Sports in Kentucky

S' marvelous. Kentucky's Wildcats, one of the wonderful mysteries of this college basketball season, put on a dandy show in Salt Lake City last week. On Thursday UK shot 38 percent and beat Washington. On Saturday the Wildcats swished 55 percent and ~~conquered~~ ~~Nevada~~ Las Vegas.

Next mystery, which team will show up to play St. John's in Denver this Friday night?

Some observations... Could this Kentucky team be a reincarnate of Coach Adolph Rupp's "Fiddlin' Five"?

Of that 1958 team that won Kentucky's fourth NCAA title, Rupp once said, "They don't do anything worthy of Carnegie Hall. They're just a bunch of fiddlers who fiddle around...and fiddle around and win. They find a way to win."

Saturday, after UK's 64-61 victory over UNLV, Joe Hall said, "This team continues to amaze me. It isn't the most talented in the world, but they reach deep within themselves and draw something out."

Fiddle around and win. Kenny Walker demonstrated to a national television audience that he is America's "premier college basketball player."

Patrick Ewing is the quickest and strongest big man maybe ever, and he runs the floor well and is king of the dunk shot.

Chris Mullin is the smartest player in college today.

Keith Las is the best inside player at the offensive end.

And Waymon Tisdale is the best outside shooting big man today.

But Walker does everything well—runs the floor, an excellent defender, excellent rebounder, good medium range (and creative) shooter, and dunks with the best. Too—and this could be most important of all—Walker plays smart enough to stay out of foul trouble. And that translates into more minutes played and more points and rebounds.

Roger Harden finally got a place in the sun Named Most Valuable Player in the game against Nevada Las Vegas, the often criticized player was at his best ever against UNLV. He reminds me of another UK guard from another time who qualified for the Rodney Dangerfield award, but who kept a stiff upper lip and stayed in his role of making the machine hum. Jim Dnrwiddie (1971).

Growing up. Richard Madisor and Ed Davender did some last week.

Madison. At the SEC Tournament in Birmingham two weeks ago, the 6-8 freshman from Memphis was rumored to be so unhappy he was considering transferring.

Then came two sparkling performances in the NCAA and the kid they call "Master Blaster" was a "daring" once more. Against UNLV he handled the basketball against the press like a senior, was picked by Joe B. Hall to shoot a critical technical foul and swished it, along with two more pressure free throws down the stretch. Madison also retrieved Kenny Walker's blocked shot on Richie Adams at :14 and turned it into a fast break that led to the game clinching hoop by Walker.

Being on the cake? Billy Packer said, "I like Madison better than LSU's John Williams as a prospect for the future. He's a super talent."

And Davender. The kid from Brooklyn has matured some, too, having learned that criticism (from Hall) can help one learn, grow, excel. He has gotten into the flow of playing the college game and is doing it well. Off his performance on national TV in the NCAA Davender will likely be tabbed as one of the best in America by next season.

Growing up. Footnote: Considering UK's potential for next season, wouldn't it be too bad if Joe B. Hall decided not to return as coach?

Hall retire?

Joe B. Hall has hinted, but declined to elaborate on continuing speculation that he will resign as UK basketball coach. Last week on his radio show, Hall was asked if he intended to step down at the end of the season. "I'm not going to talk about that now," the coach said and added that it was a decision he would weigh while on a fishing trip somewhere sometime after the season.

"At this point, there's only one person who knows what Joe's going to do after this season," a Lexington source said last week. "And that's Joe Hall."

Hall does step down the again "probables" to surface as (Cont. to P-B9)

I reach and my hand weasels among a box of diapers, a bag of stale crackers, a half-dozen empty bottles, a covey of Cabbage Patch crayons, a wrinkled magazine, yesterday's newspaper, some paper cups and wadded-up paper bags, and something wet.

My hand dips into the minnow bucket and I lower a minnow into the spot where Dad caught the big one.

"John, have you found it? I know it's back there. Kelly's not going to quit screaming until you find it."

The float twitches, then begins to slowly move.

"Do you see that truck? Why isn't he using his blinker? John, be careful!"

I lift the long pole and flop a handsome crappie into the floor of the boat. I reach for it and my hand comes up with a plastic baby bottle filled with apple juice the color of Duck River. I look closely and spy a minnow swimming within.

"Here's her bottle, Janet." I smile. "Don't let her throw it out!" Kelly stops screaming, Thomas starts.

The trip takes an hour and I retrieve 50 bottles, listen to endless infant choruses, and catch about a million crappie at Duck River with my Dad!

I would like to take this opportunity to thank everyone for the encouragement you have given me in my race for Magistrate of the 5th District, subject to the May, 1985, Republican Primary. Your Support and Vote will be Greatly Appreciated.

Expo '85' set for May 11th

Expo '85 is an action-packed show sponsored by the Blue Grass Council of the Boy Scouts of America. There will be thousands of scouts from over Kentucky showing off their skills and knowledge in the activities of scouting.

Council Expo Chairman Keith Ward believes that Expo '85 will be the biggest and finest scout show ever in the Central Kentucky area. There will be shows in Corbin at the Civic Center and in Lexington at Heritage Hall on Saturday, May 11. Superstars who appeared in the past year, John Schneider, Gary Sandy, Phillip McKeon, Melvin Turpin and Enos from Dukes of Hazard.

Last year at Expo, the various troops did things such as: Archery, Can Collecting, Fingerprinting your child, First Aid, Fire Making, Indian Lore, Leather work, Reptile Study, Rope Making, Pie Baking, Reflector Oven Cooking, Bridge Building and Flap Jack Cooking, just to name a few of the hundreds of exhibit themes.

Your local Troop 263 is working up a booth and exhibit on "Space Exploration" at Lexington's Heritage Hall. Cub Pack 263 is planning a booth at Corbin Civic Center.

Scouts will be knocking on your doors, standing at street corners, and in parking lots selling tickets for Expo '85. The tickets are just $2.00. For the $2.00, you get your ticket to Expo plus $10.00 in valuable coupons from Druthers, Big B's, Cloners, Pizza Hut, Food Fair, Begley Drugs, Mello Yello and Dawahares. Buy your tickets only from a boy in scout uniform to insure that you are getting a legitimate ticket.

Spring Weather Tornado Season

The 1985 tornado season is upon us, says the Insurance Information Institute, right in the midst of winter's loosened grip and the promise of better weather. Although tornadoes do occur any time of the year, the Institute notes, they occur most frequently during the spring. These deadly storms kill, on the average, 100 people each year in the United States.

States... and cause millions of dollars in property damage annually.

Since tornadoes often strike suddenly and with little or no warning, knowing what to do—before, during and after the storm—could save your life.

The Institute offers the following tornado safety tips:

assistant coach Lake Kelly, Los Angeles Lakers coach Pat Riley who told this reporter: Two years ago that "there's only one college job I'd even consider and that's Kentucky."

Another is Boyd Grant, coach at Fresno State, who was an assistant under Hall at UK; and Dick Parsons, a popular former UK assistant and now an employee of the university who said recently he might be ready to return to coaching.

Kelly said also that he is interested in becoming a head coach once more. Formerly Kelly was head coach at Oral Roberts University and Austin Peay.

UK football

University of Kentucky spring football drills get underway Mar. 27 and a poster hyping the grid season, including a pre-spring, practice prospectus, arrived last week.

UK lost 15 lettermen from its 9-3-0 team last year including George Adams and Paul Calhoun. But don't show too many tears because 43 varsity returnees are listed, including seven names (alphabetically) under the heading "1985 All-Star Candidates."

Mark Logan, 5-11, 195, full-back got the "outstanding player award" in last year's Hall of Fame Bowl. If Logan cuts down his tendencies to fumble the football and demonstrates that he is as capable as George Adams at blocking and catching passes out of the backfield, he could be one of the SEC's prouder backs this season.

Mark Higgs, 5-7, 194 is a little man who's being touted as a big guy. "Could be most exciting runner in UK history," the prospectus says.

Comment: A tall (no pun intended) order, but there is something special about this kid. Bill Ransdell, 6-2, 199 quarterback. With Bernie Kosar gone first, he could be the best in the south by the end of next season. A genuine All-American candidate.

