Amateur artists show set

Amateur artists from Laurel, Whitley, Knox, Jackson, Clay, Pulaski, Rockcastle, and McCreary counties are invited to submit original paintings for display in competition during the fifth Cumberland Gallery Spring Art Show, slated April 29 through May 2 in London.

To be eligible for entry, artists must reside within the area composed by the eight above mentioned counties and be of affirmed amateur status. An amateur is defined as one who does not, or has not in the past, earned a sizeable portion of income through the sale or teaching of his/her art.

Participants in the Spring Art Show may enter a single work in one of five categories: Still Life, Portrait, Landscape, Contemporary, or Animal. Prizes and ribbons will be awarded in each class by Lester Pross, arts department chairman at Berea College, who returns for his fourth year as judge for the event. Pross also will be serving as judge for the special student competition, open to all Laurel County students, age 16 and under.

In addition to these displays by the area's fine amateur artists and Laurel County students, the Show also will feature selected works by special exhibitor Daniel Dutton, a professional artist residing in Somerset who has recently had a one-man show at Berea College and Washington, D.C.

Both Pross and Dutton will be on hand to kick off the Show at the opening reception in Cumberland Gallery on Monday evening, April 28, from 7 to 9 p.m. A special invitation to attend is extended to the public and especially to the exhibiting artists. During this time, the public will be given its first chance to view the Show, which will be judged prior to the opening Applications for entry in the Cumberland Gallery Art Show are available in London at Cumberland Valley National Bank Main Office and all branch locations.

KEST tests to be given in county week of April 1-4

The Kentucky Essential Skills Test (KEST) will be administered to all students (grades K-12) in Rockcastle County the week of April 1-4.

By law the KEST must be administered between the 14th and 15th instructional school days. Make-up tests will continue to be administered the week of April 7-9.

All students in grades K-12 will be tested in the basic skills areas of reading, mathematics, spelling, writing and library/reference/research.

In addition to the basic skills areas, students in grades 3-12 will take the TCS (Test of Cognitive Skills), an aptitude type test which measures skills in the areas of sequences, analogies, memory and verbal reasoning.

The TCS helps to project the potential of a student so that some comparison can be then given to the actual achieved score.

Students in grades 3-12 will also be administered the science and social studies portions of the comprehensive test of basic skills (CTBS).

"It is important that students put forth a real effort in taking the test because results of the total testing program are used for various purposes," school officials said.

Results are used in monitoring the progress of individual students, individual classes and individual grades at both the school and district level.

Placement in the various school programs is partially dependent upon students' performance on the KEST.

Parents can assist the testing effort by promoting the following recommendations:

Recognize the importance of the testing program and support the effort with a positive attitude.

Promote attendance. Students will be required to make up the test if absent.

Stress the importance of getting proper rest prior to test administration. Students need to get a good night's sleep and eat a good breakfast on test administration days.

For more specific scheduling arrangements, parents should telephone the individual schools.

Any parent or student who has a question regarding the testing program is encouraged to contact the school principal and/or guidance counselor or Bige Towery, district testing coordinator, at 256-4144.

Proponents say the new decal system will be more equitable than the weight/distance tax and easier to enforce. The bill also extends the credit for gasohol for another two years.

"SUIT"

Miller's defense counsel for plaintiff submitted a "strike sheet" to the defendant in which he lined through the name of Bobby Thacker, a prospective juror, and had written "strike" next to the name. When the jury was selected, the name which the defense had requested to be stricken was among the jurors that actually heard the case and which found plaintiff guilty of the charged offense.

The plaintiff claimed it was Miller's duty to strike the juror which "not only denied plaintiff of his right to a fair trial, the right to strike up to eight prospective jurors, the defendant also prejudiced the plaintiff by leaving the juror on the panel which heard the plaintiff's case. Prejudice was the reason that plaintiff struck the prospective juror to begin with."

Your Child's Health

by
Dr. John Payne

One player scoring three goals in a hockey game is called a "Hat Trick." One patient seeing three doctors in one week for the same illness has also been called a hat trick, or other less kind phrases in doctor shop talk. Getting second opinions, especially for surgical procedures, being referred to specialists for complicated problems, or visiting different doctors in the same office where doctors are partners is certainly desirable and understandable. However, going to different primary care doctors with you or your child just because the illness hasn't cleared in a couple of days is more often than not confusing and could even be harmful. Often patients can't remember what medicine was given and may wind up with too much or conflicting medicines.

The key is good communication. Usually when I see a patient who has been "shopping around," I ask why they didn't go back to their previous doctor. Usually they say something to the effect that "I didn't tell me what was wrong." If you don't understand, ask questions of the doctor. If you don't understand the answers, ask again.

Other answers for doctor dissatisfaction may be "he didn't order any lab tests," "he ordered too many tests," my mother-in-law says I don't feed this kid right and I have to find a doctor who will talk to her. "I know my child has worms and the last two doctors don't believe in worms." "I didn't want to bother my regular doctor with something simple."

Although all doctors need to see patients to make a living, almost all would prefer to see patients with "virgin" illnesses being suffered by patients who are there because they feel this doctor can give them good diagnosis and treatment and understanding at a reasonable cost, and will know about the case if things don't get better in a few days. It's a good relationship to nurture.

Poisonous plants are one of the leading causes of accidental poisoning in children. It is a good idea to have the plants in your yard and house identified by a professional or greenkeeper and record in case ingestion occurs.

Many common plants can be dangerous if certain parts are eaten (bulbs, seeds, etc.). The innocent-looking daffodil can be deadly.

Following is a partial list of some common plants that are poisonous:

Azaleas, buttercups, caladium, daffodil (especially bulbs), digitalis (foxglove), English ivy (leaves, berries), foxglove, iris (bulb, leaves), Jack-in-the-pulpit, jimson weed, lily-of-the-valley, philodendron, pokeweed, rhubarb (leaf blade), wisteria (seeds pods).

If you would like a more complete list, call the Kentucky Poison Center at 1-800-722-7272. Lists of non-poisonous plants are available free at the Mt. Vernon Drive Thru Pharmacy.

Easter Seal telethon is soon

The 15th Annual Cardinal Hill Hospital/Easter Seal Telethon will be held Saturday and Sunday, April 5 and 6, on WKYT-TV Channel 27. Our host, Keith Ward, will be joined by Mary Lou Whitney, Fran Curci, Bill Collins, Brownell Combs, Rev. Wayne Smith, Ted Bassett, Phyllis George Brown and Donald and Dudley Webb, as well as many other guests.

The telethon begins at 11:30 p.m. Saturday, April 5, and ends at 6 p.m. Sunday, April 6. The Bid Board Plan will also be televised live from Fayette Mall in Lexington. More than 100 items including six hot seats to The Oaks and The Derby donated by Mrs. Whitney, a Drexel highboy valued at $2,000, and a seven-day vacation in the Webb's Vero Beach condominium will be auctioned off throughout the day.

The hospital is also sponsoring a Health Fair at Fayette Mall during the telethon.

WYMT-TV in Hazard will also be hosting the telethon live with host Steve Grabtree interviewing many officials and patients from Eastern Kentucky.

All proceeds from the telethon remain at Cardinal Hill Hospital which services both children and adults. Approximately 40% of Cardinal Hill's patients are from Eastern Kentucky.

Alimony and Child Support

Proper planning is necessary to insure the best tax treatment for divorce payments from one spouse to another. Normally, alimony is deductible on the income tax return of the payor and is taxable as income to the recipient. Structure your agreement to provide the most advantageous tax treatment to both parties.

Some basic rules for alimony treatment:

1. Payments must be made in cash, either directly to the recipient or to some third party on behalf of the recipient.

2. Payments must be required under a written decree of divorce, separation, or other court order.

3. The payments must terminate upon the death of the recipient.

4. There are special requirements on the duration of the payments based on the amount of money and the fluctuations in the payment amount from year to year.

