the best team or is UK the best?" Comment: One man's opinion. This season, talent-wise Louisville is the better team. Popularity-wise, by most indicators the University of Kentucky still enjoys broader popular support across the state. However, some interesting signs tell us times (and chemistry) are changing. 1. Media. Louisville, because of its talent and exciting style of play, has become a hot item with television moguls. And the state's premier radio outlet, WHAS will make UofL its primary sports team next season. 2. UL's recruiting successes, winning tradition and liberal style of play, stuck a chord with fans in Kentucky. Items heretofore enjoyed exclusively by UK/Louisville made big gains when Joe B. Hall did the following: 1. Converted the Wildcats to power ball 13 years ago. 2. Refused to schedule Louisville. Footnote: Eddie Sutton may be changing things, reverting to more a Ruppian style UK fans grew up with—man-to-man defense and hell-bent-for-leather offense.

3. UK has suffered, and may still be suffering from an image problem pointed up by 47-year-old basketball fan in Elizabethtown who said recently: "A lot of things have changed about UK since I was growing up as an avid Wildcat fan. Word is today, if you want your kid to grow to be a socialite, send him to UK."

From Paul and Renee Willard of Shelbyville: "I read your column, but one more article is about all I can stand. I am sick and tired of reading about Kentucky, Kentucky, Kentucky. The one on 'Rookie' Cedric Jenkins. What do you mean 'rookie'? He is a sophomore! Most, if not all, rookies are considered to be freshmen. How can he be the 'Kev' factor. What has he done?" Richard Madison is the only one Kentucky has off the bench. Let's talk about real rookies like Pervis Ellison of the Louisville Cardinals. Check his stats! Compare them to any rookie at UK.

"If you insist on writing about Kentucky's fine players, you don't have much of a selection. Kenny Walker carried the team last year and will have to this year. What rookies last year scored in double figures for the Wildcats? What rookies this year are playing over 30 minutes a game and averaging 15 points a game? If you want to write about great rookies—watch a true rookie, Ellison, Cedric Jenkins, Robert Lock and or any Wildcat rookie or sophomore can't begin to compare to Ellison. Watch Louisville one time and Kentucky against a Top 20 team. If you can still write only about Kentucky after that, you are a true, blue, blind, cat-head."

Comment I: Jenkins is a sophomore, however, his playing time and experience last season were minimal thus (arguably) qualifying him as a rookie. Certainly UK is counting on Ellison to blossom this season just as UL without Barry Sumpter, was counting on Ellison. There is no argument that Ellison has blossomed. Through six games the 6-10 freshman is averaging 13.8 points per game, 7.8 rebounds, shooting 63.2 percent from the field, 78.6 from the free line, had 15 blocked shots and 10 steals and had committed only five turnovers.

Amazing! Rookie-of-the-year numbers too. Comment II: Considering Ellison's progress one wonders how (academic redshirt) Barry Sumpter fits into UL's plans with 7-1 Felton Spencer coming in next season? Comment III: Cat head? Virginia Harvey of Sonora, Ky. says she misses Joe B. Hall because "he was a class act. And I always have felt so proud of him." Then Ms. Harvey makes some solid points about UK, basketball in general, and a few pointed volleys at UK director of athletics, Cliff Hagan. "I'm concerned about the (Cont. to 9) highlight the safety considerations essential during the season. As Public Protection and Regulation Cabinet Secretary Melvin H. Wilson said:

"The extra few minutes it takes to find the freshest tree or to read light labels are well worth it. It is much better to observe a preventive route and to enjoy a relaxed and safe holiday."

Wilson oversees the state Fire Marshal's Office as well as 12 other agencies within the Cabinet. For more information on a fire-free holiday, contact the Kentucky Fire Marshal at U.S. South Building, Frankfort, Ky. 40601, or (502) 564-3626.

matter if it was burning hot or freezing cold, they always came."

At Christmas, she made cookies, cakes and candy for friends and bought gifts for needy children with her own money.

"I just couldn't let them have Christmas without some kind of gift," she said.

"My county residents remember her with affection and devotion."

"There was a time when the only clothes we had came from Pansy," a county resident remembered. "She was always there when someone was in need. She will always have a warm place in our hearts."

Born at Burr on May 3, 1905, she was the daughter of Charlie and Mary Pease Lovell. She was a member of the Mt. Vernon Pentecostal Church and a Kentucky Colonel.

She began her evangelism following a serious illness.

"I told the Lord if He would let me live, I would do His work for the rest of my life," she said. "I've tried."

She is survived by a sister, Zula Drew of Batavia, Ohio, four nephews and two nieces. She was preceded in death by her husband, Fred McCay, and a brother, Charles M. Lovell.

Services were held Dec. 18 at Cox Funeral Home Chapel with Bro. Charles Shivel, Tinsley Rector and Herman Vanderpool officiating. Burial was in Lovell Cemetery.

Kentucky, 73-70 at Freedom Hall. Indeed so, Louisville and Western put on a show worthy of the Christmas season.

Coaches Denny Crum of Louisville and Clem Haskins of Western Kentucky took turns saving nice things about each other's teams after the Cardinals' 73-70 victory last Saturday night. And rightly so for there were morsels for each to savor as their teams mature and the season wears on.

Crum: Give Western credit they played hard and they played well. They've got nothing to be ashamed of. Western's got a fine ball club. We earned this game and they made us earn it. But I said two years ago when these guys came in here as freshmen that in a couple of years they were going to be tough.

Briefly . . .

Local man arrested in GA.

A Rockcastle County man who was indicted in June 1984 for reckless homicide was finally arrested in Georgia and brought back to Rockcastle to face charges.

Ricky Russell of Rt. 1, Crab Orchard, was indicted in connection with the April 25, 1984 traffic death of James A. Northern of Brodhead.

Northern was killed when the car in which he was riding, driven by Russell, failed to negotiate a curve on Hwy. 1506 and struck a tree.

According to police, Russell was drag racing with another local man at the time of the accident.

Russell is presently free on bond and will be arraigned at a later date.

Center robbed

For the fourth time since Halloween, the Maple Grove Development Center has been burglarized.

According to Mrs. Emily Pensul, director at the center, approximately $2,200 worth of merchandise was taken when thieves entered the center last Thursday night.

