"SCHOLARSHIPS"

[Cont. From B-2]

Higher Education Act of 1985, but was not filed until this spring, states had to develop their criteria and procedures under the act's general guidelines immediately for 1987 seniors, McDonald said. The states share $2 million a year for four years under the program.

Scholarship guidelines, selection criteria and application forms developed by the Kentucky Department of Education have been sent to all public high school guidance counselors, all private school principals, and regional vocational school principals and counselors. The Lincoln Foundation, NAACT chapters, and the Urban League have also been mailed information, in an effort to encourage minority applicants.

New recipients of a high school equivalency diploma (GED) and students successfully completing secondary vocational programs or planning to attend accredited vocational schools are urged to apply.

"This scholarship program is designed to include all the students who might have left out of traditional honors scholarships," McDonald stressed, including good students whose jobs might have made top grades difficult to obtain but who have shown outstanding leadership qualities and academic or vocational potential at work and in their communities.

A scholarship committee appointed by Superintendent McDonald will select recipients based on numerically weighted academic, vocational, and leadership qualities. The committee will include a school board member and a parent as well as an administrator or counselor from a high school, a vocational school, and a post-secondary institution. Scholarship recipients will be notified May 11, and a presentation ceremony is scheduled for May 21.

Ramblings...

By: perlina m. anderkin

I happened onto a movie Tuesday night, after watching the Reds beat the Braves, and suddenly I was transported back in time 30 years. I was 15 again and madly in love with Jeff Chandler.

I can remember pliasering my small bedroom with pictures of Jeff Chandler cut from movie magazines. I loved his cleft chin, his iron gray curly hair, the way the muscle in his jaw worked as he spoke in that beautiful voice.

It costs 15 cents to get into the movie in Versailles in those days and I always got my money's worth when one of Jeff Chandler's movies was on. The theatre owners didn't care how many features you sat through so the only thing that would pull me out was the knowledge that Mom didn't share my lust for Jeff Chandler and it wouldn't serve as a viable excuse for being gone to a 2 hour movie more than 6 hours.

When he died, relatively young, my world was devastated for at least one day. It wasn't until years later that it finally occurred to me how quickly I recovered from the loss of the "love of my life."

When the movie came on Tuesday night I called my 15 year old Sara into the room so she could share with me the wonder of Jeff Chandler. Strange, it wasn't her, such a wonder to her. She's more the Tom Cruise George Strait type. But their understandable. Each generation must have their own idols. But I must say this generation's idols can't compare to Jeff Chandler or Clark Gable, (well, George Strait is kind of cute).

If you notice a different type on some stories in this week's paper, it's because we have acquired some new equipment and are having trouble tuning in to the more "advanced technology" the machines represent. I suppose we'll have to give in and call on the $50 an hour "advanced salesman" to show us how to get any use out of all this wonderful technology.

As most of you know, we also publish the Jackson County Sun and the people in that county constantly amaze me.

They have organizations galore to assist the elderly, the handicapped, the young people, the hungry, etc and one of their latest community projects is a clean-up week. During this time, they are asking for individuals and business people to donate an hour of their time in cleaning up the area around them of litter. They have one of the most modern landfills in this part of the state and maybe in the country and this is an effort to try to get their county clean and keep it that way. It would be a wonderful project for Rockcastle County. Of course the bigger dump sites along the road would take the efforts of a group of people but it could all be worked out perhaps by a civic club. Anyway, it's something to think about with Spring here and maybe with the new garbage system we could enjoy a more beautiful county.

Kendall Seaton pleads guilty to two-count federal indictment

Kendall Seaton, who served as State Director of the Farmers Home Administration (FHA), until his resignation last January, has entered a plea of guilty to conflict of interest charges, according to Louis DeFalaise, United States Attorney for the Eastern District of Kentucky.

Seaton, of Lexington, pled guilty to one count of a two-count indictment returned by a federal grand jury on March 4, 1987.

According to statements made in court by Assistant United States Attorney, John M. Compton, Seaton violated federal conflict of interest statutes when he accepted gifts and other considerations from two contractors engaged in contracts with the FHA.

