Society; Julie Dowell, Second place winner; Kim Bullock, First place winner and Shirley Cummins, President of the Rockcastle Co. Historical Society.

Kim Bullock is winner of community essay contest

Local members of the Rockcastle County Historical Society, recently had the opportunity to read essays of the tenth grade students of Mrs. Iris Young's. The students from Rockcastle County High School were asked to write about their own community history as a class project. Following the instructions of Mrs. Young, the students proceeded with researching and documenting history, which could prove to be a new insight into the history of this area.

The Historical Society has not yet had a complete history of Rockcastle County recorded, but with the assistance of the teachers and classroom participation, it could soon become a reality for one to pick up a book and read about our own beloved county.

Each one of the essays written by the students contained important information about the area in which they live, and relevant toward documenting the history of Rockcastle County.

The students provided information about the country schools which no longer exist. They narrated colorful visions of characters who played a great part in settling these areas. They wrote descriptive information of how their community received it's name. They are truly worthy of recognition for the effort applied to this assignment, and we can all be grateful to Mrs. Iris Young for allowing the members of the Historical Society to get involved by selecting the essays to receive the award. And to the students for doing an excellent job also. The winners of the awards for their essays are as follows: First place,

Kim Bullock, Orlando; Second place, Julie Dowell, Mt. Vernon; Third place, Sonya Bullock, Quail.

The first place winner received a check for $25, the second place winner, a check for $10 and third place winner, a certificate of honorable mention.

MY COMMUNITY: ORLANDO
By: Kim Bullock

The small community in which I live is called Orlando. It was thought to have been settled around the early 1800's. The community has been given three main names since it was first settled, and they are: Orlando, L-and-N Train Station, and Dog Hair. Orlando was the name of the post office. Dog Hair was a nickname that the trains used.

There are many different beliefs about how the community got the name of Orlando. Some people say it was named after someone who passed by on the train, such as a Spanish or French person. Others say it was named after Orlando, Florida. However, in conflicts to this idea, some people say Orlando, Kentucky was settled long before Orlando, Florida. There are still conflicts about the origin of the name Orlando.

Orlando was once part of Lincoln County. The Orlando post office mail system included many small communities. A few were Cove, Maple Grove, Brush Creek, and Wolf Creek. Orlando served as the center of these surrounding communities. The Rural Route mailman to joining communities was first by horseback and later on by jeep. The first postmaster was William M. Owens. He became

May 5 - 16 is date for second sign-up for conservation reserve program

The Rockcastle County ASCS Office will be having a second sign-up for the 1986 Conservation Reserve Program beginning May 5 through May 16. This sign-up period will be for both the 1986 and the 1987 Conservation Reserve Program.

The Conservation Reserve Program is designed to take highly erodible cropland out of production. In order to qualify for the program, the land must have been cropped at least two years during 1981-1985 and be highly erodible. Highly erodible land is considered to be that in Land Capability Class VI, or higher or in Class II through V that is eroding in excess of twice the tolerance rate of erosion, as determined by SCS. There are approximately 1.8 million acres eligible in Kentucky.

Land that enters the program must be placed in a permanent vegetative practice (selected by the landowner) that reduces the soil erosion loss to an acceptable limit. The practice alternative are:

- 1) Introduced grasses and legumes;
- 2) Native grass and legumes;
- 3) Trees and shrubs;
- 4) Wildlife habitat;
- 5) Field windbreaks; and
- 6) Combinations of two or more of the above.

The committed land will be devoted to conservation conservation practices, such as grazing, other commercial use of forage is NOT allowed. However, hunting rights can be leased. Maintenance measure, such as weed control, will be required. The area may be managed for wildlife habitats thinning, pruning, and other maintenance of tree plantings may be conducted if specified in the conservation plan.

There will be opportunities to enroll in the program for the crop year of 1986, 1987, 1988, 1989 and 1990. In order to participate in the program for the 1986 crop year, a

Mt. Vernon, Ky.

LOCATION:
West Main St.

Mr. and Mrs. Mink have bought a smaller home near the lake and have moved. Therefore, they have commissioned our firm to offer this desirable well-located home for the high dollar.

The property will be offered in two tracts, reserving the right to combine in the end to reflect the best return for the sellers.

Lot No. 1 - fronts on West Main Street and is improved with the pictured house. The house has living room, dining room, kitchen, 3 bedrooms and bath downstairs and 3 rooms upstairs which could be utilized as bedrooms. The house has concrete foundation, weatherboarding exterior, washer/dryer hook-up, stone cellar, large front porch with ample shade and is situated on a lot measuring approximately 700 x 190 giving ample space for a garden.

In addition to the house, there is also a storage building.

Lot No. 2 - is located directly behind lot No. 1 and this lot fronts on Poplar Street. It measures approximately 100x160. It has city water and sewer available and would be an ideal building or mobile home site. This lot has a small barn/garage building.

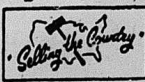

Auctioneer's Note: If you're in the market for a home in town with plenty of space, then be sure to look this property over.

THE HISTORY OF MT. VERNON
By: Julie Dowell

On my history of Mt. Vernon I am dealing mainly with old buildings, the railroad, and some of the first types of jobs that they had back then.

My sources for my essay was the Mt. Vernon Signal, an essay that my Aunt Edith Dowell had written when she was in high school, my Aunt Ruby McKenzie and my grandma Janie Dowell.

Mt. Vernon was established in 1818 and contained less than two hundred inhabitants until after 1877. At that time there were eight stores, two taverns, two druggists, two physicians, four lawyers, four carpenters, a tannery, and a few mechanic shops.

Rockcastle County was named for the Rockcastle River. The county was formed from Knox, Pulaski, Lincoln, and Madison Counties.

In 1877, there was only one hundred fifty feet of brick and pavement sidewalks, some plank and flat stone sidewalks were in evidence.

Colonel James Maret began promoting construction of Boone Way in 1903. It required six or seven years to complete the Boone Way. It was in first class order, on the expenditure of something over five million dollars. Col. James Maret of Mt. Vernon was Kentucky's earliest modern highway promoter.

In about 1925 the road from Mt. Vernon to Brodhead was changed in order that the main road would not cross the railroad. J. E. Vowels and James Maret established the Mountain Signal on November 3, 1887. The name was later changed to Mt. Vernon Signal.

On the Proctor lot just west of the railroad crossing on Main Street were the remains of a large treadwheel of a horse mill that had been used three years before in grinding corn by horse power.

The jail was a wooden two story structure, twenty by twenty. It was located in the rear of the courthouse.

Railroads came to Mt. Vernon in 1866. The first carload of coal ever loaded at Mt. Vernon was loaded on January 30, 1917. The railroad station was not open on Sundays and obviously no trains ran.

Hotels in Mt. Vernon in 1883 were the Newcomb Hotel, conducted by M. P. Newcomb located at the site of today's Rockcastle Hotel (Mt. Vernon Signal office); the Joplin Hotel, which stood on the lot at the corner of Main Street and Church Street, where the Cox store building is now, it was operated by James L. Joplin.

Jack Adams and Son were general merchants in a building just across the street from the Joplin house, where the Mt. Vernon Bargain Store used to be located.

William M. Weber had a drug store on the north side of Main Street and J. L. Whitehead was in the same line of business on the south side of Main Street.

Willis Griffin and a colored man named Hopper operated a steam grist mill and wool carding factory at the bottom of the incline on East Main Street.

Williams and Miller (J.J. Williams and Mason C. Miller) ran a mercantile establishment on the north side of Main Street.

M. J. Miller's general store, next door east on Main Street, next came C. W. Adams residence and storehouse. This block of buildings was destroyed in the fire of 1898. Mt. Vernon's biggest fire, other buildings included in the conflagration were the Weber Drug Store, Williams and Miller, and the vacant store building of Jack Adams and Son.

Over one hundred ninety years ago Rockcastle's prohibition law didn't forbid the sale of beer, but shortly afterward representative Milton J. Cook had a bill passed by the legislature making the county bone dry, as far as laws were concerned. L. M. Frazier was operating a beer saloon on the side of the used to be People's Bank which is now the Republican building two doors down from Hiatt's 5 & 10 store. There were taverns about twenty-five miles apart. There was one at Mt. Vernon, London, and at Crab Orchard in the 1800's.

The public school building was a single room affair made of wood. It was located on what is now called South Richmond Street where the Convenient Store is now.

The town had three brick houses, the courthouse, the Joplin Hotel, and Harrison Carpenters store room in 1905.

Remains of the old tanning vats were in evidence on the flat bottoms where the East Main Street crosses the town branch near Elmwood Cemetery in 1905. The first telegraph office was established in Mt. Vernon in 1862 by the United States Government. Johnny Nagel was the operator. One telegraph wire answered all purposes on this branch in early days.

In 1887, James Maret was telegraph operator at Mt. Vernon. Maret had learned to telegraph by use of a register. On taking charge at Mt. Vernon he was just changing to receiving by sound he wasn't successful at first but later proved to be.

At the present time Mt. Vernon has grown very much and is continuing to grow a little bit more everyday. We now have many stores and a couple of factories, unlike what they had many years ago. We should be thankful for being able to live in a small town like Mt. Vernon.

QUAIL

Historical Remembrances

By: Sonya Marlene Bullock

My name is Sonya Bullock. I am a resident of the community of Quail, Ky. In 1967 my mother's family bought the Jim Adams farm and came to Quail. Due to the hospitality of Quail's peace loving citizens and its good rich soil they decided to plant their roots and stay. When my Mother married she moved away. Later, in February, 1975, when I was five years postmaster on February 9, 1885. Other postmasters were Martin Falin-August 31, 1885; James L. Bryant-October 29, 1885; Pete Langford-November 30, 1885; James M. Reynolds-March 18, 1887; Hubert Chestnut-February 28, 1888; Jones Fish-July 17, 1889; Buck H. Ball-May 23, 1893; John B. Owens-February 21, 1894; Kenneth Hundley-May 1, 1897; George F. Johnson-June 20, 1898; James A. Woods-July 10, 1901; Henry L. Smith-May 20, 1910; Addison Graden Ball-September 28, 1917; Louis J. Reams-December 2, 1918; Myrtle Burnett-November 1, 1942; Curtis Vanzant-December 28, 1956; and William Kenneth Vanzant, who took over on November 22, 1957, and is the present postmaster. The mail was carried on horseback for many years by Harvey Vanzant. Harvey is the father of Kenneth and Curtis Vanzant.

