talented program - could have been available in Rockcastle County years sooner if someone had applied for state funds. Mr. Parsons was urged by parents (including myself) to apply. Rockcastle County did not apply for the funds.
- (3) Seven items: The drop-out rate, attendance rate, teaching supply money, the computer lab at the High School, the inclusion of French at the High School, the second elementary counselor and the establishment of a School Improvement Program were all brought about by pressure from a group of parents, teachers and community members who worked on the Committee for Excellence in Education last school year. Our school administration applied political resistance tactics to this committee and its suggestions and eventually led to its being disbanded.
- (4) Several other items on the list are a result of mandates from the State and may have been forced on Rockcastle County by the State Accreditation team who inspected our schools last spring.

I believe this election has proven to us all once again something we already knew: a number of leaders in our school system are excellent politicians. I am not a politician; I am an educator, a parent and a citizen. Perhaps this was a handicap. Still, I do not feel defeated. I feel that much progress has been made as a result of our efforts and I am hopeful that more improvements will be made. I urge you to continue to demand improvements.

Sincerely,
Shirley (Brown) Long

Sports in Kentucky

semi-perfect Saturday. The weather excepted, that seems an apt enough description for Kentucky's 27-18 victory over Vanderbilt Saturday in Lexington. UK's performance was semi-perfect for these reasons. Seven victories is the most for a UK team since 1977 when the Wildcats won 10. Excluding that season's total and the nine victories in 1976, Kentucky has not won as many as seven games in 20 years — 7-3 under Blanton Collier in 1954. "You can't tell the affect this will have on our program in feet and inches," Coach Jerry Claiborne hedged. "But we're one win up on last year and that's real big for our program. We're headed in the direction we want to go in." Indeed, and the dividends, both immediate and long range, are significant too. First, there is the matter on which Claiborne steadfastly refuses to discuss yet. A bowl bid. Kentucky will get one, and, if scuttlebutt counts for anything, the Wildcats may have a choice. Mentioned most prominently this week are the Citrus Bowl at Orlando Florida on Saturday, Dec. 22 at 1 p.m. (on NBC Television) and the Peach Bowl on Monday, Dec. 31 at 3 p.m. (on CBS Television). The Tampa Tribune reported Saturday morning that Kentucky has already been unofficially invited to the Citrus Bowl. And, George Haney from the Peach Bowl told Sports Ed last week that UK was "at the top of the list" and seven wins would do it. Officially, bowl bids cannot be announced until Nov. 24.

Not only UK's victory over Vanderbilt, but the ways it was accomplished, makes Claiborne's team an odds-on choice to be on the road just before or just after Christmas. "I thought we played about as good as we could play today," Claiborne said. "Except for two plays we kept them out of the end zone. They didn't get together, but we didn't let them in the end zone."

Kentucky's defense was remarkable in a bend-but-not-t-break sense. The Commodores came into Lexington averaging better than 30 points a game and had outscored eight previous opponents 81-17 in the fourth quarter alone. But against UK's battered defense Vandy managed only a gift safety at game's end in the last 15 minutes period.

Kentucky showed some "bowl candidate" sparkle to bowl scouts on hand — Citrus, Liberty, Peach and Hall of Fame Bowls, along with 53,000+ fans who braved the weather.

And they liked those that follow too.

"The big thing was that we played with better intensity than we have in the last three weeks," Claiborne said. "Our players knew what was at stake. I had a long talk with the team after Tuesday's practice. They got together and had some talks with themselves."

Mark Higgs gave the bowl scouts something to buzz about when the little freshman broke two tackles and made an exhilarating 94 yard third quarter run to the end zone that — it seems to me — ran UK right into a bowl bid. A footnote: Higgs' run was the longest from scrimmage by anyone in the SEC this season.

If that did not convince the bowl folks that there is "bowl" potential excitement about this team, then this did:

Quarterback Bill Randall, after some lackluster play since the Rutgers game Oct. 4, regained the crispness that got UK to a 5-0 record at midseason. The big sophomore makes the difference for Kentucky and against Vandy he was "Dollar Bill" again, completing 20 of 31 for 195 yards and two touchdowns.

Randall threw the ball better than he has been recently. Claiborne said. "And he made heckuva scramble on that touchdown pass to (Chris) Derry (in the second period)."

And finally, there were these periphery factors in Kentucky's semi-perfect Saturday. First, Claiborne's team committed not a single turnover in 60 minutes of football. And second, despite a howling wind and intermittent rain, UK's kicking game was outstanding. Joe Worley kicked field goals from 49 and 50 yards and punter Paul Calhoun was excellent maneuvering against the gusty winds, averaging 39 yards a kick on six punts.

