Rockets fizzle past Wayne Co. 13-12 up season record to 4 and 1

Williams leading rusher, Cox leads defensive effort

By: Richard F. Anderkin

Have had disappointing losses before but I think this is the first time that I have had a disappointing win," said Rockcastle Head Coach Tom Larkey of his team's win at Wayne County Saturday night.

The Rockets won the game 13-12, but could have lost it in the final second of the game.

Wayne County scored on a 30 yard pass with only 1 second left on the clock. Instead of trying to tie the game and go into overtime with an extra point kick Wayne County opted to go for the win with a two-point conversion.

The Rockets called time-out and before assistant coach Tony Saylor could get back off the field, the referees threw a flag on him which moved the ball to the one and a half yard line.

But, Wayne County then jumped offside and the ball was moved back to the seven and a half yard line.

On their third try from scrimmage the play finally got off without a penalty and the rockets managed to knock down a Wayne County pass to preserve the victory.

Larkey said that he thought his team had over looked Wayne County who were 0 and 4 on the season before the Saturday encounter with Rockcastle.

"Our players were not celebrating after the game, they knew they should have beaten that team a lot easier than they did," Larkey said.

The Rockets got the early lead when a pass from quarterback Chris Larkey to end Johnny Kirby set up a one yard run by Kevin Rowe in the first quarter. Mike Hamilton added the extra point and the rockets had a 7-0 lead.

But, Wayne County came back to score just before the half to make it 7-6.

Rockcastle then scored in the third quarter on a run by Larkey and rocket coaches decided to go for a two-point conversion in order to put the game out of reach. But host Bell County. The game was originally scheduled for Friday night but because of the fact that their is no school in the Rockcastle school system Friday the game was moved up. Game time is set for 7:30.

Rockets play Bell Co. Thursday night 7:30 Rockcastle High School

The attempt failed and Rockcastle lead 13-6.

During the game Rockcastle also had one touch-down called back.

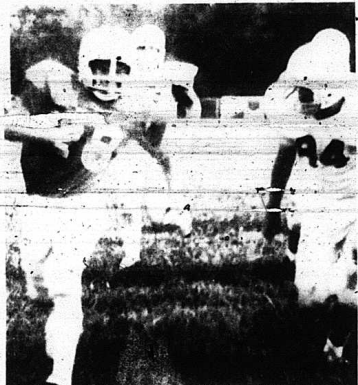

Junior Chad Williams was the leading rusher for the rockets with 85 yards while senior linebacker Doug Cox led the defense with 13 tackles and assists.

The Rockets play their second home game of 1986 Thursday night when they Bell County is in Rockcastle's district and Coach Larkey is looking for a tough contest. On the season Bell County has lost two games, one coming at the hands of Corbin last Friday night 38-28 and the other to district favorite Cawood. Overall the Bobcats have a season record of 3 and 2.

Coach Larkey expects the Bobcats to throw the foot-

Bullock scores ...

Bengal fullback Mike Bullock scored two touchdowns Tuesday night in the Bengals' 27-17 loss to the Roughtone Redskins. Also in the photo is Mike Durham, No. 81. The Wildcats also kept their perfect record intact as they beat the Buccaneers 14-0.

Bow season for deer opened October 1st

The 1986 bowhunting season for white-tailed deer will open October 1 in Kentucky, with a new procedure for checking in deer for those people who are not required to obtain a hunting license or deer tag.

In the past, exempt hunters had to obtain a free permit from a conservation officer before hunting. In 1986, however, these tags will be issued at local check stations set up by a conservation officer after the landowner or other persons exempt from purchasing license and tag(s) have tagged a deer. Exempt hunters will also be required to obtain a permit before hunting.

Resident hunters who hunt on private and leased land in the county of their residence before joining the landowner must also obtain a permit. Non-resident hunters who hunt on their immediate family's land must obtain a permit. Non-resident hunters who hunt on other land must obtain a permit.

Kentucky's deer herd, which has been declining since the late 1960s, is now estimated to be at a level of 43,509 deer, according to a report from the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. Resident hunters are exempt from purchasing a permit to hunt on their own land in the county of their residence before joining the landowner and game papers showing the deer's residency and harvest status.

Exempt American veterans who are at least 50 percent disabled as a result of a service-connected disability and who are residing in Kentucky, does not need a license or deer permit, but must carry a card available from the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources.

To obtain this card, the veteran must forward a copy of his disability rating (obtained from the Veterans Administration) to the Director of Law Enforcement, Dept. of Fish and Wildlife Resources, 41 Game Farm Road, Frankfort, Ky. 40601.

Kentucky's deer herd, according to harvest data, is increasing towards what should be the state's tenth record-setting harvest in as many years. Last year, an estimated 43,509 deer were taken statewide.

McClure is champ again ...

Mayor Mullins notifies council of impending resignation

December council meeting will end 14 year's service

By: Ray McClure

Mt. Vernon Mayor Roland Mullins made it official Tuesday night during a called meeting of the city council—he will step down as mayor after the Dec. 8 council meeting.

Mayor Mullins, who was elected to a third full term last November, is moving to his farm about three miles south on Sand Springs Road. Under state law, the mayor must be a resident of the city in which he serves.

Mullins has been mayor for the past 14 years when he was appointed by the council to serve the unexpired term of Ed Winstead.

It was apparently a difficult decision for the mayor to make. It has been obvious that he enjoyed being mayor, and he was re-elected last November by a lopsided majority after a spirited campaign. Councilman Jerry Pensol said he was disappointed that the mayor would give up the post. "It will be hard to find someone with his qualifications to serve as mayor. He has done a lot for the city over the years."

Councilman Joe Martin said he was "very sorry the mayor is leaving. He has done an excellent job. He has been a good man to work with and he will be missed."

The council will choose the mayor's successor to fill a one-year term until the next general election in November, 1987. At that time, a mayor will be elected by voters for the two remaining years on Mullins' term, until 1989.

Who'll be the next mayor is the big question? A poll of the four councilmen who were present at the meeting (Pensol, Martin, Tom Welch, Les Harris) showed:

they are not interested in the job. Jackie Renner and Larry Burdette did not attend the meeting.

It is virtually a certainty the council will seek a mayor who is not on the council. The four councilmen indicated as much. They agreed each councilman should make a list of names and combined, select a mayor. Anyone living in the city limits can apply for the job.

No doubt, whoever gets the nod will be faced with many difficult decisions in the months to come.

As one councilman put it: "The new mayor won't have an easy time. He will have to work hard, no doubt about it."

The obstacles are formidable. There is always the problem of a dwindling money supply. To solve it, the council may be forced to consider some kind of revenue measure.

The new mayor project will be involved well into next year with the current sewer plant project, and soon, a water plant project to increase the supply.

On the agenda now, and weeks to come, will be decisions on annexation to the I-75 interchanges. However, that question may be resolved before the mayor leaves office.

Also mentioned as a possibility for the next year will be zoning of the city.

The continuing garbage collection controversy will confront the council, but that issue may be settled for them by the Rockcastle Fiscal Court.

Continuing upgrading of parks and recreation areas, particularly near Lake Linville, will occupy some of the new mayor's

Tentative proposal

Mt. Vernon city council designates annexation area

Annexation of three areas to the City of Mt. Vernon was discussed at a called meeting of the Mt. Vernon City Council Tuesday night, and the council once again agreed to move ahead with the process.

The council did come up with a general idea of boundaries, but indicated the boundaries could be changed before a final vote is taken.

Agreed by the council, was to have a chart made of the areas to be annexed and have it presented at the regular Oct. 13 meeting of the council.

The areas discussed were not quite the same as previously mentioned during council meetings. One area is west to Ky. 461 and would include the Rockcastle Industrial Park. The council will confer with park officials before making a final decision to determine if there would be "any problems."

Specifically, westward, the new limits would be 1,000 feet on either side of the city's six-inch water main that leads to the park. It was learned that previously the council had visualized taking in all

New wrinkle in Burns case

Carole Ann Epperson who has been charged with hiding money that was stolen from a Letcher County doctor will seek a new arraignment in court and change her plea to guilty.

