Question is: Who will be Mt. Vernon's next mayor?

By: Ray McClure
(Comment)

In a matter of weeks, the city council will be called on to decide on a mayor to replace Roland Mullins who will move outside the city limits, and by law, can no longer serve.

Three of the council members agreed this week the election is not going to be easy since the council is looking for a mayor who has a dedicated interest in serving the city, plus, the ability to serve in a job that is becoming more and more technical and demanding.

For the most part, and at the last report, the council appears to favor someone who is not now on the council, and someone who will serve the one year until the November 1987 General Election, and then be a candidate for the remaining two years left on Mayor Mullins' term that ends in 1989.

Speculation on who will be the new mayor has been a day-by-day recreation for many residents. At least a fourth of the male population has been mentioned at one time or another, but to date, no one who sees a likely prospect has agreed to take the job. No woman has been asked. At least no name surfaced.

There are problems, one councilman confided. "It's going to be very, very complicated because of all the problems the mayor will have to contend with in the future." The councilman had in mind such projects as sewers, water, annexation, streets, personnel, police, water sewer, rates, and possible zoning, that could put the mayor on a "hot seat" during the next year, and beyond.

"We've had some good people mentioned and I have talked with several, but right now we have not made any decision," Councilman Joe Martin said Tuesday. Most of those I talked have declined the job because of the time it demands, and we do want a dedicated person to run our business and cope with our problems."

The council thought they had a possible mayor in Trial Commissioner, Robert Robinson who indicated he would be willing to serve the one year until the General Election in 1987, but a ruling by the Kentucky Attorney General ruled him out because of his position in state government, he could not serve in city government.

It has always been a thought that a mayor is only as good as his council. He is expected to lead the council in the general direction for which he was chosen.

This council and mayor have been more or less in agreement on city policy during their first year together.

During that time, they all

Council awards engineering contract

Crawford and Crawford, engineers of Burnside, were chosen to plan and oversee the city's proposed $300,000 water improvement project at a called meeting of the Mt. Vernon City Council Monday.

The engineers will receive $22,000 for design of the system and $8,000 for continued inspection of the work.

Crawford and Crawford were the original engineers for the city water plant when it was constructed nearly 20 years ago and are familiar with its operation. Since the project upgrades and adds to the older system, the council took that into consideration in awarding the contract to the Burnside firm over three other firms.

The project, expected to get under way as soon as practical, includes rebuilding of one filter, installing another chlorinator, rebuilding the filter bank, installing flow controllers, and restoring the plant to automatic control.

Also to be constructed is a 766,000-gallon concrete ground water storage tank, and construction of a 12-inch water main from city hall to the new tank site on Town Hill near the present tank site.

When the project is completed, the city will be able to pump 1,500,000 gallons of water a day. The city now pumps 1,200,000 gallons a day.

Money for the project will come from a grant from the Appalachian Regional Commission on a 50/50 basis.

Several residents from the Sand Springs area were at the council to ask for extension of water service to 43 homes in the area and told the council they would be willing to share the construction costs pro-rated among the applicants. A $675 figure was discussed.

The council agreed the city

County awarded more road money

A total of $24,153 in county road aid money has been approved by the Transportation Cabinet for use on a flood damaged road.

Restoration of roadway and culverts will be made on Broadhead-Chestnut Ridge Road north to Copper Creek Road.

The roads were damaged by a heavy rainstorm during this past summer.

Is he or isn't he? Constable's residence eligibility questioned

A job that pays absolutely nothing is certainly a desirable one in Rockcastle County's 5th District.

In last May's primary, Herman Gilbert was elected constable over Roger Lopez and Mack Warf. But, according to election officials, Gilbert may not actually live in Rockcastle County.

"It is a complicated situation, and we have turned it over to Commonwealth Attorney Benny Ham," said Norma Houk, Rockcastle county clerk. Houk, Clyde Barnett, Shirley Riddle and Sheriff Clarence Hasty make up the local election commission.

The problem arose when other residents of the county's 5th District complained to election officials that Gilbert is not living in Rockcastle County and that he was not living within the county when he was elected.

Mrs. Houk said, "Benny Ham said Tuesday that Gilbert did own land in Rockcastle County. From what I can gather, the land is divided by the Jackson and Rockcastle County line and the house he actually lives in may be in Jackson County," Ham said. "Gilbert told

Don't forget, vote Tuesday

Ten candidates are seeking office, and two Constitutional amendments are on the ballot, when voters go to the polls Tuesday in the General Election.

Two candidates oppose each other for Justice of the Kentucky Supreme Court. Attorney Joseph E. Lambert of Mt. Vernon is opposed by Attorney Charles R. Luker of London.

In Rockcastle, Division 3, incumbent school board member, Dr. Rudolph Burdette is opposed by Earl C. Cummins.

In the U.S. Senate race, incumbent Democrat Wendell Ford is opposed by Republican Jackson M. Andrews of Louisville.

Four candidates are unopposed. They are: Incumbent 8th District Representative Danny Ford; incumbent 5th District Congressman Harold Rogers; R.W. Dyche III, Judge of the Court of Appeals, Division 1, and George Poynter, incumbent school board member in Rockcastle, Division 1.

Voters will be asked to approve a Constitutional amendment making the office of State School Superintendent and the state board of education appointive. Both are now elective.

Also, voters will be asked to allow mayors of first and second class cities to serve two successive terms, beyond their original terms. Mayors of cities of lesser size, such as Mt. Vernon, have no restrictions on the number of terms a mayor can serve.

Polls will open at 6 a.m. and close at 6 p.m.

Payne indicted

The Rockcastle County Grand Jury has indicted Robert Earl Payne, 41, of Rt. 1, Brodhead, for the murder of 22-year-old Larry Randall Lasswell of Rt. 1, Mt. Vernon.

Laswell was shot twice with a .38 caliber pistol on October 13, on the Popular Grove Road near the Pulaski County line. His wife, Laboma and his infant daughter were in the car with him at the time of the shooting.

Payne, who is presently free on a $50,000 cash bond, will be arraigned before Circuit Judge Dan Venters on Nov. 14.

Everyone loves a train Depot was center of social life

By: Ray McClure

The public still loves a choo-choo train, and that was much in evidence recently when the last excursion train chugged its way across Rockcastle.

Love was obvious as hundreds of children and adults took the ride that began at Corbin and ended late in the day at Louisville, with several stops along the way in the county.

Billed as the last train, it may be the last freight, of course. The Kentucky Railway Museum, in Louisville, the sponsor, won't make another excursion because of escalating insurance rates.

