High blood pressure and diabetes programs

Are you a person who has high blood pressure or diabetes who would like to better care for yourself? Both of these conditions with their complications may cause disabilities if not treated properly.

The goal of the hypertension program is to reduce premature death and disability attributed to hypertension. Heart disease remains the leading cause of death for men after age 40; is the greatest cause of disability claims among workers under 65; and is responsible for more days of hospitalization than any other single disorder. Strokes, the third leading cause of death in Kentucky, accounts for about 8 percent of the total mortality; is responsible for approximately 10 percent of nursing home admissions in people under 65, and leaves a trail of disability due to paralysis, speech difficulty and memory loss.

Since the initiation of the hypertension control program in Kentucky in the late 70's, the number of people who have hypertension but are unaware of their condition has decreased dramatically. Blood pressure screening is widely available and accessible to the people. However, national studies indicate that only 60 percent of the hypertensive population currently adheres to their prescribed treatment. The Kentucky Hypertension Control Program has therefore shifted its emphasis from detection to monitoring and patient education for diagnosed and suspected hypertensives to assist them in achieving and maintaining controlled blood pressure.

The diabetes control program's aim is to improve the diabetic's ability to provide self care. We do group and individualized counseling.

If you would like group counseling on how to live with your condition, contact the Rockcastle County Health Center, phone 256-2242, 256-4916 or 256-5717.

$52.6 million more added for Big South Fork area

An additional $52.6 million has been added to an existing $103 million appropriation by Congress to develop the Big South Fork National Recreation and Recreation Area in McCreary County and part of Tennessee.

The money for the 123,000-acre recreation area was part of a $20 billion Water Resources Act. It ends a nine-year halt on new Army Corps of Engineers water projects. Fifth District Rep. Harold Rogers, who voted for the measure, called the funding "great news for Kentucky and Tennessee." All Kentucky representatives voted for the measure except Carroll Hubbard and Larry Hopkins.

One of the reasons for reconstructing of 461, and a possible Somerset bypass to the east of the city as some future date, has been reported to be the Big South Fork development that is expected to bring thousands of tourists into the area.

Called the "Yellowstone of the East," a third of the area is in McCreary County and the remaining in Tennessee.

By raising the current $103 million allocation, we will now be able to work toward getting the funds needed to build lodges at Bear Creek in McCreary County and Rugby, Tenn., access roads, an amphitheater, ranger stations and improved campsites," Rogers reported. "By making these improvements, we can increase tourism in the area to an estimated 400,000 visitors a year and growth up to 20 percent."

"This will mean millions of additional dollars for the local economy and hundreds of new jobs throughout the area," he added.

"The communities around the Big South Fork are battling unemployment and underdevelopment," Rogers continued. "But they are determined to harness this immense tourist potential. Local chambers of commerce, businesses and communities are already at work to turn this promise into reality. I will continue to push for these funds so that these dreams can be realized."

Illegal digging in National Forest could get you into a "heap" of trouble

If you plan to dig for Indian artifacts in the Daniel Boone National Forest, you could be in for a "heap" of trouble.

That possibility surfaced recently when a family hiking in the forest found an Indian burial site and uncovered a bone believed to be 2000 years old and took it home for examination.

But the "casual exploration" more often destroys history rather than uncovering it, officials said.

David Pollack, archaeological coordinator for the Kentucky Heritage Council, said it is a destructive act to dig without professional training, and added that a large number of sites have been destroyed by persons who find something and get overzealous.

Federal law provides for penalties for unauthorized digging on government-owned land, and the law is aimed at persons who dig with the intention of selling historic remains for profit, according to Gary Knudsen, archaeologist for the national forest.

A person convicted of violating the Archaeological Resources Protection Act of 1979 for the first time can be sentenced to a year in prison and fined $10,000.

"We have people digging in the forest every day that are not authorized to do so," Knudsen said.

Pollack said private landowners are having an even harder time preventing unauthorized digging because of the interest in historical remains. He said farmers are in a constant battle to keep people off their land.

Why wait until Spring to plant trees?

Many people who would like to plant trees do not realize you can plant in the fall as well as the spring. For many people it may be inconvenient to plant trees in the spring, when other outdoor activities may be more pressing. A big advantage to planting trees in the fall is that other outdoor work usually is not as pressing.

The fall planting season is from mid-November to mid-December, and is an excellent time for tree planting. Where the planting site has a ground cover of mulch or grass, seedlings planted in fall may survive better than a spring planting. During the spring, a long dry spell can occur just after the planting and can result in poor survival. With a fall planting, seedlings will continue to grow new feeder roots when ever the ground is thawed. These tiny, hair-size roots in contact with soil give the seedlings better survivability through any dry periods the following spring.

Like any other crop, however, it takes time and proper management to grow trees. Once established, the trees should be properly cared for by doing necessary, cultural work, and protecting the trees from weed competition, damage from mowing equipment, insects, diseases, livestock grazing and wildlife.

Technical advice is available, free of charge with no obligations from the Kentucky Division of Forestry's professionally trained foresters. Financial assistance is also available for tree planting through programs administered by the USDA's agricultural conservation and Conservation Service.

The Division of Forestry operates seedling nurseries near the Kentucky Dam in Marshall County, and near West Liberty in Morgan County. The seedlings are available at reasonable cost, and are shipped each fall and spring. This year the nurseries are producing five species of pine, 11 hardwood species, and three species for wildlife plantings.

Anyone interested in tree planting and other forestry programs should contact Steve Bullen, Forest Ranger for Rockcastle County, phone 256-2957 or 256-5794, or contact the Rockcastle County ASCS office, phone 256-2525.

