HOLIDAYS ARE HIGH RISK ON ROADWAYS

The holiday season now upon us is supposed to be one of joy and celebration.

But it turns instead to tragedy for hundreds of families whose loved ones are killed in this period on the nation's highways. About half of motor vehicle fatalities -- during the holiday season or any other -- are a result of alcohol-related traffic accidents, according to the National Safety Council. And alcohol is also a factor in 40 percent of pedestrian deaths.

Traffic deaths increase over this period because there is a lot of holiday travel, and because of drinking associated with Christmas and New Year's celebrations. It is a high risk period. Last year 168 Americans were killed over the Christmas holiday, and 202 during New Year's. In Kentucky there were 10 fatalities, with five over each holiday period. Kentucky State Police say that -- as is the national trend -- about half of these were alcohol related.

It was good news recently when Governor Martha Layne Collins announced the third consecutive "D-Day on Trafficways," an intensified effort to crack down on drunken drivers and improve highway safety. State officials are urging motorists to be cautious during the holiday season, and telling them to designate a sober driver if they know they will be drinking.

The KSP highway crackdown begins at 4 p.m. Dec. 12 and continues through 5 a.m. Dec. 13. They say the goal is not to arrest large numbers of drunk drivers, but to heighten awareness of the perils of drinking and driving. The weekend, in which many Christmas parties are held, is seen as the beginning of the holiday driving season.

The KSP crackdown is also a prelude to the National Drunk and Drugged Driving Awareness Week which begins Dec. 14. In the past four years this special week, designated by Congress, has proven very successful in increasing public awareness of the dangers of driving while impaired by drugs or alcohol. Activities during this week have included introduction of new drunk driving legislation in various states; roadblocks and other increased enforcement efforts; candlelight vigils; and voluntary efforts to provide rides from holiday parties.

We must continue to warn of the hazards of drinking and driving. Too often people think an accident simply will not happen to them, but to someone else. Only by heightening awareness of the risks can we attack our problem.

Let's all try to keep the holidays festive -- but in a responsible manner with safety in mind.

"The best test to know whether or not one likes a picture is to ask one's self whether one would like to look at it if one was quite sure one was alone."

"Austin City Limits" to feature Conley and Gill on KET

From deep in the heart of Texas, the beat of country music goes on when the public television series "Austin City Limits" airs Saturday at 10 p.m. (ET), on KET. East Thomas Conley and Vince Gill are the featured performers in the Jan. 3 edition, taped before a studio audience.

Conley has become well known in Nashville music circles for highly introspective and personal songs, including "Heavenly Bodies" and "Somewhere Between Right and Wrong." His progressive style, with its searing guitars and driving keyboards, ignores the more traditional boundaries of country music.

In Nashville, Conley attracted attention as a writer with hits sung by Conway Twitty and the late Mel Street. Conley scored a number one hit with "Fire and Smoke" and has been recording ever since. Although his most noted successes have been with pop music, Gill was raised on country music and in 1981 decided to devote full time to it. It was then that Rosanne Cash and Rodney Cowell hired him to become a member of their Cherry Bombs Band.

Gill signed with RCA Records in 1983 and the result was the single "Turn Me Loose." He later produced an album for RCA.

"Austin City Limits" is a production of Southwest Texas Public Broadcasting Council/San Antonio-Austin.

Lap belts in back seat still considered safe

With the holiday travel season just ahead, many parents may still be confused about the value of lap safety belts for children in the back seats of cars.

A National Transportation Safety Board study a few months ago reported that rear lap belts in head-on collisions actually may do more harm than good. Since then, many parents have wondered about how to safely buckle-up their children.

Dr. Diller Groff, director of pediatrics at the University of Louisville department of surgery, recommends that a shoulder harness, if available, should be the parent's first preference.

"However, lap belts in the back seat are still a good alternative and are much better than no restraint at all," he said. "That safety study examined a small number of severe accidents, head-on collisions at 50 miles an hour. A child in that kind of accident may very likely be killed without any kind of seat belt protection."

For normal driving around town at 35 to 40 miles per hour, parents should feel comfortable with their children in any style of seat belt. Dr. Groff said.

The intent of the study, he noted, was to encourage U.S. car manufacturers to install rear shoulder harnesses in future cars, not to discourage parents from using rear lap belts for their children.

The average hospital these days has 196 hospital beds. Hospital expenses run to some $136.3 billion per year. The average cost per hospital stay is $2,789.

American workers lost a total of 453 million days of work in 1982, the last year for which data is available. The average person lost 4.6 days of work because of illness or injury.

For industrial workers, smoking can multiply the risks associated with other cancerous agents. For example, exposure to both asbestos and cigarettes increases the risk of lung cancer by about 90 times.

The prizes were many and good and the turn-out was excellent for Saturday's festivities at Brodhead. The festivities included drawings for prizes donated by businesses. In the above photo, Bobby Proctor, left, assists. Carol Riddle, president of Brodhead Willing Workers Homemakers Club in drawing the prize winning names.

Registration for the competition closes Dec. 22, he said. For more information, contact Dr. Patrick Costello, Department

EKU news

An Eastern Kentucky University professor has been chosen as the American High School Mathematics Examinations (AHSM) coordinator for Kentucky in 1987.