Jon Dumbauld, 6-3, 241 defensive tackle. Good candidate for All-SEC honors and, barring injuries, will draw lots of attention from professional scouts if UK has any success at all this year.

Larry Smith, 6-2, 227 line-backer, was the team's leading tackler through five games as a sophomore before being injured. A wonderful nose for the football.

Brian Williams, 5-10, 203 defensive end, has already gotten the attention of coaches and writers in the south (as a defensive back). If he keeps his nose clean after being suspended before last year's Hall of Fame Bowl, Williams, a three-year starter, could be a major All-SEC pick.

Maurice Douglass, 5-11, 203 defensive back, played with reckless abandon last year, too much at times. Like Williams, if Douglass makes more of the ordinary plays instead of going for all the spectacular ones, he could cement quite a defensive backfield this season.

UK has some other potentially outstanding lettermen coming back next season as well. Some names to remember...Center/guard Dermont Dawson, running back Chris Derry, wide receivers Cisco Bryant and Cornell Burbage, offensive guard Joe Prince, defensive tackle Jerry Reese and Tom Wilkins and defensive end Steve Mazza.

Kentucky's football season opens Sept. 14 against Bowling Green in the first of five straight games at Commonwealth Stadium.

Dale Brown

LSU's outspoken (sometimes perplexing) basketball mentor has a radio call-in show out of Baton Rouge on Monday nights and Brown was in vintage form last week. Two exchanges.

A fan called to complain about LSU giving scholarships to two foreign players, Zoran Jovanovich of Yugoslavia and Jose Varghes from the Dominican Republic.

"You know," Brown responded, "I really resent you're saying that about these young men. Zoran is going to be a great player. And he has a 3.75 grade point average and is majoring in engineering."

The point here was that Brown took his critic on nose to nose, no pretense or excuses, just straight talk.

The next caller hailed the LSU coach for his contribution to LSU sports and his sense of justice, but mostly because of his outspoken modus operandi in the face of periodic heavy criticism.

Brown: "Thank you, I am genuinely humbled by what you've said. But you know, anybody in this life who has opinions and expresses them, says what he thinks right up front, is going to have critics, people who get mad at him, don't like him because of his views, want to change him. But that's just the way life is and I understand that."

Comment: Brown's remarks reminded me of something humorist/philosopher Leo Buscaglia said recently. "Some people don't believe in anything and they're determined to have you share their beliefs."

Recruiting

Jonathan Edwards, a 6-9 center from O. P. Walker High in New Orleans who Kentucky recruited this season, has verbally committed to Georgetown.

Indiana coach Bobby Knight has signed two junior college players from Barton County Community College in Great Bend, Kansas. They are 6-7, 205-pound Andre Harris and 7-0, 195-pound

The Mt. Vernon Signal Thursday, March 21, 1985 P-B9
Todd Jadow, Harris, from Grand Rapids, Mich., will be a junior, Jadow a sophomore, and both will be eligible next season.

Tidbits

Scott Braun, (Et. Thomas Highlands), being recruited by Kentucky, among others, after leading the state with a 30.5 points per game average this season, is said to be remarkably like Louie Damper in that the 6-2 senior to be is an excellent perimeter shooter.

This comment from a Georgia assistant coach at the SEC Tournament about Cedric Henderson: "When this is all over (NCAA investigation) Cedric is going to

Parting shot

Noting that Bobby Knight got a 1-game suspension for throwing a chair across the court during the Indiana Purdue game this season, Minnesota basketball coach Jim Dutcher was asked what penalty he thought he or another Big Ten coach might get for the same offense.

"Probably life," Dutcher replied.

I am the son of Irene Bales and the late Clifford Bales. My father had the honor of serving the people of Rockcastle County as their County Clerk from 1966 - 1976. My mother was appointed to fill the unexpired term of my father. She was then elected to the same office and has served until the present time.

At the time of my father's death, I resigned my job with the Department of Highways to help my mother run the office of County Clerk. I feel my experience and knowledge in the County Clerk's office and County Government and my willingness and my desire to serve the people of this county makes me well qualified for the office of County Clerk of Rockcastle County.

For the honor and trust you people have shown my family and myself, if elected, I will devote the next four years of my life to being one of the best clerks this county has ever had.

County Correspondents

Disputanta

By: Hilda Payne Gabbard
405 Center St.
Berea, Ky. 40403

Hello from Clear Creek!

I put my address above because I'm still getting mail from many states addressed to about everywhere in Rockcastle County. The post office department has warned me to give you the correct place to send my mail. I did so once but it's still happening. We moved to Berea, a distance of seven miles from Disputanta in order to be near work and so I could attend a class at Berea College without driving up Davis Branch's Holt Hill in winter. Going down or up Scaffold Cane Hill toward Berea is about as bad. I'm very happy to hear from the readers, also all those who have been asking for the plumgranny seeds from all over the country. I go to Clear Creek to see the folks about once or twice a week, and our favorite drive is down through Clear Creek. I was born, raised there, and spent much of my life on its hills and in the hollows, so I'm still Clear Creek. Make no mistake about that.

About this time of year, we kids used to hit the hills to look for a plant. It had holly-like berries and green, glossy leaves. The plant, called mountain tea, could be chewed and swallowed. The fact that the green juice ran from the corners of our mouths, and our teeth were filled with pieces of the leaves, made it more delightful. We could pretend to chew tobacco then and see who could squirt juice the greatest distance. Children today can depend on television characters to be in their plays. We had none. We made our own. "Play-like" was our greatest game. "Play-like I am an old man," we would begin.

As I dig in the dead leaves and among the green moss in the woods today, I seem to hear the laughing voices in my childhood as children ran and played. Voices now stilled with the passing of time.

Tom Legear tells me sons Clyde, Benton, and wife, Rosa, were down to see him and Nannie over the weekend from Indiana. They probably came to see in what condition Chester and Madylene Abrams had left Tom's smokehouse after spending a few days with the Legears. John and I have come through an attack of flu. When I told Tom that it seemed worse in my head, causing me to sneeze constantly, his answer was, "Yes, it will settle in the weakest part of a person's body." Did he mean to be a smart aleck, I wonder?

If you know the song "Wolverton Mountain," there is a verse that says "Clifton Flowers has a pretty young daughter...He's mighty handy with a gun-and-a knife."

Now when I visited Linda and Don Gaddi, I saw a shotgun standing by the door. Why, I thought, does Don need a shotgun handy. Then I met all three of his pretty daughters, and I knew Don was like the song. He didn't aim for just anybody to try and slip them away. I didn't see any knife though.

Revivals at our churches are beginning to spring out all over. Macedonia Baptist Church with Bro. Bruce Treon, the pastor, conducting has weekend revival services on April 5, 6, 7, beginning about 7 p.m. nightly. Come out and hear our new pastor.

Also Clear Creek Baptist Church is holding a revival, announced the pastor, Bro. Wayne Henson, beginning April 15 at 7 p.m. Bro. Wayne Harding will be conducting the services. You are invited to come out to hear him.

I've stopped counting Signal readers in Berea, there are so many. One day recently I stopped in at Teresa's Antiques and Art Gallery on Prospect St. This was the location in 1945 of Harrison's Farm Supply store. But there were no dusty bags of feed such as we used to buy there then.

Everywhere I looked in the clean, shining space was beauty that would take your breath. Sparkling crystal, silver pieces, and beautiful objects were spread to catch your eye. New furniture as well as refinished pieces filled one section. I stood as if in a trance, then the owner appeared.

To my surprise, it was Fanny Wilder Harrison, a friend whom I had before I went to N. Ky. to live. In talking to her, she mentioned that she was a "Signal reader" and how she liked the paper.

Fanny said she enjoyed working in the business where they do limited edition of prints, having work come to them from people who have been to Europe and brought them back! (See their ad in this paper.)

"I enjoy the paper," she told me as I took my leave, promising to come back, bring my lunch, and stay all day and just look.