When the game was over UK vice-president Ray Hornback went skipping out of the press box chortling to himself and rubbing his hands together. The reasons were obvious. UK's players came off the turf at Commonwealth Stadium "quietly" chanting, as if trying to hide their glee from Claiborne, but to share it with adoring fans. "Bowl! Bowl! Bowl!" they were saying.

The rain had stopped. For Kentucky football fans, a semi-perfect Saturday.

Mandate for Joe, Denny and Kentucky's Joe B. Hall and Louisville's Denny Crum got the season off with a "victory" last (election) week. Hall and Crum supported the referendum that allows Kentucky sheriffs to succeed themselves at (Cont. to 13)

Youth football pictures next week

There are a lot of reasons, none of them very valid, but we promise that we will have the youth football pictures in next week's Signal.

Scott, hoping for the same. They had been to vote like millions of Americans that day, so we sat down, to talk. After finding Druthers had no such menu, we tried "hamburgers" when PJ a thousand times rather had dried shuck beans.

I got the true picture of the Scott family when Ted, in talking of married life, said, "Oh, yes, I always have the last words when we get into an argument," and he looked as innocent as a spider about to catch a fly.

I looked at ex-schoolteacher Verla and wondered at a teacher taking that sitting down. Then Ted finished, "Yes indeed, I have the last words. If she says shut up, I say, yes, dear, and that's it." Cars and trucks parked around barns on Clear Creek don't mean the men have met for a tobacco spitting contest or knife swapping. They, and neighbors, are knee deep in tobacco stripping for the markets are due to open soon and that means Christmas is around the corner for the "little woman" and kids.

Clear Creek sands sympathy to Don and Linda Gadd, and members of the family upon the death of Linda's father, Albert Lamb recently.

Well, I've got to report this whether you are tired of reading the stuff or not. I've been asked, urged, blackmailed, and threatened to come out with the progress being made in my push for the cause of a new money crop on Clear Creek and in Rockcastle. All newswriters worth a cent must use the paper for publicity on a "cause." And mine has been to help folks so here goes. Don't leave now.

Headlines in the daily paper have, for the past few months, run like this—"Outlook For Farmers Uncertain," "Farmers Moonlight to Boost Income," "The State Agriculture Department Advises New Crops."

The articles with the headlines say farmers should grow less tobacco and grow more other crops that could be marketed since so many people are down on the "weed." That does it!

It is not too early for me to begin to push for another crop besides peppers and strawberries. I had a bumper crop of the small melons called plumgranny by the hill folks, and I have already distributed a lot of them this summer. Why, I was amazed at the way their virtues caught on and spread over the country from the talk I heard.

Don't put the paper down yet, for I'm about to report to you on my success in getting folks interested in growing them.

Henry Voltmer of Indiana, a good friend of this newspaper, writes and asks, "Tell me, what in the world is a plumgranny?" You drove your ducks to the right place, Henry. I have told of their uses in this column before, Henry, but far be it from me to put a fellow down who has a need, so here goes again. The plumgranny is an old-fashioned, small, egg-shaped melon about the size of a boy's fist. It grown on the ground on a vine, but could climb a frame on a porch. The color is like a pumpkin and strips run from one end to the other. The melon can be eaten, but its most outstanding virtue is the powerful fragrance that it gives off. A bowl of them on the table will knock out the scent of any other in the room, and I mean like ham gravy.

Their best use goes back to pioneer days when young men would carry the small melons in their pockets as they went courting which surely encouraged romance. This fragrance also mended any hard feelings between husband and wife. They change a person so much he feels better. (Are you listening, Ed Croucher? So that's why you wanted some seed!)

Their fragrance is so powerful that, when I mailed some to my sister, Ruth Dorman in Florida, their mail carrier asked what in the world could be in the box that smelled so good—the gift wrappings.

As I began my campaign, I decided to start with the Managing Editor, Mrs. Anderkin, so I took her a tissue wrapped and tied with ribbons, fat and good, smelling like melon. I need to stay in her good graces, you see, so she won't let the menfolk throw me off the paper. Indeed, she was delighted and told the office girls, "I think I'll take it home and put it in my dresser drawer." The girls agreed and by that time, the fragrance had begun to fill the room which actually caused Mr. Anderkin to break down and smile!

