FRANCES H. BURNETT'S

"A LITTLE PRINCESS"

"A Little Princess." Frances Hodgson Burnett's classic story of a little rich girl who overnight becomes a penniless orphan in Victorian England, airs in three consecutive parts on "Wonderworks," beginning Saturday, Feb. 21, at 8 p.m.

"Wonderworks." "A Little Princess" will repeat Sundays at 11 a.m., beginning Feb. 22.

Sara Crewe (Amelia Shankley) is brought from India to England and placed in Miss Minchin's Select Seminary for Young Ladies by her dying father, Captain Crewe (David Welland). At the exclusive school, Sara's talents and her father's fortune, earn her a place as star pupil. Her lively imagination, gift for storytelling, capacity for making friends, along with her French maid and huge wardrobe, arouse fascination and envy not only in the hearts of the other students but also in Miss Minchin (Maureen Lipman).

Before sending Sara to school, Captain Crewe makes a business deal with Carrisford (Nigel Havers), an old friend. The investment turns out to be ill-advised and Captain Crewe dies suddenly after having lost his entire fortune. Miss Minchin sends his "little princess," Sara to live in the attic and she is reduced to working as a drudge to pay her debts.

While Sara is toiling away under the mean-spirited Miss Minchin, Carrisford recovers the lost fortune and conducts an exhaustive search for Crewe's daughter. He and his Indian servant Ram Dass, move to England with their possessions, which include Captain Crewe's statue of the Indian god "Kali." Ironically, their new home is located next door to Miss Minchin's seminary.

"Wonderworks" is produced by WQED Pittsburgh.

TWO-PART "FRONTLINE" EXAMINES EFFORTS TO STAMP OUT DRUGS ON KET

Ron Burns lost a scholarship and an education. Mike Kelly lost a business. Jay Arkeen lost two businesses and $500,000 in real estate, and Debbie Studer lost her son, all because they took drugs.

"Frontline Drugs," a two-part Frontline presentation with Jack Woodruff will air Thursday, Feb. 12 and 19, at 9 p.m. The first part reveals the personal stories of four addicts who want to get off and stay off. "Frontline: A journey into America's search to find out if drugs are a major problem and if anti-drug efforts really work is the focus of the second part.

Inside a run-down wooden building 20 miles south of Austin, Texas is Recovery, Evaluation and Treatment (REAT), a non-profit, 21-day drug treatment center for addicts with nothing left to lose. A list shows hopeful candidates for the program waiting up to two months to enter. There has not been a vacancy in eight years.

"Frontline" follows four addicts through 21 days of treatment and reveals the shocking fact that only one will make it.

"Stopping Drugs Part II," profiles those trying to make drug prevention work in the schools and at home.

KET AND ASHLAND OIL FOUNDATION TO HONOR TEACHERS FOR USE OF INSTRUCTIONAL TELEVISION

Teachers know that half the battle of relaying concepts to students is keeping their attention. One effective way to present concepts and supplement existing curricula is to teach with television.

To recognize educational excellence across Kentucky, and to salute teachers with outstanding classroom use of instructional television, KET and the Ashland Oil Foundation established the Teaching With Television Awards. KET is accepting entries now through March 1 for the Teaching

With Television Awards. The fifth annual competition is open to all teachers and school librarians throughout Kentucky who have used KET's instructional programming lineup this year.

An additional award is given to a school's coordinator, or media specialist, who has encouraged, promoted and facilitated the use of instructional television in an exceptional way. Teachers and media specialists will be announced in late March.

Judging for the awards is done in two parts: KET's instructional television utilization staff judges the entries. Each staff member excludes those entries from his or her individual region. Following the initial judging, representatives from Mississippi Educational Television select six teachers and one media specialist from the finalists as recipients of the Teaching With Television Awards. Winners receive a choice of either a television set and stand or a VCR for their classroom.

The recipients also will be featured in a special documentary produced by KET and slated to air in May.

If you would like more information or entry forms, contact KET/Instructional Television, 600 Cooper Drive, Lexington, Ky. 40501, or call 233-3000.

Grand Jury indicts six

Six indictments ranging from manslaughter to changing a $5 bill to a $50 bill were handed down by the Rockcastle County Grand Jury last Friday.

Danny R. Dillingham, 35, of Brodhead, and Darrell W. Dillingham, 33, of Mt. Vernon, were indicted on first degree manslaughter charges for a December incident in which their father John W. Dillingham died.

Both men are free on a $25,000 bond until their arraignment in Circuit Court on Feb. 13.

David Daum of Rt. 1, Brodhead, was indicted on a first degree wanton endangerment charge after he allegedly shot at David Lee, of Willalla, on Nov. 18, 1986. Daum is free on $5,000 bond awaiting arraignment.

Ottie Kirby, of Rt. 4, Mt. Vernon, was indicted on two counts, wanton and endangerment in the first degree and receiving stolen property valued at over $100.

The wanton endangerment charge resulted from a Dec. 16, 1986 incident in which Kirby allegedly drew a pistol on Darryl McNew and threatened to kill him, according to court records.

The second charge against Kirby was for allegedly taking two sets of wheels and axles from Glenn Mullins. He is free on a $25,000 property bond.

Glenn Mink of Rt. 4, Mt. Vernon, was indicted for changing a $5 bill to a $50 bill and passing it at Denny's Grocery on Ky. 461.

He is free on bond until a Feb. 13 arraignment.

Mason suit trial set

A Feb. 5 trial date has been set by Circuit Judge Dan Venters to hear the law suit filed with the Rockcastle County Board of Education and David and Gail Mason and their son, Chris, a student.

The Masons brought suit against the board of education last week after Chris was suspended from school for 10 days following a fight he had on school grounds with William Smith, another student. Both boys are seniors at RCHS.

The Masons filed their suit because they believe their son was being treated unfairly. He has not missed a day of school since he started the first grade.

Gillum files candidacy

Robert E. Gillum officially announced his candidacy Tuesday for Commonwealth Attorney in Rockcastle and Pulaski Counties.

Appearing before a group of supporters at the Rockcastle County Courthouse he stated his platform and outlined his campaign plan.