Unofficially, all trains on the Lebanon Line will be phased out in the next week or so, leaving only a spur between Sinks and the Rockcastle Industrial Park, and if that turns out to be a money losing proposition, it too might go.

When the train came through the other day summoning a crowd with its lonesome whistle, it brought back memories, especially to those over 50 who lived in Brodhead, Mt. Vernon and Livingston.

In those days the passenger trains through the county were a portal to the world. They were a focal point of county life. With the train taken away, residents were left with the horse and buggy. In their hey-day, the four passengers through the three towns, drew a curious crowd. That was before Henry Ford came up with a horseless carriage that was to replace the train and horse and buggy.

The late Ralph Griffin often wrote about the trains of his day, and how they were the centerpiece of Mt. Vernon, Brodhead and Livingston life—the outstanding social gathering places for the entire populations of these towns. He wrote: "It was standing claim for years that census-takers never left the trains at these points, but simply made their enumerations by counting the crowds which surrounded the depot."

Sometimes their total might have been a half-dozen or so, due to the serious illness of approximately that number of citizens, but taken as a whole, their figures must have been pretty reliable.

Meeting the afternoon train was decidedly our most popular form of out-door amusement and

Guest Commentary

If you can't drain the swamp, at least remove an alligator

Come with me to the darkest swamp in Frankfort. It's time to meet the alligators.

Who, there's one now! Her name is Alice. For purposes of this tour, we'll call her Alice Alligator.

Alice Alligator is state superintendent of public instruction. Her job is to build good public schools.

It's a big job. But Ms. Alligator spends much of her time on politics. She shakes down the folks who work for her. The workers then shake down other folks. They sell $100 pens. They ask local school superintendents for money.

Alice Alligator says she's working hard for a cause: professionalism in education.

I hear somebody muttering "That's a croc! Please, friends, try to pay attention. Alice is an alligator!"

There are many other alligators in the swamp. Some are seldom seen. Others slither into view from time to time.

There's the secretary of state, whose biggest success in office so far is being found not guilty of misusing her office for politics.

There's the former agriculture commissioner, whose son got a college scholarship sponsored by the agriculture department.

There's the former state auditor, who saw no reason to check out the apparent waste of $30 million in a university tobacco program.

Then there are the three railroad commissioners. We don't know what they do.

Come to think of it, we don't even know who they are.

The Frankfort swamp is full of alligators, elected every four years as required by the state constitution.

When the four years are over, they all switch jobs with each other.

Reform-minded people sometimes say it's time to get rid of the alligators. The way to do this, of course, is to drain the swamp by abolishing most of the constitutional offices.

But voters don't like big changes, so this year something more modest is being proposed. Taking the superintendent of public instruction out of the swamp, but leaving the rest of the alligators unmolested.

Reprinted from the Lexington Herald-Leader, Sunday, Oct. 12, 1986

On Nov. 4, the voters will decide. A vote in favor would mean that the superintendent would not be elected.

Instead, the job would be a professional appointment by the state Board of Education.

Board members, representing all regions of the state, would be chosen by the governor and confirmed by the Senate.

Back before World War II, most other states chose their superintendents in political elections, as Kentucky still does. Since then, the other states have changed; most of them now have professional superintendents.

And no state that has taken its superintendent out of politics has ever decided to go back to the old way.

But in Kentucky, people don't like change. Their caution is often a virtue.

but not in this case. Here's why.

The four-year limit means that no serious educator would undertake the job even if he had the political connections to get it.

Those who would want the job—or any other constitutional office—are always more interested in political gain than in schools.

Because of the four-year term, the elected politician must spend much of his term running for the next office—or risk unemployment.

Many people fear that appointing the superintendent would take away their control of the schools.

They have a point: School officials should ultimately be accountable to the voters. But it's equally true that some jobs in education should be held by professionals.

A non-political superintendent would be responsible to the Board of Education, which, in turn, is appointed by an elected official—the governor.

Thus, an appointed superintendent ultimately would be responsible to an elected official.

By this process, he would be accountable to the voters.

One of the biggest problems in Kentucky education at the local level is the strong influence of patronage politics based on jobs and favors. As the late Edward Fritchard said, "The biggest education issue in these counties is who gets to drive the bus."

It is the state superintendent's job to help the districts rise above politics and build professionalism. Can this be done by a superintendent who is also a politician?

The record shows that it cannot. That's why the Kentucky voter who cares about schools should vote "yes" on Nov. 4.

Taking the superintendent's job out of partisan politics won't guarantee that the future superintendents will be smart, or dedicated, or skillful, or honest.

But it sure will improve the odds.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

Due to the tragic nature of the death of a beloved family member, Randall Laswell, there was a request made by the deceased wife that there be no pictures in the Mt. Vernon Signal. This request, made at the time of the death, was cruelly disregarded, and needlessly upset the deceased wife. The murder of her husband, will be forever imprinted upon her mind, as her and their infant daughter were in the car beside him at the time. The front page picture serves as a needless and painful reminder to all the family and friend. This was a lack of respect for his wives wishes. I feel the reporter Richard Anderkin, should not publish an apology, not only for the picture, but also for the mistake in the facts of the story, as this was insinuating and damaging to the deceased character. As it states he was released from jail Monday morning this is not true. He was released Sunday morning. As with any job, there is a duty to respect members of the community, while doing your job. I myself and many members of the deceased family feel this respect was lacking and therefore demand an apology.

Brothead, Ky. 40409

Dear Editor,

In 1981 is about time for the Signal to wake up! Last week's edition of the Signal looked like a bad police story from television, with our murders, drug dealings, and rape. Is it not time to do something with these criminals?

"How many convictions have we had for the murders of the Signal that is a count to day, there may be more next issue. It is up to the few of us law abiding citizens, who are as and who are as what is necessary for us see justice followed through.

It is not a social event to sit on the jury. It is not a matter of a few days away from work, and it is definitely not a matter of the minimal fee you get paid. So wake up citizens do your job!

Many violators are walking around scot free when they should be behind bars. Several should be, but have yet to see the cell they deserve. I ask you what if it were your child raped, murdered or abused. It will not get any better until we take a stand against crime.

So lets get tough Rockcastle before the tough take over our peaceful county.