I thought I would start my campaign as a candidate for the office of county judge by visiting some citizens and "feel out" my prospects for being elected. So John and I went to see Clyde and Margaret (his better half) Linville in Scaffold Cane. Now Clyde was the people in Rockcastle County, having been a public figure himself, so I wanted his opinion as to my chances.

When we went in about 10:30 one morning, the good smell of shuck beans cooking along with a pot of greens was almost more than I could bear. In a few minutes, right behind us, in came a relative of Clyde's, Moss Linville, from the Scaffold Cane Road toward Berea.

"Did you spell this food like us, all the way to Berea?" I asked him.

He gave a firm nod. "All the way over there as I came out my door and I followed my nose," Moss said.

I noticed Clyde motioned to Margaret to put the lid on tighter. After some talk, I asked my question.

"What would you think of having a woman for Rockcastle's county judge?" and held my breath for his answer.

Clyde passed as if in thought, then said, "Why, I've been led by a woman for so many years, I don't guess it would really matter."

The room was quiet and then Margaret put the clincher on his remark (made in fun, of course). "Why, I'll go along with that for it is said that behind every good man is a smart woman," and she nodded her agreement.

In the laughing that followed, I thought I could use Margaret in my campaign.

Our next stop was at Elmer and Edith Hale's home on Roundstone Road. Dinner was over when we arrived (why do some people eat at 11:30 anyway) but in true country fashion, Elmer urged us to eat in a meal Edith could quickly prepare. As a girl long ago, I hated folks who would drop in and we would have to cook again after the first meal. Now, I didn't want Edith hating me, she's a good Signal reader, so we just visited as we planned to eat in Mt. Vernon. But their kindness was to be appreciated as you don't find that often today.

We enjoyed being with them

The Good Ole Days...

We may not be able to return to those by-gone days but I might help you recall a time when the Rockcastle County Jail was used as an example for other counties. During my previous term as Jailer, from 1978 thru 1981, the Rockcastle County Jail was checked monthly by the Commonwealth of Ky. inspectors and most often scored in the upper 90 percentile for cleanliness, orderliness and overall compliance to requirements. I received excellent ratings and many good compliments from the twelve citizens that made up the Grand Jury of Rockcastle County which inspected your courthouse and jail every three months.

I was especially proud of our jail system when, before a state gathering of jailers, Rockcastle County was mentioned as being a forerunner in a properly-maintained facility.

Just as I did my best while serving as a Deputy Sheriff, Sheriff and as Jailer, I want to assure all the citizens, "I will continue to do only my best," with the help of my wife, Gladys, and friends.

I humbly ask you now for that vote and support as we look to the upcoming election on May 28th.

Drugs and Crime

By: Benny E. Ham
Commonwealth's Attorney

It is reported by some law enforcement people that drug abuse is leveling off.

This news runs with the confirmed reports that the crime rate is finally being slowed, and perhaps even reversed.

Of course, everyone who is associated with the on-going battle against crime recognize that drugs and crime go together.

Researchers have absolute proof that drug abusers are high risk for violence. Reports from some of the larger cities indicate that at least one-fourth of all homicides are related to drug trafficking. It is not believed that this figure takes into account those killings which result in the robberies induced by the user's habit and need for money to purchase illicit drugs.

Homicides only make up a portion of the crimes committed by users to help support the habit. Theft, burglaries, robberies, and assaults are—in most instances—drug related.

And the youth of the country make up most of the offender class.

Latest findings of the National Institute of Justice reveal that 75 percent of all robberies, for instance, and 50 percent of assaults, were committed by a small but criminally active group of young people. Most all were pill or cocaine/heroin users.

Close examination and evaluation has been done on individual offenders to detect how much drug addiction affects criminal activity.

Over a 9-year period, the crime rate of an individual will drop to almost nothing when that particular subject has little or no narcotic use. When the same person is actively addicted, however, his criminal conduct will jump to about four to six times as much.

And here is an amazing and disturbing revelation. Over a nine-year period, the addict will average 2,000 crime days, which are days on which they commit one or more crimes!

Which drug is the most dangerous as an inducement to crime? It is clear that heroin abusers, especially daily users, commit an extraordinary amount of crime. Cocaine and pills would come next, with marijuana being the least dangerous as far as directly causing crimes.

It is common knowledge that our prisons are in deplorable condition. Crime and violence make most of them a perpetual nightmare for inmates, with survival—not rehabilitation—as their main goal. And most of the violence behind bars can be related to the illegal introduction of drugs into the prison community. It operates much as on the outside—drug need leads to drug pushers, and drug pushers lead to bad debts. Collection agents of the penitentiary drug rings don't come calling with legal papers. They assault and kill.

While drug abuse is one of the most serious matters facing the people of this country, there is reason to be optimistic. The downward trend of the crime rate possibly indicates that our assault upon the drug traffic is beginning to show some signs of success. Only time will tell.

One thing is certain. We cannot hope to launch an effective battle against crime unless we first score large gains against the illegal drug trade. They make up two theaters of the same war.

Public hearing scheduled for March 18th

The Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Cabinet will hold two public hearings on a request to permit oil and gas production in the Rockcastle Wild River Corridor in Pulaski County.

Interested persons may present evidence and comment at a hearing March 18 at the Pulaski County Courthouse, Room 103, Somerset, beginning at 7:30 p.m., or at the Capital Plaza Tower Auditorium, Frankfort, March 20, at 7:30 p.m.

The proposed "Property Owners' Change in Use Application" to permit oil and gas production addresses four oil and gas wells with individual access roads in the Rockcastle Wild River Corridor between mile points 20.3 and 20.5. The wells are located between 301 feet and 1250 feet from the Rockcastle Wild River.

The scheduled hearings are provided for by the Kentucky Wild Rivers Act. All written comments must be submitted to Donald F. Harker, Jr., director, Division of Water, 18 Reilly Road, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601, by March 20. Copies of "Property Owners' Change in Use Application," the "Rockcastle Wild River Management Plan," and the "Wild River Act" are available by contacting the Division of Water. Any questions concerning the proposed change should be directed to Donald J. Challman, Program Development Section, Division of Water, (502) 564-3410.

next week's paper.

I've been asked by several people what answer I gave. The usual years ago, in my classroom, when he asked me, his teacher, what the word sex meant. And I'll be glad to tell you.

The word sex, Billy Bob, means the difference between a boy or girl, or either a man or woman. When you grow up and apply for a job, the paper will ask, sex, and you will put down male for man, or I will be female for a woman. I guess your reaction will be the same as his.

"Oh," he seemed relieved as he turned away.

My plan to win this election would be to count on the absentee ballots of transplanted Rockcastle folks or the descendants of pioneers from Clear Creek. Politicians do what they want. I'll send out ballots.

Till next week. By the time a man finds greener pastures, he can't climb the fence.

No opposition in district judge races this Fall

The two candidates for district judge in the 28th Judicial District of Rockcastle and Pulaski Counties are both unopposed in their bid for a term on the court. Incumbent Judge Walter F. Maguire of Somerset, one of Kentucky's original 113 district judges who took office in 1978, is seeking the seat held by Ernie Woods, who is not a candidate. Judge Maguire was district judge from 1978 to 1982.

Incumbent District Judge William T. Cain of Somerset is seeking a full term on the court. Judge Cain was appointed to fill out the one year unexpired term of Judge Daniel S. Venters when Judge Venters was elected Circuit Judge.

Judge Maguire is a former assistant track coach and associate dean of students at the University of Kentucky. He is currently the assistant director of the UK Tobacco Research Institute in Lexington.

The parents of three children, the Maguires are members of the First United Methodist Church of Somerset where his wife, Janice, conducts the children's choir.

Judge Cain is a native of Lexington. He grew up in Somerset and is a graduate of Somerset High School. He received his TESTING THE WATERS—Darell Frazier, manager of Allegheny Laboratories, Inc., of London, tests the water quality at Livingston's sewer plant laboratory.

Livingston lab used in water, mine testing

By: Ray McCure

Keeping a watchful eye on water quality in a six county area is the job of a London laboratory that is using facilities owned by the city of Livingston for its testing.