Dr. Patrick Costello, assistant professor of mathematics, statistics and computer science at EKU, will supervise the 38th annual exam, which will be held on March 3.

High school students from across Kentucky will compete for local and national awards, he said.

The annual AHSM was first offered in 1950 and is currently sponsored by a variety of professional groups, including the Mathematical Association of American (MAA), the Society of Actuaries, and Mu Alpha Theta.

Costello said the exam, covering precalculus mathematics, is designed to spur interest in math and to develop mathematical talent through competition.

Last year 2,991 students in Kentucky took part in the exam.

New Looks In Eyewear

The eyes have it: fashionable sunglasses and other eye wear accessories are the focus for many holiday gift givers this year.

Chic looks from France: Latest fashion sunglasses feature sporty retaining straps.

Fans of the fashionable, ultrathin Vuarnet sunglasses—called "Navy's" for short by those in the know—may find their favorite frames stashed in the holiday stocking on Christmas morning. Along with their new sunglasses, they may discover a very handy accessory—attractive eyewear retaining straps that many active people use to keep their eyeglasses and sunglasses comfortably secure on their heads.

Made of high-grade neoprene, stitched at the edges and joined at the ends with Vuarnet-France logo medallions, the Navy-Stay is available in royal, navy, pink, red, silver and black. The patented process that seals the ends provides extra strength and holding power and makes it possible to adjust the Navy-Stay without taking it off.

The Navy-Stay is available at major department and sporting goods stores. So much for those "Nay-sack" who wouldn't believe that we'd ever solve the problem of glasses that slip and slide!

Saturday was an enjoyable day for the children in Mt. Vernon and they turned out in force to view this year's Christmas Parade highlighted by the arrival of Santa Claus. Taking it all in above were, from left: Johnny and Joey Dennis, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sparks and John McClure and his mother, Sheila Rowe.

It was the same story in Brodhead Saturday as Santa also put in his annual appearance there. On hand to greet him was Natalie Taylor, held by her mother, Kathy Taylor and also accompanied by his grandmother, Roberta Taylor, all of Brodhead.

EXTENSION HOME ECONOMICS

CREOSOTE IN CHIMNEY CREATES FIRE HAZARD
By: Cheryl Wilt
County Extension Agent
for Home Economics

Chimney fires are a possibility for anyone heating a room with a wood burning stove. If you haven't already inspected your chimney for the creosote that causes such fires, Larry Piercy, Extension energy and safety specialist with the UK College of Agriculture, recommends you do it now.

Creosote is a by-product of the incomplete combustion of wood. Some creosote is always mixed with the smoke and flue gases produced by a wood-burning stove or fireplace. If these gases drop below 250 F, moist creosote will condense on the chimney wall and build up over time.

Creosote in this form is highly flammable, according to Piercy. Accumulations of 1/4" or more in the chimney or stove pipe are dangerous, he said.

Once ignited, the creosote can burn at temperatures of over 2000 degrees. The strong upward draft caused by the fire can lift burning creosote out of the chimney and onto the roof. The intense heat also can crack tile linings, deteriorate masonry and cause metal chimneys to warp. A fire started by burning creosote may spread to the framework of the house.

Piercy said chimneys should be inspected for creosote at least once a year and every two months if the stove is used regularly. Signs of heavy build-up are backdrafting, smoking and a dull thud when the stove pipe is tapped with a metal object.

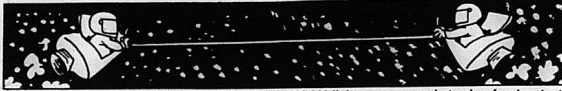

If you see creosote deposits of 1/4" or more, the chimney should be cleaned. The most effective method is to use a steel wire flue brush of the proper size and shape for the chimney. "Chimney cleaning is a messy and sometimes dangerous job if you are inexperienced. It might be better to hire a chimney sweep who will clean and also give you chimney a safety inspection," said the safety specialist.

Proper operation of the stove will reduce creosote build-up in the future, Piercy said. After the chimney has been cleaned, avoid burning unseasoned wood and smoldering fires. Burning a hot, flaming fire once a day will supply the more complete combustion necessary for minimal creosote accumulation.

High efficiency airtight stoves are often a problem in this regard, according to Piercy, because of

CHECK HEAT TAPES AROUND PIPES TO AVOID HOME FIRE THIS WINTER

If you use electric heat tapes to protect exposed pipes from freezing, government safety experts ask you to check the tapes now for possible fire hazards.

Citing some 500 house fires believed to have been caused by heat tapes over a six-year period, the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission said tapes should be carefully inspected annually for cracked, baked-out, deteriorated insulation or bare wires that could cause a fire. Defective tapes should be replaced immediately. Always unplug the heat tape prior to inspection to avoid a shock hazard.

Heat tapes are routinely used in crawl spaces and in the substructure of beach homes, mountain cabins, cottages, mobile homes and similar dwellings to prevent exposed water and drain pipes from freezing. Some heat tapes are left in place the year-round and are activated by a thermostat when the temperature approaches 32 degrees. In other cases, homeowners plug in the tapes at the start of the heating season and unplug them in the spring.