The new regulations contain a very serious tax trap in reference to "terminating payment in the event of death." The divorce instrument must specify that there is no money, substitute payment, or property settlement due upon the death of the recipient. To the extent such continued payments after death are required, there will be no deduction allowed for the money paid during the lifetime of the recipient. This provision is effective for agreements written after 1984.

Agreements written prior to 1985 had to specifically state that a portion of the payment was for child support; otherwise, the entire amount was deemed to be alimony. This was true even though the amount of payment might fluctuate with contingencies concerning the children such as completing school, getting married, or reaching a certain age. For agreements entered into after 1984, any adjustment in the payments due to a change in the child's status will result in payments to be treated as child support.

CARD OF THANKS
The family of Nannie Durham wishes to express sincere thanks for the kindest sympathy shown during her illness and death. We want all the neighbors and friends to know what a comfort it was to have them near during our sorrow.
The service was officiated by Bro. Miller and Bro. Cornelius who helped lift our sorrow with their nice words, as was the beautiful music by the Cromer Trio. We want to thank the pallbearers for their assistance and the Douell & Martin Funeral Home for their efficiency.
To our dear friends and neighbors who sent food and flowers, it was greatly appreciated. May God bless each one of you.

FIRE SWEEPS ACROSS WOODLANDS ON COVE BRANCH ROAD

Forest fires burn over 500 acres of county woodland

By: Ray McClure

Forest fires raged over hundreds of acres in eastern Kentucky Tuesday causing losses in the thousands of dollars to woodland.

As many as 200 acres within an estimated 500 acres of Rockcastle County Tuesday, with as many as five burning at the same time, presenting a problem for firefighters.

A major county fire was at Mullins Station where in excess of 300 acres burned. That fire was still burning Wednesday. Termed the largest of the state, firemen were kept busy as the blaze kept rekindling, fanned by strong winds.

On Cove Branch, about 250 acres burned, at one time virtually surrounding the auto race track. It swept on across the mountain while concerned owners of property watched helplessly.

Dick Arley, who has property in that area, watched as the fire progressed up the hill back of his house and into the woods. He had a water hose hooked up at the nearby home of Carl Robbins just in case. Arley knows for keeping several wild animals, said none were at the Cove Branch farm.

Another fire was reported Tuesday in the Sand Hill area, but the amount of acreage involved is not known. Two acres burned on a farm owned by Wendell Williams in the Conway area. Another fire was located at Red Hill on property owned by Glen Hammonds. There was another fire at Ottawa that burned about an acre on property owned by Della Mae

All three fire departments in the county responded to one or more of the fires.

Forestry officials have asked residents to refrain from burning until there is some relief, meaning rain. However, forecasters do not see much rain in the immediate future, possibly until next week.

Kevin Fletcher at the Mt. Vernon Fire Department said firemen were doing all they can to help, but calls were coming in too fast and the departments were having difficulty in answering all of them.

Although Rockcastle had the dubious honor of having the largest fire in the state Tuesday at Mullins Station, there were many others in eastern Kentucky, particularly in Pike and Knott counties.

A forestry official said there were 74 new fires in Kentucky Tuesday, with 54 of them east of Interstate 75. But there were only two new fires in the Boone County National Forest Tuesday.

All considered, this outbreak of fires has been termed the worst since the 1980-81 fire season.

On Monday, 101 fires broke

Gas tax could add to local road fund

By: Ray McClure

An estimated $326,000 in additional annual highway aid for Rockcastle County will be available when the new five cents a gallon motor fuels tax goes into effect, according to a report from the Kentucky Department of Finance, and confirmed by State Rep. Danny Ford.

Rep. Ford, who voted for the tax, said the additional money was needed by the state to maintain the fast deteriorating state and county roads.

"Our roads need to be maintained and this seems to be the only way to do it," Rep. Ford said. "We didn't have much of a choice."

The current status of county road aid shows Rockcastle now receives $281,697 in road aid. The new tax would add about $174,219 to that fund, making a total of $455,916 annually for the county. There will also be an additional allocation for rural secondary roads, or those maintained by the state in Rockcastle. That amount is currently $365,192. The new tax would add $138,032, for a total of $503,224 annually.

The municipalities will also benefit. Mt. Vernon, Brodhead and Livingston now receive a total of $23,525 annually. The new tax would add $13,779, for a total of $37,304.

Livingston, which now receives $16,973, will get an additional $9,590, for a total of $26,563.

Brodhead, which now receives $4,813, will get $2,819 more for a total of $7,632.

Livingston, which now gets $2,343, will get $1,372 for a total of $3,715.

All amounts would probably be subject to change, depending on the total amount received by the state to distribute to the counties and cities.

Rep. Ford said if the added tax had not been passed, it was his understanding from state officials that the southern section of KY 461 would have been delayed indefinitely. The section is from an area just north of Buck Creek to the end of the new section at Wabed. The southern leg from Buck Creek to KY 80 is already under contract.

Tuesday, the Senate passed the tax bill as expected by a vote of 25-13. Sen. John Rogers of Somerset voted against the bill.

As now set up, the bill would increase the current 10-cent a gallon tax by one cent for each two-cent decline in the wholesale price of gas.

The entire five cents will probably be added when the tax takes effect on July 1. Once set, the tax cannot be lowered.

Each penny increase is estimated to raise about $20 million for the highway fund.

As passed by the House, bill imposes a maximum tax increase of two cents on the actual pump price of fuel for long haul trucks.

The bill also changes the weight/distance tax for trucks to a decal system. The owners of trucks weighing 60,000 pounds or more will pay $150 to $200 a year

Tobacco program changes called helpful for farmers

Calling it a "great day for tobacco growers," Fifth District Congressman Harold Rogers said Congress has approved legislation making important changes in the federal tobacco program.

"We have finally resolved many of the thorny problems facing our tobacco program with this legislation," said Rogers. "It was a tough battle to get the legislation approved, but we got the job done."

The tobacco reform legislation was included in a budget bill, which was delayed for several months by disagreements over non-tobacco issues. Finally, the logjam was broken this week, and both the House and Senate okayed the legislation.

"These reforms are vital to the future of the program," Rogers said. "They include selling off the surplus tobacco stocks which have caused so many problems for our tobacco growers."

In addition, we will now have the tobacco companies sharing any future no-net-cost fees with our growers. These and other changes will make our tobacco more competitive and will hopefully reduce the amount of imported leaf we have seen in recent years."

Rogers said tobacco growers can now look ahead with confidence to the upcoming burley referendum and to the future of the tobacco program.

Clerk Denver Miller sued

A Rockcastle man now serving life in the penitentiary has filed suit in U. S. District Court at London against Rockcastle Circuit Clerk Denver Miller.

John H. Taylor, acting as his own attorney, is asking compensatory and punitive damages totaling $350,000.

Taylor was convicted in March 1984 of shooting Bentley "Mutt" Furman at Taylor's home on Gauley Branch.

In his suit, Taylor claims that

Clerk Miller, or his agents, failed to "remove all jurors who have been struck by the court, the Commonwealth or the defense, and to replace said jurors by drawing names of prospective jurors from the jury box."

Taylor charged that "the defendant failed to fulfill his duty as clerk of the Rockcastle Circuit Court causing damages and prejudice to plaintiff during his trial in the above court."

Taylor said "prior to the

New x-ray equipment is installed at local hospital

An eight-year dream came true for the radiology department at the Rockcastle County Hospital recently with the installation of a new radiographic and fluoroscopic (R/F) diagnostic system in the department, making the most advanced imaging technology available to the community.

The special R/F system is manufactured by Picker International, a leader in the diagnostic imaging industry, and is the same system used by many renowned institutions worldwide. The new R/F system is an investment of about $150,000.

In x-ray diagnosis, physicians and surgeons today can examine the skull, the spine, and other bones of the body. They can see that a broken bone is set properly, and how it is knitting. They can find gallstones and kidney stones. The presence of tuberculosis, heart disease, ulcers and tumors can be accurately detected.

The use of x-rays is the most satisfactory method for discovering, without exploratory surgery, many conditions that might not otherwise be observed until too late for treatment.

