Your Child's Health

By: Dr. John Payne

People often equate taking vitamins with staying healthy. Our bodies do need vitamins, but you can have too much of a good thing. Your body can use only so much of a vitamin and the excess is passed out, mostly through the urine. Excesses of certain vitamins can be harmful.

In a recent medical journal dealing with birth defects the authors warned against the use of excessive doses of vitamin A by pregnant women. They point out that in a recent book by Dr. Linus Pauling HOW TO LIVE LONGER AND FEEL BETTER it is recommended that you should take 25,000 international units of Vitamin A, 5 times the recommended daily allowance. He states that 40,000 units should be the upper limit of intake, 10 times the normal dose recommended by standard medical practice or government nutrition guidelines.

Since it is known that large doses of vitamin A can produce serious birth defects in children born to women taking such doses of this vitamin, medical authorities wish to warn women about the danger of taking such large doses. Additionally, in the body vitamin A is transformed into retinoic acid, another chemical known to cause birth defects. This is why certain acne medicine cannot be safely used in pregnancy.

Voter registration closes April 27

If you plan to vote in the May primary, you'd better register before April 27, according to an announcement by County Clerk Norma Houk.

Registration books will be closed on that date. Anyone who will be 18 years old by the Nov. 6, 1987 general election may register now and vote in the May primary. Also, anyone who needs to change his address or precinct or to a married name must do so by the April 27 date. If a person's address has changed since he registered, please contact the county clerk's office so his voter's registration can be corrected. Applications for absentee voters ballot can now be obtained at the county clerk's office. These absentee applications must be returned to the county clerk's office by May 19.

Requests for an application for an absentee ballot shall be made in person or by mail by the voter or an application can be obtained at the county clerk's office by the husband or wife of the voter, parents or dependent children of the voter.

For further information concerning registering to vote or an application for an absentee ballot, please contact Norma Houk at the county clerk's office 256-2831.

Milton Reigelman, chairman of the division of humanities at Centre College, will head the Centre campus, and Dr. Kenneth Wolf, associate professor of history at Murray State University, will head the program at the UK campus. Lillian Press is full-time executive director of the program.

Students this summer will be exposed to 11 major interest areas, ranging from physical science to philosophy. They choose one, but courses are taught in non-traditional ways so that students may have more than one teacher and will study subjects across a number of subject areas.

They also participate in a variety of topical and personal growth seminars, and are offered an array of speakers, many with Kentucky backgrounds, concerts, performances, field trips and a host of extracurricular activities ranging from sports to dramatic productions. Students invent a lot of their own events, publish newspapers and literary journals, and play in the program's bands and chamber music groups.

To qualify for nomination by their schools, students are required to score in the 96th percentile or above in standardized achievement tests, rank in the top 20 percentiles in at least one section of the PSAT/NMST — the sample test required to compete for National Merit Scholarships.

Exceptions to the program's requirements are allowed if students demonstrate outstanding intellectual potential, talent or leadership coupled with academic achievement.

Students are also judged on the quality and originality of several essays they write, must receive high recommendations from a minimum of two teachers in the liberal arts, and must pass evaluation by teachers, counselors and committees on characteristics of superior students, a list included in the criteria mailed to each school district.

The Governor's Scholars Program will have 25 faculty members on each campus drawn from Kentucky high schools and colleges. Counselors are drawn from college undergraduate and graduate students.

the most on March 19, 30 and 31. Last March, a total of 2.63 inches fell, and was considered a dry month.

The high this month was 78 on March 29. The low was 22 on March 12 and 31.

Just how much effect the cold had on fruit trees and early garden plantings remains to be seen, agricultural officials reported. If buds were out, chances are they are killed by the low temperature.

County Extension Agent Tom Mills said anything growing close to the ground probably would survive the cold since the ground tends to remain warm.

"Things growing up off the ground has a better chance of being killed," Mills said. "It also depends on how far along buds are."

5 percent and auto theft up 14.3 percent. Other arrest categories which reflect notable increases but are not included in the Part I Crime categories are Arson up 42.7 percent, fraud up 30.5 percent and driving under the influence up 5.6 percent.

A total of 44,489 persons were arrested for DUI offenses during 1986, an indication of law enforcement's continued emphasis on the problem of drinking and driving in the state.

In releasing the 1986 crime statistics, Kentucky State Police Commissioner Morgan T. Elkus declined to speculate whether the state is on the threshold of a crime rate rise similar to the time between 1978 and 1980, the latter year producing a record number of nearly 125,000 Part I offenses, reported.

"I hope we are not heading into a similar cycle," he said, pointing to the fact that 1986 figures show increases in only 62 of Kentucky's 120 counties. There were decreases in 57 counties and one county, showed no change.

precipitation has been about the same as last year. An extended dry spell this spring could help to cause fires.

Bullen asked residents to be careful when burning, especially when close to woodlands. Burning is allowed 150 feet from a forest before 4:30 p.m. if there is a fire line, but burning is mostly recommended after 4:30 p.m.

Richmond Social Security office changing hours

Robert Anderson, Manager of the Richmond Social Security Office, announced today that Effective Monday, April 6, the Richmond Social Security Office will be changing the hours they are open to the public. Instead of opening their doors to the public at 9 a.m., they will begin taking interviews at 8:30 a.m. In the afternoon they will be closed to the public at 3:30 p.m. The time from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. will be used to process the work taken that day, which should result in getting more claims processed the same day and payments being made faster.

Another change being made is the expanded use of teleclaims. Most claims for benefits under Social Security can be handled entirely by phone. This service is being offered as a convenience to the public and should result in more efficient handling of claims from the general public's standpoint. The extra hour in the afternoon will also be used to conduct scheduled teleclaims interviews.

The Richmond Office serves residents of Madison, Rockcastle, Jackson and Estill Counties. The office is located in the University Shopping Center on the Eastern By-Pass, and the telephone number is 256-5109.

DAR MEETING

The Rockcastle Chapter DAR met on the evening of March 10th at the home of Mrs. Joseph Young. In the absence of the Regent, Mrs. Stephen Owens, Mrs. Roscoe Adams, Vice Regent, presided with Mrs. Ed Hunt. Mrs. William Gregory and Mrs. Gordon Walker taking part in the ritual.

Miss Mary Alice Hunt gave the National Defense report. Mrs. William Gregory presented a program of slides and motion pictures with sound on the Changing of the Guard in three countries. Mr. and Mrs. Gregory had taken these pictures on their travels.

The first was the changing of the guard at the tomb of Lenin in Moscow. The purpose of this ceremony is to motivate the Soviet citizens Lenin's tomb is their national symbol a rallying point in time of conflict. As fighting became intense the troops were required to march by the tomb. Crowds gather near the tomb on Red Square near St. Basil's Cathedral. The guards approach the tomb with no sound, drums or music. The change takes place and the old guard leaves the tomb.

The second change of guard was that at the palace in Monaco which is ruled over by Prince Rainier. The palace is located high above the sea on a rocky hill. This changing is truly a ceremony taking place just once a day at high noon with bells chiming. About ten or twelve guard march up before the palace. It is a social occasion with hands playing and many observers enjoying the scene.

The third changing of the guard was at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in the National Cemetery in Arlington, Virginia just across the Potomac from Washington, D.C. The purpose of this ceremony is to honor all the unknown soldiers who died in war for this country. Here the guard is changed seven days a week on the hour for twenty-four hours a day.

To see it is a sobering and patriotic experience. Absolute silence is required. There is a feeling of reverence in this salute to the Unknown Soldier. The guard is on duty for one hour, marching back and forth before the tomb. Then the guard is changed and the first guard is off duty for two hours before marching again. Due to the stress caused by the precision of

Look at This Great News About Medicare

If you're eligible for Medicare, you'll want to know that your eye health care coverage has changed. For the better!! As of April 1, you can go to your personal optometrist and be covered for the same eye health care services you used to have to go elsewhere to get. Now there's no need to leave the optometrist you know and trust to go to a stranger or to seek a doctor who is less convenient to your home.

Ask your personal optometrist about Medicare covered eye care services. Leave health examinations and necessary treatment. You'll be glad you did.

Verdict next step in Hamm, school discrimination case

By: Richard Anderkin

Federal Judge Stewart Newblatt told Rockcastle County Guidance Counselor Sue Hamm and Rockcastle County Superintendent Charles B. Parsons, last Friday, that he would render a decision on the sex-discrimination case that Mrs. Hamm brought against Parsons and the local board of education within three weeks.

Judge Newblatt told those involved and their attorneys, Jennifer Coffman for Mrs. Hamm and May Noble for Parsons, that if they could work out a settlement between themselves before he rendered his decision that they could still do so.

"When I make a decision on this case there 'won't be any middle ground," Judge Newblatt said. "There will be a winner and there will be a loser. My decision will be one for the future."

Newblatt, a judge from Flint, Mich., was assigned to the case because Federal Judge Eugene Siler has such a back log of cases in London Federal Court. The trial was heard in Frankfort.

"If you can't reach an agreement before I rule then I will make my decision," he said. "You will have to come to Michigan if you get mad at me."

The judge also told both parties that after hearing the trial there was probably considerable public interest in the case and that this public may not want a decision such as this to be made in federal court.

Newblatt's remarks followed three strenuous days of testimony for both Mrs. Hamm and Parsons. As of Wednesday no agreement between the parties had been reached.