The first general store was owned by G. T. Johnson. The dates and locations of these shops, doctors, etc., I have not been able to find out. As Orlando was getting started this was the only store. There was also a depot, and three or four dwelling houses. As years went by and population increased there were three general stores, a post office, barber shop, depot, blacksmith shop, grist mill, an elementary school, and a church added to the community. Louis Reams owned a general store and a post office combined. Other general store operators were Gibson, Myrtle Burnett, and Mose Mullins. Bill Mason operated a blacksmith shop. Mitt Proctor and Charles Parson owned a depot. The barber shop was owned by Walter Mason. The first mill was operated by Dewey Robertson near a bridge in Brush Creek.

The farmers at this time had to ship their farm products and livestock by train.

In the 1940's the home owners in Orlando began to buy lots and build homes in the Maple Grove section leaving the Orlando community almost a ghost town.

Then around the 1960's people started building in Orlando again. About 1961, the population of Orlando was 490. More people kept building and more schools and churches were built. Some of those churches were: The Church of Christ on Cove Branch Rd., Old Brush Creek Holiness Church, Flatrock Baptist Church on Maple Grove Rd., and the Poplar Gap Baptist Church. A few old schools were Brush Creek, Cove Branch, Maple Grove, Poplar Gap, Macedonia, and Johnetta. Macedonia and Johnetta were located in Orlando, but almost in Climax. Poplar Gap was located near Saltpeper Cave.

The "Great Saltpeper Cave" is one of the most popular sights in Orlando. There are many saltpeper caves among the hills of Rockcastle County, but which large quantities of saltpeper were manufactured during the War of 1812. One of these called the "Big Cave" or the Great Saltpeper Cave," is in Orlando. It was discovered by John Baker, who, in company with his wife, commenced exploring it with a torch-light. At the distance of about 300 yards, their light went out, and they were forced to crawl about, in perfect darkness, for forty hours, before they found the place at which they had entered. The arch is from ten to twenty feet high. Large rooms branch off several hundred yards long, and and of one has not been reached. Some of the rooms cover an area of several acres. The saltpeper manufactured here, before and during the War of 1812, gave employment to sixty or seventy laborers. There is a fine, bold running stream of water in the cave, and works were constructed inside, for the manufacture of saltpeper by torchlight. Carts and wagons passed through, from one side of the mountain to the other, without difficulty. The way is so level and straight, that even were soon taught to pass through the cave in perfect darkness, without a driver. Visitors through it find a succession of grand and startling views. Dr. Graham calls it a twin to the Mammoth Cave in Edmondson County, only less extensive. He writes to the author that in some of these caves he has traveled for three miles, without finding an end. The formations being limestone, there is but little crumbling or graving way.

The "Great Saltpeper Cave" was also a source for gunpowder production from 1797 through the Civil War.

Even though Orlando is a small community it does have some interesting places to see, such as the "Great Saltpeper Cave." Another activity that has grown to be really popular is the "Rockcastle County Raceway," located in Orlando. People from many areas come to see these people from a small town race against people from larger towns. In my opinion, the "Rockcastle County Raceway," and the "Great Saltpeper Cave," help in keeping the people of the small town of Orlando working together to keep this community alive and staying a nice place to live.

landowner will have to sign up at the Rockcastle County ASCS office between May 5 and 16. There will be an enrollment period for the 1987 crop year later this fall. At sign-up the participant will designate the land for the program, provide a field history for 1981-85, designate the conservation and vegetative practices to be used and submit a bid for the annual rental payment. ASCS and SCS verifies if the land is eligible. If the land qualifies, a conservation plan is developed and signed as a contract. The contract period is 10 years. There will be annual rental payments and a one time only 50 percent cost share payment for the eligible cost of establishing the permanent vegetation. The total amount of rental payments for any landowner or any fiscal year may not exceed $50,000.

"Third Place Essay"

... we returned to live on a section of my Grandparents' farm. In the following paragraphs I will tell a brief history of the settling of Quail up to the present time. Ms. Ruth Mink has been invaluable to me in helping to gather the information that was required to write this history. Quail got its name from the Bob White, better known as Quail. The story goes that when people first settled in Quail, there were so many of these little feathered friends that one could see them lined up along the roadside and in the fields with many clusters of eggs in their nests. Hunting these Quail was a popular sport that not only provided food for the family but also usually yielded enough surplus to sell for profit at the country store. Quail's grist mill and country store were very popular and well-known as Quail was once the center for trading and shopping over a very large area. People would travel miles and miles to have their grinding done.

The old grist mill, located on the corner of what is now Charlie Hasty's farm, was first owned by Cray Cromer. It was later moved to Skaggs Creek and owned by Ed Bullock.

This mill was powered by water which turned its large water wheel. The wheel was made out of large slabs of boards. The wheel was connected to rods which had rocks tied to the ends of them. As the wheel would turn, so did the rods. The indentations in the rocks would in turn crush the corn and make meal. This process was repeated thousands of times just to make the meal needed for food.

The old mill served a purpose other than grinding corn. For recreation children swam in the water that propelled the wheel. This was what they called their "swimmin' hole."

Willie Dillingham and his brother came to Quail from North Carolina in covered wagons, but his mother, Nancy, and father, John, came by train because they were afraid of the Indians. John and Nancy had eleven children, five boys and six girls. One of their daughters, Lori, married O' Doc Williams, a local doctor.

Clie Dillingham, another one of John and Nancy's children, married her first cousin Barto Dillingham. He opened one of the first stores in Quail. It was located in a field near the present home of Mrs. Ed Whitaker.

The same location of Barto's store, the Gilfretts owned the store and set up a post office. There was a little room in back where Vic Todd, the town barber, gave "windblown" haircuts for only ten cents each.

Sometime during this period of Quail's history a country school was erected. Some of the teachers were John Scott, Isabelle Davis Jones, Richard Gentry, and Molly Davis Bryant. This school had only two rooms but the curriculum was very educational. I received first hand information from a student who stated that while at school she acquired the equivalent of a high school education in grades one through eight. This must hold true because many notable people have gone on to make outstanding careers for themselves. Some careers attained were doctors, engineers, professors and teachers. Also, the first woman judge of the California courts was a former Quail school teacher.

The school house was still standing until about 1975. Its only use was for a polling place during elections, so, a decision was made to remove it from the premises. My grandpa Junior Mullins, purchased it and tore down, but he has had good use of the lumber on his farm.

One of the unusual things about Quail's history was a form of past recreation. The Indians had an oblong race track on top of a hill where the radio tower now stands. This was where the Indians raced, fought, and performed many other activities. Every night when I see the blinking red light I can almost hear those Indians on top of that knob.

In 1924 Providence Church was built. The church was a big addition to the community making it possible for everyone to worship close to home. This church is located a short distance from my home, and I can hear the ringing church bell before services.

As years passed Ben Albright became owner of the general store and post office which has been moved across the road from where Ruth Mink now lives. Next, Richard Gentry became owner and ran it until 1947 when Mr. Sherman Mink, Ms. Ruth Mink's father, took over. Ms. Mink remembers helping in the store and post office. The postage for a letter was only three cents and customers could buy a pound of coffee for fifteen cents. Business was booming in those days. Children would run over to the store from school at lunch time to buy a pop for a nickel. They always returned the bottles every day and placed them on the back steps of the store building. Other community folk would frequent the store bringing chickens and eggs to trade for their groceries.

In 1965 at four o'clock in the morning the old general store burned down. The neighbors rushed out to help the Minks stop the blaze. Everyone knew it was useless, but they kept pumping water from the well in the front yard. They watered down the side of the Minks' home so that it wouldn't catch fire and be destroyed too. In the end the store was totally destroyed, but Ms. Ruth Mink had the determination to rebuild the store, in a new location across the road from her house.

In April of 1966 the new grocery store and gas station was opened and is still in operation today. A new addition has just been added to the store to meet the demands of the increased business of our growing community.

The Quail Community has certainly come a long way since the days of horses, covered wagons, and Indians. We now have a store, service station, a church, and most recently a park with facilities, knows as the "Quail Community Park." The four acre plot of land on which the park was built was donated by Mr. and Mrs. Roy Brown. Quail's expansion has continued since I moved here. Where once was open fields and pastureland now stands rows of residential houses.

I am proud to be a resident of this friendly, quiet, picturesque.

The Mt. Vernon Signal law abiding, rural community. I hope its beauty and heritage live on forever.

Worship services were well attended at the Fairview Baptist Church over the weekend and 115 attended Sunday School. Several were on vacation or visiting, so our attendance was down. But we thank God for the number that was there.

Our pastor was in revival at the Eubank Baptist Church and Rev. E. P. Whitt filled in for him both the Sunday morning and evening services.

Rev. Harvey Pensol (our pastor) also conducted revival services at the Valley Baptist Church March 30 to April 5. Rev. Jim Kirby of Mt. Vernon preached for us during that time. We certainly thank Rev. Kirby and Rev. Whitt for the good messages we heard. We enjoyed having them with us. May God bless and keep them and their families.

Baptismal services were conducted Sunday night, April 20. We thank God for the four that were baptized. We love them dearly.

Our prayers are for all who have lost loved ones, and also the sick ones. I'll not try to mention names for fear of leaving someone out.

Our meeting at the Providence Church of Christ with Bro. Ron Mosley doing the preaching, ended so quickly, but with good results. Five precious young people obeyed the gospel call. We pray for these, and hopefully more make the good confession and put on our Lord in baptism. We had splendid attendance each night and deeply appreciate the visitors from various places. You are always welcome anytime. We have a fine youth group who are to be commended.

Visitors of Walter and Mae Dean Saturday were Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Brandenburg of Berea and their son, Bobby Frith of Little Rock, Ark. Ola Phelps of Quail, Monroe and Gertrude Renner of Chestnut Ridge, George and Bernice Adams and her mother, Mrs. Bertha Stephens, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey McFerron, Viola Hensley and Carolyn Newton.

