State Police urge caution during holiday season

The holiday season is in full swing and the Kentucky State Police would like to remind everyone to take extra precautions during the Christmas and New Year's holidays.

With an increase in partying and traffic on the highways, the two can create a deadly combination if drugs or alcohol are abused. Last Christmas holiday, there were five people killed in four fatal accidents. Four of those fatalities involved alcohol and three of the drivers in those accidents had been drinking. During the last New Year's holiday season, five people were killed in three fatal accidents. Four of the five fatalities involved alcohol and two of the drivers in those accidents were intoxicated.

The designated driver concept is becoming increasingly popular and KSP Commissioner Morgan T. Elkins says if more people would adopt this idea, it would save lives. "The concept is simple. When a group of people get together to go out, one person in this group should be designated to remain sober and drive the others home. This responsibility can be rotated each time the group goes out. It insures that, if the others decide to drink, one person can get them home safely."

The Kentucky State Police also urge the use of safety belts and child safety seats. None of the 10 people killed last Christmas and New Year's season were wearing safety belts. Two of those killed were thrown from their vehicles. It is important to use safety belts and safety seats not only on long drives, but also during short trips.

even a few blocks away. Most accidents occur within a few miles of home and at speeds of less than 40 mph - but can produce serious consequences.

The KSP will increase their enforcement activities during the holiday period. Patrols will enforce the 55 mph speed limit using state-of-the-art radar and VASCAR (Visual Average Speed Computer and Recorder). Roadblocks and sobriety checkpoints will also be implemented.

To keep the holiday safe, the KSP would also like to ask that anyone sporting a possible drunk or drugged driver call the Action Rap-Id toll-free hotline at 1-800-222-5555. If you see someone that appears to be driving under the influence of alcohol or a drug, stop at the nearest phone and describe the car, the location it is headed and the license number if possible. Your call can remain anonymous.

The official Christmas holiday is 6 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 23 through midnight, Thursday, Dec. 25. The New Year's holiday officially begins at 6 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 30 and ends at midnight, Thursday, Jan. 1.

Save our Birds!

Folks,
What would give Grandma and Grandpa more pleasure than a birdhouse. Our birds are fast-disappearing because there's no more hollow trees and fence posts.

When I was young, every boy had purple martin houses. Blue Bird and Wren nests. We only put a little paris green on our potatoes and wood ashes on cabbage. Now we must spray, spray and spray because we provide no nests for our beautiful birds. It's worth $100 to have a family of Blue Birds around your flowers and garden. If you have purple martins, you aren't pestered by flies and mosquitos. And, you farmers, cattle won't use energy by fighting flies.

I have over the past two years, given children and old folks 367 Blue Bird houses which I sell for $4 each. Over the past 20 years, laurel and Jackson countians have bought 10 times more houses than has Rockcastle countians. Why I don't know.

My Martin houses, have two doors for each nest. The young crawl in the door in the heat of the day. They fall out, push each other out and one-third are killed.

Before you pay Sears or Greigsville, Ill. twice what you would pay mine, please stop by and see me and I'll talk about mine.

From the courthouse, I am 1/2 mile south on Hwy. 25, Ph. 256-2261.

CHRISTMAS DINNER

The Ladies Aid Missionary Society enjoyed turkey and all the fixings before having their lesson about the Christmas Story that never grows old.

The hostess, Marjorie Shivel, presented the lesson. She first read about Jesus' birth from the Bible, then read what commentaries wrote about it. We trusted hopes can come to pass if we cherish in Jesus Christ! Christmas is a good time to renew our decision for Christianity.

Lou Payne added a beautiful prayer to close this part of the program.

The group pledged to help those more needy than they, visit the homebound and sick people around us, in the coming year.

Then came the time for revealing Secret Sisters of 1986! Packages under the Shiveles' beautiful tree were given out. When packages were opened, some of the ladies showed their surprise by the research of their Secret Sister and some of them said, "I knew you were the one sending me cards and things all year!"

They drew for 1987 hostesses, lessons and Secret Sisters, before they started singing Christmas Carols to end this memorable evening.

DECEMBER MEETING WILL BE THE WORKERS MAKERS' HOMEMAKERS

The Broadhead-Willing Workers Homemakers Club celebrated their last 1986 meeting by having a Christmas Dinner Party. It was held in the Baptist Church's Dining Room, Dec. 13th, Carol Riddle, Jean Albright, Martha Owens and Sylvia Whitt decorated the tables with Christmas center pieces. They used white table cloths with red and white place mats on the tables.

A silver colored Christmas Tree's beauty was enhanced by colored balls and colorful enhancing packages galore, under it.

Thanks to Barbara Watson for preparing the turkey and dressing for our meal. The "covered dishes" brought by each of the club members, went well with the turkey.

Oh yes, as we entered, we were served punch with bits of a cheese ball on crackers. This whetted our appetites for our big meal a little later.

Before we sat down to eat Bro. Whitt gave the blessing.

Ten of our club members brought their husbands to this annual celebration. They brought gifts to exchange just like the ladies did.

It's always an exciting time when our Christmas packages are handed to us, and we find out who our 1986 Secret Pal was for 12 months. The "Squaw" of delight were heard from the members as they opened their packages.

Jean Albright won the door prize. It was a Christmas Table Center Piece.

The group decided to wait until January, 1987 a meeting to draw for 1987 Secret Pals.

The meeting will be at Barbara Watson's home with Deborah Newland as co-hostess, this fourth Thursday, Jan. 23, 1987.

Eaton cited by city police over garbage

A citation to appear in District Court for failure to obtain a privilege license to operate a business in the city of Mt. Vernon was issued Monday by city police to Bee Garbage, specifically, John Eaton.

A District Court hearing has been scheduled for Jan. 5. Police said a citation will be issued to the garbage firm each day Bee is seen collecting garbage without privilege license.

In a vote in September, the city council approved issuing Bee a privilege license to operate a business in the city, but stipulated that the license should contain the notation that Bee was not authorized to collect garbage in the city at least until a decision is made in Rockcastle Circuit Court.

Since Bee is only in the garbage removal business, Bee did not get a license, but continued to pick up garbage.

The citation was issued while the garbage firm was collecting garbage at Rockcastle County High School.

What effect a Tuesday ruling striking down William Bullen's exclusive franchise to collect garbage in the city will have on the citation remains for District Court to decide.

Judge Venters voids city's garbage franchise

Points out advertising error

By: Ray McClure

An exclusive franchise held by William K. Bullen to collect garbage in the City of Mt. Vernon was declared void Tuesday by Rockcastle Circuit Judge Daniel Venters.

It leaves Mt. Vernon without franchised garbage collection and apparently opens the door to the Bee Garbage Transfer Systems to operate in the city, if the firm obtains a privilege license from the city.

It also leaves the door open for the Rockcastle Fiscal Court to include Mt. Vernon in the Rockcastle Solid Waste Management Area by notifying the city that the county will include Mt. Vernon in its proposed garbage plan when it is in place.