The Astro R/F X-Ray Table is a general purpose radiographic and fluoroscopic table of unique design for gastro intestinal examinations and selected special procedures.

"Astro's capability can be further expanded by adding optional pieces of equipment to our unit if our future clinical requirements dictated the need," said Dr. W. A. Heinz, chief radiologist.

According to Debbie Brown, chief technologist, the new instrument is "indeed an eight-year dream come true, to see the department enlarge and improve."

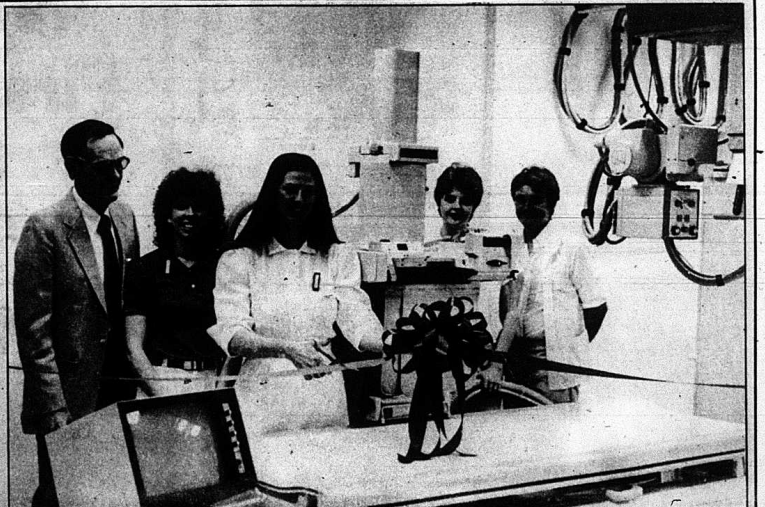

She explained that since she started to work at the hospital, the patient load has continued upward.

"This second room will help us with the patient work load so they will not have to wait in x-ray nearly as long as they did before," Mrs. Brown stated. "We will have both rooms functioning during our peak hours."

The Astro radiographic/fluoroscropy room has special features that speeds up work. The table moves in four directions, stands upright, making it use easier for the patient and the technician.

"We now can x-ray patients

Ribbon cutting was the order of the day Wednesday as a new diagnostic R/F system (x-ray) was unveiled at the Rockcastle County Hospital. Cutting the ribbon is Debbie

B.I.T. is truly a county tourney . . .

Dear Editor:

I would like to publicly apologize to Mrs. Boggs from Livingston and the Broadhead community for saving the B.I.T. (Broadhead Invitational Tournament) was a county tournament. The B.I.T. is a Broadhead community event that is made possible due to the efforts of the school staff, students, Broadhead Fire Department, Broadhead P.T.A., the Broadhead community and many "blessed" people in the county.

This tournament, to the jealousy of many, is a great success and the Broadhead community is proud of the success.

To the rest of Mrs. Boggs' article, I could care less who she thinks. The B.I.T. is an invitational tournament in which all a team has to do is say that they do not want to play, and another team is found to take their place.

The B.I.T. had nothing to do with stopping a 7th and 8th grade tournament. Mrs. Boggs should check elsewhere to find why it was cancelled.

There was a reference made about the expense of other schools to the B.I.T. I have never seen this type of reference made by schools attending the Boosters' Tournament or the Livingston Lions 5th and 6th grade tournament.

The reason my team and the others didn't go any further in our tournament was that the other teams must have been better.

The major problem today is when something is good, someone tries to destroy it. To the B.I.T. Committee, keep up your tournament. You are a class act-hard to compete with.

Respectfully yours,

William D. Riddle

Appreciate help with Frankfort trip . . .

Dear Editor:

On Friday, Mar. 21, the junior high students, faculty and chaperones from B.E.S. visited the Capitol in Frankfort.

We want to publicly thank Ms. Martha Wesley, county 4-H extension agent, for arranging the trip and Rep. Danny Ford for welcoming us upon our arrival at the Capitol and letting us view the legislative sessions.

This was a very educational trip, as few of us are ever able to have such an experience as watching various bills being brought before the House of Representatives and the process each one goes through before it is accepted or rejected. Rep. Ford had each student in junior high an Honorary Page certificate prepared.

The efforts of Ms. Wesley and Rep. Ford were very much appreciated by all of us.

Sincerely,

7th and 8th grade students
Broadhead Elementary School

Not guilty . . .

Dear Editor:

In reference to the article in last week's Signal saying that I had been accused of theft by unlawful taking, this is not true. I have stolen nothing and proved so in court. All that it amounted to was I missed two days of work.

Thank you,

Bruce Wynn

Mt. Vernon remembered . . .

Dear Editor:

I would like to announce what Mt. Vernon was in my first days around there. I was born and raised in a log house, about one half mile north of the old Cove Schoolhouse, near the top of the hill, on Tuesday, May 4, 1890. When I was about nine or ten years old, my father (William Harrison Proctor) would take me to Mt. Vernon, especially on circus days, which at that time a circus show would come to Mt. Vernon every year.

At that time there were no paved streets, only small rock and dirt. The first street from Main between Main and the railroad was called Jockey Street. That is where on court days the men would hitch and trade horses. That was their regular horse trading days. There were no sidewalks on any street. On Main Street from the south end was Billy Painter's hardware store where the Mt. Vernon Signal office is today. Next was Robert and Ed Cox's store. Across the street were Grant Baker's store, the post office, Sidney Franklin, watch repair, Dr. Conner, dentist, Thompson's dwelling, Mrs. Kate Moore's confectionery and hotel. Next was Richmond Street was a small triangle park and the railroad.

On the other side of Main Street was Cox Funeral Home, the courthouse; then across Church Street was Jones Fish's clothing store; Burdett McKinzie's furniture store, Dr. Davis' drug store, Paris Sower's barber shop, Bill McKee's store across the street Casper Williams' home, Sam Davis' store and Fred Kreager's store and the L&N railroad. There were trees on both sides of Main Street between Church Street and the hotel. They were about six to eight inches through.

The doctors were Dr. Monroe Pennington, Dr. Lewis, Dr. Chestnut, Dr. Lasswell, Dr. Davis, Dr. Childress, Lawyers were Casper Williams, J. Bethum brothers, Ashley Owens, Matt Ballard and Judge Bethum. County clerks, Felix Bowman, Tom Nicely.

On Dec. 21, 1910 I married Miss Eva Ramsey of Mt. Vernon, the daughter of Steve Ramsey, who at that time was a butcher and also ran a restaurant, the first building north of the railroad and Main Street. He died there in 1916.

A few years prior to that electric lights were installed, which was a great improvement to the town. At that time about all water works they had was the sweat spring. It was the life of the town. The next improvement was the Mt. Vernon Fair, which only lasted a few years.

My wife raised two children—a boy and a girl—but on April 4, 1962 we had to give her up. She passed away and we buried her in the Winchester Cemetery.

I enjoy reading the Mt. Vernon Signal and would like very much to visit there some time, but I am in my 96th year now and have no car. I can't drive anyway. I had a first cousin, Mrs. Bettie Davis, in Mt. Vernon, who lived to be 100 years and six months old. The only relatives I have are Raymond Rickels and Amanda Maggard (second cousins).

I worked 50 years as a telegraph operator on the Cincinnati division of the L&N Railroad between Cincinnati and Corbin. I retired April 1, 1960.

James B. Proctor

P.S. There is a very dangerous thing in Rockcastle, within about 300 or 400 yards from where I was raised. It is not a cave, but it was always called a sinkhole. It goes straight down. It is a hole big enough for a cow to fall in and is even with the ground and open to the world. A windlass was made and a 300 ft. rope attached and a man went down on it the length of the rope (300 ft.) and never found a bottom to it. Anything could fall

Superintendent of Public Instruction

"In the last century, a Woodford County educator complained bitterly that the "difficulty I meet is to get the people to understand that a child is worth as much as a racehorse." As recently as 10 years ago, the same might have been said. Throughbreds were bringing megabucks on the auction block at Kenneled, but whenever the columns of the state's newspapers covered young people, the event was athletic in nature. Student academic achievements were conspicuous by their apparent absence from the collective mind of the commonwealth.