Visitors of Grace and Evon Brown were Mrs. Wanda Ellison and Mrs. Teresa Bussell, Mrs. Eleanor West, Everett Cash, Mrs. Anna Wright and her daughter, Mrs. May, Evelyn Gentry of Somerset, Mrs. Robin Adams and daughter, Jamie Nicole, Mrs. Georgia Thompson, Gordon Pope and Preacher Hayes of the Ottawa Baptist Church, Willie and Mabel Taylor, Jewell and Freda Denney.

Recent visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Griffin of West Carrollton, Ohio and their daughter, Kim Griffin of California, Mr.

and Mrs. Walter Saylor of Crab Orchard, Junior Wilson, Avery Wilson of Richmond, Ind., Rhonda and Roger Wilson of Brodhead, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Brock of Somerset, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lee Cash and Virgie Spoonmore, Virgil Brock of Slaty Branch, Mr. and Mrs. David Blanton and girls, and Jeff Lear.

Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Wysonog, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Moore of Sharonville, Ohio were weekend guests of Mrs. Bertha Adams. All had dinner at Ruth's Brodhead Cafe.

Mrs. Pat Pruitt celebrated her birthday at her home Monday evening with her daughter, Mickie Lea, and friend, Tony Richardson of ECU in Richmond, her son, Freddie, Jr. Also I got in on this supper and the delicious cake.

Brenda Bradley and I were in Lexington Monday for my doctor appointment with my cardiologist and received a good report. While there we visited Joe Brown at Central Baptist Hospital. He is to be released soon and is doing well as can be expected. Our prayers are for him and all others who are sick. We also visited with my daughter, Janice Parsons, and husband, Jim, a short time.

Kristi and Ashley Bussell of Somerset spent Friday night with their grandparents, Dee and Mary Bussell. Saturday evening visitors were Rick and Cindy Bussell of Waynesburg.

Eddie and Lib Allen of Crab Orchard were Sunday evening supper guests of Dee and Mary Bussell.

Weekend visitors of Mrs. Lula Bussell, Mrs. Mamie Halcomb and Mrs. Bertha Adams were their brother, Robert Moore, and wife, Mary, of Sharonville, Ohio. Other visitors were their sister, Eleanor Wysonog, and husband, Eddie, of Hamilton, Ohio. Jim Bowman and wife, Janet, of Ohio spent a few days with her mother, Lula Bussell, and family. Also Billy Allen Bussell was Saturday visitor of the Bussell family. He and Jack played the piano and sang a lot of beautiful songs at the home of Dee and Mary Bussell. Billy Allen remains in poor health and would appreciate the prayers of all Christians.

Saturday visitors of Mrs. Mattie Reed were her mother, Mrs. Hazel Mink, Mrs. Reed's daughter, Mrs. Elaine Sturgill, and her daughter, Vicki, all of Livingston.

Tuesday dinner guests of Mrs. Fannie B. Albright were Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Major of Florence, Mrs. Violet Kane of Burbank, California, Mrs. Elizabeth Houston of Quail.

Wade Thomas and wife, Mae Boone Thomas, of Livingston, were visitors of John Craig one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Willie Taylor and Pat Pruitt were Sunday dinner guests of Mary McWhorter.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Cash and Donna Lynn were in Cumberland Falls Sunday.

Thigh-Calf slendernizes the whole leg area and concentrates on reducing inner thighs and "saddle bag" outer thighs.

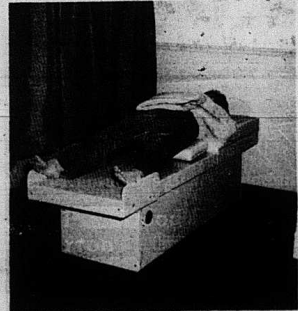

Waist-Twister alternately raises and lowers the legs 520 times during a normal 8 minute treatment. The simultaneous action firms, tones, and reduces the waist, tummy and hips. The machine combines the waist twisting movement with the leg lifting movement which also aids in strengthening muscle in the lower back.

Body-Rack stretches the body and strengthens and tightens the muscles in the tummy and midriff areas. Arms move up and down, firming and toning the underarms. The bust line and oblique are lifted, creating better posture and firming bust line. Abdominal and back muscles are toned and strengthened.

Circulator works on complete body toning, gently vibrating body surfaces to soothe and relax you by increasing blood circulation to surface skin cells.

Tummy-Hip works to strengthen stomach muscles, firming and lifting flabby muscles in the buttocks area. As the buttocks is exercised, the cellulite is broken down and dissolved. The gentle rhythmic action of the machine breaks down the cellulite giving a trim, smooth tone to the skin.

Rev. Beiting steps down as CAP president

The Rev. Ralph Beiting, who founded the Christian Appalachian Project (CAP) in the 1950s, gave up the presidency of CAP last week in ceremonies at Garrard County High School.

He is replaced by Michael McLaughlin, CAP's executive vice president, who has been with the organization since 1974.

Beiting will be giving up his posts as president of CAP and 15 parishes in Floyd, Magoffin and Knott counties, but will remain as CAP's chairman of the board and become pastor of a convent in Floyd County.

Beiting, 62, has been assigned by the Catholic Diocese of Covington to be the spokesman for both the diocese and CAP. He will devote most of his time in the years before he reaches the mandatory retirement age of 70 to spread awareness that conditions in eastern Kentucky and about Catholic and CAP work there.

When Beiting was transferred to Floyd County in 1981, McLaughlin was promoted to vice president, and then became executive vice-president in 1984.

A native of Ohio, McLaughlin holds degrees from Harvard University and the University of Tennessee. His experience includes a stint in the Navy and personnel management positions.

Forest fires going out

Warm, hot and dry weather over the past week helped fan at least two fires in the area around Mt. Vernon.

The largest was last Thursday afternoon when a grass fire near the railroad tracks south of Mt. Vernon burned toward Carter Ridge, destroying about 12 acres before it was extinguished by the Mt. Vernon Fire Department and volunteers.

A second fire burned about an acre on Burnett Road in the vicinity of Lake Lenoire.

No buildings were involved in either of the fires.

Before the rain came Monday, about 20 fires were reported in eastern Kentucky.

The largest fire covered about 70 acres in Pike County at Indian Creek.

But Donald Hamm, the director of the state Division of Forestry, said the number of fires over the weekend was less than expected. "I expected twice as many fires," he said.

"It appears the people have burned everything they're going to burn," he said.

About 200 persons, including Mrs. Pam Chaliff and her sons, Matt and Josh, were on hand for a "picnic with the arts" Sunday afternoon at the Rockcastle courthouse lawn. Entertainment was by the Rockcastle County High School Choir, directed by Margie Wilcox, the Gospel Goodtimers and the Allen Trio. There were arts and crafts and refreshments. The event was sponsored by the Rockcastle Council for the Arts.

Final garbage plan gets court approval

By: Ray McClure

A final garbage plan for Rockcastle County was presented to the Rockcastle Fiscal Court at a called meeting Tuesday, and as expected, it contained no surprises from the plan agreed on by the court last January.

In fact, no official action was required, but the court did decide to vote to send the plan to the Kentucky Department of Natural Resource and Environmental Protection which had mandated a plan be approved by June 30.

All magistrates voted to forward the plan to the state. County Judge Executive Hubert Thacker "sustained," meaning he did not vote. The judge is not required to vote on a motion except in the case of a tie vote by the magistrates.

Only one hitch developed during the discussion of the plan. It involved whether the county has jurisdiction over municipalities in a garbage collection franchise.

Judge Thacker reported he had talked with the Kentucky Attorney General's office about that point and was told, according to a 1980 court ruling, municipalities with their own garbage collection could continue to operate their own franchise.

Frank Groschelle, who drew up the plan for the Cumberland Valley Area Development District (CVADD), said his research showed that in 1982 the General Assembly had approved legislation making the county responsible for all garbage collection, including municipalities. He said he would forward the information to the county.

Police commission grumbles over city council failure to act

To be or not to be was the question that confronted members of the Mt. Vernon Police Commission at a meeting Monday night.

Blaming the city council for inaction on its recommendations, commission members wondered aloud if the city council is serious in carrying out recommendations made to the council by the commission.

Commissioner Carl Baker said the commission that was formed in 1985 had made several policy recommendations to the council, but as far as he knew, nothing had been "acted on either way."

Commissioner Ralph Sigmom, who did not attend, sent word by Commissioner Robert Robinson that he wished to withdraw from the commission.

A president of the commission had been scheduled to be chosen at the meeting, but since only six of the 12 commissioners attended, the commission declined to name a president.

Commissioner Jim Cox suggested a member of the commission attend the next meeting of the council on May 12 to find out what previous recommendations had been acted on, and whether it is worthwhile for the commission to continue. Robinson was appointed to attend.

Mayor Roland Mullins, who opened the meeting, told the group one or two recommendations had been acted on, but he did not elaborate.

The mayor had suggestions of his own. He said management people in factories located in Rockcastle County have chosen to live elsewhere, and asked the commission to advise the council on how to make the city a more desirable place to live.

He reported that an application has been filed to locate a factory here that could employ as many as 147, and asked the commission to suggest ways to bring that about.

The mayor said Booneway Farms of Berea, that had indicated a move to the local industrial park, are still looking for a place to relocate. He added that U.S. Rep. Harold Rogers is hoping to get some kind of industry for the area that could be related to the Toyota auto plant to be located in Scott County.

He asked the commission to suggest ways to combat drug use in the city, and said there were people in the city that are causing trouble and asked for commission suggestions on how to deal with them.

At the May 23, 1985 meeting of the commission about 15 suggestions were voted on by the commission, most concerning the police department. Several more were made Monday night by individual commissioners, but none were approved by the commission.

It was at the same May meeting that the commission

Five named in indictments

Five indictments were returned during the recent session of the Rockcastle County Grand Jury. Indicted on two counts each were Ronnie Barron and Teddy Day, both of Brodhead, Teresa Rose Bryant of Mt. Vernon, and Karen Cash Vafamand of Rt. 1, Brodhead.

The indictments allege that on or about March 24, 1986, the four committed burglary in the second degree by unlawfully entering the dwelling of Randall Laswell. The second count alleges that the four committed theft by unlawful taking, over $100, by taking an Atari 2600 VCR owned by Randall Laswell.