County magistrates were unavailable for comment on the judge's ruling, but the court had voted 5-0 recently to include all the towns in the county in its garbage program that was mandated by the state.

The court voted to send letters to the three towns to officially notify them that they are no longer over the collection of garbage at least within a year.

Under State Statutes, the county can take over garbage collection in a city that has a garbage system in place by giving the city a one-year notice.

Councilmen were not readily available for comment on the ruling, but one official commented at a Monday council meeting, if the franchise were overturned, then the county could have the city garbage collection as far as he was concerned. "It will get it off our back," he said.

The judge's ruling on the Bullen franchise was based on the Kentucky Constitution which states a city cannot grant a constitutionally valid "exclusive franchise" unless the specific terms of the exclusive franchise are set out by advertisement in the local newspaper.

In this case, the judge wrote in his order, since the franchise purports to be exclusive in nature, "it must be declared void for lack of advertisement."

"The only thing which can be lawfully sold is the thing which has been advertised for sale," the judge continued.

The ruling set aside a suit brought by William K. Bullen against Bee Garbage for collecting garbage in the City of Mt. Vernon, specifically commercial garbage at the schools. The complaint originally included the City of Mt. Vernon, but Mt. Vernon was stricken from the suit by Judge Venters.

Fire destroys church, large barn

Fires took their toll of property during the past few days, according to Mt. Vernon Volunteer firemen who answered the calls.

A fire believed to have been caused by an oil stove destroyed a church building and former grocery store at the corner of Quarry and Locust Streets in Mt. Vernon early Friday.

The building, owned by Sylvester Kirby of Chestnut Ridge, was used by the Church of the Lord Jesus Christ.

Firemen reported the interior of the building was in flames when they arrived. A nearby house lived in by T.J. Parsons was not damaged.

The building was once a grocery store owned by the late Earl Phillips, and later, by the late Bill McClure.

A large barn owned by Dorothy McCracken on Little Clear Creek burned to the ground about 6 a.m. Saturday. The barn was completely engulfed in flames and falling in when firemen arrived.

Last in the fire were three wagons, a pickup truck, tobacco and hay. The fire is believed to have been electrical.

A mobile home belonging to Ray Sadler at Camroy was destroyed by fire about 11 a.m. Sunday. Firemen reported the mobile home was under way when they arrived.

A fire that burned around a chimney did some damage to the home of Randall Vanhoush on Barrett Road near Lake Linville.

The fire occurred about 7 a.m. Monday and was soon contained after firemen arrived.

Sign-up begins for ag program

The 1987 Agriculture Conservation Program Long Term Agreement (ACP-LTA) sign-up period is under way and will continue through Jan. 23, according to Benton Bullock, chairman of the Rockcastle County Committee.

Any Rockcastle County farmer interested in the 1987 LTA program should contact the Rockcastle County ASCS office immediately.

ACP-LTA is a federally assisted program which emphasizes the identification and solution of soil, water and woodland conservation and pollution problems on agricultural lands and encourages energy conservation.

The basic objective of Long Term Agreements (LTA) is to treat a specific delineated area that has been identified with critical soil

New mayor and council discuss future city projects

Mayor Elizabeth Baker made her first appearance as mayor at a called meeting of the Mt. Vernon City Council Monday night.

Councilman Tom Welch said she performed "very well" in her new job. Councilmen Jerry Pensol and Jackie Renner were unable to attend.

Councilman Tom Welch recited for the mayor some of the projects the city has accomplished, some remaining to be completed such as the water project, and some that will need to be discussed in meetings to come.

Welch said after the proposed annexation is completed the council should turn its attention to zoning the city.

"Zoning should have been done long ago," Welch said. "The way it is, you can put a big pen next to a nice home. We need to do something about it."

Under zoning, only approved structures are allowed in the various zones such as commercial, residential, etc.

public and fiscal court.

The coordinator will keep the records of all solid waste activities and act as liaison between the Natural Resources Cabinet in Frankfort and the fiscal court.

The coordinator will be responsible for securing the fiscal court and other designated groups if any, on a timely basis concerning solid waste management activities such as budgeting, equipment and personnel needs, problems and accomplishments.

The coordinator will also be made the chairman for the Rockcastle County Clean Community Program that is required by the state. He will also be involved in obtaining private funds needed for certification into the program.

The fiscal court has not set a time schedule for implementing all phases of the solid waste plan, but the magistrates are expected to move quickly to implement the program that is costing the county between $8,000 and $10,000 a month to remove garbage from

Fiscal court starts work on choosing coordinator

By: Ray McClure

Work began Monday and will continue until the Rockcastle Fiscal Court chooses a coordinator for the Solid Waste Management Area for the county.

The court reviewed 10 applications and will interview the 10 applicants in person Thursday. A decision is not expected before the following week.

Salary for the coordinator will be on agreement by the court and the coordinator. The state requires a coordinator for the program.

"It will take awhile for us to decide," one magistrate said. "We need to talk with all the applicants before we decide. The success of the solid waste program will depend on the effectiveness of the coordinator."

That the job will be a big job is without question for the coordinator will be the responsibility of carrying out the recommendations of the fiscal court.

He, or she, will have the responsibility of enforcing litter laws through the county attorney, supervision of the collection system through the franchisee, including personnel; providing oversight to managing the county transfer station and establishing a working relationship between the public and fiscal court.

The coordinator will keep the records of all solid waste activities and act as liaison between the Natural Resources Cabinet in Frankfort and the fiscal court.

The coordinator will be responsible for securing the fiscal court and other designated groups if any, on a timely basis concerning solid waste management activities such as budgeting, equipment and personnel needs, problems and accomplishments.

The coordinator will also be made the chairman for the Rockcastle County Clean Community Program that is required by the state. He will also be involved in obtaining private funds needed for certification into the program.

The fiscal court has not set a time schedule for implementing all phases of the solid waste plan, but the magistrates are expected to move quickly to implement the program that is costing the county between $8,000 and $10,000 a month to remove garbage from

Ice causes 10 wrecks

Tuesday was a "bang-up" day in Rockcastle County. All because of a thin layer of ice that froze on bridges and roadways, a total of 10 accidents were reported and investigated by State Trooper Jack Lawless and Trooper Nick Hensley.

Five accidents occurred in Livingston, three in Brodhead, one at Negro Creek, and one on I-75 at the 68-mile marker.

One person from Brodhead, one from Negro Creek, and one from Livingston were reportedly treated and released at Rockcastle County Hospital.

Ice formed early in most areas from Rockcastle into eastern, central and northern Kentucky setting off numerous accidents.

Christmas break

A calendar change to extend Christmas vacation two more days has been approved by the school's Calendar Committee.

Vacation will be from Dec. 19 to Jan. 5.

It will mean two days will be added in May, from May 13 to May 15 to make up the two Christmas days.

The request was considered by the committee after a county-wide poll of 158 school staff members. The poll showed the majority of teachers favored the calendar change.