Several of the children's toys and much of the food was taken from the center, according to Mrs. Pensul, who said it would be harder for thieves to enter the building from now on. She said a dead bolt had been put on the door and steel bars on the windows.

Home burns

A single story brick home on the Chestnut Grove Road near Brodhead, belonging to Wesley and Linda Mays, was completely gutted by fire last Friday night.

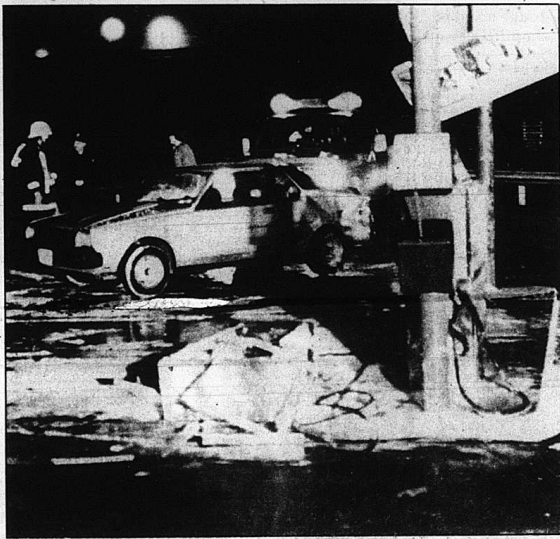

The Brodhead Volunteer Fire Department and members of the Mt. Vernon squad responded to the call around 8 p.m. after Mrs. Mays discovered the fire when she returned home from work.

No one was at home at the time of the fire, and everything inside the house was a total loss.

According to firemen, the fire had been burning for some time when it was discovered.

Early deadline

The deadline for next week's Signal is Friday, Dec. 20, at 5 p.m.

A wrecker hauls away a car damaged when a runaway tanker truck plowed into a Gulf Service Station at Burr last Thursday. No one was injured, but damage was extensive.

Runaway tanker damages station

"It could have been worse," a Mt. Vernon fireman said as he surveyed the damage caused when a runaway tanker truck plowed into a Gulf Service Station on the Burr Interchange last Thursday night.

There was considerable damage to the vehicles and gas pumps, but no one was injured at the station near Best Western Motel.

The small unattended tanker, parked in gear at the motel while the driver was registering, rolled forward down the steep hill, turned a curve, turned a second curve and rammed into the gas pumps.

The truck was driven by John Pett of Union Lake, Mich. and owned by T & G Asphalt Paving.

Three pumps were knocked out by the impact, signs were scattered and a post holding up the station canopy damaged. The truck stopped before hitting the station building.

One of the pumps caught fire, but the automatic cut-off kept the underground tanks from exploding, which prompted the fireman's remark that it could have been worse.

An auto that had just been serviced at the pumps was struck by the truck and heavily damaged. The occupants were not in the car at the time. They were Christopher Papp, 19, of Painted Post, N.Y., and Leslie Walthrath, 19, of Beaver Dam, N.Y.

The Mt. Vernon Volunteer Fire Department poured foam over the pump area to prevent further fire. Dennis Decker, fire station attendant, reportedly put out the pump fire with a small extinguisher.

No estimate of damage to the station or vehicles was reported, but it is expected to be several thousand dollars. The station is owned by Clarence Carter and managed by Roger Smith.

The truck, which had considerable front end damage, was reportedly still in gear when it came to a stop.

Assistant Fire Chief Buddy Cos said it was a mystery to him how the truck could have moved while in gear.

Christmas wreath project could produce more jobs

Started as a simple Christmas wreath effort by the Christian Appalachian Project (CAP), the project located at Tyner, is blossoming and could produce more steady jobs, according to CAP officials.

CAP also has facilities near Renfro Valley, but the Christmas wreath program is limited to the Jackson County area.

So far, the wreath factory in this Jackson County community has been one of the most successful experiments of CAP, an organization that fights poverty in part by producing jobs.

But CAP officials say they could make greater strides by increasing sales of wreaths and thereby adding jobs in an area where unemployment is chronic.

CAP, based in Lancaster, employs about 80 people at the wreath factory in the two-month period before Christmas and five people year-round.

"Anyone you can make 50 jobs in Jackson County, you've helped 50 families, for sure," Scott Roaden, a supervisor at the factory said.

By purchasing homemade bows and truckloads of pine from nearby cottage industries, the factory helps support them, too.

The wreath-making project dates back to the 1950s, but in recent years sales have climbed and raised expectations of its success.

This year, the company expects to make 45,000 natural wreaths and collect about $750,000. About one-third of that will be profit, which CAP will use for its other economic development and social service activities.

Sales are up from last year by 25 percent and double what they were five years ago. CAP officials hope to reach 100,000 wreaths a year by 1990.

Bill Watson, CAP's director of economic development, said the plant could employ more year-round people making such things as wreath frames and bows if they reach the 100,000 goal.

To increase sales, CAP hired a marketing manager Bernard Hale, who worked in advertising and marketing in Washington and New York, but is familiar with eastern Kentucky crafts.

He hopes to expand the buyer list, which is now generally confined to regular CAP buyers who buy via direct mail. For this year, Hale managed to get the wreaths listed in several catalogs.

Another Ky. 461 contract awarded to Elmo Greer

By: Ray McClure

An apparent low bid of $6,563,428 to reconstruct the southern end of Ky. 461 was submitted by Elmo Greer and Sons of London when bids were opened Friday by the Transportation Cabinet's Division of Contract Procurement in Frankfort.

The new section begins near the KY 80-KY 461 intersection east of Somerset and extends a mile-and-a-half north of Buck Creek Bridge, a distance of 4.76 miles.

Engineers for the department also announced approval of the design for another 7.89 miles of the highway that is already under construction at Mt. Vernon.

The bid by Greer was one of four bids. Others were: Hinkle Contracting Corp. of Paris and H & S Equipment Rental Co. of Flemingsburg (jointly) $6,968,650; Melco-Greer Inc. of London, $7,512,565; Bluegrass Contracting Corporation and Denham & Lewis

Corp., both of Lexington (jointly), $7,693,626.

The bid totals are unofficial until approved by the Transportation Cabinet and an Awards Committee.

The 7.89 mile section that has had design approval will be let later in two contracts. One section begins at the end of the Buck Creek section and extends half-mile north of the Rockcastle County line a distance of 3.52 miles.

The other contract will extend from that point to the end of the new section at Wabed, a distance of 4.37 miles.