He plans to visit as many people in Rockcastle and Pulaski Counties as possible so they can get to know him better and he can find out their views on the job of Commonwealth Attorney.

Gillum is married to Frances Sanders Gillum. They have three children. He is a graduate of the University of Kentucky College of Law. Gillum has served five years active duty in the U.S. Army and has eighteen years service in the Army Reserves, presently holding the rank of Major. He is a member of the District Committee, Boy Scouts of America, Rotary Club, Chamber of Commerce, "Just Say No" Prevention of Drug Use Steering Committee and a lifetime member of the Disabled American Veterans.

Gillum has been legal counsel for the Pulaski County Republican Gene Gray was not too busy Sunday morning cleaning off Emmie's T & M Market's parking lot for a semi and a 'wreave'.

First major snowfall covers county

The first major snowfall of the season descended on Rockcastle County last weekend when a total of 6.1 inches fell, as recorded at the Cow Futrell Home weather station.

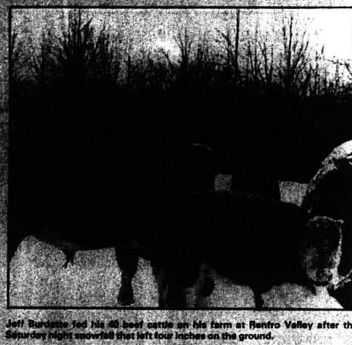

Two more inches of snow fell Wednesday morning, the heaviest snowfall of the season.

Schools closed Friday because of icy conditions and some snow and were still closed at press-time Wednesday. It was the first time this winter that schools have had "snow days."

The great snow fell Saturday evening beginning late and continuing into Sunday with some sleet mixed in with the mess.

The coldest temperature of the winter was Tuesday morning when it dropped to 5 below zero. Some Mt. Vernon residents reported 10 below.

House approves Ky. 461 money

A total of $16 million in federal highway funds for Ky. 461 in Rockcastle and Pulaski Counties has been approved by the U.S. House of Representatives, according to an announcement by U.S. Representative Harold Rogers.

Rogers said the funding is included as part of a multi-billion-dollar Surface Transportation Bill, which was approved by the House last Wednesday evening.

"This road is vital to our future development of the Big South Fork and Lake Cumberland areas," said Rogers. "Last year, we got similar funding approved by the House, but the legislation died in a House-Senate conference committee. This year, I am hopeful we can get the money approved when a new conference is held in the next few weeks with the Senate."

The Senate is expected to act on similar legislation shortly.

"Ky. 461 is a key to economic development and job creation for our area," Rogers said. "It has been designated by the state as the northern entrance off Interstate 175 for the Big South Fork. And it can also become the major route of commerce in and out of the Lake Cumberland region. I will continue to press for final approval of these federal funds to help us finish the work on Highway 461."

City council hears about delay in sewer plant work

By: Ray McClure

A March 19 date to begin operations at the new sewer plant at Mt. Vernon was officially scrubbed at a called meeting of the city council Monday night.

"It looks like June before the plant will be operational," the city's consultant, Bill Hank, told the council.

He said failure by Eric Construction of Dayton, Ohio, to receive critical equipment is the reason the $1.9 million plant is delayed.

He added that the company will update the project specifically at the council's Jan. 9 meeting possibly at a work session at 6 p.m. Monday.

Hardly stated a work session is needed to iron out details of operations and decide on a staff as soon as possible plus the amount of money needed to operate the facility efficiently. The base water sewer rate now $6.75 a month is expected to be increased. No amount has been announced.

Also at the meeting, Bill Oetzer of the state's training and certification program for waste water plants discussed staff and operations at the plant.

He told the council not to skimp on personnel because it could eventually become costly for the city. For example, the plant should fail to meet state standards through inefficient operations, if fully known as part of comppany. He suggested the city needs at least five, perhaps six, employees to operate the plant round the clock two for the first shift, two for the second and one for the graveyard shift. The council has already named Jim Ricketts as plant operator.

Oetzer told the council in some cases it has been difficult for small cities to operate their plants where large facilities have been constructed.

They suddenly find they cannot afford the plant and are saddled with a large debt. Oetzer said. He also said that regardless of problems, there are stringent laws and requirements that put a real burden on small communities.

He related that in some cases small cities have had to look abroad for some kind of clean industry or business to take up the slack.

At the last report, the city's total grant for its sewer expansion program was $1,433,905 with the city furnishing an additional $481,102.

Also at the meeting, Jack Crum, head of Engineers & Crafted of Paducah, engineers for the city's $200,000 water plant upgrade and expansion told the council the city needs a new site for its planned additional water line and named three sites that would be acceptable.

Senior citizen organization gets adult day care money

A grant of about $42,000 to begin a program of adult day care has been awarded to the Rockcastle Senior Citizens program by the Kentucky Division for Aging Services of the Human Resources Cabinet.

According to Henry Meene, see, aging services coordinator for the Cumberland Valley Area Development District, the Rockcastle program should be operational by March under the local direction of Shirley Cummins.

Basically, three persons, including Mrs. Cummins, will operate the day care program. Adults with "some distinction" are eligible for the program.

"Persons who have adults who need supervision may enroll them in the day care program while they work or sleep and do necessary chores," Meene said. "This is less expensive than if the adult has to be institutionalized. They can remain independent and continue to live in their own home as long as possible."

The money from the state will be used to furnish various services including transportation for clients to the facility at Brodhead and meals. There may also be a need for changes at the facility to accommodate the clients, obtain different furnishings and acquire instructional supplies.

The past Kentucky Legislature voted to fund more programs for senior citizens. The Human

Letters

Dear Editor:

I went to church this morning, but not for the usual reason that most people go.

I went to see that the Pine Hill Pentacostal Holiness Church not tear my fence down with the snow they push off the parking lot. They have all kinds of room of put it somewhere else with all the land they have around the church that they bought to put it on. If this is being a Christian I don't want to be one. I will die and go to Hell with the rest of the honest people who know what's theirs and what belongs to someone else.