Assistant United States Attorney Compton advised Judge Reed that among the gifts accepted by Seaton were University of Kentucky football and basketball tickets, Kentucky Derby tickets, and goods and services for Seaton's Lexington home. The contractors allegedly furnished insulation, storm windows, carpeting, built-in book cases, garage door openers, and other items of value for which Seaton did not pay.

According to a plea agreement accepted by Judge Scott Reed and filed in the record of the case, the government will dismiss the remaining count of the indictment. On the charge to which Seaton pled guilty, he faces two years in prison and a $250,000 fine when he is sentenced on June 2 by Judge Reed.

The investigation of this case was conducted jointly by the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the United States Department of Agriculture.

KET call-out success here

Rockcastle County volunteers raised $2,900 during the Friends of KET County Call-Out, helping KET to raise more than $600,000 for TeleFund '87.

Under the leadership of KET County Coordinators Mr. and Mrs. John Holbrook, volunteers telephoned residents of Rockcastle to become members of the Friends of KET. The local telephone campaign was part of KET's TeleFund '87, the network's annual fund-raising campaign. Monies raised, during TeleFund are used for the acquisition and production of weekend and evening programs.

GIRL SCOUT MEMORIES

Girl Scouting remembered 1952-54

By: Linda R. Ashley
(Formerly of Rockcastle)
Marshallfield, Ma.

I read Mrs. Coffey's request for any Girl Scout memories so I'd like to share a few of mine.

I was one of the scouts under Mrs. Joyce Henderson from 1952 until 1954. Thanks to Mrs. Henderson for a job well done are long overdue. She gave untiring effort and long hours to preparing good scouting activities for us. She was interested in the whole person, so she attempted to teach us self-discipline and self-worth along with the skills from the scout book. And when I talk to the proper Bostonian doctors with whom I work, I can hear her say, "Linda, the color is yellow, no yella."

We celebrated the 40th anniversary of Girl Scouting in 1952.

I remember Mrs. Landrum helping us, as well as Barbara Davis and Joyce Baker. Once I remember taking a hike to the Henderson home near 461 and 150 Mrs. Landrum was there and taught us about the constellations, using a flashlight to point them out. I still look for Orion and use it to orient myself whenever I move to a new house. We invited the Boy Scouts on that outing and cooked for them. We burned the food and scorched the hot chocolate. They sent us a thank you note with a little cookbook.

I believe Mrs. Ann Henderson also helped with us. I certainly remember sitting on the floor in her home making Christmas wreaths to sell, and there may have been other times when she was there.

Wreaths were only one of the things we sold. We also sold Girl Scout cookies, but they didn't come in boxes. We baked them ourselves, using "Miss Joyce's" recipe for gundrop cookies, put them in brown lunch bags, and sold them from a table in front of the Mt. Vernon Hotel.

We did several community service projects. We sold poppies for the veterans of foreign wars. We collected for the March of Dimes and other drives. We made things for the Shriners Hospital and Cardinal Hill. Once we made out cards for a T.B. Clinic. Surely no scouts will have to do that again.

I went on a trip to Mammoth Cave in 1953. We rode a school bus, first to Harrodsburg where we toured the Museum and Fort, then to Bardonia and "My Old Kentucky Home." We got to Mammoth Cave late in the evening. Mrs. Henderson had already ordered our dinner, and we had hot dogs, sauerkraut and kumquat. Someone gave me the key to the wrong room, and when I opened the door, there were already people in it. I was really frightened. The next day we toured the cave. We took a boat ride on the underground river and sang "Tell Me Why." I thought that was the most beautiful singing I had ever heard because of the way it echoed through the cave. I still have postcards I bought at each stop to add to my post card collection. I started in 1951 and still continue. The strange thing about all this is that I can picture myself in all these places, but I can't remember anyone else who went along on this trip at all, unless it was Nanette Milen.

Another fun time I remember was a hay ride. We went to the old Henderson place which was like a log cabin. We danced the Virginia Reel and other folk dances. I think the Boy Scouts were invited for that, too. Again I can't picture any of the faces there except that I believe Dr. Joe Henderson was takes true dedication to do it. And the girls who choose scouting are to be commended too with pressures to make other choices. (Rewritten by Kathy Coffey)

April 22 is scout leader day

The 75th anniversary celebration of Girl Scouting is an opportunity for our community to publicly recognize the millions of Girl Scout leaders who over the years have invested their time and service in America's most valuable resource - its youth.