In a time when the heavy hand of the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) can come down hard on the head of polluters, most cities become nervous over even a slight problem with their sewer systems and water sources.

There should not be much of a problem at Livingston where a well equipped testing laboratory is being used by professional technicians to monitor the affluent from the city sewer system, and for the mining industry.

Actually, Livingston is getting a real break on the cost of the testing procedures required by the state. Allegheny Laboratories, Inc. of London has rented the facilities from the city for $100 a month and is throwing in for free the testing of the city sewer water that is going into the Rockcastle River.

"We are very pleased to have the laboratory take over our testing," said Livingston Mayor Billy Medley. "In fact, we are saving from $1,000 to $1,500 a year by letting them rent the lab and test our sewer waste water, while they do their test for the coal mines."

According to Darell Frazier, manager at the laboratory, Livingston's sewer water that empties into the river is pure enough to drink something the EPA likes to hear.

"Livingston had a minor problem when we first came here," Frazier declared. "But it's all straightened out now. We watch it closely. Water from the sewer plant meets EPA standards and even exceeds those standards."

Samples of water are taken in small containers and tested for such "foreign" elements as biochemical oxygen demand, suspended solids, coliform bacteria, ammonia nitrogen, dissolved oxygen and hydrogen activity.

In short, the EPA wants nothing to go into the "pure," wild Rockcastle River that would contaminate it. The river is considered one of the purest in the nation. It is under the protection of the Wild Rivers Act.

"Water in this area is generally reasonable pure," Frazier related. "The principal reason is the lack of industrial wastes and the fact that not many people live along the river banks."

The Livingston sewer plant and the McKee plant are the only two that would affect Rockcastle River water quality. McKee sewer effluent goes into Indian Creek and then the Rockcastle River, some distance downstream.

But most of the work at the laboratory is done by Allegheny for the mining industry, where continuous testing of one kind or another is required by the state. Mine ponds left after strip mining are monitored twice a month. Also, soil is tested for toxicity, moaning elements such as iron, manganese, hydrogen activity, acidity and solids.

The laboratory has clients in McCooze, Whitley, Laurel, Jackson, Pulaski, as well as Rock

Assessment raised to 30'

Farmers in holding pattern on tobacco

By: Ray McCure

Rockcastle County tobacco farmers appear to be in a holding pattern following the announcement of a stiff increase in the burley assessment from 9 cents a pound in 1984 to 30 cents a pound in 1985 by Agriculture Secretary John Block. That's a 233 percent increase.

Rockcastle County Extension Agent Tom Mills said "right now, farmers we have talked with are taking a wait and see attitude."

"Those we have contacted want to see what is going to happen before making up their minds as to what they want to do. But one thing is certain, anyway you look at it, farmers are going to lose 30 cents a pound."

That means Rockcastle tobacco farmers, which this year have a total allotment of 2,675,490 pounds, will lose $802,647.

The increased assessment, prompted by a large stock of unsold burley that has put the burley program in debt, is necessary to insure that the program will be operated at no cost to the taxpayers, Secretary Block explained.

Some burley farmers dubbed the announcement as the "worst news possible for us," and another called it a "death blow" for the lease program.

Other farmers are holding out hope that some modification of the program might come about. For example, a lowering of the support price to somewhere around $1.45 a pound. But most agree that it would not be until 1985 since Congress would have to make changes and it does not always act in haste.

Some farmers are also waiting to see if there might be some help in the rental program, but that, too, is not likely this year.

Farmers have until July 1 to decide on their individual program.

Farmers will also have a chance in February, 1986, when a referendum on the burley price support program will be held, again, not much help in 1985.

The news from Secretary Block drew an angry reaction from burley officials and members of the Kentucky Congressional delegation. U. S. Sen. Wendell Ford said "it appears the Reagan Administration fears that it may be unable to abolish the tobacco program, so they have chosen instead to keep tobacco farmers from turning a profit."

U. S. Rep. Larry Hopkins, R-Lexington, said the increase was a "decidedly accurate comment on the desperate state of the tobacco program."

In a report for publication, Rockcastle Agent Mills gave farmers and landowners who plan to continue the leasing process a few figures and ideas on the tobacco program as it relates to the county.

"What a person can afford to pay for poundage is best gauged by accurate farm records. Records should not only include out-of-pocket cost but a return for equipment, buildings, and last, but not least, a return for the Ever wonder why there are so many candidates?

By: Richard Anderton

Take a minute and ponder the question, "Why are there so many candidates running for county office in this May's Primary election?"

One hundred and three to be exact, and the answer could be economics.

A recent survey of the salaries earned in the local courthouse showed that only one county-wide office holder made less than the average income for a Rockcastle County family. That average income was estimated at $14,500 for 1984 by the state's Legislative Research Commission and is a figure which reflects both husband's and wife's incomes in most instances. In 1983, the figure $14,183 was a little less.

Salaries in the courthouse presently range from almost $41,000 a year to absolutely nothing for those holding a $6,000 a year job, nothing for those unfortunates that hold office only in one district of the county.

The highest-paid public servant is the county attorney. Last year, Rockcastle's prosecutor was paid a total of $41,719.62. However, this figure is the combination of a salary from the county and the state. The county was responsible for only $12,000 and the state the rest. The state pays each county attorney in the state the same each year. Last year it was $28,719.62.

The Rockcastle County Judge/Executive and the local jailer are both making $28,387 in 1984.

The local judge/executive reaped the benefits of a 1982 law passed by the Kentucky General Assembly which said that the judge/executive in all Kentucky counties must be paid as much as any other county official holding office and er. Before that law was passed, Rockcastle's Judge/Executive was paid $18,720.

Next on the income list is the county clerk, who is one of only two offices left in the courthouse that actually gets a percentage of the fees collected. In 1984, the county clerk made $27,550 from fees collected in that office.

An office, which is controlled completely by the state but run by a local elected official, receives the next highest salary.

The Rockcastle County Circuit Clerk was paid $26,586 in 1984. State officials said the circuit clerk is paid just like any other state worker, and increases in their salaries are approved by the General Assembly.

Speaking of the General Assembly, 80th District Representative Danny Ford would commend on the income list for the year the General Assembly is in session. But he would fall far down the list when it is not.

According to the state's Legislative Research Commission, state representatives are paid for the time they spend in Frankfort actually working. A spokesman said that the average pay for a state representative for 1984, when the General Assembly met, was $12,000. He explained that representatives are paid $100 a day for time in session, and $75 per meeting attended when not in session. He said the average number of meetings attended in 1984 were 44, which would make a total of $1,800, and 102 days in session, at $10.20, making a total of $12,000.

On top of the $12,000 in 1984, a session year, representatives are given $950 a month for expenses. However, the spokesman said, if the expenses are not accounted for, the Internal Revenue Service says representatives must report the $950 as income and pay taxes on it.

A representative does not receive his $950.00 expenses account while the General Assembly is in session.

Representative Ford said Wednesday that the $100 per day he receives while in session may be very well seen high, but it is a misleading figure. He said that while he is in session, he has the expense of renting an apartment in Frankfort and living away from home for the 3 1/2 month period. He says the income from his usual business is also lost.

Going on down the list, the Rockcastle County Property Valuation Administrator was paid a base pay of $16,008 by the state in 1984. Tom Armstrong, a spokesman for the state, said Tuesday that $16,008 is the base pay, but it is possible for the PVA to make more than that. He said he did not have the exact figures for Rockcastle County because of a problem with the payroll, but that it was his understanding the Rockcastle PVA made in the neighborhood of $18,000 in 1984.

The only office holder in the county courthouses that has a full-time job and makes less than the average family in Rockcastle County is the sheriff.

In 1984, his fiscal effort made only $7,700 for his efforts, and since 1982, he has never made over $8,500 in a one-year period.

The sheriff is the other fee office in the courthouse, and state officials said the salary in that office is low because of Rockcastle County's tax base and the percentage of fees that are collected each year.

Although a county-wide office, the next highest paid official does not have a full-time job. The county coroner is paid $2,400 a year. Two of his three deputies receive $600 a year, and the other one gets nothing.

In the subject of nothing, the only elected office to stand in a county office and not receive any pay is the county auditor.