Dwar Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to express my gratitude to everyone who helped make this year's Chamber of Commerce Christmas Parade a success.

My thanks goes out to all the groups who worked hard to build floats and those groups who participated in the parade in other ways.

The Chamber of Commerce wishes to especially thank the following: the city Mt. Vernon and Roland Mullins for the use of the street; John Cox for roping off the street; Gary Hansel and Kevin Fletcher - without you we would still be in the parking lot. Charlie Napier for the excellent broadcast.

WVTV Radio and the Mt. Vernon Signal for publicizing the parade. Tracy Gabbard for adding to the holiday atmosphere, and the Bank of Mt. Vernon for their hospitality.

I would like to add that plans are underway for next year's parade and it is our hope that it will be the biggest and best ever. Again, thank you to everyone who helped make this year's parade a success.

Sincerely,
Bobby McClure

Ramblings...

By: Richard Anderkin

Last Friday as I was coming out of a store in Berea I noticed three small children in the back of a old boat up car with Ohio license plates. The car was loaded which left the impression, at least in my mind that the family was moving somewhere. It was a sad sight to say the least.

I made me think about how lucky most of us are that we are not and have not faced the same situation that those three children are facing. The oldest child could not have been more than six and the worse thing about all of it is the fact that those three children could not control their situation in any way.

The reason that the kids and their parents, who came out of the store as I was leaving, are in that shape is not important. The fact is that many people in this county and state are in such a situation. The feeling I have is not one of sorrow for the parents because they both looked like, at least to me, that they were healthy enough to work and control what happened to them and how they live. Those children cannot.

Christmas is a great time for our family, because we are a big family and we all enjoying being together and celebrating the holiday. But, this Christmas I have stopped and thought what it would be like to be part of that situation. Since the Joyceces of which I was one, stopped the annual Christmas Party at Renfro, I feel like there are a lot of children in this county that will not have much of a Christmas because the party has stopped.

This Christmas season, those of you who can, should think about helping someone of some family that needs it. And believe me in this county, there is a needy family that can use it.

Looking Ahead

FEDERAL TORT CLAIMS ACT

Those in 1950, who voted for passage of the Freedom of Information and Privacy Acts helped to destroy the internal security safeguards of America. As a consequence, we are almost completely vulnerable to subversion from within.

In turn, the tremendous increase in espionage and terrorism, as well as wide-spread, open support of Communist causes, is directly attributable to the destruction of our internal security program.

A third factor bearing heavily on the erosion of our internal security capabilities has been a series of court decisions based on a distorted interpretation of the meaning of the Federal Tort Claims Act.

This Act was originally placed on the books to protect federal employees who might be responsible for property damage while on duty. For example, a soldier, while driving an Army vehicle off-base, might have a collision with a privately-owned vehicle. In such a case the federal government becomes the sole and exclusive defendant.

But in 1971, the Supreme Court held "that individual employees or agents or representatives of the federal government could be held personally liable for a First Amendment tort, a constitutional tort." (statement of Mr. W. Raymond Wannall)

Once again, the Supreme Court created a civil "right" out of thin air with no constitutional basis and the effect has been catastrophic for domestic security. This infamous "Bivens decision" has become a tremendous tool for subversives.

Since this decision over 2,600 suits have been filed against some 10,000 federal employees, many of them FBI agents, even Director Webster himself. These suits are intended by subversives to harass law enforcement and intelligence agents and agencies. And they have been highly successful in intimidating agents and individuals interviewed by them.

Even if they do not actually file a suit, the threat to bring suit is often enough to intimidate all but the most valiant among us. It is a tactic being used more and more often to silence those who would expose subversion in America.

The Director of the FBI has pointed out that a problem exists with agents becoming reluctant to carry out their investigative responsibilities for fear they may have to defend themselves in a law suit.

They know of the case of Mr. W. Raymond Wannall, former Assistant Director of the FBI for Intelligence, who was sued for $300 million in the case of five other agents who were sued in Washington, D.C., with the American Liberties Union bringing the action and claiming $300,000 in attorney's fees.

We have a terrible situation here in this country where subversives can use our laws to extract intelligence secrets under the Freedom of Information Act; deny vitally important information to security agencies under the Privacy Act; and intimidate security agents and loyal citizens into silence and/or inactivity as a result of the misinterpreted Federal Tort Claims Act.

The security of America dictates immediate revision of these three laws. Failure to do so would be the height of folly and would only continue to serve the interests of those who would destroy the nation.

Your child's health

by Dr. John Payne

"Quick, let's go to the hospital: little Billy bumped his head on the chair and fell on the carpet. I know he broke his brain!" Head injuries in children, while usually mild, are a very emotionally charged injury. Parents often think the child needs skull x-rays or other tests. Doctors, ever fearful of lawsuits, are likely to oblige them and order x-rays. They are even more likely to give out elaborate instructions about waking the child up every hour all night, watching his eyes for unequal pupils, and asking him the year and day and who is the president - a hard question for a three year old even with no lump on his noggin and who has not been wakened up all night long.

Certainly children should be evaluated after a head injury but this can often be done by his parents. Did the child get up right away and cry appropriately? Did he go back to playing after a few minutes? Did he seem OK after a half hour and avoid vomiting? If all these things seem all right, then it is doubtful and serious injury exists. If he seems sicker and winds up in the Emergency Room the chances of finding anything abnormal on x-ray if the doctor doesn't find anything on exam is about 1 in 5000. Emergency Room instructions about head injuries are often written for adults and are sometimes overly complicated.

In a study of 321 children with minor head trauma parents were contacted by phone one month after the accident. Physical illness was rare, and only 7% had complained of headache. However, a significant number had missed school or had other significant limitations of activities due to parental restrictions of self imposed limits. Most of these restrictions probably were not realistic, but were judged due to anxiety created by or made worse by the instructions given the family.

Christmas tree market growing

It was only 135 years ago that Pennsylvania Mark Carr hauled green trees from his land in the Catskills to the sidewalks of New York City to set up the first Christmas tree retail lot.

Capitalizing on the German tradition of decorating evergreens with ornaments and lights, Carr made Christmas trees available not only to those near wooded areas but to urban dwellers alike. He also began what has become a very big seasonal business.

Until recent years, almost all of the Christmas trees sold in Kentucky were shipped in from Michigan and several other states.

This year that trend is beginning to change, according to Dr. Deborah Hill, extension forestry specialist at the University of Kentucky. Hill estimates there will be between 10,000 and 20,000 Kentucky grown Christmas trees available for sale at retail lots and at wholesale and cut operations run by producers' farms throughout the Commonwealth.

Hill has been working with Kentuckyans for several years providing assistance for those interested in growing Christmas trees to supplement their farming incomes.

Five years ago, there were between 25 and 50 people growing Christmas trees in Kentucky, Hill said. Right now, our estimates show there are between 100 and 200 people growing Christmas trees for sale.

Shook's takes about six years to get a tree to cutting size, many of the new producers will have trees for several years. But those who get into the industry early are beginning to sell their trees.