Of course, here and there, parents made sure that their children got the best teachers, took the toughest courses and qualified for the college and university of their choice.

But elsewhere, the dropout rate was climbing and the test scores were sagging. School attendance reached a low in 1977, and the percentage of ninth-graders finishing high school reached a bottom of 63 percent in 1980.

As recently as 1970, only 35.6 percent of our adult population had finished high school.

In 1978, Kentucky's lawmakers became concerned. In that year, the General Assembly passed the Education Improvement Act and instituted, for the first time, a mandatory statewide testing program to measure academic performance.

In 1984, during the exciting first month of my administration, statewide study groups and reformers came together and discovered that, individually and in some isolation from one another, they had reached virtually the same conclusions about what was wrong with Kentucky's educational system and what needed to be done to fix it.

In response to the 1984 General Assembly passed a fat package of reforms. Although that package did not contain big bucks, it did contain the foundation stones of a high-quality academic program. Included in that package were essential skills for learning, a testing and internship program for new teachers, a mandatory statewide testing program in all grades, a mandatory annual performance report for every school and school district in the state, and an academic bankruptcy bill.

Have these reforms worked? In education, it is never possible to say that something that has been "fixed" today will "work" tomorrow or even next year.

But something is working. Let me cite examples.

By 1980, the census showed that 53.1 percent of our adults had finished high school. That is 50th in the nation, but it is also 50 percent better than 10 years before. It also reflects one of the fastest rates of improvement in the country.

By 1985, Kentucky's new teachers were outperforming national averages on the National Teacher Examinations.

By 1985, attendance had climbed to a record of 94.44 percent, the numbers of ninth-graders completing high school recovered to 67.4 percent, and a higher percentage of high school graduates were going on to college than ever before.

When the U. S. secretary of education passed his famous "wall chart" of educational statistics recently, Kentucky tied with Alabama for second place in the rate of improvement among the 28 states where college-bound seniors take the American College Test.

How else is the reform working?

By 1984, only 46 schools met the high standards required to win a Flag of Excellence awarded by the Kentucky Educational Foundation Inc. In 1985, a total of 61

A Louisville man lost control of his tractor-trailer Monday while traveling west on U.S. 25 and had to drive it between the gas pumps shown above and the building. He managed to avoid a car sitting at the intersection of 25 & 150. This was the second time in only a few weeks that a loaded truck has went out of control on the steep hill entering Mt. Vernon.

Another narrow miss after truck loses brakes on hill

By: Richard Anderkin

A major tragedy was averted for the second time Monday, but many local residents are wondering how many more times it can be.

A runaway tractor-trailer truck made its way through the intersection of U.S. 25 and U.S. 150 in Mt. Vernon Monday morning after the brakes on the truck failed. Before the truck, which was driven by Joseph Weiss, 34, of Louisville, went through the intersection, it struck a car driven by Pearl Newton, 75, of Mt. Vernon, behind the Rockcastle County Courthouse after she pulled out onto the highway.

Neither Mrs. Newton nor Weiss were injured, according to Mt. Vernon City Policeman Frank DeBorde. DeBorde said that after Weiss struck the tractor vehicle, he continued west on U.S. 25 and through the intersection of U.S. 150. But, DeBorde said that there was a vehicle stopped at the intersection that hindered Weiss' movement through the three-way stop.

Weiss drove his truck, which was loaded with produce, through the lot of David Bishop's tire store at the top of the hill. The tractor trailer went between Bishop's gas pumps and his building, and back onto the road before coming to a stop in front of Mt. Vernon Feedhouse.

Bishop said that the tractor trailer could not have had more than six inches of clearance on both sides. "If it had been 15 minutes later, my pickup would have been sitting there and he would not have had anywhere to go. I'm seriously thinking about moving this to a dangerous location," Bishop said.

Local realtor Sam Ford, whose office is located on U.S. 25 and who saw Monday's accident, said, "It's a scary situation and a very dangerous one." Mrs. Newton's car was struck in front of Ford's office.

On Jan. 2 a runaway Pepsi-Cola truck nearly claimed the life of its driver, Virgil Maxey of London, when the brakes failed on his truck. Maxey was not as lucky as Weiss. When he went through the intersection, he struck a car driven by Mattie Howard of Mt. Vernon and traveled hundreds of feet over an embankment before coming to rest on its top in the side of a Stewart Fertilizer building.

Maxey is recovering from the accident which also sent Mrs. Howard to the hospital. He totaled his Pepsi truck and did $30,000 in damage to Stewart's building.

Luckily both accidents have occurred at times when the intersection was not very busy. If either accident had been between 7:30 a.m. and 8:30 a.m., a probable loss of life would have occurred.

The elephants' closest living relatives are the water-dwelling sea cows.

Paint planned for old caboose

The old red caboose in downtown Mt. Vernon will get a face lift. The Board of Directors of the Rockcastle County Chamber of Commerce decided at a meeting Tuesday.

Dr. John Parsons, president of the chamber, said the outside would be painted and a new sign attached. The inside would be remodeled as time and money allows.

Dr. Parsons stated that eventually a walk-up would be constructed for easier access and the caboose would become a tourist information center at some future date.

He also announced May 6 is the tentative date for the chamber's annual banquet.

The next meeting of the chamber will be held at 7 p.m. Tuesday in the Bank of Mt. Vernon Community Room.

"The Arkansaw Bear" will kick-off local art season

The Rockcastle Council for the Arts kicks off this season's fund drive with "The Arkansaw Bear," an important new work by America's foremost playwright for young audiences.

Saddened and bewildered at her grandfather's approaching death, Tish runs to her "special tree." There, in a world of fantasy provided by her wishing on a star, she meets the World's Greatest Dancing Bear. He is old, like her grandfather, and is running away from death. In trying to help him, she begins to understand the meaning of both life and death, which helps her cope with her own sadness. In a delightfully theatrical way, the play blends realism and fantasy, pathos and humor with music, magic and dance.

"The Arkansaw Bear" is sparking with entertainment and at the same time dramatizes with poignancy a universal truth. Production dates are April 4 and 5 at 7 p.m. at Rounsifer Elementary School. There will be no charge for admission, but donations will be welcomed at the door.

After having your heart warmed and your children delighted by "The Arkansaw Bear," we hope you will take advantage of the opportunity to enjoy further entertainment we make available for you this month. Wishing to have something for everybody, we have scheduled a true variety of events ranging from a country band to a woodwind quintet. This classical group will appear at the Mt. Vernon Christian Church on the evening of April 10, an evening which promises to be captivating for music lovers. Country music lovers will not want to miss "Muddi Creek" when they appear at the Livingston Elementary School on April 20.

To cap off our fund raising month of April, we invite you all to bring your lunches and "Picnic in the Park" with us on the courthouse lawn on April 27. Spend the afternoon relaxing with your friends and enjoying the sounds of local musicians, the high school chorus, and the Mike Allen Jazz Trio.

While you sample these selections, we ask you to remember that we could not continue to make them available to you without our continued financial support.

In only our third year of existence, the Rockcastle Arts Council is still considered a "new community" by the state arts council, and as such is still eligible for a challenge grant of $10,050. We will only be eligible for this grant if we raise $2,000. This means that we must raise $2,000. With your help we can meet this goal. Be generous and enjoy.

NUTRITION PROBLEMS FOR TEENS
 (Last of four parts)

The majority of teenagers are healthy and eat relatively nutritious meals.

However, they too face some special problems with nutrition and this final article in a series highlighting National Nutrition Month focuses on some of them ranging from iron deficiency anemia, to obesity to psychological problems such as the recent highly publicized anorexia nervosa.

Some common nutrient deficiencies among teenagers are iron, calcium, riboflavin and vitamin A. The lack of calcium and riboflavin can be attributed to inadequate milk consumption by teenagers, especially teenage girls. The RDA is 1,200 milligrams for both sexes and 10 to 15 mg. for almost four

Engagement announced

Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Cummins of Winchester announce the engagement of their daughter, Tammy Charlene Cummins, to Anthony A. Davidson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnet Davidson of Mt. Vernon.