In her closing arguments, Mrs. Coffman asked the Judge for five specific items:

(1) That the Rockcastle County Board of Education establish hiring policies, in which they set up a personnel committee to screen applicants for administrative job openings and that jobs be advertised and posted and all qualified persons be notified.

(2) That there be a finding of discrimination for Mrs. Hamm and also a finding of retaliation for her after the suit was filed.

(3) That she receive about $3,000 in back pay from the 1984 hiring of Bill Jack Parsons at Roundstone School; that she receive about $7,000 a year for the two years since John Hale was hired as principal at Mt. Vernon Elementary School; and that she be appointed to the next administrative position in Rockcastle County schools.

Mrs. Coffman said that Mrs. Hamm only wanted Hale's job at Mt. Vernon Elementary as a last resort.

She also asked that Mrs. Hamm receive some protection in any position she was placed so that the power of the superintendent and the board could not be misused again and she (Mrs. Hamm) be fired.

(5) That the defendants pay attorney fees in a reasonable amount.

During Mrs. Noble's closing argument for Parsons, she told Judge Newblatt that Parsons had tried to surround himself with people that had his same educational ideas and views—people that he could trust to carry out those ideas, and people who would do what was best for the education of the children of Rockcastle County.

"Mr. Parsons has a school system to run," Mrs. Noble said. "He has obviously done a good job because he has been doing it for 19 years."

Mrs. Noble reiterated that Parsons had not discriminated against Mrs. Hamm because she

Lambdin dies of gunshot; wife held

Tommy L. Lambdin, 38, of East Bernstadt and formerly of Mt. Vernon, died Monday afternoon from a gunshot wound, according to Laurel County Sheriff's Department.

Held on a charge of murder pending an autopsy and grand jury action is Lambdin's wife, Marsha, 29, police reported.

Police said Lambdin was shot in the chest with a .357 Magnum at the couple's home on Allen School Road Laurel Sheriff Floyd Brummett said witnesses said the Lambdins had been quarreling.

The son of Lee Lambdin, of Livingston, he will be brought to Dowell and Martin Funeral Home where arrangements are incomplete.

Crime down in county

Rockcastle had an 18 percent decrease in the number of serious crimes reported during 1986, according to figures from the Kentucky State Police.

Rockcastle had 137 serious crimes during the year.

Statewide, crime figures reflected a 5.5 percent increase in serious crimes, or nearly 6,000 offenses over 1985.

The report did not break down crimes in any of the 120 counties.

Consistent with the rise in serious crimes, statewide there was a six percent increase in arrests over 1985, with a total of 211,651 persons arrested during 1986.

Although robbery arrests declined by nearly one percent, all other Part I crime arrests increased during the year: murder up 2.7 percent; rape up 12.9 percent; aggravated assault up 11 percent; burglary up 1.9 percent; larceny up

Into the air goes a snowball, thrown by Andrew Hammond, "maybe" the last snowball of the season. About two inches of snow fell Sunday night, covering many a blooming Forsythia like the one in the picture. Andrew is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Hammond of Mt. Vernon.

From spring to winter overnight

The old adage turned out to be true. March came in like a lamb, so it was destined to go out like a lion. It did.

It was spring one day (Sunday) rain the next (Monday) and snow on Tuesday when two inches fell at the local weather station.

A hard freeze early Wednesday was the low point of the inclement weather, as temperatures were expected to make a strong recovery by Friday.

Local schools were closed Tuesday because of the fear of slick roads, but were back on operation on Wednesday.

The county was lucky. There was 10 inches of snow, or more, in several areas of Kentucky, including Louisville. There was five inches in Lexington.

Snow in late March is not unheard of in Rockcastle or even in April. Reportedly, in mid April 1950 a total of eight inches fell breaking down trees and shrubs and sending spring into a tailspin.

Over 20 inches of snow remained on the ground on March 31, 1960 after three heavy snows during March left 36 inches on the ground at Mt. Vernon. It did not melt until the first week of April.

This March has seen more precipitation than March, 1986.

This year, 3.58 inches of rain snow has been recorded with

Forest fire season opens with 10 blazes in county

The forest fire season got under way in Rockcastle County last week with 10 fires reported in one day, according to Forest Ranger Steve Bullen.

Fifty mile an-hour winds fanned the flames that blackened over 65 acres in the county last Wednesday.

On Sunday, several other fires broke out in various areas of the county. About 250 acres of Rockcastle forest land have burned this fire season, Bullen said.

Bullen praised all three local fire departments for help to control the blazes.

Five of the fires started when strong winds snapped electric lines, which also left some areas without electricity for several hours.

Two fires were the result of arson. Bullen stated two were from cigarettes and one from a trash dump.

It was a similar beginning to last season when hundreds of acres of local forests were destroyed before the season was over.

Dry weather last year helped to cause the fires. This year to date

Former congressman dies

Former U.S. Rep. Tim Lee Carter, who served the Fifth Congressional District for 16 years, died May 27, 1987 in Glasgow from complications from anemia. He was 76.

Rep. Carter, a county doctor, represented the district from 1965 to 1980 when he declined to run again, paving the way for Harold Rogers to succeed him.

Rep. Rogers called Congressman Carter's death "a great loss for Kentucky."

For 16 years, Dr. Carter was a strong voice in Congress for issues which face rural Kentucky. Rep. Rogers said "His leadership and dedication to the people of the Fifth District will stand as an everlasting memorial to him."

In 1976 Carter was the first Republican Congressman to call for U.S. troop withdrawals from Vietnam. On a fact-finding trip to Vietnam in 1966, Carter told President Lyndon Johnson to his face: "No Mr. President, we are not winning the war."

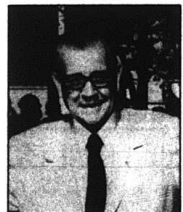

Rep. Carter was the only practicing medical doctor in the House and was a major contributor to health-related legislation.

In the summer 1974 during the time of impeachment hearings, Carter defended President Richard Nixon (denying attacks by the press).

"I see an unreasoning hatred for that man that I can't explain. He was a brilliant man," Carter said in 1980.

Nixon said yesterday in a prepared statement released from his New York office "Tim Lee Carter was one of the most articulate, able and courageous members of Congress I have known in 40 years in public life."

Three local students named to governor's scholar program

The names of 650 outstanding Kentucky high school juniors, including three from Rockcastle County High School, selected for the Governor's Scholars Program were announced this week by Gov. Marshall Laine Collins.

From Rockcastle are Tracy C. Burdett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Burdett; Randall D. Hayes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd S. Hayes; and Leslie A. Norton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Norton.

A record number of scholars will attend the prestigious, five-week residential program, to be held at the University of Kentucky from June 20 to July 23, and at Centre College from June 21 to July 24. Students will be divided between the two campuses.

It is encouraging that on this fifth anniversary of the Governor's Scholars Program, we are able to accept more qualified students than in any other previous year," Governor Collins said.

"The number of Governor's Scholars climbed from 250 in the first year to 650 in 1987," she said. "It reflects the high value we are placing on excellence in education. In Kentucky, we are putting twice as much money into the program, and far more students are interested."

"They are sending a message to all of us. These scholars are willingly committing the major part of their summer to participate in an intensive intellectual experience. They receive no college credits or grades in the Governor's Scholars Program. There is very heavy competition for admission to the program. That says a lot for Kentucky, and for the caliber of many of our young Kentuckians. It also reflects the quality of the Governor's Scholars Program."

Over 20 inches of snow remained on the ground on March 31, 1960 after three heavy snows during March left 36 inches on the

The 1987 Scholars will represent 138 of 120 of Kentucky's counties. The largest number, 28 percent, will come from the Western Kentucky region, followed by 25 percent from Eastern Kentucky; 23 percent from Central Kentucky; 12 percent from North-eastern Kentucky; and 12 percent from Jefferson County. Nominations are allotted to each public school district based on the number of high school juniors in the district. Students are accepted from both public and private Kentucky high schools.

An impartial, blue-ribbon statewide committee selects the scholars from the pool of candidates submitted by the school districts. The committee includes admission directors and assistant directors, representative vice presidents, academic deans and college professors from major

It takes courage to stand up to the local school system

Last week some of us spent a strenuous three days in Federal Court in Frankfort listening to the sex-discrimination case brought against the Rockcastle County Board of Education.

Superintendent Charles B. Parsons testified that, to the best of his knowledge, it was the first time the school system had been sued over a job.

Well, it definitely was the first, and while it may be the last I will say that it took courage on the part of Doug and Sue Hamm to back the system.

It is not for me to say whether Sue Hamm was sexually discriminated against, or not. Judge Stewart Newblat will rule on that matter in the future. He heard both sides of the case.

But, I heard both sides as well. I heard Sue Hamm criticized by the people she has worked with since coming to Rockcastle County in 1969. I heard her criticized for being late for work, for doing her husband's work and not her own. You name it, I heard it. All of this from people that she had confided in and had worked closely with.

The Way I See It

By: Richard Anderkin
Mount Vernon Signal

But, when she filed her suit against the board and Parsons that drew the line. A line so sharp that the witnesses for Parsons would not even come down the hall to where Mrs. Hamm's witnesses were to talk with them, although they worked together every day in school.

Oh, it was alright for Mrs. Hamm's witnesses to cross the line, but not the board's. On one occasion I was even criticized by the superintendent for spending too much time at the other end of the hall.