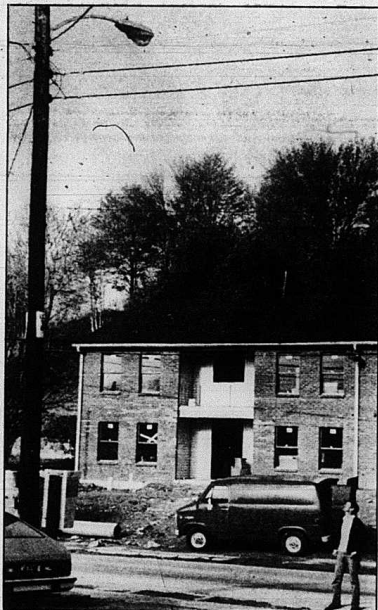

All four have been released on bond.

Also indicted was James Frederick, 26, of Maryland.

Frederick is charged with two counts of arson, second degree; one count of arson, third degree; and one count of burglary, second degree.

The indictment alleges that on April 14, 1986, Frederick set fire to a dwelling owned by David Gregory; to a 1973 Chevrolet owned by Dennie Weaver and to a storage building owned by David Gregory. Frederick is also charged with entering a dwelling owned by David Gregory.

He was released on $10,000 property bond.

New mercury street lights are being installed this week along U.S. 25 in downtown Livingston by Kentucky Utilities, according to Mayor Billy Medley, right. There are to be 13 on the street, three new ones, and six on one other street. Eventually, all lights will be replaced, the mayor said.

Help wanted for clean-up

Negro cemetery cluttered, ignored

By: Ray McClure

Spring is a time for fix up and clean up, and the Mt. Vernon Local Development Corp. has a project in mind that needs some of both.

That project is the small, Negro cemetery located between Convenient Food Mart and Mt. Vernon Pharmacy on Richmond Street.

Overgrown and ignored for years, the cemetery has fallen on hard times. It is filled with weeds and broken tombstones, a haven for rats and snakes.

"We are looking for help in clearing the site, removing the stones and erecting a picket fence with a gate," said Floyd Owens, project director for the corporation. "It would certainly be a worthwhile project for some club or organization."

The history of the cemetery is hazy and some of the exact dates are scarce. However, the date on one stone is 1873, so the plot was obviously set aside sometime prior to that date, perhaps in the 1860s.

Opp Bussell, Jr., retired school official and resident of Mt. Vernon, researched some of the blacks who lived in Mt. Vernon until about a decade ago, and found references to the cemetery.

His is a story of a love affair that began prior to the Civil War and lasted at least until 1893.

Walker Newcomb, a black slave, was owned by William Newcomb. "It would certainly be a worthwhile project for some club or organization."

Walker was separated from his wife, Lizzie, who was owned by another local slave owner, name unknown. As the years passed, Walker worked for Newcomb and finally purchased his freedom. In turn, he purchased Lizzie from the other landowner.

The couple then began to save money to buy land on which to live and raise a family.

Bussell picks up the narrative at this point:

ramblings . . .

by: perina m. anderkin
A tip of our hats this week to the Rockcastle County Arts Council and to the KAGE/RAGE organization for two excellent community activities the past week.

Sunday, the Arts Council presented "Picnic With the Arts" on the courthouse lawn and Monday night, KAGE/RAGE and the Rockcastle County Boosters Club presented "Education Extravaganza" at the high school.

Sunday, everyone was invited to bring a picnic lunch to the courthouse lawn and, while enjoying that, enjoy fine musical entertainment in the form of the Rockcastle County High School Chorus, the Gospel Goodtimers and the Allen Trio. Not too many of the largest crowd in attendance brought their lunch with them but that didn't seem to dim their enjoyment of the musical presentations. Besides Sunday's entertainment, the Arts Council has presented a play, a concert by Muddi Creek and a Woodwinds Concert this Spring -- no small achievement for a community our size. But, the council is led by a group of very enthusiastic local men and women who are hard-working and very knowledgeable about what type of entertainment will be well-received locally.

Monday night's program at the high school was an impressive KAGE/RAGE group and the Rockcastle Boosters Club brought a group of UK athletes to the high school where, before an audience estimated conservatively at 425-450, they each spoke briefly about what they felt had been most important in helping to make them successful athletes and people. It was particularly impressive to hear two of the athletes witness for Jesus to the crowd.

Even though I had not one whit of personal input into either event, I came away from both with a feeling of pride in our community. I have always felt that even though we may not have all the resources of a large community, we should strive to present our county in as positive a way as possible. Both these events certainly accomplished that.

Again, our hats are off to these organizers.
I have started twice recently to write this column. The first time was when I noticed an article in the daily paper about National Procrastinator's Week. This led to all sorts of good things I wanted to say about procrastinators (in self-defense, of course) but, like all practicing procrastinators, I put it off until the next week and the column is still lying on my desk unfinished.

The second time was after I had sat for two hours with bated breath waiting to find out what was in "Al Capone's Vault" only to have the program turn out to be a real dud. I was incensed. My first thought was "How dare, the network waste my time like that." This was right near the time of the Libyan and I finally figured out that in the grand scale of things it was no earth-shaking matter that I wasn't able to count the bodies or the foot hidden away in Al's vault.

But in all fairness to me, I don't have a lot of time to waste these days. Between a new grand and baby, our days (and nights) stay pretty busy. Allison's only a "little" spoiled -- this translates into she will sleep an 8-10 hour stretch at night if it is understood by all parties that she is held constantly during her waking hours. She allows a few moments of respite if you're sitting there with a jar of baby food in your hand or if Travis, our five-year-old is around. She is enamored of Travis. The rest of us can sit for hours cooing a smile -- all Travis has to do is be there and her face lights up and her eyes never leave him. This will last, no doubt, until she is old enough to toddle around and possibly interfere with some of his activities. Then, the honeymoon will be over.

Aaron is another matter completely. At 15 months old and "quite a handful" is hardly adequate to describe him. He weighs about 25 pounds and has an excellent set of teeth -- which he uses as a weapon against anyone taking advantage of his present size. So far, his grandfather and I have managed to convince him that we are too old and our skins are too tough to be an inviting target -- but I'm not so sure his other grandparents and even great grandparents have been so fortunate and Travis has learned quickly to get out of his way when he gets a certain expression on his face. He recently enjoyed carrying a golf bag to the parlor and pulling it around on his shoulder. Thus far, the only damage has been to himself while trying to get the golf club off his shoulder to get someone else. When he learns that trick, we may all have to leave home.

It's amazing how much enjoyment one 6-month-old and a 15-month-old can bring to so many people. Of course, it's not always sweetness and light. Recently when Jamie, our married daughter (and her children) was at our house and Allison was being a particular "holy terror," she commented that she wasn't going to have children unless they were at least a year old when she got them. Of course, she was kidding but I told her that would be a big mistake since that very early period is when you come to love them so much that Extravaganza" was truly a spectacular show! Those who were not there missed a special, exciting event.

The objective of this program was to blend the academic, athletic, spiritual, musical, and artistic into one whole. Surely, this objective was accomplished. The unifying of the Rockcastle Athletic Booster Club and the KAGE Academic Booster Club emphasized the spirit of cooperation to achieve a goal set for our children. This is yet another example of "people helping people" in Rockcastle County.
As we mentioned by Mr. Pybas' REHS band, we had to be proud of these kids and their director; they did a beautiful job with their two songs. Greg Bullock, Jamie Cox and Sherri Hamm performed outstandingly. The art students had an impressive exhibit for us to enjoy. These were just samplings of the talented youth we have in our county. We appreciate their willingness to help with this venture.
To name all those wonderful people who helped make this program a success would take too much space; however, each of them knows who he or she is. That is the important thing to know; personally, that you have helped to make a positive difference. We thank all of you.
We were so very much impressed with Mr. Wayne Harney, UK's Director of Educational Science, and the UK's student athletes he brought to us. We appreciate the University of Kentucky for sharing those fine young athletes and their instructor with us. They represented UK extremely well.

It was thrilling -- for young and old alike -- to listen to these athletes talk about goals, discipline, motivations and Jesus Christ. Each one had his/her own inspirational and motivational remarks to make, and each one did a super presentation. It was a blessing to be part of this program. These people touched a lot of lives Monday night in a way not to be soon forgotten.
Mr. Harney and the athletes were very complimentary of their audience. They were so surprised to see such a huge crowd (estimated at a little over 500) there to welcome them. After the program, so many of them remarked about how respectful and attentive the audience was during the presentations. Even during the autograph session, our kids were super nice. We are proud of our kids!
KAGE has enjoyed bringing this program to our county with the tremendous help and support of the Rockcastle Athletic Booster Club. We all appreciate your support for these two organizations. Through your support we are able to reach out and to involve others in making our world a little better.
Sincerely,
KAGE Academic Booster Club

Dear Editor,
The end of the school year is drawing nigh and it is that time of year when students receive awards for excellence and achievement.
In the midst of it all, I wish to express my thanks to a teacher who has done more than the daily good job as a teacher. Besides the normal amount of away from school preparation, Mrs. Betty Henderson has devoted much of her personal time to her students.
This year, she encouraged students to form a Science Club. Under her sponsorship, the club held a genuine officers' election campaign, complete with candidates, campaign managers, platforms and much publicity. It created excitement among the students and with excitement and enthusiasm comes learning.
Mrs. Henderson arranged for learning trips after school. One Saturday morning, the club toured the Appalachian Science in the Public Interest, a solar home on the Rockcastle River. Another time, after school, Mrs. Henderson took the club to the Berea College Planetarium. In the most recent trip, the students were invited one Friday night to the Henderson's farm for a "Comet watch" and picnic under the stars. The club has been directed in other at school creative endeavors, the most recent of which was an excellent Spook House and Wax Museum at the Spring Festival at MVES.
My hat is off to teachers who give freely of themselves to help children grow in all ways and especially to you, Mrs. Henderson. Only with this kind of giving do students start receiving.
Mrs. Henderson, I think you deserve an award, but this little "Thank You" may have to do for now.
Thanks,
A Parent

Eternal Truth
IN OUR CHANGING WORLD

Different Kinds of Worshippers

Jesus said, "God is a Spirit; and they that worship Him must worship Him in spirit and in truth" (John 4:24). This means that we must worship God from the heart and according to His instructions in the Bible.