Today's Girl Scout leaders are different from the leaders of 1912 when Juliette Gordon Low began Girl Scouting. She (or he) may be an entrepreneur, a single parent, an athlete, or a homemaker. Yet they embody the same ingredient that established Girl Scouting as a community tradition - a commitment to share and explore opportunities with girls.

Girl Scout leaders are special people. They work in partnership with girls to help them develop values and, so doing, they help shape girls' lives. For 75 years, Girl Scout leaders have provided the guidance to help girls grow into competent, resourceful women. And our community has reaped the rewards of their work.

April 22 is Girl Scout Leader's Day.

This newspaper is proud of the Girl Scout leaders who have made personal commitments to help our community's young women. The significant contributions of past generations of Girl Scout adults have made a marked difference in our world, and present-day Girl Scout leaders continue this fine American tradition.

A special thanks to Gaylen Serris, Reba Reynolds, Debra Helton, Charlotte Lowell, Anita, Todd, Kathy Coffey, Iris Parker, Donna Brewer and Regina Hodge.

and to aid the network's outreach services including Project Literacy U.S., GED on TV and Dropout Prevention.

In addition to the funds raised by the volunteers, an additional matching community service grant for volunteer time will be awarded to KET by the Corporation for Public Broadcasting.

Rockcastle County Friends of KET urge those who expressed interest in pledging but were undecided on the amount, to mail pledge forms to KET as soon as possible in order to increase the county total.

KET Executive Director O. Leonard Press said, "We are extremely pleased with the record results of this year's fund raising drive. It is particularly gratifying to us when local volunteers give their time and energy to help us in this effort."

FACTS ABOUT OUR COMPANY.

Clayton Homes headquartered in Knoxville, Tennessee, builds, retails, finances and insures manufactured homes.

From our beginning in 1966 as a single retail center, Clayton has become one of America's housing giants. In 1986 a respected industry publication ranked Clayton the second largest retailer and the sixteenth largest home builder in the United States.

Clayton produces solidly-constructed homes at a competitive price. Our homes meet strict standards for fire safety, structural integrity, wind loads and thermal protection.

Clayton multi-section homes are unique in that they are built as one complete unit, and separated for shipping only after the home has been completely trimmed and decorated. This assures a perfect fit every time.

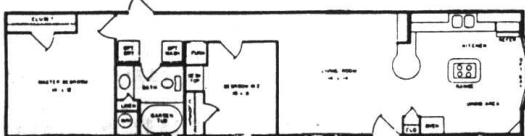

Clayton has built primary and secondary homes for more than a million people throughout the South and Midwest. One-fourth of the Company's sales come from referrals by our satisfied customers.

In June 1983 the Company became a publicly owned corporation in December 1984 Clayton was invited to list with the New York Stock Exchange.

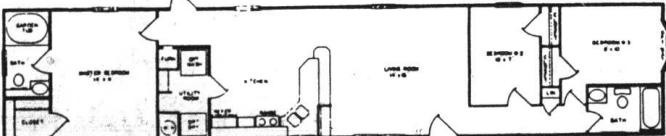

Through its 1700 dedicated people, Clayton remains committed to its homeowners in providing low maintenance high-value quality homes.

In every endeavor to do the BEST that can be done, not just better than others have done.

Two North Carolina men freed in drug store holdup

By: Richard Anderkin

A seven man, five women jury, found two North Carolina men not guilty of the Dec. 20, 1985 armed robbery of the Mt. Vernon Drive Thru Pharmacy. Jurors Dale McClure, George Harris, Martha J. VanWinkle, Larry Cook, Oris B. Mullins, Emma Shotts, Wayne Harding, Jerry Brown, Barbara Faulkner, Jackie McKinney, Juanita Witt and Patricia Gray took over five hours Thursday night to reach their decision. The verdict came down at 10 p.m.

Owner and pharmacist of the store, Tina Hasty, who is still very upset Tuesday about the verdict, said that she had "positively identified" the two men on three different occasions.