Heat tapes have also triggered fires because they were improperly installed, the agency said. Some homeowners disregard label instructions and lay the tape over itself along the pipe in the belief that better protection will result. As CPSC pointed out, heat tape manufacturers specifically warn against overlapping the tape around the pipes.

Consumers should know the kind of pipe to be protected (copper, plastic, galvanized steel, etc.), also pipe diameter and length, when shopping for new or replacement heat tapes. Make sure the heat tape is approved for use on the pipe found in the home.

CPSC said tapes should never be wrapped around the thermal insulation on a pipe or held near a flammable object. Inspect existing heat tapes to make sure no such fire hazards exist in the home.

Mullins named transmission engineering manager

J. Nate Mullins has been named manager of transmission engineering, succeeding Jack Royse, who elected early retirement.

Mullins, 32, who now resides in Lexington, joined Kentucky Utilities in 1977, as assistant engineer in G.O. In 1980, he was promoted to project engineer and in early 1986, became supervisor of construction and maintenance.

The Mt. Vernon native attended Somerset Community College and graduated from the University of Kentucky with a B.S. degree in engineering.

He and his wife, the former Rhonda Hays, have two sons, Nathan, 5 and Nicholas, 1 1/2.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Mullins of Mt. Vernon.

Montgomery said the program will offer financing up to 85 percent of the appraised value of the home. Borrowers will be required by law to purchase participation certificates equal to 5 percent of the value of the loan. However, the cost of the certificates are financed as part of the loan.

One of the most attractive features of the program, according to Montgomery, is the fact that loan closing costs can be kept to a minimum.

their controlled, slow-burning characteristics. Choosing a wood stove the right size for your heating needs is the best solution to this problem, he said. "If the stove is too big you're more likely to burn a slow, smoldering fire to reduce heat output."

In addition to the Individual Loan Pricing Program, Montgomery announced the introduction of a new Rural Home Loan Program by the FLB which offers features such as indexed interest rates, caps and no prepayment penalties. These loans will be available beginning January 1, 1987.

Montgomery stated that the program will be competitive with other mortgage lenders and will offer attractive rates on one- and three-year adjustable rate mortgages. He said the program will provide an opportunity for FLBAs to write new business and diversify their loan portfolios.

Rates for one- and three-year adjustable loans will be indexed to Federal Farm Credit bonds and will therefore reflect current mar-

Superintendent makes $42,854.

According to Rockcastle County Board of Education, Treasurer Garland Cummins the story that appeared in last week's SIGNAL concerning the salaries of school teachers and administrators in Rockcastle County was not completely correct.

It was reported that Superintendent Charles Parsons made approximately $47,000 a year, when in fact he makes $42,854 and according to Cummins, Parsons does not receive any money for being secretary of the board as was reported.

One fact that Cummins did not disclose last week was that all central office staff in the local school system receive extra service pay from the board. Cummins said this week that it amounted to about one hour per day that central office people are paid for.

Santa Claus came to town on fire truck

It was cold and bright, but a bundled-up crowd of about 1,000 braved the chilly breezes to applaud and yell and wave as Santa Claus paid his annual visit to Mt. Vernon and Brodhead Saturday.

But when old Santa arrived throwing candy kisses to the crowd in Mt. Vernon, the youngsters could have cared less about the breezes and 40 degree temperature.

"We just bundled up the kids and brought them along," said one mother who struggled to contain her two little ones. "I just hope they don't get lost in this crowd."

Most of the audience gathered on the north side of Main Street in Mt. Vernon to take advantage of the little warmth that came from the sun.

A horseback color guard led off the parade that was longer than last year with floats from Livingston as well as Brodhead. The band followed. Then came the floats decked out in Christmas themes, and the "walkers" carrying an array of colorful Christmas signs. There was even one group from Berea.

Brodhead, a light crowd waited until after gifts were distributed in a drawing before they got a view of Santa Claus who came riding high on the Brodhead fire truck. Merchants in Brodhead contributed the gifts for the drawings.

In the Mt. Vernon parade, there were Natalie Pybas, Miss Rockcastle, followed by runners up Pam Hale, Melissa Benson

Elizabeth Baker appointed mayor by council

First woman to hold job

By Ray McClure

In one of the best kept secrets in years, Elizabeth Baker, retired teacher and former consultant for the Kentucky Department of Education, was chosen Mayor of Mt. Vernon by the city council Monday night.

The council vote, on a recommendations by out-going Mayor Roland Mullins, was unanimous. Following the vote by the council, Mrs. Baker was telephoned at her home by City Clerk Kaye Rader and came to the meeting where she was met by some 60 persons with a standing ovation.

She was sworn into office by City Attorney Carl Clontz. She then gave a short acceptance speech and adjourned the council meeting.

She will be Mt. Vernon's first woman mayor. Both Livingston and Brodhead have had women in the mayor's chair. Bertie Rice at Livingston and Elizabeth Mullins at Brodhead.

The wife of Robert (Bo) Baker, who for years has performed on the Danville Valley Bandstand with his band, Mrs. Baker brings a wealth of experience to the job that is becoming more detailed and demanding each year.