There are all kinds of worshippers. First of all, there is the SPASMODIC WORSHIPPER. He comes whenever he takes a notion, and that is not too often. The least distraction keeps him from assembling with the saints.

Second, we mention the IRREVERENT WORSHIPPER. He whispers, passes say and occasionally takes a "snooze" during worship. You may find him giving himself a manicure or reading some article he has brought with him.

Third, we suggest the BORED WORSHIPPER. He is constantly looking at his watch or the clock on the wall. This may be accompanied with a yawn and a "ho-hum." He certainly thinks the preacher could say more in less time.

Fourth, there is the OBSERVANT WORSHIPPER. He is constantly looking around. There is not a movement in any part of the building that he does not see.

Fifth, there is the WORLDLY WORSHIPPER. He may have engaged in some unholy activity on Saturday night and then tries to worship God on Sunday morning. It could be that he transacted some steady business deal the week before, or he failed to tell the truth. He may be filled with hatred or malice toward his fellow man and refuses to speak even to his brethren.

Sixth, we mention the CRITICIZING WORSHIPPER. He knows little about what the Bible teaches but much about how others should teach it. He doesn't want the preacher to be "negative" in his sermons nor should anyone be introduced that is contrary to the traditions his particular congregation is used to. "Don't rock the boat" and "leave well enough alone" are his pleas. He seldom does anything himself but never likes the way "they" do it.

Seventh, and last, we list the DEVOTED WORSHIPPER. This type puts his heart into every act of homage paid to God that is divinely authorized. He recognizes that he is in the august presence of his Creator, and conducts himself accordingly. He is punctual, and he is ready to do all things prescribed by God. He truly worships God in SPIRIT and in TRUTH. What kind of worshipper are you?

Mike Hamilton is Gov.'s Scholar

Governor Martha Layne Collins today released the names of 624 outstanding Kentucky high school juniors chosen to attend the 1986 Governor's Scholars Program.

Scholars will be at Centre College and the University of Kentucky for five weeks from June 21 to July 25.

Attending from Rockcastle County will be Michael Hamilton of Rt. 3, Berea.

"The Governor's Scholars Program continues to attract interest and stimulate excitement because of what it offers students intellectually and personally," Governor Collins said. "It is a Kentucky program that has established a tradition of excellence."

"It is for that reason that I am very proud that my executive budget more than doubled financial support of the Governor's Scholars Program for the 1986-88 biennium."

"It is encouraging that Kentucky has so many outstanding young people who are willing to make a commitment for five weeks of their summer vacation to academic enrichment," Governor Collins said.

"It is encouraging that Kentucky has so many outstanding young people who are willing to make a commitment for five weeks of their summer vacation to academic enrichment," Governor Collins said.

The Governor's Scholars Program is free of charge to students. It is financed by a partnership of state government, including the Office of the Governor, and a number of private businesses and foundations.

The 1986 Scholars will represent 115 of Kentucky's 120 counties. The Scholars approximate the population of high school juniors in Kentucky—27% will come from Eastern Kentucky, 30% from Western Kentucky, 18% from Central Kentucky, 14% from Jefferson County, and 11% from Northern Kentucky. Private schools are included.

Governor Collins noted that the Governor's Scholars Program raised its standards for admission this year and yet received even more applications than in the past. The program is now in its fourth year.

"The caliber of the applicants was so high," she said. "That the blue-ribbon statewide committee who selected Scholars from the pool of candidates accepted more than the 600 Scholars that plans call for."

Students will be evenly divided between the Centre and UK campuses. Each Scholar chooses a major course of study from 11 areas ranging from mathematics to creative arts, including such subjects as cultural anthropology and philosophy. In addition, students elect seminars in subject areas different from their major course.

Scholars are challenged by a wide range of enrichment and extracurricular activities. Nationally known speakers and performers come to campus, experts meet informally in seminars with students. There are numerous field trips—including a "Saturday with the Arts" in Louisville in which all the major Louisville arts groups from Actor's Theatre to the Louisville Orchestra, participate. There are also intramural sports, numerous clubs and other activities, often arranged by the Scholars.

Each school district is allowed to make a specific number of nominations that corresponds to the district's size.

To meet 1986 program requirements, students had to:

- score in the 96th percentile or above on the KEST (statewide achievement test);
- take the PSAT/NMQST—which is the same test required for National Merit Scholarships—and score in the top 20 percentiles in either the math or verbal sections;
- write, and be judged, on an essay on one of several topics;
- receive very high recommendations from at least two teachers in the liberal arts areas who rate students on, qualities ranging from intellectual curiosity and breadth of interest to attitudes toward other students; and,

• demonstrate characteristics of superior students included on a list in the criteria mailed to each school district.

School districts select nominees for the program with the help of specified committees. Some exceptions to the criteria are allowed when students demonstrate exceptional ability in specific areas.

On the state level, selection of Scholars from the pool of candidates is made by an impartial statewide selection committee which includes admissions directors and assistant directors of major Kentucky state colleges and universities and many independent colleges; vice presidents and academic deans of Kentucky colleges and universities; representative college professors, and state education specialists in gifted and talented programs.

LET'S SPRUCE UP—COMPANY IS COMING

With the coming of the Kentucky Derby this week also comes the start of what could be a record-breaking vacation season in Kentucky, and with it many new jobs for our area.

This year, with gasoline prices low and with the threat of terrorism keeping Americans at home, domestic vacations will be on the increase. Millions of us will be traveling here in our own beautiful country to see the wonders which God has created.

Our own state of Kentucky, and in particular the Fifth District, can be a choice destination because we have dozens of tourist attractions. We can truly claim to be a showcase for America's natural beauty. Yet, we have not done a good enough job of advertising this beauty to the rest of the nation.

I recently accompanied U.S. Secretary of the Interior Donald Hodel in dedicating the Bandy Creek Recreation Area, part of the magnificent Big South Fork River and Recreation Area along the Kentucky-Tennessee border. Secretary Hodel was absolutely right when he referred to this area as the "Yellowstone of the East," because it is quickly becoming a major tourist attraction. We need to continue to develop the facilities there, but we also need to sell the Big South Fork to our neighbors throughout the country who are looking for new areas to visit.

But Big South Fork is only our newest attraction. We can also boast of such places as Lake Cumberland and its great state park, Burnside Island, Dale Hollow, the Cumberland Gap, Cumberland Falls, Pine Mountain, Levi Jackson State Park and Laurel Lake, and Green River Lake, just to name a few. All these natural areas offer visitors a truly beautiful vacation experience.

We need to remember the importance of these tourist dollars to our region and state. Many new jobs are created through tourism. So let's spruce up our parks, clean up our roads and highways, and welcome these visitors with our famous Kentucky hospitality. If these vacationers come to our area and have a good time, they'll be back, and so will their friends and neighbors. Kentucky's tourism potential is enormous, but it will take all of us offering a friendly handshake and a smile to make these visitors feel that Kentucky is their "home away from home."

you are able to still love them when they are 16 and come home past curfew, or with a not very good excuse as to why there is suddenly another dent in the car and they were the last one driving it, etc.

One last thing, MVE's recent Spring Carnival was a successful event very well-attended and the children and school should see some real benefits from the proceeds. Now, don't forget Brodhead Elementary and Roundstone Elementary have similar events coming up and you should make an effort to support these as well. These are put on by hard-working parents and teachers who are attempting to make money to supplement school financing and, most importantly, the events offer everyone wholesome fun.

Roland Dyche Mullins selected for Phi Beta Kappa state's University

Roland D. Mullins is one of 36 University of Kentucky students selected for membership into Phi Beta Kappa for the 1986 spring semester. The minimum requirements for membership include a grade point average of at least 3.5 and 90 or more liberal hours completed, according to chapter secretary Mary L. Flowers. Students meeting these requirements are nominated by faculty members or other students. Nominations are reviewed by a membership committee for final selection, she said. The students selected for membership were initiated into the UK chapter on April 21. Mullins, of Williams Street, Mt. Vernon, is a junior at UK majoring in electrical engineering and Russian.

Genetic Counseling available in county

Rockcastle County has an opportunity for genetic counseling and examination by Dr. Bryan Hall. For some disorders, people can be tested to determine if they carry the gene in their cells for a genetic problem. Carriers themselves do not have the disease, but they do have the biological ability to pass this gene on to their children. If there is a disability due to genetics, it can be assessed. The family will be counseled and given advice on how to handle the situation with resources available for their care. If there is a genetic disorder in you or your family and you are interested in treatment or counseling, call the Rockcastle County Health Center at 256-2242.

Rural secondary program approved for Rockcastle

Gov. Martha Layne Collins notified State Rep. Danny Ford that her cabinet announced the approved 1986-87 Rural Secondary Program for Rockcastle County.

"We have budgeted $353,259 for maintenance and traffic improvements for 93.0 miles of state roads on this program," said Collins. "This program is essential to ensure the proper maintenance of the state's rural road system."

Gov. Collins said the state will repave 1,056 feet of County Road 5361, North Fork Copper Creek Road, and will accomplish spot blacktop patching on 2.8 miles of County Road 5359, Copper Creek-Conway Road.

State Transportation Secretary C. Leslie Dawson said the program is estimated to cost $353,259 and is being funded with Rural Secondary funds. Dawson noted that the repaving and blacktop patching projects are expected to be accomplished by contract and will be advertised for bids as soon as possible.

Gov. Collins explained that the criteria used to determine each county's budget for the Rural Secondary Program includes land area, rural road mileage and population.

Garrard, Madison, Rockcastle and Jackson Counties. Beiting soon began to help the poor around him, beginning with summer camps on Herrington Lake.

As his work continued, a vision formed that was ecumenical, that emphasized services to people which gave them a hope and dream for the future, that encouraged human dignity, and that encouraged innovative ways to solve problems.