Mrs. Epperson was indicted Aug. 20 along with Pulaski County attorney Lester H. Burns Jr. and Sherry L. Hodge in U.S. District Court in London.

In one count of the indictment it charges that the two women and Burns conspired to conceal some of the $1.9 million stolen from Dr. Roscoe J. Acker of Fleming-Neon in August 1985.

Dr. Acker's daughter, Tammy, 23, was stabbed to death during the robbery of their home, and Dr. Acker was choked until he lost consciousness. Two men, Roger D. Epperson and Benny Lee Hodge were sentenced to death in the robbery.

Burns defended Epperson and the indictment charged he paid for his services with the money he knew was stolen from Acker. Burns has pleaded not guilty.

Mrs. Hodge, who has pleaded not guilty, has requested that her trial be held separately from Burns. She is being held without bond in Lexington. The trial on the charges is set for Oct. 15 in London.

Mrs. Epperson's bond was set at $50,000 but she has been unable to post it and is being held in the Laurel County jail.

Briefly . . . Friendly reminder

The last day to register to vote is Oct. 6, according to Norma Houk, county clerk.

Persons who have changed precincts, parties, or addresses should also check their registration.

More marijuana

A total of 41 marijuana plants were destroyed by Deputy Sheriff Delno McClure in a corn field owned by Wayne Hysinger in the Lake Linville area. McClure said the plants were between six and seven feet tall.

Wrong tense

A section of a suit filed by Crumfield and Linda Foster against the county over lease payments for a landfill reported in last week's Signal should have read, "the court failed to pay to the plaintiffs' rent" from "Feb. 18, 1985 to Aug. 19, 1986 and defendants now owe $2,250 . . . instead of "paid the Fosters."

For those who asked

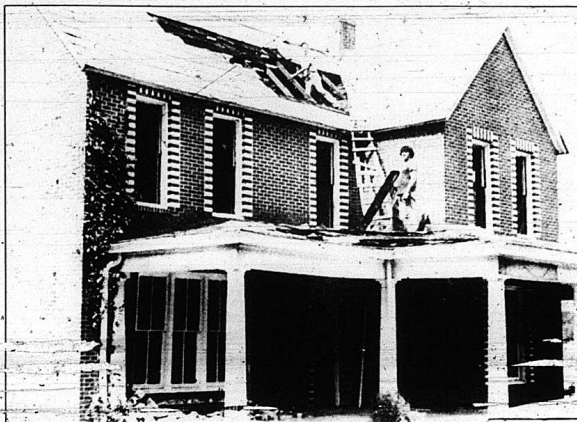

A house owned by Bro. James Miller near the quarry in Mt. Vernon was burned for practice by the Mt. Vernon Fire Department Friday night. Fireman Gary Hansel said Bro. Miller "wanted to get rid of it, and we did."

Sale pending

Contel, one of the largest non-Bell providers of local telephone service with 2.3 million customers in 30 states, including Kentucky, will be sold to Communications Satellite Corp., the largest satellite company in the U.S. Contel is Continental Telephone Co., which serves Rockcastle. Sale price $2.5 billion.

New policeman

William A. "Bill" Mink was hired by the Mt. Vernon City Council Tuesday night to be a police officer at $3.35 an hour. The council designated him as a full-time regular. He agreed to go to law enforcement school and stay with the city police force. He replaces James Durham who has a position with the Berea Police Department.

Two of the workmen tearing down the old Hilton house on Richmond Street in Mt. Vernon are Roman McFerron on the roof and Danny Cummins on the porch roof. In the picture below, McFerron edged his way along the roof to the chimney.

Workmen tear down Hilton house

Workmen this week began tearing down the 84-year-old Hilton House on Richmond Street in Mt. Vernon to make room for a drug store.

The store will be owned by Rite-Aid, the third largest drug firm in the nation.

Doing the work is Sheriff Clarence Hasty and helpers. The house will be partially torn down and the remainder probably burned, if possible, Hasty said.

There has been no report on when the drug firm will begin construction.

Even as the house was being torn down a mystery developed. The sheriff said unknown persons took away its nearly new furnace.

Bullen files amended complaint

Another chapter in the continuing dispute over collection of garbage in the City of Mt. Vernon will unfold Oct. 10 in Rockcastle Circuit Court.

That is the date Circuit Judge Daniel J. Venters will likely rule on a motion by City Attorney Carl Clontz asking the court to dismiss that section of a complaint filed by William K. Bullen against the city on the grounds Bullen's complaint fails to state a claim against the city. A hearing on that motion was postponed by Judge Venters last week until Oct. 10 after Bullen's attorney, James T. Gilbert of Richmond reported he was ill.

Bullen had involved the city in the garbage dispute in a second count of his original complaint that said if his exclusive franchise with the city for garbage collection is determined invalid by the court, then he has been damaged and is entitled to restitution from the city.

On Oct. 10, also likely to be heard is an amended complaint by Bullen and Helton Sanitation Inc. (HSI) of Gray, asking for a temporary and permanent injunction enjoining Bee Garbage Transfer Systems (Johnny Eaton, David Eaton, David Ballinger) from operating garbage collection in the city in violation of Bullen's "exclusive franchise" with the city. HSI had not been directly involved as a plaintiff in the original complaint against Bee and the city. However, it was mentioned that Bullen, who is president of Multi-County Services, Inc. (his garbage business) did sell equipment to HSI to use in collecting city garbage.

According to the amended complaint, on Oct. 1, 1984 Bullen entered into a contract with HSI to collect commercial garbage in the city and Bullen was paid a lump sum by HSI for collection privileges. Since HSI is a de facto assignee, then Bee is infringing on Bullen's franchise, according to the complaint.

Bee has placed commercial garbage containers at various locations in Mt. Vernon, but Bee is not collecting residential garbage, Johnny Eaton reported. Residential garbage is still being collected by Bullen.

There was a lot of sandblasting going on at the Signal Building last weekend with James Anderkin and Bill Taylor doing the work. Best guess is that it is the first time the stone has been cleaned since the building was constructed in 1912-13.

Had the trial gone the other way they probably would have had that right.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

I am writing in reference to a recent murder trial of Jimmy Sandusky where he claimed he killed for fear of his life because that man he killed simply said, "I'll beat you to death."

I ask you how many arguments are there in which that statement is not made. He also said the fact that there were three of them was reason for his fear, but in his own testimony he stated that the other two were not out of the car or said a word to give him any reason for fear.

He also stated that he never invited or asked them to come to his house. But I ask you, if I'm running a boot legging joint isn't that an open invitation for anyone drinking or wanting something to drink to come to my house?

The fact is that the man only wanted a case of beer on credit. The defendant had a loaded gun in his car that he kept at all times. To me that says he was only waiting for a chance to use it.

Shouldn't even our law enforcement officers be required to shoot a warning shot unless his life is in immediate danger before shooting an unarmed man?

In closing I would like to add that the defenses' testimony did not even match their prior state-

New tax bill will make tax code fair

By Congressman Hal Rogers

The House of Representatives passed an historic new tax reform bill this past week which will have one major result - increasing the fairness of our tax system.

Like you, my blood has boiled with recent press accounts of some of our largest corporations in America paying not one cent of federal income tax - this despite having earned billions of dollars in income. This situation is patently unfair and has eroded confidence in our entire tax collection system.

The Week That Was

1985, 1 year ago this week, The Convent Food Mart in Brodhead was robbed at gun point last Friday night.

Two men walked into the grocery store carrying hand guns and told the cashier on duty they wanted all of the money in the cash register.

1976, 10 years ago this week, The Rockcastle County Rockets downed visiting MMI, 60-8 to claim their first victory of the year.

Mr. Vernon City policeman Sherman Denny resigned at Monday's city council meeting.

G.H. "Hubb" Griffin and his son Dwight won an all-nurse paid trip to Inn on the Pine Winks on Lake Monroe near Blooming in Kentucky.

