Rockcastle freshmen beat Pulaski for second win

JVs made it 2 and 0 as they traveled to Somerset Tuesday to play the Pulaski Co. JV team. They came away winners with a score of 6-0. This is their second win of the year, having won over Wayne Co. Tues., Sept. 10, by a score of 22-0.

The only score of the game was a quarterback sneak from Adam Coleman from the 2-yard line, with 2:29 remaining in the first half. The extra points were no good. The excellent work of the defense kept the Pulaski Co. team from scoring. Pulaski Co. had the advantage over Rockcastle

Co. in size, but Rockcastle handled them very well.

We want to thank the fans for coming out to see our boys play. Next game is Monday night at Lincoln Co. at 6 p.m. Come on out and root them on.

The following is the schedule for the rest of the year:

Sept. 23-Lincoln Co., Away, 6 p.m.; Sept. 30-Berea, Home, 6:30 p.m.; Oct. 10-Knox Central, Away, 6 p.m.; Oct. 14-Williamsburg, Away, 6:30 p.m.; Oct. 22-Wayne Co., Home, 6:30 p.m.; Oct. 28-Knox Central, Home, 7 p.m.

Drugs in baseball

On baseball's drug(gate) trial in Pittsburgh, this writer suggested recently that since Kansas City outfielder Lonnie Smith—testifying under immunity from prosecution—blew the whistle on several baseball players for using cocaine, he might be in trouble when he steps into a big league batter's box. Sometimes opposing players look upon fellows like Smith as a snitch and "deal" with them according to their own laws.

I received a letter last week taking issue with that position.

Mrs. Gloria Whitford of Elizabethtown writes: "You obviously equate a grown adult using cocaine with a young lad sneaking a smoke behind the barn. 'Boys will be boys' (wink).

"You obviously don't like tattletales. I don't either."

Mrs. Whitford, who has children of her own, went on to point out three instances that "do not" come under the heading of tattletales. 1. If persons are hurting themselves; 2. If they were hurting someone else; 3. They were hurting someone else's property.

"I was to be told immediately," Mrs. Whitford said, "I believe those rules apply just as much to an adult (child abuse, spouse abuse, drunk driving, malicious destruction).

And, she concluded, "There is another phrase that is sometimes used—'They are only hurting themselves.' Nothing could be farther from the truth when using hard drugs."

Comment: Thank you Mrs. Whitford. Certainly your points are well taken and worthy of everyone's attention and consideration.

My point was speculative on what mind set Smith is liable to face on the baseball field. I do not equate or condone the use of any drug with "smoking behind the barn." It is obviously far more serious than that. However, I do have trouble with the testimony offered by an admitted "hard drugs" user who has been given immunity from going to jail.

Interest in football up

A response came last week on a view put forth (in this space) by Fort Knox High coach Joe Jagers that 'Kentucky is a football state.'

"I'm inclined to agree with Joe," says Russell Reed, a native of Russellville. "I've been following football around here since 1976 and I think it's definitely gotten more popular."

A long time football fan, Reed says he became enamored with high school football during his four of duty in the U.S. Air Force. "I was stationed in Texas seven different times. And boy, down there football is "the" thing."

Reed said he is a fan of Fort Knox High School.

"I pull for Knox because it's a small school. And yet they get good talent in from around the world and do well with what they have."

If you have an opinion, for or against the view that popularity of football is on the rise in Kentucky, let me hear from you.

On another front, East Hardin High School director of athletics Ken Tabb said last week that his school enjoyed its biggest ticket sale in the history of the school Aug. 30 when it hosted Elizabethtown.

"Our gate was a little bit shy of $4,000, something like $3,800 plus," Tabb said. "I can remember when we didn't take in that much in a season. But we needed it because we have some outstanding bills we needed pay. This was a real shot in the arm for us."

From Augusta, Ky. Don Irvine, basketball coach at Augusta High School writes: "I would like to inform you of a deserving young man who doesn't always receive the recognition he deserves because he participates at a very small school (100 students in grades 9-12). Bob Ruf is a 17-year-old, 6-7, 230 pounds and a senior at Augusta High.

"Because of the lack of past success of the basketball program he has been overlooked by (scouting service) publications although he started for three years. Last year he was named to the 10th Region all star team."

Ruf averaged 19.4 points, 13.5 rebounds and more than four blocked shots a game. Irvine reports.

Readers write

About last week's column on the University of Kentucky (referring to Louisville" or "Lexington") I received five telephone calls, one letter and a post card.

Mrs. Geraldine Edwards of Elizabethtown writes: "Needless to say this UK fan is upset with your choice of word 'arrogant.' I challenge you to explain exactly what you mean when you say 'arrogant image?' I would like to know why you choose to use that word arrogant in column after column when referring to the 'only' University of Kentucky?"

Mrs. Edwards continues: "On the issue of WHAS Radio switching from UK to UL. Do you agree that UK had a choice of staying with WHAS? Your column led the reader to believe that UK had no choice in the matter at all. I believe the UK fans may think WHAS could be the loser."

Comment: Presumably, like any other business, WHAS Radio made a business decision based on profit potential. The message was clearly the Louisville station believes its (financial) future is with the University of Louisville and not UK. As to 'arrogance' at UK, the text of the column detailed how and why I believe the attitudes and complacency of 'certain' (not all) officials at UK have cost the school both in profits and public relations. Clearly the beneficiary has been UofL.

A postcard from a lady in Shelbyville who asked that her name be withheld: "How do you go about writing to the FCC? What is the address? I want to write to have the 'fiber' channel removed from WHAS. PS-Please put the address in the paper, other people are interested."