Since its incorporation as a non-profit, interdenominational organization in 1964, CAP has grown to a multi-faceted, multi-million dollar organization serving people in 11 eastern Kentucky counties. CAP's 50-plus programs include summer camps, day care and child development centers, used clothing stores, workshops for the handicapped, home repair, a retreat center, spouse abuse shelters, a handicapped children's home, an elderly home, a Christian school (grades nursery through 12), and a handicraft shop.

CAP's success is a result of God's deep commitment to the land and people of Appalachia, Beiting says.

"When you turn God loose on a bunch of people who have a good heart, anything could happen and it always will," he says.

It is McLaughlin's goal to continue the dream into the next generation.

Completes courses for occupational therapy

Ivy McNew, daughter of Ellis and June McNew of Berea, has completed courses for Occupational Therapy at Eastern Kentucky University and is currently completing her second internship at St. Peter's Hospice in Albany, N.Y.

Ms. McNew recently worked at Frazier Rehabilitation Center in Louisville in order to complete three months' training for physical disabilities. She will be at St. Peter's Hospice during a three month span in which she will complete psychiatric training required by the American Occupational Therapy Association.

Upon completion of this internship, Ms. McNew will become eligible to sit for the Occupational Therapy Registration Examination and thus graduate from EKU with a bachelors degree of science.

Police report traffic tickets

A total of 153 motorists were cited in March in Rockcastle County by Kentucky State Police for traffic violations, according to a state police report at the London post.

Others include: 17 for driving under the influence of intoxicants; 55 courtesy notices for faulty equipment and different violations; 48 were assisted with breakdowns.

A total of 20 traffic accidents were investigated. Of these, nine were property damage only, 11 persons were injured.

There were nine criminal investigations resulting in three criminal arrests.

In the London Post area, 1,521 motorists were cited for traffic violations.

suggested the Mt. Vernon city limits be extended to take in property between and to both I-75 interchanges, and to approve a five percent motel/hotel tax to be used for police financing. The city limits extension has been scheduled for discussion by the council and the public at the May 12 meeting.

The next meeting of the Police Commission is scheduled for 7 p.m. May 27 at the city hall.

Health Care Update For Folks Age 60 To 79!

NEW PLAN PAYS UP TO $182,700 FOR NURSING HOME BENEFITS — INCLUDING CUSTODIAL CARE

Getting well could spell financial ruin for today's senior citizen. According to a recent study on the plight of the elderly, 2 out of 3 Americans aged 66 and over have "no" or "improvesher" after spending just 13 weeks in a nursing home. Married persons aren't much better off.

But now there is a solution from Bankers Life and Casualty. It's a new kind of nursing home policy that pays benefits for...

- custodial, intermediate and skilled nursing care before, during and after Medicare payments and in addition to HMO benefits
- for up to five years depending on the length of time you select for any one sickness or injury.

There is more. With this new policy, you also select the daily benefit you want up to $100. And this amount will not change with the level of care you get.

To help you save money, the policy lets you decide when benefits start — from 0 days to 100 days.

- Other consumer features include:
- special "no premiums" rule during nursing home stay
 - home convalescent care benefits
 - full new benefits restored after get well period

One of the highlights of the Mt. Vernon Elementary School Spring Festival last Friday night was a "Beauty Contest." The quotes are because the contest was among five local men, dressed as ladies. The event was hosted by Danny Ford, in false beard with his back to the camera and "Edith Ann" (Ruby Stewart). Local attorney Bill Gregory, center, seems to be begging for a little recognition and he got it - he/she won. Other contestants were, from left: Dale Winstead, Kenny Johnson, Jack Lawless and John Parsons. What is it they say... "we're sure" the judges had a terrible time making a decision, they were all "o-o-o-o beautiful."

Western Rockcastle area has new insurance rating

The Insurance Service Office has officially reclassified the fire insurance rating in Western Rockcastle County from a Class 7 to a Class 6, which should give residents a reduced insurance rate.

Areas outside the city limits of Brodhead and within a five-mile road distance from the Brodhead Volunteer Fire Department now have a Class 9, up from a Class 10.

The new classifications will be in effective May.

The purpose of the ISO recent survey was to gather information needed to determine a fire insurance classification which may be used to develop fire insurance costs.

The survey was not conducted for property loss prevention or life safety purposes, and no life safety or property loss prevention recommendations have or will be made.

For applicable loss cost changes insured persons should consult their local insurance agent.

Chief Brian Bussell said that the following locations and points are the five-mile road distance of the fire department determined by the ISO survey and evaluations:

U.S. 150 to Lincoln County line; Gum Sulphur Road; Slattery Branch Road to Lincoln County line; Bowling Ridge Road to Lincoln County line; Copper Creek Road from Lincoln County line to Wilson Green property; Possum Kingdom Road to Copper Creek Road and Copper Creek north to the Randall Road, Copper Creek Road south to the Baker Road; Chestnut Grove Road to Ky. 1505 (Brodhead-Conway Road); Ky. 1505 (Brodhead-Conway Road) including Harley Adams property;

Oak Hill Road to the old Oak Hill Schoolhouse; Parr Rigby Road from Ky. 1505 to Ky. 1326 (Old Mt. Vernon Road); Barnett Road from Parr Rigby Road, including the Paul Calhoun property; Ky. 1326 to the Billy Soudner property; Negro Creek Road from U.S. 150 to Lincoln County line.

The Bryant Road from Negro Creek Road to Lincoln County line; Park Hill from Negro Creek Road to Lincoln County line; U.S. 150 east including the Earl Bullock property; Moreburg Road on north side of U.S. 150; Mareburg-Spirdo Road including the old Livesey property (James O. Smith property); 1250 (Painter Hill Road) to the Carl Brown Road; Paul Napier Road off Ky. 1250 (Painter Hill Road) to the Carl Brown Road; Ky. 70 from U.S. 150 to the Ottawa School Road; Carl Brown Road from Ky. 70 to the intersection of the old Paul Napier Road; all of 1650 from Ky. 70 including the Walter Cash property; Ky. 1229 from U.S. 150 to the junction of Ky. 1650; Green Road from Ky. 1229; all of Smokey Road from Ky. 1229.

The ISO stated that the five mile road distance is the farthest distance an insurance rate classification for fire protection can be given from a fire department.

The ISO stated that, if you wished to lower ratings outside the five mile distance, a fire department station meeting certain classifications and standards must be formed within the area.

Chief Bussell reported that the Brodhead department will continue to respond to calls in its area as in the past, even if the location is more than the five road miles from the department. That boundary was agreed on between Brodhead and Mt. Vernon several years ago. Known as Western Rockcastle County.

Study that map that is printed with insurance decision five mile limits and the agreed fire protection boundary for the county which is Brodhead Volunteer Fire Departments area.

Chief Bussell explained that residents will notice particularly on roads toward Mt. Vernon that the five mile road distance is greater than the agreed boundary between the Brodhead department and the Mt. Vernon Fire Department.

Chief Bussell stated that in talking with ISO officials this made no difference as long as property was in the five mile limit of the Brodhead department. In other words, if the resident is within the five mile road distance of the Brodhead department, but inside the Mt. Vernon protection boundary, residents will still benefit from the Brodhead department's fire insurance rate classification.

Chief Bussell and the members of the Brodhead department wish to thank everyone in the city of Brodhead and in the county for helping to improve the fire insurance rate for this area.

Chief Bussell said that the boundaries may seem complicated, but if anyone has any question of their particular property fire insurance rate classification, how to better their classification, contact him or any member of the Brodhead department, who will be glad to assist.

"NEGRO CEMETERY" (Conf. From Front)

"At last, with much love and bliss in their new lives, no task seemed too large for Walker and his faithful Lizzie. Their next aspiration was to have a home of their own.

A piece of land was put up for sale in Mt. Vernon by the land commissioner. Walker and Lizzie had saved enough to purchase this land but, due to much bias and prejudice, the purchase was blocked for Negroes were not permitted to own land in this part of the county.

But Walker, through his honesty and hard work, had amassed quite a number of white friends and they came to his rescue. A Mr. Myers and a Mr. Cook bid the land for this deserving couple and they became the proud owners of a large block of land.

Next, Walker built a blacksmith shop near the site of the Dixie Boone Hotel and a home located somewhere in the vicinity of the present location of the Roland Mullins' residence.

Walker and Lizzie lived a life rich in happiness and contentment, rearing a family in Christianity. They were home a God-fearing, hard working and most of all—highly respectable.

And now to the climax of this true story. Lizzie Newcomb's old mistress came upon hard times. Her husband had died and she was left without means and became destitute and, it looked like she would be living out her remaining days on this earth in the poor house.

Walker and Lizzie Newcomb learned of the condition of Lizzie's old mistress and they came to her rescue. They opened their comfortable home to the aged lady taking her in and providing a separate room for her where Lizzie faithfully waited upon for the rest of her life.

Walker Newcomb, in a deed, provided a plot for a final resting place for his family and their families and Lizzie's old mistress was the first person and the only white to be buried there."

There were several other Negro families in the area at the time, but apparently the plot belonged to Walker Newcomb and was set aside for his family and their friends. If there is another cemetery for blacks, its location remains unknown.

Markers in the Newcomb cemetery that can still be read include: Johnie Smith, born July 4, 1855, died April 7, 1875; Andy Russell, Co. E, 119th U.S.C.T., (probably cavalry); Harry Jackson, 1888, and A. B. Newcomb, 1831-1873, probably a relative of Walker Newcomb. It is not known, but most likely, the Johnie Smith mentioned on one stone was probably a slave of General William Smith, the county's largest land and slave owner, and an in-law of Colonel James Maret.

Other area Negro families were the Jarbers, the Gaskins, brothers Joe and Monk Taylor.

"Garbage Plan" From Front

Any determination of that particular point would be made after a plan is approved by the state and when a franchise for garbage collection is being drawn up.

"This does not affect the overall plan at this time," Groschelle said. "This is a detail, that will be worked out after the state approves the overall plan."