Nancy French was crowned Homecoming Queen at Rockcastle County High School.

1966, 20 years ago this week, Harrison Police Judge William Gilford is still police judge. A suit solicited to oust him this past was dismissed by Circuit Judge R.C. Tarrar at a special hearing in Rockcastle Court on Saturday.

Doris Coffey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Coffey, Rt. 3, Mt. Vernon, has been chosen District Dairy Princess to represent District eight at the State Dairy Princess contest at Louisville.

1956, 30 years ago this week, Six cheerleaders were chosen for the upcoming basketball season at Mt. Vernon High School.

The six chosen were Joan Maggard, Ruby Barnett, Linda Parrish, Patricia Taylor, Carol Leath Owens and Barbara Laird. C.C. Towary of Conway has retired after 22 years as postmaster. He was replaced by Willard Wynn.

Some of the Rockcastle County schools have started this year off with perfect attendance. Those schools are Cave Ridge, Rock Springs and Anglin Falls.

1915, 71 years ago this week, a meeting of the Mt. Vernon Fair Association Stockholders the following officers were elected: W.H. Fish, president; Tom Kirby, vice president; James Maret, secretary-treasurer; Directors elected were: W.A. McKenzie, J.J. Noe, J.S. Helton, R.B. Mullins, F.C. Thompson, Jr., W.M. Bullock and W.M. Payne.

Cong. Hal Rogers

But under this new tax reform bill, which I voted for and support, we will see more equity and fairness for all taxpayers. This reform package closes many of the loopholes which these corporations have used to avoid paying taxes and also puts into effect a minimum tax that all corporations will pay.

The other important feature of this new law will be dramatically lower tax rates for individuals and families. The new top rate will now be 28 percent. Many of you will pay just 15 percent, while thousands more will pay no taxes at all. By getting the working poor off the tax rolls, I believe this tax bill will be a big boost to our Fifth District.

In addition, these lower rates will help get tax considerations out of the way when people or businesses spend their money. Our nation is dotted with empty office buildings that were built for only one purpose - sheltering money from taxes. Think how much better that money could be used if businesses are given incentives to use their sales instead of shelter their money from tax. Too many economic decisions in our country are made by tax lawyers instead of businessmen who want to increase production and sales and create more jobs for our people.

Indeed, I believe this new tax code will help stimulate long-term job creation, which is the top priority on my list. Our region needs growth, and by letting the people of the Fifth District keep more of their hard-earned income, we will see increased local spending and saving which will create more jobs in each community.

In looking at our district, it appears that 95 percent of the families will see their taxes either reduced or eliminated. That has to be a shot-in-the-arm for our economy!

While I did have some reservations about changing the rules for Individual Retirement Accounts and the Investment Tax Credit (which the new law also does), I believe our district will see a long-term benefit through this new bill.

Lower tax rates, removal of the working poor from paying taxes at all, closing loopholes for corporations...these changes in our tax system will achieve many goals. But the most important goal of all will be to make our tax system more fair. I will continue to look for ways to increase fairness and create jobs in our Fifth District economy.

More local control of public schools

There is "substantial support for more influence on public schools from local-school boards" according to the 1986 Gallup Poll on the Public's Attitudes Toward the Public Schools. A higher percentage of those responding wanted more influence from local school boards, while there was only moderate support for more influence from the federal and state governments and strong opposition to more federal influence.

On the question "Would you like the local school board to have more influence or less influence in determining the educational program of the local public schools?" 57 percent want more influence, 17 percent want less influence, 17 percent the same influence, and nine percent didn't know.

These responses include both parents and nonparents and parents with children in public schools as well as those with children in nonpublic schools. Parents and nonparents have similar attitudes on these matters. Parents, however, are even more likely than nonparents to oppose increased federal influence. At the same time, they are somewhat more likely than nonparents to favor both increased influence by local school boards and by state government.

Various population groups polled consistently support increased influence for local school boards, but some differences emerge on the question of increased control by state and federal government. Forty-five percent want the state government to have more influence, while 32 percent think the state should have less influence (Sixteen percent said the same as I do and seven percent didn't know).

On the question "Would you like the federal government in Washington to have more influence or less influence in determining the educational program of the local public schools?" 26 percent said there should be more influence, while 53 percent said there should be less influence from the federal government. (Twenty percent said as you and nine percent didn't know.)

The annual Phi Delta Kappa (Phi K) education poll's information on trends in opinion about a wide range of questions concerning schools. It alerts decision-makers to overall public opinion on a variety of school programs and policies and serves as a national benchmark against which local attitudes can be measured.

WAR MEMORIAL FEE PLAN IS STOPPED

In the frenzy of federal budget cutting, wrong-headed ideas often surface. A prime example is a National Park Service proposal brought to my attention recently by a Kentucky native.

This Kentuckian, a veteran who survived the bombing at Pearl Harbor, now works as a volunteer at the Arizona Memorial in Honolulu, Hawaii. He alerted me to Park Service plans to begin charging an entrance fee at the memorial, where visitors pay homage to those who died in that 1941 attack.

As a member of the Senate Energy Committee, which oversees the Park Service, I was already aware that increased park user fees were a new priority. The nation's parks experienced a 20 percent hike in visitation this year, and it is reasonable to propose that fees be linked to help the parks cope with the higher volume. The fees have been frozen since 1979.

Just as this veteran forewarned, when Administration officials came before the Energy Committee with their fee proposal, it was not limited to parks. They added some historic sites to their list of properties where fees would be charged. Indeed, among those was the Arizona Memorial, which is located in Pearl Harbor, above where the U.S.S. Arizona and her lost crewmen still lie.

The veteran who wrote me is one of 10 Pearl Harbor survivors who volunteers his services at the memorial, providing visitors a firsthand account of the events of historic December 7, 1941. Only 4,500 visitors can be accommodated there each day. He wrote and people often must wait 2 1/2 hours to visit. He said volunteers would be outraged and might resent if those paying respects to people killed in the bombing were charged a fee.

They do not charge at Gettysburg, Arlington and Punchbowl, why should they want to charge an entrance fee at the Arizona Memorial? I asked this veteran in his letter.

I related to Committee members the Kentucky native's argument that it would be wrong to require an entrance fee for those paying respects to men who gave their lives at Pearl Harbor. As a result, the Committee adopted a provision that would prohibit the National Park Service from charging fees at this war memorial.

User fees are being increased in many areas in which the federal government provides a service or allows the public a privilege such as use of a national park. But I am glad these particular plans were stopped by the warning of this veteran, a man who understands that user fees at a war memorial are extremely inappropriate.

water heater, kitchen cabinets and stair railings. Many motorists along Richmond Street saw two vans at the house for two or three days last week, but no one apparently bothered to check.

The house was built in 1903 by Charles C. Davis, former businessman. Mr. and Mrs. O.V. Helton purchased the house in 1949 from the late Jess Cummins.

According to records of the property, D.H. Lyons purchased the house in 1912 from Davis. Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Durham bought it from Lyons. After Durham died in 1925 and Mrs. Durham in 1939, their son Austin, and his wife, Joyce, lived there until 1943 when they sold it to Dona Ball, who in turn sold it to Jess Cummins.

Although the house is 84 years old, it is not the oldest house in town. Mr. Vernon Sumner says the oldest is the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Leach at the southeast corner of U.S. 150 and Richmond Street.

Toward the north, the boundaries are set at 1,000 feet on either side of the six-inch water main to the I-75 overpass. At one time, the council had voted with the idea of taking in Ruffin Valley, but that has apparently been removed from consideration.

To the south, the city limits will be 1,000 feet on either side of the six-inch water main to the I-75 overpass, but not south of the overpass. That annexation would take in Hilltop Market and McGuire Subdivision.

Fire hydrants to be installed must be on a six-inch water main which is what prompted the council the name the mains as designated points for the annexation area.