The Fiscal Court is required to provide an office for the auditor, but at the present time he does not have one.

Letters

Dear Editor:

Roger and I want to let everyone know how much we appreciate their concern and support during this ordeal. There have been countless cards, sincere letters and some of you have sent gifts and donations. We don't know how to thank everyone and, if I mentioned individuals, I'm afraid we'd miss someone. You have overwhelmed us with your kindness, but I must say, I'm not surprised at all. Daddy has always said, "Your neighbor isn't necessarily the person next door." So, to all our neighbors, we say, "Thank you so much."

We look forward to the mail every day. We love to hear from you and Josh loves the cards. Most importantly, we're grateful for your prayers, your greatest gifts. Please continue to pray for us. We hope to be home sometime in early April. Again, we thank all of you.

Dear Editor:

I would like to write and give my deepest sympathy to the people who have to spend their days working in one of the poorest maintained and dirtiest work places I know of.

It is a shame when citizens of Rockcastle County walk into the front door of the Courthouse that it is the same as a run-down beer hall. The store keepers have finally run all the knife traders and loafers to the Courthouse so they can spit and chew.

I would also like to compliment the employees of the Courthouse for trying to keep their offices clean and pleasant. If the roof didn't have so many leaks, I know your job would be much easier.

I for one would like to see the people in jail that have stolen and been such a nuisance to the people of this county be a little help by painting and cleaning a little while they spend their time with our good jailer instead of sleeping and watching color television.

If money isn't the problem, I will buy the county a mop and mop bucket.

Oh, by the way, folks, next Saturday, if you go to do business at our Courthouse, be sure you use the bathroom before you go. Who knows what's lurking in the county's public facilities?

Dear Editor:

I am one of the thousands who left Rockcastle in the early forties, either for the military or the defense plants of the North. In my case, it was the military.

After three years in the Army, I returned home and was married to Ada Philpot of Laurel. We had met at Berea. We then came to Hamilton, Ohio to find employment, where we have lived the past 39 years, raising two children, Donna, living here, and Terry, in Lexington.

But after all these years, we still get homesick for the beauty and quietness of the hills, especially reading Disputants news. Hilda was sure how to make us homesick. I think you should write a book. I have heard my father speak of your father many times and always with a lot of respect.

I remember so many things about growing up on Dry Fork near Crooked Creek in Eastern Rockcastle. There were ten of us growing up during the Depression years, and as everyone knows, it wasn't easy times. But I remember we always had something to eat and warm clothes. And more than enough quilts for the winter that my mother had quilted and blankets from the sheep that we raised.

All this was made possible due to the hard work and good management of our parents, Frank and Joan Sheff, with everyone working together on the farm.

It was mostly our mother who ran a small store, and for a few years the Johnetta Post Office. Our father was a blacksmith and many said he was one of the best, often building a wagon from the ground up with wood that mostly came from the farm. I don't remember seeing a horse or mule too near for him to shoe. However, I have seen him throw them to the ground and tie their feet together in order to get shoes

Dad even tried politics once in the Fifth District.

I have seen him pull many teeth, children and adults. Once a man wasn't sure which tooth was hurting, so he pulled the wrong one.

I remember so well the long-cold winters and how we would get in the winter's wood, dragging it in with poles or horses, cutting and stacking cords of it. My brothers and I enjoyed cutting the dead chestnut for the cook stove. The fireplace commanded a lot of respect, being pretty much the center of our lives during the winter-popping corn, roasting potatoes, while the children played fox and geese. Dad reading from the Bible while we sat on the patched clothes, listening to hair-raising stories and experiences in years gone by. No matter how many times we heard them, they were always interesting.

Then I remember how quiet we became as we listened to such programs as "Lum and Abner" and "Amos and Andy" on the old battery-powered radio. Then on Saturday night, it was the "Grand Old Opry." Dad thought some of it was a little too worldly. Places like Nashville and Cincinnati that came through on our radio seemed worlds away as we began to discover how the rest of the world was living.

I remember the walk through the woods to the little one-room Brushy Ridge School, and how warm and comfortable it was with the big stove there in the center.

Then there was the Johnetta decoration, an event we looked forward to the whole year. It was really more than an event, but a time to remember and honor those who had passed on, and to listen to the old-fashioned preaching and singing. People came by foot, horse, mule, wagon, car, and by the truck load! It was a time to renew old acquaintances and to make new friends. Dinners were spread everywhere and no one should have left hungry.

I remember we couldn't wait for the warm days of spring and summer so we could kick off our shoes and head for the creeks and explore the hills and caves.

We always looked forward to Sundays getting with friends and going to church somewhere. It was usually Corinth Pentecostal or New Hope Baptist. How we loved the old-time preaching and the enthusiastic singing.

Reunions came to New Hope in August. I believe the church would never think of having one without Nathan Mullins there to lead the singing. And oh, how he could sing. I remember so well the tap of his tuning fork on the back of the seat followed by a do-sol-mi-do and a beautiful old gospel song that could be heard, it seems, for miles around.

Dad and Mom are gone now, along with brothers, Albert, Burgess, and Lawrence. But what a heritage they left us. Becky is now in a nursing home. Luther and Simmie, Ruth and Clarence Allen, Edna and Bill Allen, Ruby and Harve Singleton all live in this area. Alpha lives in Denver, Colorado. We seldom get together that our conversation doesn't get off on our childhood days and memories of growing up in eastern Rockcastle County.

We would enjoy hearing from some of our old friends.

Faith or Feelings?

In 2 Cor. 5:7 Paul tells us that "we walk by faith and not by sight." Many, however, walk by feelings and not by faith. Unless they feel like doing a thing, they will not do it. For example, they attend services of the church if they feel like it. They give their means into the church treasury if they feel like it. They study God's word if they feel like it, pray if they feel like it, and so it goes. Thus they are walking by feelings, not by faith. One lady said she didn't care what the Bible said, she "wouldn't trade my feelings for a stack of Bibles!" We must learn to walk by faith and not by feelings or sight, because without faith it is impossible to please God (Heb. 11:6).

If Abraham had walked by feelings, he would never have taken Isaac upon the mountain top to offer him as a sacrifice (Heb. 11:17-19). Moses, walking by feelings, would never have left Egypt and then later returned to deliver God's people (Heb. 11:24-29). If Paul had walked according to his feelings, he would not have left Judaism where there was great persecution. These worthies and others acted by faith, not by feeling.

We need to attend every service of the church, not because we feel like it, but because we are told not to neglect the assembling of ourselves together (Heb. 10:25). We must study God's word daily and diligently, not because we feel like it, but because it is for our best interest and because we are told to do so (2Tim. 2:15). We need to spend enough time in prayer to make it one of the major activities of the day, not because we feel like it, but because it is commanded again and again (1 Thess. 5:17, et. al.)

If we perform only the tasks that we feel like doing, very little will ever be done for the Lord. The individuals or congregations that will please the Lord are those who do their work, not because of nor according to their feelings, but because they walk by faith, knowing that it needs to be done. We cannot "walk by faith" without walking by God's word because "Faith comes by hearing... the word of God" (Rom. 10:17).

Faith is either SUBJECTIVE or OBJECTIVE. Subjective faith says, "I feel like doing this or that"; no evidence—just feelings. Objective faith is that which pleases God. Repentance is faith willing; confession is faith obeying; baptism is faith living. True faith believes the incredible, sees the invisible, and achieves what seems to be the impossible. Faith is to believe what we do not see, and the reward of faith is to see what we believe.

How do YOU walk by FAITH or by FEELING?

Elect Roger McClure Magistrate 1st District

My name is Roger McClure, the son of William and Rena McClure of Rt. 1, Mt. Vernon. I am a life-long resident of Rockcastle County and have lived in the First District, in the Rose Hill area, for the past 14 years. I served the City of Mt. Vernon four years as a council member. I am presently employed as a supervisor with Kentucky Powder Co., Mullins Station, Mt. Vernon, Ky.