Comment: The address for the Federal Communications Commission is 1919 M. Street, NW, Washington, D. C. 20554.

Exile to be in concert at Berea school

EXILE, who has been burning up the country music charts during the past months, will be in concert Oct. 6 at Berea.

The group, along with Greg Austin Band and Stampede, will hold the concert at 2 p.m. at Duerson Stadium near Berea Community School.

They will celebrate "J. P. Pennington Day."

Pennington, lead singer-guitarist and a Berea native, and son of Glenn Pennington, will be honored by the Berea Tourism Commission and the City of Berea by having October 6, 1985 declared as "J. P. Pennington Day."

Pennington will be presented with the key to the city by Mayor Clifford Kerby during the concert. Previously noted for their success in pop music, primarily for the song "Kiss You All Over," an international smash in 1978, EXILE has made a more than smooth transition to country music.

EXILE's list of No. 1 hits include "The High Cost Of Leaving," "Woke Up In Love,"

Trapped in cave

Local rescue squad frees three Ohio men

Spelunkers-cave explorers to most people-continue to be trapped in caves in Rockcastle County.

The latest was Saturday when three went into a cave at Flow Hill and walked to another entrance near Mullins Station where they found the entrance, or exit, too small to squeeze through and called for help. They were "too tired" to go back the way they came, according to Paul Hansel, Hansel, director of the local rescue squad.

The Rockcastle Rescue Squad and Mt. Vernon Fire Department dug them out about 4:30 p.m. Sunday.

After getting out, they asked for food which was obtained by the rescue squad at a cost of $28. The spelunkers then got into their van, waved goodbye, and drove off to Ohio where they came from, one rescue squad member said.

Cost to get them out in effort and time spent was estimated at about $500.

In 1983, eight spelunkers were supposedly trapped by high water in a cave in Drew Valley. That rescue cost county taxpayers and others several thousand dollars to get them out. The spelunkers did contribute $100 to the rescue squad.

The cavers also received national attention from their three day ordeal.

Gentrys open Happy Trail near Possum Kingdom

If you want to hit a happy trail, you can do it at Gentry's Happy Trails, a new business that specializes in horseback riding and camping, as well as other outdoor activities.

Owned and operated by Gary and Dorita Gentry, the trails are located at Possum Kingdom, off Chestnut Grove Road, and about a mile from Sowder Nursing Home.

There are daily rides from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. and on Sunday from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m. The picnic area and horses can be reserved during the week.

The Gentrys have 250 acres of secluded woodland and 24 horses with 13 considered gentle. There are also ponies available for youngsters. Hiking is also encouraged.

For those who cannot ride, someone will be available to teach them.

County road to receive patching

Governor Martha Layne Collins today announced that the state will replace bituminous patching on 2.9 miles of County Road 5359, Copper Creek Road, according to Henry Brown, Rockcastle Co. Democratic Chairman.

"A strong transportation network requires consistent upgrading to meet the needs of our rural residents," said Gov. Collins. "Proper maintenance of Rockcastle County's secondary roads will

Brodhead resident receives Combs EKU scholarship

Edward R. Whitaker, Rt. 1, Brodhead, is the recipient of the first Charles C. and Betty C. Combs Memorial Endowed Scholarship at Eastern Kentucky University.

Whitaker, son of Jack Ray Whitaker of Brodhead, will receive the $1,000 Combs scholarship as an outstanding agriculture student at EKU.

The Combs scholarship fund was initially established by contributions from friends following the deaths of Charles and Betty Combs in 1983. Charles Combs was chairman of EKU's Board of Regents at the time and had been a member of the Board for nine years.

Mr. and Mrs. Combs were both graduates of EKU and were highly respected and admired for their dedication and service to the university and the community.

The scholarship fund was endowed and named in memoriam in 1985 through a gift of $11,600 from the Combs sons, Charles C. and San Diego, Class 'C' of Lexington and Clark, 'C' of Richmond. The gift brought the level of endowment to $15,000 providing a $1,000 scholarship each year to an outstanding junior or senior from Kenton or Macon in agriculture at EKU.

Charles Combs was a successful Madison County farmer and businessman who contributed significantly to the field of agriculture by experimenting with innovative technology on his farm.

EKU President, Hanly Fundenbark said the gift to establish the endowed scholarship was an appropriate memorial to the former Board of Regents chairman and his family in recognition of their outstanding commitment and service to the university.

Stewart retires from RECC board

After 45 years, W. S. Stewart has retired from active membership on the Jackson County RECC Board of Directors.

He had been chairman of the board since February, 1975. Prior to that time he served as vice chairman. He had also served on the Board of the Kentucky Association of Electric Cooperatives.

He first served on the RECC board in September 1940. He did not serve from 1945 to 1956, but then resumed service which has been continuous since that time.

"My association with the directors and managers has been one of the most enjoyable and rewarding in my life," he said. "May the cooperative continue to prosper and serve the members in the future as I feel we have in the past."

The board accepted his retirement "regrettably" and pointed out his exemplary service as a board member.

Don Thompson of Brodhead will fill the seat on the board left vacant by Mr. Stewart's retirement.

Charles and Betty Combs worked diligently to ensure that their quality remained synonymous with Eastern Kentucky University. "Funderbark said, "and we are most pleased to join with their sons in honoring them in such a meaningful way. Charles Combs' many contributions will continue to influence this university and higher education in Kentucky in future years."