Miss Cummins is a 1983 graduate of George Rogers Clark High School and is employed by Peoples Commercial Bank in Winchester. Mr. Davidson is a 1984 graduate of Eastern Kentucky University. He is a member of Kappa Alpha fraternity. He is employed by Jones, Nale and Mattingly CPA's of Winchester.

The wedding will be at 2:30 p.m. April 19 at Providence Baptist Church. The custom of open wedding will be observed.

Mrs. Hopkins is winner of national Award of Merit

Mrs. Emmie Daugherty Hopkins recently won the National Business Education Association Award of Merit for Outstanding Achievement in Business Education at Eastern Kentucky University.

The award consists of an attractive certificate and a year's professional membership in the National Business Education Association. The association sponsors the award of merit through its Teacher Education Division, the National Association for Business Teacher Education.

Ms. Hopkins is also one of the 61 students from Eastern Kentucky University included in the 1986 edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges."

Earlier this year Ms. Hopkins was presented with the Dean's Award by the dean of the College of Business for being named to the dean's list a number of consecutive times during her college years.

Ms. Hopkins is president of the Business Educated Honor Society at Eastern and will graduate in May with a bachelor's degree in business education, with an endorsement in accounting.

Ms. Hopkins is a 1981 graduate of Rockcastle County High School and Harry Sparks Vocational School. She is married to Mike Hopkins and is the daughter of Rev. and Telvis Daugherty of Mt. Vernon.

Brock graduates

Chadwick W. Brock, son of Virgil M. Brock of Rt. 1, Brodhead, has graduated from the U. S. Air Force administrative specialist course at Keesler Air Force Base, Miss.

Graduates of the six-week course learned how to prepare Air Force correspondence and reports, and earned credits toward an associate degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force.

He is a 1984 graduate of Rockcastle County High School.

First Christian to be in revival March 31 - April 6

The First Christian Church of Mt. Vernon will be the scene of revival services the week of March 31 to April 6. Eddie Hammond of the Shively Christian Church in Louisville will be the evangelist.

Bro. Hammond is a graduate of Kentucky Christian College in Grayson and a former member of First Christian Church. He is married to the former Roxanne Hammons of Mt. Vernon, and they have one son, Andrew.

Dr. G. W. Griffith will be the song leader for the services, and special music will be provided for each service. The Gospel Good-Timers will be singing on Monday and Wednesday evenings.

A nursery will be provided for each service, and also bus transportation for those who need it.

Ernie Johnson, the minister of First Christian Church, cordially invited the public to attend these services.

Special services at First Christian

Good Friday will be observed at First Christian Church on March 28 at 7:30. A communion service will be observed and a time of meditation will be the major part of the service.

The annual sunrise service held by the First Christian Churches will be held this year at the church building on West Main Street. There will be special music plus a message by Bro. Ernie Johnson. After the worship service in praise of the resurrection, a light breakfast will be enjoyed by all.

Lord of Life, Lord of All" is the theme of the annual Easter play at the First Christian Church Sunday, Mar. 30, at 7 p.m. The director of this year's play is Mrs. Betty Machal. This is a beautifully written and portrayed play depicting the last days of our Lord's life upon the earth. After the program, refreshments will be served in the church fellowship hall. Everyone is invited to attend.

"Billion Dollar Brains" (Cont. From 3) schools qualified.

Academic competitions are becoming part of the high school scene. In fact, the academic competition scheduled during this year's Sweet Sixteen marks the first time in the state's history that academics have shared a spotlight with athletics.

Most encouraging of all, there is a new respect for education in this state. Where once it was "OK" to quit school without a diploma, Kentucky students now know its value.

Where once it was "OK" for parents to boost extracurricular activities, now they form partnerships with businesses and civic groups to help schools build hands-on letters for academic achievement.

So a new wind stirs in Kentucky this spring. Horses may still bring megabucks at Keeneland, but it is not the horses that attract the billions of dollars worth of new plants and manufacturing facilities to Kentucky.

Now, at last, that long-dead Woodford County educator can begin to rest more peacefully.

Kentuckians are learning the true value of a child.

EKU Graduate School Day April 9

Individuals interested in graduate study will have an opportunity to find out more about graduate-level academic programs at Eastern Kentucky University during EKU's annual "Graduate School Day" Wednesday, April 9. The event will be held from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the Kenamer Room of the Powell Building, EKU.

"Graduate School Day provides an opportunity for prospective graduate students to discuss their career goals and find out more about the programs available at EKU from members of the graduate faculty involved in those programs," said Dr. Virginia Falkenberg, acting dean of EKU's Graduate School. "Representatives will be available to answer questions about financial aid, housing and career placement following graduation."

EKU undergraduate students needing 30 or fewer credit hours to complete baccalaureate degree requirements can be considered for undergraduate honors admission to graduate study, Falkenberg said. To be eligible the student must have an overall undergraduate grade point average of at least 3.5 at the time of admission.

EKU offers master of arts in education, master of arts and master of science degrees, each in Programs also are available leading to the degrees of master of business administration, master of music, master of music education and master of public administration.

The University offers the specialist degree in education and a joint doctoral degree in education in cooperation with the University of Kentucky.

Non-degree certification programs at EKU include elementary and secondary counseling, elementary and secondary principal, public personnel, superintendency, supervision, driver education, school psychology, and school business administration.

Additional information about graduate programs at EKU or about Graduate School Day is available from the Graduate

Frankfort Tour

As I talked, in the rotunda in City School's sixth grade pupils, it surely brought back pleasant memories. That is where I was allowed to take my former sixth grade pupils. Oh yes, they rubbed Lincoln's nose just as the present pupils did.

Lincoln's statue in the center of the rotunda overpowers the four smaller ones against the wall. These statues are of Ephraim McDowell, 1771-1830; Albert W. Barkley 1827-1959; Henry Clay 1777-1822; and Jefferson Davis, 1808-1887.

Near this central point, dolls dressed to represent each of Kentucky's first ladies were displayed. This is a project of Kentucky's Federated Woman's Club.

The quilt on another wall had squares that represent each of Kentucky's counties. An embroidered barn with Renfro Valley on its roof and a banjo below the barn represented Rockcastle County.

Cheryl Witt, Rockcastle County's Extension Agent, led the county's Extension Homemakers down flights of stairs to see the committee rooms in the annex, and then upstairs where legislative procedures took place.

After lunch in the annex's cafeteria, we walked upstairs.

Cindy Russell, Teresa and Barry, and also his mother, Mrs. Lula Bussell Rick and Mary Ann Childress were absent due to little Rachel Elizabeth being born Saturday, Mar. 22, at Pattie A. Clay Hospital, Richmond. She weighed 7 lb. 8 1/2 oz. Both mother and baby are fine. Guess Ricky is a little shaken up but able to go back to work. Congratulations to Ricky and Mary Ann.

Mrs. Mattie Reed has returned home from an 11 day stay in the St. Joseph Hospital in Lexington due to a heart attack. She is recuperating right well.

Recent visitors of John and Myrtle Helton were Mr. and Mrs. Dave Cooper and daughter, Johnnie Marie, of Springdale, Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. Donnie Helton and Nikkie and Jim Bussell.

Homemakers meet

The Rise & Shine Home of Bessie Met Mar. 11 at the home of Makers St. Clair, with Irene Baker serving as co-hostess.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Pauline Kinser. The devotional was given by Sharon Palmer.

After the business meeting and some discussion on future plans, the program on "Grooming Products" was presented by Margaret Coffey.

The meeting adjourned with a pot luck luncheon. There were 14 members and three guests present.

again, to "sit in" on a legislative session.

When I got on the front row of the balcony, where some wives of Kentucky representatives sat, I felt ill at ease. Then I saw Rep. Danny Ford wave in my direction from his desk below! That made me feel better.