"I picked them out of a mug book, a line-up, and positively identified them during the trial last week," Mrs. Hasty, said. "I just don't understand it."

Mrs. Hasty testified that Paul Scott Justus and George Alexander Turner, walked into her pharmacy and locked the door behind them. She further testified that the two men had her up along with employee Carla Barker using duct tape. Turner and Justus then collected cash and drugs.

Taken in the robbery were all schedule 2 narcotics, over $500 in cash and a .38 caliber pistol. Mrs. Hasty's pistol was later recovered.

After the snow

Gardens, fruit fared well

Rockcastle County gardeners fared better than expected following last week's unseasonably cold and snowy weather, according to a report from the University of Kentucky Cooperative Extension Service.

Apple and peach fruit growers were especially relieved, but flowering plants did not fare as well.

Early vegetable garden plants were saved mostly because they were close to the ground. But the cold got most of the fersythia. "At first I thought the lettuce was done for," one gardener said. "But then the sun came out and so did my lettuce. I suppose the snow kept them warm and the cold spell didn't last long."

Cerald R. Brown, an Extension fruit crop specialist in the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture, said growing conditions last winter and summer were favorable for bud development on

Two witnesses fail to show

Bennet David Adams, 35 of Covington was to have gone on trial Monday morning in Rockcastle Circuit Court for the July 31, 1986 shooting death of Tommy Burdette of Wildie.

According to Commonwealth Attorney Benny Hahn, two material witnesses in the case, Lloy Howard and Edward Clay Ramsey, did not show up for court.

Rockcastle Circuit Judge Dan Venters rescheduled the trial for June 17 and issued warrants for the two witnesses' arrests.

by police in North Carolina. A Shelbyville, Ky. police officer also testified that he worked a wreck in Shelbyville the same night that the Pharmacy was robbed. He said that Paul Scott Justus was driving the vehicle when it was wrecked in Shelbyville. He said that Justus told him that the passenger in his car was George Turner.

But, Turner later testified that he was not involved in the robbery and that he was not with Justus the night of the wreck.

Turner's sister also testified that she saw him the day of the robbery in North Carolina as did a pawnshop dealer.

Insurance bids accepted

The county will get a break this year on its insurance premiums that have been increasing steadily in past years.

The Rockcastle Fiscal Court accepted bids on insurance at a recent called meeting.

Singleton and Associates Inc. of Mt. Vernon got the bid on general liability, comprehensive, and public officials errors and omissions, at a cost of $23,267.

Cornelius McGuffey of Stanford got the bid on vehicle insurance at $8,989. Magistrate Doug Bishop made the motion to split the insurance between the two different agencies, after a motion by County Judge Hubert Thacker, to give all the insurance to Singleton, died for a lack of a second. Bishop's wife Janet works at the Stanford agency.

Building insurance is not up for bids until May and is expected to be about $4,500. In that case, the total amount for county insurance will be about $37,000, compared to $55,000 last year.

Asked about the lowest cost compared to last year, Donnie Singleton said market conditions and availability of insurance for governmental units is better this year than last.

"Last year, there was only one company in the market available for the county insurance," Singleton said. "While this year we have two or three in the market place which usually means savings."

Lots of rain

A total of 3.54 inches of rain has fallen during the first 15 days of April.

The most fell Tuesday night with 2.06 inches were recorded at Cox Funeral Home weather station. More was expected on Wednesday, Thursday and possibly Friday.

The 3.54 inches was far ahead of last April when only 1.41 inches had fallen in the first 22 days. This month, only two days have been rain free.

High temperature so far this month was 75 on Tuesday and the lowest was 23 on Apr. 1.

Annexation still pending; Les Harris quits council

-Annexation-

By: Ray McClure

Agreement to proceed with annexation of three areas to the city was reconfirmed once again at a meeting of the Mt. Vernon City Council Monday night.

The council decided to contact state officials in Frankfort for detailed instructions on annexation of the three areas of the city.

In the case of the annexation proposal along U.S. 25 from the present city limits to Burr, the council agreed unanimously that, if necessary, the Burr proposal will be put on the ballot at the May 26 primary election.