I'll now start my report—From Michigan, Prof. Jimmy Payne plans to grow some melons and take to his classes. He thinks maybe the students will develop a better attitude toward learning once the delightful scent gets into the room. There's no end to their possibilities.

I see my space is up. But stay with me for next week's list of growers and my offer to you. In the meantime, hurry to Todd's Market on South U.S. 25, for your copy of the Signal on Thursday, Nov. 15th.

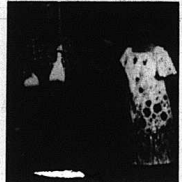

This means you, Ed Robinson, a fourth hand reader.

Till next week. (Second verse) If you think you'll lose, you're lost.

For out in the world we find Success begins with a fellow's will. It's all in the state of mind.

Pictured here are Bill and Lorene Fowler (the one duck gal) visit with their daughter, who visited them this summer and chose to read the Signal over the large Denver daily newspaper. The Texas redhead, April Lea Guy, drove her ducks to the right market

Mary Payne, who at one time made Payne's General Store here at Disputanta a success by conducting a "sucking circle," her husband, Howard, said, when the womenfolk came to the store, is pictured, left, with Blanche Payne, who celebrated with the family her birthday Nov. 11th.

Thanksgiving week is slated as "National Adoption Week"

As we approach Thanksgiving Week our thoughts easily turn to family and the "sharing and caring" experiences we've had in the past and the good times we anticipate in the future. That's the way it is with families. Thanksgiving Week is also National Adoption Week and a special time for adoptive families to share and care.

The Special Needs Adoption Program is celebrating five years of recruiting adoptive homes for children who otherwise would not know the permanence of their very own family. Because of this program, 493 children are able to enjoy sharing caring times with their adoptive families. Still 185 are waiting to join a family. They are children who have some special need. They are older children, brother/sister groups of three or more, or they have emotional, mental or physical handicaps. Many of these children are black. Regardless of their special need that places them in a category, their first and most basic need is to have a family who will care and share with them the good and bad times of life.

Slowly the myths about adoption are being erased. Families do not have to be rich, own their own home or be a certain age to adopt. The Special Needs Adoption Program is looking for families who have a stable home life, who are flexible in their approach to problem solving and who can love and nurture a child not born to them.

Please call the local Department for Social Services at 256-248-2488 to learn how you can adopt a special child, to share your life. You may also call Special Needs Adoption at 1-800-432-9346.

COOKING TURKEY IN OVEN BAGS

One way to cook a turkey is in an oven cooking bag. It's a moist-heat cooking method that produces a moist, tender bird. The U.S. Department of Agriculture sends along the following directions.

When using oven cooking bags, preheat your oven to 350 degrees F. Shake one tablespoon of flour in the bag to prevent bursting. Put celery and onion slices in the bottom of the bag to help prevent the turkey from sticking and to add flavor. Place the turkey on top of the vegetables, close the bag with the enclosed tie, and make 5 half-inch slits in the top to let steam escape. Insert a meat thermometer through a slit in the bag. The turkey will be done when it reaches 180 to 185 degrees F.

When the turkey is done, cut or slit the top of the bag down the center. Loosen the bag from the turkey so there is no sticking and carefully remove the turkey to a serving platter.

Do not use ordinary brown bags for roasting because they may not be sanitary. Also, the glue and ink used on brown bags have not been approved for use as cooking materials, and may give off unhealthful fumes.

What We expect of our Schools . .

(This statement is the second in a series to be published prior to town forums on November 15, 1984.)

If we try to improve the quality of education in this or any other state, we must start by deciding what we expect of our schools and what we regard as the primary purposes of schooling.

The town meetings on November 15 will ask Kentuckians the question: "What do you want your schools to do?" This is a fundamental question which has been answered piecemeal in the past as local and state school policies evolved. We must examine it anew.

We have, in the past, tended to dump on the schools every problem which seemed to need a solution, whether it be safe driving, drug or alcohol abuse, health, patriotism, or any other value the country felt a need to foster. The consequence is we have demanded so many things of our schools that it was hard for them to do anything, or everything, very well.

Kentuckians need badly to decide what they want from their schools. We must decide, among the many things we have expected of the schools, which had better be dealt with elsewhere, and which have to be dealt with in the schools.

In my view, the chief aim of the schools, is to help our children become a part of the larger community and to nourish them with those intellectual disciplines which should be a vital part of our lives. These fundamentals include a sense of our heritage and our "humanity," being able to master the spoken and written word to express ideas and thus to be able to think clearly, and acquiring a basic knowledge of science and mathematics. Schools should also acquaint students with the world and society as they really are and then help students be able to use these fundamentals to formulate and choose values for themselves, rather than to swallow prepackaged notions that somebody might want to indoctrinate them with.