I'm not a Christian, but I know a Christian is not going to do one wrong or make life tough on their neighbor. What I've got, I got the hard way and I'm proud of it. If you think I'm lying then check with P.C.A. they will tell you the same. Tell Mr. Hensley to come and talk with me about this matter.

Thank you,

Rambblings . . .

By: Perlina Anderkin

My husband kept saying, "We haven't had any snow yet, I can't believe it." I kept saying, "Thank goodness, don't tempt the Gods." Anyway, as you know, the snow arrived Saturday night and it was nervous time. We had one on the way to northern Kentucky from a ballgame near Knoxville, and one on the way here from the same ballgame. We finally got all (seven) in a safe place then the one (lawn) who had come here Saturday night took off very early Sunday morning with her fiancée to the church in Lawrenceburg where he is youth minister and we had to worry again until they arrived back in Grayson late Sunday night.

We drove to Grayson Monday and I was dressed for the occasion -- gum boots, earmuffs, leather

"FIRST SNOWFALL"

Up until Saturday the county had been lucky, missing the big amounts that buried the eastern seaboard in over a foot a few days before. But a second storm started in Texas Thursday and moved across Tennessee Saturday and Sunday with southern Kentucky in its path.

Even with 6 inches, Rockcastle was spared the heavier snowfalls. Whitesburg had 12 inches; Clay County over 8; Hazard over 7; McKee over 7 and London over 6. Middlesboro, closer to the low pressure area, only had just over an inch. Roanoke, Va., had 23 inches.

The Weather Bureau was predicting warmer temperatures for Wednesday and Thursday with rain, then colder on the weekend, but not as cold as the past few days.

A fire believed caused by a faulty flue destroyed the home of Joe Hensley about 2 a.m. Tuesday on Saltpetre Cave Road in The Mt. Vernon Volunteer Fire Department managed to save three small outbuildings. The house was engulfed in flames when firemen arrived.

Over the past few days, firemen extinguished a fire in a flue at the home of Lonzo Bullock, but were unable to save a car owned by Clinton McCowan at Carrier Ridge.

"Adult Day Care"

Resources Cabinet then chose to fund one day care program in each of the state's 15 districts through competitive bidding by senior citizens groups. Rockcastle's program was accepted after a review by the state. The money is for 18 months.

"Being awarded funds for the Rockcastle program is something the local group can be proud of," Managrip said. "It will certainly be beneficial to many persons who are taking care of adults in their homes and who need to work and do chores during the day. It will certainly reduce institutional care."

"State Police Report"

Post at London.

Eighteen persons were cited for driving under the influence of intoxicants; 64 courtesy notices for faulty equipment.

There were 36 traffic accidents with 12 personal injury accidents, and 24 property damage only. There were no fatal accidents.

There were 24 criminal investigations resulting in 14 arrests. In the post area, officers issued a total of 1,198 traffic citations, 98 driving under the influence, and 237 traffic accidents, and four fatalities.

into the job of commonwealth attorney. His years as a lawyer, both in the Army and in practice in Somerset has convinced him that it is vitally important that the person the crime has been committed against, the victim, receives the very best representation and protection of our Court system.

"I never go to court that I don't thank God for our justice system," he said. "But, I believe, in the last few years, some aspects of the system have slipped out of balance. We seem too concerned about the rights of the criminal and not concerned enough about the rights and protection of the good citizens that crime has been committed against."

"Sewer Plant Work"

The city had planned to construct the tank at its present site on Town Hill, but that site is proving too cramped. Crawford reported.

He said the city also may need to increase the amount it will have to borrow for the project. The city is seeking a $150,000 block grant for the project. The city would have to come up with $150,000 in matching funds.

"Mason Suit"

issued by Judge Venters last week, was dissolved during a preliminary hearing last Friday. Mason will be allowed to attend school until after the trial next Thursday, according to school board attorney Carl Clontz. Clontz reported that a mutual agreement has been reached between he and the Mason's attorney, Karen Christman of London.

Rockets find themselves snow-bound

When it snows it pours for the basketball coaches at Rockcastle County High School.

The problems created by the recent snow are deeper than simply lost practice time and canceled games. Come February, it may take a little scheduling wizardry for the coaches to squeeze in all the make-up games without wearing out their players.

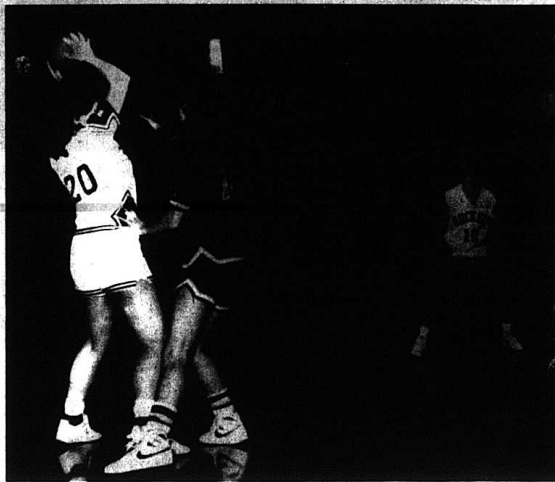

"It gives you time to rest, but in the month of February you'll be playing three and four times a week," said boys' coach David Perkins. "That wears you down."

"We were already filled up in February and now we've got three games to add to that," said Preston Parrett, the girls' coach. "It really makes a big problem."

Even though school wasn't in session Tuesday, the boys' team was set to play at Harboursville and the girls' team at Lincoln County when it started snowing again.

It was the second postponement in a week for the boys' team

6th annual

Eight teams will play in Brodhead Tourney starting February 2

By: Willie Hiatt

The Brodhead Invitational Tournament not only showcases eight 7th and 8th grade boys teams, it also blends in-county rivalries with out-of-county competition to create an exciting basketball atmosphere.

The sixth annual tournament will be played Feb. 2-7 at the Brodhead Elementary School.

"It is important for Mt. Vernon because we try to keep the old high school rivalry going," said Mt. Vernon Elementary coach Jerry Pensol, whose team won the tournament last year. "It's a real good tournament. It's good for the kids."