"We've got to do it. Hill and the studies by the University of Kentucky is concluding on the feasibility of growing Christmas trees," said Agriculture Commissioner David Bost. "They are providing valuable information to the Christmas tree growers on production. But they are also evaluating market conditions and the impact of planning for their future business."

When you consider that well-trees cost about 10 cents each for Christmas trees sold for between $1.50 to $2.00 and up, it's no surprise that $25 of retail has there's more to be made at

Bullen leads Rockets to 54-40 win over Lynn Camp

By: Richard Anderkin

Junior forward Jon Bullen scored 23 points and grabbed 6 rebounds in leading Rockcastle County boys' varsity basketball team to a 54-40 13th Region win Tuesday night over visiting Lynn Camp.

The win upped the Rockets' early season record to 3 and 1 and left Rockcastle coaches and fans with hopes for a good year. Head Coach David Perkins, who is in his second year, said after the game that although it might not have been pretty it was a win and he was proud of the fact that his players didn't quit when Lynn Camp made a run at his ball club.

The final score was no indication of how close the game was throughout the first three periods and well into the fourth quarter before the Rockets were able to pull away. The score was tied 9 times from 4 all 38 all.

The Rockets had an early 8-4 lead, but Lynn Camp battled back behind some excellent outside shooting to tie the game and take a 12-10 lead with 1:05 left in the first period. The Wildcats held onto the two point advantage until the end of the first period when they led 14-12.

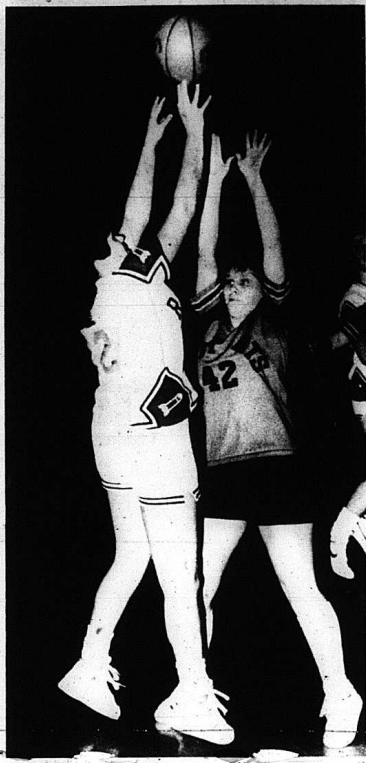

But with 7:23 left in the second period Bullen hit a jumper to tie the score at 14 and then gave Rockcastle the lead when he hit a turn around in the lane with 6:38 to play in the half.

Junior guard Pat Hansel then drilled a 20 foot jumper from the side, was fouled on the play, hit his free throw and gave the Rockets a 19-16 lead.

It looked like Rockcastle might begin to open the game up when senior Johnny Kirby sank a 21 foot jump shot to give the Rockets a 21-16 lead with 4:28 to go in the half.

RCHS girls beat Lynn Camp

The Rockcastle County girls' varsity upped their season record to 2 and 3 Tuesday night when they easily downed the visiting Lynn Camp Lady Cats 46-26.

Senior guard Cindy Fain led all scorers with 16 in leading the Lady Rockets to the lopsided victory.

It was obvious from the outset that Coach Preston Parrett's girls were the much superior club. The Lady Cats had trouble with Rockcastle's height on both the offensive and defensive boards.

Senior Center Sandy Hunter and junior forward Rhonda Cobb combined for 12 rebounds and Cobb finished with eight points while Hunter could manage only 2. Hunter led the Lady Rockets with 15 Thursday night in their loss to district foe Clay County.

The Lady Rockets led Lynn Camp 14-0 at the end of the first period.

Anthony Lewis, No. 30, and Doug Cox, No. 40, fight for a rebound in the Rockets' lopsided victory over Berea Friday night. The boys' varsity has won three straight since their opening season loss to Estill Co. The varsity also downed Lynn Camp Tuesday night 54-40.

Boys beat Berea

Behind the strong play of senior forward Johnny Kirby the Rockcastle County Rocket boys' varsity, stomped the visiting Berea Pirates 73-42 last Friday night for a sweet homecoming victory.

After senior Cindy Fain was crowned Rockcastle Homecoming Queen for 1986, it was all down hill for the Pirates. The Rockets had a 10-6 lead at the end of the first period, a 28-11 lead at half-time and a 45-26 lead at the end of the third period.

The game was never in doubt as Berea brought one of the youngest teams in recent years to play the Rockets, who have won three straight since their opening loss to Estill County.

Kirby, who took only eight shots, hit six of them while also hitting 5 of his six free throw attempts. He also grabbed eight rebounds.

Junior forward Jon Bullen added 16 points and had a game high 9 rebounds. Senior center Doug Cox scored only 6 points in the lopsided victory but grabbed 7 rebounds and played excellent defense on Berea's fine sophomore center Dennis Sargent.

Sargent led the Pirates in rebounding and scored 10 points. Sargent has a local cognation in that he is the grandson of former Magistrate Danny Sargent.

It was a contest, in which head coach David Perkins could play all his troops and he did just that. He got some extremely good play from his bench, especially in the form of junior guards Pat Hansel, who played much of the game and had 12 points and Jason Coguer who hit seven of ten free throws late in the game.

Junior point guard Tim Hodges

ges, dished out 6 assists and scored 4 points while the other starting guard Anthony Lewis had 6 points.

Senior guard Kevin Bussell played much of the game and had 22 points and played some excellent defense while junior forward Jeff Winstead grabbed 5 rebounds and scored 4 points. Shannon Burton added 2 points while Ray Kirby and Matt Shepherd both saw action but failed to score.

B-team wins

Gary Scott's RCHS boys' B-Team also easily downed Berea 35-20.

Adam Coleman led the B-Team with 11 points. Darren Allen added 10 while Chuck Shields had 6, David Owens 4, Scott Thompson 3 and Chris Ponder 1.

Steve Clark, Jesse Mahaffey, John Ford, Joe Ferguson, Mike Barron, Shane Campbell, Butch Lunsford and Chad Abney all played but failed to score.

Freshman Lose 30-24

The Clay County Tiger boys' freshmen team defeated Rockcastle's freshmen Monday night 30-24.

Coach David Riddle's squad fell behind 14-4 at the end of the first period but fought back to get within two points at 24-26. The freshmen had the ball and a chance to tie the score when, according to Riddle, his team took a bad shot.

Robby Phillips led the freshman with 8, while Jody McGuire got 7, Chad Abney had 3, Steve Clark, Josh Morgan and Kevin Rowe all 2 points.

abundance of talent, they are not extremely big and they are not the quickest team in the world.

But, they play hard. They act like they care if they win or lose and they have demonstrated that the last three games they have played.

The Rockcastle County Rocket boy's varsity is now 3 and 1 on the year with wins over Jackson County, Berea and Lynn Camp. In all of these victories they have shown the desire that it takes to be a winning ball club.