She will serve until the general election in 1987 at which time voters may choose her again, if she is a candidate, or another mayor to fill the two years remaining on Mayor Mullins' term.

Mrs. Baker said she accepted the appointment with humility and thanked the council for placing their trust and confidence in me. She said she will strive to do the best possible job, knowing she has a great responsibility.

"I look forward to serving the public in any way I can," she said. "I have a great concern for Mt. Vernon, its citizens and its future, and look forward to being a part of that future."

Mrs. Baker has 32 years of work experience. Mayor Mullins told the council in his recommendation.

The work includes managing a large budget for the State of Kentucky as assistant director of special education for the Department of Education. She was a supervisor for a regional program managing personnel and budget. She was consultant for the Kentucky Department of Education; a teacher and coordinator of programs for the state's universities.

She is currently work rehabilitation instructor at the Cumberland River Comprehensive Care Center in Mt. Vernon.

"Mrs. Baker probably has more university graduate hours in relevant fields than any other individual in the city," Mayor Mullins said.

In making his recommendation, Mayor Mullins related that the council asked him to recommend someone to fill the vacancy created by his move outside the city limits that had prompted his resignation.

"Only one question was asked," Mayor Mullins said. "Who is best qualified?" Subsections of that question included the following: Who has successfully supervised more employees? Who has suc-

Garbage suggestions come thick and fast

By Ray McClure

If garbage collection were left up to those who attended a public hearing Friday night, collection in the county would be mandatory. It was standing room only at the hearing called by the Rockcastle Fiscal Court to get input into the county's solid waste management plan.

recent memory, and if the magistrates didn't like what they heard, they at least were pleased with the number that showed up.

If anything surprising came out of the meeting it was the general consensus of those there that, if there is to be a garbage plan, it should be mandatory with everyone bearing a share of the cost.

At least a show of hands indicated as much. Then, when asked for another show of hands for a voluntary plan, no hands were raised.

The magistrates did not respond to the vote.

There were representatives from most of the communities in the county, especially Livingston, where there is a mandatory solid waste plan in place and working well, according to officials.

Mayor Billy Medley told the court the city would like to keep their plan which carries a $5 monthly fee for collection that is attached to the city water bill.

Under the county plan, Livingston, Brodhead, and eventually Mt. Vernon will be included in the countywide plan.

The details of the plan have [continued to 7]

State approves resurfacing work

Two road resurfacing projects are scheduled for Rockcastle County rural roads, according to Gov. Martha Layne Collins.

The state will resurface 2.2 miles of County Road 5386, the Bowling Ridge Road; and 1.6 miles of County Road 5294, the Marbleburg-Spiro Road.

"A strong transportation network requires continuous upgrading to meet the needs of the traveling public," said Collins. "Our rural communities depend on safe, efficient road systems."

State Transportation Secretary C. Leslie Dawson said the projects are estimated to cost a total of $136,168 and are being financed with State Construction funds. Dawson added the projects are expected to be accomplished by contract and will be advertised for bids as soon as possible.

Decision made on lake road

There may be some hope for repairs to Rose Hill/Oak Hill Road around Lake Linville, but not by the state.

Such was indicated this week by Robert K. Capito, state highway engineer for the Transportation Cabinet.

In a letter to County Attorney James H. Lambert, Capito said the county-owned road "basically serves as a local facility and does not appear to meet the minimum criteria necessary to qualify for a higher qualification," meaning state maintained.

same level of Social Security coverage enjoyed by today's retirees.
 A news report on this conference on "Tomorrow's Elderly," stated that "Unless substantial changes are made soon, the children of today's working-age Americans will be financially overwhelmed early in the 21st century as they are called on simultaneously to support a 'humane tidal wave' of retirees and pay for the huge deficits created in the past six years."
 It is becoming increasingly more common to see articles in major conservative publications with titles such as: "Social Security: Managing Poverty from Old to Young," or "Social Security: A Fraud on Tomorrow's Youth."
 These articles give voice to the concerned realization on the part of the current American work force that "the number of retirees is so high that many of the lower income brackets are being reduced to poverty levels in order that today's retirees can live much better than their "contributions" warrant.
 Economic columnist Warren T. Brooker writes that "... since 1969, poverty among America's young adults has risen over 130% from 7.3% to nearly 17%... a really stunning number that has been very largely obscured by the rapid 57% drop in poverty among the elderly from 17.8% to 7.3%."
 Professor Hans Senholz places in perspective the situation today with regard to the various generations under Social Security:
 "The Social Security System, as so many other redistribution programs, divides society into two distinct classes—the beneficiaries and the victors. The ominous development should not be surprised. If it is true that the first generation has received a multiple of benefits over its contributions, the following generation must bear the burden of debt and receive less than they pay in."
 He explains that the program offers three optional plans to qualified borrowers. They include an adjustable rate plan, which is priced to one-year Federal Farm Credit Bonds; a one, three- or five-year fixed adjustable rate plan, which is priced to associated term Farm Credit Bonds; and, a fixed rate plan. The fixed rate plan, which will be implemented in mid-1987, will be limited to borrowers in the three best loan classes.