No matter who wins this trial, it has shown me one thing: That at least Sue Hamm had the courage to take a stand when she felt she had been treated unfairly.

Mrs. Hamm asked for several things from Judge Stewart Newblat, but one of the things she asked for is something that should have been done a long time ago. It should have been done whether there had been a lawsuit or not.

When a job comes open in the school system it should be advertised and posted in the schools, and those qualified to fill the position should be notified by the superintendent that it is open.

The superintendent should appoint a committee to go over applications to see who would be best suited for the job. Interviews should be conducted and hiring shouldn't be left up to just the superintendent.

The superintendent in the end would have to make the final recommendation. That is his job. But his final recommendation should be with more input from other individuals and it should only be after everyone interested and qualified has had a chance to apply occasion, they work through civic clubs, churches, and social service agencies to assist in the selection of children who will attend. Eligibility is based on family income and age. They must be from low income households and be between the ages of 9 and 13.

The Sheriff's Ranch is completely funded by voluntary gifts and donations from individual and business memberships and corporate donations from throughout the state. There is never any charge to the children attending or to the sheriffs who sponsor the Ranch. All memberships and donations to the Ranch are completely tax deductible.

Our camp activities are varied in that we offer a wide range of both recreational and educational activities. Alcohol Awareness Program. This program is presented by the Ranch staff, local sheriffs and deputies, and inmates from the Western Kentucky Farm for that position. The school system is the biggest employer in the county and they have an obligation to do what is right when it comes to filling the jobs.

From the sex-discrimination trial will come up something that only the federal judge knows. There is always two sides to everything. But no matter what, you have to give Sue Hamm credit for standing up for her rights as she believes them to be.

Center, a minimum security facility. This is one of the finest on-going drug abuse program in the state. We also have a "Child Abuse Program," arts and crafts, swimming lessons; tennis; basketball clinics; a trip to the local water slide; nature hikes; and an all-day trip to the Land Between the Lakes. There are many more wholesome activities scheduled for the youngsters during their one week stay.

Each day begins with the flag raising ceremony and weekly devotionals are conducted by both counselors and campers. The daily activity periods are divided into four groups: swimming, nature, sports, and arts and crafts.

Since proper nutrition plays an important part in a child's ability to participate in the camp schedule, we serve three wholesome, nutritious meals and two snacks each day. Our menu is [Cont. to p. 3]

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor, Eleven years ago, the Kentucky Sheriff's saw a need to help underprivileged youth in our great Commonwealth and took action by opening the Kentucky Sheriff's Boys and Girls Ranch.

This Ranch is located in Western Kentucky, near the Kentucky Dam Village State Park approximately 20 miles from Paducah in the small community of Gilbertsville. In the past 8 years, we have seen almost 6,000 unfortunate youth go thru our outstanding summer camp program.

The Sheriff's in each of our 120 counties select eligible children from their county and transport them to and from the camp. On

Planned by competent dietitians and monitored by the State Food Program, Department of Education.

The Ranch has a governing board of present sheriffs and an ex-officio board of lay persons including former Governor A.B. "Happy" Chandler who helps us raise money for needy children each year through our golf tournaments.

Ray H. Stross is the executive director and has been the executive director of the Ranch and Ky. Sheriffs' Association for over 9 years.

In the next few weeks, the Ranch will be sending out applications and quotes to each sheriff's office in Kentucky. They in turn will be taking applications and selecting the eligible youth in their county who will be attending camp. If you know of a deserving child who would like to go to camp, contact your local sheriff's office. We feel that the Ky. Sheriffs Ranch is one of the best kept secrets in Kentucky and want to change that. Last year we provided a free camping experience for over 900 needy youth and would like to see at least 1,000 this year. This is the largest summer camp, sponsored by Sheriffs in the United States, and we are very proud of it.

The Sheriffs in Kentucky truly believe that "building boys and girls is better than mending men and women."

Sincerely,
Helen Barter
Executive Secretary

Legislative Report

By: Representative Danny Ford

As the Legislature passes the halfway point of the 1986-87 interim, the study period between biennial sessions that has become so important in recent years, the major issues likely to be addressed when the 1988 session convenes next January have begun to take focus. All issues are important, but one looms above all others: the state budget, from which all government programs, as well as many government problems, are generated.

The Mt. Vernon Signal Thursday, April 2, 1987 P-3

The budget picture was muddled somewhat late last year when it was announced that General Fund Revenues so far this biennium were failing to meet projections. In the form of an $68 million shortfall, and that the governor has ordered certain cuts to keep the budget in balance.

Although that wasn't good news, it could have been worse. In 1986 legislature, remembering the chaotic cuts when money problems arose earlier this decade, passed legislation outlining specific procedures to be followed in the event of a revenues shortfall. It even included a $100 million "reserve fund" to cover such an eventuality.

Just recently, when this biennium's shortfall was announced, that procedure was invoked, and worked smoothly.

But the budget is always a concern, and finding new sources of revenue to meet mounting costs is always a dilemma. One way to do so, and many observers predict this will be a major topic of debate in 1988, would be to revamp Kentucky's income tax code to conform with recent changes in the federal code.

The Federal Income Tax Act of 1986 could mean a windfall for Kentucky, some $375 million in additional revenue over the next three years if the state adopts a new and similar tax code of its own.

EASTERN KENTUCKY UNIVERSITY
OPPORTUNITIES IN NURSING

EKU is a school of opportunity. It is also an institution that is proud of its efforts to respond to the need for university graduates to provide vital services to the citizens of the Commonwealth. There is a shortage of registered nurses in Kentucky and the nation. EKU, with more than 40 nursing faculty members and with associate and baccalaureate nursing programs accredited by the National League for Nursing, is responding to this need. We encourage high school graduates and those with the G.E.D., equivalency who are interested in careers in nursing to contact us. In addition, we are making special efforts to assist:

- L.P.N. graduates who wish to become registered nurses.
- Associates degree graduate R.N.s who wish to earn the B.S.N.
- Those holding baccalaureate degrees in other fields who wish to prepare for careers in nursing.

In addition to courses offered on the Eastern campus, we are prepared to offer courses in the communities in our service region.

MACED gets $150,000 education grant for "Forward in the Fifth"

The Ford Foundation has awarded a $150,000 grant to Mountain Association for Community Economic Development (MACED) to enable its staff to assist Forward in the Fifth improve educational achievement in Kentucky's Fifth Congressional District. The Fifth District is said to have the greatest educational problems in the country. Fully 62 percent of the adults living in the District have not completed high school, compared to only 34 percent in the nation; and only 7 percent of the adults in the District have graduated from college, compared to 16 percent nationally.

Forward in the Fifth is a community-based organization dedicated to improving educational achievement in the Fifth District by reinforcing the relationships between communities and their schools. This will be accomplished through "Local Affiliates" that Forward in the Fifth hopes to develop in each school district or county in the Fifth Congressional District. Local Affiliates will be vehicles for community and business involvement in local school systems. They will develop projects to fit the school districts' needs. Projects might range from tutoring grade school children to providing "mini-grants" to recognize energetic teachers and help them put together creative classroom projects.

The two-year Ford Foundation grant, announced on March 30, will enable MACED to carry out Forward in the Fifth's work with Local Affiliates, assisting them to initiate programs in their communities to:

"Provide an enriched, more diverse educational program.

"Expand Parents' participation.

"Increase the involvement of local businesses in improving the schools in their communities.

"Encourage innovation by teachers and principals in achieving instructional goals.

"Recognize outstanding achievement by students, teachers and educational administrators.

"Encourage better communication between communities and their schools, and "Increase understanding of the role and contribution of education to the social and economic vitality of local communities.

In a campaign launched in February, Forward in the Fifth has met in a dozen Fifth District counties with citizens groups interested in forming Local Affiliates. Groups in several counties are in the process of affiliating with Forward in the Fifth.

Patti Alcorn

The Alcorn sisters have every reason to appear pleased with themselves. Between the three of them they boast 10 years of perfect school attendance.

"It gets to be an obsession", confided Patti facetiously. "I actually have nightmares about being late for school and destroying my chance of perfect attendance for this year. Patti, a junior attained a perfect attendance status in the third, fifth and eighth grades.

Becky Alcorn

Perfect attendance

Becky, with a perfect attendance record since she began school; said she aspires to make it through her senior year without being late or absent. She is a fifth grader. She said, "I told my parents that if I could do it, I think they should buy me a new car and a ticket to Wyoming to visit my aunt."

The attainment of Becky's goal would be a tough act for Rachel to follow. She is a fifth grader. She said, "I told my parents that if I could do it, I think they should buy me a new car and a ticket to Wyoming to visit my aunt."

Patti, Becky and Rachel are the daughters of Michael and Wanda Alcorn, Lockland, Ohio, the granddaughters of DeWard and Lorene Whitaker, Reading, Ohio, and the great granddaughters of Mrs. Mae Whitaker, Mt. Vernon and the late J.B. Whitaker.

"Teen Club 4-H News" [Cont. From 4]

The club discussed several topics of business. Shana gave a report on the Area Teen Meeting she attended. The club discussed a possibility of holding more dances and a bonfire. The Variety Show will be April 21st. Anyone interested in participating should contact the 4-H Extension Office. Spring Teen Camp will be April 24, 25 and 26th. One club member participated in the demonstration contest. Cindy Witt, with a demonstration, "Homemade Bread the Easy Way," was champion in her division. Congratulations Cindy!