In the past few years it has seemed to at least this fan, that the boys lack emotion and a desire to pick themselves up and win a game when they could. More times than not in the past few years the Rockets have lost the close games and in most cases it was a situation where they had led the entire game until the closing minutes.

Coach David Perkins, who is in his second year at the helm, seems to have finally instilled in his ball club the fact that they can be a winner by playing hard and not giving up.

Perkins said last week after the team's disappointing loss to Estill County in their opener the main he had to do was make his team get confidence in themselves. A trait that has to be there if a winning season is possible.

The boys are off to a good start with three straight victories and I compliment them on the way they have attained each of them. By hustle on defense and hard work for a good shot on offense, Perkins is not afraid to let his young ball club run the floor, thus creating several turnovers, but the style of ball is certainly entertaining and so far has been successful.

More times than once last Friday night against Berea when a loose ball situation occurred more than one rocket was on the floor after it. And it seems that each one of his players want a chance to contribute and have contributed in many ways. They set on the edge of their seats hoping that he gives the beckon call for them to enter the game.

Rockcastle is a young ball club, starting 3 juniors and 2 seniors with the first substitute off the bench a junior. With a fair season this year they could be looking at an excellent season a year from now. All of us basketball fans would sure like to see that.

Gary Scott's B-team has the same 3 and 1 record that the varsity holds and he too has some excellent talent on his squad. He is high on his team's chances for an excellent year this year and he knows that many of his sophomores will be able to make a noticeable difference in next year's varsity.

David Riddle's freshmen team has a rough schedule this season which is proven by the fact that he is 0 and 2 on the year. His losses come at the hands of Laurel County and Clay County. But, Riddle said that he thinks the tough schedule will help make his team better by year's end and get his young freshman ready for next year when they may be able to contribute to the varsity.

Junior guard Tonya Parrett, No. 30, and senior Phyllis Harper, No. 22, play defense against the Lynn Camp Lady Cats Tuesday night at home. The girls upped their season record to 2 and 3 with a 46-26 win.

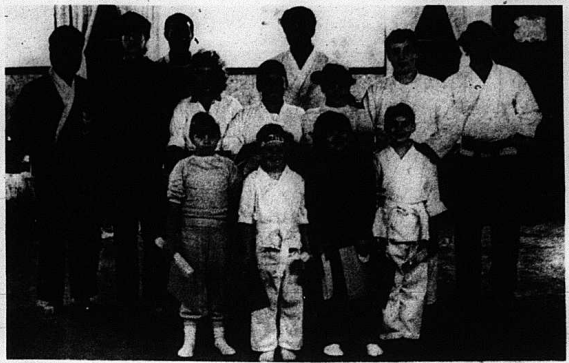

Bullens hit a turnaround in the lane.

But, the third period was a different story. Lynn Camp came out of the dressing room ready to play and it looked like the Rockets may have taken a nap during the intermission and were not awake yet.

Lynn Camp reeled off the first seven points of the third period to take a 27-26 lead over the Rockets. After Perkins called time out to give his team a dose of no-dozz, Hodges hit a jumper in the lane giving the lead back to the Rockets at 28-27.

The lead changed hands several times throughout the period with Lynn Camp clinging to a 31-30 lead with 3:52 left in the period. Rockcastle regained the lead when Hansen hit a 17-foot jumper with 1:26 left in the third. But Lynn Camp came with a full court press and caused two Rockcastle turnovers which resulted in a 34-34 tie. The Wildcats then won the remaining 10 seconds of the period and took two errant shots which left the score tied at 34 at the end of the period.

However, Rockcastle's player of the game, Jon Bullen, hit a

Lynn Camp tied the score at 36 and then at 38, but that was their last hope as the Rockets started pulling away, first at 40:38 when guard Anthony Lewis hit a layup; at 41:38 when center

Doug Cox, who had 7 rebounds, hit the front end of a one and one; at 43:38 after Bullen sank two free throws; at 45:38 after he hit a jumper in the lane and 46:38 when he sank the front end of the one and one; at 48:38 when Hodges hit two free throws; at 50:38 when Lewis sank two free throws and at 59:48 when Bullen hit a layup.

Lewis finished the Rockets' scoring off with two free throws to make the final score 54-40 and give Rockcastle their best start in years.

"If Ye Believe Not That I Am He..."

More often than not during Jesus' personal ministry on earth, He encountered people who did not believe Him. A case in point is found in the 8th chapter of the gospel of John. Jesus had declared Himself to be the Light of the world [v.12], but the Pharisees who were in the temple said,

"Thou bearest record of thyself; thy record is not true" [v.13]. Jesus reminded them that under their own law [the law of Moses] the testimony of two men established truth and that His own testimony plus that of His Father was reason enough for them to believe Him [vs. 17-18]. They knew that a Messiah was to come but, despite all the evidence, they refused to believe that Jesus was that promised One. Thus His declaration to them: "I said and thereunto you, that ye shall die in your sins: for IF YE BELIEVE NOT THAT I am he, ye shall die in your sins" [v.24].

What is involved in believing that Jesus is the Messiah; the Christ; the Anointed One? First, we must believe all that is written concerning Him in both the Old and New Testaments. If we believe just one of these testimonies to be false [the virgin birth, for instance], then we can have no confidence in the truth of any of them!

Secondly, once we have established by the Scriptures that He is indeed the only begotten Son of God [John 3:16, et. al.], we must believe that everything He said personally or through those men whom He endowed with the Holy Spirit is indisputable truth. If just one of the things that He or they spoke or wrote is false, we can have no confidence in any of the other things they taught. We know, of course, that "God cannot lie" [Titus 1:2].

We must believe that Christ established His church [Matt. 16:18], that He is the head over it [Col. 1:18], and the Savior of it [Eph. 5:23]. As the Founder, Head and Savior of the church, we must believe that He has the authority to rule in men's lives [Matt. 28:18] and judge them accordingly [Rom. 14:10, 12]. We must believe that His word will be the standard of judgment [John 12:48]. In short, we must believe all the Bible.

Today, there are many today just like the Jews of old. Some do not believe Jesus is the Messiah. Many Jews are still looking for the Promised One. Some believe He is the one promised by God through the Old Testament prophets, but they do not believe ALL that He said. For example, He said "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved" [Mark 16:16]... any say, "You must be saved but you don't have to be baptized." To that extent, these folks do not believe what He said.

Let us all resolve in the upcoming new year to believe in Jesus completely, understanding that He said what He meant and meant what He said, appreciating and accepting His complete authority in our lives because "IF YE BELIEVE NOT... YE SHALL DIE IN YOUR SINS."

To all our readers we extend our best wishes for a happy and safe holiday season.

We still have friends and neighbors who are not well that we all need to keep on our prayer list. Bless their hearts it is so bad to always be suffering and in pain. Our prayer is, that they will be feeling better soon.