The next step after design approval is acquisition of right-of-way and construction design. No date has been set on the last two sections that will complete the highway between KY 80 and U.S. 25 near Red Top Restaurant at Mt. Vernon.

Estimates now of the cost of the 26.5-mile highway is about $33.5 million, up considerably since the original estimate in 1981 of $20.2 million.

Most highway observers believe the state has speeded up the completion of the KY 461 highway program because it is the northern most entrance of the Big

Chamber members travel to Commerce Cabinet

By: Richard Anderkin

With hopes of getting another factory to locate in the Rockcastle County Industrial Park, 20 members of the Rockcastle County Chamber of Commerce traveled to Frankfort last Thursday to meet with state officials in the Commerce Cabinet.

The group, which was headed by State Representative Danny Ford of Mt. Vernon, met for almost two hours with David Lovelace, Commissioner of Economic Development for Kentucky, and Brad Richardson, director of Industrial Development and Marketing Division in the Department of Economic Development.

The two officials told the local group the most important thing was for a community to be unified in trying to attract industry and that politics should be left out.

"When a company is looking at a town and county, they look at more than just the building site. They talk to the people in the community, they visit the schools, and they try to find out what kind of workers will be available for the jobs that their factory will offer," Richardson said.

A community's attitude has a lot to do with whether or not a company decides to locate there," Lovelace said. "If company officials get a bad feeling from the people they talk with in the community, they definitely will not locate their plant there," he said.

Letters

Exception taken with letter from Berea...

Dear Editor:

I would like to make a few comments about a letter to the editor in last week's Signal from Mr. J. Graham Garrison Ph.D. I also read the survey rating the quality of life in Kentucky's counties. I disagree with the results of this study, as did many others I talked with. "Quality of life" means different things to different people. If we are to take this study seriously, we must believe that places like Chicago, Detroit and New York City are "Grade A" places to live and raise your family, for they possess all the criteria that this study is based on. I wonder if Mr. Garrison would feel comfortable walking down one of these cities' streets after dark?

We returned to Rockcastle County three years ago from Boone County, where the "quality of life" was rated close to the top. We lived in a rural area of the county and our children attended an elementary school where the "good life" consisted of two grades in every classroom, no gym, no library, no science equipment, and no organized activities. The junior high had a discipline problem so severe that it affected the teachers' success in giving their students this "better education" that they are supposed to be able to provide. These conditions do not exist in the Rockcastle County school system!

In defense of State Representative Danny Ford, I am sure that any vote he would cast would be only after careful consideration of all the facts, and not due to political backscratching.

If living the "good life" means putting up with a high crime rate, an abundance of drug pushers, more bars than churches, smog, traffic jams, and gross unfriendliness, then Mr. Garrison is welcome to my share. I'll stay here and live in my so-called destitute existence.

Rockcastle County has many problems, but there are efforts being made to correct some of them by many interested and concerned citizens of the county.

It seems that Mr. Garrison believes that anyone differing with his opinion has a negative attitude. I know that to have obtained a Ph.D., Mr. Garrison has to be a deep thinker. Must he also such a shallow person that he obviously enjoys looking down his nose at his fellow man?

Proud to be a citizen of Livingston and Rockcastle County

Danny Hinton

And, another point of view...

Dear Editor:

I have never written a "letter to the editor" before, and knowing what I'm going to say in this letter, I don't think you will print this one. If you do print my letter, I can't wait to see what you have to say about a fellow Rockcastle County man who "wants to muddle through their existence with you in this poor lifestyle?" Please don't thank me for my concern. I don't want any thanks. Print my letter and show me your statistics to prove that "most" Rockcastle Counties are so satisfied. If we are, Heaven help us!

I have lived in Rockcastle County over ten years, and I agree with the Ph. D. that we can do better. I've also lived in Madison County and know that they can do better, too. It's the way you treated this man and his letter that insulted me. YES—it was an insult. You insulted many people in this county that work very hard for improvements because they know that we need them. Four letters was just another example of the closed minds that exist around here!

You may offer me the choice to move out of the county if I don't like it here or maybe shut up. I don't choose to do either. I did not need your permission to move here and you don't pay my taxes, so I think that decision will remain with me. Some very good people probably have left Rockcastle County because they could see no hope for the future. I can see lots of hope because there are so many things to improve on. Also, I realize that you are only one man and your ideas do not mean that much.

Considering the conditions that exist in Rockcastle County at the present time, I think the children do remarkably well. The few who cause trouble and don't want to learn get most of the attention. Sometimes all the blame is not theirs. There are delinquent parents and they should be held accountable when things go wrong. I am very tired of all this nit-picking and I am ready to see the adults start acting like adults once more. All this talk people have about the good old days, well in the good old days most children had two parents who worked hard to raise them and they expected a lot of their children in return. Most children today probably would prefer some of the old values over this hypocritical mess they live in today. It all begins with education and you get no better than you are willing to pay for. If we teach our children not to listen to another person's ideas, then we are lost for sure. And we can be sure they will have good reason to wonder about us.

Sincerely,

J. Shelton

Judge erred in shoplifting case...

Dear Editor:

Recently a case for shoplifting was brought before the court of Judge Cain. The defendant pleaded guilty to the charges of shoplifting and was fined $100 and court cost. The fine was "dismissed" and restitution of $1 and court cost was required of the defendant.

We feel this is no deterrent to shoplifting and hope the courts will change their view on shoplifting cases no matter how small the item stolen.

Would like to contact Ball family...

Dear Editor:

I've been trying to contact the family of Robert Ball, who took his own life here at the Kentucky State Penitentiary on Oct. 10, 1985. Robert was in the hole at the time this took place, and he had done nothing to be put in the hole. This I can prove beyond doubt. Also Robert had tried to get psychological help, but this was never permitted.

The Corrections Department should be made to compensate his family, and this can be done with the facts I possess; however, I can do nothing unless Robert Ball's family contacts me and gives me the power of attorney in this matter.

I also state I do not want a dime from this, and it will not cost his family a cent, the principle being that if the Corrections Department is exposed in this matter, it will improve the future of the penal system.

Will someone in his family please contact me?