Fairview

By: Mrs. Hubert Chasteen

Sunday School attendance at the Fairview Baptist Church Nov. 17 was 124 with several more for worship service. It's so good to be able to go to church and Sunday School. Thank God for each and everyone who attends at our church and all other churches. It's a great blessing.

Sympathy is extended to all those who have lost loved ones recently, including the families of Mrs. Nancy Mullins of Orlando and John Lair of Renfro Valley. Our prayers are that God will bless and comfort them in their sorrow. Mrs. Gustava Peters, who has been ill for some time, remains about the same.

Mrs. Georgia Blair has returned home from a week's stay in the hospital.

Mrs. Anne Linville is also on the sick list. They all need the prayers of all you good Christian people. You know we all need to pray for the sick. Also we need to pray for each other.

Henry Ramey of Benson, Ill. recently spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Willie Cope.

Elwood Treon visited his mother, Mrs. Mona Treon on Sunday afternoon.

Visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Seals, Point Lick (Indian Hills), were Mrs. Hubert Chasteen, Mrs. Darlene Church and daughters, Tammy and Tonya, on Friday night.

Mrs. Helen Powell of Indian Hills visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willie Cope, Thursday night.

Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Rose of Fairmount, Ga. on Thursday, Nov. 7, were his sister, Mrs. Buddy Gabbard, Mr. Gabbard, and their daughter, Gail Lee. On their way home they spent the night in Cleveland, Tenn and came home on Friday.

Joyce and Kim Seals visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Chasteen, on Sunday evening.

I certainly enjoyed the nice phone call Sunday night from my sister-in-law, Berdine Roppert, of Paxton, Ill. They are well and have gotten moved and settled in their new home. They miss Everett so much, bless his heart, he was a wonderful man, loved by all who knew him. We, his sisters and brothers, miss him, too. But it makes Heaven a little dearer knowing he is there waiting for us.

Well, my news is short this time as many of us stay home a lot and others are working and stripping tobacco. But maybe next time.

So until then, take care, attend church every time you can, love the Lord and your fellow man. God bless you.

"4-H NEWS" (Cont. from B-8)

Lexington to see the UK Wildcats perform in a "Blue-White ballgame." Both Cindy Witt and Shana Donovan will be preparing their senior project records to compete in state competition in January.

Ninety Rockcastle County 4-H'ers, parents, and leaders traveled to Lexington recently to see the U.K. Wildcats in a Blue/White exhibition game. Those participating in this area recognition trip were county award of excellence champions, county project book champions, or were area community pride champions. (Three of our 4-H Clubs were able to go because they were area community pride champions.)

The following excerpts were taken from stories, the 4-H'ers wrote about their trip:

"I think it was fun to go to the game. It was the first time I ever been to Lexington. I thought Rupp Arena was a big place. I had my first ride on an escalator." Timothy Cameron

"The thing I liked most of all was the cheerleaders." Ruby Begley

"It was interesting when we got to Lexington. It was so beautiful to look at the building and waterfalls." Shane

"I was really excited about the game. I waited impatiently for the bus to pick us up. Finally it came. I raced to the back of the bus and prepared for the long ride." Anita Durham

"I liked where Kenny Walker did three dunks." Robert Lawson

"I had a great time, although I was pretty scared of those moving steps." Ann Bond

"During the bus ride, you could hear the excited voices of the children talking merrily to their friends. When we arrived, everyone hopped off the bus, with a chill running down their spine, not just because of the cool weather, but because of the excitement that filled their hearts." Jennifer Clark

"It was a long ways down from where we were sitting." Byron Cole

"We cheered and ate and cheered and ate till we were full from eating." Angela Stallworth

"It was beautiful inside the arena. The air balloons were very pretty that they had hanging down from the ceiling.

"I got to see my favorite basketball player, Kenny Walker. It was fun watching Leroy Boyd out there playing ball. He was so short compared to the other ball players.

"Those who didn't get to go missed a lot, but work hard to go next year." Kim Kirby

"We stopped at McDonalds on the way. I got a Fast Mac-it's yellow with Ronald McDonald on it." Cheryl Clark

"I had a fantastic time at the Blue/White scrimmage game. We had a good view and all my friends were there." Janet Ducham

A new Brodhead Post Office is nearing completion and is expected to be open in February. The new post office is located on U.S. 150 near the Brodhead Christian Church.

Brodhead Post Office nearing completion

By: Ray McClure

Just when the new Brodhead Post Office is about to be completed, Postmaster Frank Johnson "ups" and transfers.

Johnson, who has been postmaster at Brodhead for the past six years (in February) is going to the post office in Jackson, Breathitt County.

"I've enjoyed my stay in Brodhead," he said Tuesday. "I'm also glad of the opportunity to move up in the postal family."

He will be replaced temporarily by Ben Culbertson of Lexington. A permanent postmaster will be named at a later date. It could be Culbertson.

Johnson leaves behind a new $160,000 postal facility containing 2,100 square feet and in a single building on West U. S. 150 opposite the Brodhead Christian Church. It is expected to be completed in February. The contract date is Feb. 10.

The new brick facility is the first postal department constructed and owned facility in the Lexington Management Sectional Center. All the 220 post offices in the Lexington District are either leased or owned by the General Services Administration. General contractor is C. R. Crume Associates of Bardston.

The new facility will replace the cramped post office in a downtown building where there is only on street parking. There will be considerably more parking at the new post office. It will have loading docks, handicap access ramps, 400 new boxes—some larger than others—and will more than double the present 1,000 square-foot working space.

Johnson reported the Brodhead Post Office serves about 1,100 families and an estimated 2,500 to 2,800 persons.

"Everything is new," Johnson said. "I believe the people of Brodhead will be pleased with the new facility."