The first round schedule is as follows: On Monday, Feb. 2, Meeks Middle School meets Roundstone at 7 p.m. and Science Hill plays Mt. Vernon at 8:15 and on Tuesday, Feb. 3, Tyner meets Unionson at 7 and Broughton meets Meeks at 8:15.

The semifinal games will be played on Thursday, Feb. 5 at 7 and #15. The consolation game is scheduled for Saturday, Feb. 7 at 7, followed by the championship game at 8:15.

The semifinal games will be played on Thursday, Feb. 5 at 7 and #15. The consolation game is scheduled for Saturday, Feb. 7 at 7, followed by the championship game at 8:15.

"(The boys) get to play in front of about 700 people," Pensol said, "plus there's a lot of individual recognition."

The tournament drawing cards include Selection of an All-Tournament team and a Most Valuable Player; trophies for the top four teams and top four cheerleading squads; gold and silver basketballs for the members of the winning and runner-up teams; respectively, and gold and silver megaphones for members of the winning and runner-up cheerleading squads, respectively.

Pensol, whose team is 2-2 this season against county schools, said Meeks is probably the team to beat in the tournament this year.

Happiness is a handshake

By: Keith Steer
 (Reprinted from the Berea Citizen)

Shaking hands is a simple gesture. Most people do it several times a day without even thinking about it. One could say it is an act which often taken for granted.

That may be true in most cases, but not where Bill Powell is concerned. It's quite likely the 45-year old Mr. Vernon man will find it hard to refrain from shouting with joy each time he shakes hands. The reason for his enthusiasm is a horrible accident which could have left him permanently disabled or even dead—but it didn't.

Powell is the dormitory maintenance supervisor at Berea College and a part time farmer. Bill and his wife Chrystal recently learned up with their son Billy Dase and his wife Angie, to purchase a farm in Rockcastle County.

Last year on Friday, Oct. 3, Powell had gotten off work early at the college and headed for home. He wanted to get some hay baled before dark. Bill wasn't accustomed to having company on such outings, especially when his son was still at work. But on this day Chrystal, his 20-year-old daughter Penny, and her friend Sherra Coffey, also 20, went with him. He would be glad they did.

After leaving Mr. and Mrs. Powell in the field, Penny and Sherra took the car up the road about a quarter of a mile to a "nose" marked by Chrystal's father. Bill and his wife started baling hay some 400 yards from the road.

They were just about through the field when there was still an unfinished bale in the baler. The machine was about a partial bale so Bill went back to take into the baler to finish the bale. Chrystal, who has never seen her father in action, the machine started operating. It took her a moment to realize where it chopped and packed tightly into bales.

Everything was going along just fine until Powell grabbed a handful of hay which contained some vines. As he began feeding it into the machine, he was unaware that a vine had tightened around his right arm.

In the blink of an eye, the baler grabbed the vine and yanked Bill's arm to the left, in front of him and into the cutter. Before Powell had a chance to react, the chopping mechanism had severed his right hand near the center of his palm.

"My God Chrystal," he announced in a rather calm tone. "This thing has cut off my hand."

His wife didn't take the news as well. When she turned and saw the bloody stub which was gushing with every beat of Bill's heart, she started screaming "No, No, No." She yelled so loud that a neighbor thought it was a siren.

Powell's initial reaction was the realization that he would be left with a stub at the end of his right arm.

Chrystal said her first thought was to get to the girls and the car. But when she started to take off, Bill shouted, "Don't leave me or I'll bleed to death."

So his wife wrapped her arms around her injured mate and they began to run toward the road. Enroute, Chrystal tried to stem the massive flow of blood by wrapping the stump in her T-shirt.

Chrystal began hollering at passing cars trying to get them to stop, but no one did. Eventually, the loss of blood forced Bill to stop and lie down while his wife continued on toward the girls.

Penny heard the commotion and began running toward her mother. As she got closer, she could tell her mother was saying the word "car." Sherra brought the vehicle to Penny who took it into the field to Chrystal, who drove it through a ditch to the spot where her husband was lying.

After getting Bill into the car, the quartet drove back to the road. Waiting on the pavement was a woman who had stopped her car to witness what was happening. She told Mrs. Powell to turn on the emergency flashers in the car and take Bill to the hospital in Mt. Vernon.

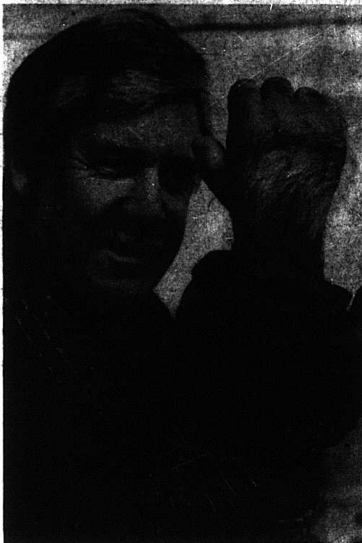

While Chrystal drove the winding stretch of road at about 70 miles per hour, Penny found a spare T-shirt in the back seat and put it on her mother.

Unbelievably, in the midst of all that was happening, Mrs. Powell suddenly remembered an article she had read five years ago in the Berea Citizen. It was about Edgar Johnson, who had lost a hand in a silage chopper. The gist of the story was that the severed limb was saved by re-constructive surgery.

Chrystal realized someone would have to retrieve Bill's hand.

1987 basic burley quotas expected to be lowered

The six major American cigarette manufacturing companies have told the U.S. Department of Agriculture that they plan to purchase 10 million pounds less burley tobacco this year than in 1986, thus adding weight to predictions that the 1987 basic crop quota will be reduced by the maximum of 6 percent.

The 3.3 percent decrease in intended purchases by the companies would total 293.7 million pounds, compared to 303.7 million pounds expected to be purchased from the '86 crop. An audit will be held by USDA later this year after the market closes to determine the exact amount of the 1986 crop purchased by the companies. Recent legislation provides that companies have to purchase at least 90 percent of their stated intentions, or face penalties.