According to Montgometry, the base rate offered under the adjustable rate program will be 11.40 percent, while the best rate will be 9.50 percent. He said that 70 percent of existing FLB borrowers will qualify for the base rate or lower a reduction of between 1.35 - 3.25 percent from the current variable rate. If market rates remain at current or lower levels, Montgometry said additional reductions will be pursued later in 1987.
 Montgometry said that bank and association staff are working to pass these rates on to farmers as quickly as possible. Although the program officially begins January 1, he said efforts to convert existing loans are already underway.
 In November, approximately 50,000 Land Bank borrowers were introduced to the program and received financial update forms which are the basis for application to the program. FLBAs began receiving this information from borrowers in late-November and began analyzing each borrower's financial position to assign them a rate classification.
 In mid-December, borrowers who have provided a financial update will be informed of the loan plans for which they are eligible

Lower interest rates available to farmers soon

Some of the lowest interest rates available in six years will be offered to farmers in Indiana, Kentucky, Ohio and Tennessee beginning January 1, 1987 when The Federal Land Bank of Louisville (FLB) and its Federal Land Bank Associates (FLBAs) implement a new pricing program.
 The program, known as the Individual Loan Pricing Program, is based on an incremental approach to pricing which considers existing market conditions and an individual borrower's financial strength. The program became possible when the Farm Credit Act Amendments of 1986 were passed by Congress in October. The amendments gave Federal and state system banks the flexibility to set interest rates at competitive levels without prior approval from their regulator, the Farm Credit Administration (FCA).
 Steven J. Montgometry, president and CEO of the Farm Credit Banks of Louisville, said that under the new program, FLB borrowers will qualify for one of five interest rate classes, based on their current credit quality.

Montgometry said that the program offers three optional plans to qualified borrowers. They include an adjustable rate plan, which is priced to one-year Federal Farm Credit Bonds; a one, three- or five-year fixed adjustable rate plan, which is priced to associated term Farm Credit Bonds; and, a fixed rate plan. The fixed rate plan, which will be implemented in mid-1987, will be limited to borrowers in the three best loan classes.

Remembrances...

By: Richard Anderkin
 "The people's co-op. I hardly think that is the direction that our local REA is heading in these days. Before RECC will hook-up electrical service to a home or trailer that is rented they must have in their possession a $250 deposit.
 That seems far enough because of the fact that many times they are probably stuck with a past due bill and the deposit is security for them when this happens.
 However, Monday I paid the final bill I received from RECC on a trailer that had been renting. When I gave the lady the check in McKee, I asked her if she would refund my deposit since it no longer lived in the RECC service area.
 I was told, that refunds were made only once a month and that she would have to mail me my $250. That's a crock. They have my money and they will give it back when they feel it is convenient.
 One thing I have noticed about Jackson County the past four years is the number of RECC employees in Jackson County that seem to be doing nothing. Evidently they need someone else to help the person that does refunds, if they are so busy that they only do them once a month. I think their policy concerning this is wrong and it should be changed. If you don't love REA anything you should be able to get your deposit back when you ask for it. But who cares about my money, right.
 Former Mt. Vernon Mayor Roland Mullins surprised everyone last Monday night when he chose long time educator Elizabeth Baker to be Mt. Vernon's Mayor.
 We are of the opinion around here that it was an excellent choice. Mrs. Baker has the education and charisma to do a good job.
 If you missed Rockcastle's game with Jackson County Tuesday night it was yours, as well as Jackson County's.
 The Rocket varsity played hard and they won. Evening their record up at 1 and 1. It was a good win for Rockcastle, who with some improvement could have a descendant ball team in Head Coach David Perkin's second year.
 Friday night is homecoming at the high school and all alumni should make an effort to attend."

Fairy tale opera "Hansel and Gretel" on KET

Drew Barrymore, the delightful young star of "E.T.," hosts the fairy tale opera "Hansel and Gretel," when it airs on "Great Performances" Monday, Dec. 29, at 8 p.m. (ET), on KET.

Based on the famous Grimm brothers' story, the musical work by German composer Engelbert Humperdinck has become a holiday favorite at opera houses around the world.

An all-star European cast featuring Edita Gruberova, Hermann Frey and Brigitte Fassbender joins Sir Georg Solti and the Vienna Philharmonic for this lavish production.

Engelbert Humperdinck (1854-1921) set his most famous opera, a test only slightly changed in theme and plot from the Grimm tale. His librettist was his sister, Adelheid Wette. He had not at first planned to compose a full opera but rather a "sing-spell," a spoken text with musical accompaniment based on folksong-like melodies. It was to be a simple work performed at home, although the original version of the work actually was performed in a private theater.

Although he never repeated the success of "Hansel and Gretel," Humperdinck has ensured himself a place in the pantheon of opera for his charming and ever-popular first work.

"Great Performances" is presented by an alliance of five public television stations: WNET (New York), KERA (Dallas), WFTH (Worcester, Mass.), KQED (San Francisco), SCETV (Columbia, S.C.) and WTTW (Chicago).

and their actual rates. Montgomery explained that borrowers returning conversion agreements by January 15 will be eligible to receive new rates beginning February 1. After that, borrowers will receive new rates within about 30 days of properly completing their conversion agreements through April 15, 1987. Following the April 15 deadline, borrowers will need to contact their local FLBA for conversion to the Individual Loan Pricing Program.