Shana Donovan adjourned the meeting. Alison Souder Reporter

"Forward in the Fifth" gets grant

An educational program developed by Forward in the Fifth to improve science and math teaching in Southern Kentucky has received $37,324 from the Council on Higher Education, and an additional $23,000 from the Ky. Dept. of Education.

The program is being funded under Title II of the federal Education for Economic Security Act.

The proposal approved by the council envisions a two-year approach. In the first year a comprehensive assessment of current instruction in science and math in Southern Kentucky will be made. Other components of the proposal include development of a network of science and math teachers and resource professionals in the region, conducting two workshops involving teachers and administrators to discuss needs, problems, and solutions, and formulation of a teacher training program.

Any second-year money received will support institutes for science and math teachers based on the first-year work.

Forward in the Fifth is a nonprofit organization composed of area business and civic leaders who are committed to improving education in Kentucky's Fifth Congressional District. It was established in October, 1986. Title II is designed to improve the quality of instruction in mathematics, science, foreign languages and computer science in the nation's schools, and makes money available to the states for this purpose. The Council on Higher Education is responsible for administering Kentucky's share of the higher education funds. This year the Council received $186,620 in Title II monies.

Five named to Cumberland's Dean's List

Two hundred twenty Cumberland College students have been included on the Dean's List for the 1986 Fall Semester, according to college president Jim Taylor.

The Dean's List is published in recognition of academic excellence of students registered for 12 or more semester hours, who have no grade of "I," and who attain a minimum cumulative scholastic standing of 3.50.

Five students from Rockcastle County have been named to the Dean's List. They are: Paula Bleivins, daughter of Paul and Doris Bleivins of Mt. Vernon; Melissa Bryant, daughter of Mike and Carol Bryant of Mt. Vernon; Harold R. Harper, son of Harold and Edna Harper of Broadhead; Malissa W. Harper, daughter of Harold and Edna Harper of Broadhead; and Anissa Machal, daughter of Charles and Joyce Machal of Mt. Vernon.

"Rumpelstilskin" set for April 3-4 at Roundstone

By: Allen Penso

The Rockcastle Council for the Arts kicks off its 1987 fund drive with Rumpelstilskin, to be presented April 3-4 7:30 p.m. at the Roundstone Elementary School.

In the past four years, the council has received financial support from state matching grants. But that money has run out. Therefore, the Rockcastle and surrounding communities must carry the financial weight previously borne by the government. The money you contribute during the month of April will help support future programs such as Play with the Arts, featuring a quest magician, various musical artists, and this summer's musical, Oliver.

As the arts council grows, new areas are challenged and met within the performing arts. The local talent has taken on a number of diverse productions including South Pacific, The Importance of Being Ernest, and "The Arkansas Bear." Coupled with performers outside the county, the fine arts are now performing on a regular basis in Rockcastle County.

With Rumpelstilskin, the Arts Council explores the rich sights and sounds of the Italian commedia dell'arte and provides yet another glimpse into its versatility. For more information on how you can have a voice in the future of the Arts in Rockcastle County, write The Rockcastle Council For The Arts, General Delivery, Mt. Vernon, Ky. 40356.

The reason for the added state revenue is that, with new lower federal tax rates in effect, Kentuckians will have less to deduct on their state income tax returns under the category of federal taxes paid. That will mean more dollars for Kentucky, no matter what the state does.

But if the state were to adopt the new federal tax code, it would receive an additional $64 million in 1987, $91 million in 1988 and $111 million in 1989.

The Interim Joint Committee on Appropriations and Revenue heard last November that if Kentucky does not change its tax code, the state would receive only an extra $75 million during the same three year period.

Changes in the state code, if they were enacted, would include repeal of the sales tax deduction, elimination of the capital-gains exclusion, restraints on deductions of business expenses, and restrictions on deductions of business expenses, and restrictions on deductions for individual Retirement Accounts. Those changes, of course, would be controversial, just as they were when Congress debated was privileged to have the benefit of his wise counsel and his friendship.

"TIM LEE CARTER"

Carter came from a family that dominated politics in Monroe County. His father, James Clark Carter Sr., and brother, James C. Carter Jr., were circuit judges.

Tim Lee Carter entered politics after World War II winning election to the Monroe County school board. He resigned as school board chairman when he announced for Congress in 1964. Carter was also Monroe County's GOP chairman from 1952 to 1964.

He was born on Sept. 2, 1910 in Tompkinsville. He attended Lindsey Wilson College before receiving a bachelor's degree from what is now Western Kentucky University.

He taught for five years in Monroe County schools and coached the Tompkinsville Bears to three successive state boys' basketball tournaments.

Carter married Kathleen Bradshaw in 1931 and moved to Memphis, where he graduated from the University of Tennessee College of Medicine in 1937. After an internship at the U.S. Marine Medical Center in Chicago, he opened an office in Tompkinsville.

He was commissioned a captain in the Army during World War II and served in Pacific Theater combat zones as a medic for 3 1/2 years. Afterward, he returned to Tompkinsville to practice medicine.

Running for Congress was a cinch compared with running to the bottom of a hollow to deliver a baby, he said in a 1979 interview.

"If I'd stayed here (in Tompkinsville), I'd have been dead by now," he said.

Carter recalled one winter night when his car broke down and he had to walk a couple of miles uphill in snow to deliver a baby. After the baby was born, the father haggled over the fee.

Carter's congressional tenure was not without incident.

Carter returned to his farm at Turkey Neck Bend on the Cumberland River in Monroe County and resumed his medical practice after retiring from politics.

He remained active in medical causes, particularly cancer research. Carter's adopted son, Billy Starr Carter, died of leukemia in 1977 at the age of 22.

Carter was a member of Tompkinsville First Baptist Church and a 33rd degree Mason. Surviving are his wife, his brother, who also lives in Tompkinsville, a sister, Vivian Hayes of Louisville, and a number of nieces and nephews.

Services were held March 29 Burial was in Evans-Oak Hill Cemetery Tompkinsville.

Tigers were 13th Region Champs in 1972

By: Willie Hiant

It has been a Sweet Fifteen since the Sweet Sixteen for the 1971-72 Brodhead Tigers.

The decade and a half since they charmed Rockcastle county by winning the 13th Region and a trip to the State Tournament in Louisville has hardly faded memories of that season.

Neither has it lessened Billy Riddle's conviction that there were forces at work greater than individuals on the team, that maybe it really was the week God came to Brodhead, as he later said in a speech to Rockcastle County High School's FHA Club.

"When we seemed to need a spurt or seemed to need a basket, it worked out to where that it was that way," said Riddle, the coach of the team. "There was something bigger than Billy Riddle and the basketball team and (assistant coach) Johnny Hamm. It just seemed like it was a divine thing destined to be."

Everything did seem to come together for Brodhead. Like losing narrowly to Clay County in the 49th District which, in retrospect may have worked to Brodhead's psychological advantage. Erasing Knox Central's 10-point fourth quarter lead to force an overtime in the 13th Region's opening game won by Clayton Cash's two free throws with 30 left.

And surviving a 29 point barrage by Cumberland's Larry Cockerel in the semifinals, and getting Middlesboro's Robert Mayhall in early foul trouble in the finals.

The players concede that a little good fortune was involved, but they also like to believe that it was their intervention, not divine, which paved the road to Louisville, that they were finally reaping the harvests of those countless games in Cash's basketball court.

In all respects, the trip couldn't have been more timely. Not only was it the last season at Brodhead before consolidation in the RCHS the next year, but the county cast aside its differing loyalties to back the Tigers.

"It was the first thing that I had ever seen Rockcastle County get together on," Riddle said. "I think it was probably one of the biggest factors in Rockcastle County High School going together smoothly."

Almost half the team grew up within dribbling distance of each other. Cash and Ronnie Brown were next-door neighbors in Ottawa, as were Tommy Mullins and Duane Mink down the road in Quail Terry Burton and Coy Taylor weren't much more than a rifle shot away.

The rest of the roster was fleshed out by Pat Crawford, who lived within five miles. Dennis Harris and Ronnie Arnold, both of whom lived in Spiro, and the three town boys, Larry LaFavers, Derrill Proctor and David Collins.

When the farm work was done, the boys spent a large part of their time playing hoops at "Cash Coliseum," the name given to Cash's dirt court by a New York Times reporter after the Tigers captured the Region.

The boys were pardoned from school one afternoon to show the reporter the goal Cash's brother had welded, one which was located in a cow pasture. They didn't need a broom for court maintenance, just a shovel to clear the area of manure.

It was in this arena playing rain or shine using jersey gloves when the weather turned cold, where the team's foundation was formed. Cash said as many as 25 boys would gather on Sunday afternoons to play in pick up games.

The Tigers' record seemed to bear out the theory that the team really didn't unify until after the farm work slackened, freeing the boys to channel their energy and concentration into basketball. The Tigers lost seven regular season games, six of which fell before January.

"I think that is one of the reasons we began to come along about December," said Mullins.

"It was the first thing that I had ever seen Rockcastle County get together on" the senior pivot on the team.

Cochair Bill Riddle

Riddle, a 1969 graduate of Brodhead was in his 13th season as coach of the Tigers. He attended Eastern Ky. University on a basketball scholarship, left for a stint in the Navy, went to Union College and back to EKU to finish his education, before coming home to Brodhead in 1958.