The quota by law has to be set by Feb. 1, and since that date falls on a Sunday it is expected to be announced on Friday, Jan. 30. Robert Miller, a USDA representative, told directors of the Burley Tobacco Growers Cooperative Association and other burley industry leaders last week that figures involved in establishing the basic quota for 1987 indicate the maximum cut if company's expectations of purchases remained the same as the previous year.

Miller, a tobacco-peanuts group leader and agricultural economist in the Commodity Analysis Division of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service of USDA, said reductions in intended purchases by these companies would add additional needs for the maximum reductions in the basic quota.

Prior to Miller's presentation of his figures, however, directors of the cooperative association went on record as favoring basic quotas to remain the same as in 1986.

Miller said that under a government formula, farmers' basic quotas this year would total 464 million pounds, or a drop of 29.5 million pounds compared to the 493.5 million established in 1986. He said that based on burley supplies and other factors in figuring quotas, it would be justified lowering quotas by 15 percent if not limited to the maximum of 6 percent for the next three years. After that, the maximum cut increases to 10 percent.

On the other hand, effective quotas -- quotas farmers are actually allowed to market -- are expected to increase this year, compared to 1986. Many farmers were not able to produce their 1986 quota because of dry weather. They will be allowed to make up the underproduction in 1987. Last year's effective quota of 488.5 million pounds is expected to increase by 55 million pounds to 543.5 million this year, or a 12.5 percent increase.

Miller also said the price support for burley would most likely be reduced by one-tenth of a cent a pound, or from $148.80 a hundredweight to $148.70 in 1987. He said calculations of lower costs of production initiated the lower support price.

Sales of burley through Jan. 18 total 409.7 million net pounds. The Lexington market, usually the last one open for the season in the belt, has set Wednesday, Feb. 4 as its last regular scheduled sale this year.

Dairymen are producing more milk/milk prods.

U.S. dairymen produce more milk and milk products than consumers buy. As a result, government programs that buy up excess supplies are used to stabilize the industry.

But dairy programs may change in the future, according to University of Kentucky agricultural economist, Craig Infanger and Robert Beck.

"A sentiment to control the supply of milk through mandatory quotas seems to be growing, especially among some congressmen who feel that the government is spending too much on dairy programs," Infanger said.

Under most versions of the quota notion being discussed,

KU proposes to lower rates

Electric rates for all retail customers would be reduced by 99 cents per kilowatt hour, a proposal filed Monday is approved by the Kentucky Public Service Commission.

The proposed new rates would be implemented in two phases and would reduce the average residential customer's monthly bill by a total of about $1.04 when fully effective.

The new rates reflect the effects of the Federal Tax Reform Act of 1986, in accord with the PSC's order of Dec. 11. Phase one each farmer would be allocated a marketing quota, based on past production. He would be able to receive some governmental support for the milk he produces within his quota, but any overproduction would be penalized through considerably lower prices for that milk, Infanger said.

Because consumer demand for milk does not increase substantially when it becomes cheaper, the supply/demand function does not work particularly well in curbing overproduction, Beck said.

Basically, the quota system would attempt to assure that the supply of milk is more in balance with demand by estimating demand and then allocating a proportional share to each dairyman," Beck said.

Before dairymen decide whether a proposed quota system would be a favorable one, they need to find out the particulars of it, Infanger said.

Among the particulars dairymen need to consider are how the quotas will be allocated, what the level of payment for the milk and excess milk will be, and how quotas will be transferred from one dairyman to another, Infanger said.

Infanger and Beck have organized a publication that addresses the question of mandatory supply management in dairying that is available by writing them at Department of Agricultural Economics, 500 Agricultural Science Building South, University of Kentucky, Lexington, KY 40546.

rates would be in effect from March 1 through Dec. 31, 1987. The average residential and phase two rates with the total decrease would become effective on Jan. 1, 1988.

Commenting about the rate reduction, President W.B. Beckhman stated, "KU's rates are already among the lowest in the nation and this rate reduction continues to keep us in a position of providing very favorable rates for our customers."

For the 10 months remaining in 1987, the average residential customer's monthly bill would be reduced by 99 cents, reflecting the tax changes for the full 12 months of the year. With the rates proposed for 1988 and following years, the average residential bill would be lowered an additional 5 cents to reflect the tax changes that would become effective Jan. 1.

The Company's annual revenue for 1987 would be reduced approximately $9.7 million as a result of the phase one rates. For 1988 and subsequent years, KU's annual revenues would be an additional $3.3 million. Total annual revenue reductions would be about $13 million, or 2.85 percent.

KU provides electric service to 362,500 customers in communities and rural areas in 77 counties in Western, Central, Northern, and Southeastern Kentucky.

FAT FACTS
Reporter: Elizabeth T. Mullins

As I eat "Fat Can Be Healthy" in a health magazine, it gave me great comfort.

Of course, too much fat increases one's susceptibility to heart disease. Diabetes fat people have an advantage over skinny ones in one respect. It seems that the overweight have stronger and sturdier bones.

Fat people also lose less bone tissue as they grow old. Osteoporosis is less among heavy people than those of normal weight. (Cont. to 14) of Americans. Served piping hot as a main dish or chilled in a salad or soup, potatoes can be served at any meal.

The average American eats 114 pounds of potatoes every year. At approximately three potatoes to a pound, that's 342 per person - or practically a spud a day.

A medium-sized potato offers 50 percent of our Recommended Daily Allowance for vitamin C, 15 percent of vitamin B6 and iodine, 8 percent for thiamine and iron. Best of all, a medium potato has only 110 calories, no fat or cholesterol and very little sodium. Plus potatoes are an excellent source of fiber, and of carbohydrates, the body's best energy source.