Sincerely yours,

"It's Different Than You Think"

Dear Editor:

Everything is farther away than it used to be. Why it's twice as far to the corner, and they've added a hill. I notice: I've given up running for the bus. It leaves so much faster than it used to. And it seems to me that they are making steps so much steeper than in the old days: Have you noticed the smaller print they're using in the newspaper nowadays? And there's no sense in asking anyone to speak louder. Everyone speaks in such low tones I can hardly hear them.

The material in dresses these days is so skimpy, especially around the waist and hips. It's almost impossible to touch my shoe laces.

Even people are changing. They are so much younger than they were when I was their age. On the other hand, people my age are so much older than I am. I ran into an old schoolmate the other day, and she had aged so much she didn't recognize me. I got to thinking about that poor thing this morning as I was arranging my hair. And in doing so I pondered my own reflection a few moments—confound it! They don't even make mirrors like they used to.

Be more careful...

Dear Editor:

The person I'm writing about knows who they are. I don't yet, but I will definitely find out.

I'm talking about endangerment of our school children's life. The car involved passed the bus while stopped in the morning picking up my children on Hwy. 25 at Calloway. He or she never stopped.

I lost a 6-year-old sister in 1962 in a bus related accident by an oncoming driver who didn't stop. I sure don't want to have another. Any responses?

"RAMBLINGS"

in the Thursday, December 12, issue of the Lexington Herald-Leader.

"A Kentucky medical examiner testified today that the autopsy on the body of a 2-year-old boy who died after being left unattended in a car last summer showed a severe swelling of the brain and the findings were "consistent with hyperthermia. (Editor's Note: Hyperthermia is extreme heat.)"

Petra and Lewis Ross, Sr. of Fort Knox, Ky. are charged with neglect of a dependent and reckless homicide in the death of their son, Lewis, Jr., who died of extreme heat-while the parents watched the Madison Regatta hydroplane races on the Ohio River on July 7.

Dr. Greg Balko, assistant state medical examiner in Louisville, testified that the autopsy indicated a rectal temperature of 108 degrees, which would mean the external temperature of the body must have been in excess of 108 degrees.

Another witness yesterday was Dr. Barth Conrad, the attending physician at Madison's King's Daughters Hospital when the child was brought there for treatment. Conrad said the boy was "red, greenish-gray-blue and smelled like "rancid meat."

Conrad also said the child's corneas were very dried out."

The trial began Monday in Jefferson Circuit Court.

On Tuesday, prosecutor Merritt K. Alcorn said the couple watched the boat races after "strapping the child in a solar blanket," and witnesses testified the child might have been left in the hot car for more than three hours.

Kathy Shivel, a former neighbor of the Rosses, said she met Mrs. Ross on the day that they met at the Rosses' mobile home, the child was left in a highchair for more than four hours, she said.

"About every half-hour, she'd tell me Ross got up and backhand the baby and say, 'Lewis, eat your food, eat your food.'" Mrs. Shively said.

Deanna Huff, a case worker with the Kentucky Cabinet for Human Resources, said she visited the Rosses on May 13 after receiving a tip about possible child abuse in the home.

There was a "strong potential for danger" in the family, Ms. Huff said.

THE ABOVE STORY is only one of the incidents that occur in the United States each year. The Rosses were found guilty but their sentence was nothing compared to the suffering their 2-year-old son went through.

This holiday season, take time to be thankful you have been brought up in a good home and treated like you should have been. Not everyone has that lucky. Treat your children with love and respect and you will get the same treatment from your children.

OUR J. GRAHAM GARRISON, who wrote last week's letter to the editor supporting the quality of life survey, is one hard person to find.

Mr. Garrison's return address on his letter was a box number at the Berea College post office, but the box is not rented to anyone at the present time.

A check of the Berea College and Eastern Kentucky University faculty register also failed to show J. J. Graham Garrison. From this we can only think the letter was written, probably from someone local under an assumed name.

1965 [20 years ago this week] Bond issue votes are surprising us here abouts these days. The latest vote on the new community school at Berea surprised us, and probably did Bereans. In a bond issue voted last week, Bereans voted 782-370 to increase their taxes 45 cents on the $100 property evaluation to build their school. That is a good example of recognizing a need and fulfilling it.

Jess Norton of Mt. Vernon has been commissioned a Kentucky Colonel by Gov. Edward Breathitt. He has just completed 25 years of service on the staff of the Kentucky Department of Highways.

The Broedhead Tigers went on a scoring spree Friday night to wallop visiting Crab Orchard 100-31.

It was Broedhead's best effort to date, and bore out predictions that the Tigers would be on the move as the season progressed.

It was also the first time a county team hit the 100 mark this season.

Mt. Vernon and Livingston fought it out on even terms the first half. Friday night at Livingston, but the Blue Devils forged ahead in the last quarter to defeat Mt. Vernon 61-51.

It was Mt. Vernon's second loss of the season to the Blue Devils, who have a nine-win, one-loss record.

At the quarter stops, with Livingston always in the lead the scores stood: 12-11, 28-26, 44-38, and the final 61-51.

For LHS, it was Vernon Sams who led the scoring with 18 points. He was also high point man for the game.

Leading MVHS in scoring was David Nicely with 16 points.

1975 [10 years ago this week] The Rockcastle County Grand Jury handed down five indictments last week after conducting an extensive investigation of the conditions of the jail facilities and the conduct of the warden and his deputy, with regard to the safety of prisoners in the jail.

Mrs. Myrtle Bullock received serious injuries late Monday evening when she was struck by a car on Richmond Street driven by William "Red" Swinney, 34, of Mt. Vernon.

According to State Trooper Danny Coleman, who investigated the accident, Mr. Swinney said he was traveling south on U.S. 25 and was in front of Mullins Foxaco when Mrs. Bullock, who had evidently been across the street from her home to her mailbox, ran back across the street and into the path of the vehicle.

Mrs. Bullock was taken to the Rockcastle County Hospital and later transferred to the Central Baptist Hospital in Lexington where unconfirmed reports indicate that her injuries include two broken legs.

No charges were placed against Mr. Swinney. Two Ohio juveniles have been arrested and charged with car theft in connection with what has to be one of the shortest lived car thefts in history.

It began Monday afternoon when two juveniles went into Bullock's Shoe Store on Main Street in Mt. Vernon and looked around for a while. They then went outside the store, got into Mr. Bullock's white Chevrolet station wagon, sitting in front of the store, and left town on U.S. 25.