COUNTY HOMEMAKERS ANNUAL DINNER

By: Elizabeth F. Mullins, County Homemakers Reporter

At the Family Life Center, 62 Rockcastle County Homemakers gathered to dine, play, receive yearly awards and listen to Dr. Suzanne Badenhorst. She talked to the group on "The Home in Homemaker."

Dr. Badenhorst told us that a homemaker is the care of a home; that her mental attitude makes happiness; that she should expect a better tomorrow; and work toward making life easier for herself as well as her family. The poem "It Takes A Heap of Living to Make a Home" was read to close the program by the assistant director for Home Economics in the state.

Carolyn Chasteen, county president, introduced our guests; Irene Reed and Myrtle Hacker, as well as welcoming all of us earlier.

Recreation, by Barbara Watson, proved to be a check on our duties performed that day in our home.

We all enjoyed part of a re-run of "South Pacific" by Patti Towery and Mike Bryant II.

Carol Riddle received a 25-year pin and Matilda Brooks received a 50-year pin.

Outstanding Club Award went to Brodhead Willing Workers Homemakers Club.

E.F.N.E.P. Awards were given to the following clubs: Sunshine, Lunch & Learn, Rise & Shine and Brodhead Willing Workers. Individual awards were given to Basie St. Clair and Lois Philbeck for their volunteer work in E.F.N.E.P.

Apron prizes went to Carol J. Riddle for the prettiest apron; Carolyn Chasteen for the most unique apron; and Ruby D. McKenzie for the oldest apron.

Thanks to Rise & Shine Club for the meeting arrangements; Quail for table decorations; Sunshine for name tags and entertainment; Brodhead Willing Workers for recreation and Lend-a-Hand for door prizes.

The homemaker creed was repeated by all to end this Sept. 16 county get-together.

Your Child's Health

By: Dr. John V. Payne

Editor's note: Dr. John Payne, a pediatrician who has been practicing in Berea for six years, has agreed to write a column about health care for children. He welcomes suggestions from readers about topics they would like to see covered in future columns. Address any correspondence to Dr. John Payne, The Berea Citizen, P.O. Box 207, Berea, Ky. 40403. Dr. Payne is a graduate of Berea College, the University of Kentucky, University of Maryland and Johns Hopkins University.

Earaches are probably the most common ailment seen by doctors who care for children. Even mild earaches should receive medical attention. If a child is too young to talk, your only clue may be his or her behavior. He may be very fussy or irritable and cry when swallowing. He may or may not have a fever. Left untreated the pain will go away after a couple of days, but serious damage to the child's hearing may result.

It is not a good idea to assume that because the pain has gone that the condition has disappeared. It is very important to continue prescribed medicine and check with the doctor to be sure the infection has cleared completely.

You probably have heard of children having "tubes" in their eardrums. This is a procedure that has become common in recent years to get rid of long standing infections that have not cleared with medicine. It is better to have earaches treated promptly to avoid the need for these surgically placed drainage tubes. However, if a child has a very severe ear problem these tubes can be of great benefit to restore hearing.

Earaches usually result from the eustachian tube which goes from the back of the nose into the middle ear getting stopped up from a cold or allergies. The air normally behind the eardrum gets replaced by fluid when this tube is blocked and the fluid rapidly gets infected. This is the acute ear

The 4-H Poster Contest aims to give young people an opportunity to start the new year by expressing in art form what 4-H is and does. Everyone has the opportunity to participate in this 4-H project which is quick, easy and fun. Outstanding posters go on to area, state and national competition. State winners will be displayed at the Kentucky State Fair.

Rules for the Contest

1. Posters may be made by any currently enrolled 4-H'er.

2. All posters must be designed on posterboard of 14" x 22" dimensions (one-half a standard poster size). Posters may be produced by a medium-watercolor, ink, crayon, acrylic, charcoal, oils or collage. They cannot be three dimensional.

3. 4-H is to be the topic for the poster. 4-H'ers can show what they think 4-H is, what they do in 4-H and what they think 4-H does for young people. Catchy slogans or titles may help tell the story.

4. Lettering should be neat. Using stencils or cut out letters is suggested.

5. Well-known cartoon figures cannot be used because they are copyrighted.

6. The 4-H'ers name, age, full address, grade, school, teacher and a brief interpretive statement should be completed on provided forms or written on the back of each poster.

One champion poster will be chosen in each grade level in the county—4th, 5th, 6th, 7th, 8th and high school age. The champion posters in each grade level will be sent on to area competition. Everyone who turns in a 4-H poster will receive a 4-H ribbon. All posters are due Sept. 30.

Lower grade students score better on skill test

If your child is in Kindergarten or one of the lower grades in the Rockcastle County school system, they are most likely to be mastering essential skills.

If you had a child in high school, the story is a little different.

Rockcastle County Curriculum Coordinator and Chapter 1 Director Bige Towery, Jr., who handles the test scores for the local district, said it was his opinion that the low test scores in high school was mainly the result of student apathy.

"We are not the only school district that experiences this problem," Towery said. "It is nationwide; the older the student—the lower the test scores."