He coached a controlled style of basketball - play solid zone defense, fast break when it's there, take only high-percentage shots - and he had the personnel to execute it.

Cash, a 5-foot-9 junior who averaged about 15 points per game, was the team's floor leader, the quintessential point guard. The 6-1 Mullins (18 ppg) was the inside force. Burton (14 ppg), a senior, was a pure shooter. Brown (13 ppg) was a hard-nosed "banger." Harris, a 6-1 senior, filled the fifth spot most of the season, sometimes platooning with 6-4 junior LaFavers.

After being excused from practice one day to haul in hay, Crawford showed up at the gym anyway. When Riddle asked why, he explained that it was sprinkling rain and he wasn't working. Crawford, who lived out on U.S. 70, had run about two miles from home to get back for practice.

And Harris told Riddle just before the tournament that anytime he felt LaFavers should play ahead of him, "you be sure and play him for the team."

This is the type of kids they were," Riddle said.

Strangely, Brodhead's 56-51 loss to Clay County in Manchester in the finals of the 49th District Tournament may have worked in the team's favor. The Tigers trailed 16-10, 33-17 and 45-33 at the quarter intervals, before making a serious run at the end.

"I guess that this would probably be a bad philosophy," Riddle said, "but I feel like that had we beaten Clay County, that would have made us feel a little too good. I think the (five-) point loss helped us more than it hurt us."

The top two teams in the 13th Region at Middlesboro were Clay and Middlesboro, both placed in the upper bracket. That meant that the team coming out of the lower bracket had to beat just one of the favorites.

Brodhead earned a shot at Middlesboro in the finals, but only after two games of living dangerously. The Tigers overcame a 48-38 deficit going into the fourth quarter to beat Knox Central, a team they had lost to in December 60-58 in overtime.

What Cash remembers most vividly wasn't the two free throws he hit to beat Knox Central, but the futility of trying to guard Cumberland's Cockerel in the second game. Cockerel finished with a game-high 29 points despite being chased by Cash, but Brodhead solved Cumberland's press and staved off a late rally to win 62-60.

"I knew we had a good ball club, but that's when it really hit me that we could go," Mullins said. "We had won two games and I just had a feeling that we were going to beat Middlesboro."

Brodhead now had to contain the 6-8 Mayhall, who reportedly was being recruited by the University of Kentucky at the time. The Tigers played a very deliberate game, but trailed all night before tying the game at 33 with 4:15 left. They went on to win 43-37.

At halftime of the Middlesboro game, Joe B. Hall, then an assistant under Adolph Rupp at

UK, was quoted as saying, "Brodhead is the best-coached ball club I have seen all year."

Cheryl Riddle Brown, Billy Riddle's daughter and a member of Brodhead's cheerleading squad which also won first place, said it was the most spirited crowd they had ever seen. The only chat she remembers leading in the second half was "We want to win."

If there was one thing in my high school years that I would like to relive, I guess it would be that," she said of the trip to the State. "Because it was really just fantastic."

The players snipped the nets, and Cash, Burton and Mullins were named to the All Tournament team.

Cars dotted the emergency lane of Interstate 75 between Evans and Mt. Vernon waiting for Brodhead's bus. By the time it pulled into Mt. Vernon, a stream of cars snaked behind it, following it down to Brodhead.

People shuffled in and out of the little house all night. Cheryl said Needless to say, there wasn't a great deal of studying that week with congratulatory cards and messages being sent to the school, the confusion over State Tournament tickets, the county-wide pep rally held on Monday night.

"It was one of the best years I've had," Mullins said. "You really felt special. It was something nobody in Brodhead had ever done."

While Brodhead was playing Middlesboro Saturday night, Charles Norris, then an assistant under Preston Parrett at Livingston, was scouting Warren East in its 4th Region victory over Bowling Green.

Norris' report was simple: Warren East, 23-1 was small, but extremely quick.

"I went into the game a little overcautious," Riddle said. "I think probably we slowed it a little more and took better care of the ball than we should have to play our regular game."

Brodhead also had to contend with Johnny Britt who finished with 25 points and 13 rebounds. The Tigers net the score at 29 at the half and pulled within four, 46-41, with 6:21 left.

That's when Warren East scored 13 straight points in a decisive two-minute span. The final score read Warren East 69, Brodhead 59. The Tigers' dream season had ended with a 29-9 record.

"I knew Warren East had a good team," Burton said. "I think if we could have played three or four more minutes, we could have won the game."

every one of the people who played turned out to be a good citizen," Riddle said. "I don't remember a doctor, lawyer or Indian chief, but everyone of them made a good, solid citizen."

Cash lives at Ottawa and works at Donaldson's in Nicholasville. Brown works for the Post Office in Berea. Burton is a lab technologist at Rockcastle Hospital. Mullins is meat department manager at Foodtown in Mt. Vernon. LaFeavers sells insurance for Commonwealth of Kentucky, and Harris is employed by Okmont in Richmond.

Proctor works for a government run credit union in Cincinnati. Crawford works for the railroad. Arnold is the stock manager at Foodland in Brodhead. Collins is in the Navy stationed in San Diego. Taylor farms and Mink lives in Ohio.

Riddle who coached at RCHS for seven seasons, retired from teaching last year. He still works for RCHS principal Clonster Sackin, but now in the capacity of farm manager. Hamm teaches at Brodhead Elementary School.

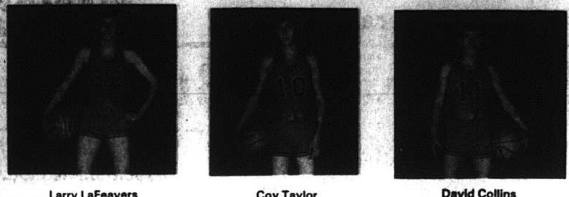

Even 15 years later, memories of the day, the bus pulled out of Brodhead and headed for Louisville come flooding back, especially during the week of the State Tournament.

The basketball goal still stands at Cash Coliseum now empty, except for a few grazing cows. Cash plans to make a similar goal for his business, Andrew and Aaron.

Maybe they will have a chance to go back to the State Tournament like their dad did in March of 1972.

"It's something I wish every body could experience once in their life," Brown said. "Of course if they did it, wouldn't it be an experience."

That's what makes it so special: the stuff of dreams.

Fishing moderate to heavy

Fishing activity for the March 28-29 weekend was reported moderate to heavy statewide. Angler success was fair and varied widely. Water temperatures are fluctuating greatly due to the unstable weather patterns the state is experiencing, which may cause fishing activity to change often during the week. The lake-by-lake rundown, as reported by conservation officers or creel clerks at each lake:

Kentucky: Crappie were hitting jigs over submerged cover 8-12 feet deep; murky to muddy, rising slowly, four and one-half feet below summer pool and 80 degrees.

Barkley: Crappie were taking minnows and jigs over stump rows, brush piles and drop-offs in 5-12 feet of water; black bass were hitting plastic worms, crank baits and spinner baits off rocky points 3-10 feet deep; clear, stable at five feet below summer pool and 61 degrees, but cooling quickly.

Barren: Crappie were hitting small jigs over brush piles 6-10 feet deep; black bass were taking spinner baits along steep banks 3-8 feet deep; white bass and crappie were highly active in the tailwaters on jigs and spinners, clear, rising 10 feet below summer pool and 56 degrees.

Nolin: Crappie were taking minnows around stick ups in about 3-6 feet of water; murky to muddy, rising and 53 degrees.

Rough River: Black bass were active on minnows and crank baits off shallow points and over stump beds 2-10 feet deep; crappie were hitting minnows and small jigs over submerged cover 4-12 feet deep; small crappie were being taken in the tailwaters; murky to muddy, rising slowly 11 feet below summer pool and 56 degrees.

Taylorsville: Black bass were striking crank baits, jigs and spinner baits along shallow banks over cover about 6-10 feet deep; murky, stable at summer pool and 59 degrees.

Herrington: Black bass were active on spinner baits and crank baits off sloping banks in 12-15 ft of water; clear, stable at 5 feet below summer pool and 54 degrees.

Green River: Crappie were hitting minnows over submerged tree tops 6-15 feet deep; black bass were taking crank baits and jigs and rind combinations off rocky points in 3-10 feet of water.

murky, stable at four feet below summer pool and 55 degrees.

Cumberland: Rockfish were hitting early jigs on live shad and large white jugs off shallow points about 20 feet deep; crappie were taking minnows over brush piles 6-12 feet deep; clear, stable at eight feet below summer pool and 53 degrees.

Dale Hollow: Black bass were hitting minnows and crank baits off rocky points in 8-10 feet of water; crappie were taking minnows over tree tops about 15-22 feet deep; clear, stable at summer pool and 60 degrees.

Laurel: White bass were hitting spinners in the mouths of creeks 4-6 feet deep; trout were making number runners in open water 6-10 feet deep; some black bass were hitting crank baits in 6-8 feet of water; clear, stable at one foot below summer pool and 52 degrees.

Cave Run: Black bass were active on spinner baits and jigs off rocky points and over submerged timber 1-5 feet deep; muskie were taking crank baits and jerk baits in the backs of coves and along creek runs in about 2-8 feet of water; clear to murky, stable at two feet below summer pool and 58 degrees.