Montgomery stated that the bank's commitment to the Individual Loan Pricing Program is a way of reaffirming its dedication to serving the needs of farmers.

"We believe the rates offered through the Individual Loan Pricing Program will send a strong message that The Federal Land Bank is back in the long-term lending business to stay. We want to serve farmers, and we appreciate the patience many of our member-borrowers have shown as we worked to provide these more competitive rates."

Tourism dollars made available

A $50,000 federal grant has been awarded to a regional development group to help create new ways of attracting tourists to Southern Kentucky.

Fifth District Congressman Harold Rogers said the Appalachian Regional Commission has awarded the money to the Southern Kentucky Economic Development Corporation, the new group which Rogers helped form earlier this year.

"This funding will allow the Corporation to prepare a tourism potential strategy for our region."

and Sherry Creech.

Others in the parade were Mt. Vernon Mayor Roland Mullins, baton twirlers, Daisy Girl Scout float, Broadhead Beta Club float, Broadhead fire truck, Freddie Mullins Jr., with his mule and wagon team, Livingston-Brownie float, Junior Cadet float, Mt. Vernon Junior Girls Scout float, WBEZ news truck from Broadhead, Brownie Scout float from Mt. Vernon, Christmas gifts from First Baptist Church of Mt. Vernon, Rockcastle Rodders, Rockcastle Saddle Club and then, Santa Claus on the Mt. Vernon fire truck.

There were several others in the parade that were not listed in the official program.

said Rogers. "We will call upon experts in tourism to help assess our potential, identify specific markets, and help create a program for increasing tourism for our part of the state."

Rogers said the tourism effort is the third leg of his four-part project to improve life in Southern Kentucky. He has already created the development corporation to successfully managed multi-million dollar budgets? Who has successfully worked in a large territory, meeting a variety of leaders, and who has written and managed more state and federal projects?"

The mayor continued: "In answer to the questions, I found one who stands above the rest in all the above listed questions, and one who has compassion for all," Elizabeth Baker.

Councilmen questioned after the meeting generally approved of the appointment that obviously came as a surprise.

"I just didn't know who the mayor had in mind," one councilman said, "but I believe she will do an excellent job."

Said another: "She is very qualified it seems, and I agreed with the choice because of that and because I know she is a fine person."

recruit new industry. Another group, "Forward in the Fifth," is tackling the region's educational problems.

"We have many outstanding tourist attractions in our area, including Cumberland Gap and the Big South Fork," said Rogers.

"But we need to be able to work as a region to promote these and other attractions in every county in my district. We have thousands of not been finalized, and the magistrates have the final say in what goes into the plan.

Mayor Medley said Livingston would work with the county in every way possible, but would withhold approval until the one year allowed by state law is over to determine if the county plan is working well.

The county must give municipalities one-year notice before taking over a solid waste program that is already in effect.

The magistrates voted 5-0 at the Dec. 2 meeting to officially notify the three county cities by letter that they will be included in the plan.

"We have a good plan and we like it," Livingston Councilman Todd Mink told the court. "We don't like people trying to cram something down our throat. We could go to court if this does not work out. We'll just have to see."

In a parting verbal shot, Mink said all he had heard during the meeting was a lot of garbage.

Mt. Vernon councilmen Tom Welch and Joe Martin were at the meeting and Welch told the court if a garbage plan is to be successful it would need to be mandatory. But if mandatory, it should not cost more than $5 a month with senior citizens paying less.

The magistrates said they would consider that possibility when the details of the plan are being formulated.

The cost to individual homeowners brought the most response. Most agreed that the $8 originally discussed, was high for residential collection, and that $5 was more reasonable.

However, it was pointed out that the franchisee who will collect the garbage must make a profit and realize enough income to pay the county for the franchise that will be put up for bidding.

Some who attended questioned the salary of the coordinator and his helpers. But the court said the state required a coordinator and on him, or her, rests the responsibility of making the plan effective.

Reportedly, two applicants have been indicated an interest in the job.

travelers who pass through our region every day, and I am hopeful that we can create a full-time effort to promote our area to those potential tourists. If we are successful, it will mean new income and more jobs for our people."

Rogers said the $50,000 in federal funds will hopefully be matched by $21,000 from the Kentucky Department of Tourism.

Brown added that the state does not have the money to undertake such a major project, that it will take considerable money to upgrade the road as it should be done. He noted, the county would probably have to use its road fund money on the project.

The Rockcastle Fiscal Court has agreed to do some work on the road.

The county has budgeted $511,700 for the 1986-87 road maintenance program, and other costs.

In a letter to Attorney Lambert and the court, CSX Transportation Inc., (railroad) said it would be up to the Kentucky Transportation Cabinet to approve and fund flashing light signals at the Hummel/Langford Station crossing.

D.L. Houchin, director of public projects and contracts, said "highway users are the main beneficiaries of warning devices," so the "responsibility of improving devices at highway-rail crossings rests with the agency which maintains the highway."

He suggested the county contact the Railroad Crossings Transportation Cabinet. Frankfort, requesting funds be programmed.