Mayor Roland Mullins stressed the boundaries are tentative until a survey is taken and the

"Garbage Suit" From Front

However, Bee is collecting school garbage. In his order on the original complaint, Judge Venters allowed Bee to continue collecting school garbage on the grounds Bee was bidder of the school garbage collection and Bullen had always submitted to the bidding procedure of the school board.

Bullen had claimed bidding was unnecessary since he has an exclusive franchise with the city and Rockcastle County High School and Mt. Vernon Elementary School are both in the city. That original complaint asking for the temporary injunction was rejected by Judge Venters on grounds that Bullen had not shown as Bullen contended that he (Bullen) had no preparable injury. The judge ruled Bullen had no right to a hearing because the apparent revenue transferred the right to commercial garbage collection to HSI.

That ruling apparently left open an avenue for HSI to enter the case.

The amended complaint by Bullen, and now, HSI asks for a temporary and permanent injunction prohibiting Bee from collecting within the city limits. It also asks for damages and attorney and court costs.

The mayor said he did not have a date when final approval could be expected, but speculated it might be before the end of the year.

declined to discuss it. He said he would comment at length, nearer the time he is to leave.

Rockcastle Teen Center opens

The building formerly occupied by the Mt. Vernon Attic and owned by the Christian Appalachian Project on Williams Street in Mt. Vernon has been converted into a Teen Center—a gathering place for the young people of the County.

According to Ike Adams, the Center's Coordinator, the Teen Center will be a place where people 13 to 18 years of age can come and have fun more than anything else.

"We aim primarily to provide an environment that is absolutely free of Drugs and Alcohol and a place where parents can feel that their kids are in good hands," said Adams. "We won't hesitate to call the police if we see any evidence of drinking or drug use. If so much as smell beer on somebody's breath they are going to leave then and there and they are not going to be invited back. We don't aim to try and solve any drug problems, but we do intend to provide a place where young people who don't use drugs or drink can have a good time without having to put up with those who do."

More than anything else we want parents and teens to feel that this is a safe place to be," said Adams.

The center has installed various recreation equipment—a ping pong table, foosball, bumper pool, a television and VCR, a stereo, etc. and lots of "sit-on" furniture. In addition, a study and meeting room are available.

Adams is organizing a tutorial program for students having difficulty with algebra, English and other required subjects and several "fun" classes in Photography, Mountain Crafts & Culture, weight lifting, Leadership development, etc. are being organized.

Besides Adams, Peg McMakin, a Northern Virginia native who just received a Bachelors Degree in Recreation from Virginia Wesleyan University has volunteered a year of her time as a full time staff person along with Larry Price, Louisville Native and former Navy man who is also taking time out to spend a year in Rockcastle County.

"We are going to insist that the folks who use the center help keep it clean and well maintained," said Adams. "We are providing the building, the equipment, and adult supervision. We expect and we will demand that the teenagers take some pride in turning this place into a real community asset."

The teen center will open at 1 p.m. and normally close at 8:30 unless some sort of special event is going on. It will be closed on Wednesday and Sundays and open the rest of the week. It is located directly behind the Mt. Vernon Elementary School.

Victor Chad Francisco celebrated his first birthday September 7th at his home with a clown party. Chad would like to thank everyone who attended and for the many gifts he received. 17 members of his family and friends attended. Area homemakers meet at Jackson

The Wilderness Trail Area Extension Homemakers' Annual Meeting met at Jackson County High School, September 27, 1986.

Irene Reid, Area President, called the meeting to order at 10:30 a.m. and asked Sue Smith, Jackson County President, to give the "welcome" speech.

"The Thought for the Day" was presented by Helen Hamilton from Bell County.

When Laurel County's Home-maker, Amata Johnson called the roll of the Wilderness Trail counties, we knew that Jackson County had the most present with Whitley County a close second.

University of Kentucky's Specialist of Extension work, Linda Hunter, gave us greetings from our state University and invited us to come by the Home-maker's Extension Office at anytime.

The keynote speaker, Shari Cummings of a Kentucky Department of the Arts employees, told us how proud she was that Kentucky was chosen for a National Gift Shop of Crafts. With all our talent, she thought we could increase our income by selling our wares. She explained just what we would need to set up a shop. By having crafts attractively displayed and to hire friendly sales people, she was sure our sales would increase.

Area reports were presented before lunch and also the viewing of the Cultural Arts brought from homemakers of the Wilderness Trail Area Barbara Owens of Rockcastle County was one of the judges.

The Bird of Paradise Quilt was voted number one by the viewers of all the display items. However, besides quilts, weaving, canning, lampshades, knitting, crocheting, needlepoint, pillows, crocheting, cross-stitching, embroidery, wall hangings, Christmas decorations, baskets, paints, drawings, rugs and candlewicking were displayed.

The Rockcastle County winners were Carolyn Chastain - blue on a punched lampshade, Evelyn Ponder - red on crewel work, Lillian Collett - red on knitting, and Barbara Watson - red on weaving.

After we got back to our seats, a professional group of traditional mountain musicians entertained us with music and songs.

The drawings of the many prizes brought squeals of delight from the winners. When the only man present won, we all clapped.

Before we adjourned around 2:30 p.m., Knox County invited the Wilderness Trail Homemakers to the 1987 area meeting.

Rockcastle County Home-makers thank Noretta Thompson, who made many trips to the stage to get the C.V.U. certificates and seals. Duall's 50th year certificate for being a continuing club; and Rockcastle County's 100% Ovarian Cancer certificate. Noretta presented an account of her duties as State Health Chairman, also.

As four of Broodhead Home-makers rode home with Cheryl Witt, they all agreed with the keynote speaker from Frankfort, Kentucky, that the scenery, from the road as we traveled to Jackson County, was as beautiful as any they had seen in National parks.

The nine attending this meeting from Rockcastle were: Pauline Kincer, Reba Noe, Ruby McKenzie, Emily Glovak, Loraine Newland, Elizabeth Mullins, Ella Mae Martin, Barbara Owens, and Noretta Thompson.

Stop Mildew Damage to House And Furnishings

If your house has taken on a musty odor, chances are mildew is right now doing damage to your walls, carpeting and other furnishings.

Your best protection against mildew is to keep things clean, get rid of dampness and improve ventilation. But if mildew already has its foot in your door, here's what to do.

First step is to stop mold growth. When you find mildew on any kind of fabric, brush it off outdoors. If you brush indoors, you could spread the mold spores throughout the house. Sun the fabrics, air them thoroughly, then wash or dry clean. If stains remain on washable fabrics, wash them again, using a laundry bleach this time.

Most man-made fabrics are resistant to mildew, unless they're dirty-soil gives mold food for growth. After brushing upholstery, rugs and carpets, wipe them with a cloth wrung out in a solution of 1 cup denatured or rubbing alcohol to 1 cup of water. Dry thoroughly in the sun. You may need to give the rugs and upholstered furniture a more thorough cleaning with a commercial shampoo.

If mold has grown into the inner part of an upholstered piece or carpeting, send it to a reliable fumigating service for treatment.

Scrape off wood surfaces with a mild alkali solution, such as washing soda or tri-sodium phosphate, using 4 to 6 tablespoons of one of these to a gallon of water. Rinse well and dry. If mold has grown into the wood, you may have to strip off the finish and refinish the piece to undo the damage.

If mildewed wallpaper is washable, wipe it with a cloth wrung out of thick soapsuds; then with clean water. Don't wet the paper any more than necessary. Do not rub. Pat dry with a soft, dry cloth.

Wash tiled floors and walls with a dilute solution of chlorine bleach. If mildew has discolored the grouting in between tiles in your bathroom, you can make a thick paste with the consistency of toothpaste with household bleach and baking soda. Apply the paste and scrub it with a toothbrush. Rinse with clean water and wipe dry.

You can buy other products that will help you route out mildew. Ammonia cleaners with sanitizing and fungicides and special aerosol sprays will stop the mold growth.

If you have a cellar with a dirt floor, sprinkle chloride of lime on it, wait til the mustiness is gone, then sweep up the lime.