Only persons owning property to be annexed are eligible to vote, with a 70 percent vote needed to defeat the issue.

Other areas where annexation is proposed are along U.S. 25 to just west of Oak Hill Road at Renfro Valley. Presently, only the south side of U.S. 25 is currently in the annexation plan at Renfro Valley. The third area is along U.S. 150 to the Ky. 461 bypass now under construction.

A petition has been circulated in the Burr area opposing annexation. But a survey taken by City Councilman Joe Martin showed 89 eligible property owners in the area approving the annexation and 19 opposed.

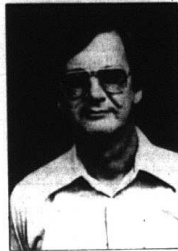

In other action the council accepted a new sewer use ordinance. The new ordinance makes some changes in the present ordinance, mostly in the permit and inspection fees. The council has not yet announced any changes in water use rates but that is coming.

The ordinance is entitled "an ordinance regulating the use of public and private wastewater disposal, the installation and connection of building sewers, and the discharge of waters and wastes into the public sewer systems) and providing penalties and violations thereof." In the city of Mt. Vernon.

The ordinance will be published all, or in part, in a future edition of the Signal.

A request for an ordinance requiring a $1,500 bond from peddlers in the city was not acted on by the council.

City Attorney Carl Clontz told the council it could use "reason-

Les Harris

-Councilman-

Les Harris, a Mt. Vernon city councilman for the past three years, resigned from the council Monday night in a letter to Mayor Elizabeth Baker and the councilmen.

Harris told the council he is moving out of the city and by law cannot serve on the council.

The council accepted his resignation with regret and thanked and complimented him on his service to the city.

The council will appoint someone to serve on the council until the Nov. 3 General Election. Mayor Baker said the council has not discussed a replacement for Harris, but would probably do so at a called meeting Thursday night.

Harris was appointed to the council following the death of councilman Joel (Buster) Gentry. Harris was then elected to a full two year term.

It was the second time a city official has moved out of the city and relinquished his post. Mayor Roland Mullins resigned after he moved. He was replaced by Mayor Baker.

The two years remaining on the mayor's term will be filled at the May 26 primary. That election is between Mayor Baker and Councilman Jackie Russell Remner.

Persons filing for a seat on the city councils at Mt. Vernon, Brodhead and Livingston, must present petitions to County Clerk Norma Houk by 4 p.m. Aug. 27. Petitions blanks may be obtained from the county clerk.

able means" to determine the reliability of a peddler, but it could not ask for a $1,500 bond. The council agreed to discuss the peddling ordinance at a future meeting.

The council also delayed approving a contract to continue furnishing water to the Northern Rockcastle Water District until the council could re-evaluate the financial aspects of the contract.

Mt. Vernon merchant Billy Hatt, who is chairman of the Mt. Vernon Downtown Revitalization Project, asked the council to take a look at parking problems in the downtown area.

Hatt said more parking areas are needed, especially to eliminate problems around the courthouse. He said more designated areas for carpools are needed and the traffic flow improved.

He added that parking tickets are issued in a scattered manner.

Hale reports work needed

When the Mt. Vernon City Council asks for information it usually gets it, but not in the volume supplied Monday night by Liming Hale, operator of the city boat dock.

The council unhappy with housekeeping problems at the boat dock asked Hale for a list of things needed at the dock.

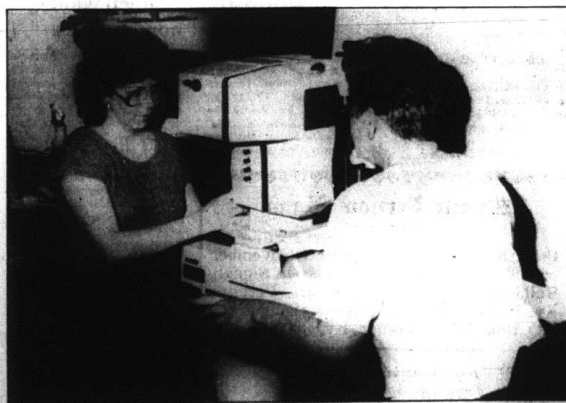

When the councilmen read the lengthy list they were in a huff and decided to pay a visit to the boat dock for a talk with Hale as soon as possible.