Fairview

By: Mrs. Hubert Chasteen

Rev. Harvey Pensol filled his regular appointment at the Fairview Baptist Church over the weekend, with good attendance. 125 persons were present for Sunday School. Thank the good Lord for each one, especially our young people and children. The Lord's House filled with people is a beautiful sight. Do hope you and your children are attending church regularly somewhere. Well, Thanksgiving is now over and we are all looking forward to Christmas again. The years go by so fast but 1987 will soon be here. Hope everyone enjoyed the holiday with their families and friends. We all need to love each other and visit as much as we can, because we never know just how much more time we have upon this earth. Let's keep our sick folks upon our prayer list, we all. I'm sure know of someone who is ill. Many times we can't minister to them anyway physically, but one thing good Christian people can do, and that is, pray for them. Bless their hearts we love them all. Sherry Lynn Ridgell celebrated her 9th birthday Nov. 26th. She is a third grade student at the Roundstone Elementary School, and the daughter of T. L. and Ann Ridgell, and a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Chasteen. She is a very sweet girl and we love her so much, and wish for her many more happy birthdays. Thanksgiving, dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Ponder, Edith Rae and Clemmys were Mr. and Mrs. Mike Ponder and family, Doug Ponder and Carla Allen and infant son Caleb. Evelyn Ponder and son Scott spent the holidays with her mother, Mrs. Lucilla Lakes in Franklin, Ohio. Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Cope have been Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Cope, Christine Barnett and Helen Powell of

Berea and Mr. and Mrs. Frankie Hayes of Winchester. Mr. Cope remains about the same. Bless his heart. Guests for Thanksgiving dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Seals and Kim of Indian Hills, 'Pain't Lick were Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Chasteen Mrs. Mary Mullins and Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Abney, Tammy and Tonya. We all enjoyed the day together. We spent some time with all of our children during the holidays. [Cont. to 20]

Junior Guard Pat Hansel shoots in the lane during the Rockets Tuesday night win over visiting Jackson County. Looking on is No. 42 John Bullens, the Rocket's 6'5" forward.

Rockets beat Generals

With no time left on the clock, senior forward Johnny Kirby sank a 20 foot jump shot from the top of the key to give the Rockcastle County Rockets a 51-49 victory over the visiting Jackson County Generals.

Kirby, who led the Rockets in scoring with 19 points, helped the Rockets even their season record at 1 and 1 after his outstanding performance.

"We played hard, we made a lot of mistakes and we had a terrible fourth quarter, but we won," said Rockets Head Coach.

David Perkins, who led his team to a 11 and 15 record a year ago.

The Generals and Rockets both members of the state's 49th district fought hard the entire game Jackson County's tenacious defense and Rockcastle's poor free throw shooting allowed the Generals to outscore the Rockets by 10 in

Girls lose to Williamsburg

The varsity girls' basketball team won one and lost one in their last two outings—beating Oneida 59-52 at Oneida last Thursday Night and losing to Williamsburg Tuesday night 55-37.

In the Oneida game, senior guard Cindy Fain was high scorer with 16 points and Phyllis Harper had 12. Sandy Hunter go 11: Lori Mink and Tonya Parrett, 8 each and Rhonda Cobb, 4. Tuesday night, the girls were only down 13-10 at the end of the second quarter but a bad second quarter, when they were outscored 19-5, put the girls too far behind for them to catch up. The girls came back strong in the first part of the third quarter and pulled to within 11 points at one time before Williamsburg went on a scoring binge and pulled back in front by a healthy margin to stay there.

Hunter led the scoring with 15. Cobb got 9, Mink 8, Campbell and Fain, 2 each and Carol Coffey, 1.

The girls next games are Thursday night (tonight) against Clay Co. and next Tuesday night, with the boys' varsity, at home against Linn Camp.

Sandy Hunter, No. 40 grabs a rebound during the girl's loss to Williamsburg Monday night. Sandy has 15 points in scoring with 15 points while grabbing several rebounds.

Rockcastle Senior forward Johnny Kirby drives for the basket in the Rocket's 51-49 win over visiting Jackson County Tuesday night. Kirby won the game for the Rockets when he sank a 20 foot jump shot at the buzzer. The win evened the Rocket's season record at 1 and 1. Kirby led all scorers with 19.

Senior Guard Cindy Fain, No. 10 tries to stop a Williamsburg player from scoring in the girl's 55-37 loss Monday night at home. Fain scored only two points against Williamsburg but she led her team in scoring against Oneida with 16. The girls down the Mountaineers: 53-52.

Johnny Kirby's shot at the buzzer gives Rockets win

the fourth quarter.

With seven seconds left on the clock Coach Perkins called time out to set his offense for what was to eventually be the game winning shot.

After getting the ball with 5 seconds on the clock, Kirby drove through Jackson County Generals and launched the decisive basket. The clock read no time left, and a 51-49 win.

Early in the game the two teams were tied. Kirby led with Rockcastle holding on to a four point lead most of the time. But at half time Rockcastle had managed to open up a seven point lead.