Mrs. Philip Stone, the wife of the oldest Kentucky representative, sat beside me. She explained to me what was happening during the session. She gave me a copy of the day's Legislative Record. I decided, "You never get too old to learn!"

Hearing a prayer and then a pledge to U.S.A.'s flag starting the session made me feel great!

The monotonous reading of many bills was boring, but when Bill HB 126 Amendment was introduced and discussed, interested representatives and spectators took notice.

When votes by the representatives lit up the boards up front, the green lights outnumbered the red lights. That meant the bill had won its first battle, after being tabled one time, before going back to the House.

Located across the avenue from the Kentucky State Capitol is the Governor's Mansion. The tour group enjoyed visiting the restored lovely home to its original Beaux Arts style, which includes the simple formal garden based on the early landscape plans. Citizens across the Commonwealth, led by Gov. John Y. Brown's wife, Phyllis George, donated over a million dollars for this restoration.

Nineteen governors, including Martha Layne Collins, have lived in the mansion since 1914. It has received periodic changes and redecorations before 1980, when restoration and refurbishing started and ended in 1983.

Thirty-three governors lived in the earlier Governor's Mansion in Frankfort. It is the oldest executive mansion in the U.S.A. Lieutenant governors call this their home now, living on the upper floors.

Refreshments for the Rockcastle tourists were served on the first floor of this old mansion. Clubs use this floor for luncheons.

10 cousins hold 40 year reunion

Ten cousins, all girls, who shared a happy childhood in Brodhead got together in Sun City Center recently for their first reunion in over 40 years.

"We haven't stopped chattering a minute," said Edna Lightsey at the end of the reunion. She and her cousin, Gerry Jacob, both live in Sun City Center, and the two hosted the reunion.

Mrs. Eleanor Gray of Brodhead was one of those attending.

The 10 cousins were the daughters of four sisters who, themselves, were part of a family of 10 children. The sisters were very close, and they raised their families near each other in the small Kentucky town.

As the years passed, the cousins married and scattered throughout the country. (Most stayed in the south.) There were children, then grandchildren and finally great grandchildren. Throughout it all, the cousins kept in contact, although they never were all able to get together at the same time.

Several of the cousins also have winter homes in Florida, and this year they decided to have that long promised reunion. Those who weren't spending the winter here flew down for the get together.

County Extension Agent

DAIRY ADDITIVE CAN MEAN ADDED PROFITS

Kentucky dairy farmers could add an average $300 per replacement heifer to their bottom line through the use of an antibiotic widely used in the beef industry.

Monensin, marketed under the trade name Rumensin, is an antibiotic used to increase feed efficiency and rate of gain. It has been used successfully in beef herds for more than 10 years but has only recently been approved for use in dairy heifers.

Dan Riddell, dairy specialist in the University of Kentucky Cooperative Extension Service, said Rumensin can increase feed efficiency and rate of gain by 10 percent in cattle whose performance is below the standards of about 7.6 pounds per day weight increase in wags, breeds, and 1.3 pounds per day in small breeds.

The increase in average daily gain will cause heifers to reach breeding size sooner and to be bigger when they calve. Both of these are goals dairy farmers should be striving for. Rumensin also acts as a coccidiostat. This makes it especially useful in Kentucky where coccidiosis is a problem in many dairy herds. Rumensin is cleared for use in dairy heifers weighing more than 400 pounds. The recommended level is 200 mg per head per day.

Heifers should be started at about 100 mg per day for four or five days. It should then be fed continuously at 200 mg per day until the heifers calve.

Rumensin is not cleared for use by lactating cows, and will actually cause a drop in butterfat content.

Rumensin fed to replacement heifers causes no adverse effects on reproduction or milk production in the first or subsequent lactations.

While the use of Rumensin can be a plus in many operations, it is not a substitute for good management. A good heifer health program, including worming, is still critical: as is the proper, adequate, balanced rations.

For more information about the use of Rumensin in a replacement dairy heifer program, contact the County Extension Office.

Congressman Hal Rogers

Tobacco reforms will help solve long-term problems

After many months of controversy, compromise and negotiations, Congress has finally approved legislation which includes major reforms of the federal tobacco program. This act is a giant step toward solving many of the problems tobacco has been facing in recent years, and I was proud to support it and to work for its ultimate passage.

By far, the most important features of the legislation, which was tied to a larger budget bill, include provisions to sell off the large amount of surplus tobacco which has driven up the no-net-cost fees for our growers. By getting rid of this tobacco, we can clean the states and keep more money in our growers' pockets.

The other major provisions involve the tobacco companies agreeing to share any future no-net fees. This is an important feature, as it will help any future fees for growers and will also act as a deterrent to importing of tobacco by the cigarette companies. The two provisions together are major improvements over our current system and will help protect against future build-ups of surplus burley.

What was so frustrating for all of us—those of us in Washington working on the legislation, and those of you back home who needed these reforms—is that the process took so long. The idea of tying the tobacco provisions to a no-tobacco budget-balancing bill was to protect the tobacco amendments from direct attack. Unfortunately, other provisions of the budget bill became very controversial, and it was those controversies which held up final action until this past week.

Another positive outcome of this vote was that, once again, the tobacco-state congressmen and senators were able to work together as a team to push through important legislation. Although our rural numbers are dwindling in Congress, this effort encourages me to believe that we can still get support for important bills when we really need it.

Once the president has signed this legislation, our growers can look ahead with confidence to this upcoming growing season. They can vote in the tobacco referendum, knowing in advance what kind of program, they will be working under in the years ahead. And they will be able to plan for this year's crop with some reasonable certainty.

I have been pleased and proud to work on behalf of our tobacco growers and their families. Its health and vitality have a direct effect on everyone in the state of Kentucky.

Thanks to this new legislation, our tobacco program can continue to provide a source of income for thousands of families and jobs for rural communities. And that is reason for all of us to celebrate!

Farmers state planting expectations

The first indication from Kentucky farmers shows they plan to reduce the number of acres they have in corn, tobacco, grain sorghum and barley this growing season.

They also intend to increase soybean and oat acres, according to a survey done by the Kentucky

Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

"Of course, these intentions are as of March 1, and farmers may change their minds when it comes to the actual planting," said Agriculture Commissioner David E. Boswell.

Kentucky's burley tobacco growers plan to set 155,000 acres in 1986, down 10 percent from last year.

"This tends to follow national trends with growers from the eight-state Burley Belt intending to set 8 percent fewer acres," Boswell said.

Kentucky farmers say they intend to plant 157 million acres of corn in 1986, also down 10 percent from last year. At the same time, soybean acreage is expected to increase to 1.35 million acres, up 7 percent from last year.

Grain sorghum acreage is expected to fall the greatest amount, down 20 percent from last year. Barley acreage is expected to be down 16 percent from 1985.

Oat seedlings on the other hand, are expected to increase by 4 percent. But the acres of all hay harvested is expected to be unchanged from the 1985 total.

Ford completes real estate symposium in Florida

Hugh B. Miller, president of the National Auctioneers Association, has announced that Sammy Ford of Mt. Vernon attended and completed the NAA requirements of the three-day "Real Estate At Auction" symposium held in Clearwater, Fla. Jan. 27 through 29.

The symposium was designed to increase participants' knowledge and use of the auction method in selling all types of real estate, since this is the growing trend in the United States and Canada.

Stated Miller, "Ninety percent of all real estate in Australia is sold at auction at the present time. The North American people have indicated that they too like auctions as an alternative method of purchasing real estate since it allows them to determine the value of property by bidding."

Miller adds that buyers are now able to set their own prices and make their own assessments about real estate. This is part of the entrepreneurial spirit of our society.

Sammy Ford of the Ford Realty & Auction Company has been a member of the Kentucky business community for over 20 years.

There was a three-way tie for High Women's Game between Evelyn Mullins, Jamie Bryant and Jeanine Parsons, each with a 173.

Bill Reynolds holds High Men's Average with a 180. James Noe is second with a 179, and Jack Noe is third with a 176.

High Women's Average is held by Evelyn Mullins with a 166.