This all leads to what is perhaps the supreme value to be derived from education, which is a kind of intellectual independence, the ability to think for themselves and make choices for themselves—choices in their personal lives, choices in their family lives, and choices in the community and in society at large. My view is based on the faith that if people are equipped with these basic capacities they can crown their education by learning to think for themselves and speak for themselves.

We don't sort out our values and goals for the schools they will be, as I remember the words of Matthew Arnold, "lost in the confused alarm of struggle and flight, where ignorant armies clash by night."

God for His blessings to us. The early time of the service will allow ample time for people to attend the downtown service as well as services in their own church.

RECC checking fines

Jackson County RECC electric lines are being patrolled by helicopter. Rules established by the Public Service Commission of Kentucky requires that Jackson County RECC electric lines be patrolled every 2 years. Thanksgiving Service is Nov. 21st in Mt. Vernon

The Rockcastle Ministerial Association announces Community Thanksgiving services this year to be held on Wednesday, Nov. 21 at 6:00 p.m. in downtown Mt. Vernon on Main Street. This year the service will be planned outdoors to be led by several ministers of the area. Special music will be provided, and a Thanksgiving offering will be received to assist needy families and individuals. In the event of poor weather, the services will be moved to First Baptist Church.

Dr. Charles Hedrick, President of the Association, encourages the Christians of Rockcastle County to attend this special service where, as a community, we can express thankfulness to

Psalms 118:29 KJV

4-H News

North to the Nationals

By: Martha W. Brown
County Extension Agent
For 4-H

Four Rockcastle Countians were among the group of thirteen from Kentucky in Grand Rapids, Michigan recently for the National Junior Horticulture Association Convention—Rita Lewis, Saticia Morgan, Patsy Morgan, and Martha Brown, along with the rest of the Kentucky delegation arrived in Grand Rapids on Friday, October 26th, just in time for the opening banquet.

Kentucky had two teams and one individual participating in the Horticulture Judging Contest on Saturday. Saticia was on the 4-H team, and Rita competed individually. The team from Kentucky in the open category was from Boyd County.

The contest itself consisted of three categories. One category was simply a test to see how well the youth had studied their horticulture materials. The second category was judging.

The youth were required to rank four plates of vegetables, fruits, flowers or woody ornamentals in the order of poorest quality to best quality. The last and most difficult category was identification. It involved identifying woody ornamentals, fruits, nuts, flowers, and vegetables from all over the world.

Fourteen teams from different states competed in the 4-H Division and nine in the open division.

Neither one of our teams were recognized in the top five, however, the 4-H team did place sixth showing great improvement last year. Patsy Morgan and Martha Brown were able to serve as judges for the National Horticulture Speech Contest. It was also held on Saturday, along with the National Horticulture Contest both including delegates from all over the United States. Kentucky had two National winners in the speech contest. Cheryl Kotesky from Jessamine County and Gwen Hartley from Mason County.

Other Horticulture Contests which Kentucky had National winners in included Horticulture, Photography, Production Project, and the Young America Contest.

Special tours that the Kentucky Delegation participated in while in Grand Rapids included Hines Pickle Factory, Gerber Baby Food Plant, a celery production co-op, several nurseries, a winery, and Lake Michigan.

Rita and Saticia's trip was sponsored by Rockcastle County 4-H Council and Kentucky Friends of 4-H.

Next year will be Kentucky's third year to participate in the National Junior Horticulture Association. The 1985 Convention will be held in Lexington, Kentucky and will give more of our local youth an opportunity to participate.

An expert fly fisherman may have as many as 10,000 flies in his collection.

Mrs. Holbrook's 3rd-4th grade 4-H club at Brodhead elected the following officers for the coming year. From front, from left: Shanda Woodall, pledge leader; Donna Carter and Tina Falls, song leaders and Eugene Durham, secretary. Back row: Mrs. Holbrook, leader; Jennifer Bishop, president; Adam Trebilo, vice president and Billy Combs, recreation leader.

 In Memory of our Father, Junior Ramsey, who passed away Oct. 23, 1984.

There are so many things around us that remind us of you. How we wish you were still here with us but we know it wasn't meant to be. So on this special day "your birthday," we want to say how very much we loved you and miss you. You will always hold a special place in our hearts and memory.

Love,
 Your Children