Heating bill help sign-up underway

A total of 487 applications were taken from Rockcastle residents seeking help for winter heating bills under the Home Energy Assistance Program during the first three days of sign-ups at the Rockcastle office.

A long line of residents greeted employees Monday at the office on the first day of sign-ups for low income families. A total of 397 signed up on the first day, 88 on the second day and only two as of 10 a.m. Wednesday.

Applications are taken through December or until the $7.5 million allocated by the Cabinet for Human Resources is spent, which includes $1.3 million that wasn't used by low income elderly and disabled in the first part of the program in October.

At that time, 530 elderly and disabled in Rockcastle sought help to pay heating bills.

Mrs. Robinson said she believed the future for burley tobacco growers has suddenly brightened, with new federal legislation clearing the way for a promising market season for the 1985 crop.

Burley sales outlook brightens for farmers as market opens Monday

By: Ben nett Roach

After many months of uncertainty the future for burley tobacco growers has suddenly brightened, with new federal legislation clearing the way for a promising market season for the 1985 crop.

Although the plan calls for a sharp price reduction, it provides hope for making U.S. burley competitive with foreign-grown leaf, and offers the probability of slowing, or even halting, the massive buildup in pooled leaf stocks.

The new legislation sets the average support price at $148.8 per hundred-weight, and the farmers' no-net-cost contribution at 4 cents per pound, compared with last year's $175.1 support and 9 cents per pound takeout for the no-net-cost fund.

Opening date for the markets was quickly moved up to Nov. 25, after Congress sprang a surprise on Nov. 14 by enacting the stoppag measure. It was signed into law by the president. Sales will be held Nov. 25 through 27 during Thanksgiving week, then on Mondays through Thursdays, with a two-week Christmas shut down after the close of auctions on Dec. 19.

The price and other provisions of the bill apply only to the 1985 crop. The action was taken as an emergency measure for one year only, and has no connection with the pending 1985 Burley Reform Act in the U.S. Senate.

Due to early stripping this year's deliveries to market have been unusually heavy, and many warehouses were filled for the opening. It is estimated that most of the crop will be sold before Christmas.

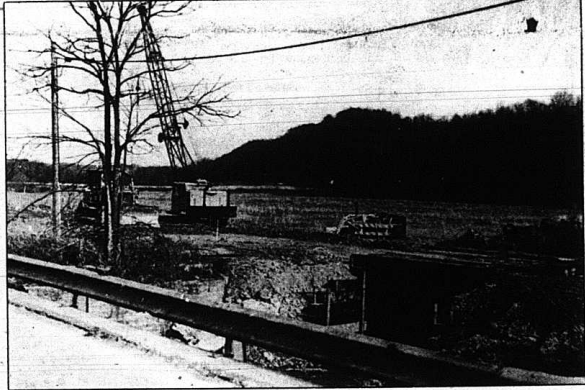

million pounds.

The Burley Tobacco Growers Cooperative Association has 376 million pounds of pooled tobacco under loan from the 1982, '83 and '84 crops. Sales of this stored tobacco have been extremely slow. Alvin R. Beckley, executive secretary-treasurer, reports that only 4.7 million pounds has been sold since January 1, 1985, nearly 4 million of it from the 1982 crop, and the remainder about equally from the '83 and '84 crops.

Work on a detour around a bridge on U.S. 150 at the Ky. 70 intersection is being constructed by Rankin and Gaffney Contracting of Lancaster. The old bridge and another a half-mile west will be replaced in the present locations. Cost of the project is $690,953, according to a state report.

Now we know his first name

Ronald Johnson elected new city councilman

By: Ray McClure

Election night, someone teased: "Will the real Johnson please stand up!"

"There are four write-in votes for Johnson for Livingston city councilman," election commissioner Clyde Barnett told a packed courtroom, "but we don't have a first name."

Johnson now has a name. He is Ronald E. Johnson, 28, married with two stepsons, Jason and Greg, and he lives in probably the most visible house in Livingston. Just look north across the new bridge. His light green house is on the hill overlooking the downtown area.

The absence of a first name on election night was only on the sheet compiling the outcome of Livingston precinct votes. Johnson's full name appeared on the voting machine form.

"I know because I wrote in his full name," said Mayor Billy Medley. "He's a nice fellow and seems interested in the area. We need people on the council who are interested. Of course I'm pleased with the outcome of the election."

The other three votes, Johnson said, were his own vote, his wife's vote and... "I think: Faye Baker."

Livingston had four council seats up for election, but only three candidates. Johnson's four write-in votes are enough to win. He joins Earl Baker, John Phelps and Todd Mink on the next council.

Johnson had every intention of being a candidate, but waited too long and until after the filing deadline before asking for a petition. "I told him I was sorry, but it was too late, and the only thing he could do would be to write in his name," Bales said.

A native of Cincinnati, Ohio, Johnson is the son of Bert Johnson. His grandfather, recently deceased, was Gillis Johnson. He is a machinist foreman in the Switching and Breaker Division of Westinghouse Electric Corp. in London.

"We came down here often over the years to be with my grandfather," Johnson recalled. "Then in 1983 the house burned and my grandfather came to Ohio to live with us. Later, we came down and rebuilt the house. I gave up my machinist job with W. H. Simmons Co. in Cincinnati to move here."

Johnson has been attending council meetings off and on, so he is familiar with Livingston business and problems.

"We need parks, a recreation area, more employment, more housing and I will do my best, as will other councilmen and the mayor, to get something started and to move us ahead," he said.