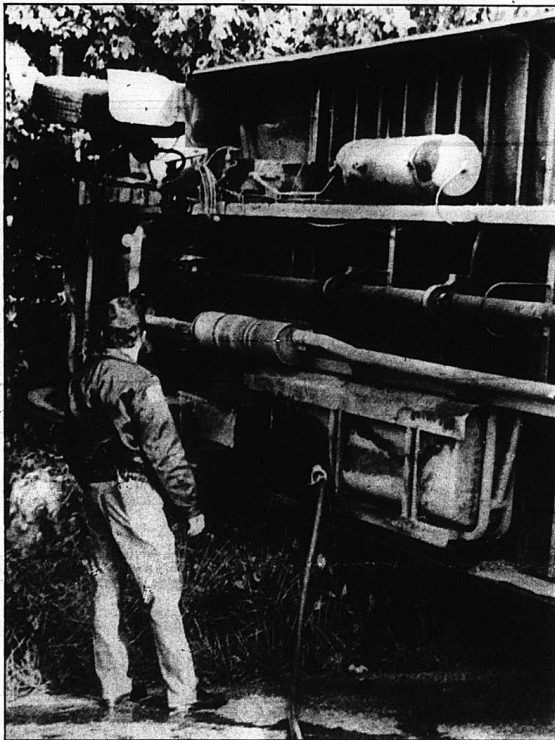

Towery released the annual performance report for Rockcastle County this week. A complete breakdown of the scores can be found on Page A-14 of this week's Signal.

Last year's tenth grade at RCHS scored higher than the national average, which is 50, in only two categories. Those categories were spelling, with a score of 54.1, and language, with a score of 52.6.

On the other hand, test scores for third grade school children were higher than the national average in every category except one. Their highest score was in language with a mark of 62.1.

Fifth graders also scored well in every category but two, with their highest score being in math, with the district wide average at 66.0.

Seventh grade children dropped below the national average in only one category—that being (Cont. to A-5)

Mt. Vernon fireman Kevin Fletcher waters down the gas tank of bus number 135 after it turned over on the Sand Springs road approximately three miles from Mt. Vernon. No one was seriously hurt in the accident which occurred Tuesday morning around 8 o'clock, but six students were admitted to the Rockcastle County Hospital for observation. The bus had 24 students on board and was headed for Mt. Vernon Elementary school.

School bus overturns Tuesday sending 24 students to hospital

By: Richard Anderkin

A school bus wreck on the Sand Springs Road approximately three miles from Mt. Vernon sent all 24 riders to the hospital.

The wreck occurred at 8 o'clock Tuesday morning, according to Rockcastle County Director of Transportation Richard Bray.

Bray said he suggested that the students go to Rockcastle County Hospital for an examination "just to be on the safe side."

The wreck, which was the third this year in the local school district, occurred when the driver of the bus, Robert Pybas, band director at the local high school, looked in his rear view mirror at some students and the right front tire of the bus dropped off the shoulder, according to Bray, who said it was his understanding that Pybas had managed to get the front end of the bus back on the road when the right rear tire hit a culvert and caused the bus to turn sideways in the road and run off the other side. Bray said the front end of the bus struck a large rock and overturned.

"The bus did not slide any distance whatsoever on its side," the transportation director said. "We are just very thankful that nobody was hurt very bad."

Although all 24 students were examined, only six were admitted, according to a hospital spokesman, who said the students were admitted for observation and that none of them were seriously injured.

Those students admitted were Lisa Mullins, Connie Bradley,

Tammy Bradley, Lawonna Miller, Christine Napier and Robert Brian Napier. The bus was enroute to Mt. Vernon Elementary School and the local high school and was about half full, according to Bray.

Pybas, who has been a bus driver in the local school system for many years, recently won the regional competition for bus drivers. The competition was held in the area of driver skills and included 13 schools.

The bus, which had Sand Springs Road blocked for almost two hours before it was removed by Central Body Service, sustained minimal damage, according to Bray, who said that although the damage was slight as far as money, it would be some time before the bus could be used again.

Jail escapee captured Monday

One of three men who escaped from Pulaski County Jail two weeks ago was apprehended in Rockcastle County Monday night, according to State Police Public Affairs Officer Gilbert Accardo, Jr.

Dean W. Wingate, 28, of Frankfort, was arrested one-half mile from Mt. Vernon on Horse-shoe Road at approximately 10:30 p.m. by State Trooper Jimmy Silvers and Rockcastle County Deputy Jim Durlam, Accardo

Work to get underway by October 10 on Mt. Vernon's by-pass

By: Ray McClure

A work order to begin construction any day on the Mt. Vernon bypass of Ky. 461 was issued Sept. 10 by the Kentucky Department of Transportation to contractor Elmo Greer and Sons of East Bernstadt.

The contractor has until Oct. 10 to begin actual construction, but some clearing and power line changes have already been made along the 3.8 mile section.

Lee Anderson, chief engineer for Greer, said it will likely be the Oct. 10 date before the company would begin actual work.

A pre-construction conference is yet to be scheduled between the company and state highway officials.

"We don't anticipate any problems with the project," Anderson said. "I think everything has been worked out."

He added that most of the first work will be clearing right-of-way and installing culverts along the 85,512,871 project.

A state highway department official at the site of the U.S. 150-Wald project now winding down said the company would probably do some extensive culvert work near the old Mt. Vernon Water Works lake on old Broad-head Road.

"It will be up to the contractor, of course, but I would suspect that particular culvert would be a major job that they would want to get started on," he said. "I think they'll be doing a lot of rock work and filling before winter sets in."

Earlier, it was indicated that the railroad overpass near U.S. 150 would be a priority, but it now appears the overpass will have to wait until spring.

"You can't pour concrete in the winter, and winter could catch them," he added.

It is expected to take from 18 months to two years to complete the bypass that begins at Red Top Restaurant north of Mt. Vernon on U.S. 25 and ends at U.S. 150.

The state official said it would probably be November before the U.S. 150-Wald section will be open to traffic.

"We still have surfacing left to do and guardrails to install, so my guess is it will be sometime in November."