No time to cook? Consider these time saving tips:
--Eat your potatoes with the peels on. You'll not only save time, but you'll add extra fiber, vitamins and nutrition.
--Use the microwave. You can cook a potato in as little as 4 minutes.
--If baking in a conventional oven, cut the potato in half lengthwise, place them cut side down on a lightly greased cookie sheet and bake; they will be done in half the time.
--Cut potatoes can be steamed or boiled in less time than whole ones.
--Cook extra potatoes ahead of time and store them in loosely covered bowl in the refrigerator. Use them in the next few days in salads, casseroles, or soups.
--Use leftover potatoes for hot home fries and hash browns.
--For a quick and easy meal, top a baked potato with a "boil in a bag" topping, i.e. chili, vegetables in cheese sauce, or meat in gravy.
--Try "skinny" french fries. Peel and slice potatoes into strips. Sprinkle with a tablespoon or two of salad oil and bake on a cookie sheet at 450 F, turn frequently for 30-40 minutes.
--Don't refrigerate potatoes. Below 40 F potatoes will develop a sweet taste, the result of an accumulation of sugars in the potato. These sugars cause the potato to darken when cooked.

Civil Action, File No. 86-CI-121

The Bank of Mt. Vernon

Plaintiff

v. NOTICE OF SALE

Kim C. Moses and wife,
Mary E. Moses

Defendants

By virtue of an execution fieri facias directed to me and issued from the Rockcastle Circuit Court Clerk's office in this matter in favor of The Bank of Mt. Vernon against Kim C. Moses and wife, Mary E. Moses, I will on Friday, February 13, 1987, at the hour of 11:00 o'clock a.m. at the Rockcastle County Courthouse door in Mt. Vernon, Kentucky expose to public sale to the highest bidder the following described real property to satisfy said execution and the costs thereon, to wit:

Located in Rockcastle County, Kentucky on the west side of U.S. Highway No. 25 and more particularly bounded and described as follows:

Beginning at a rock corner in Smith's line running southeast by a walnut tree about 25 feet from corner 300 feet to a rock corner; thence a straight line to Highway No. 25; thence with Highway No. 25 right of way to a culvert; thence a straight line to the beginning and containing one (1) acre, more or less.

Defendants obtained title to said real property by deed dated July 24, 1986, executed by Tessie Childress in record Deed Book 125, page 582, being recorded in the office of the Rockcastle County Court, Mt. Vernon, Kentucky.

This property shall be sold to the highest bidder for cash or upon terms of twenty (20%) per cent of the purchase price in cash at time of sale and the balance payable in three (3) months. If sold on time, the purchaser will be required to execute bond with surety approved by the Commissioner to secure the unpaid balance of the purchase price. This bond will bear interest at the rate of twelve (12%) per cent per annum until paid and shall have the effect of a judgment. The purchaser shall have the privilege of paying said bond before maturity with interest to date of payment.

The purchaser shall have possession of the premises upon complying with the terms of sale and risk of loss of improvements shall thereafter be on the purchaser.

Unpaid taxes and liens of record as of 1986 shall be paid out of the proceeds of sale.

If the purchaser should default on said bond, the Sheriff may resell the property under the original terms and conditions.

If plaintiff is the purchaser, no cash deposit will be required and a deed will be delivered upon payment of the costs of sale, taxes, etc., plus any amount by which the purchase price exceeds these costs and the amount of plaintiff's judgment, interest and costs.

The amount of debt, interest and costs to be raised on date of sale ten thousand one hundred forty-seven dollars and thirty cents ($10,147.30).

Farmers must have crop insurance to get loans

Farmers seeking disaster emergency loans from the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) for 1987 losses will need to have crop insurance, if it is available, before they will be eligible, according to state FmHA director Kendall Seaton.

A new provision of the Farm Bill prohibits the FmHA from making emergency loans for crop losses that could have been covered under multiple-peril crop insurance programs sponsored by the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation (FCIC).

"I strongly urge every family farmer to take this new relationship between insurance coverage and emergency loan eligibility into account in terms of farm management," said state Agriculture Commissioner David E. Boswell.

Federally subsidized multiple-peril crop insurance is now available for all wheat, corn, barley, grain sorghum, oats, upland cotton and rice, plus an additional 35 specialty crops in most growing areas.

"Since the government subsidy reduces the program costs by about 50 percent, crop insurance is a worthwhile option even without the emergency loan tie-in," Boswell said.

Under the new law, if a farmer has the required insurance, and if the value of his crop loss is still 30 percent or more after the insurance payment, the operation will be eligible for consideration for an emergency loan.

The new requirement, effective in January, will affect crops weight. It causes bone fractures easily.

Report to Kentucky

SENATOR WENDELL FORD

U.S. Senate, Washington, D.C. 20510

NEW BUDGET IDEA IS FISHY

The Administration's budget for Fiscal Year 1987 contains one proposal that is particularly fishy. It would divert cash from a user fee program for sport fishermen into a general government account.

The user fee program in question is the Wallop-Breaux Trust Fund which was set up by Congress in 1984 to provide the states with money that would benefit sport fishermen and boating enthusiasts. The sportsmen contribute to the fund through excise taxes on fishing gear and boat fuel.

The program has been a windfall to states, which must come up with 25 percent in matching funds. The Trust Fund has been a success, with the states matching the funds and putting the money to its intended use. In 1986 it distributed about $141 million to the states, including $1.8 million which went to Kentucky.

Despite the program's success, the Administration's budget proposes that $24 million be transferred in FY 1988 from the trust fund to the Interior Department. Interior Department officials argue that the program should take a reduction like other programs, and that the states are unable to put the large sums to use.

The International Association of Fish and Wildlife Agencies disagrees. They argue that the states have all been able to provide the required matching funds, and that the monies have been used to fulfill needs. In fact, the fund was actually initiated by groups of sports fishermen and anglers.

I am pleased that Kentucky's Fish and Wildlife Agency is using its share of the trust fund monies well. Kentucky has more navigable inland waterways than any other state, and the potential for building on our existing sports fishing activities is enormous. It is good for the individual fisherman or boating enthusiast in Kentucky, and it is good for tourism in the state.

The Fish and Wildlife Department has established an access development section which has a program for renovation, repair and new construction of boat ramps. They have a list of 60 potential ramp access sites and are already working on about 15. For the most part, the agency is selecting publicly owned sites and obtaining a city or county commitment for maintenance of the ramps.

The state is also using the funds to supplement activities in its seven fisheries districts. These district officials carry out programs that help in the betterment of Kentucky's fishing, improving fishing at ponds, lakes, rivers and streams. They have expertise in all of the related areas, including stocking of the waters, enhancing vegetation, and investigation of fish kills. The state also plans an urban fishing program to teach Kentucky's city dwellers all about the sport which is so success to them.