Hale listed the needed items as Three gallons of beige paint, two gallons of white, one gallon of brown, six electric plugs, glass for three windows, one small sheet of Plexiglass for the front door, gravel for the parking lot and campground, fill in ditch beside parking lot, campground wiring going to restrooms.

New windows for building and screens, new roof on building water line behind building leaks, sand on the beach, new steps leading to the dock (cont. and

Dear Editor:
We live in the Fifth District and want to thank Donald Bullock, our magistrate, for a job well done.

Two times we had a problem with garbage and trash. We called Mr. Bullock and he got right on it and took care of the problem.

This is the kind of magistrate we need in the Fifth District. We know Rockcastle County doesn't have the money to do all the things that needs taking care of, but I believe they are doing the best they can with what they have to work with.

Again we thank you Mr. Bullock.

Willis Memorial Foundation and Ky. Heritage Council wants nominations

The Ida Lee Willis Memorial Foundation and the Kentucky Heritage Council are accepting nominations for the ninth annual preservation awards ceremony to be held in Frankfort in late May. Each year individuals, organizations and local governments make significant contributions to the preservation of Kentucky's heritage. Nominations are sought to recognize those individuals and groups for their support and interest in historic preservation in three categories:

- Preservation projects.
- Specific organizations or individuals can be nominated for Service to Preservation Awards.
- One individual is selected to receive the Ida Lee Willis Memorial Award each year in recognition of long-term service to historic preservation in Kentucky.

The foundation was chartered in 1979 to honor Ida Lee Willis, the first director of the Kentucky Heritage Commission. The purpose was to create an annual awards program to honor those who have made significant contributions to historic preservation of the Commonwealth.

A Weekly Report from Fifth District Congressman Hal Rogers

New Immigrants Must Pay Their Fair Share

Illegal immigration into the United States has been one of our nation's biggest problems in recent years. Millions of illegal aliens, particularly from Mexico and Latin America, have streamed across our southern border, taking jobs from American citizens and costing us billions of dollars.

Last year in Congress, we passed landmark legislation to try and get a handle on this immigration problem. But even before that new law had a chance to work, we had to fight off an outrageous attempt to add millions of more dollars to the cost of dealing with these illegal immigrants.

An amendment was offered in my Appropriations Committee this past week to lower the legalization fees which will be charging those aliens who have been in the United States since 1982. I helped lead the fight to block that effort, because I believe that this sends the wrong signal to millions of other illegal aliens who want to come to the United States.

Under the current law, the Immigration and Naturalization Service wants to charge each alien who qualified for citizenship $185 to help offset the cost of processing their application. A cap of $420 per family was also proposed as a compromise. I believe these fees are still too low, but was willing to support them. However, some members of our Appropriations Committee voiced the ridiculous notion that $185 is too high—even though that is the same fee even regular aliens pay when they register for citizenship. They proposed lowering the fee to $75 per person—a move which would cost the American taxpayer $200 million! That was simply unacceptable, and we were able to hold the line on the fees recommended by the Immigration Service.

I would be totally unfair to give "discount" prices to illegal immigrants. All of our way-oversiders who made their way to America at some point in time. But we are also a land of laws, and we must not subvert those laws by making illegal immigration easier. I intend to make sure that we abide by our immigration laws, so that we can begin to reduce the flood of illegal aliens who want to enter our country.

Check Your Return Carefully

When your 1986 tax return is completed, you may feel like putting it in the mail and leaving a big sigh of relief. But you should take the time to check your return carefully. The IRS holds you fully responsible for the completeness and accuracy of your own return whether you or a paid professional prepared it.

If you've already filed your 1986 tax return, take it out of the drawer and carefully review it anyway. If you find an error or an omission, you can amend your return for up to three years after the date of filing or the due date on the return, whichever is later.

The more complicated your tax affairs, the more you need such a review. If you prepared your own return, consider having a professional review it. If you paid to have it prepared and you have concerns, getting a second opinion from another accountant may be worthwhile.