A registered Republican and a member of the First Church of God in Cincinnati, Johnson is also interested in sports and youth organizations, one of which he helped start in Livingston. The two boys were on the Little League Wildcats in Mt. Vernon this summer. He helped last year with the Livingston Blue Jays, a baseball team for fourth to sixth graders.

Johnson said he likes to hunt, fish, hike and cut wood to stay in shape. He hopes eventually to subdivide the 77 acres that surrounds his house.

"My wife, Dimple, and I like this area," he revealed. "That's why we moved here. We look forward to being a part of the city."

Mayor Medley is pleased with the new councilman.

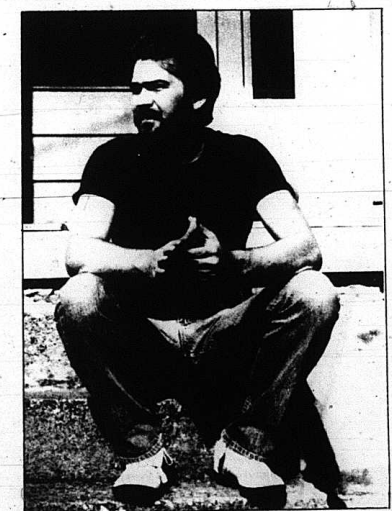

"He seems energetic and has attended our meetings occasionally and seems to like the area," the mayor stated.

There will be many decisions facing the council and mayor in the days ahead.

A major one is water. The city has applied for a $750,000 grant to pay off the present water system and expand it.

The $1.5 million project would expand the system to take in Red Hill and Three Links. Currently with 132 water customers, the new facility would pick up an additional 250.

"We have hopes to get the money for the system. Ours is getting old," the mayor said.

The Week That Was

38 Years Ago (1947)

Twelve essays were submitted in the Soil Conservation Essay Contest in the Broadhead Soil Conservation District. The contest was sponsored by the Courier-Journal. The Louisville Times, W.H.A.S. and the Broadhead Soil Conservation District supervisors.

Billy Mullins, Mt. Vernon High School, won first place and a $25 savings bond. Second place was won by Dorothy Thompson of Ottawa School, and third went to Doris Jean Albright of Broadhead High School. The $5 prize for the best essay from the grades also went to Dorothy Thompson.

The following officers from the Mt. Vernon Chapter of Future Farmers of America attended the annual Somerset Leadership Training Conference: Paul Shelton, Stephen Bullen, Wesley Lambert. All from members of about 20 chapters attended.

The officers were given individual training in their particular job.

During the conference district officers were elected and Paul Shelton of Wildie was elected to the office of district secretary.

20 Years Ago (1965)

Thieves broke into the National Auto Parts Association store on U.S. 150 in Mt. Vernon Thursday night and took four guns before being scared away.

The guns were reportedly scared away by motel owner Ed Winstead, leaving some of the loot behind, including about $125 in tools.

Taken in the break-in were: one 20 gauge shotgun, one 410 gauge shotgun, one 32 rifle, and one 22 rifle.

Entrance was gained to the building by breaking out a front glass door with a tire tool. Blood was found on the glass, apparently made when one of the men cut himself when he broke the glass.

Officers for the coming year have been elected by the Climax 4-H Club. They are: Carolyn Clark, president; Jean Cook, vice president; Barbara Abrams, secretary; Louise Baker and Patricia VanWinkle, reporters; Sharon Clark and Helen Mullins, song leaders; Wonneta Abrams, and Dianne Abrams, pledge leaders.

Elected adult leaders for projects were: Mrs. Faye Baker, sewing; Mrs. Lucy Adams, cooking; Mrs. Clara Mae Hale, dog grooming; and Raymond McGuire, woodwork.

The Mt. Vernon chapter of the Future Homemakers plan to send cookies to men in the Armed Forces this Christmas. They don't have the names of those who are from this area. If you want to give them an address, contact Ann Stewart at 256-2825 or Mrs. Lloyd Cain at 256-2117. The names should be in by Dec. 1. That is a patriotic project and the service men will appreciate it.

From Paul and Ruth Holiday. It seems that I was wrong about the number of people in the county who are raising sheep at this time.

The Holidays, who live in Rockcastle Co. on Hwy. 150 near the Lincoln Co. line, have a small flock of sheep. 25 to be exact. Mr. Holiday says his sheep, a mixed breed of Barbidoes, aren't much, but that his dogs are.

The biggest problem for sheep farmers is stray dogs killing their animals. Mr. Holiday doesn't have that problem. The Holidays have several dogs that protect their sheep from other dogs.

They take pride in their dogs, one of which Mr. Holiday brought from France a few years back when he and his wife were visiting. The Holidays have three different types of sheep dogs—Anatolian Shepherd, Combedore, and Beauceron. The Beauceron is used in France in the military and also for police work.

The Anatolian Shepherd originated in Turkey and is still being used as a shepherd's front-line defense of his flock from predators. There are only a few Anatolians in this part of the west here.

The Holidays say they have never had any problems with other animals bothering their sheep. They also have seven goats that are protected by the dogs.

Some of the Holidays' dogs have "big ears" and are experts "pups anytime".

Mr. Holiday says most of his pups will bring over $500 when they are sold. While he admits the price seems rather high, he explains it's not a wild pack of dogs can do to a flock of sheep, and he insists that his dogs can prevent that.

Had a nice visit last week from Paul and Ruth Holiday. It seems that I was wrong about the number of people in the county who are raising sheep at this time.

The Holidays, who live in Rockcastle Co. on Hwy. 150 near the Lincoln Co. line, have a small flock of sheep. 25 to be exact. Mr. Holiday says his sheep, a mixed breed of Barbidoes, aren't much, but that his dogs are.

The biggest problem for sheep farmers is stray dogs killing their animals. Mr. Holiday doesn't have that problem. The Holidays have several dogs that protect their sheep from other dogs.