I am married to the former Linda Hale, daughter of Sallie Hale of Mt. Vernon and the late Homer Hale, a former Tax Commissioner of Rockcastle County. Linda has been employed with the Cabinet for Human Resources for the past 16 years. Like myself, my wife is a life-long resident of Rockcastle County and a life-long resident of the First District.

We have two daughters, Gail, age 12, and Amanda, age 5. Both our children attend Mt. Vernon Elementary. Gail is in the 7th grade and Amanda is in kindergarten.

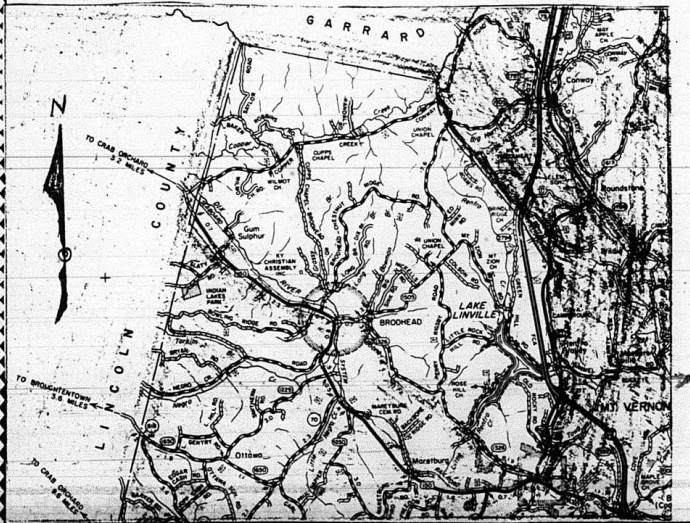

Since the last county election, some districts have been rezoned and many people are probably still wondering where to vote.

It is my concern that people are living in one district and voting in another for a magistrate that cannot contribute to that individual's needs.

Although I am running for Magistrate in the First District, when elected, I will not only be working for the First District but will be serving the entire county. Therefore, I have prepared a map showing the First District as it is now zoned. If you are living in the unshaded area, which consists of North Brodhead and North Mt. Vernon, you should be voting in the First District.

by perlina anderkin

It's a hectic, exciting time right now. It's county election time, we have moved to our first decent offices ever and we have a baby in the family to occupy what little spare time we have (and some we don't have), and the Cats are still alive in the NCAA.

County elections are exciting times, particularly with the number and diversity of candidates we have this year. It's encouraging to see so many newcomers to politics and voters should take the time to find out all they can about the different candidates. And, above all, you should vote in the May 28th Primary.

As for our new offices, don't despair folks, we are going to finally get around to washing the windows. I really don't see why Jim hasn't managed to take care of that little chore. He managed to remodel the place singlehandedly. Rick, Jamie and I kept finding excuses to not be available when needed. Travis was always quite willing to lend a hand but Jim just wouldn't avail himself to the offer.

Anyway, for the first time since our arrival here in January of 1986 (return in Jim's case), our offices are respectable. We are proud of them (or will be if Jim ever gets the windows washed) and you are invited to drop by and look them over. Considering what we have had before - you will be impressed.

The advent of the first grandchild has occasioned many hours of simply sitting and gazing at what, of course, has to be the most beautiful, intelligent child ever born. He is also now the youngest member of our family to undergo surgery - Sunday night, the 7-week-old wonder had to have surgery for a double hernia. All's well that ends well, of course, and, following the hour-long surgery, Rick and Cindy were doing nicely. Oh, Aaron came through fine, too. He returned home Monday to even more attention and adoration, if possible.

Besides the county election, and my grandson when I can manage it, the main topic of conversation seems to be the Kentucky Wildcats and their two thrilling wins thus far in the NCAA tournament - a tournament they shouldn't even have been invited to, a great many people thought, myself included. But, when the "Cats" are playing well, there is no more enjoyable way to spend two hours, even if you only have a smidgen of interest in the sport. If you read the Lexington Herald's sports news on TV, you feel as if you know every player personally. I even finally agreed with a coaching decision by Joe Hall (And you may not realize how important that is for one with my "vast" knowledge of the sport) in the UNLV game Saturday night. If Kentucky can pull off an upset of the Redmen from St. John's Friday night, it would go a very long way toward redeeming some of those horrible games we suffered through this season.

I would promise to discuss some of the candidates' qualifications in next week's column but, since Jim gets a very strange look in his eye when he hears me even venture an opinion on one of them to someone else, I can imagine how this "strange look" would escalate into something approaching an apoplectic seizure if I dared to venture an opinion in writing. Of course, to be honest, for what I know about county politics, my opinions wouldn't exactly be something you would want to bet your old age pension on.....

EXERCISE PLUS NUTRITION. A WINNING COMBINATION FOR ACTIVE YOUNG PEOPLE.

(Third of a series of four articles)

Getting involved in a sport at school or in an organized league or recreation program can be the start of a lifelong physical fitness program. Skills improve with practice and competition and as skills improve, enjoyment increases.

Soccer, tennis, swimming, T-Ball. There's a sport for all ages, abilities and interests. The last two weeks' articles in this energy, if needed, from carbohydrates such as starchy vegetables and whole grain breads and cereals.

Coaches of endurance sports such as cross-country racing sometimes advocate glycogen loading—the practice of avoiding carbohydrates during intensive training, then eating a few days before competition switching to a very high carbohydrate diet.

This extreme manipulation of diet is not healthy, Maruyama said, and glycogen loading is not recommended for young athletes.

Neither are supplements and special products, such as bee pollen recommended. Bee pollen has no proven effectiveness for athletes and should not be taken. "Supplements should be taken only if recommended by a physician to correct a deficiency."

Athletes should avoid hazardous eating, fasting and fad diets which over a period of time can be harmful. Instead, it is wiser to eat several meals and snacks throughout the day. Authorities recommend a varied diet consisting of 55 per cent of calories from carbohydrates, 15 per cent from protein and 30 per cent from fat.

Call the County Cooperative Extension Service (256-2403) for information about a computer program which can determine the calorie distribution of your diet.

Mrs. Rice stated that the funds raised through the Easter Seal Telethon are used to provide direct services to children and adults who are disabled due to birth defects, traumatic accidents, or crippling diseases. Last year over 16,000 Kentuckians received Easter Seal services. "Easter Seal's" emphasis is on providing help and hope through quality rehabilitation at the local level. Easter Seal spends more on direct services than any other health care agency. The Easter Seal Telethon helps make this possible.

The University of Kentucky Agriculture Economics Department has compiled the 1984 Burley Tobacco Production cost and return guide as follows. For an average production of 2700 lbs. per acre: plant bed expenses cost 03 cents per pound; field expenses including fertilizer, chemicals, etc. 15 cents per pound; repairs and fuel 09 cents per pound; hired labor 36 cents per pound; interest and depreciation 18 04 cents per pound; marketing and flow charges 09 cents per pound; net at 30 cents per pound; for a total operating cost of $107 cents per pound.

Under new regulations started with the 1982 crop, tobacco placed in the pool will be done so at no cost to the federal government. The no-net program was initially funded by Burley producers contributing .05 cents per pound of marketed tobacco. However, at present time, Secretary of Agriculture Block, has imposed a 30 cents per pound assessment to fund the no-net program. This will be the second highest cost of production item for 1985.

According to local ASCS records, the county average production is 2200 pound per acre, which would raise costs as follows:

plant bed expenses .03/2 cents per pound; field expenses, 18 cents per pound; repairs and fuel, 12 cents per pound; hired labor, .44 cents per pound; interest and depreciation, 18 cents per pound; marketing and flow charges, 10 cents per pound; and no net charges at 30 cents per pound. Total operating cost for average production in Rockcastle is 1.07 cents to 1.21 1/2 cents per pound, estimated operating expenses which do not take into account overhead costs such as machinery and equipment at 21 7/8 cents per pound plus buildings at 20 24 cents per pound.

Producers should be aware that their individual cost will vary from the cost presented above. Producers who have a small investment in machines and in tobacco barns will have a lower overhead cost and therefore a lower "cost of production." Producers who attain high yields per acre generally have lower cost per pound. Those who attain very low yields generally have high cost per pound. In short, there is no one cost of production, however, the above figures are very realistic. Many times cost related to barns and equipment are not considered or charged to another crop. In reality, they have a useful life and must be replaced.