Mrs. Bullock noticed the car's disappearance after a few moments, informed Mr. Bullock and they notified State Police-man Danny Coleman.

In an unprecedented move, the Rockcastle County Grand Jury requested, and received, permission from Circuit Judge Lawrence Hall to extend the present term to Rockcastle Circuit Court and to authorize the Grand Jury additional days during which to convene further proceedings over the next several weeks so that the Grand Jury can continue its work on the matters addressed by this report and any other matter which may arise.

A special order was signed by Judge Hall allowing the six regular days of the Grand Jury and an additional nine days if needed with the Grand Jury to terminate its session on the day prior to the March term.

FEED CATTLE ACCORDING TO NUTRITIONAL NEEDS

With winter on hand the cost of feeding cattle rises sharply. But beef producers can save money on winter feeding costs by feeding cattle in groups on their nutritional needs. The following herd divisions are suggested to make efficient use of feed: (1) dry, mature, pregnant cows, (2) cows nursing calves, (3) weaning replacement heifers, (4) bred yearlings, (5) growing steers and heifers and (6) herd bulls. These groups have different nutrient requirements and should be fed accordingly.

Knowing how requirements

South Fork National River and Recreation Area, a 123,000-acre wilderness park in McCreary County and adjacent Tennessee that is under development with a budget of $155 million.

"This is going to be a very heavily traveled road in the future," one highway official said. "It has a tremendous tourist potential. Probably as much potential as any highway recently constructed."

Only one other segment is being considered for construction, and that is a section bypassing Somerset to the east connecting at the intersection of U.S. 27 just north of Burnside at the Monticello road intersection. That section is many years away, but it has cropped up in highway construction conversations in recent months.

Brown said earlier that the bypass to the east of Somerset would be a major highway project and would probably stay on the shelf for several years.

Work on the Mt. Vernon bypass is continuing with mostly clearing taking place.

including the prestigious "Horchow."

Hale is also testing a color brochure offering an assortment of Appalachian crafts under the name "Christmas Ridge Collection."

Next month, Hale will travel to various gift shows in hope of attracting buyers for 1986.

But the Turner factory will probably remain a small operation, Hale and Watson say, because CAP has targeted other counties with high unemployment rates as potential factory sites.

vary between groups and the type and quantity of feed available allows an optimum feeding program to be developed.

Dry cows have nutrient requirements only slightly above maintenance. Feeds such as crop residues, mature grasses and low quality hay will meet their needs. Increase the quality during the last 30 to 60 days of pregnancy to ensure a healthy calf, adequate milk production and quick rebounding.

Feeding programs for producing animals, such as growing steers and heifers, and cows nursing calves, should not include low quality feed. Protein and energy requirements for production are much greater. The highest quality forage and perhaps grain and protein supplements should be used with these production groups.

Put an estimate together on how much feed will be needed. If it becomes apparent that feed supplies may not be adequate, now is the time to act - not in late winter when a feeding emergency could become a crisis.

For more information on winter herd feeding, contact the Extension Office and ask for Extension publication ASC-78.

Social & Women's News

Dar meets Dec. 10

The Rockcastle Chapter DAR met on the evening of Dec. 10 at the home of Mrs. Jeffrey Stephen Owens. Mrs. Roscoe Adams, Regent, presided, with Mrs. Wallace Williams leading the pledge to the flag.

The National Defense News was read by Miss Mary Alice Hunt.

It was announced that the National Society DAR had presented $200,000 toward the restoration of the Statue of Liberty. In October the President General, Mrs. Walter Huey King, had visited the White House to present the national DAR insignia to Mrs. Ronald Reagan, a new member of the Society. Mrs. George Bush, wife of Vice President Bush, has also become a member of the society recently. Miss Hunt introduced Teresa Parrett and Sherri Mink, who presented a program of Christmas music which included vocal solos and duets. Each song solo accompanied by the other. The program concluded with Miss Parrett playing a flute solo accompanied by Miss Mink.

Mrs. Adams showed a book of poetry, "The Piper's Pipe," by Mary Taylor Brewer, which she is planning to present to the Rockcastle County Historical Society in memory of John Lair.

During the social hour, Mrs. Owens was assisted by her sisters, Mrs. Michael Barr and Mrs. Gary Cromer.

EXTENSION HOME ECONOMICS

MICROWAVE OVENS ARE CHEAPER NOW

Convenience is cheap right now. Cheap, that is, when you consider the price of microwave ovens.

Whether you're in the market

The Mt. Vernon Signal Thursday, December 19, 1985 P-A7

for a microwave for personal use or for a gift, the time-saving microwave oven is more appealing than ever due to lower prices and smaller sizes.

The microwave oven, practically a standard appliance in today's kitchen, has changed from being large and bulky to being compact. Some can even be mounted on the wall or under a cupboard to maximize kitchen counter space.

Smaller ovens are less expensive, too. A small, basic model sells for as little as $99.

Elaborately equipped models with programmable controls and other extras are priced up to $450 or more. The best buy, however, is a basic model with simple controls usually ranging from $150 to $250.

Before spending money on an oven, consider how you want to use it. Do you want to use it for reheating, cooking, or both?

Anyone shopping for a microwave should keep in mind that ovens will have either a mechanical or electronic control. While mechanical may mean a cheaper price, electronic means precise timing control. The latter may be worth the extra money if you're doing more than reheating.

Ovens will also have different power levels since foods require different levels of microwave energy.

Four or five power levels are sufficient, any more than that probably won't be used and will increase the price.

Other features that are helpful are temperature probes, used as a meat thermometer, and a turntable or carousel.

Before you purchase a model containing a carousel, consider the types of microwave cookware as well as the food you plan to cook in your oven. Some pan sizes, especially the standard 9 1/2" pan, cannot be used on a carousel oven. If you're concerned with obtaining cooking uniformity, consider buying a plastic turntable that can be removed from the oven when not needed.

Looking for a Christmas gift for a friend with a microwave oven? Consider these points when selecting cookware for the microwave:

Items should be well designed with sturdy handles.

Shrinking shapes and round casseroles give best results.

Cookware should be labeled "for microwave cooking only."

Not all plastics are the same. Some will warp, distort, melt or absorb odors. Polycarbonate and polypropylene differ. Polysulfone and thermoset polyesters are safe to use and can withstand high temperatures.