As Christmas is drawing near, this will be the last edition of the Signal many of you will receive before the holidays. So I couldn't pass up the chance to wish you and yours a truly great time with your family, relatives and friends. I hope and pray that your Christmas season will be a happy one, filled with love, peace and giving God praise for it all. After all we are celebrating the birth of His Son. So let's celebrate with thankful-ness.

Also when this season of the year rolls around we begin to reminisce for at least I do when we are carried back in thought to our childhood days. From where I live I can look down in the Reppert Hollow and see our old home place where our blessed father and mother raised thirteen children. I remember the long hard days we all put in working, trying to make a living. We didn't have many things that we needed, but we managed. We were kept in Sunday School and church and taught the right things, such as honesty, truthfulness and to always be good to others. Now, several in our family are gone on to be with the Lord. We miss them so much.

This is a quotation from Flavia: "During the holidays, distance has no meaning. The child's heart within us finds its way home."

God bless you everywhere. You have my love and prayers.

me creative abilities. After being sure you have listed your real feelings in the right order, look at your top three values. Which one is least represented in your current celebration? Christmas is a time to reach out to those in need; may be one of your highest values but perhaps you haven't found a natural way to be charitable during the holiday season. Write down that value in terms of a goal. In this example you can write, "This Christmas I would like to reach out to those in need." Choose Activities

Next, think of two specific things you can do to reach that goal. Keep these activities small and realistic. For example, you may choose to do one of the following:

grocery trip and we will fill a shopping bag with Christmas ingredients to donate to a needy family.

I will spend a Saturday helping a neighbor or relative clean and decorate her house and take her Christmas shopping.

Pin up these activities where you can see them and check them off when they are done.

If your holiday season is too busy, calculate how much time these two new activities are going to take and eliminate something that has less meaning for you and your family.

Cooperative Extension Service

Our mission is to extend education in agriculture, family resource management, community improvement, and leadership with the principles of "helping people to help themselves". The Extension Service today delivers unbiased new technology and information in four program areas: Agriculture, Home Economics, Youth Development (4-H) and Community Development. This three way agreement has a 70 year history with the enactment of congress in 1914 and the Kentucky General Assembly in 1916. The Rockcastle County Cooperative Extension Service is a unique cooperative agreement between the USDA, the University of Kentucky and Rockcastle County.

Presently three agents, a University of Kentucky employee, advise and administer the Extension programs in the county. These programs are planned and often conducted by the people of the county. Tom Mills is the County Extension Agent for Agriculture; Cheryl Witt is the County Extension Agent for Home Economics; and John McQueary is the County Extension Agent for 4-H. All three agents have responsibilities in 4-H and Community Development as well. The Expanded Food and Nutrition Program is a federally funded program also supervised by the Home Economics Agent. The agents are located in the Cooperative Extension Service Office in the Agricultural Services Building in Mt. Vernon. The telephone number is 256-2403. All programs and services provided by the Cooperative Extension Service are available to all persons, without regard to race, color, national origin, sex, religion, age, and handicap.

During 1986, the agricultural extension program included a Dairy Herds Improvement Records program with five farms participating and a technician, Billy Cameron, providing assistance. Short courses, newsletters, and Beef management projects have been conducted to assist the beef producer. Demonstrations included freeze branding, and a Beef Derby. Other demonstrations were on corn yields, johnsongrass control and forages have been held. Recommendations were given to farmers on pepper, strawberry and sorghum production, as well as other commercial vegetables. A corn variety plot demonstration was conducted for the first time. Fifteen varieties which local farmers most commonly use were grown in a side-by-side comparison. Yields were taken at a field day with the results publicized in newspapers and radio programs.

4-H is the largest youth organization in Rockcastle County. From July, 1985 to June, 1986, 1,423 youth participated in organized 4-H clubs, camps, activities and school enrichment projects. This means 71% of the school age youth in Rockcastle County participated in some way in the 4-H program. Activities include 4-H camp, variety shows, speech contest, demonstration contest, fashion shows, fair exhibits, 4-H Week, American Heritage Conference, land and vegetable judging, and community pride. All of these activities have shown increases in participation during the past year. Horse and Dairy judging teams have both went to state competition. 4-H project groups are held for electric, foods, clothing, woodcraft and dairy projects. Classroom projects are also conducted by leaders and teachers. Over 200 volunteer leaders are involved in the 4-H program.

The Home Economics program involved 215 Extension Homemakers Club members in five clubs, and 311 persons participating in special interest workshops. Emphasis has been placed on leadership in Extension Homemakers resulting in members serving as area and state officers and chairmen and on state committees. Homemakers have donated over 23,785 hours of volunteer work saving their communities $83,240. They have also raised $5,000 for community organizations. Topics of study by Homemakers and in special interest programs included: stir fry cookery, Nutritious Meals, Time Management, Family Stress, Consumerism, heritage craft skills, Newsletters also provide information to interested persons on foods and nutrition, sewing and microwave cooking.

The Cooperative Extension Service Agents participate in development and civic organizations and work with these organizations toward the betterment of the community.

Bureau wants improvements in programs

Voting delegates at the 67th Kentucky Farm Bureau convention asked for major improvements in federal farm programs and urged that land-use restrictions under so-called "soilbuster" legislation be scaled back.

USDA's recent 3 and 4 cent reductions in burley tobacco price supports on several popular grades. They asked that the cuts be rescinded and that loan rates for those grades be restored to the higher levels.

The actions were included among hundreds of policy statements adopted during the December 13 closing session of the state Farm Bureau convention in Louisville.

The new policies call for expanded voluntary farmland diversion programs to cut crop production and asks that a $50,000 limit on program benefits for individual farmers be eliminated or raised.

"Soilbuster", a new law which prohibits farm program benefits for crops grown on highly erodible land, should apply only to farmland not currently in production, the delegates said.

Many at the convention expressed concern that sizeable acreages of Kentucky's farmland could be judged erodible, threatening program benefits for significant numbers of farmers.

In other farm program areas, the delegates said they oppose imposition of dairy production quotas and oppose restrictions on the draining of wetlands for farm use.

The tobacco resolution charged USDA with ignoring support price agreements between growers and tobacco companies which formed the basis for tobacco program reforms approved by Congress this year.

Farmers have already suffered financial losses on this year's crop through the reductions, and could be forced to pay higher assessments on those grades of tobacco already in the surplus pools, the statement said.

A special committee of tobacco leaders is currently looking at ways to avoid similar 11th hour price support reductions in the future.

Other significant policy changes approved at the Farm Bureau convention included:

Request that farmland taken by the Farmers Home Administration through foreclosure be taken out of production and placed in the conservation reserve.

Oppose the importing of ethanol products into the U.S.

Support the Gramm-Rudman-Hollins deficit-reduction law if budget cuts are made across the board.

Favor reinstating the practice of income averaging to reduce federal income taxes for farmers.

Support improved training programs on the safe handling and use of pesticides.

Recommend a variety of new research approaches on horticultural crops to the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

They include research on ornamental plant propagation, soil farming, turf maintenance, winter production of container-grown plants and more economical ways to fertilize soil.