The plan offers the following recommendations:

Implement a voluntary source separation program with drop-off centers located at consolidated greenbox locations;

Become active in the Kentucky Clean Community Program; Encourage composting by individuals;

Encourage the recycling of white paper in county and city government offices;

Initiate an abandoned automobile collection program;

Solicit involvement from non-profit organizations. Also:

The Mt. Vernon Signal Thursday, May 1, 1986 P.49

Provide for the proper storage of solid waste by the enactment of city and county ordinance;

Develop a single franchise area (or no more than two); sell the franchise to an entrepreneur for all collection of solid waste covering the entire county and the towns for a period of five (5) years with an option to renew based upon performance;

Employ a solid waste management officer to assure proper implementation of the approved solid waste management plan, and to achieve 100 percent voluntary participation;

Require a properly managed transfer station and allow franchise holder to dispose of waste from the transfer station;

Dispose will be arranged by franchise holder;

Franchise holder, in conjunction with solid waste management, will develop during first year a primary source recovery and separation system offering a financial incentive to participating households.

The plan points out that the minimum franchise fee to the county that should be acceptable to granting an exclusive five-year franchise should be $20,000 the first year, $30,000 the second year, $36,000 the third year, $40,000 the fourth year, and $40,000 the fifth year.

The plan shows there are 5,089 households in the county of which 70 percent could be served within six months of implementation.

Kenneth W. Proctor

Completes basic

Pat Kenneth W. Proctor, son of Wayne and Doris Proctor of Rt. 3, Mt. Vernon, has completed basic training at Fort Knox.

During the training, students received instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid, and Army history and traditions.

He is a 1985 graduate of Berea Community High School.

David B. Hood

Completes basic

Marine Private David B. Hood recently graduated from the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Parris Island, S.C.

Pat Hood, son of William and Artha Hood of Mt. Vernon, is a 1985 graduate of Rockcastle County High School, and entered the Marine Corps through the Delayed Entry Program in December 1985. He reported to active duty at Parris Island in January 1986.

Following five days of recruit leave at home, Pat Hood will go on to Fort Belvoir, Ill. Texas, for formal training in military police procedures.

FmHA to hire employees to help speed loanmaking

The Kentucky Farmers Home Administration has hired approximately 25 temporary employees to help process farm loan applications. FmHA Kentucky State Director announced today.

"We hired these extra people in order to get them to work during this busy loan season. They will be a big help in assuring prompt action on loan applications. Most of the temporary employees are familiar with our loan processing requirements, so we will only need a minimum of training," Kendall L. Seaton said.

In addition, Kentucky FmHA has been allocated $54,000 for overtime pay to our regular employees who can put in extra

Spring Carnival was big success at MVES

The Spring Carnival at Mt. Vernon School Friday night was a great success.

It began at 10 o'clock that morning when some special friends came from Comp-Care to join in the fun and games. SPRING CLEAN DANGER OUT OF THE HOUSE

Spring cleaning is a good time to clear cabinets and closets of medicines, cleaners, solvents and pesticides that could be harmful to children.

It's a good rule to get rid of any prescription drugs left over from a previous sickness or condition. Chemical changes do sometimes take place and can make a drug harmful.

Discard any non-prescription drugs more than a year old, as well as medicines that have changed color or consistency. A safe way to dispose of drugs is to flush them down the toilet.

If you're pretty sure a medicine is worth keeping around for possible future use, check it out with your doctor or pharmacist. It should have the name of the drug on the label, the name of the person it is for, and clear instructions for its use. It also needs a childproof cap if your household includes young child.

RCHS students attend State Library Convention

Three RCHS Library Club members attended the Student Library Assistants of Kentucky's third annual convention at the Harley Hotel in Lexington on March 28 and 29.

State vice president Paula Blivins actively assisted the state president in conducting all of the business on the agenda. Tammy Hinton and Jennifer Mason also attended.

Approximately 100 students and 18 sponsors, representing 10 schools throughout the state, were in attendance. The state library consultant, Judy Cooper, was the special guest of honor at the meeting.

The two-day program included a banquet, library bowl, talent, speech and skit contests, as well as election and installation of officers for 1986-87. A KET Film/Video Festival concluded the activities.

Paula is the daughter of Paul and Doris Blivins of Mt. Vernon. Tammy is the daughter of Danny and Carolyn Hinton of Livingston, and Jennifer is the daughter of George and Janice Mason of Orlando.

Barbara Hiatt, librarian and sponsor, accompanied the girls to the convention.

Paula Blivins, a senior at RCHS, served as vice president for the Student Library Assistants of Kentucky for 1985-86. Paula is the daughter of Paul and Doris Blivins of Mt. Vernon.

Auction
of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Howards' BUILDING LOT
Sat., May 10, 1986
2:30 p.m.

Near the Wabd Community in Rockcastle Co.

Location: 5 miles southwest of Mt. Vernon. Take Hwy. 461 [Somerset Rd.] to Denny's Grocery. Turn west at Denny's Grocery onto state road 1650 and follow approximately 500 ft. to auction site.

*Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Howard live in Laurel County and have decided they have no need for this excellent building lot.

The lot measures approximately 125x200 and is on the blacktop road. City water is also available. This lot is located in a well-maintained area with many new homes surrounding it.

Auctioneer's Note: If you're in the market for one of the best building lots available, be sure to attend this auction.

Terms: 20% down day of sale, balance in 30 days with delivery of deed.

Still "hot" about your furnace's poor performance last winter?

If a troublesome furnace has you "burned up," warmer weather may be the time to consider choosing clean, comfortable, efficient electric heat.

Electric heat offers a choice of systems — including one that's probably right for your home and your family's lifestyle. For example:

- the electric heat pump. It's extremely efficient in winter, and a high efficiency central air conditioner in summer, too. It can even be added to your present system.
- ceiling cable or baseboard heating. These systems offer the comfort and economy of having the right amount of heat where it's needed — more in some areas, and less in bedrooms or unoccupied areas.

Electric heat is clean, easy to install and as safe as a light bulb. Call your local KU office for more information about comfortable, economical electric heat.

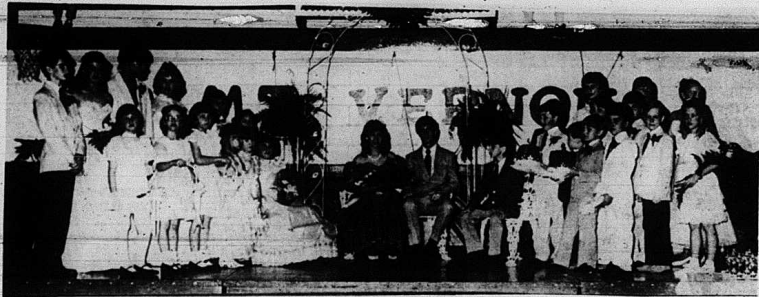

KENTUCKY UTILITIES COMPANY

Amy Jo McClure and Billy Kidwell, seated, were crowned the 1986 MVES queen and king during the Spring Festival at the school last Friday night. Amy Jo and Billy are seventh grade students at Mt. Vernon. Shown with the couple are last year's queen and king, Brigitte DeBorde and Josh Morgan. Crowned prince and princess for 1985 were Melissa Mink and Micky McClure, fourth graders. They were crowned by last year's prince and princess Brian Carter and Kiril Kirby.

The floor of the gym at MVES was alive with activity Friday night as there were various and sundry games and booths available for adults and children to participate in. The jail was a busy place as people put up money to have others jailed. In the above photo, Supt. Charles B. Parsons was "jailed" for a while before coming up with "bail money." Rumor has it that Mr. Parsons was jailed on the charge of "impersonating a superintendent."

The entire court of candidates for 1986 prince and princess and king and queen is shown in the above photo with last year's royalty. More pictures of the "beauty contest" are on page A8 and a story about the festivities is on pages A10 and A17.

Ten members of the UK Athletic Department and Wayne Harvey, a professor in the College of Education at UK, were here Monday night for an "Education Extravaganza" at RCHS. Each of the athletes spoke briefly to the assembled crowd and then signed autographs for the children present. The event was sponsored by KAGE/RAGE and the Rockcastle County Booster's Club. In the above photo are, from left: Doug Martin, football; Caroline Waite, swimming; Bill Ransdell, football; Dr. Harvey; Tony Czack, football; Paul Andrews, basketball; Scott Cramer, cheerleader; Karen Fister, cheerleader; Ken Pietrowick, football; Lee McGuire, tennis and Joe Olliges, track.

Nicholas Parsons, son of Roger and Bernice Parsons, won the UK basketball autographed by the coaching staff.

Bill Ransdell, UK quarterback, was kept busy afterwards signing autographs. In the photo at far right, the two UK cheerleaders gave a demonstration of some of their stunts which was very impressive.

"Scout Leaders" Cont. From 10 County. We discussed news from the council. We are working on many exciting events for the 75th anniversary plans for 1987.

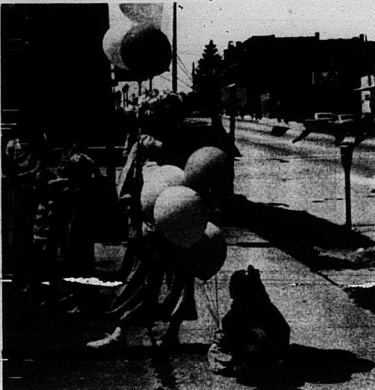

President Sarah Leer presented a slide show on the new Lexington Service Center off Winchester Road in Lexington. We discussed area news, which was posters made from each county on the events they held, and the cooke sale update. Rockcastle County has doubled in the registration of girls and adults and in cooke sales.

The September 1986 Area Meeting will be held at Powell County.

After the meeting, everyone enjoyed a potluck dinner. Those attending from Rockcastle County were Kathy Coffey and Regina Hodge, service unit chairman.

Sunday's "pic-nic with the arts," sponsored by the Rockcastle County Council for the Arts and held on the courthouse lawn, was a huge success. It was a beautiful day and the turn-out was excellent. The afternoon's musical entertainment was led off by the RCHS chorus, under the direction of Margie Wilcox, followed by the Gospel Goodtimers and the Allen Trio. Debbie Brown and her daughter, Suzanne, added to the air of festivity with their clown suits and balloons and all-in-all, it was just a good day and one that we hope gets a repeat performance.

There was barely time to catch your breath and replenish the toys between classes. But everyone had fun. The children had their choice of playing: the fishing game, duck pond, lollipop tree, toy walk, animal toss, tic tac toss, bottle toss, basket shoot, canoe toss, inflatable toys, balloons or having their face made up by clowns or having someone put in jail. There was plenty to do and only one hour to do all of it so all the children were full of excitement and rushing from one game to another.