Woman's Club meets

By: Brenda Lambert

During the November meeting the ladies had the honor of hearing the guest speaker, Mrs. Elizabeth Mullins of Brodhead. She shared her international experiences in the Bahamas, the Orient, Italy, France, London, Hawaii, and the Holy Land. She described each tour in vivid, picturesque terms. "I thank God for the health and financial means to experience these countries," she said. Mrs. Mullins also displayed several mementos gleaned from her trips.

Since November is the traditional month the club sponsors an international dinner, they decided to continue that tradition this year. The members and guest enjoyed a variety of desserts, salads and casseroles provided by the members.

Prior to the dinner and presentation of the guest speaker, Mrs. Alta Bullock presented the devotional, a reading of the 8th chapter of Psalms and a poem "One Nation Under God."

The usual business session was held after the group enjoyed the meal. Minutes were read and approved. The treasurer, Karen Noe, reported $186.52 in the treasury.

President - Stewart Shackelford discussed the need for money-making projects. Since the club had received no response about a Christmas Tour of Homes, she suggested we host the talent revue this year. She appointed Vicky Farthing, Brenda Hasty and Karen Noe to the committee to formulate tentative plans for the theme and date and then submit those to the group.

The president also brought to our attention several letters requesting donations. She said we would table any response except the ones we had budgeted.

Also, Mrs. Cheryl Witt announced she would present a program in December on making holiday centerpieces. The meeting will be held at Mrs. Bessie St. Clair's home on Bethurum Street on Dec. 17 at 7:30. Guests are invited to attend.

Rise & Shine Homemakers Meet

The Rise & Shine Homemakers Club met Tuesday, Dec. 10, at the home of Faye McCauley. Co-hostesses were Juanita Davis and Peggy Bowling.

A delicious country ham brunch was served by the hostesses, and also a Christmas favor was given to each one present.

The Christmas party ended with a change of secret pal gifts.

There were 21 members and one guest present.

Homemakers Club holds party

Give-a-Hand Homemakers Club Christmas party was held Saturday, Dec. 14, at Mrs. Debbie Carpenter's home. A turkey supper was prepared by Debbie Carpenter and Willetta Owens.

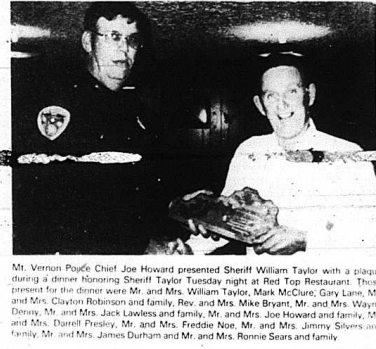

Members attending were Joyce Adkins, Faye Bullens, Willetta Owens, Lisa Owens, Connie Childers, Debbie Carpenter, Janette Butler, Lois Phibeck, Rita McGuire, Ada Martin, Georgia Noe, and Carolyn Noe. Special guests were Judy Lawless and Angie Tommie Martin, Danny Childress, Bill Napier, Ryan McGuire, Wayne, Sherry and Allen Carpenter.

Give-a-Hand club members honored Ms. (Little Dorothy) Remmer with a thank you gift. Thank you, Dorothy, for your time and truck during the past year.

Other members who went beyond the call of duty were Dorothy McCracken, Ada Martin, and Joyce Adkins. (Willetta, the dumplings were great.)

Nancy Rice, reporter

Mt. Vernon Public Chief Joe Howard presented Sherri William Taylor with a plaque during a dinner honoring Sheriff Taylor Tuesday night at Red Top Restaurant. Those present for the dinner were Mr. and Mrs. William Taylor, Mark McClure, Gary Lane, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Robinson and family, Rev. and Mrs. Mike Bryant, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Dewey, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lawless and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jon Howard and family, 15 and Mrs. Darrell Presley, Mr. and Mrs. Freddie Noe, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Silvers and family, Mr. and Mrs. James Durham and Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Sears and family.

Schedule of events at First Christian Church

In celebration of the Christmas season, three special events will be presented at the First Christian Church on Sunday, Dec. 22.

The Children's Program of recitations and songs will be given at 10 a.m. and is under the direction of Mrs. Joyce Machal.

"The Sound of Christmas Music" will be presented by the choir, the Gospel Quartet and special soloists during the 11 a.m. worship hour. This presentation is directed by Mrs. Ruth McFerron and Dr. Joe Henderson.

"The Shoemaker's Dream," directed by Mrs. Betty Henderson, will be presented at 7 p.m. also on Dec. 22. In this play, the shoemaker wants so much to have Christ visit his house during the Christmas season. Throughout the day his only visitors are a poor woman and her baby, a rich old spinster, a beggar, and a young boy in trouble—all of whom are invited into his home for coffee and words of encouragement. In a dream the shoemaker realizes that in helping these people, and through them, Christ has indeed visited him that day.

A Candlelight Communion service will be held at First Christian Church on Dec. 23 at 7 p.m.

The minister, Bro. Ernie Johnson, and all the congregation invite friends from the community to attend any or all of these special events.

stressed that the most important thing a community could do to attract new industry was to be unified and to put forth a good image.

The two officials went so far as to say that clean communities had the edge over communities that were dirty.

Local grocery store owner and now contractor David King, who made the trip to Frankfort, asked the state officials about the possibility of getting one of Toyota's Satellite plants to locate in Rockcastle County.

The two men said there was a possibility, but they could not elaborate on the subject at the present time. Representative Ford pointed out the fact that Rockcastle's Industrial Park was only 65 miles from Georgetown (where the Toyota plant will be located) and on I-75.

Officials did say they felt there would be as many as 100 plants built across the state which would supply the Toyota plant with parts.

The two Commerce Cabinet officials also reported there was a possibility that some factories would be built in Kentucky to supply the General Motors plant that will be built in Spring Hill, Tenn., but they would not commit themselves on Rockcastle's chances.

At the present time there are 43 acres left in the local Industrial Park, which is located on U.S. 150 just outside Mt. Vernon. Accord and love them very much. (That means you, too, Eugene.) Come back and see us again soon.

George Wren, who underwent surgery at the St. Joseph Hospital in Lexington on Friday, Dec. 6, is now at home improving very nicely. George, who is so thankful and glad that you are home again. God bless you.

Still on the sick list and needing your prayers are Gustava Peters, Charles Noland, Mona Treon, Georgia Blair, Mrs. Anne Linville and Bill Dean. Thank you so much for your love, concern and prayers for these precious ones. We love them so much.