A concerned citizen,
Margaret D. Mason

Dear Editor,

I would like to express my sincere appreciation to the fine people of Rockcastle and Lincoln County for the hospitality extended to us during the recent Kentucky Field Trials. Special thanks go to the land owners who gave us permission to hunt over their property. Because of their generosity and understanding, hunters with hounds and horses from eleven states had an unparalleled opportunity to enjoy three marvelous days of hunting in your beautiful section of the state. Fall in Kentucky is something we all look forward to and you all made it especially enjoyable and memorable because of the good sport you provided.

Thank you again for making the 75th running of the Kentucky State such a success!

Yours truly,
Stuart B. Dalton
Louisville, Ky.

Dear Editor,

We would like to thank Gary Gentry from Southern Bell, Donnie Helton from Coca Cola and Clarence Carter from Carter's market for donations of drinks and for our pot luck supper.

Thank you,
Dave Jackson Lodge #731

recreation, as far back as I can remember and up until the wholesale invasion of the automobile.

There were four passenger trains which passed through Mt. Vernon and Brodhead then, just as now (1940), bearing the same numbers and running at approximately the same hours. Livingston, during its heyday as a terminus, boasted of many more trains and became very blasé as a consequence.

(Note: Trains will still run through Livingston since it is on the Main Line of Seaboard and not on the Sinks Lebanon line. However, it is not an Amtrak line which provides passenger service.)

It eventually got to be a matter of pride down there (Livingston) that there were people living in town who never went down to the depot to meet any trains at all. This was undoubtedly an exaggeration, but it became a matter of county pride just to bask in the reflected glory of such a center of culture.

"Mt. Vernon, and Brodhead" citizens, however, enjoyed the trains. They were going to meet as many trains as possible, come hail or high water, and they didn't care who knew it. Businessmen and housewives often found it impossible to meet the noon train, number 23, and only the sporting element met number 21, which was due about midnight.

Only the convivial and the die-hards had the stamina to consistently get 24 by 23 a.m., but everyone could and did turn out for 22, which arrived at what is now sunset time.

The very moment that the duties of the day permitted, a general movement was begun in the direction of the depot. The more fortunate could sometimes get there by three o'clock, which made the train at least two hours of pleasant chat and social intercourse with friends and neighbors.

For several months there was a period when 22 arrived after five o'clock, although it usually came about five or ten minutes after the hour.

This worked a great hardship upon Dave Craig and Rob McKenzie and Charlie Davis, all of whom had to work until five sharp. They always made it, but frequently theyshot across the track to the cheers of the populace, with the coachmaster brushing their coat or shirt tails, depending on the nature of the weather.

It was always a moot question whether winter or summer time was nicer: It was much more pleasant to be outside in the summer, of course.

The young courting couples could stroll up and down the track, the younger folks could play leap-frog, marbles and mumble-type; the older men could sit on the platform trucks and discuss the events of the day, while the older ladies gathered in little groups for their intimate chats.

The worst trouble with summer was that the train almost always arrived on time, which meant the gathering didn't last too long after the train arrived. Nice people didn't hang around depots except when they were waiting for the passenger train to come in.

During the winter number 22 was always certain to be from one to five hours late, and while everyone had to crowd into the depot, the waiting room was nice and warm, in fact, due to this extra extension of visiting hours, almost everyone held out for winter.

The first report upon the winter 22 was usually a hazard that it would be one hour late. When Ferg (Clarence Ferguson) came out and marked up this fairy story he always got a general razz.

The peculiar thing about this whole process was that everyone attempted to give the impression that he was meeting the train for some important reason, and very few openly admitted that they met the train just for the fun of it.

Everyone pretended to be mad at the railroad company when the train was late, and loud were the denunciations of the service as Ferg came out to mark up additional hours and half-

The automobiles have brought so many advantages, but they lost something in community spirit when we gave up these special meetings around the old depot.

If Ralph Griffin could see us now in this time of speed and joy-riding, he would indeed be startled.

agreed to continue the city's water and sewer project that is costing a million-and-a-half dollars, on policy at Lake Linnville, on an annexation to the two I-75 interchanges; on policy for police and personnel, and on a park and recreation program.

By-and-large, the council's record of attendance reflects the council's interest in city affairs. In the first 10 months this council has met 24 times in regular and called sessions. Many of those sessions had to do with details concerning the sewer and water project.

It is interesting to note that Councilman Tom Welch has attended every council meeting during the year. Jerry Fensol has missed one, Les Harris has missed 2, Joe Martin has missed 5, Jackie Renner has missed 7, and Larry Burdette has missed 9.

The reasons for not attending meetings is not known, except for Martin who missed 3 of his 5 because of hospitalization and recuperation.

How does the city council attendance record compare with the Rockcastle Fiscal Courts? A check shows the court met an average of 24 times in regular and called sessions since January when they took office. Many of those meetings were hastily called on garbage which caused problems for some of the magistrates. The magistrates' record shows Jack Bradley did not miss a single one of the 31 meetings. Amos Burdette missed only one. Donald Bullock missed 2, Glen Ellison missed 5 and Doug Bishop missed 6. Another elected official of the court, County Attorney James Lambert missed 11, but his father substituted on days his son was in District Court. The younger Lambert was ill for several weeks due to an eye problem.

Doug Bishop missed his 6 meetings because of his mail carrying job and could not arrange a hobby replacement in time. Those meetings were called meetings.

In the top jobs, Mayor Mullins missed one called meeting. County Judge Executive Hubert Thacker did not miss a single meeting.

"Many of us have jobs that take us out of the area," one councilman said. "We have all elected to attend meetings and I think we would all like to be there, but it doesn't always work out that way."

me that he tried to register at Jackson County because they would not let him because they (Jackson officials) said that he lives in Rockcastle County," Ham said.

"I'm not real clear on the law because I have never been involved in a case like this before, but it is simply divided by the county line," Ham added.

The prosecutor went on to say that he was responsible for filing suit on behalf of the county to have Gilbert removed from office if he did not resign, but that he was leaving it up to the local election commission on what to do about this case.

Oscar Bullock, who lives in Owens Subdivision, complained to the council that "the road" had been damaged by blasting while Karis Construction was installing sewer lines in his area. The council said it would discuss the matter with Karis.

Now, the eyes of the city are on the council and its choice of a mayor. Some say in the final analysis Mayor Mullins will suggest a replacement. He has not done so as yet.

So, who will be the next mayor is as much of a question today as it was when the mayor informed the council of his impending resignation. Are there any prospects out there?

Trick-or-treat time is here

Halloween is an exciting holiday for children, but the Kentucky State Police also remind parents that caution and an understanding of some basic rules can prevent Halloween from turning into a nightmare.