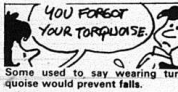

Average price per pound for

A new business is preparing to open on Main Street in Mt. Vernon. Leon Farris TV & Stereo Sales of London is expanding his business to include a store in Mt. Vernon. Specializing in the sale of satellites, Farris is planning a grand opening in April.

1984 was 1.88 cents per pound. However, the average price support is expected to be 1.78 cents per pound. One is always unsure how prices will react, but taking into consideration that over 110 million pounds are now stored in the pool which is a 3 of 5 year supply of tobacco available, the average price support of 1.78 cents is a good figure to work with. At this assumption, returns over operating expenses would be 71 cents per pound for 2700 lb. acre and 56 1/2 cents lb. for 2200 lb. acre. From this 71 56 1/2 cents, one must pay leases, cover overhead costs such as buildings, equipment, and of most importance, the farmer's profit for his labor and management.

A Message to the Voters of the First District

On May 28th, the voters of our county will face the difficult decision of selecting the candidates they feel will serve them best for the next four years. Many of the people I have talked with in recent weeks share my opinion that certain things must have special consideration and priorities in the best interest of the citizens of this county.

We must maintain our roads and keep them safe. The destiny of our jail is at stake. A suitable site for our landfill will have to be obtained. Our industrial development committee should work hard to attract and promote more industry for additional jobs for the people of our county. We must work to continue to collect our programs for our senior citizens. We must maintain our courthouse which is in need of a great deal of repair. We need to make sure that all garbage is collected at regular pick-up sites and not disposed of at an unauthorized location throughout our county.

All of the above mentioned items are very important but how do we propose to accomplish these things in a time when both state and federal governments are trimming their budgets. It is my opinion that our county, and all other counties, will have to tighten their belts and will be expected to do a lot with a little. We must work hard to see that our tax money is well spent and cut down excessive waste on a local level. Help me give you the taxpayer and voter RESULTS NOT EXCUSES.

6th grade students at Mt. Vernon Elementary are sharing a new learning experience this year. Two computer labs have been set-up in their classrooms and they have been taught some basic computer skills and are being encouraged to apply the skills they have learned. The

These students were in Mrs. Doris Cash's room and Cindy Gregory was at the controls. Software has been made available for the students' use. This software includes programs in spelling, english, reading, math, science, health and social studies. Other students in the above

SUNSHINE HOMEMAKERS

It indeed looked like a little litchprechaun had been busy at Conway Baptist Church on Tuesday, March 5. Our refreshments were all done in green. The table cloth was decorated with shamrocks; we had paper plates and cups to match it, cookies shaped like shamrocks, delicious green punch, and a green delicious dessert. Come to find out, our little litchprechaun turned out to be Wynona Isaac, who was our hostess for the month of March. After being snowed in all winter, it felt good to get back to a club meeting.

We had a total of twelve at the March meeting, including three guests, Lana Adams, Shana Donovan, and Edith Ott. We also had a new member to join our little group, Pearl Burdette. We wish to welcome her and to say we are glad to have her as a member.

Our March meeting was opened by our President, Sandi Thomas, our Secretary, Treasurer, Brenda Powell, read her reports; Devotion was given by Rachel Lakes, and prayer by Brenda Powell.

There was no old business to discuss, so we went straight into discussing our new business.

We reviewed the trips that are being made available for the homemakers. One is the New England trip scheduled for October, and one is a Williamsburg trip scheduled for May.

The Third Annual Quilt and Craft Show on May 9, 10, and 11 was also on the agenda, as was the Homemakers Bazaar, tentatively scheduled for November 2. As you can see, we have plenty to look forward to and plenty to keep us busy.

At our March meeting, we also filled out forms on which we chose the lessons we would like to have taught in the coming year.

After our business was taken care of, we were taught this month's lesson on "Investment Dressing" by Rachel Lakes and Toni Reams.

All in all, our March meeting was very busy and rewarding. Our April meeting is scheduled for April 2 at 7 p.m. at Conway Baptist Church. Visitors and new members are always welcome.

Thank You for your Continued Support

The progress of our campaign for County Judge/Executive continues to grow on a daily basis. I thank my many supporters and their families and friends for all they continue to do. I have already visited the many areas of our county and will continue to work for your trust and support as the campaign grows.

While I will continue to use the newspaper as an effective means of addressing the issues, I will not use this as a substitute for the personal contact and discussions that the voters of our county look for. All areas of our county deserve a County Judge/Executive that will work with them as a group to discuss their individual concerns.

Please feel free on any occasion, or especially during the times that I am in your area, to bring any concerns to my attention that you feel need to be addressed by the County Judge/Executive and the Fiscal Court. I ask for your support and that of your friends to be a County Judge/Executive that will help the county as a whole. Please stop me at anytime to discuss these things. "SALARIES" (Cont. From Front)
Since January 11, 1982, when fifth district magistrate Joe Clark made a motion to raise the magistrates' salaries and all five voted in favor of it, local magistrates have made $6,000 a year. That motion, magistrates made $4,272. On top of that, each of the five magistrates get a total of $100 a month for expenses. Expenses they don't have to account for.

Rockcastle County Treasurer

The Mt. Vernon Signal Thursday, March 21, 1985 P-A13
Floyd Owens said that state law allows magistrates to raise their expense allowance to $200 a month, but they would then have to account for the allowance. When both salary and expenses are figured in, magistrates receive a total of $7,200 a year.
Five other office holders in the county, the constables, receive no pay at all.
Although there is only one more candidate this county election than four years ago, there are three less races. Four years ago, there were races for state representative, circuit clerk, and commonwealth attorney.

4-H ANIMAL PROJECT CLUBS

4-H animal project clubs offer 4-H members in Rockcastle County a variety of activities to assist them with their animal projects.

The 4-H Dairy club is going into its third year this spring. The club's activities have grown from showing dairy animals to keeping records and dairy judging. The club has already begun this year's training for the State Dairy Judging Contest to be held in June. Some members will attend a cow camp on a week end in May in Northern Kentucky.

The 4-H Horse Club has been growing in the past three years. The first meeting for 1985 was held this week with plans being discussed for having a horse judging team ready for competition in June. 4-Hers in the horse project can also compete in the state level in horse demonstrations, horse speeches, horse arts and crafts, and horse quiz bowl contests. Members can also attend an area horse camp in London, May 17-19.

A new 4-H beef project club is scheduled to have its first meeting tonight. The purpose of this club will be to teach 4-H members herd management, selection and show up. Members will care for and keep records on spring calves and then show and sell them at an auction in the fall. This first meeting is at 7:00 p.m. at the Harry Sparks Vocational School.

There is still time for youth age 9-19 to become involved in these 4-H animal project clubs. For more information, contact the County Extension Office at 256-2403.

Around 70 4-Hers are busy completing their 4-H Clothing Projects in after-school project meetings this month. The above 4-Hers at Roundstone Elementary are receiving assistance from one of the 4-H clothing leaders, Linda Burton. Finished garments will be modeled in the 4-H Fashion Revue on April 28th.

Danny Ford attends White House briefing

State Representative Danny R. Ford attended a private briefing with President Reagan and Cabinet officials sponsored by the American Legislative Exchange Council Monday, March 11, at the White House.

The briefing is an annual event hosted by ALEC, the oldest and largest individual membership organization of over 2000 state legislators in the United States sharing a commitment to limited government and free enterprise.

In addition to an update by the President on his policies and budget proposals, Transportation Secretary Elizabeth Dole, Agriculture Secretary John Block, Budget Director David Stockman, and Congressman Jack Kemp also gave briefings on legislation now pending before Congress that will affect Representative Ford's district.

During the briefing with Agriculture Secretary, John Block, Ford was able to express to the secretary his concern over the farm policy particularly as it related to the tobacco industry in the state of Kentucky. Ford expressed to Block that his primary concern was that the agricultural department was asking the Kentucky farmers, as well as those in other states which raise tobacco, to allow for the price support to be lowered and quotas to be cut. Therefore, we are restricting our own farmers while not doing anything to slow down the imports of tobacco from other countries. Ford told Block he felt if there were restrictions put on the imports that supply and demand could take care of the problem within the tobacco program.