Fishing Report

Unseasonably cold temperatures and wind kept many anglers off the water during the past week although drier weather helped to alleviate the muddy water conditions at some lakes.

Lake Levels continue to be higher than normal for this time of the year, and with the forecast of warm weather this week, fishing should improve. White bass and crappie predominated the creel during the March 22-23 period covered by this report. The lake-by-lake rundown, as reported by conservation officers and creel clerks at each lake follows:

- KENTUCKY: Murky, rising slowly, four feet below summer pool, 50 degrees.
- BARKLEY: Murky, stable, four feet below summer pool, 53 degrees.
- BARREN: Clear to muddy, rising, 14 feet below summer pool, 49 degrees.
- NOLIN: Clear to muddy, rising, 14 feet below summer pool, 49 degrees.
- ROUGH RIVER: Muddy, murky, rising slowly, nine feet below summer pool, 49 degrees.
- TAYLORSVILLE: Muddy, falling at summer pool, 48 degrees.
- HERRINGTON: Clear to murky, falling slightly, five feet below summer pool, 52 degrees.
- GREEN RIVER: Murky to muddy, stable, 11 feet below summer pool, 50 degrees.
- CUMBERLAND: Clear to murky, rising slowly, 8 feet below summer pool, 49 degrees.
- DALE HOLLOW: Clear to murky, stable, four feet below summer pool, 49 degrees.

In second place is Alice Faulkner with a 161, and Jeanine Parsons is third with a 148.

- LAUREL: Clear, stable at summer pool, 50 degrees.
- CAVE RUN: Muddy, falling, eight feet below summer pool, 49 degrees; main lake, 51 degrees headwaters.
- PAINTSVILLE: Clear to murky, rising slowly, four feet below summer pool, 48 degrees.
- BUCKHORN: Murky to muddy, stable, 10 feet below summer pool, 53 degrees.
- GRAYSON: Murky, stable, eight feet below summer pool, 45 degrees.
- DEWEY: Clear to murky to muddy, stable, five feet below summer pool, 49 degrees.
- FISHTRAP: Murky, stable, 30 feet below summer pool, 54 degrees.
- WEST: Moderate fishing activity was reported at Kentucky Lake. Crappie were being caught on minnows and minnows in the 16-18 feet of water from stump rows and brush piles along primary and secondary creek channels.
- At Lake Barkley, light fishing activity for crappie with jigs around brushpiles, stumps and fish attractors in 3-12 feet of water, and for bass on crayfish-colored crankbaits off rip rap and rockpiles.
- WEST CENTRAL: At Barren River Lake, white bass were being caught in the headwaters by casting jigs and spinners, and crappie on minnows and jigs fished around stickups and brush piles in the head of the lake.

At Paintsville Lake, rainbow trout were being caught by trolling chad-colored crankbaits and spinners.

At Laurel River Lake, rainbows were being taken by trolling shallow running crankbaits, and bass were hitting jigs in the upper lake. Catches of muskie, crappie and white bass were being taken in Buckhore Lake tailwaters.

At Dewey Lake, bass were being caught on crankbaits and by jigging live nightcrawlers. Also, a few muskie were being taken on large minnows and by casting big crankbaits, with crappie hitting minnows fished over deadfalls in inlet headwaters.

bass were being caught in the headwaters near the Boole Guard county line in the vicinity of Kc 52 bridge by anglers casting spinners and jigs.

At Green River Lake, white bass were being taken by casting jigs in the headwaters, and in the lower lake, crappie on minnows and jigs in the brush and standing timber.

EAST: At Dale Hollow Lake, bass were hitting jig and rind combinations fished over deep banks and points and catfish were being caught on nightcrawlers in the heads of tributaries.

At Cave Run Lake, bass were being taken by flipping jig and rind combinations and casting spinnerbaits on a slow retrieve.

At Paintsville Lake, rainbow trout were being caught by trolling chad-colored crankbaits and spinners.

At Laurel River Lake, rainbows were being taken by trolling shallow running crankbaits, and bass were hitting jigs in the upper lake. Catches of muskie, crappie and white bass were being taken in Buckhore Lake tailwaters.

At Dewey Lake, bass were being caught on crankbaits and by jigging live nightcrawlers. Also, a few muskie were being taken on large minnows and by casting big crankbaits, with crappie hitting minnows fished over deadfalls in inlet headwaters.

At Fishtrap Lake, crappie were being taken on minnows and jigs over brush in 4-6 feet of water and bluegill on worms off rocky banks.

servings daily from the milk and cheese groups.

To meet iron requirements, teens should select foods such as meats and dried beans. Vitamin A needs easily can be met by including dark, leafy greens and deep yellow vegetables in the diet.

Obesity is a problem for some teens. One of the major reasons for this is inactive lifestyle. A nutritionally sound weight reduction program accompanied by exercise will result in fat loss without loss of lean body muscle.

A thorough perception of how to eat is a must for teens, among other things. It is called a condition called a "nerve," which is characterized by severe weight loss, loss of body hair or loss of hair and increased of the menstrual cycle. Teens often have a distorted body image; they believe they are fat, even though they may be slim. They are likely to be intelligent girls from upper middle class families. They often have problems with self-image and social interaction. Psychological help is required to overcome the condition.

Rare multiple goat birth on Charlie King farm

The population of Disputanta doubled last Friday—the animal population that is.

Charlie King's nanny goat, "Deb," produced four kids at one time (three billy goats and one nanny) and her daughter "Candy" produced two nanny goats the same day.

This is a rarity, according to local veterinarian Dr. K. R. Burdette and Tom Mills, extension agent. Mills said he knew of three lambs being born at one time but he said there's usually one so weak that it will die.

From personal observation, King will not be the case for Mr. King. They are all four frisky and very healthy.

Multiple kid births are not uncommon for Mr. King, who lives in King Hollow. "Deb" herself has produced 10 goats in the three years since Mr. King bought her at the stockyards in London—three in 1984, three in 1985, and four this time around. "Candy" only managed to produce one her first time but doubled her output this time.

King said the secret to the multiple births had to be in the nanny since two different billy goats were used in breeding "Deb."

In spite of all this activity, Mr. King insists that the goats are not a business with him. He uses them occasionally for pets and breeding and for milk goats, but only the ones he doesn't want to keep for pets and the milk.

King says that goats make wonderful pets, in spite of their aggravating moments when they head for the bark on your apple trees or get into your young blueberry bushes. This calls for a lot of electric fencing with barb wire for the bottom layer.

"Deb" is also a great milk producer, giving up to five quarts a day, but King doesn't drink the milk. He does feed it to his pigs and they really thrive on it, he said.

Mr. King bought his first goat in 1981 for a pet and for milk for his brother who was bothered with stomach trouble. His "pet" has snuggled, especially since the arrival of the prolific "Deb."

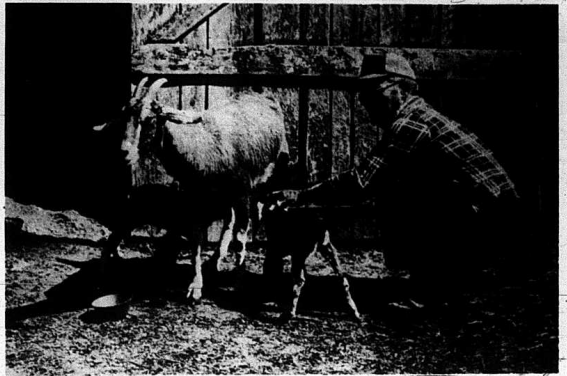

ASCS taking applications for Grain programs

The Rockcastle County ASCS office will be accepting applications for the 1986 Wheat and Feed Grain Programs through April 11. Participation in the programs is voluntary, but to be eligible for price support loans, deficiency payments and land diversion payments, producers must sign up.

Program provisions include a 20 percent acreage reduction requirement for feed grains and a 25 percent for wheat.

Payment rates for the 2 1/2 percent paid land diversion for wheat and grain producers are $1.10 per bushel for wheat and 73 cents for corn. The 10 percent additional, paid diversion option for winter wheat producers is $2 per bushel.