They take pride in their dogs, one of which Mr. Holiday brought from France a few years back when he and his wife were visiting. The Holidays have three different types of sheep dogs—Anatolian Shepherd, Combedore, and Beauceron. The Beauceron is used in France in the military and also for police work.

The Anatolian Shepherd originated in Turkey and is still being used as a shepherd's front-line defense of his flock from predators. There are only a few Anatolians in this part of the west here.

The Holidays say they have never had any problems with other animals bothering their sheep. They also have seven goats that are protected by the dogs.

Some of the Holidays' dogs have "big ears" and are experts "pups anytime".

Mr. Holiday says most of his pups will bring over $500 when they are sold. While he admits the price seems rather high, he explains it's not a wild pack of dogs can do to a flock of sheep, and he insists that his dogs can prevent that.

LAST WEEK'S MYSTERY CITIZEN was Janet Owens. Janet and her husband, Junior, own and operate Trylumber Co. in Mt. Vernon. The fifth caller was Mrs. Anna Rose Mullins of Mt. Vernon. Mrs. Mullins correctly identified Mrs. Owens on Friday morning. Several other people had the correct answer, but they were either too early or too late. Mrs. Mullins will receive $10 in groceries from King's Fish-Pac. Next month's mystery citizen will be a man.

TALKED TO DON WALKER, who along with his wife, Jean, own and operate Jean's Restaurant.

Don told me about Bill Parks, a friend of his who spends much of his time in Alaska. Well, I got a chance to talk to Bill and his wife, Dorothy. The Parks had nothing but praise for Alaska. Both Bill and his wife have spent the better part of 30 years there. Their families still live and work there.

Bill was raised on Trace Branch here in the county, but left for higher plains when he was in his teens. He and his wife decided to try to retire in the county, but so far they haven't had much luck. It seems that while Bill and Dorothy were in Alaska this summer, rogues kept breaking into their house on Cove Branch. The house is located near Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mason.

Bill came back last Wednesday to try to get his house back in order again. He worked on it Wednesday and Thursday, but had to return to Indiana where his wife is. Evidently, someone didn't want Bill to fix his house back, so they burned it to the ground.

By the time the Masons noticed the blaze, it was too late to do anything about it.

The Masons to say, Bill and Dorothy are disgruntled about the whole situation. Bill wanted to have a place in Rockcastle where he could retire. But now, Dorothy talks as if she doesn't want any part of living in the county, and who would blame her?

Even with the dark cloud of fire hanging over their heads, the Parks' still enjoyed talking about Alaska.

Bill was a well driller and a bush pilot while he was in Alaska. He says it is the place for elderly people to live. If you live in Alaska and you're 65 or over, the state will give you $250 a month on top of your Social Security or any other benefits you might receive. Dorothy said that senior citizens with a home on five acres of land or less do not pay any property taxes.

Bill says the hunting and fishing is wonderful. He has land in Alaska from where he staked a claim several years ago, and a home there.

Bill and Dorothy spent all summer there with their families. He says his children and grandchildren love it there and can't wait for the snow each year so they can "spin their winter activities."

Bill and Dorothy said they'll be in the summertime. Bill says it gets as high as 80 degrees, and you one day of the year the sun never sets.

"If you've never been and want a nice exciting vacation, Alaska is the place," Bill and Dorothy say. But they much more recommend that you go and live there.

Opening up our tobacco markets

Every fall, thousands of Kentucky burley growers bring their leaf into dozens of warehouses for the annual tobacco auctions. The receipts from the sale of that tobacco pays the farmers' debt, and puts clothes on his back, food on his family's table and Christmas presents under his family's Christmas tree.

But this fall, our tobacco farmers were facing a severe disruption of that time-honored tradition. Because legislation to provide a long-term solution to our tobacco program's problems had reached a logjam in Congress, our growers faced financial uncertainty. The auctions could not commence on time because of fears that most of the tobacco would go into the government pool, swamping the growers with huge no-net-cost fees.

This past week, though, thanks to some fancy footwork, we were able to get both the price support and the no-net-cost fees into our growers reduced. By attaching tobacco provisions doing just that to an emergency dairy bill which needed immediate action, "public intoxication"), $100 and cost, 30 days (suspended); Douglas Bullock, $200 and cost, service fee.

Reckless driving: Edward Lewis Rice (also "improper start from a parked position"), license suspended, bench warrant issued for failure to appear; Steven W. Pheanis, $50 and cost.

Drunk in public place: Frank Mobley (also "driving on public place"), forfeit bond, bench warrant issued.

Improper start: Edward Lewis Rice, $20 and cost.

Attempting to elude officer: Billy E. Barron, 10 days.

Illegal possession of alcoholic beverages for resale: Mattie Jean Newcomb, $75 and cost, 30 days (suspended).

Possession of marijuana: Richard A. Clark, Michael D. VanWinkle, $50 and cost; James Isaacs, $25 and cost; Kenneth Gabbard, $75 and cost.

National Adoption Week

As we approach Thanksgiving Week, our thoughts easily turn to family and the special loving experiences we've had in the past year. We hope to protect and preserve the tobacco program, and to achieve long-term solutions to our problems.

we were able to set the stage for the opening of the burley markets by reducing the amount of tobacco which will likely end in the surplus pool.

In acting on this legislation, we also bought more time for us to work on long-term solutions for the entire tobacco program. Both the House and Senate have passed differing versions of bills which would shore up the program. The two versions will now go to a conference committee, where we can hopefully develop a united approach to ironing out the problems of the huge tobacco surplus and rapidly increasing imports.