Most cities will set hours for Halloween trick-or-treating, however, children and parents should be aware of safety precautions since most Halloween activities will be during hours of darkness.

Trick or treat time in Mt. Vernon will be from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. only.

Parents and children should follow these rules for a safe Halloween:

A parent or guardian should accompany children trick-or-treating.

Children should go only to the homes of friends or relatives—and only if the lights are on.

Local Hospital will x-ray candy Free

Stay on the porch or front steps. Never go inside a house without the permission of parents.

If possible, children should wear face paint or makeup, instead of a mask. Children can see more clearly this way.

If children wear a mask, make sure there are big holes for the eyes for good side vision.

Masks should be removed when a child crosses the street or is walking on a dark sidewalk.

Children should use a flashlight when walking at night. Never carry a torch or candle.

Dress children in reflective clothing or place some reflective tape on clothing that is dark in color.

Children should be instructed to save all treats until they get home, and parents should check every piece.

If parents find anything unusual or dangerous in any treats their children bring home, they should call their local Kentucky State Police Post or the toll-free emergency hot-line number 8-800-222-5555.

Fairview

By: Mrs. Hubert Chasteen

Worship services were conducted at the Fairview Baptist Church over the weekend with good attendance. Sunday School attendance was 126. Our average attendance for the month of September was 131. Thank the good Lord for each one, and for the many blessings we receive from day to day.

Our revival started Sunday morning and will continue through Saturday night Oct. 25. Do hope you can come and be with us. You are always welcome at Fairview. If you can't attend, please pray for us, and also remember the other churches who are in revival at this time. May God save many souls is our prayer. Our evangelist is Rev. David Aker.

An all night's prayer meeting was held at the Fairview Baptist Church on Friday night October 17th. All the Sunday School classes were involved. There were different classes there continually from 6 o'clock on Friday night until 6 o'clock on Saturday morning.

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Cope have been Mr. and Mrs. Jim Bowles of Junction City, Mr. and Mrs. Frankie Hayes of Winchester, Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Cope of Berea and Tip Reppert of Scaffold Cove. Their children who live close by, visit quite often. Mr. Cope who has been disabled for some few weeks remains about the same. We miss Mr. and Mrs. Cope so much at church, they have our love and prayers.

We also miss Mrs. Delia Lambert and Mrs. Ruth Cane, who also are not able to attend church. Bless their hearts, they too have our love and prayers.

Last Friday's guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Powell and Mr. and Mrs. Craig Powell of Spring Valley, Ohio were Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Alexander and Kenneth and Mrs. Jewell Davidson and son Jeremy.

J.F. Callahan of Franklin, Ohio passed away Saturday morning Oct. 18th at the age of 99 years this coming November. He was an uncle of Mrs. Gladys Rose and Mrs. Mona Treon. We all, I'm sure remember when he had a general store at Conway. This was just after it was owned by Mr. and Mrs. Ohio Miracle. We was a very good christian man and respected by all who knew him. His loved ones have our heart felt sympathy and love. God bless them.

Recent guests in our home have been my brother Tip Reppert, also Connie Adams, Robert Chasteen, Jewell Davidson and children and Joyce Seals and daughter Kim. Our children who live close drop in real often to see us. We love them all.

Mr. and Mrs. R.J. Hengen and Sherry visited his parents Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Ridgell on Saturday.

Sunday guests of Mrs. Edith Mullins of Snider were Mr. and Mrs. Danny Mullins and family of near Berea, and her daughter Mrs. Lucille Ponder.

Mr. and Mrs. Donie Anderson of Ocala, Fla. has been visiting his sister, Mrs. Mary Mullins of Berea. Mary and Donie were raised in Rockcastle County. They enjoyed seeing each other.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Alexander and Jewell Davidson and children visited Mrs. Minerva Maiden of Barbourville Sunday. She is 90 years old and still able to get around real well. That is a great blessing.

Please remember church and Sunday school. Remember our revival and pray for one another. God bless you all.

Copper Creek Section of Rockcastle Co.

LOCATION: Turn north off US 150 onto Copper Creek Road near Lincoln and Rockcastle County lines and proceed approx. 4 miles to the auction. Auction signs are posted.

Tract No. 2 - contains 13.53 acres of which about half is cropland and the balance is in woods. It has 358 ft. frontage along the Copper Creek Road, City water is available to the property. This tract is improved with the above-pictured combination stock and tobacco barn.

Tract No. 3 - contains 23.56 acres of which most is cropland. It has 373.91 ft. of road frontage along the Copper Creek Road. This tract also has city water available. This tract would make a good small farm in itself.

A roadside stand laden with bright orange pumpkins is one of the first signs of autumn. Most people buy this oversized squash for decoration without realizing it tastes good and is nutritious.

Pumpkins are rich in vitamin A and contain phosphorus, calcium, potassium, and niacin. They are also a perfect item for microwaving. However, selection is important.

Leave the very large, pale orange variety for Halloween jack-o-lanterns. The best pumpkins for cooking are smaller, deep orange, firm and heavy for their size. They will be sweeter, too.

To cook, cut a medium sized pumpkin about 18 inches around in half vertically. Scoop out seeds and membrane. Save the seeds. Place half of the pumpkin, cut side down, in a glass baking dish.

Microwave on high, uncovered, 10 to 15 minutes or until it is tender, rotating the dish once or twice. Repeat for other half. Cool the pumpkin until it is easy to handle, then scoop out the pulp. Process in a good processor blender until smooth. The pumpkin is then ready to use to pump into freezer containers to freeze for later use. (One pound of fresh pumpkin will yield about one cup cooked pumpkin.)

Use the pumpkin as a vegetable to make soups and casseroles. (Use recipes for winter squash.) You also can make pies, muffins, cookies and breads.

For a tasty snack, and one which children will love, toast the pumpkins seeds. Wash the seeds, removing any membrane, and pat dry. Place one tablespoon vegetable oil in a glass pie plate. Microwave on high about one minute or until hot. Stir in one cup of fresh pumpkin seeds, coating evenly with oil. Microwave on high for 10 to 12 minutes or until lightly toasted, stirring every four minutes. Sprinkle lightly with salt, or a mixture of cinnamon and sugar mix. In a conventional oven, bake the seeds at 325 for about 20 minutes. Stir once or twice during the baking period.