That section is not considered a pressing matter for the highway department. The old highway would probably continue to be used by boat traffic. Most traffic on the new section would be from

Had six homicides

Justice Cabinet report shows county sixth in state in number of deaths

By: Ray McClure

It's been said Eastern Kentucky is the center of "fightin' and faudin'," but in a report issued this week by the Justice Cabinet for the year ending June 30, 1984, Eastern Kentucky no longer holds that dubious distinction.

Counties with the most homicides belong, for the most part, in other sections of the state, including Rockcastle with 6 homicides. Only Bell County with 7, Perry with 9, and Floyd with 6, are in Eastern Kentucky.

Top ranking counties in homicides are: Jefferson with 62; Fayette with 22; Campbell with 13; Perry, 9; Pulaski, 7; Hopkins, 7; Bell, 7; Rockcastle, 6; Marion, 6; Floyd, 6; and Christian, 6.

Of the top group, at least 7 of those counties have cities of 10,000 population and above, including Louisville, Lexington, Covington, Hazard, Somerset, Hopkinsville, Middlesboro, and Paducah.

Of the 120 counties, 44 did not have any homicides, including neighboring Jackson. In other surrounding counties, not including Pulaski, Lincoln had 4; Laurel, 3; Madison, 2, and Garrard, 1.

Of the other deaths investigated by Rockcastle Coroner Billy Dowell, one death turned out to be from natural causes, 2 were accidents and 2 were suicides.

For the record, total investigations made by coroners and/or medical examiners across the state for the time period July 1, 1983 to June 30, 1984, showed 575 deaths were found to be natural causes, 537 homicides, 301 accidental, 265 suicides, and 21 undetermined.

A breakdown of the deaths investigated indicated 137 were from motor vehicle accidents; 67 by fires; 51 drownings; 27 struck by vehicles; 15 alcohol; 9 electrocution; 7 struck by trains; 8 firearms; 7 motorcycle; 5 airplanes; 5 children caught between mattress and crib; 4 coal mine accidents; 2 fell on broken glass; one scalded by hot water; one crushed by a garage door; one attacked by a bull; one crushed by a large rock; one by shoveling; one fell from a horse; and one died in a motorized hand glider accident.

Of deaths by suicide, 198 were from firearms; 45 drug overdose; 21 hanging; 12 carbon monoxide; 7 jumped from heights; 2 by drowning; 3 by knife; one by self incineration; one jumped in front of a train; and one put plastic over the nose and mouth.

Of the homicides, 92 were from multiple gunshots; 157 from one gunshot; 22 from a blunt instrument; 16 from a sharp instrument; 10 run over by a vehicle; 5 from fistcuffs; 2 by strangulation; one child abuse; one drowning; one arson, and one manual strangulation.

Statistics for 1984-85 have not been compiled.

Next week a look at how Rockcastle county stacks up in crime in Ky.

Mike Reynolds sweeps sand in the parking area of Renfro Valley Shell after a tractor-trailer blew a tire Sunday night which in turn broke a fuel tank fitting and trailed over 100 gallons of fuel from 175 into the station owned by Mike Kincer. The State Highway Department spread the sand from 1-75 down the off ramp and into the station to prevent an accident.

Better health for our children

Congressman Hal Rogers

This week, the U.S. House began to consider legislation addressing a problem which I have long been aware of, and which affects our district as much or more than any other. That problem is infant mortality - most of it caused by poor nutrition and poverty, and much of it, unfortunately, centered in our rural areas.

(Cont. to A5)

Ironically, this legislation came on the heels of a study released here in Washington, which shows the extent to which poor, rural counties have a high incidence of infant mortality. The study shows that the disparity between infant mortality rates in rural, poor counties and the rest of the country is actually widening, despite our best efforts, and included several counties in our district.

As a member of the Southern Governors' Task Force in Infant Mortality, I know too well the problems our entire region is facing with this problem. Our task force has been meeting and is working on proposals for dealing with this situation. Infant mortality needs more attention, and the study released this week and our task force hopefully will increase public awareness about the problem.

While the causes of infant mortality are many, a clear cause is poor nutrition on the parts of expectant mothers and their babies. One program which deals directly with the food needs of mothers and children is the Women, Infants and Children (WIC) program. As part of the Child Nutrition Act, we will be asked to approve legislation to allow another 120,000 women to participate in this program. By giving these women food and nutrition education, we can also expect healthier babies, and reduce infant mortality significantly.

Our state on the Child Nutrition Act comes on the heels of House approval the week before to continue the Appalachian Regional Commission. That agency funds numerous prenatal health care programs in the Fifth District, programs which help pregnant women receive medical care before their babies are born. These programs have helped thousands of Appalachian mothers who would otherwise go without proper prenatal care.

By providing food, nutrition information and prenatal health care, we can begin to reduce the high levels of infant mortality in our poor rural counties around the country. As a parent, I know how much my children's health means to me. Through these programs, we can give each new infant a healthy start on life.

We still have unmet health needs in our region. These programs are but two which try to give our low-income citizens better health care and a better life. I will continue to work for programs which can help all our people, so that we can bring down our infant

Pasture rotations will help prevent soil erosion

By: J. David Stipes
Soil Conservation Service

The rotation of pastures in a livestock grazing system has long been noted as a very important management practice in proper forage utilization. However, the benefits of pasture rotation have also been noticed in the prevention of soil erosion. On sloping pastures in Rockcastle County, some soils are exposed due to overgrazing, serious erosion can occur before the pastures can grow back. During the hot summer months cool season grasses such as fescue and clovers will become somewhat dormant. It is during these times that overgrazing can occur without notice.