Let me be frank with you. I am not entirely happy with this legislation. The tobacco price support is too low. But this legislation was the "only train leaving the station." Had we not acted, the current $1.78 price support would have resulted in huge amounts of tobacco going into the surplus pool and destroying the program. Through this adjustment, we will make our tobacco more competitive, both at home abroad, and we can open up our markets without chaos.

The families who grow tobacco in my district are hard-working people. They have put a year's blood, sweat and tears into their crop. Had Congress not taken quick action, we would be condemning them to a nervous Christmas and the likely demise of the entire tobacco program.

This legislation is only short-term relief. I need to see the conference committee to craft a good solution to our long-term problems. I am hopeful that we can get that legislation through the conference soon.

In the meantime, the price support legislation passed this week gives us some breathing space. And it will mean a brighter holiday season for thousands of farm families throughout Kentucky. I will continue to work here in Washington to protect and preserve the tobacco program, and to achieve long-term solutions to our problems.

In acting on this legislation, we also bought more time for us to work on long-term solutions for the House okays continuing funds

Fifth District Congressman Harold Rogers said House approval this week of legislation which will continue funding for two key development programs is "another important step towards maintaining job growth in the Fifth District."

The House approved legislation, which continues funding for both the Appalachian Regional Commission and the Economic Development Administration. Both programs are important to communities and counties in the Fifth District, who use the fund for such projects as highways, hospitals, water and sewer lines, and other job-creating improvements.

In a speech during debate on the bill, Rogers pointed out that while many areas have seen economic improvement in recent years, there are still pockets of high unemployment and areas which need economic assistance.

"Our people want economic growth, and they want that growth to be in the private sector, not through government handouts," Rogers said. "But they simply don't have the tax base that comes with industrial development. We owe these people this modest helping hand that comes with ARC and EDA programs, so that we continue to create permanent job opportunities in our communities."

Rogers said nearly every city and every county in the Fifth District has used either ARC or EDA funds for public projects, or for job-creation, but that much work remains to be done.

"This legislation can give our people a chance to affect jobs and to better their communities," Rogers said. "I am extremely hopeful that the Senate will also approve it. We need to continue these programs which help every county in my district, and millions of Americans nationwide."

MT. VERNON WOMAN'S CLUB

By: Brenda Lambert

At the Oct. 22 meeting, Mrs. Betty Jo McKinney presented the devotion on carrying out better impulses in autumn—sending a card, giving compliments, etc.

During the business session, Mrs. Judy Stewart Shackelford reported on the District Meeting she attended Oct. 12 in Somerset. She received the score card of points the club could accumulate for certain activities. Volunteerism is a major theme this year; therefore, she asked members to keep a record of the voluntary hours for church, scouts, women's groups, etc. She also expressed the necessity for the club to enter state-sponsored contests. While at the meeting, she met and invited the new state president to speak at the May banquet.

The yearbooks were distributed and the president thanked Mrs. Dorothy Landrum for typing and supervising the completion of the book and Mrs. Brenda Lambert for xeroxing it. She asked Mrs. Lambert to check on the bill for covers.

Also the president noted that the budget was reduced $400 from last year. Mrs. McKinney moved that the budget be accepted; Mrs. Mary Ballinger seconded it and the motion carried.

The group discussed the Nov. 26 meeting and decided to bring dishes from recipes from foreign countries for the International Dinner. Mrs. Bessie St. Claire invited the club to her house on Bethunum Street at 6:30 p.m. next Tuesday.

 Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Taylor's
62 ACRES (more or less)
 Saturday, Nov. 30, 1985 10:30 a.m.

Quail Section of Rockcastle County

LOCATION: Approximately 6 1/2 miles southwest of Brodhead and 8 1/2 miles southeast of Mt. Vernon. Turn off US 150 at Albright's Feed & Supply onto Hwy. 70. Follow 70 to the auction site. Signs are posted.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Taylor have authorized our firm to sell this highly desirable, well-located farm for the absolute high dollar. The Taylor's have farmed for several years but are both doing public work and do not have the time to devote to the farm and therefore have said to sell it to the highest bidder.

The farm contains 62 acres, more or less, with 55 acres of cropland. The basic tobacco allotment is 2658 lbs. This farm has an entrance from Hwy. 70 or from Hwy. 618 and it is truly a farmer's farm. Water is provided by a spring, creek and city water could also be utilized.

It is improved with a good concrete block building that was formerly used as a hog house, completed with slatted floors. In addition, there is also a dandy tobacco barn plus an old house and another barn, both in need of repair.

Auctioneer's Note: If you're in the market for a beautiful farm with privacy and yet easily accessible in one of the county's most desired locations, then be sure to attend this auction. Remember, the last bid will buy.

TERMS: 20% down day of sale, balance in 30 days with delivery of deed.

Ray Reams settles federal tampering suit

Ray Reams, owner of a defunct London automobile auction, has agreed to pay $10,000 in a lawsuit that contends he helped with an odometer tampering scheme, termed "title washing."

The $10,000 will be divided up among purchasers of vehicles that had odometers rolled back. The suit was filed by the state attorney general's office on behalf of Commerce's Consumer Affairs Division.

The suit was filed in September 1983 against Reams and two used car dealers, J. V. Thomas of Tullahoma, Tenn. and Josh Hill Hammond of Summersville, Ga.

Title washing is a dealer's transfer to an out-of-state dealer of titles on autos that have had the odometer rolled back. The out-of-state dealer transfers the auto back to the original dealer with a new title that shows the mileage changes.

Reams denied he was involved in the scheme but agreed to pay the amount.

Hearing on road

A public hearing will be held at 7 p.m. tonight (Thursday) in the Rockcastle County High School cafeteria to get input on a proposed change in "access control" along a section of the newly opened Ky. 461.