The Breaux-Wallop Trust Fund was a good idea. Its success is generating a lot of funds for the states. If it becomes so successful that it is raising too much revenue, then Congress will alter the program to benefit the individual who contributes to the trust fund.

Budget cutting is a priority for our nation. But the Wallop-Breaux fund is one to which sportsmen contribute with the knowledge that the funds will be used for the betterment of fishing and boating in the states. This was clearly the intent of Congress in establishing the fund, and it is wrong for the Administration to propose using the funds to offset deficits elsewhere. The proposed fund shift, Congress made an error in the

Your Child's Health

By: Dr. John Payne

About a year ago concern surfaced over the use of alar, or daminozide to promote the uniform ripening of apples. This chemical is considered a possible cancer causing agent. Some states have been challenging the Environmental Protection Agency's decision not to ban the product. Some said the evidence for cancer causation was not strong enough, but others said the potential risk was so great that a ban was needed. Children eat more apples proportionately than adults so the concern was increased.

While the bureaucrats and apple and chemical lobbies fight it out the good news is that several supermarket chains and food manufacturers have declared a voluntary ban on sales of apples treated with the stuff. They are: Safeway, A and P, Giant, Kroger, Grand Union and Farmer Jack's. The food processors are Gerber.

Heinz, Beech-nut, Welch, Duffy-Mott, Seneca Foods, Vacu-Dry, Quaker Oats and Martelline.

The ban is based on certification by growers that the stuff was not used, not on testing, so there may be room for less than total compliance by growers. Also, the chemical is so common in orchards that some contamination could come from neighboring orchards that continue to use it. However, using apples or apple products from the above mentioned suppliers should mean less of the chemical in the food. Whoever said an apple a day keeps the doctor away was not talking about the cancer specialist in late-20th century U.S.A.

gloves - the whole works. Got up there (near Ashland), it was shining, there was about 1/4 of an inch of snow on the ground and everybody looked at me like I was foolish. I felt foolish.

At least there's not one problem - I'm off the hill this year. Now Rick, Cindy and Aaron can slide off.

Spent Sunday watching the "Boob Tube" and cooking of course. I thoroughly enjoyed Kentucky's game and was thoroughly disappointed in the great "Super Bowl" as usual. If they are going to keep on hyping this game as they do, they're going to have to come up with two teams a little more evenly matched. Of course, if you are a Giants' fan, you loved it. I didn't mind the Giants winning (couldn't have cared less as a matter of fact) but I do resent the New York fans. After watching the World Series this fall I decided there could not be a more rude bunch of sports fans in the world and what little I saw of them during the Super Bowl didn't change my mind any.

The turnout for last Thursday's meeting at the library (people concerned about helping other Rockcastle Counties) was respectable. The main thing decided was to check with government agencies, churches and civic organizations to try and define clearly which areas we want to try to assist people in. One thing seemed clear and that is that we definitely want to organize a Christmas program of some sort if nothing else. Anyway, the next meeting is set for Thursday, Feb. 5 at the library community room at 4:30. If you missed the first meeting but can be at this one, please attend.

A final note at the request of County Clerk Norma Hoel. Please note that the audit report published in the Jan. 22 edition was for 1985.

Since the end of her Dad's arm was covered by a bloody T-shirt, Penny was not aware that his hand had been completely severed. When her mother turned to her and told her she was going to have to take care of the hand, Penny wept.

Bill's daughter started screaming, "I HAVE TO GET DADDY'S HAND. I HAVE TO GET DADDY'S HAND." Penny tried to get out of the moving automobile, but Chrystal was finally able to calm her down.

Nancy, Ky. resident, Lee Chue was in the process of unloading his truck at Parsons Gas when the Powell vehicle stopped and Penny came running up to him.

She explained the situation and Chue, who was making a delivery for Cottage Interiors, agreed to help. Since his truck was in disarray, Parsons employee Ione Parsons tossed him her keys and told him to take her car.

Penny directed Lee to the scene of the accident where they found the tractor and why baler still running! The Powell's neighbor, Larry Dale Bullens, had driven the tractor when it got the tractor and the two men started searching for the hand.

They looked through the bale, but there was still a portion of the bale in the machine. Chue said he soon noticed blood on the hay. As he delved deeper into the bale, he came upon the still warm hand. Gingerly, he picked it up, along with a couple other pieces of flesh, wrapped them up, and gave them to Penny.

Bullens, who is more familiar with the area than Chue, drove Penny and the hand to the hospital. Meanwhile, Sherra had helped Bill into the backseat while Chrystal raced toward Mt. Vernon.

When they reached US 25 S. Mrs. Powell started to turn right toward Berea. Bill realized this and told his wife to go to Mt. Vernon because he had seen a [football Homecoming] parade going on in Berea when he left work.

The Powell's had only been living on their farm for nine months at that time, so neither of them knew how to get to the Rockcastle Hospital.

Chrystal said she was driving 85 miles per hour through Mt. Vernon, yelling out the window at people asking directions, and not slowing down enough to hear their answers. Eventually, they found themselves in the vicinity of the hospital and a man just pointed them in the right direction.

When she reached the hospital Mrs. Powell drove to the first door she saw and ran inside. She was at the wrong entrance, but was told to go to the emergency room. In the short amount of time it took her to get to the emergency room, the staff had been alerted and was assembled and waiting for Bill.

Powell was immediately given blood and morphine while Dr. Michael Gutierrez, the Internal Medicine Emergency Room Doctor, phoned Jewish Hospital in Louisville for instructions and to request a helicopter ambulance. He was told to pack the severed hand in ice.

Bill was beginning to feel the twinges of pain. "It felt like the end of my fingers throbbled every time my heart beat, but there was nothing there," he said.

Mr. and Mrs. Powell had nothing but praise for the emergency room personnel at the Rockcastle Hospital.