Paintsville: Trout were hitting wax worms, red worms and corn along grass beds on the bottom; black bass were taking jigs off steep banks about five feet deep; murky, stable at summer pool and 53 degrees.

Buckhorn: Crappie were taking minnows over submerged cover 4-6 feet deep; white bass were hitting small spinners and jigs below the first riffle in the headwaters as the white bass run is in progress; some muskie and white bass were being taken in the tailwaters; clear to murky, rising slowly, three feet above winter pool and 56 degrees.

Grayson: Black bass were hitting nightcrawlers along mud banks in three feet of water; crappie were hitting minnows around stick ups about four feet deep; clear to murky, rising slowly, seven feet below summer pool and 54 degrees.

Dewees: Crappie were taking wax worms and spinners over brush piles about 2-4 feet deep; black bass were hitting jigs off rocky points about 10 feet deep; muddy, stable at five feet below summer pool and 55 degrees.

Fishtrap: Crappie were hit ting minnows over submerged cover 4-6 feet deep; black bass were hitting spinners and crank baits off points 10-12 feet deep; clear to murky, stable at winter pool and 52 degrees.

Rabies from wild animals is big risk

Every year many people risk getting rabies by handling a wild animal.

Last year, the number of confirmed cases of rabies more than doubled from a record low year in 1985. Wild animals accounted for about one-third of all rabies examinations. However, four-fifths of the wild animals taken in for examination were found to have the virus, while domestic animals checked for rabies were much less likely to be infected.

Skunks were by far the most common animal found to have rabies, followed by foxes, dogs, bats, horses, cows and one raccoon. Since there is a much higher chance that a wild animal taken in for examination will test positive for rabies, it makes good common sense not to handle a wild animal unless absolutely necessary.

Capturing a wild animal for domestication as a pet or for use as a showpiece can present problems that otherwise could be avoided. It is a good idea not to handle a wild animal particularly if it seems tame and allows humans to come very close. Taking a wild animal from the wilds, except during an open season, is also illegal.

A rabid animal may or may not show signs of having rabies. If the virus is in an early stage the animal probably will not be flailing at the mouth or acting out of the ordinary, other than not fleeing from humans.

Wild animals instinctively associate humans with danger and will run away from humans most of the time. If a wild animal does not flee, that is a definite warning signal that something is probably wrong with the animal.

Treatment for rabies, although no longer a painful series of shots taken in the stomach, is still an unpleasant experience. Children especially can reduce their chances of getting rabies and having to take a half dozen shots if they are instructed to leave wildlife alone, even if a young wild animal looks abandoned. Many times a young animal's parent is out-of-sight nearby and is actually attending to the young animal. So although intentions to help wildlife may be good, they can sometimes lead to a needless problem.

Another way to help lessen the chance of getting rabies is to make sure pets are vaccinated against the virus and that dogs particularly are kept penned or chained. Domestic animals are much more likely to come in contact with a rabid wild animal if they are allowed to run loose on farms or in urban areas.

Avoiding instances that could potentially cause rabies to be transmitted to humans is the best way to avoid the problem. Catching a wild animal to have as an unusual pet is not worth the consequence of possibly getting the virus. Rabies can be passed from animal to animal or from animal to human through the infected animal's saliva, yet this does not necessarily mean by being bitten. Saliva in a rabid animal that comes in contact with an open wound may also pass the virus.

If an animal is suspected of having rabies, it should be reported immediately to a local health department so that the animal can be captured and examined. It is better to keep an eye on the animal and let a professional capture it than to attempt to catch the animal yourself.

The first concrete road in the U.S. was laid in Detroit in 1805.

Now your telephone can have a service you've been reading about for years.

For years, the idea of holding a three way conversation on a telephone was only a fantasy. Now, three way conversations are only one of the advantages of getting Custom Calling from Contel. You can also get Speed Calling, a service that makes it possible to reach some numbers faster. Instead of having to dial seven numbers, you only dial one. With Call Waiting, your phone tells you someone is trying to reach you when you're already on the telephone. And with Call Forwarding, you don't have to stay home waiting for a phone call. You simply send all your calls to the place you're going to be. You can have it all with Custom Calling from Contel. If you'd like to hear more about how some of the things you've only read about can be a reality for you, just give us a call. CONTEL Connected Telephone System

Miss Cromer is finalist in scholarship beauty pageant

Kimberly Ann Cromer, daughter of Glen and Melinda Cromer of Mt. Vernon, has been chosen as a finalist to compete in the 1987 Miss Cumberland Falls Scholarship Pageant. "A Nite 'O Country" is the theme of this year's pageant to be held at the Corbin High School Auditorium on Saturday Evening, April 4th at 7:30 p.m. Celebrating its twentieth anniversary, the Cumberland Falls Scholarship Pageant is sponsored by the Corbin Lions Club and will feature as Mistress of Ceremonies Miss Kentucky 1986, Melinda Cumberland. In addition to Miss Kentucky, featured entertainers will be the Miss Cumberland Falls 1986 Elizabeth Walden of London, the Sugarland Spice Cloggers, The Cumberland Falls Pageant 2700 consisting of Patsy Faulkner, Paul Sims, and Dr. Brent Chumbley, and the Bill Allison Combo.

Callahan, Marcia Smith, and Nancy Dunaway of Bourbonville; Debbie Foster of Stearns; Janelle Cavendish and Mary Charles of Cumberland College; Donna Gammons of Williamsburg; and Angela Stanfill of Somerset.

Miss Cumberland Falls 1987 will win a $2500 Scholarship to Union College, a $500 Scholarship to Cumberland College, a $400 Scholarship to the college of her choice donated by Pepsi Cola of Corbin, a $100 Gift Certificate to both the Quality Shop and to Maggie's of Corbin, and a $150 Gift Certificate to Byble's Photography of Corbin. She will also represent the Cumberland Falls area in the Miss Kentucky Pageant to be held in July. The Miss Kentucky winner will advance to Atlantic City to compete in the Miss America Pageant in September. In 1986, scholarships totaling over $5,000,000 were awarded contestants in the Miss America pageants at the local, state, and national levels. These pageants compose the largest woman's scholarship foundation in the world.

Reserved seat tickets are available from members of the Corbin Lions Club for $5 per seat.

However, excellent general admission seats will be available on the night of the pageant for $4 at the door.

EXTENSION HOME ECONOMICS

Are you too fat? Then join the club. According to a USDA report released through the Kentucky Cooperative Extension Service, 28 percent of the U.S. population aged 25 to 74 is severely overweight.

Kentuckians are among the members of this inlorious group. Approximately 26 percent of Kentuckians over 18 years of age—670,000 adults—are obese, says a 1985 study by the Kentucky Department for Health Resources. Obesity, defined as being 20 percent or more heavier than one's desirable weight as defined in Metropolitan Life-Insurance Company tables.

The reason? Not enough exercise. That same study showed that 61 percent of Kentuckians lead a sedentary lifestyle. Other health and nutrition surveys show that Americans are eating less than our ancestors did 50 years ago, but most of us are overweight. It doesn't take a Harvard scholar to conclude that lack of exercise is a big factor in obesity.

Obesity is most prevalent among the poor and so are health problems related to obesity, such as diabetes and high blood pressure. Kentucky has one of the highest heart disease rates in the nation.

Eating too much, of course, is another reason why people are too fat, but we still need to be more active physically.

A good reducing plan should include exercise. By walking more, by doing some work in the yard, by taking up a new hobby that requires moving about such as woodworking or gardening, we can help burn up more calories than we take in.

Girl Scout Memories

Miss Helen Spicer Orth, born March 18, 1897, came to Mt. Vernon from Maryland in 1927 to become a resident nurse in the Civil War Memorial. This was a girl's dormitory and school operated by the Presbyterian Mission Board and supported by Brown Memorial Church and Mrs. Thomas P. Langdon of Baltimore, Maryland. Miss Orth later became the first county nurse of Rockcastle County, living at Langdon Home. She left Mt. Vernon for a position with the State Department in Washington, D.C. She had retired from the State Department and was returning to her cottage and relatives in Maryland when she suffered a heart attack March 12, 1969, which was a national Girl Scout Day. Her neighbor, two sisters in Washington sent me a beautiful hand-blown vase of hers which I cherish.

In the year 1928 Miss Orth organized Mt. Vernon's first Girl Scout Troop #114. I don't remember the exact month or day, but it was after the first June graduation exercises in the then new grade and high school of which I was a graduate. I was appointed First Lieutenant by Miss Orth and received my uniform, hand book, pins and identification card. Mrs. Robert Huff the mother of Dorothy Landrum was the sponsor. The troop was divided into smaller groups called patrols. The Mt. Vernon Troop had two patrols with approximately eight or nine scouts in each. The regular meetings were held in the new Mt. Vernon grade and high school gymnasium. Here the scouts could learn and practice marching (timing, pivoting, etc.) and the signal code with the flags and also learn about the Girl Scout Organization, the emblem, motto, promise and laws.