Sherry Lynn Ridgell celebrated her 8th birthday Nov. 26 with a few friends and relatives. We wish her many happy returns of the day. She is our granddaughter and we love her dearly.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Proctor of Richmond on Sunday afternoon were Mrs. Edith Mullins, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Ponder and son, Chris, and Mrs. Lucille Ponder. Mr. Proctor is Mrs. Mullins' uncle and will be 96 years old in April. He is loved so much by his relatives. May God continue to bless him down through life.

Mrs. Nancy Pickle met with members of her primary Sunday School class Saturday in the fellowship room at the Fairview Baptist Church for a Christmas party. Those present were Brian Brock, Sherry Ridgell, David Dooley, Jamie Linville, Jamaica and Dreama Cummins, Jerry Husband, Shauna and Courtney Croucher and Nicole Pickle. Guests were Michael Pickle, Janet Ridgell and Jennifer and Carol Isaacs. Games were played, gifts were presented and refreshments were served. They had a real good time and Mrs. Pickle commented on their good behavior.

Well, as we are coming into the most blessed and holy time of the year, I wish for every reader of this article "Peace and joy at Christmas and always." Let's all remember our loved ones and friends with warm wishes for a bright and glorious holiday season. Don't forget to thank God for His Son. Special prayers go out to all of you who will be sad at this time due to sickness or death in your family, and always remember my love and prayers are with you. God bless you.

Fairview

By: Mrs. Hubert Chastean

Sunday School attendance at the Fairview Baptist Church Dec. 15 was 128 with several more for worship service. Thank God for each one.

Visitors for morning and evening services were Rev. and Mrs. Kale Conner of Berea and Eugene Alexander of the Fairview area. Special evening visitors were Rev. and Mrs. Ballard Rader of Berea. We were so glad to have them with us. Rev. and Mrs. Conner are former members of our church and Bro. Rader was our pastor for a while back in the 30's. We think so much of all of them

Club holds Christmas dinner

Steaming hot wassail tickled at least three of our senses as we entered the Fellowship Hall where the Brookhead Willing Workers Homemakers Club met for their Christmas dinner. Although the 20 degree weather and snow threatened our crowd Dec. 14, 26 braved the cold night to attend.

The variety of foods brought by each of the homemakers went well with the turkey, dumplings and gravy made by the hostess, Barbara Watson, and Glenna Brooks. Patsy Fletcher made the dressing.

After a blessing by Bro. Whitt, we filled our plates with food and sat down at the tables covered with white cloths and red place mats. These colors were carried out in the candles and poinsettias on the tables. Tiny sleighs here and there on the table gave an extra Christmas look.

Deborah Newland had everyone's name on slips of paper for us to draw our 1986 Secret Pals, before we found out who had been our 1985 Secret Pal.

Then the pretty gift wrapped packages, under the Christmas tree loaded with red lights, were given to the anxious ladies.

Exclamations of delight filled the air when packages were unwrapped. Some seemed surprised when they found out who their 1985 Pal had been, and some said, "I thought it was her."

The majority of the diners session to approve the county's participation in the Kentucky Development Finance Authority Program. There is no financial obligation to the county.

Wayne Stewart, Rockcastle County Hospital administrator, told the court the money will be there at a low interest rate if the hospital needs to expand or purchase new equipment. He said the interest rate on most loans would be 4 1/2 percent, if the agency has the money at the time an application is made.

He speculated the fund will receive more money for loans from time to time.

"I think this will be a good source of capital for hospitals during the next 30 years," Stewart said. "We only had until Dec. 15 to agree to participate, which is why we needed the court's approval."

wished everyone, "A Merry Christmas and Happy New Year," as they went out the door.

Long-time humanitarian, Pansy McCay, dead at 80

By: Ray McClure

Pansy McCay, who for years devoted her life and energy to the needy of Rockcastle County, died Dec. 16, 1986 at the Rockcastle County Hospital. She was 80.

Mrs. McCay, who spent many hours and days soliciting clothes and food from churches, organizations and individuals both in and out of Kentucky, had been ill for several weeks.

On occasion, Mrs. McCay talked about her life and what she believed to be her successes and failures. She once wrote a booklet describing her life as an evangelist, a calling in which she took great pride. She spoke at various churches in and out of the county, always telling them of the needs of those less fortunate.

"I wore out no telling how many cars just looking for things to give away," she once said in an interview. "But it was the least I could do. I know they all got tired of me always coming and begging. But I had plenty of time and lots of folks had run out of it."

On days when "Pansy's truck" arrived at Renfro Valley, dozens of needy families flocked to the area to get clothes and food items thrown to them from the back of the truck.

"I remember those days," a Renfro Valley resident recalled. "When Pansy came with a truck of clothes, it was a madhouse. People literally pushed and shoved trying to get close enough to get something to wear. It didn't

Be especially careful

Fire safety important at Christmas

Christmas and the holiday season is a festive time of year. It should also be a cautious time of year for fire safety in the home, according to State Fire Marshal Gavle Horn.

"Trees and lights brighten the home and the spirits during the holidays," Horn said. "At the same time, Kentuckians need to remember certain rules when buying trees or stringing lights."

Horn said that Kentuckians should take the following precautions when selecting and setting up a tree:

- If buying an artificial tree made of plastic, check for the Underwriters Laboratories label (UL). Some unlabeled trees burn easily.
- When buying live trees, look for the freshest one. Fresh trees are less of a fire hazard than dry trees.

Check for freshness by looking for a deep green color, by smelling for a strong evergreen scent, by feeling for needles that are firmly attached to the limbs and by feeling for a sticky, sappy tree trunk.

"Once the tree is home, mount it in a sturdy, water-holding stand. Keep the stand filled with water so the tree won't dry out and become a fire hazard.

"At home, keep the tree away from fireplaces, radiators or other heat sources. It should not block doorways or be in the way of traffic.

In addition to trees, Horn explained that lights—whether inside or out—should be used carefully. Be sure to consider the following points before turning on the switch:

- Use only lights that have been tested for safety. Identify these by the UL label.
- Check each set of lights for broken or cracked sockets, frayed or bare wires or loose connections. Discard the unsafe ones.

- Never use indoor lights outside. Before setting up outdoor decorations, make sure the bulbs have been approved for outdoor use. Then, firmly attach the lights to trees or walls to prevent wind damage.