The Rockcastle County Soil Survey accurately describes each soil in the county and rates the carrying capacity for each soil according to the number of livestock that can be grazed efficiently without overgrazing. The soil date and yield potential for pastures is very important in managing a grazing operation. Many times adequate placement of livestock water prevents landowners from following a well balanced rotation system. The application of conservation practices such as ponds, spring developments and pipelines with tanks can be installed to prevent soil erosion from occurring, by allowing water in each field for proper rotations to be made. Please feel free to contact the Soil Conservation Service office in Mt. Vernon for any assistance with practices needed for pasture rotations to prevent soil erosion.

A livestock tank such as this one is easily installed in a pasture field to allow for pasture rotations to be made. Adequate water for livestock will allow for more efficient forage use while also helping to prevent soil erosion due to overgrazing.

sity of Kentucky College of Agriculture. Damage depends on the number of grubs and how long they remain in the animal. Milk production decreases of 10 to 15 percent and beef gain reductions of one-tenth to one-fourth pound per day as a result of grub-infestation have been reported.

Grub infestations may lower the value of beef cattle. Cattle being finished for slaughter are discounted routinely at the market if they are grub-infested because slaughter plants must trim affected meat. The value of hides is lowered also.

The recommended treatment period is from August to the end of October. If grub control is attempted later than that, some damage already will have occurred and dead larvae may cause additional harm to cattle. The life cycle of the cattle grub makes early treatment necessary. Adult grubs lay eggs on the hairs of the animals in the spring. When grub larvae hatch, they bore through the skin, and for the next eight to ten months, migrate through the animal's connective tissue. They move to the guttlet or the spinal column during November and December, and finally settle under the skin of the back in late winter.

Infested cattle should be treated before the grubs move to the guttlet or the spinal column. Killing large numbers of grub larvae in the guttlet or spinal column areas may cause bloat or partial paralysis because of the animal's reaction to the dead insects.

Treatment consists of applying or feeding a systemic insecticide to beef herds, and in dairy herds, to dry cows and young stock not being milked. Lactating dairy cows cannot be treated. Four-on, spot-on or spray insecticides penetrate the animal's hide, and feed-through products penetrate the gut wall. The insecticide enters the blood stream and kills the larvae throughout the animal's body.

With the pour-on method, the farmer estimates the animal's weight, measures the insecticide accordingly, and pours it along the animal's back. Instructions and a dipper are included with the product.

The spot-on is similar, except that a highly concentrated product is applied in only one spot on the animal.

Spray treatment requires a high pressure sprayer, with 250 to 400 pounds of pressure per square inch. The insecticide must be forced through the hair so it can be absorbed through the skin.

Feed-through insecticide is given in mineral block or mixture, although it may not be widely available because its active ingredient is no longer being made. Cattle should be fed the insecticide continuously for 14 days to insure grub control.

More information on cattle grub control and recommended insecticides can be obtained at your County Extension Office.

Believing all three escapees had been traveling together prior to Wingate's arrest, State Police, the Rockcastle County Sheriff's Department and Mt. Vernon Police Department launched an extensive search of the area but found no new leads, the dispatcher said.

Wingate's arrest came shortly after police received information on the escapees' whereabouts and were enroute to that location. Silvers pulled over a suspect vehicle driven by Robert Hopkins of Mt. Vernon and found Wingate in the back seat, the dispatcher said.

Wingate was charged with second-degree escape and lodged in Rockcastle County Jail. Hopkins was charged with hindering apprehension and also lodged in jail.

Wingate had been lodged in Pulaski County Jail on a charge of first-degree robbery prior to his Sept. 3 escape.

Still at large from that same escape are David Wise, 24, of Irvine, and John Drury, 23, of Brodhead, both charged with second-degree burglary and second-degree persistent felon.

All three men were state prisoners awaiting transfer to a state penitentiary when they fled from the Pulaski County Jail's outdoor recreation area.

A deputy jailer supervising recreational activities saw them scale the 12-foot chain link fence topped with razor wire and noted the direction of their travel.

Defensive lineman Mark McClure has the Berea runner in his grasp during Friday night's game at Berea. The Rockets were unable to contain the Pirates much however as they lost, 32-0. Also in the photo are: safety Troy Taylor, No. 2; defensive end Michael Whitehead, No. 74; linebacker Charlie Bullen and, behind him, defensive tackle, Doug Cox. The Rockets are scheduled to play Lynn Camp.

Rockets lose to Pirates 32-0

By: Richard Anderkin

A humiliating loss 32-0 at the hands of the Berea Pirates. A loss is not so bad when a team tries, but it was at least the opinion of this fan that most of the Rockets did not put forth a concerted effort.

Berea, although a fair team in their own right, was not a 32-point better team than the Rockets. Nevertheless, the Rockets dropped their third game in a row Friday night.

But if you had checked the line scores, you wouldn't know that Rockcastle should have at least given the Pirates a game. However, that wasn't the way it happened. The Pirates got off to a very early lead when junior tailback Pat Giacotto took the ball 42 yards on the second play of the game for a touchdown.

It would be the first of five touchdowns of the night for the Berea tailback.

The Rockets held Berea on their next possession and forced them to punt. The Pirate punt traveled 7 yards and gave the Rockets excellent field position.

With a third and four on their own 5-yard line, Rockcastle tried a questionable pass play which was incomplete. The next play, which was short of the first down, gave the Pirates the ball on the 1-yard line.

Besides that three of the Rockets would come close to scoring only one more time.

Berea took the ball from the 1-yard line and proceeded to score, taking a 12-0 lead in the dressing room at halftime.