Protecting damp and musty books from further damage is a real problem. They should be aired thoroughly and dried out as soon as possible. If they're very damp, sprinkle cornstarch or talcum powder between the pages to take up the moisture. Leave it

The ballpoint pen is said by some to have been invented by two Hungarian brothers—Georg and Ladislao—who agreed on the advantage of quick-drying ink for use in pens. They constructed the prototype and in 1938 applied for a patent.

WILDERNESS TRAIL AREA 4-H TEEN CAMP

Rockcastle County 4-H teens, along with teens from seven other counties in the Wilderness Trail Area are invited to attend the annual fall 4-H Teen Weekend Camp. It will be held Saturday, October 18th and 19th at the J.M. Felner 4-H Camp in London.

This year, the area teens have decided to enjoy the fall colors. After arriving at camp on Saturday on several hours, then brush off. Use paradichlorobenzene or paradimaldehyde in a closed bookcase or other closed storage area to stop mold growth. These same precautions should be used to protect old snapshots and photographs from mildew.

Get your whole house dried out as soon as possible. Air conditioners and dehumidifiers help to dry the air. Heating the house for a short time also helps. An exhaust fan could also be used to take moisture laden air out of the house. Silica gel, activated alumina, or calcium chloride absorb moisture from the air and are particularly effective in closed closets.

Mildew is a recurring problem here in Kentucky if your house isn't air conditioned. It grows best in damp, dark places that are warm and poorly ventilated. So keep the air circulating through your house, run a dehumidifier if possible in the muggiest weather.

Mildew, particularly in closets and basements.

morning, we will go to Dog Slide Falls near Cumberland Falls on a picnic and then a beautiful fall hike. We will then go back to camp and have a steak supper, "bring your own steak" and then a Halloween Dance. We also have the traditional camp fire and sharing circle to talk about what the day's experiences were. An exciting midnight hike is planned for Saturday night.

On Sunday we will have devotions and a workshop. Afterwards, teens are homeward bound.

Fall Teen Camp is open to high school teens, grade 9-12. Applications are available in the Extension Office. The cost will be $15.00. Applications and fees are due in the Extension Office by October 10th. Call (256-2403) if you are interested in going.

It's time again for Sweet 16 academics

Feed the Children donates 5,000 lbs. of flour to CAP

A shipment of 5,000 pounds of white flour was delivered to the Christian Appalachian Project in Somerset, Kentucky, Saturday, 27 September 1986.

The American grown flour was donated by Feed the Children. It was delivered to a tobacco warehouse in Somerset. The space is being donated.

"The flour will be distributed to small mission ministries in eastern Kentucky and through the Christian Appalachian Project's used clothing stores, known as Attics," said Charles Deaton, Project manager for the organization's Operation Sharing.

The Oklahoma City-based Feed the Children is a non-denominational, non-sectarian organization which seeks to collect and distribute food and clothing to third-world countries and across America. Feed the Children, in addition to providing medical teams, distributes food and clothing directly to needy children in 20 foreign countries and indirectly in America through other organizations.

This is the first time Feed the Children and the Christian Appalachian Project have cooperated in such a venture.

Feed the Children is committed to buying the American farmer's surplus and distributing it to the needy of the world, according to Larry Jones, president of Feed the Children.

The Christian Appalachian Project, based in Lancaster, Kentucky, is a non-profit, interdenominational Christian service organization which seeks to help the Appalachian people improve their lives through education, employment, and a sense of community.

led by Rev. Ralph King, the project has grown from holding summer camps for poor children in the 1950s to a multi-faceted, multi-million dollar organization serving people in ten eastern Kentucky counties. Anyone whose program may contact Charles Deaton at 606-792-3051.

Recent rains helped burley late crops

Recent rains have helped ripen burley, hay, pastures and late-planted soybeans. However, soil moisture was inadequate in most areas of the Commonwealth.

"Soil moisture conditions vary across the state, even from farm to farm within a county," said Agriculture Commissioner David E. Boswell. "The only area of the Commonwealth which has overall adequate soil moisture conditions is the upper part of the west-central region near the Ohio River."

As of Sept. 21, soil moisture in Kentucky was rated as 17 percent very short, 47 percent short and 36 percent adequate, according to reporters for the Kentucky Agricultural Statistics Service. Between showers last week.

farmers were busy with late summer tasks like cutting and housing tobacco; harvesting corn and hay; and sowing cover crops.

Kentucky farmers had 84 percent of their burley cut as of Sept. 21. This compares with 90 percent cut at this time last year and 80 percent of the five-year average. Dark-type tobacco are LOCATION: Turn east off US 150 in Brodhead onto West Street. Follow West Street approximately 1 1/2 miles to auction site. Auction signs are posted.

In order to settle the estate of the late Mr. Clyde Halcomb, Mrs. Halcomb has authorized our firm to sell, for the high dollar, this desirable well-located farm.

Tract No. 1 - contains 2.4 acres and is improved with the lovely picture 3 bedroom brick house. The house also has living room dining room combination with built-in cabinets and family room. Other features include washer-dryer hook-up, full basement, storm doors and windows, cistern water with city water also available.

This home and acreage would be ideal for anyone that likes country living with a fantastic view and "elbow room."

Tract No. 2 - contains 1.6 acres.

Tract No. 3 - contains 1.5 acres.

Each of these tracts are on the south side of the Bowling Ridge Road, adjacent to Tract No. 1 and have city water available and front on the road. Both are choice quality building sites.

Tracts 4 & 5 - each contain approx. 2.75 acres and have city water available and front on the north side of the Bowling Ridge Road. Again, each of these two sites would be ideal building sites.

Tract 6 - a baby farm within itself, containing 6.25 acres, all in grass, with city water available. Since there are no buildings on this tract, you can build to suit yourself.

Tract No. 7 - is a triangular shaped lot with 136' of frontage on the Bowling Ridge Road. This lot measures approximately 54,100 of an acre. This tract would be ideal for building or mobile home lot.

Located on this lot is a 12x55 Victoria trailer that will also be selling. It has 2 bedrooms, living room, kitchen, full bath, washer-dryer hook-up, fuel oil furnace and city water. The mobile home will sell separately from the lot.

Signs of Spring... the same now as then!

By: Mabel Martin

It will soon be spring. The magic of the witch hazel lights our eyes as we go along the edge of the swamp! The witch hazel of which I'm speaking grows along the swamp down Pistol Creek. Pistol Creek edges Clay and Laurel counties in Ky. The witch hazel bushes grow just above where the old log Darl Jones school house burned down. The witch hazel grows like it had been pruned, but the pruning was because so many of its limbs were needed to brew into the 'bitters'.

Witch hazel is a cure for so many things, and it cures the winter's doldrums just by letting your eyes light upon it with its yellow blossoms borne in long clusters of taggies, which hang on the shrub all winter long, just waiting for the sunshine.

Witch hazel, do the most good... I've never heard this expression about it, to my knowledge, should be cut into long branches and placed in a blue crystal vase near a window and wash each day, for it forecasts a beautiful day, a beautiful week, a beautiful spring, and summer!

Nothing beats a walk, or a drive past the witch hazel. The mountains or hills rise above it, and the little 'beavers' can be heard heralding spring, from every mud puddle up and down Muddy Cut. Pistol Creek and all the branches of water which meet, and after their meeting they stay together and go on out of the country into the ocean!

These little creek frogs are not universal. They claim the streams in only a small spot of Appalachia. They never hush their choruses in warm weather, and at times it seems they crowd out both worms and high falutin thinking with their incessant notes! Day and night the little peepersholler! They forecast rain! They forecast drought! For with all their constant noise they have to be telling us something!

If you wonder the connection between these small frogs and witch hazel, well, both of these natural things bring magical healings to those who believe in their charms!

These small frogs are not easy to catch; in case you wish to try some of the charms and the 'witches brew' but in case you wish to catch one, grind him up after he's dried in the dark of the night, and a lot of other requirements which do not come readily to my mind, if you are patient you may take one away from your house cat, where she's crept upon him, as he's calling to his mate!