The troop had many projects for earning needed funds, such as selling tickets and advertising for special shows and movies at the Miller Theatre, which had been recently built and changed from silent to sound. The scouts received a percent of the profits and through other projects and donations, a camp was built at Beach Bottom on the banks of Rockcastle River near Livingston, off of Highway 25 and below the landmark Castle Rock. The camp had two cabins or bunk houses, a kitchen and mess hall. The names on the cabins were Langdon and J.J. Felton, donors. Mr. Felton was a teacher and teacher. The large wooded area made an appropriate site for the nature study of trees, wild flowers and birds. I have my tree study book, Forest Trees of Kentucky, with so many leaves of different trees in it. The Rockcastle River near, helped in receiving their swim badge and the hikes up to and the exploring of Castle Rock or crossing the river in a canoe to climb the hill were wonderful adventures. Their ceremony in which they received their badges and merit awards was performed on the last night of camp with families and friends invited. They would gather around the camp fire for their torch light service and presentation of merit awards and badges, which each scout diligently earned.

The Girl Scouts and leaders while at camp prepared a picnic pack and crossed the river on rocks at a low point and climbed the steep hill to Castle Rock. After lunch they explored the rock and surrounding area. They entered a cave-like entrance on the north side. There was a narrow, curved passage way that led to a hole at the top. It was reported that a very small Boy Scout of the Mt. Vernon troop had wormed his way to the top and placed a flag there. Behind this huge rock were about seven others, large but more flat and had the appearance of being smoked or burnt. Not very far from these lives a family, Miss Orth being the county nurse at that time had visited the family often before. She had been treating one of the children for blood poisoning as the result of stepping on a rusty nail. A trip was made to Castle Rock. The river having raised they went in cars down the highway, where there was a store and several homes. A young girl took them a few at a time across the river in a canoe and they climbed up a path to Castle Rock.

The Girl Scout troop with their leaders always marched in uniform with their flag in parades or with the Masonic Order and the American Legion for their ceremonies at the graves in the burial of their members. In 1986, the Licking Valley Girl Scout council used my uniform at a showing. My mailman and his wife were leaders.

I have some of the names of the Girl Scouts that were at camp. Ruby Riddle, Annie and Elizabeth was woman. She said that he had recommended her to the board because he did not feel that she could handle the job. She also said that Parsons and Mrs. Hamm's educational philosophies were different.

Federal trial held in Frankfort

"Mr. Parsons believes in the basics of reading, writing and arithmetic, programs that will help all the students in the school to get a good education," Mrs. Noble said. "Mrs. Hamm's philosophy is more toward the enrichment programs for the better students no matter what the cost to the school system."

"Mr. Parsons has said that he wanted people that could work together in his harness and be a team player," Noble added. "He did not think Mrs. Hamm could be that type of person."

The trial began Wednesday morning when Mrs. Hamm took the stand to tell the judge why she felt she had been sexually discriminated against by Parsons and the board, in not hiring her for an administrative position.

Mrs. Hamm said that she told Parsons in March, 1977, that she would like to be considered for administrative jobs in the local school system.

She said that at the time she talked with Parsons, he told her, "Rockcastle County is not ready for a woman principal."

"You mean you are not ready," she replied to Parsons, who in turn told her, "That's right, and I never will be."

Mrs. Hamm testified that after her conversation with Parsons she wrote him a letter dated April 1, 1977 asking that she be considered for any administrative jobs, particularly curriculum specialist, special education coordinator and assistant elementary principal. She testified that she did not apply for a principalship because Parsons had told her that there would be no need.

But, when Parsons took the stand in his own defense Thursday morning he told the judge that he had never had any such conversation with Mrs. Hamm that he had certainly not told her that there would not be a woman principal in Rockcastle County, and he emphatically denied receiving the letter that Mrs. Hamm said she had written him. No copy of the letter could be found in Mrs. Hamm's personnel file.

Sue Hamm

Charles B. Parsons

But, Mrs. Hamm and her husband Doug, who is the local instructional supervisor in the school system, testified that the letter was in her file when they received it from a secretary at the central office. They testified that their lawyers had told them to get the personnel file and make copies of the material in it, if they were afraid that some of the documents would be destroyed. Both Mr. and Mrs. Hamm testified that the letter had obviously been destroyed because it was no longer in her file.

But, Parsons testified that he did not destroy the letter because he had never seen it until Mrs. Hamm filed her lawsuit and the letter was attached to the notification of the suit, by Mrs. Hamm's attorneys.

Although, Parsons' lawyer strongly objected, the letter was entered into evidence as an exhibit for the plaintiffs.

During the trial, Mrs. Janet Rader Burke, a former special education teacher at Brodhead and Livingston for 12 years, and now school psychologist testified that while Boge Towery was principal at Brodhead school he had praised Mrs. Hamm's work on more than one occasion.

She testified that Towery told her that Mrs. Hamm was a "big help" to him in the special education field and especially during the S.B.A.R.C. meetings.

S.B.A.R.C. meetings are held for special education students who have been tested once every three years and for students who have been referred to the special education programs in the respective schools.

Mrs. Burke told the judge that she, Mrs. Hamm and Towery had been in approximately 100 S.B.A.R.C. meetings while she was at Brodhead school. State law requires that the principal, guidance counselor, special education teacher and the parent meet before a student is placed in the special education program.

But Towery testified Thursday for the school board and Parsons and Towery said, that while he was sure that he had praised some of Mrs. Hamm's work he never felt she was dedicated to her job.

He also testified that he, along with other elementary school principals, were upset by the fact that Mrs. Hamm was not always at school when she was scheduled to be. Towery also testified that he felt Mrs. Hamm spent too much time in the central office, "doing what ever" and not doing her assigned duties.

Wednesday, Brodhead Principal Tom Payne testified that the problem was not the quality of Mrs. Hamm's work. The problem was that the schools needed a counselor more than once a week and Mrs. Hamm did not have time to do all for which she was responsible. He said that her schedule was a "real problem" at that time because she was counselor for all four elementary schools and she was scheduled to be in the central office one day a week.

Payne testified that he and the other principals had the same concerns about the need for a better guidance program and they asked Towery to speak to Parsons about the problem.

Towery testified that he did speak to Parsons about the problem and Parsons told him not to intrude someone's job unless you know everything about their position.

Parsons also testified that he did speak to Mrs. Hamm concerning the problem and that she got upset and accused him of harassing her. He testified that he talked to Mrs. Hamm on more than one occasion about the principals' request.

Mrs. Hamm said that Parsons never talked to her about any problem other than the schedule which was a problem to all, including her. She said that many principals who were supposed to be at Brodhead school and there was a S.B.A.R.C. meeting at another school. She testified that under state law she had to be at the S.B.A.R.C. meetings. But she also testified that she always let the principals know where she was and why.

Mrs. Hamm was criticized by Garland Cummins, who testified for the defendants for not following up on referrals from teachers. He said that how far into the night students needed counseling would refer them to Mrs. Hamm but that she would not get back to them.

He also testified that he had other problems with Mrs. Hamm while he was principal at Brodhead school for a one-year period. While Cummins, who is now the local finance officer, was director of pupil personnel he was also Title Nine director. Title Nine director is responsible for notifying teachers and students of their rights under Title Nine. Title Nine has to do with non-discrimination. Cummins testified that he has told all of the teachers in the school system their rights. He also testified that he had talked with Mr. and Mrs. Hamm on different occasions about Mrs. Hamm getting a principal's job, but that they had told him that they were not interested because of possible conflict.

During Parsons' testimony, he said that he had not considered Mrs. Hamm for a principal's job for several reasons.

Those reasons included Mrs. Hamm being out of the system too much on business that was not school related and going to workshops and conventions with her husband although she had nothing to gain from the workshops.

He said that he had complaints from parents about Mrs. Hamm being out in the county during the school hours. He said that Wendell Williams, a parent from Roundstone, had complained to him about seeing Mrs. Hamm out while she should be in school.

P-14 The Mt. Vernon Signal Thursday, April 2, 1987

Parsons said that this was embarrassing to the school system and to him.

He also said that Mrs. Hamm was a controversial figure and a non-directive type person that had not established a record of a disciplinarian.

Parsons also explained that after his wife, Bonjira, had retired from teaching second grade at Mt. Vernon, she was visiting a neighbor, Mrs. Edna Cummins, during school hours one day and Mrs. Hamm showed up on a social call.

Parsons said that if upset his wife because she knew that Mrs. Hamm should be at school and she left.

Friday, Mrs. Cummins took the stand and testified that the only time Mrs. Hamm and Mrs. Parsons had been at her home at the same time was in July of 1974, when school was not in session and before Mrs. Parsons had retired. She said that she could recall the date easily because she had just had surgery. Mrs. Cummins said that she was personal friends of the Parsons.

During Doug Hamm's testimony, he told the judge that Parsons had told him on several occasions that under no circumstances would he hire a woman as a principal or a black as anything in the school system. He said that he and Parsons would go through the applications when they would come in to see if they were black. He also testified that Parsons asked him to deal with the black contractors when the new high school was built because he did not want to.

But, during Parsons' testimony, he denied ever saying those statements to Hamm.

Towery, Buford Parkerson, Cummins and others also testified that Parsons had never told them he would not hire a woman principal.

But, Mark McKinney testified that Parkerson told him that Parsons had said that the county was not ready for a woman principal just yet during a conversation at the Mt. Vernon Elementary School.

Parsons' lawyer, Mary Noble, contended that everyone in the school system knew how administrative jobs were filled and that Mrs. Hamm should have gone to Parsons and told him that she was upset when she did not get what she wanted. She also said Parsons did not tell Mrs. Hamm as a principal because she was a woman, but because others had always recommended someone else for the job in question. Mrs. Noble said that it would have not mattered if Mrs. Hamm was a woman or a man. She said that Parsons did not think that Mrs. Hamm would help pull together and run a good school system.