- Use no more than three sets of lights for every single extension. Follow the manufacturer's suggestion on the number of lights permitted in each circuit.

- Always turn-off lights and other decorations before leaving home or going to bed. A short in any of the equipment is a fire hazard.

- Never use electric lights on a metallic tree. Instead, use colored spotlights above or beside a metal tree.

- Keep children away from lights and electrical decorations. Children risk shock or injury when they play with bright lights.

Health Focus

Your Child's Health

by
Dr. John Payne

The arrival of a second child will always be stressful for the first child who is being forced to give up his only child status. If there is less than two years difference between the older child and the new arrival there will probably be more trouble. Following are 24 pointers for helping the older child adapt. These hints are adapted from a booklet called "Children's Nurse" prepared by Dorsey Labs.

1. Get involved in the daily activities of the child. Children whose fathers spend a lot of time with them can put up with mother being gone to the hospital better.
2. Be sure the child knows the sister, relative, etc. who will care for him during the mother's confinement.
3. Visit friends who have a small baby and talk about how it is different from the child.
4. Switch the child to a "new" or "youth bed" several months before the new arrival and prohibit him for not needing the baby bed anymore.
5. Don't try to toilet train the child too soon after the new baby arrives. You will only meet with frustration and regression.
6. Permit your child to help pick out clothing for the baby's homecoming.
7. Allow your child to help pack Mommy's suitcase for the hospital.
8. Encourage him to help select a name for the new baby.
9. Prompt your child to help wash and fold clothes for the new

10. Give your child a doll to "mother" well before the birth. Dolls given at the time are often rejected.
11. Help your child practice feeding, burping and diapering a doll.
12. Encourage him to call you at the hospital if he is old enough to talk.
13. Try to get the child to visit Mommy during her hospital stay if it can be arranged.
14. Don't appear tired and haughty upon arrival home. The child will think Mommy was hurt by the new baby.
15. Designate the same person to bring your children to visit at the hospital each time for consistency.
16. Permit your child to accompany the new baby home from the hospital. (Remember car seats!)
17. Select several small gifts to give the older child when visitors bring baby all kinds of gifts so he won't feel left out.
18. Give your child a gift when you arrive home.
19. Encourage the child to take out frustrations on inanimate objects and don't punish for showing frustration.
20. Teach your child to attract the baby with toys.
21. Encourage him to talk or tell stories to the baby.
22. Teach him to touch the baby gently and lovingly.

The Medicine Chest

By: Tina Cain Hasty, RPh

This time of year, many of us are affected by dry skin. It is a common problem, and if ignored, can lead to real discomfort.

The reason for most dry skin is that the skin's outer layer is not able to retain enough moisture. This can be due to the weather, the drying effects of indoor heating or air-conditioning, soaps and detergents, or many other reasons. The aging process can contribute to dryness by weakening the skin's ability to retain moisture and its own natural oils.

One of the key ways to aid in skin care is to maintain good health practices. A well-balanced diet, plenty of rest, and proper exercise all contribute to healthy skin. Dry skin should be protected from the weather, be it hot or cold. A humidifier could be of help in offsetting the drying effects of indoor heating. Some things to avoid are harsh shampoos and soaps, very hot water, and excessive showering. A moisturizing product is useful after showering, especially if used while the skin is still damp.

When choosing a lotion, it is best to check the ingredient list. Water is used in moisturizers to rehydrate the skin. Humectants, such as glycerin, increase the skin's ability to absorb water.

Protectants are added to help the skin retain water and to slow down the natural moisture loss. Two examples of protectants are mineral oil and petrolatum. Petrolatum seems to be the most effective. Keratin-softening agents are used to soften the skin and cosmetically improve its appearance. The two ingredients used for this reason are urea and allantoin, with urea being the most effective.

Bath oils are also useful in improving dry skin, especially when applied as wet compresses. It is important to also check the ingredient list when buying bath oils since mineral oil products are absorbed better than vegetable oil products.

If you have any questions about dry skin or skin-care products, ask your doctor or pharmacist.

The Rockcastle County boy's varsity basketball team won their second game of the season last Tuesday night when they defeated visiting Lynn Camp 70 to 56. Above Senior guards Scott Parrett and Benny Blanton are shown. The last two outings the rockets back court combination has carried the scoring load for the team. Friday night the boys dropped a close game to neighboring Berea 38 to 36. A complete linescore of Tuesday's game is shown in the next column.

LYNN CAMP (56) — Rose 2, Johnson 2, Scamora 8

The Rockcastle County girls' varsity lost two out of three games this week. The defeats were at Clay County 60 to 36 and at the hands of Jackson County at home Monday night 60 to 50. The girls then knocked off visiting Lynn Camp Tuesday night 60 to 42. Sophomore guard Tanya Parrett, above, tries to prevent a Jackson County General from scoring in Monday night's action. Tanya had 8 points in the Lady Rocket's loss. Others scoring in Monday night's game were Sandy Hunter 18; Caroline Machal 8, Lori Mink 6, Paige Anderson 5 and Regina Lewis 4.

Kentucky 'was' overrated; faces 'big folks' problems ahead

Being realistic and things. University of Kentucky basketball fans whose thought processes are governed by their heads instead of their hearts recognized early on that this UK team was going to have matchup problems inside this season. After all, Kenny Walker, Winston Bennett and three little guys can accomplish just so much with hustle, heart and grit.

So, it came as no surprise last Saturday when Kansas' 6-10 Danny Manning Jr. popped the UK balloon.

"We're overrated," Coach Eddie Sutton said last week when asked about his reaction to being ranked 9th in the nation.

Comment: It said in this space in preseason that No. 18 was more realistic for UK.

Despite Eddie Sutton's finest defensive strategems UK is going to have problems with 'big folks' who have better than adequate supporting casts this season. That is large mobile fellows like Manning (with 7-1 Greg Dreiling and 6-8 Ron Kellogg), Louisville's 6-10 Pervis Ellison (with 6-8 Billy Thompson, 6-7 Herb Crook and a swarm of others), and 6-11 Chris Washburn of North Carolina State (with 6-9 Charles Shackelford and 6-7 Walker Lambiotte and a swarm of others).

Comment: For my money, Ellison is the finest, most poised (and cocky) freshman in the college game since Patrick Ewing in 1981.