"Sign-Up Program" and water farmland problems.

Through the use of an approved conservation plan, a combination of selected conservation programs best suited to the particular needs of each individual site are applied with respect to the primary use of the farmland under contract.

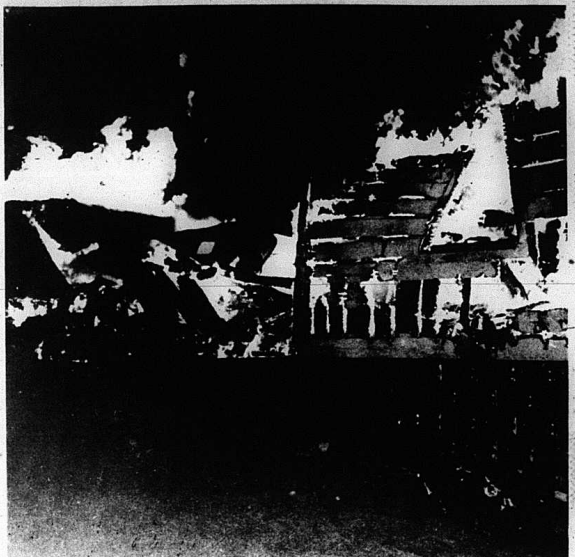

Farmers are eligible to receive cost sharing of up to 70 percent of the actual cost of the conservation practice performed. These practices are to be maintained by farmers for a period of five to ten years after the completion of the practice dependent upon the type of practice performed. These practices are under specific instructions and should not be started before actual approval from the County Committee with the instructions listed on the approved ACP forms (AC3245 mailed to farmers prior to starting of the practices).

Cost sharing amount will be applied after the practice is reported as completed and adequate receipts are presented as proof of the material(s) used to perform the practice. Some practices must be referred to the Soil Conservation and the Kentucky Division of Forestry for approval. ACP LTA funds are obligated for a period of three to five years with the maximum permitted cost sharing for one year not to exceed the amount of $3,500. This means one a three-year contract you could earn up to $10,500.

Anyone interested in applying for the Long Term Agreement should contact the ACSO office immediately.

Questions concerning LTA's may be had by calling the office anytime Monday through Friday 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. The telephone number is 256-2525.

"Judge Voids Franchise"

The council to dismiss the Bullen motion and overturn the franchise on the grounds the city failed to publish the exclusive franchise details in the Mt. Vernon Signal as prescribed by law.

On Nov. 24, the judge asked Bee for evidence supporting Bee's claim and gave Bee 20 days to comply.

The judge stressed in his Tuesday ruling that "due advertisement" provided for is to give information to all who may desire to become purchasers of the franchise and enable them to make bids therefor, and to secure the municipalities against the loss of valuable rights for mere paltry considerations.

The advertisement is to give information to all," the judge continued, "who have an interest in the privileges to be sold, and citizens of a municipality may protect their rights in such matters that necessity may create."

"It is hereby ordered and adjudged that the defendants (Bee Garbage) motion for summary judgment be and is hereby sustained and the complaint of the plaintiff (Bullen) is dismissed," the judge concluded.

It is not yet clear what, if anything, the city will do whether the rulings will be appealed by the city, or if the city will challenge the county's right to take over the garbage collection when its communitywide garbage plan is in place.

The council, on a report from Police Chief Joe Howard, that motorists are not parking within the lined parking spaces on Main Street, told the chief to issue improper parking tickets, and discussed the possibility of raising parking fines from $1 to $3, but took no action.

The council also agreed the parking arrangement in the depot parking lot should be improved and the parking spaces widened.

The council approved a called meeting for 7 p.m. Dec. 23 to discuss the city boat dock lease at Lake Linville. The lease is currently held by James Hale and is up for renewal on Dec. 31. A committee will contact Hale in the meantime to determine his intentions, and to inform him of the council's intentions.

The council voted to approve a one-year lease on its building at Lake Linville to the Rockcastle Coon Club which now leases the building for $350 annually.

As usual, there will be free parking at parking meters in the city during the Christmas shopping season.

dumpsters in the county. Once the program is in place, the dumpsters will be removed. The plan as set out in the memorandum is countywide and will eventually include the three cities. Kentucky Book Fair

If it showed anything else about it did this year's Kentucky Book Fair in Frankfort showed that the event is an occasion of great consequence in literary and artistic circles not only in Kentucky but far beyond our borders.

Few would have predicted five years ago that the Fair would become what it is today. Run by a handful of unpaid volunteers and receiving its primary support from the Frankfort State Journal the first Kentucky Book Fair took place in 1982 with some people saying, "How are you going to get an nationally recognized author to come to Frankfort and spend the day signing a few books." Today big-time authors having seen the evolution of the Fair, are asking to come to Frankfort for book signings.

This year, in seven hours the Book Fair Committee sold nearly $52,000 worth of books at a 20 and 25 percent discount.

There is a perception these days that, with most families possessing two or three television sets, we're reading any more. This is not necessarily the case as indicated by the success of the Kentucky Book Fair. The doors opened at 10 in the morning and minutes later the lobby of the Department for Libraries and Archives Building was flooded with people shopping for books autographed by writers like David Eisenhower, Harrison Salisbury, William S. White, Jane Muskie and Abigail McCarthy. By the end of the day over 20 authors sold all the books they had on hand. People may be watching television, but they haven't given up reading.

Antlered doe is killed in Butler

About once each year a deer which biologically female but has male characteristics is harvested in Kentucky during deer season.

This unusual occurrence was reported this season in Butler County where 16-year Timmy Grise of Lewisburg downed an 11-point antlered doe November 11. The deer field dressed at 175 pounds, had a 13-inch inside spread from antler to antler and 21 1/2-inch main beams, according to Butler County Conservation Officer Kenny Kemp.

An antlered doe of this size is not found often, according to Randy Hedges, southwestern Wildlife district biologist with the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. Hedges explained this phenomenon happens occasionally, yet most of the antlered does he has observed have considerable small racks and weigh closer to 100 pounds (live weight), like the average doe.

There are two main reasons why some does have antlers. One is that occasionally a doe may be born with genetic make-up of XX chromosomes, instead of the normal XX female chromosomes. Male deer have XY chromosomes normally. This could give does some characteristics of a buck, such as antlers or a heavier body build.

A more common reason for this uncommon occurrence is a hormonal imbalance in the female deer. The underproduction of estrogen, a female hormone, or the overproduction of testosterone, a male hormone, could produce the same effects as an XY chromosome might. Hedges said most antlered does with an extra chromosome are incapable of reproduction and probably would have antlers each year as bucks do.

Those antlered does which have hormonal imbalance will sometimes overcome it, return to normal hormone production, and may or may not have a rack each year. Most does with this type of disorder are able to bear young.

Grise's particular deer would seem to fall in the "extra chromosome" category, based on the knowledge of weight and antler development, but this is not known for certain. Whatever the reason, Grise was happy to have taken an antlered deer well above the average size buck taken by most deer hunters.