The section to be discussed is reportedly only a short dip, and access control was not included in the original highway plans. Any change in announced state highway plans must be preceded by a public hearing.

"Well, C.M. (Newton) likes it. But he smokes a pipe and wears slippers. But I can live with it."

"I believe 13-5 (won-lost record) will win it (the SEC race) outright. The three best teams in the league without a doubt are Auburn, LSU and Kentucky."

*Don DeVoe, coach at Tennessee, on the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) where a score of 700 would be required under Proposition 48. "I think it's amazing how well kids are able to rise to (higher) standards wherever they are set. We and Mississippi might be behind say, Florida and Kentucky, but we would catch up."

*Norm Sloan, coach at Florida, on high school talent in his state. "I think we've gained the confidence of high school coaches in our state now and the big time prospects who used to be told they'd better go out of state if they wanted to be successful, are staying in state now. Florida is one of the states recruiters are looking at more today. We have AAU tournaments, we have (Bill) Cronauer's summer camps and we have excellent high school basketball now."

*Hugh Durham, coach at Georgia, on paying student-athletes a stipend. "You're talking about giving athletes in 10 sports say, $200 a month. Because you're not just talking about stipends for athletes in the revenue sports, you're talking about all of them. For 10 months that would cost the University of Georgia $600,000. We could afford that. But how many other schools could afford it?"

*Eddie Sutton on signing Reggie Hanson. "I like him. I like rabbits, greyhound type players."

Comment: Sutton has signed two of them already, Hanson and Rex Chapman.

If you have a question or comment, write to Bob Watkins, Sports in Kentucky, Rt. 1, Glendale, Ky. 42420.

Some new faces in old places - your local courthouse

By: Richard Anderkin

In January the Rockcastle County Courthouse and the Fiscal Court will take on a new look—not a structural change, but a people change.

The primary and the general election are over, and only two incumbents who ran for re-election have survived—Elmer Hale and James H. Lambert.

Rockcastle's new County Judge/Executive is not new to politics or public office. Hubert Thacker was county judge for eight years before he lost to Frank Deborde four years ago. Deborde then lost to Bob Jasper, the first democrat elected in 50 years.

Thacker is also the only man other than Charles Carter to win his old seat after being out for four years. Thacker also served four years as Fourth District Magistrate before winning the judge's seat.

Carter served as Rockcastle County Judge for five terms, none of which were in succession.

When Thacker, who easily defeated Bob Jasper two weeks ago, takes office, he will be working with a fiscal court made up of five completely new magistrates, three of whom ran for office in May for the very first time.

Hubert Thacker

First District Magistrate Glen Ellison, who handily defeated a large field of republicans in the May Primary, handled his General Election opponent, Tom Wallin, with the same ease. Ellison, who hails from Copper Creek, had never run for political office before his May conquest. He also inherits the seat that was made vacant when the Rockcastle County Fiscal Court redistricted. That seat was held by local barber Donald Rowe. Rowe became a man without a district, and instead of running for the Second District seat, where he is now a resident, he decided to run for County Judge. Needless to say, he was unsuccessful.

Glen Ellison

The new Second District magistrate is Jack Bradley, also a newcomer to politics. Bradley defeated incumbent Tom Denney to capture his seat. Bradley also is a local barber affiliated with Bradley's Barber Shop in Mt. Vernon. Bradley did not have any democratic opposition in November.

Third District Magistrate Doug Bishop is a democrat. He won his seat by defeating Republican J. R. "Boone" Cromer in the General Election. Cromer is a former Second District magistrate. He was also put out of his home turf when the redistricting occurred, but four years ago, he lost to Tom Denney.

Jack Bradley

Doug Bishop

Bishop, who narrowly lost the Third District seat four years ago, benefited from the redistricting. He has West Brodhead and Brown, the two most heavily populated precincts in the county, in his district.

The Fourth District Magistrate, Republican Amos Burdette, is not really a new face on the fiscal court. Burdette served as magistrate for four years, from 1976 to 1980. He declined to run for re-election four years ago and W. H. Wren won the seat. But this past May, Burdette ran again and easily defeated Wren. He had no democratic opposition in the fall.

Amos Burdette

Donald Bullock is also new to politics in Rockcastle County. He ran his first political race this spring and won over a field of several republican candidates.

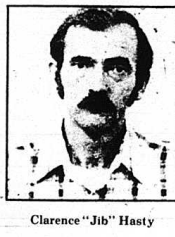

Bullock did not actually have any opposition this fall except for a write-in candidacy waged by Dewey Stewart. Bullock won easily.

Donald Bullock

Clarence "Jib" Hasty is Rockcastle's new sheriff. Hasty, a republican, beat a large field in the primary, which included incumbent William E. Taylor.

Hasty was Taylor's deputy four years ago when the two men easily won the sheriff's seat. They parted ways several months ago and Hasty prevailed in the election. Taylor waged a write-in campaign against Hasty in the fall and garnered 796 votes, but it wasn't enough. Hasty got over 2,000 votes.

Clarence "Jib" Hasty

Norma Houk

Norma Houk will step into the office of County Clerk in January. It will be the first time that anyone besides a Bales had been in that office in 20 years. Clifford Bales was elected to that post in 1965 and served for nearly three terms before he died in office in July 1976. His wife, Mrs. Irene Bajes, was appointed to fill his unexpired term, and she won the seat in 1977. She was easily re-elected in 1981, but declined to run this spring. However, her son, David, did run, but along with challenger, Paul Abney, lost to Mrs. Houk. Mrs. Houk worked in the clerk's office as a deputy clerk from 1966 to 1984.