One bright spot for the Rockets was freshman punter Adam Coleman. Coleman punted his first two attempts for nearly a 35-yard average. But his next two attempts did not travel quite as far. As a matter of fact, he never even got the punts off. A mix-up between Coleman and the Rockets center allowed Berea two excellent field positions after the fumbles.

The last fumble set up Berea's fourth score of the game (Cont. to A9)

IS YOUR CHAIN SAW SPENDING TOO MUCH TIME ON THE BENCH?

Every chain saw starts out being dependable. But after awhile, the engineering flaws and the manufacturing defects begin to show up. Unless you bought a Shindaiwa.

While some manufacturers are still using poor Shindaiwa saws with low maintenance electronic ignitions, all Shindaiwa saws have proven chrome cylinders with a life expectancy of up to 1,000 hours. A big improvement over what you can expect from saws made by at least mass merchant.

Needless to say, Shindaiwa saws are built for continuous, heavy duty use. And they're sold only by dealers who can back them with full service. In fact, Shindaiwa's mass merchandisers can sell you other makes, but they're in no position to fix them. Or answer your questions, or provide you with a demonstration, or give you an opinion you can rely on.

Consult your dependable Shindaiwa family, and get a chain saw you don't have to be a mechanic to own.

UK gridders not ready; Hanson first Sutton recruit Right between the ears. That's where Bowling Green hit UK last Saturday.

Inexplicably, the Wildcats were not ready to play a football game on their first Saturday in September. The team was flat, the crowd of 57,600 was flat, everyone collectively waiting for something to happen.

And something did. Bowling Green's Heisman Trophy candidate Brian McClure marched his team to a winning touchdown against a UK pass defense that turned to putty in the final 2:41 of the game.

When Bowling Green's 30-26 surprise win in the books, UK coach Jerry Claiborne sat perplexed, shocked, and rubbed the back of his neck. In nearly four decades of coaching the man has seen much, but this Saturday appeared to baffie even Claiborne. "We never got cranked up with any emotion," he said softly. "Never got the adrenaline going."

late in the third quarter.

Berea's kicking game left a lot to be desired, with only one punt for 7 yards, and the only extra point attempt they tried missed miserably.

But when you don't have to punt but once and you score five touchdowns, it really doesn't make that much difference.

Quarterback Chris Larkey demonstrated once again that with age he will be a fine passer. The Rockets' only threat of the second-half came when they took the ball on their first possession and got to the Pirates' 5-yard line. Larkey completed four passes in the drive, but threw the final interception that ended the series.

The Rockets pay wireless Lynn Camp Friday night at home in hopes of picking up their second win.

Our players on the field weren't excited. (The players on the sidelines weren't excited. Nobody really got excited about the situation."

How could a college football team with hopes for another winning season, a third consecutive bowl bid and playing its opener at home against a team with a Heisman Trophy candidate, not be excited?

Claiborne starred red eyed. "I just didn't have them ready to play," he said, characteristically shouldering the blame. "I did a poor job of preparing them for the game."

But it was more than that. UK's real problem was between its collective ears. The Wildcats were not excited about Bowling Green. Nor did they seem to be synchronized in rhythm.

ran second; while Mike Bullock, Dwight Chitwood and Wayne Todd rounded off the top five finishers.

The Mini-Modified class fastest time, Trophy Dash and Feature were captured by Wayne Hager of Nicholasville; Ron Decker, Somerset, was second; third, Mike Thomas, Midway; fourth, Keith Decker, Eubank; and fifth, Glen Johnson, Frankfort.

In the Bomber division, Tracy Bell of Monticello won the Trophy Dash with Joe Lovins, Mt. Vernon, winning the Heat Race. The top five finishers in the Feature were: Tracy Bell; Wendell Hunter, Williamsburg; Jack Navarro, Mt. Vernon; Jackie Carrier, Science Hill; and Stanley Mullins, Mt. Vernon.

As a special added feature, a Powder Puff race was run for the ladies with Donna Figg of Mt. Vernon claiming the victory.

Next Friday night, "The Rock" will feature double points races for the three divisions, trophy presentations for the top five in each class and a Powder Puff race.

Kentucky's defense was poor, its kick coverage awful, and the offense was spotty, not together.

Without naming him, Claiborne jabbed at junior quarterback Bill Ransdell.

"Offensively, I felt like there were times when we had some people open and didn't get the ball to them," he said. "Another time our quarterback took the snap and went the wrong way. We did things like that and it hurt us."

Ransdell's numbers were impressive enough. 15 of 34 passing for 304 yards and a touchdown, but they were lost in the shuffle too.

There were other factors as well that turned UK's stony Saturday into a melancholy sunset.

Bowling Green was no season opening party and never showed a sign of surrendering. It seemed to puzzle and frustrate Claiborne's team when the Falcons did not follow the script, particularly after falling behind 17-7 at halftime.

UK had no leadership. It was a team that sorely missed Paul Calhoun and Cam Jacobs on defense and George Adams on offense. And not just their all-star performance, but the emotion each pumped into the team with a clutch play here and there last season.

And, Bowling Green's offensive front had little trouble thwarting UK's pass rush. It was non-existent in the second half.

Overall, UK was listless, leaderless, out of rhythm.

"Nobody got excited," Claiborne said again. "Nobody except Bowling Green."

"We didn't play well in any phase of the game," he added. "Our running game, we never did get any consistency out of it and we never really blew anybody off the line of scrimmage. We just were never aggressive."