Pumpkin Pineapple Cake

For Topping: Preheat oven to 350 F. Melt 4 cups margarine in 13X9" pan in microwave. Remove from oven, stir in 2 cups firmly packed brown sugar, mixing until well blended. Arrange 1 can (20 oz) drained pineapple rings and pineapple slices over brown sugar. 1/2 cup butter or margarine, softened. 1 1/2 cups firmly packed brown sugar, 6 eggs, slightly beaten

- 1 cup wheat germ
- 1/2 cup plain yogurt
- 3 cups flour
- 3 teaspoons baking soda
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 2 teaspoons ground ginger
- 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1 teaspoon ground nutmeg
- 1/2 teaspoon ground cloves
- 2 cups cooked mashed pumpkin
- 1 cup cream butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Blend in eggs, wheat germ and yogurt. Mix together flour, baking soda, salt and spices; mix well. Alternate additions of dry ingredients and pumpkin. Cream butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Blend in eggs, wheat germ and yogurt. Mix together flour, baking soda, salt and spices; mix well. Alternate additions of dry ingredients and pumpkin. Pour over preprepared pineapple mixture. Bake 60 to 65 minutes or until wooden pick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool 5 minutes; invert on wire rack. Cool.

Great Pumpkin Cookies

- 2 cups flour
- 1 cup quick or old fashioned oats, uncooked
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup butter or margarine, soft
- 1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
- 1 cup granulated sugar
- 1 egg, slightly beaten
- 1 cup cooked mashed pumpkin
- 1 cup semi-sweet real chocolate morsels
- Assorted icings or peanut butter
- Assorted candies, raisins or nuts

Preheat oven to 350 F. Combine flour, oats, baking soda, cinnamon and salt; set aside. Cream butter, gradually add sugars, beating until light and fluffy. Add egg and vanilla; mix. Alternate additions of dry ingredients and pumpkin, mixing well after each addition. Stir in morsels. For each cookie, drop 1/4 cup dough onto lightly greased cookie sheet; spread into pumpkin shape, using a thin metal spatula. Add a bit more dough to form stem. Bake 20 to 25 minutes, until cookies are firm and lightly browned. Remove from cookie sheets, cool on racks. Assorted icings or peanut butter, raisins or nuts. Yields 19 to 20 large cookies. Variation: Substitute 1 cup raisins for morsels.

TIPS FOR GHOSTS & GOBLINS

Halloween trick-or-treaters might well consider economical and safe face paint rather than expensive store-bought masks that often block vision.

Not only can face paint enhance a costume, it also can promote creativity as young people build a one-of-a-kind work of art and has a lot of fun.

Best of all, the face paint can be made at home using common household ingredients and costing just pennies. The following recipe is for making white face paint that is washable and easy to remove; Mix two teaspoons white shortening, five teaspoons cornstarch, one teaspoon flour and two or three drops glycerin (which can be purchased at the drug store). Apply the paint with your fingers.

White face paint generally is used all over the face and a colored paint made from the leftover paint is applied to spots. A small amount of food coloring can be added to the white paint to transform it into bright red to outline the mouth and to make circles on the cheeks. If a brown face is needed; try mixing one teaspoon white shortening and two and half teaspoons unsugared cocoa. Be sure to test for allergic reactions by testing on the wrist ribbon on the sleeves, shoulders, pant legs and neckline. Avoid costumes that are too long, baggy or binding. Garments that drag on the ground can catch on fences and bushes and cause accidents.

Economic resources report for Mt. Vernon now available

A new "Resources for Economic Development" report for Mt. Vernon has been issued by the Kentucky Department of Economic Development, according to Secretary of Commerce Carroll Knickely.

The report, prepared by the Department's Division of Research and Planning, provides comprehensive industrial and economic data on Mt. Vernon. It includes information on such key items as population, labor, taxes, transportation, utilities, industrial sites and existing industries.

Secretary Knickely said copies of the report will be made available to industrial prospects interested in the area. He said the reports are an essential tool in promoting Kentucky locations for new industries.

According to Knickely, Mt. Vernon is among the some 200 communities for which reports and summaries prepared by the Division of Research and Planning. While the community summaries are not as detailed as the reports, they still provide an outline of the community's basic resources. Da-

Mother, daughter adjust to college

[EJ's Note: the story below appeared in the October 9, 1986 issue of The Mirror at Somerset Community College].

By Louise Wesley
Somerset Community College students come in all ages and from a variety of social and economic backgrounds. When they enroll at SCC, they are all students, whether traditional 18-year-old is paved with encouragement from husband and father, Joe Bussell, Sr., and sons, 20-year-old Joe, Jr. and 16-year-old Scott Bussell. Bussell was very excited to read in a recent issue of The Mirror a mention of his mother, Joyce, being one of the air personalities on SCC's Radio Station WBCC. Joyce airs a country music show three times a week between classes.

was going to college. We checked out the schools and she decided to attend SCC. I thought, "What better a time for me to go too, but I was afraid that the other students would think that I was just here to keep an eye on my daughter."

Joyce enjoys her status as a student during her day at SCC. "I will be the first in my family to attend college. I want my children to be proud of me," she said. When she was a freshman at Lockland High School in 1964, she said she did not want to attend college because of her family's financial situation. "I always wanted to go to college, but I married young and then had to care for my children," she said.

After spending several years working at Corrugated Packing Company, Joyce, a native, before returning to Rockcastle County to live, Joyce decided that she also wanted to be able to get a better job. Joyce and Markita are both interested in photography and would like to open a Fright Night at MVES...

Sherry Webb, a first grade teacher at MVES, was a witch with darts, no less, and the apple bobbing booth was one of the busiest activities at Saturday night's Fright Night at MVES. PTA members and teachers joined in to provide an evening of fun and games at the school and the event was well-attended.

Joyce Bussell opens the door to higher education for her daughter, Markita Mink or older non-traditional students.

37-year-old Joyce Bussell and 18-year-old Markita Mink are a mother and daughter enrolled in their first semester of college at SCC. Both Joyce and Markita are working toward a two-year degree in Communications. They commute 56 miles (round-trip) each day from Rockcastle County.

Many times during the past 20 years, while caring for a husband and three children, Joyce dreamed that someday she would go to college. That dream became a reality this fall when Markita decided that she was not ready to leave home for a bigger school. Mother and daughter decided that two could go to college as easily as one.

The long road to a college degree for Joyce and Markita

Of her husband, Joyce said, "Joe and the children support me 100 percent in my desire to go to school. I guess Joe helps me more than I help myself, because he pushes me."

Day after day, while walking around campus, going to classes, studying and commuting to and from school, Joyce and Markita share a special closeness typical of many mothers and daughters. And, when you get right down to it, Markita says she enjoys having her mother at school. "I feel secure with her here because she makes things easier for me. She is usually the one to catch on first in our classes," said Markita.