Billy Kirby will be the new boss at the Rockcastle County Jail come January. Kirby served in that capacity four years ago and is also a former sheriff. Kirby walked away with his primary race and had no problem with his democrat challenger, Ovie Cromer, in the fall.

Billy Kirby

Elmer Hale will keep his seat as Tax Commissioner (PVA). He won easily over Cleith Thacker. His father, Homer Hale, also served in that position several years ago.

James H. Lambert, who will

Health Focus

Your Child's Health

by
Dr. John Payne

A new vaccine is now available and recommended by the U.S. Public Health Service and the American Academy of Pediatrics. This is the Hemophilus B or Hib vaccine. It will protect children from several diseases including spinal meningitis caused by the hemophilus germ. Other diseases caused by this germ include many ear infections, pneumonia, cellulitis and arthritis. About one child in 200 will develop a serious illness from this germ before age five. The vaccine should be given at age two years, though should be given at 18 months of age if the child is in a daycare. It does not protect against all cases of meningitis, but only those caused by this germ.

This vaccine has very few side effects. Occasionally it causes a low grade fever. It has been used in Europe for six or seven years and has only recently been licensed for use in this country. The vaccine would be more effective if it could be given earlier than age two, and hopefully a form of it will become available someday.

This vaccine is currently available at the health department, though the supply is limited. Your child from age two through five should get this shot. It represents a significant advance in care for children.

Foot care is a subject which should be important to everyone.

but is especially important to people with diabetes. Diabetics are more prone to infection and to nerve damage than non-diabetics. The nerve damage can lead to a loss in sensation, so the person has a hard time realizing when his foot has been cut or burned. This could result in an infection. Foot infections can progress to foot ulcers, gangrene, and even amputation in diabetics if they are not treated.

Here are some hints for proper foot care for diabetics.

- Wash feet daily, dry carefully, and apply powder after bathing.
- Never walk barefoot.
- Keep feet warm and dry. Wear socks to bed if feet are cold, but do not use hot packs or hot water bottles.
- Cut toenails straight across.
- Inspect feet daily for any injuries. Inspect shoes for anything that might cause a blister.
- Use a mild lubricant to protect feet from cracking.
- Don't cut or use any chemical agents to remove corns or calluses.
- Don't smoke. Smoking reduces blood circulation which leads to many foot problems.
- If you are a diabetic, have your feet checked regularly. If you have any questions about foot care, ask your pharmacist or doctor.

a problem for fear they must give up their sport. Fortunately, doctors of optometry say most vision defects can be corrected and, generally, there is no need to give up hunting.

Dr. Coleman says hunting is a sport that requires excellent hand-and-eye coordination. Reflexes must be fast, and the hunter's eye true, in order to hit the target with any degree of accuracy.

A hunter must be able to:

- distinguish detail at considerable distance and against a variety of backgrounds;

- focus clearly on near and distant objects and switch focus within a fraction of a second;
- judge distance with speed and accuracy;
- detect objects and movements on either side of the target;
- identify colors;
- see comfortably and perform under a variety of light and weather conditions.

Good vision results, in more game...and it may mean the difference between life and death.

Seat belt law

A majority of Rockcastle Counties, along with other counties in the Fifth Congressional District, favor enactment of a seat belt law.

Statewide, Kentuckians supported the concept by better than a two-to-one margin, or 81 percent. In the Fifth District, the figure was 83 percent.

The findings are the result of a survey conducted by Marketing Resource Group of Lansing, Mich. on behalf of Kentuckians for S.A.F.E.T.Y. (Seat-belts Are For Everyone. Try Yours!).

"We obviously are encouraged by these findings," said Jill Mulholland, state coordinator of Kentuckians for S.A.F.E.T.Y. Her organization is engaged in a two-fold effort to increase seat belt usage; one through seat belt legislation similar to that already adopted, in 16 states; the other through public education campaigns. "As lawmakers start sifting through the multitude of bills they will address next year, I'm sure the results of this survey will weigh heavily on assigning importance to this legislation."

Hunter's Safety

By: Dr. David B. Coleman

Each year an estimated 400 hunters die by accident. An additional 1,400 are injured, and thousands of domestic animals are unintentionally destroyed. According to Dr. David B. Coleman, formerly of Mt. Vernon, the major causes of these tragedies are: (1) The victim is out of the shooter's sight (2) The victim moves into the line of fire (3) The victim is covered by the shooter swinging on game (4) The victim is mistaken for game.

Hunters decide when to squeeze the trigger primarily based on what they see, or more specifically what they think they see, says Dr. Coleman. The quality of vision is the key factor. If vision is inadequate, the potential for accidents increases substantially, creating hazards for the hunter and others as well.

Many hunters are unaware that their vision is defective; they think that they see just fine, while others hesitate to admit they have begin his second term in January, took over his County Attorney seat from his father, James W. Lambert, who served several terms as the county's prosecutor.

Circuit Court Clerk Denver Miller will not have to run for re-election until May 1987. His office is a six-year seat. Four years ago he claimed his seat with victories over present Trial Commissioner Robert Robinson and former Mt. Vernon Councilman Ernest Stanley.

Local Coroner Bill Dowell, which was unopposed in the primary, will begin his sixth term in January. Dowell was elected in 1965 when he defeated incumbent Fred Murrell. Dowell has been opposed only one time since 1965.

County Surveyor Charles Mullins will begin his second term in January. Mullins was unopposed in 1981 and 1985. He took over for former County Surveyor Joel "Buster" Gentry, who declined to run for surveyor so that he could seek a seat on the Mt. Vernon City Council. Gentry was surveyor for many years.

File photos were not available for Bill Dowell or Charles Mullins.