Slip down to the creek, before the cat comes along, and be quiet as a mouse. The frog will be making his chorus along with the bass notes of bigger 'batters' the bull frogs, but frogs can tell if the noise is coming from a danger, or if it's just another old frog bellowing, or 'creeking'. They have a built-in instinct for invisible danger, just as we do when we scent a copperhead in the grass.

The mixture of the dry frog's dust, and a few hairs from an old mare's tail, and half a dozen other ingredients will cure the warts if you've any of them, caused from playing with your frog, which your mother didn't know you had in that old fruit jar, and hidden behind the crib! Only little boys are interested in this, I'd guess, for girls never play with frogs!

Let the blossoms from the witch hazel dry, just like drying rabbit baccas! Then crumble up this mixture, and take a straight razor and shave the hairs from the mare's tail into tiny pieces!

Mix all of this together, and don't be tempted to taste it, pick some fresh mushrooms, and don't taste of them either!

Rub the medication generously on your warts, and go down to the creek and wash it all off, after sundown on the night the moon is full, and pay no attention to the hoot owls hollering, nor the bull frogs either, and creep into bed before you've been missed by your mother.

For some reason, both fathers and mothers would rather you had warts as to believe in charms and such, and would risk you forever being disgraced, if you mentioned all these things to do for yourself!

now 80 percent cut, slightly behind the 86 percent that was cut at this time last year.

Tobacco going into barns is reported to be of good quality. Curing is progressing nicely, recent rains and the warm weather should slow down housed tobacco that is drying too quickly.

Houseburn is not a big problem right now as only 10 percent of the statistics service reports indicated houseburn in early-cut tobacco. Some of the earliest cut tobacco is nearly ready for stripping.

The corn harvest is picking up as the moisture content of the grain permits. Harvesting across the state was a record high 30 percent complete by Sept. 21. This compares to 19 percent at this time last year and the five-year average of 13 percent.

Harvesting is most advanced in west and west-central Kentucky, where between one-third and one-half of the crop has been harvested.

The soybean crop has benefitted from, recent rainfall as later-planted beans are still filling pods. The condition of the soybeans was rated 1 percent very poor and 51 percent good.

Crop development is ahead of last year. As of Sept. 21, 36 percent of the soybean crop was shedding leaves or beyond, compared to 24 percent last year and 26 percent for the average.

As the hay harvest continues, farmers are reporting lower yields and slightly less quality than last year. Most expect hay will be in short supply in some areas of the Commonwealth.

Grain sorghum harvest continues. The crop is rated as 72 percent fair, 19 percent good and 9 percent excellent.

Farmers are grazing their pastures, but pasture condition remains in poor to fair or very poor to good condition. Many farmers are renovating pastures hurt by last summer's drought.

Small grains sown as cover crops on tobacco acreage are germinating and showing good growth.

Fiscal court awards bids on asbestos

A contract to remove asbestos from a section of the Rockcastle County Jail was approved by the Rockcastle Fiscal Court at a meeting Monday.

The contract was awarded to last week's low bidder, London Associates of Greenville, Ky., who will remove about 300 square feet at the low bid of $10,250.

The court also will call for bids on the remainder of the jail renovation which will include a drunk tank, holding cell, and changes in other cells, according to federal requirements.

Bids on the remainder of the project will be opened by the court at 10 a.m. Oct. 21 in order to meet a deadline of Nov. 1. The work must be started by that time or a $30,000 grant from the Corrections Cabinet will be eliminated.

James Dysart will be honored by local DAR

The public is invited to attend the dedication of a marker honoring Revolutionary War Soldier, James Dysart. The Rockcastle Chapter, DAR, is hosting the memorial. Sunday afternoon, Oct. 5, at 2 p.m., at the old Dysart Family Cemetery, on the corner of Robert Whitaker.

The cemetery may be reached by taking Highway 461 toward Somerset and turning left onto Ky. 1250 at Denny's Grocery. Two additional left turns onto gravel roads will be marked. Comfortable clothing should be worn as there is a short walk across a field. In case of inclement weather, the ceremony will be cancelled.

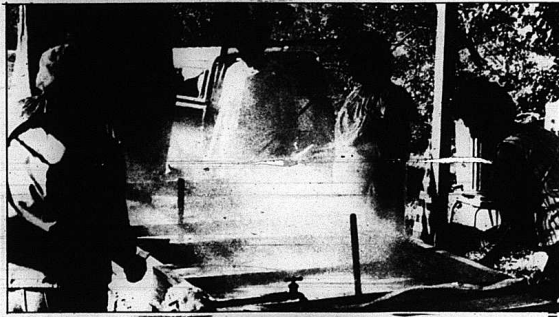

Dysart descendants from the western part of the U.S. are planning to gather in Renfro Valley for the weekend in order to attend the dedication.

Fire hazard season is here

The official Fall Fire Hazard Season begins October 15 and ends December 15th, according to Steve Bullen, Rockcastle County Ranger for the Kentucky Division of Forestry. During this period, the danger of forest fires is always much higher than usual. However, because of the extended drought this spring and summer, the fire danger this fall may be very high.

The 4:30 Burning Law is in effect during Fire Hazard Season. This law makes it illegal to burn anything within 150 feet of any woodland or brushland before 4:30 p.m. Other laws require that a burning area be adequately cleared around before the burning is done, and that someone be with the fire at all times until it is completely out. As just one step in helping reduce the number of forest fires in Rockcastle County, the Division of Forestry will continue to strictly enforce these and other fire laws.

A common cause of fires in the fall is leaf burning. Forestry officials recommend disposing of leaves by mulching, composting, scattering or other means, rather than burning. If leaves or other materials must be burned, be sure to know and obey the fire laws and burn as safely as possible. Be both safe and legal. For advice on Fire Laws, fire safety, fire danger, or to report a Forest Fire, contact any Forest Ranger, or call the Kentucky Division of Forestry at London phone 864-9396.

Visitors as far away as California come to Rockcastle

By: Lois Kleffman

Last week, Monday through Friday, 100 horse riders, more or less, camped on the Jackson-Rockcastle line at night and rode 20 mile loops of the Sheltowee Trail during the day.

The riders brought beautiful spotted horses with them. They are all members of the National Appaloosa Horse Club and the Sheltowee Trail Ride has been a yearly event for them for the last seven years, some of them coming thousands of miles to be here, here in Jackson, Rockcastle and Laurel counties.

Jim Trainor drove 2750 miles, from California, to ride the 100 miles that the riders covered last week. "I go on five or six rides every year and this is one of the best rides I've ever been on," he said.

The Sheltowee Trail Ride is one of three yearly events by the National Appaloosa Club. The other two are the Chief Joseph Trail and the Apache Land Ride. The Sheltowee is the only one east of the Mississippi.

Embry Curry, Madison County Coroner, is the trail boss of the ride and he is proud of the ride and what it offers the riders. Riders, each the 20 mile daily rides were rigorous. Curry offered the riders good entertainment and food in the evenings. The meals were catered by Lundy's of Lexington. Most of the riders agreed it was better food than they get at home.

This year, "Country Express", a band from Lexington, drove in each night to the reclaimed surface mine, where the camp, with the riders' campers and one army tent, was set up. The riders danced and got to know each other a little better when Curry had them dance the "broom dancers" where partners were changed, each time he blew the whistle.

Getting to know other Appaloosa Horse lovers from other parts of the country is a big attraction of the trail ride. Max and Mary Lee Aiken from Senatobia, Mississippi said that the friends they make on trail rides remain close and they exchange letters with people from all over the country.

Both married couples and singles were on the ride last week. Idell Moore, a postmaster and cattle rancher from Ledger, Montana was a single who has been on twenty-nine Appaloosa trail rides, more than anyone else. She has ridden the Chief Joseph Trail for twenty years. Each year, the Max covers 100 miles of the Nezperce 1700 trail.

The Nez Perce Indians, more than any other North American Indiana, became stockmen and breeders of Appaloosa horses after the horses were introduced to the New World around 1620. The horse changed the Nez Perce life style from that of fishermen and farmers to nomadic hunters.