Joyce admitted that while she had a desire to return to school, she had reservations about attending school with Markita. "I knew that Markita

Local attorney Joe Lambert is running for the Kentucky Supreme Court and I think we, as Rockcastle Countians, should support him.

Joe and his family have worked very hard to make him a winner in next Tuesday's election and a big margin of victory in Rockcastle County would help his chances.

If elected, Joe would be the youngest member of the court at 38. He is knowledgeable, hard working and would add a dimension to that the court I think is definitely needed. Let's support Joe Tuesday.

The Nicest Person of the Week Award goes to Annette Faulkner of Mt. Vernon. It seems, last week, we sent Rt. 1, Mt. Vernon's papers to the Brodhead Post Office and some of Brodhead's papers to Mt. Vernon. After realizing, what happened, Annette drove to Mt. Vernon, from Brodhead, where she was working that day, and switched the Signals. Thanks, Annette.

Have You Wondered why

gas prices seem to be higher in Rockcastle County than anywhere else? I was in Berea Sunday and the price of regular was 48 cents a gallon. Of course, they are having a gas war, but in other towns in this area, the price of gas is somewhat lower. In Lexington Sunday, it was 67 cents and in London Monday it was 71 cents. Hmmm!!

I guess this is where I'm supposed to apologize, right? Wrong. I will never apologize for reporting the news and, as the other employees of the Signal and the local coroner's office can attest to, the picture of Randall Laswell could have been a lot worse. There are that no one from Laswell's family asked that his picture be left out. And, yes, he did get out of jail Sunday prior to the shooting, instead of Monday, but I was told differently by local police. So, I was wrong about that. It is a strange thing to me that Laswell's wife, Lahoma, who has been in the Signal office at least twice recently has never mentioned the picture.

It seems to me that the biggest question in the local political arena is who will be the next mayor of Mt. Vernon. One local resident, who would have taken the office, if asked, is no longer a candidate. The state attorney general's office told local trial commissioner Robert Robinson that he cannot hold a state office and a city office. I guess we will just have to wait and see. Markita said she had thought about going into nursing. "My father wanted me to but I changed my mind when I learned of all the possibilities with a communications degree. I decided that this was what I wanted," she said.

Joyce approaches campus life as not being much different than being an employee. "I had to get up each morning to go to work. On the job, you work for the employer. As a student, you do it for yourself," said Joyce. With the average age of SCC students being 30, Joyce says she is not uncomfortable being a non-traditional student. "I have found that the younger students treat me just like everyone else. I love being a student. It's entirely different than I thought it would be. I feel right at home."

Joyce also said that since enrolling at SCC, she feels younger. "I thought I would feel rejected by the younger students, but they seem to have accepted me as a student just like the others. I now find these younger people more interesting than I ever thought they could be," she said.

Sighting-in is vital for successful hunt

By Roy House

So you've bought yourself a new deer rifle, equipped it with a good quality scope, picked up a box of shells and, after firing half that box of ammo, you can hit a milk jug at 50 yards. Now you're ready to go deer hunting.

Right? Wrong. A $500 rifle, topped with a $150 scope, firing the best of ammunition won't hit a bull in the behind if it's not sighted-in properly. And the old close-enough-to-a-milk-jug to kill a deer theory has cost many a hunter a deer that might have been put in the freezer if they had sighted their rifles in properly.

I have fell victim to the milk jug theory in the past myself. Thinking that if I could shoot close enough to a jug to kick dirt up on it at 50 yards it would be accurate enough to hit a deer at about any range you can see one.

I was wrong. Deer are hard enough to hit with a rifle that throws a bullet where it's aimed. Obviously, one that is not sighted-in correctly can only complicate the matter. It's every hunter's duty to make sure his, or her, gun is shooting the best possible.

Poorly shooting guns not only cost hunters deer they lead to more wounded deer which escapes to die later—a true waste.

If you've gotten a new rifle or intend to use a veteran of many seasons for the upcoming November 8 gun season, don't wait until the last minute—sight-in now.

The best way to sight-in a rifle is from a rock solid rest like a shooting bench, a heavy table or a car hood. Sandbags, or some similar support, will be needed to steady the rifle.

Sandbags can easily be made from a pair of jeans. Simply cut the legs off, using sections of the leg about a foot long, sew one end up, fill with sand and sew the remaining end up and you have it.

With your rifle resting on the sandbags take a few shots with an empty rifle to get a feel for the trigger.

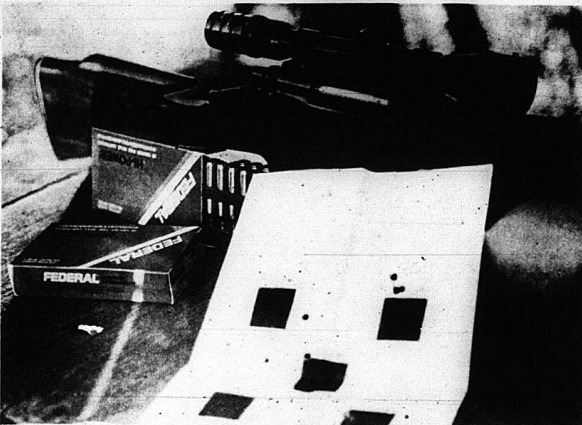

Next, fire a shot at a target at least 100 yards away. A target with a solid flat surface that has a small aiming point works best. After shooting go over to the target and locate your bullet hole and mark it so it is visible

CAP's Ambrose speaks to high school students

"How is a community like a car?" asked Moira Ambrose of about 50 Rockcastle County High School students.

Ambrose, who administers the Christian Appalachian Project's Community Leadership Program, spoke before the high school 4-H club meeting October 22.

With the students help, she guided them to an understanding of what a community is and why it is important.

Using the parts of a car, the students identified what makes a community operate and the importance of each part. They identified the people as the wheels of a community, the mayor, county judge, executive, or pastor as drivers of their respective communities, and the city council and fiscal court as the engine.

The students made other comparisons such as doors, county boundaries, trade school, fender, civic organizations.

At the conclusion of her speech, Ambrose asked the students to identify their county and Mt. Vernon city officials. They were named, except for a few.

The students concluded that there are many communities and many parts to them.

The Christian Appalachian Project is working to teach youth in Rockcastle County about its community and about leadership skills as part of its youth center program headquartered in Mt. Vernon.