Ransdell: "It just didn't seem like everybody was into the game. I don't think we took 'em for granted, anything like that. After- all, they have a Heisman candidate on the team. I don't know what it was."

"We've got Tulane coming up here next week and this is going to give them a boost, get them thinking they can beat us," Ransdell added. "But there's no excuse. We're just going to have to re-evaluate ourselves."

Bright spot

Joe Worley's school record four field goals was one bright spot, but walk-on punter Jay Tesar from North Hardin High School in Radcliff jogged onto the field four times Saturday and punted 46, 47, 45 and 48 yards.

"On that first kick I didn't know what I'd be like, didn't know what I'd feel like," the kid said. "I wasn't nervous before the kick, I was nervous after the kick. I didn't expect that. But I felt confident after the first one."

Tesar earned himself a place on the squad. More than that he had earned respect and perhaps even an early chance to become "one of the boys." A good feeling.

"Yes, I feel good, really good," he said smiling.

Pressure? Tesar admitted he likes it, perhaps thrives on it. "I prefer kicking in games, because you get one shot," he said smiling.

So, does the kid get a scholarship? Claiborne, almost grinning. "Well, Tesar did an excellent job today all right. But this was just one game. We'll have to wait and see how things go."

Tidbits

This week Reggie Hanson, a 6-7 forward from Pulaski County High, will become the first basketball player to become coach Eddie Sutton's first recruit at Kentucky. Hanson, who was a member of the Kentucky junior team that toured Europe this summer, is among the top five high school prospects in the state.

According to one talent scout, "Reggie's level of improvement from the start of his junior year was probably second only to Rex Chapman. He has the tools to be a good one."

Comments: Good move. Sutton's first recruit being a Kentuckian.

Shawn Pennington a football/basketball standout at Clay County High School was a guest at the University of Kentucky for the Bowling Green game. Pennington, who led the basketball Tigers to the Sweet 16 last spring, was visiting UK as a football prospect. He is a quarterback.

Word is that the University of Louisville is interested in Pennington as a basketball prospect.

RAW MILK MAY HAVE DANGEROUS BACTERIA

Consumers have expressed considerable concern about reports of dangerous bacteria found in milk and cheese which caused food poisoning outbreaks in other states.

Fortunately, this type of occurrence should not be expected in Kentucky because of the excellent regulation of the milk control branch of the Department of Health Services.

The outbreaks in Chicago and California were caused by mixing raw and pasteurized milk before packaging or cheese making, most authorities believe. Sales of raw milk for human consumption is not permitted in Kentucky, which effectively prevents probable outbreaks in groceries or restaurants in this state.

However, those people who prefer to drink milk from their own cows or goats instead of buying it at the store should be aware that pasteurized milk possibly could carry the bacteria which caused the outbreaks. Dr. Joe O'Leary, associate professor of animal sciences at UK's College of Agriculture, said those people should pasteurize their milk before drinking it. Pasteurization will kill the Salmonella and Listeria monocytogenes bacteria which resulted in the food poisonings in the other states.

Special pasteurizing equipment can be purchased, but ordinary kitchen utensils will work. For home pasteurization, start with clean, fresh milk that has been properly stored below 40 degrees. Place the milk in a double boiler and, using an accurate dairy thermometer, heat the milk with constant stirring to 165 degrees for 15 seconds.

The double boiler pot with the milk can then be placed in ice water until the milk has cooled to below 40 degrees.

A double boiler can be improvised using a small pot nested in a larger one. But if you plan to pasteurize milk at home regularly, it will be worthwhile buying one.

Proper handling of equipment and containers is essential to prevent recontamination of pasteurized milk. Wash all equipment such as thermometers, double boilers, jars and containers that come in contact with raw milk with hot soapy water and rinse well.

Since milk is a very perishable food, proper refrigeration at 32 to 38 degrees is essential.

Why Religious Division?

Have you ever wondered why our world is divided religiously into over 1200 denominations? Did you ever stop and try to determine the one basic cause of this division?

Religious division was born of, and is promoted by, rebellion against God's law; by man's desire to have his own way instead of God's. Men exalt their uninspired opinions against divine law by formulating them into doctrinal systems and making their acceptance a condition of entrance into their denominations. The basic cause of all religious division is not man's ability to understand what the Bible teaches, but his unwillingness to abide by what he understands it to teach (Eph. 3:4). One illustration of this should convince the honest-hearted of its truthfulness.

The action of baptism: twice Paul says baptism is a burial (Rom. 6:4; Col. 2:12). There has never been any meaningful understanding of the word "burial," and the leading scholars of all denominations admit that immersion or burial was the action of baptism in apostolic days. But while admitting this, they contend that sprinkling and pouring are just as acceptable to God. Did they read this in the Bible? NO! At no time in the Bible was water only sprinkled or poured upon any person for salvation. So we can easily see that we are all agreed upon what the Bible says about the action of baptism. Division comes when men try to bind something upon us which even they admit cannot be found in the Bible.

When all people become satisfied to do what the Bible authorizes—nothing more, nothing less, and nothing else—then, and only then, will religious unity prevail. We are commanded to "speak as the oracles of God" (I Pet. 4:11), and "speak the same thing" (I Cor. 1:10). We are forbidden to go beyond the doctrine of Christ" (2 John 9:11), or add to or take from that which is written (Rev. 22:18-19). When ever all religious people decide to obey these passages, we will have religious unity. Disobedience of them is the one basic source of religious division. Please read Eph. 4:1-6 and John 12:48.

Our plea at the Providence church of Christ is, "Let us speak where the Bible speaks, and be silent where the Bible is silent." Will you accept that plea and stand on it?