When the U.S. Government dictated that the tribe lead a reservation life, they revolted and fled toward Canada in 1877, led by Chief Joseph. It was mainly because of their Appaloosa ponies that Chief Joseph and the Nez Perce were able to elude the U.S. Cavalry for 1700 miles through Montana, Idaho and Wyoming.

Finally in October of 1877, Joseph decided to surrender to General Howard's troops. Finally in October of 1877, his people suffering from exhaustion, hunger and bitter cold, Joseph decided to surrender to General Howard's troops. His people were sent east to reservations and his prized band of horses numbering over two thousand was dispersed.

The name Appaloosa originated in the Northwest territory of the Palouse Indians. Appaloosas are very different from each other, although all of them are spotted in one way or another. Distinguishing features of the horses are their mottled mouths, striped hooves and the white scleras around their pupils.

Although the weather was hot

last week, the out-of-state riders enjoyed a bon fire each night and expressed their delight at being able to see the hills and hollers of eastern Kentucky. Next year, according to Curry, the Sheltowee Trail Ride will cover a different 100 miles of the Sheltowee Trace, but the riders will keep their fond memories of Rockcastle County and the hills covered with morning mist.

Willing Workers meet recently at Brock home

Our out going president, Jean Albright, congratulated the Willing Workers Homemakers for being chosen, again, as Rockcastle County's Outstanding Club. Clara Proctor sent a thank you note for the many members who helped in the Cystic Fibrosis Bike-A-Thon and the club's year sale. The latter increased our bank account by $106.60. We decided to contribute $25 to the Cystic Fibrosis fund.

Deborah Watson received a thank-you note from Ethiopia for the 25 dresses we made and sent to them a few months ago.

Barbara Watson read the minutes for Clara Proctor, who was absent. She collected over 1985-86 membership cards and $3 dues. $1 of these dues go for the Ovarian Cancer Fund of Kentucky. Patsy Fletcher and Barbara Watson, the nominating committee, reported the following for our 1985-86 officers: Carol Riddle, president; Jean Albright, vice president; Patsy Fletcher, secretary; Elizabeth F. Mullins, reporter; Clara Proctor, blood drive chairman; Emily Glovak, chairman; Ella Mae Martin, food and nutrition chairman; Roberta Taylor, family life chairman; Ona Mae Corcor, management chairman; Willie Lawrence, health chairman; Sylvia White, housing chairman; Leatrice Newland, devotional chairman and Margie Brock, bazaar chairman.

Dates were set for the Christmas Festival and party before our hostess, Margie Brock, gave the blessing. Then she offered refreshments of tifle and cakes that she brought from Ireland last week. She had added dips, chips, fresh vegetables and an assortment of drinks from America.

We enjoyed seeing pictures she had taken in Ireland as well as other articles. But, none of these outside the beautiful blooming mums on her patio in two locations.

We will meet in October at the Senior Citizens building with the club members as hostesses.

An Announcement

Last year, the Livingston City Council met and proclaimed the first Monday in September as David Monroe Smith Day. He was a Congressional Medal of Honor soldier, killed in Korea.

For the last two years, in our Labor Day parade, we have set aside a one-hour segment for a memorial tribute for him. Honored guests who participated this year were: members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Commander Tom Welch, Tom Miller, R.C. Hamm, Floyd Baker, James R. Felts and John D. Bullen; Mayor Ed McCadden of London; Rev. Jim Miller, Councilman Todd Mink; Atty. James Lambert; County Judge Hubert Thacker; County Clerk Norma Houk and Rev. Burgess Daugherty.

The military have always willingly engaged in our Memorial tribute. With 2 days notice, London post sent color guards to the Department of Military Affairs. They sent a crew of four men with helicopters and gave a great performance which aroused admiration and the respect of people militarily and rekindled the patriotism of approximately 2,000 people who could sense the souls of freedom.

We are hoping by next year that we can gather the names of boys from the Livingston area and post them on plaques as his fellow Americans.

We are thankful for what they did. It is great to be an American.

Thanks so much to the helicopter crew for their fine performance and the Color Guard from London. Also, we would like to thank the Sheriff, T.J. Parsons, Delno McClure and Dean Barker for their efficient job.

God Bless You,

Bro. Billy Medley
Mayor of Livingston

This large example of Ogam writing from Wyoming County, W. Va. has a Christian message and contains the Christian Chi-Rho symbols. The sun figure (left) is lit by sunlight once a year, on December 21.

Strange rock carvings found

Note: This article is reprinted from the Sept. 18, 1986 issue of the Mount Vernon Citizen. Some carvings may have been found in Rockcastle.

By Lea M. Schultz

To the ordinary person, grooves and marks found on rocks and cave walls in eastern Wyoming County and elsewhere are nothing more than perhaps marks made by ancient hunters while hunting their some knives.

But to Dr. John P. Lee and other members of the Midwestern Epigraphic Society, these "marks" are an ancient language called Ogam Consaine.

Inscriptions of this language have been found in Powell, Lee and Estill counties in Kentucky. There are probable ones as well in Wyoming County and a far-confirmed report in Johnson County near Paintsville.

Ogam Consaine is a very ancient form of writing in which letters are represented by a variable number of vertical strokes, short and long, and which are above, below, or through a horizontal stem line. Usually vowels are omitted, so the writing has been given the name "consaine" only consonants.

Any language could be written in Ogam, but Dr. Payne says that what has been found here is called "the ancient language of the Irish and Scots." It appears to date about the 6th to 8th century. Translations have mostly been done by Dr. Barry Fell, author of America: B.C. and other books on the subject. Some of the translations have been confirmed by other scholars and others are still being interpreted.

The Powell County inscription, which is one of the longest so far reported, apparently indicates a fortified colonization, or at least residence long enough to try and grow crops. As translated by Barry Fell, it says:

A safe dwelling place, with wilderness around the area. But soon harvest withered, misfortune to the point of famine. If only someone could have sold food to us against a pledge of later payment, like some Joseph in authority. The winter came with rains and fog, our cultivations altogether abandoned. Lacking the blessings of God they fell ill and died in misery. In peace rest their souls. (signed) Ben

The Lee and Estill County inscriptions are still under study and have not been published, so their text cannot be revealed, but it is clear they are in the same language and probably carved by the same peoples.

Critics have called these marks everything from freeze rocks to Indian tool sharpening lines. Anyone who has sharpened a knife will tell you that you must use the blade almost flat across the whetstone to sharpen it. You rub up and down to make a groove in the stone the blade will be dulled. These grooves are clearly purposeful, and patterned to see one of these carvings in a bit of rock shelter in the wilderness is a truly moving experience.

These marks begin to make sense with a brief study of the form of Ogam writing. Then it is possible for anyone with an ancient Gaelic to English dictionary to begin to make sense of the rewarding experience for me to have been able to work with the Epigraphic Society the past six months," said Dr. Payne.

In 1982, two important Ogam inscriptions were noted and photographed by archaeologist Robert Pyle and writer Ida Jane Gullagher. These marks are located in yellow caves in Boone and Wyoming Counties in West Virginia. Fell took them easily to the Powell County site.

At the "tip" of square 3100 on the map on the left side of the page is a large rock with a Christmas Day. A feast day of the church, the first season of the (Christian) year. The season of the blessed advent of the savior, Lord Christ (Savior's Dominus Christi) - Behold He is born of Mary, a Woman.

This solar "proof" of the Christmas Day. A feast day of the inscription has been found in at least two other carvings in Colorado. Epigraphers like especially to find such inscriptions where the text predicts a solar event which then happens, adding credibility to the message as a whole. The Boone County W. Va. ogam tells the story of the birth of Christ culded from the Gospel of Luke. Five other inscriptions have been found there which are in process of translation.