Refreshments were also provided. The carnival closed after school and opened again at 7 p.m. There were also added attractions that night.

In the downstairs classroom by the game, Mrs. Betty Henderson's Science Club had a Haunted House. All the famous "haunts" were there, including Jason, Freddie, Lizzie Borden, Dracula, Werewolf, the devil, and a few new ones and their victims. If you wanted a scare, this was the place to go.

In the library, Mrs. Florence Winstead's Drama Class had a hilarious show entitled "The Invincible Man." These kids really worked hard and deserve a big thank you.

In the cafeteria there was an "All Men Beauty Contest." Danny Ford and Mrs. Ruby Stewart (or Edith Ann) were gracious enough to MC the show. And what a show! It was impossible to decide who was the "prettiest." They were all so "pretty." No one would have recognized Bill Gregory, Dale Winstead, Jack Lawless, Dr. John Parsons or Kenny Johnson. If anyone is interested in seeing a video tape of the beauty contest and the coronation, the tape will be at Albert D...'

Family Vidgo Store this weekend.

The Country Store was in the hallway upstairs. It sold homemade cakes and candies, donated by a few special ladies who gave their time to make them. Everything looked so delicious that we sold out completely.

The coronation was the last thing on the agenda. And it was great. The RCHS band provided trumpeters to give a salute and begin the procession of royalty.

The Flag Girls were superb in forming the line for the children to march. Ms. Teresa Parrett was kind enough to provide the piano music. The procession was led by the kindergarten flower girls Sat-tica Vance and Dana Mason. The kindergarten crown bearers were...

...Sowder and Kent Smith. The first grade flower girls were Lajoy Renee Bowles, Marlene Miller and Amanda Byrd. The first grade crown bearers were Jamey Malicote and Jamey Carter. The second grade candidates for prince and princess were Cassie Mullins and John Hammonds. The third graders were Angela Parsons and Zachary Cromer. Fourth grade was Melissa Mink and Micky McClure; fifth grade was Danetta Ford and Joey Bullock. The candidates for king and queen were: sixth grade Halona Renner and Stacy Nicely; seventh grade Amy Jo McClure and Billy Kidwell; eighth grade Gina Martin and Michael Singleton.

The new MVES prince and princess were from the fourth grade. They were Melissa Mink and Micky McClure. They were crowned by the 1985 prince and princess Kim Kirby and Brian Carter. The new 1986 MVES queen and king were Amy Jo McClure and Billy Kidwell, from the seventh grade. They were crowned by the 1985 queen and king Brigitte DeBorde and Josh Morgan. They were all presented with trophies from the Mr. Vernon PTO. We were so proud of all of them. They all did a great job.

The PTO has never had such a great response and were not quite prepared for such a large turnout. The games started running out of toys and stuffed animals early in the night. But the crowd stayed in good spirits and kept playing the games.

One of the big successes was the jail. Jib Hasty and Billy Kirby were our lawman and jailer. The jail stayed filled with children and even a few teachers and the principal.

The parents and teachers all worked very hard to make this year's Spring Carnival a success. Everyone who worked should give themselves a pat on the back for a job well done.

If you missed this year's carnival, you missed having a great time and bringing back the memories from years past. So see you next year.

Twenty-three grandchildren, twenty-one great grandchildren and two great great grandchildren also survive. She was preceded in death by her husband, Claude Griffin, and one son.

Services were held April 25 at the Cox Funeral Home Chapel with Rev. Ernie Johnson officiating. Burial was in Elmwood Cemetery. Cox Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers were Warren Maue, Woody Marker, Leon Kessinger, Fred Stevenson, Frank Knight and Walter Day.

Gene Earl Taylor

Gene Earl Taylor, 66, of Jacksonville, Fla., and formerly of Rockcastle County, died April 24, 1986 at the Riverside Hospital in Jacksonville.

He was born in Rockcastle County on June 20, 1919, the son of the late Robert and Della Taylor. He was a Navy veteran of World War II and a member of the Providence Church of Christ.

He is survived by his wife, Anna, a sister of Jacksonville, a son, Wayman L. Taylor of Louisville, a brother, Jesse Taylor of Brodhead, a sister, Mrs. Jellie Stephens of Louisville, two grandchildren, a great grandchild, and several nieces and nephews.

Services were conducted April 26 at the Providence Church of Christ by Bro. Hugh Thomas. Burial was in the Providence Cemetery. Arrangements were by the Dowell & Martin Funeral Home.

Pallbearers were Coy Taylor, Roy Taylor, Lester Taylor, Roy Taylor, Wayne Taylor and Carlos Brown.

Hubert Eversole

Hubert Eversole, 81, of Livingston, died April 28, 1986 at Berea Hospital after an illness of several weeks.

He was born on Jan. 23, 1905 in Laurel County, the son of William and Lillie Andes Eversole. He was a retired carpenter and a member of the Pleasant Run Baptist Church.

Survivors are his wife, Gladys McGhee Eversole of Livingston; four sons, James and Boyd Eversole, both of Livingston, Randall Eversole of Detroit, Mich., and William Eversole of Hopkinsville; a daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Mahaffey of Livingston; two sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Doan of Kingsport, Tenn., and Mrs. Mabel Robinson of Lamerco; 12 grandchildren, 12 great grandchildren, and a great grandchild.

Services are scheduled for 11 a.m. Thursday (today) at the Cox Funeral Home with Bro. Lester Arnold officiating. Burial will be in Pilgrims Rest Cemetery in Laurel County. Cox Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

Bernice D. Gentry

Mrs. Bernice D. Gentry, 63, of Orlando, Fla., died April 24, 1986 in Orlando.

A native of Corbin, she was the wife of Robert H. Gentry, Jr. of Orlando, who survives. The

Special Courses for Disadvantaged and Handicapped

The Carl D. Perkins Vocational Education Act of 1984 puts heavy emphasis on meeting the occupational training needs of disadvantaged and handicapped individuals.

Rockcastle County schools are helping to meet these needs by offering special vocational courses and programs for disadvantaged and handicapped persons in this community.

A number of kinds of assistance are available to students with special needs. One example of such help includes identifying the occupational skills and capabilities of the individual, and then designing vocational training with a goal of employment. This is done prior to enrollment in the program.

For the "special needs" student, an individual plan is developed. The student receives his/her potential, and the plan serves as a motivator as well as a chart for progress.

Besides working with the student, parental input is being sought, too. We need to work with parents so they may help with the career development process.

All programs will be offered to disadvantaged and handicapped students at Rockcastle County High School and Harry Sparks Vocational School. A complete listing and admissions criteria may be obtained by calling Lloyd Cain, principal, Harry Sparks Vocational School, at 256-4346; Charles T. Baker, assistant principal, Rockcastle County High School, at 256-4816; or Douglas Hamm, supervisor, Rockcastle County Board of Education, at 256-4144.

Centrys, who were in business in Mt. Vernon for many years, moved to Florida in 1965. She was a member of the First Christian Church of Winter Park, Fla.

In addition to her husband, she is survived by five sons, Robert H. Gentry III, Stephen P. Gentry, Robert L. Gentry and Charles B. Gentry, all of Orlando, and John D. Gentry of Daytona Beach, Fla.; four daughters, Joyce G. Seifert of Kissimmee, Fla., Jennifer Rideout of Orlando, Peggy Meyer of Chicago, Ill., and Bonnie Arrington of Columbia, S. Car.; a brother, Charles Dixon of Covington; three sisters, Johnnie Perry of Orlando, Joyce Tavernier of Kissimmee, Fla., and Emma Bass of Jacksonville, Fla.; and 10 grandchildren.

Services and burial were in Orlando, Fla.

Scarlett J. and Steven B. Graves, of Peru, Ind., were named to the Dean's List at their respective universities for the fall term.

Scarlett, a criminal justice major at Ball State University, earned a perfect 4.0 grade point average. Steven, a political science major at Purdue University, earned a perfect 6.0 grade point average.

Their parents are Mary Bustle Graves of Peru, Ind. and Stanley Graves, who was also named to the Dean's List at Indiana Vocational Technical College for the fall term. Both parents are formerly of Rockcastle County.

RCHS Band to participate in concert

The Rockcastle and Lincoln County High School bands will be performing in a combined concert venture this week. On Friday, May 2, the bands will perform at Rockcastle County High School and Saturday, May 3, the same program will be repeated at the Lincoln County High School in Stanford.

Each band will be performing separately and combined for the last part of the program which will feature "Spirit of Canavara!" march in honor of those who perished in the Challenger disaster.

Admission to the concerts will be $1. The programs will begin locally at 8 p.m. each night.

Local student to serve in mission

Malissa Harper has been selected as one of 65 students to serve as missions workers this summer through the statewide Baptist Student Union program of the Kentucky Baptist Convention.

Miss Harper, daughter of Harold and Edna Harper of Brodhead, will be assigned to Illinois.

These special missions assignments will involve students in a variety of experiences, helping to meet human needs and to share in Christian witness, according to Don Bryanlock, director of the Kentucky Baptist Convention's Student Work Department.

Teachers wanting to upgrade their certification to Rank I or who want to qualify as elementary or secondary school principals may begin their studies at Cumberland College as early as May 12 or they may register during one of Cumberland's two regular summer terms on June 2 or July 7.

For the first time ever, Cumberland will offer two May mini-term classes. These classes will meet nightly from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m. May 12-23. Registration for these two graduate classes will be held May 12 at 4:30 p.m.

Cumberland was recently approved by the Kentucky Department of Education to offer classes leading to the Rank I certification or to the principalship certificate.

Cumberland College president Jim Taylor stated that the program for preparation for Rank I classification with an emphasis in elementary or secondary school teaching will consist of a minimum of 60 semester-hour graduate credits, including the master's degree and the Standard Teaching Certificate or Secondary Teaching Certificate. Those who do not wish to complete a master's degree may complete a 62-hour program which leads to renewal of the Provisional Certificate as well as provides Rank I salary classification.

For additional information, contact Dr. Robert Schooner, Director, Graduate Program, at (606) 549-2200, Ext. 434.