We have now kicked off our new Fifth District education effort, one which I believe has a great chance for success.

As Appalachian Regional Commission Chairman, Winnie Pizzano and Governor Martha Layne Collins were on hand, I joined dozens of residents from throughout our district in christening "Forward in the Fifth." This new organization brings together parents, civic leaders, educators and others into a united effort to improve our district's dropout rate and its educational standing.

All of us share the concerns raised by recent census reports which show our district has the fewest high school graduates among its over-25 population of any district in the nation. A large part of that is a lack of employ-hunt with. It can be invaluable when extra long or unexpected close shots come into play.

For example let's look at a hunter who is packing a rifle chambered for the 30-06 cartridge and is sighted in for 150 yards.

A 10-point buck steps into a power line cut 300 yards away. How much does the hunter hold over to connect with the buck?

If he's using 150 grain bullets he will need to hold about a foot high (see chart) if that same hunter had been shooting 180 grain bullets he would have needed to hold about 19 inches high. With that example, the need to know some ballistics is obvious.

One last point I might stress while sight-in is to be careful. Treat a gun as if it were loaded at all times and be sure of your back-stop.

Brodhead students show interest in upcoming student council election

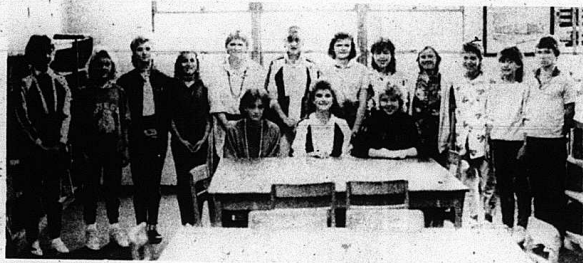

Brodhead School's 7th and 8th grades are in the midst of a campaign for student council. They have correlated this project with their English and social studies classes.

Officers for the student council have been nominated and have given their campaign speeches. The election will be held on Election Day, November 4, 1986.

Following the election, the officers will work with their advisors: Leslie Camic, John Hamm, Pam Martin, and Sue Hamm to write their constitution. Tentative plans call for a representative to be elected from each classroom in grades 6 - 8. These students, along with the officers, will make up the council. Plans are for the council and their sponsors to meet for lunch once a month to keep the council active in a positive way.

This activity is sponsored by the Brodhead Guidance Committee.

ment. Our graduates are often forced to leave the region looking for jobs.

But we also have an unacceptably high rate of high school dropouts. And we need to improve the ability of our students to perform well on standardized tests. Some parents have not put the emphasis on getting that diploma that our district needs if we are to be able to compete for the jobs of tomorrow.

This new "Forward in the Fifth" group has as its first goal the getting up of satellite groups in each of our 27 counties. These groups will then work with local businesses and citizens on the particular needs of their own schools. Getting businesses to "adopt" schools is one idea for improvement. Offering mini-grants to outstanding teachers to encourage their efforts is another, providing incentives for students to achieve perfect attendance (such as Cincinnati Reds baseball tickets) is yet another. And we will be tapping into the creative genius of our own people to find many other new approaches to getting our local communities more involved with their local, school districts.

We have already raised over $20,000 to begin this effort and we are actively seeking additional funds. Advisory committees of superintendents, school board members and college presidents are being established. And we are now actively looking for people in every county in our district to join this new effort at dealing with our educational shortcomings.

As Congress adjourns for the year, we will be devoting more time to recruiting new members for this organization. I urge you to seriously consider joining our "new crusade" for a better educated district. If you are interested in "Forward in the Fifth," please contact Karen Cummings at (606) 986-2373.

Just as with our regional effort to attract new industry, this district-wide approach to education can only strengthen our chances for success. We stand on the verge of a new beginning for our region, an era of improving the quality of life for all of our citizens. I look forward to your participation in this effort.

FORWARD IN THE FIFTH- Wayne Stewart of Rockcastle County was among dozens of Fifth District residents who have joined a new group which is working to improve education in the region. Pictured are, from left: JoAnne James (chairman), Rep. Hal Rogers, A.R.C. Chairman Winnie Pizzano, Stewart and Al Smith (chairman of fund-raising).

To the Voters of Rockcastle County

While I was in Korea in 1952, the 25th Infantry Division Commander, Brig. Gen. Samuel T. Williams, came to my position one day. Upon learning I was from Kentucky, he made a statement that a lot of good men had come from Kentucky. I agree with him, Kentucky has produced some great men - Senators, Congressmen, Vice President and many more.

Now on the 4th of November, Rockcastle County will produce one of its own when we elect JOE LAMBERT to the KENTUCKY SUPREME COURT. We can make this happen if we will go to the polls on November 4th and VOTE FOR JOE. Also, contact our friends and relatives in the surrounding counties and get them behind Joe.

So on Nov. 4th, let's make Rockcastle County a bigger spot on the map by Electing Joe Lambert to the Kentucky Supreme Court.

NEEDED: PROFESSIONAL LEADERSHIP FOR KENTUCKY EDUCATION

By: Wade Mountz, Chairman Prichard Committee

Kentuckians are often astonished when they hear there are no qualifications for the Kentucky State Superintendent of Public Instruction. I was, too, before the Prichard Committee started looking into Kentucky's educational establishment seven years ago. Certainly it helps us understand one reason why the collective quality of our educational system in Kentucky leaves so much to be desired.

This is the state official who is supposed to provide even-handed leadership to an enterprise which spends over $2-billion each year and employs over 68,000 people across Kentucky. (That's more employees than General Electric, Ford, Ashland Oil, IBM and the planned Toyota plant put together.) For this massive and complex job our 1891 Kentucky Constitution doesn't even require that we hire an educator. It only says that the office-holder be 30 years of age, have lived in Kentucky for two years, and have never fought a duel. Are these appropriate qualifications to lead a $2-billion enterprise? We say certainly not!

The next step for improved Kentucky schools is the passage of Amendment #1 by Kentucky voters on Election Day, November 4, 1986.

NOAH'S ARK

On Sept. 6, 86 I was keeping the Sabbath day and the Spirit started impressing on me that it was time to find the Ark (Genesis 6:15) so I started thinking about a large boat sitting on the side of a mountain. Then one night in a vision, I saw bugs eating holes in the wood of the ark, so the ark has been gone thousands of years I suppose.

But about two years ago in a vision, I was standing on the deck of the Ark when it was new, the deck was tiled with red clay porch tile, each tile had two groove circles in it.