Almost ever since Columbus landed in the West Indies in 1492, Europeans have wondered if the native American "Indian" population had been influenced by previous visitors. Many have wondered if the great pyramids of the Maya, Aztec and others in Central America were influenced by the pyramids of Egypt. Others noted crosses and other apparent vestiges of Christian influence in several North American tribes. Such speculation has generally been doubted by most archaeologists, Payne said. However, the developing study of epigraphy has led to some fascinating speculation about the presence of apparent Christian priests or missionaries, who were preaching in West Virginia and Kentucky about the 6th to 8th centuries and possibly later.

Dr. Payne said that these ancient priests or monks probably came to America in hide-covered controlled for in the study so it seemed the fetuses were really getting this much contamination from the stuff the mother breathed into her lungs.

After the baby is born the problems get even worse. In a study in China involving over a thousand babies, it was found that the risk of being hospitalized for a respiratory illness was twice as great if the father smoked. In China almost no young women smoke, and none of the 1,058 babies had smoking mothers. Therefore, all the extra risk of getting in the respiratory could be blamed on the father's smoking.

In a study in this country the risk of infants getting bronchitis was found to be four times as great if they lived in a home with smokers.

The evidence about passive smoking and children's health is virtually as strong as the well known facts on men getting lung cancer and heart attacks from smoking. Maybe concern for the kids can help some people quit who don't care enough about themselves to do so. The new nicotine chewing gum can help a lot. Ask your doctor.

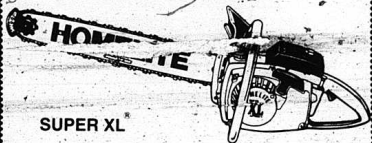

There has been a good bit of publicity about the bad things that happen to babies whose mother's smoke during pregnancy; how they have lower birth weights, and may have brain damage and other problems. Now it is time to pick on the fathers.

That babies born of mothers who did not smoke, but who breathed their husbands smoke during pregnancy gave birth to babies almost an ounce lighter than mothers not exposed to smoke at home. The amount of weight loss went up with heavier smoking in the father. Other variables were

The Medicine Chest

Would you want to kiss someone who has a cold? You probably would rather just hold their hand. But hand contact is the best way to catch a cold. Hand-to-hand contact or hand contact with an inanimate object, handled by a person with a cold is the way most colds are spread, not by kissing, coughing, or sneezing.

The viruses that cause the common cold can survive for hours on hands, cloth handkerchiefs, and hard surfaces. Colds can often be prevented by frequent hand washing, keeping hands away from nose and eyes, using disposable tissues, and disinfecting contaminated objects.

So remember, watch those hands you hold. It might be infectious.

Drug and alcohol survey to be made of students

A statewide survey of drug and alcohol use will be distributed to Kentucky students in grades six through 12 next week. Superintendent of Public Instruction Alice McDonald said today.

Results from the survey ordered by the General Assembly will be available in 1987, she said. These results will provide the basis for an accurate and realistic appraisal of Kentucky's drug-abuse problems, she added. The results also will be used to obtain federal money for drug education programs.

McDonald said she would appoint a committee of educators to review the survey results and recommend changes in curriculum or counseling. Randy Kimbrough, an instructional supervisor in Warren County and president-elect of the Kentucky Association of School Administrators, will head the committee.

The questionnaire will be given to a random sample of students in junior and senior high schools, McDonald said, adding that participation would be voluntary and anonymous. The survey is designed to help determine the extent drugs are used by students, their accessibility, their effects on school performance and the relation of drug use to social behavior.

A poll done by the Legislative Research Commission in 1985 showed that the greatest concern of Kentucky legislators' constituents was drug and alcohol abuse among youth.

sailing boats called curraughs, island hopping from Ireland to small islands north of Scotland, to Iceland, to Greenland and then to Newfoundland or Labrador before landing somewhere on the Atlantic coastline of the United States. They probably followed in the footsteps or even came with the legendary St. Brendan.

"How long they stayed, and whether they returned to Ireland or Scotland or were killed by Indians or intermarried with them we may never know," said Dr. Payne. "What is clear, is that their presence here as recorded in stone inscriptions which can be read by a number of scholars, is becoming much more believable."

Epigraphers believe that they have only scratched the surface in their search for these ancient writings. "There are probably several more sites in eastern Kentucky and in West Virginia," said Dr. Payne. "Some have surely been destroyed by mining, acid rain and vandalism. Finding and preserving those that remain is very important for history."

"If you know of any possible markings on cliff walls, in rock shelters or shallow caves, please let me know," he continued. These marks are often called "Indian writing" by people who have seen them. Payne said that he would be very happy to come and photograph the site or arrange for someone to do so. "We do not want to dig up anything or collect any artifacts. We are only interested in recording and preserving

The Seven Thunders

I wrote the Seven Thunders in Revelation Chapter 10, but I didn't know I was writing them until I started to write the last one.

I had been shown that the articles I was writing was out of the book that was given to John in Revelation 10. It was like this, I had written several articles, then I felt I needed to write another article, so I started wondering what should call it. The Spirit impressed me to call it THUNDER NO. 7. That rung a bell. I turned and said, "The seven thunders, then I counted the articles I had wrote and published and I had published six. The first one that counted was a eight page paper. The next one was a four page that was added to the eight page. The other Thunders were small articles.

THE LORD'S LIGHT

Rev. 18:1 (A Cloud of Heaven)
6:2 Matt. 26:64

Each one of these articles was a Thunder or message that came down to John and he was about to write them and was told not to, but to seal them up.

And, then the Angel went ahead and explained that when these articles or thunders are published that time would be no more because the mysteries of God would be finished that He had given to the prophets.

Then, I started looking at these thunders again and there was no mystery in them, although they came from God in heaven they were plain.

They tell how to build an altar that is ordained of God. They tell how to pray. They even tell how to get a birth defect healed. But most of all they tell what the righteousness of God is.

Then the Angel in (Rev. 10:11) explained to John that he must prophesy again before many people and nations and tongues and kings.

Now read (Rev. 10) again and you will see John was to do this prophesying again when time was no more. It's talking about now, we are in the thousand year judgement (Rev. 20:5).

When I wrote the little article called OUR WOMEN, when I wrote the last word, someone laid their hand on my shoulder. I looked and there was no one there.

One night in the wee hours of the morning, I got up and wrote an article and I was copying a reference out of the Bible and it's Bible started closing, but someone stopped it and held it until I wrote the last dot.

They, they shut it so hard that it popped. I jumped. Writing these articles was like that—

I wrote these articles over a period of seven years (Rev. 10:7) I wrote with great fear.

I wrote these articles in the presence of two great spiritual forces, one for me and one group against me.

When the Lord started giving me visions of people in the judgement and I saw them in their new bodies, then I read (Rev. 20:4,5) and that was saying that the people in the judgement was going to die. John said (Rev. 20:4) that he saw the souls of them that had died. He's talking about seeing them in another new body, making the third body these people had been seen in. I was amazed at this. So much so, that the Lord gave me a vision of this. I saw walnuts hanging on a tree and it was intended to know we are made like that. Our spirit is that living thing inside that kernel.

In a vision I was showed to lay my hand on a dead person. Months later I had a vision that person showed me how to cut my hair.

I had released that spirit, sin ties you to the body you are living in whether that carnal body, or the judgement body (Rev. 20:4,5).

These seven thunders are called the rod of iron in Rev. 12:5. These thunders are the government of the kingdom. They are forever.

I was reading in Revelation 2:28 about the morning star. I prayed and I got what it was that night is a vision I saw THUNDER NO. 1, the paper saying the famine was coming.

If you are out there in Babylon, come out of her. I used to pay her my tribute.

If you have trouble believing these articles I write, I want you to consider this... In God's Holy Word He says in one place not to mark the corners of your beard. In another place He said you will not have your eyes closed. It grows but sets a point on your cheek bone. Now look at all the religious pictures you can find, you will see they have the corners shaved off.

Now, the point is this. If the world's religions, if their leaders don't trust them to lead you down that narrow path to the judgement, which they call heaven. You see they are in darkness. You may have believed in Jesus Christ but if you follow their dark path you know, what can happen.