Grise said he was surprised to find his deer was a doe after checking the deer. "I didn't know whether to check it or not," said Grise of his first deer. He took the deer along a grain field on a ridge top of his own farm.

A situation like Grise's is one reason why deer regulations refer to "antlered or antlerless" deer instead of bucks and does when defining legal deer. Antlers don't always mean bucks, but any deer with antlers four inches or more in length is legal when the regulation specifies "antlered deer only."

The deer will probably qualify for the Kentucky State Record Deer List for trophy does, but this has not been determined to date.

There are currently two antlered does on the top twenty list of does by field dressed weight. The top spot on the list is currently held by Wayne Wess of Bardwell with a 161-pound antlered doe taken in Carlisle County. Slot number 20 is shared by William Moore of Louisville who took a 127-pound antlered doe in Shelby County in 1982. Grise's doe was most likely place him high on the list, if verified, and will long be remembered as a special deer.

"KY. BOOK FAIR"

It's no simple job to bring together a large number of noted authors from around the country for a November day in Frankfort. This responsibility is carried out by a committee of volunteers, chaired by Carl West, director of the Frankfort State Journal. When West worked for the United Press International as a Washington correspondent he was involved with the National Press Club Book Fair. He brought the idea of a book fair back to Kentucky and convinced the publisher of The State Journal, Al Dix, to give his blessing and financial support. A Book Fair Committee, Inc. was established and with cooperation from the State Department for Libraries and Archives the event got underway. Some financial assistance has also been provided by interested Kentucky businesses. With everyone donating time and money to the production the Fair has shown an increase of profits each year. And what do they do with the profits? They give it away, in the form of book grants to Kentucky's school/academic and public libraries. The day before this year's Fair $7,000 was distributed to ten deserving libraries.

And so goes the Kentucky Book Fair. If you missed this last one plan for the next. Mark your calendar for the Saturday before Thanksgiving (Nov. 21, 1987), and join us for this very special event.

Ag chief expresses optimism

Kentucky Agriculture Commissioner David Boswell expressed optimism today for the continued high demand for Kentucky burley-tobacco, in the wake of an announcement that the Government of Taiwan has agreed to open its markets to American cigarettes.

This development gives the United States burley farmers and cigarette manufacturers access to 70,000 Taiwanese stores and shops and can only mean that Kentucky farmers can head into next year's planting season with good reason to be optimistic about an international need for their product, Commissioner Boswell said.

Burley tobacco is the number one Kentucky cash crop, expected this year to bring about a half-billion dollars in the auction sales currently underway across Kentucky. Kentucky farmers have a sales quota of 313 million pounds for which buyers are currently paying about $1.59 a pound.

The eight state Burley Belt, the 465 million pounds offered for sale are expected to gross $770 million across the nation, tobacco is the sixth leading cash crop.

Commissioner Boswell recently received a letter from the United States Department of Agriculture of three cents per pound in government price supports for the most commonly sold grades of burley tobacco. The announcement that Taiwan has relaxed restrictions on American cigarettes and other products may somewhat soften that blow, Commissioner Boswell said, "but the price support cutback still seems to be having a definite smothering effect on our burley sales, and I have very carefully communicated my displeasure about that and the disappointment of the entire Kentucky burley production and sales industry to Washington."

Kentucky sales of burley are bringing slightly more than $1.58 per pound. This is two to three cents per pound less than had been expected prior to the start of sales.

Commissioner Boswell is optimistic that a great deal more commerce in Kentucky farm products with Asian countries is in the near future. He points to the recent visit by a Taiwanese delegation this year and its purchase of substantial amounts of burley, soybeans and corn.

"I believe we can expect the government of South Korea to expand its need for Kentucky burley and other farm commodities, as well," said Commissioner Boswell. "We have recently participated with South Korean representatives in the purchase and shipment of 112 Kentucky thoroughbred horses and there is word from Washington that Seoul has recently lifted its ban on foreign tobacco products."

"That cannot help but bode very well for the Kentucky farmer and for the Kentucky economy," Commissioner Boswell concluded.

Report to Kentucky

SENATOR WENDELL FORD
U.S. Senate, Washington, D.C. 20510

NEW CONGRESS HISTORIC FOR KENTUCKY

November 20, 1986 was a big day for me, and an historic one as well. Since the nation's voters returned control of the Senate to Democrats, I was designated on that day to become chairman of the Senate Committee on Rules and Administration for the 100th Congress. This is the first time in more than a century that a Kentuckian has been selected to chair a major Senate committee.

According to the Senate Historian's Office, not since the pre-Civil War days of Henry Clay and John J. Crittenden has a Kentucky senator held a major committee chairmanship. Those two senators, respectively, chaired the equivalent of today's Foreign Relations and Finance Committees.

The Senate operates on a seniority system, and my ranking among 100 senators will be 28. This means I will be in a better position than ever to work for Kentucky.

In addition to chairing the Rules Committee, I will also chair subcommittees of both the Energy and Commerce Committees. I will have a greater hand in shaping policies related to matters such as coal research and transportation. In addition to representing Kentucky's interests, I also have several national concerns which can now be addressed more fully. One of these is my conviction that the United States should adopt a two-year budget cycle, rather than continuing to limp along with an annual cycle which clearly is no longer working. Our government has become too large, and each penny too precious, to continue to rubber-stamp spending in the manner the current process often requires.

The Rules Committee, by law, is responsible for recommending improvements "with a view toward strengthening the Congress, simplifying its operations, improving its relationships with other branches of the United States Government, and enabling it to better meet its responsibilities under the Constitution of the United States." In my opinion, a two-year budget cycle certainly meets these criteria. We must bring the federal budget under control, and a biennial cycle would allow the careful oversight demanded by the Campaign reform is another issue under the jurisdiction of the Rules Committee. The public seems weary of the negative campaigning and disguised by the increasing need for huge sums of money to win elections. There are many worthwhile proposals already concerning

Other responsibilities of the Rules Committee are varied. For example, it was that committee which directed procedures surrounding the recent impeachment of Harry Calhoun, a federal judge from Nevada. The committee also oversees administration of the Senate Office of Buildings and the Senate wing of the Capitol, including the assignment of office space; congressional organization relative to rules and procedures; and federal elections, including the election of the President, Vice President and Members of the Congress.

Coincidentally, as designated chairman of the Rules Committee, I will also chair the Joint Committee on the Library - a minor committee chaired in 1946 by Kentucky's Alben Barkley while he was Senate Majority Leader. This committee has jurisdiction over the Library of Congress, the Congressional Research Service, art in the U.S. Capitol, the Botanic Gardens, and other matters overseen by the Architect of the Capitol.

The Rules Committee chairmanship also means vice-chairmanship of the Joint Committee on Printing. This panel oversees and directs work of the Government Printing Office.

There are many challenges. But these are opportunities for finding ways to put our nation on a sound fiscal footing, while tending to other urgent matters in our domestic and foreign policies. I look forward to its beginning in January.