Broodhead teacher, Mrs. Claudine Cash, told the judge that Parsons had encouraged her to apply for assistant principal and principal jobs so strongly that she felt she would certainly be hired soon after submitting an application. She said that she did not know if she was ready for that or not at the time and she did not turn in her application. This was soon after Mrs. Cash received her principal's certificate.

Former Broodhead school secretary Blanche Baldwin said that she had kept a record of Mrs. Hamm's attendance at Broodhead school after many complaints about Mrs. Hamm had been made throughout the community.

Mrs. Hamm's attorney, Jennifer Coffman, asked Mrs. Baldwin if anyone had authorized her to keep such a record. She said that no one had told her to do so, but that she kept it on her own. She kept a record when Mrs. Hamm came to school, went to lunch, and left school.

Mrs. Hamm later testified that she did not sign in with Mrs. Baldwin and never told her when she was leaving.

Mrs. Baldwin said that Mr. and Mrs. Hamm were referred to by people in the community as "wellfare twins", people receiving a check but not working.

Livingston Principal Jerry Mink testified that Mrs. Hamm's work had greatly improved over the past two years, since she filed her suit against the board and he also testified that he recommended John Hale for the Mt. Vernon job over Mrs. Hamm because he felt Hale was more qualified.

Livingston Elementary School teacher Mrs. Margaret McClure testified that Mrs. Hamm wrote articles about herself in the local newspaper and that she would have reservations about working with her after this suit.

She also told the judge that it was unpopular to disagree with the superintendent in Rockcastle County.

Besides her husband, Payne, Mink, McKinney, Cummins and Burke, Shirley Long, Connie Hamm, Judy Harrison, Judy Stewart, Shackelford, Geraldine Holbrook, Betty Jo McKinney and Virginia Souder were called as witnesses by Mrs. Hamm.

Besides Towery, Parkerson, Cummins, Baldwin, Cash and McClure, Mary Neville Cash, John Hale and Willie Taylor were called as witnesses by the board and Parsons.

During closing arguments, all witnesses who had been called and those who had not were allowed in the court room.

Parson's witnesses sat behind his table and Mrs. Hamm's witnesses sat behind hers.

It is important that the child be restrained so that he does not get hurt by having his ear canal poked with the examining instrument. It is also very difficult for the doctor to see the eardrum if he is looking at a moving target. The same goes for the throat. If a test is taken from the throat for strep it is important to get a good thorough swabbing. So, don't get upset with Junior or the doctor if Junior doesn't cooperate.

Blue Mold is serious problem

Blue mold is one of the most serious disease threats Kentucky farmers face each year, and the potential for disaster is growing. Strains of the disease found in Cuba and Mexico are resistant to the chemical most commonly used to control it in Kentucky.

Following the adage that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, especially when the cure may not work anymore, researchers in the University of Kentucky, College of Agriculture are developing a method of vaccinating tobacco plants against blue mold. The process is relatively simple, but painstaking.

A tobacco plant is inoculated with blue mold using a hypodermic needle in much the same way a person would be inoculated. After the inoculation takes effect disks of tissue about the size of a capital O are removed from the plant and placed in a special growing medium. Here, the tiny disks grow into new plants which are resistant to blue mold.

Joseph Kue, the UK plant pathologist heading up the research, said it will be several years before resistant plants are commonly available due to the need for field testing and development of ways to mass produce the disease resistant plants.

The clones, the plants grown from the tissue disks, may have the resistance in their seed or they may not. If they do we can produce seed with the resistance. If they do not, we may be able mix the resistant plants with the non-resistant plants. Kue said.

4-H NEWS

4-H VARIETY SHOW
By: John McQuary
County Extension Agent
for 4-H

The County 4-H Variety Show will take place on Tuesday, April 21st at 7 p.m. at Brodhead Elementary School. The practice night will be on the 20th at Brodhead Elementary. This event consists of specialty and club acts and is held at the area and state level also. It provides an opportunity for large numbers of 4-H participants to gain poise, confidence, develop character and sportsmanship, while working cooperatively with others.

Clubs planning to participate need to carefully read over and follow the rules and guidelines:

1. Specialty Acts shall consist of four 4-H participants or fewer and have a time limit of four minutes. A 4-H club may have up to two specialty acts.
2. Minimum requirements for the Club Act state that twenty percent of the club participants or five participants, whichever is greater, must be involved. Club acts have a time limit of eight minutes.
3. Only one person other than 4-H participants, such as a pianist, may accompany the act. Other than the one accompanist, only 4-H participants may appear on the stage during the act.

Variety Show participants must be a 4-H club member or have participated in a 4-H activity since September 1986, and may only represent one club. 4-Hers belonging to two clubs may not be in both club acts.

An act exceeding the time limit should be permitted to finish but cannot be awarded champion.

6. Since participation is of the utmost importance, the combination of clubs for the purpose of presenting a club or specialty act is not permitted.

7. Dramatic readings can be entered as a variety act.

8. All acts must use the same P.A. system. No act will be allowed to provide their own system. As it was last year, an additional P.A. system will be used to supplement the existing Brodhead system. A record player and tape recorder will be available and must be used by participants.

9. Leaders must take care of their own music. (Have tapes set at starting point).

10. Each school will sit together until time for their act. Club leaders are responsible for keeping their group together and quiet. Parents should be recruited to help as chaperones.

11. Admission will be charged to those who are not participating in acts. $75 for children, and $100 for adults. Tickets for participants and leaders will be delivered after clubs call in to register their acts. 4-Hers who lose their tickets will have to pay the admission charge.

12. Clubs must register their acts by calling the Extension Office (256-2903) by Monday, April 13th. NO act that fails to register will be allowed to perform. Registration information will include: a) Name of Act; b) Type of Music to be Used (Cassette, Record, Piano, etc.); c) Number in Act (Names if Specialty); d) Whether you plan to come to Rehearsal Night; e) Number of leaders who helped.

This year, all acts will receive either a white, red or blue ribbon according to their score. The first place specialty and club act will also receive champion ribbons. First, second and third place club acts and specialty acts will receive plaques.

READY, GET SET, DINNER!
By: Cheryl Whit
County Extension Agent
for Home Economics

Coming home is not easy when dinner must be prepared at once. Fortunately, it is possible to prepare tasty, nutritious meals quickly if you give a little time and thought to the job beforehand.

Busy people want meals that maximize flavor while minimizing time spent in the kitchen.

A small amount of time spent in planning and organizing will make it easier to accomplish this.

These tips should make life easier for the harried employee turned homemaker.

• Make weekly menus ahead of time, and save these menus to use again.

• Make a grocery list and shop for a week's meals in one trip.

• When you run out of a food item, immediately write it on your shopping list.

• Use favorite recipes and vary the ingredients to make meal planning easy. For example, pork or chicken can be substituted for beef in a beef stir-fry recipe.

• Prepare food efficiently. Clean and chop all foods at one time. Open all cans and jars. Shred a block of cheese or grate an onion and freeze what you don't use for another recipe.

• Organize condiments, spices and canned goods so they are easy to find and reach.

• Clean up behind you as you work.

• Shorten cooking time by cutting food in small pieces. Small pieces cook faster.

• Prepare muffins or small loaves of bread rather than large loaves—less time is spent cutting and wrapping leftovers. Or prepare two casseroles and freeze one for another day.

• Put your time-saving appliances to work. Food processors, microwave ovens, pressure saucers and the like can cut preparation on time by more than half.

Finally, don't feel guilty about buying convenience foods similar to those you would make yourself. And be on the lookout for quick-to-fix recipes such as this one which takes 15 minutes to prepare and 10 minutes to cook.

Beef with Green Peppers: Cut 1 pound round steak into thin strips. Marinate in 1 tablespoon soy sauce, 1 tablespoon water, and 1 teaspoon cornstarch, 30 minutes.

Stir-fry 4 bell peppers and 1 onion in 2 tablespoons oil, for 3 minutes. Remove.

Stir-fry beef, 1/2 at a time, 2-3 minutes. Return all ingredients, season to taste and heat to serving temperature.

Makes 4 servings, 345 calories each.

News from the IRS

Ministers may elect to be covered by Social Security

Ministers, certain members of religious orders and Christian Science practitioners who previously had elected to be exempt from Social Security coverage may now be covered by filing a waiver form with the Internal Revenue Service. However, once the election is made to be covered by Social Security it is irrevocable.

This election, part of the Tax Reform Act of 1986, must be made by the due date of the applicant's Federal income tax return, including extensions, for the first taxable year beginning after Oct. 22, 1986. For individuals who file on a calendar year basis the election would have to be made by April 15, 1988, unless an extension of time to file has been granted. Also, calendar year taxpayers can make the election effective for either the 1986 or 1987 tax year.

New Form 2031, Waiver Certificate For Use By Ministers, Certain Members of Religious Orders, and Christian Science Practitioners Electing Coverage Under the Social Security Act, may be filed with the individual's federal income tax return or separately in instructions that come with the form provide specific filing information.

Form 2031 can be ordered from the Forms Distribution Center addresses listed in the Form 1040 instructions booklet or by calling 1-800-424-3676.