The accident had occurred at approximately 2:30 p.m. Mrs. Powell estimated she reached the hospital 30 minutes later. A half-hour later Penny arrived with the hand. The helicopter touched down just before 6 p.m. It takes 40 minutes to an hour to fly to Berea from Mt. Vernon, so Bill arrived at Jewish Hospital around 6 p.m.

It was not an uneventful trip. For reasons unknown to the doctors, Mr. Powell's heart began acting strangely. He said his blood pressure dropped to zero during the flight.

After the helicopter left, Bill Dale, Angie who came to the hospital as soon as they heard about the accident, Chrystal, Penny and Sherra piled into the car and drove to Louisville.

Once at Jewish, Bill was rushed into surgery. The normally 10 to 24-hour reattachment operation was completed in an unhard of seven and a half hours by the nationally prominent Dr. "Tom" Min Tsai of the Louisville Heart Surgery Clinic. The clinic specializes in this type of surgery.

The primary reason the surgery was completed so quickly was that Bill was being operated on at the same time. Three times Mr. Powell's blood pressure dropped so low the operation had to be stopped.

In the same age, were having heart trouble [the other fellow wore a pacemaker] and had injured their right hands. The operating room staff hands. The operating room staff had ever operated on two such similar cases at the same time.

Amazingly, Powell spent just four days in the hospital. His arm was put in a cast which was removed the following Monday. That's when Bill got his first look at his rescued hand.

"I was a little hesitant to look at it at first," he admitted. "But I struck a peak at it now and then. It was all red and swollen up, but it never lost color in the finger."

A smaller cast was then put on Powell's hand for a week. He wore a partial cast and bandages up about neck level. "But I learned to wear the glove to work to protect his hand from the cold."

When Bill went home he was told not to expose the hand to smoke or a temperature below 72 degrees. He was also instructed not to eat or drink anything containing caffeine.

Dr. Tsai said the first three weeks would be the most critical period in determining if the severed part of the hand would survive, but he also made it clear the possibility of losing the hand would exist for up to three months.

Right now the hand is still swollen and without much feeling, Dr. Tsai indicated that it could take up to two years for feeling to return to the hand. He also believes the scars will almost disappear eventually and the hand will be able to form a fist.

The only additional surgery needed will be to add a knuckle to Bill's thumb.

"It's a miracle," chirped a thankful Powell of his recovery. "Everything was handled perfectly."

"The Lord has been good to us," Chrystal chimed. "He has worked overtime ever since the accident."

Three months passed as of Jan. 8 and the hand is still pink and warm and improving every day. Powell believes he has turned the corner and is out of danger. He resumed his job at Berea College on Jan. 12.

Bill is impressed with the amount of support he has received from Berea College. "During" his recuperation, he has been visited by president Dr. John Stephenson, students, representatives of the campus ministry and others. Some have pitched in to help with the endless array of chores associated with farm life.

"It's just fantastic how good people have been to us," he said. "I can't possibly thank them all."

Things have been difficult for the Powell's since the accident. In more ways than one. Even though their medical insurance paid the bulk of the expense, the bills were so high that even the portion the Powell's are responsible for is sizable.

While Powell has responded positively to the surgery, the foot to complete recovery is a long one. As it had to be visited the doctor in Louisville once a week, but that has been changed to once a month. He goes to the Berea Hospital for therapy three times a week, as well as training on his own at home. He sleeps with a brace on his hand that pulls his fingers straight. Hydrotherapy, electrical stimulation, lifting weights, massage, manipulation and stretching are all part of a regimen he must endure almost daily.

Since he was right-handed prior to the accident, Bill has had to improve the manual dexterity and strength of his left hand and arm to compensate. He practiced throwing paper was in a trash can, drove nails, peeled potatoes and learned to write with his left hand.

But don't misunderstand, Bill is also determined to use his right hand as much as possible. "I feel like this was my fault, not the baler's," said Powell.

Bill has even gotten through one crisis that developed since his hand was reattached.

While dipping boiling water from one part to another, the steam badly burned the fingers on his injured hand. Powell was unaware of the heat because of the lack of feeling in the reattached hand.

"Blisters half as big as hen eggs were hanging off the end of each finger," said Chrystal. "That's how bad they were burned."

When Dr. Tsai saw the new damage he was afraid he would have to remove the scalded digits. Fortunately they healed and the amputations were avoided.

So, how does a guy who has been through so much manage to keep his spirits so high?

"I never let it get me down. I couldn't get depressed because I can just look down and see that hand where I didn't think there'd be one. I would be glad to have it even if I could never use it," explained Bill.

One other interesting bit of information concerning this story is that Penny was so impressed with the way the local hospital responded to her father's dilemma, that she is now employed there as a nurse's aid.

The Powell's admit that they still suffer nightmares and flashbacks of that awful day, but at least they know those visions have a happy ending.

"Rockets Snowbound" Cont. from Nine and the third for the girls' team. The boys' game at Middleboro last Friday and the girls' games played at Oneida last Wednesday and Monticello Monday were all snowed out.

"There's really not too much positive about it except for the flu cases," said Parrett about the layoff. "It really hurts our conditioning."

Neither team practiced Monday or Tuesday, but both were scheduled to practice Wednesday.

"We had some [players] who had trouble getting in," Perkins said. "That's what makes it so rough in a county system."

The boys' team, which has a 6-5 record, hasn't played since its 62-45 loss to Wayne County last Tuesday. The Rockets are scheduled to play the make-up game at Middleboro Thursday and Whitley County at home Friday.

Perkins said the Rockets would concentrate mainly on conditioning and ball handling in practice Wednesday.

"We're pretty well satisfied with all of our games but about three," Perkins said. "We've played hard, but a little inconsistent. We need to concentrate on finishing the season and get ready for the tournament."

The Lady Rockets are 3-7 this season after losing to Garrard County, 49-36 last Tuesday night. Depending on the weather, the girls will play at Jackson County Thursday night. But they still have to make up games with Oneida, Lincoln and Monticello.

Until then, Parrett says the girls have to work on thawing out their cold shooting percentage.

"Our shooting has always been a problem with us," Parrett said. "A lot of games we hit in the high 20's, and you can't win that way."