Ford said, "It was particularly important for federal and state officials to work closely together as more responsibility and funding is shifted from the federal to the state level."

"In addition," Representative Ford said, "I can better serve my constituents when I am able to establish these personal contacts with officials in Washington who set and implement policy."

The program also included discussions on the effect of divestment measures on state pension funds; a report on comparable worth from Assistant Attorney General for the Civil Rights Division William Bradford Reynolds; a briefing on the administration's policies on Central America by Robert Reilly of the Office of Public Liaison; and an update on national defense policy by Colonel Robert Linhard of the National Security Council.

ALEC is a nonprofit, educational research and information exchange, providing America's 7500 state lawmakers with creative and innovative solutions to many problems facing our states today.

ALEC's publications include a monthly newsletter, "First Reading," a monthly issue brief, "State Factor," and "Source Book of American State Legislation."

Lay-Jones vows said

Mary Payne and Delphia Minks were in Lexington Saturday to attend the wedding of Mrs. Payne's granddaughter, Dixie Carol Lay, to Stephen Lee Jones. Dixie is the daughter of J. C. and Patsy (Maynus) Lay, and Steve is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Matt Jones of Lexington.

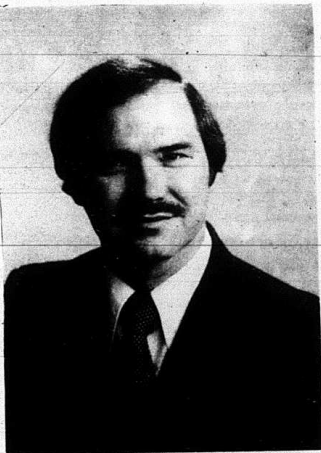

The wedding took place at Trinity Baptist Church in Lexington on March 9th. The event was most lovely and very touching, since the bride chose her Maid of Honor, one of her best friends—her mother, while the groom, too, requested his dad to be his Best Man.

The bride wore a traditional long and very delicate dress of dotted swiss, with a short veil bordered in white roses. Nephew of the bride, Jamie Lay, was the ring bearer, and Niki Carmickel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dana Carmickel, friends of the bride and groom, was the flower girl. A reception was held immediately afterwards, and many nice gifts were received. After a honeymoon at a resort in Indiana, the couple plan to make their home in Lexington.

Many friends and family members were in attendance. Some of the family members from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Dale Minks, Mr. and Mrs. James Maynus, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bullock, Mrs. Drema Farrell and

Let's Go Fishing

By: John Bryan

It's a late December dawn and it's already 60 degrees. It'll get to 70 today, the sun will rise high, the water will warm, the fish will turn on.

"Did you remember Kelly's Cabbage Patch Doll's birth certificate?" "What?" Janet retrieves me to the packed automobile. "I think so, Janet. I think I stuffed it into that blue bag of dirty clothes." "Well, I want to see it before you send it off," she snaps.

It's dawn and our car is a packed, cramped space capsule rocketing 600 miles from Nashville to Richmond. Janet and I are buckled in front. Kelly and her two-week-old brother Thomas are strapped into carseats in back. We've just exited Nashville; a long and interesting day is ahead.

I hear the morning's first whimper. "Sounds like Thomas is hungry, Janet." She turns around, bends over the seat, shoves a bottle in his mouth, props it with a cloth diaper. I focus blankly on the highway and leave my family.

I'm at Duck River three days ago with my Dad. We pulled in nonstop crappie for a whole morning-our best trip in many years-and now I'm there with him again. He's dunking minnows, I'm tossing a yellow Garland Minnig. The jig catches three crappie of consecutive casts while the minnow is vacant. Dad ties on a jig and both of our rods stay bend.

"Eeeeh, eeeeh, eeeeh," screams Thomas. "Waaaah, waaaah, waaaah," chimes Kelly. She's awakened now from her early morning sleep.

"Kelly! Kelly! Be quiet!" shouts Janet. "Can't you see Daddy's trying to drive? Am I going to have to turn on the radio?" She does--loud enough to blanket the two-week and 18-month sets of lungs. Janet shouts something to me but I've tuned out.

Dad and I are in shirt sleeves. The sun's out and it bounces off this old brown river in most places. But the rays slide right down into the depths of where we throw our jigs--a spot known to Duck Riverers as The Spring. Twelve feet below this rock bluff an underwater stream empties blue-clear into the river. We look down into it and see a brown watery fog, swirling with clear patches, swimming with fish. Today we don't, but on past days we've spotted huge fish cruising through the patches. We've caught every species in the book here; today it's loaded with crappie. We catch and release dozens.

"John, pull over at the next stop," Back to the interstate highway. "We need to change Kelly's diaper. And try to find a McDonald's--their bathrooms are the cleanest." I exit and stop--as I'll do a hundred times during this long day's journey--and we change diapers, eat french fries, buy unleaded gas, and spill a diet cola on the car floor.

Dad and I catch fish at the two other spots we try on the Duck; the gravel bank with the shallow trees, and the deep point with the overhanging branches. But they don't bite as they did at The Spring. We left them biting there. We catch a couple of stripes, several bream, a yearling bass. Dad takes one huge crappie--on a minnow--maybe a pound and a half.

"Can you reach behind you and find her bottle?" She frowns it at Thomas and it went somewhere back of your seat."

75th anniversary of Boy Scouts

Today you are an American boy. Before long, you will be an American man. It is important to America and to yourself that you become a citizen of fine character, physically strong, mentally awake and morally straight.

Boy Scouting will help you become that kind of citizen. But also, Scouting will give you fellowship and fun.

Yes, it's fun to be a Boy Scout! It's fun to go hiking and camping with your best friends.

To swim, to dive, to paddle a canoe, to wield an ax, to follow the footsteps of the pioneers who led the way through the wilderness, to stare into the glowing embers of a campfire and dream of the wonders of the life that is in store for you.

It is fun also to learn to walk noiselessly through the woods, to stalk close to a grazing deer without being noticed...to bring a bird close to you by imitating its call. It is fun to find your way across country by map and compass, to make a meal when you are hungry...to take a safe swim when you are hot...to make yourself comfortable for the night in a tent or under the stars. In Scouting, you become an outdoorsman.

But Scouting is far more than fun in the outdoors, hiking and camping. Scouting is a way of life. Scouting is growing into responsible manhood; learning to be of service to others.

Your life as a Scout will make you strong and self-reliant. You will learn Scouter skills that will benefit you as you grow. In time, you will develop leadership skills as well.

So pitch in! Swing into action! 1985 will be an eventful year in the lives of Cub Scouts and Boy Scouts, leaders and parents - once in a lifetime chance to participate in the 75th Anniversary Celebration of the Boy Scouts of America. All packs and troops will have ample opportunity to participate in several areas of celebration activity: the Alumni Search Award, the Achievement Award, the Diamond Jubilee Council Camporee, Expo '85, summer camp, special Court of Honor, chartered partner good turns, just to name a few. Award patches may be earned by youth and/or adults.

There are 17 emblems that can be earned by completing specific requirements set by the BSA National Office.

Troop 263 is planning for '85 by holding the Alumni Search, planning to camp and hike the following trails: Dayton Air Force Base, Lost Sea Cave near Knoxville; the Buffalo Trail in Berea; the Indian Ford Trail in Berea and returning again to Perryville; their Troop Service Project will be at Turkeyfoot this year and participating in Expo '85 with a patch on "Space Exploration" and working for the merit badge as a troop.

Any boy wishing to join in our ranks can contact one of the following Boy Scouts: Billy Blair, Jeremy Brock, Chad Merritt, Alan and Aaron Purcell, John Dale Adams, Clint Adams, Eddie Mosley, James Millis or Robbie Palmer. Or you may come to a scout meeting on Monday nights at: Bethany United Methodist Church at 6:30. You must be 10 1/2 years old or completed 5th grade.