By participating in the 1986 acreage reduction programs, farmers can help control surplus commodities that tend to lower market prices. The sign-up period ends April 11. Further program details are available at the Rockcastle County ASCS office.

Deb's daughter, Candy, did almost as well as her mom on Friday. She managed to produce two nanny goats on the same day. Candy's goats are 1/4 Nubian while Deb's are one-half. In the bottom photo is "beuge." You might wonder why we added the picture of a lone billy goat but there was a very good reason. This laid back looking gentleman is the daddy of all six kid goats. However, he shouldn't be feeling too proud of himself as Mr. King said in his interview that he felt the multiple births were all due to the Nanny. (So there, George).

You might think the hand-fed corn from Mr. King to his prize goat "Deb" would be a little extra something for her performance in producing four kid goats at one time last Friday but it really wasn't. Deb proved to be camera shy and it took a little extra persuasion to get her to stand still for a photo with her four off-springs. The three billy goats and one nanny are all doing well.

Program allows farmers to lease home after losing farm

Farmers Home Administration borrowers who lose their farms for financial reasons may at least be able to retain their homes, according to an FMHA administrator.

Under an FMHA homestead program, a farmer who has lost his land due to FMHA foreclosure or bankruptcy may lease back his former home with an option to buy.

The lease, which usually includes about five acres, generally runs for five years. The farmer owner must have sufficient income to make rental payments and to maintain the property.

"It's a real shame when a farmer has to lease his own home, but it's better than totally losing a family home. With the option to buy, the home at least remains in the family," said Agriculture Commissioner David E. Boswell.

Fairview

By: Mrs. Hubert Chasteen

Rev. Harvey Pensol filled his regular appointment at the Fairview Baptist Church over the weekend with good attendance. Sunday School attendance on March 23 was 139. We are so very thankful to see the increase in our attendance for both the Sunday School and worship services.

Baptismal service was conducted Sunday night at our church. Baptized were David Gilliam, son of Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Gilliam of Berea, and Kevin Mullins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Luke Mullins of Snider. May God bless these two fine boys in their Christian life. Let's remember to pray for them. They (along with all our other young people) need our love and prayers. They are facing many things (out there in the world) that we older people didn't have to face when we were growing up. But we have many young people everywhere that we are mighty proud of. God bless each one of you.

Sympathy is extended to the families who have lost loved ones recently, including the relatives of Mrs. Judy Hall Smith of Richmond, Ind., who passed away March 17. She was brought back here for burial. May God bless and comfort the loved ones.

Last Tuesday morning my daughter, Darlene Church, and I visited my cousin, Mrs. Rebecca Creech, in Mt. Vernon. We really enjoyed our visit. I have always loved her so much, she is (and always has been) such a kind, friendly lady. Bless her heart.

Enjoying a lovely evening and good food at the People's Restaurant and in Berea last Thursday were Mrs. Hubert Chasteen and members of her Young Adult Sunday School class and their children Darlene Church and daughter, Tonya, Janet Ridgell and Sherry Debbie McCollum and son, Roy Judy Cummins and daughters, Jamaica and Monica, Helen Ruppert and Ronnie Dale, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Fowler and children, Gwyn and Billy, Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Blair and Mr. and Mrs. Luther Isaacs, Carol and Jennifer. Some of them couldn't make it to the supper, but we hope they can be there the next time. We missed having them. They are all very precious to me.

Mrs. Joyce Seals and daughter, Kim, of Indian Hills, Paint Lick, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Chasteen, Sunday afternoon.

An Easter Sunrise Service will be held at the Fairview Cemetery Sunday morning at 6:00. In case of rain it will be held at the church. Sorry, my news is short. Maybe more next time.

Try to attend worship services every time you can with your children. Each day that passes, it's gone forever and they are growing up more and more and will in a few years (it seems) be gone from home. They need to be taught the good things of life while they are growing up. Bless their hearts; they are so sweet and precious.

Area Special Olympics athlete gets sponsor

Children and adults with developmental disabilities have few options available to them as to how they spend their leisure time. Special Olympics' with year-round training and competition in 14 official sports, is one of the few alternatives that now exist.

This year 14 Rockcastle County students from Mt. Vernon Elementary School, Roundstone Elementary School, Livingston Elementary School and Broadhead Elementary School will be traveling to Union College for the Area Special Olympic Games on April 26.

The students have been practicing many hours after school to prepare for this event. Danny McKinney, president of the Bank of Mt. Vernon, is the first area sponsor to support one of our county athletes, and by doing so is giving the athlete a chance to make the hard work pay off. McKinney is pictured with Joyce Lamb as he presents her a $50 donation that will purchase Joyce's uniform and pay her state fees.

Joyce is the nine-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Lamb and a student in the trainable, mentally handicapped unit at Mt. Vernon Elementary School. Joyce will be competing in the Area Gymnastics events at Union College. Diving practice Joyce's favorite comment is, "I can do it," as she tries once more.

BMV president Danny McKinney and athlete Joyce Lamb.

Our area businesses and citizens have been very responsive to our request of support. We will continue to feature other sponsors with the athletes they are helping as a way of saying "thank you."

If you have not been contacted by a Special Olympic coach and wish to help support our special athletes, you may contact Melissa Hicks at 256-2953.

The team of volunteers and coaches for Rockcastle County is made up of Ms. Lisa Reams, Ms. Pat. Montgomery, Ms. Melissa Hicks and Ms. Anne Abney.

the old mansion. When he was 19 years of age, he helped to lay the foundation of this mansion, never dreaming that he would live in it later as governor of Kentucky.

After this mansion's viewing, I made my first visit to Midway. The majority of the other 35 Rockcastle travelers had been in this historic town, however.

The interesting Midway Railroad Shops proved to be a relaxing part of the tour. The only thing that marred it was a little rain.

The full day of sights ended at Holly Hills Inn. We ate dinner by candlelight on tables in two rooms of an old home turned into an inn.

Rep. Danny Ford helped Rockcastle County Extension Homemakers (a part of UK Cooperative Extension Service) in having a pleasant day. He found seats for them in the cafeteria; they then passed to Kentucky's General Assembly. House of Representatives; and had a picture taken of them in the rotunda.

The 36 persons taking this trip on Dike Ponder's bus were Glenna Brooks, Ruth Bussell, Mary Halcomb, Edna Adams, Barbara Watson, Elizabeth Mullins, Loraine Newland, Emily Glovak, Gladys Bussell, Louise Hicks and Ms. Anne Abney.

GOOD NEWS AMERICA, GOD LOVES YOU.

The good news is that God cares about you and He's concerned about what happens to you. We care, too.

You can learn more about the good news when you attend a special series of meetings designed especially for you.

You will enjoy being a part of each session.

The music will lift your spirits and put a smile on your face.

The friendly people will make you feel welcome.

The message will give you a sense of hope in this troubled world.

The schedule of meetings and location of the church are shown on the back of the brochure. Call for a calendar and plan to attend.

YOU'LL HEAR GOOD NEWS!

Whenever you shop by phone, you save money, and what better way to do comparative shopping than with the only Directory & Guide that covers a combined five county area. And you'll also save money on your long distance information calls.

WHAT A TIME SAVER!
Who has time to run through all those little telephone company books just to find a number in the next county? Your Cumberland Valley Phone Directory & Guide has listings throughout the five county Cumberland Valley area, plus Jellico, TN. So you can shop by phone with the whole Cumberland Valley at your fingertips.

STAY IN TOUCH
with where you live — the Cumberland Valley Phone Directory & Guide was made to be USED! It's a handy reference for Kentucky hunting and fishing information, historic profiles, high school and college football schedules, parks and recreation facilities, and much more. You have a wealth of information right next to your phone.

TELL THEM WHERE YOU FOUND THEM
Tell your local merchants that you saw their ad and that you prefer your 1986 Cumberland Valley Phone Directory & Guide. After all, they paid to have it delivered to you. They'll appreciate it.

NEXT TO YOUR PHONE, IT'S ALL YOU NEED.