In the third quarter the Rockets extended their lead to as much as 10 points, with some scrappy defense that caused numerous Jackson County turnovers. But Jackson County was not alone in the turnover department as the Rockets had 20.

Starting probably the biggest Rockcastle lineup in recent years seemed to pay off for Perkins and his squad Tuesday night. Senior Center Doug Cox is 6'4" and junior forward John Bullens is 6'5". Bullens grabbed 13 rebounds while Cox got 12.

Jackson stayed in the ballgame in the first half on some excellent outside shooting and in the second half their man to man defense caused Rockcastle many problems in setting up their own offense.

Besides, Kirby's 19 points, junior guard Tim Hodges, added nine while directing the Rocket's offense from his point guard position Bullens got seven. Cox 6, junior guard Pat Hansel scored 6 and junior forward Shannon Burton got 4. Anthony Lewis played but did not score.

The Rockets next game is Friday night when they host Berea for homecoming. Berea lost Tuesday night to Madison Central, by 41 points, 89 to 48.

LIGHT UP SAFELY

FOR THE HOLIDAYS

To make sure your holidays are safe and happy, take special care when decorating with lights. All cords should be completely insulated, and all sockets firmly attached to the cords. Only cords labelled for outdoor use should be used to decorate your yard or outside your home. Keep paper and tinsel away from hot lights, and keep lights away from water. Unplug cords when you string lights.

Unplug all lights before going to bed. Celebrate with joy... and safety.

Drinking and Driving The Toll the Tears

The devastating impact of metal and the resulting destruction of personal lives is the subject on "Drinking and Driving: The Toll, the Tears," which airs Tuesday, Dec. 30 at 9 p.m. (ET), on KET.

This powerful one-hour documentary was produced by Kelly Burke, a Washington, D.C. television reporter, as part of his court sentencing. Burke, driving intoxicated, crossed into the opposite lane and hit a car. The driver died, leaving behind a son and a wife who was eight months pregnant.

Burke discusses the tragedy and its irreconcilable memories which he deals with on a daily basis. His personal insights are interwoven with comments from a teenager, a widower, and a prisoner, all of whom relate their tragic consequences resulting from mixing alcohol with driving. Others comment on dead and paralyzed family members and the endless nightmares of guilt and helplessness coupled with a sincere effort to accept the horrible truth.

Copies of "Drinking and Driving: The Toll, the Tears" are available for $30.00 (one-half inch/VHS Beta); or $42.00 (three-quarter inch) and are accompanied by a study guide. Contact: Educational Activities, WETA*, Box 2626, Washington, D.C. 20013, (703) 908-2709

Fire Marshall issues guidelines

The Kentucky state fire marshal has issued several guidelines and suggestions to insure a safe holiday season for all Kentuckians.

Use only Christmas tree lights that have been tested for safety. These lights are identified by the U.L. label of Underwriter's Laboratories. All light sets should be checked for any loose connections, cracked sockets or damage to wires. Never use electric lights on a metallic tree. A short circuit could cause a severe shock or possible electrocution. Always remember to unplug tree lights when leaving the house.

Purchase the freshest tree available. A fresh tree's needles do not break when bent or fall off when the trunk is bounced on the ground. Place the tree away from heat sources and keep the base of the tree immersed in water.

Some markets charging more

Some tobacco auction warehouses are charging growers higher fees to help pay their increased insurance costs, according to a report.

The additional fees range from 25 cents to $1 for each 100 pounds sold.

Not all warehouses are charging the extra fee, but some are. Warehouse officials say they have posted notices of higher fees as required by law. But farmers are not discovering the changes until they receive their checks, according to a report in the Lexington Herald-Leader.

One Woodford County grower said he was charged $117.58 for "insurance" on a sale of 15,580 pounds.

Officials at London Tobacco Warehouse said they had not changed their fees but might be forced to do so for the 1987-88 market.

K.E. Cain, Pastor

God is blessing at the West Brodhead Church of God. My family and I, and several other men and women, joined the church recently. I thank God for a pastor who really loves my family and I. I feel that it is worth the drive to go to the West Brodhead Church of God from Rt. 150, turn on Negro Creek Rd. between Foodland and Dairy Dip in Brodhead and go 2 miles to the church). I don't think we could have joined a better church.

Your Child's Health

By: Dr. John Payne

By: Dr. John Payne

"My baby was so hot last night she would burn your hand to touch her. No I didn't take her temperature but I know she had an awful fever." This conversation is often heard in the doctor's office or in the emergency room. However, scientific studies have shown that you even "experts" such as pediatric clinic nurses and experienced mothers with several children cannot accurately tell what a child's temperature is by feeling his forehead or any other part of his body.

Let's review why such touching can't accurately tell the skin's blood vessels dilate or open temperature. When you bundle a child up with several blankets his up more than usual and bring more blood to the surface to help cool the skin. This extra blood makes the skin look flushed and feel warmer, even though his internal temperature is normal. Likewise, when you come in from outside in cold weather everything feels warmer to you because you are comparing it to your cold hands.

There are just too many variables, to be able to tell by touching if the child has a fever. The skin and internal body temperatures can be entirely different. If the child looks sick, says he is sick, or feels bad he should have his temperature taken and use this along with his general appearance to decide what to do.