The emphasis was so strong about those tiles that I had never made like them, now I know it was because that is what we are going to find.

I saw large I bolts in the deck floor, I saw shiny metal on the corners of the vents, I saw the edge of their living quarters that was built on the deck. I have reason to believe it is at a thirteen thousand feet elevation, the spirit will show me more as need be.

About the Lords light, those stars are living stones, they belong to the prophets, they wrote the Bible, they inherited the earth under Christ. Christ gave them His glory (St. John 17:2) I saw the glory of the Lord. He did not have it, it was shining out of those stars, the Lord came a third of the way, Rev. 19:11-16) in which about that light. The glory of God also shined out of those stars, it was a mingled glory because the Lord had said, I come in my fathers glory.

Now why was the Bible written in a mystery in the first place? So God could have compassion on man and forgive him in his ignorance.

But man hightailed it away from God and created him a doctrine he could believe in and worship in and pay his tithes to.

God, the father, gave me a vision and showed me when His Son come to earth the first time. He give Him a herd of sheep, but people started killing His son's sheep and they didn't stop until they had killed all of them, but His son had gone on a long trip, and then in this vision His Son came back again and He gave His Son another herd of sheep, and I saw the people had started killing His Son's sheep, and the way they were doing it, they were laying their hand on them and praying for them, and was putting evil spirits on them. These sheep were little scrubby sheep and they couldn't get these spirits off and they were killing them spiritually.

Build you an altar and pray for yourself, and your family. Before the Lord withdrew Himself for the tribulation, I could lay a letter on the altar and the Lord would show if that person was a believer. He would even show me how many they had ~~had~~ to believe.

The Bible was wrote here on this earth, then it was distributed in the judgement world. I was shown in a vision, when these thunders are distributed here it is also distributed in that place in the judgement, you may, by helping me distribute these papers cause your spirit in the judgement to get the word of believe, and come out of their doctrine.

The Bible says the saints take the kingdom, those thunders are the weapon to fight with (Rev. 19:15)

The devil has ruled all the kingdom and kept the people in his prison long enough. All that are willing to fight the Lord's battle (SAY-1)

The reason the devil kept the people in was to keep them quiet, but when the Lord called me out of Babylon, out of that prison, I prayed for a child that was born blind and God healed it. ~~Let's~~ ~~obey~~ the kingdom's ~~attitudes~~.

We have been living in ignorance, this is what has happened about two thousand years ago. Jesus Christ came to earth to set up a government to rule over heaven, its called kingdom. It was the ways of God in the heart of a few strong believers called faith. (Matt. 8:10, 11, 12)

But the devil cut Jesus Christ off, then he cut off all those that had that strong faith to use that power of the kingdom, and after he got rid of them he could not pray answered, then he cut off the faithful churches and had people to join them and believe mens doctrines, and they have prospered and multiplied greatly. Don't just take my word for it open your eyes look around, and then look up at Gods Word. God said it would happen (Rev. 17:8)

But we live in the time that (Leak 11:11) says the Lord will set his hand again the second time to recover his people.

These thunders are the stone in (Dan. 2)

In a vision in the early eighties I saw a man his name is John Hancock in Bangladesh, I believe Dacca, he had bought the official end time cut.

Oct. 16, 84 the frog spirits have come.

After I published thunder one, the Lord caused me to know about a woman that read the paper, then she looked at one of these articles and said, that had to come from heaven. And the Lord heard her, then the Lord give me a vision and let me hear her, I liked that, I know the Lord did too.

After I started publishing the small articles the Lord give me a vision about a young lady, she was on a trip and found one of these articles, she took it and published it in her home town paper, I believe the Lord liked that.

The day I had a vision, then she got all for their lamps, but was late getting back. Why? (Mat 25) the oil is the righteousness of God, and it takes a year to keep all of Gods Holy days and you want keep them right the first time so they need two days, and they ran out of time. I prayed for a man's grandson, his daughter's son, and the child didn't get healed, I asked why? I was caused to know that was not his grandson. He had give his daughter away. Then I was caused to know that is how God has kept three tribes all these years.

In a vision I was shown that the prophets had to believe the thunders before they could receive their awards, their reward is to administer the government that is in the thunders.

If Eve had not sinned you would not see the lights you see now (CARNEL)

In a vision I was on the new earth, I looked up and I saw planet Mercury making its way to the sun, and it looked like earth looks from space. I could see the out line of land and water.

If you have trouble believing these articles remember the blind child. It lives right here in this country. I went and told its parents that God would heal the child, then she said, that was going to pray for it. Then I came home and prayed for that child from three to six times a day for nine months and it just gradually got well.

The apostle Paul said, he left one of his helpers sick at a certain town, but that didn't mean he wasn't praying for him as he went up. You will find in another scripture that he almost let one of his helpers die before he got enough healing power built upon him to turn the tide.

Sick people get well everyday, so there is no proof to a unbeliever, but there God heal a person that was born blind someone had to get a lot of prayers answered. Read (St. John Chapter 9)

I am being put down a lot now by people because I quote references from the Old Testament and I am surprised at this, because the Lord has come to reign on the throne of King David (St. Luke 1:32) and if you want to know how King David worshipped God you have to go to the Old Testament. It wasn't explained in the New Testament, everyone then knew.

Faith in the blood of Jesus Christ got you a new body to go to the judgement world in (Lev. 14) but you also have to have the righteousness of God in the Old Testament to be a part of the kingdom. Stop and think, the Lord has come to reign over His chosen people, the tribes of Israel, the lineage of David, ~~and how do they worship God?~~

You may say they don't believe in Jesus Christ, well that's right, but the Bible says they will accept Him at his coming, then they will have both.

Remember this if there had been one group of people on this earth that it was done the Lord's will, He would have used them. He wouldn't have needed to call two son's out of Babylon to turn the face of the people around, read (Leak chapter 41)

I hope you are keeping in mind I am writing this in the time of the judgement, when the blood sacrifice has been taken away, at a time when the Lord called his servant that He had put over His household an evil servant, because he didn't have any thing to cover his evil with.

"Mother and Daughter" (Cont. From B2)

About the faculty and administration, Joyce said that they were totally different than she expected. "I expected the instructors to be very strait-laced, cold and all business, but they are not like that at all. They are all very willing to help the students. They do not give the impression that they are the teacher and you are the student. They have time for you."

The realization now is that once she has made a commitment to school, it will be a long, hard struggle before receiving a degree and getting a job. "Right now I'm sure that I can handle it," said Joyce. Markita is sure her mother can handle anything.