Accountants do many amended returns as the result of oversight in the original preparation. Probably the most frequent cause for amendment is that the original return did not take advantage of income averaging, a step that saves taxes when income jumps considerably over prior years. Other reasons include: unreported stock, moving or job/unioning expenses, deducting non-business bad debts, deducting non-qualified stock, and Schedule C business expenses. Occasionally, very simple things are overlooked, such as child care expenses or choosing the most advantageous filing status. Your state return deserves a careful second look, also.

If you're reviewing your tax return in the hopes of finding additional deductions and credits that will reduce your liability or increase your tax refund. However, you may find missed income that the IRS will spot if you file. The IRS now audits taxpayer negligence if you omit income on your tax return that is reported to the IRS by a third party. Form 1099 and other information returns you review could prevent your being assessed a 5% negligence penalty by the IRS.

William (Junior) Gay

Gay receives Certificate of Merit

Caring for the land and serving people in the Berea Forest Ranger District has been a way of life for William (Junior) Gay for the past 48 years. For 24 of those years he has put that effort to work with the Forest Service.

Such was related by Richard A. Wilcox, district ranger representing Daniel Boone National Forest Supervisor Richard Wengert of Winchester, in presenting a Certificate of Merit and a cash award to Gay "for dedication and commitment to forest programs, resolution of conflicts with cooperators and individuals, and consistently high standards of quality in job accomplishment."

According to Ranger Wilcox, William has seen a great deal of change in Rockcastle County since his childhood in the Footston area. He has also seen a great deal of change in the Forest Service over the past 24 years. Some of these changes have occurred because of his efforts.

As he was growing up, he watched the Forest Service and the Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC) put in roads and telephones in the county. An important change in the people of Rockcastle County has been an increased concern for their country and its future. Most people now realize that burning the woods just hurts ourselves and our kids.

Junior has been recognized for his extra effort in protecting the Forest and homes in the Forest from fires. His wife Malva, always aware of the chances for serious injury, has spent many nights not knowing when Junior would be back from fires. Day or night or on the weekend he has been available to help put out fires started by unthinking or careless individuals.

Junior was recognized also for the extra effort put forth to serve the people using and visiting the National Forest. He is always available to lend a hand, provide directions and information and explain what is happening in the Forest.

His primary duty is to administer timber contracts. He must not only know what the contract says but what it means. There is there to protect the land, the taxpayer and the contractor.

Through experience he has learned to lay out skid trails and log landings so that the impact to the resource is minimal. If placed in the wrong location, these facilities can be mired in mud and reduce the time available to remove the timber.

He also works with the logger to keep him from logging in bad weather when resource damage is most likely to occur. This also keeps the logger from damaging his equipment, thus the logger isn't repairing his trucks when the sun is out and the ground is dry.

William's experience also guides the planning and development of logging plans and contracts. He has watched roads sink out of site due to seeps and poor drainage. He knows from experience where these areas can be expected and helps lay out roads and skid trails to avoid these problem areas. The amount of rock, the placement of culverts and other drainage structures and the width and clearance of the road are estimated with accuracy because of his experience. He saves the taxpayers money because he can recommend the least expensive road to get the job done.

William places himself in the shoes of the visitors and tries to help visitors find the experience they are looking for in the National Forest.

When he sees a violation of law or regulation, he has learned to recognize the difference between lack of knowledge and greed or lawlessness. The Certificate of Merit recognizes the many times he has stopped on his time off to halt the theft of timber, the illegal disposal of trash and other illegal acts that steal from taxpayers, damage the forest or infringe on the rights of other visitors and local residents.

The most important reason Junior received this award was his commitment to quality. Every job has goals and objectives. Too often these goals are looked at in numerical terms. Junior strives to do the job right the first time. He is always looking for a better way to do the job and is committed to improving the National Forest for all forest users. His commitment is personal because he has always cared for the land and he wants the National Forest available for his daughter Rosemary to enjoy in the distant future.

One of the many controversies in medicine today is over the use of vitamin C for cold prevention.

Vitamin C has many uses in the body such as aiding in collagen formation, maintaining capillaries, bones and teeth and protecting other vitamins from breakdown. Since vitamin C is not produced in the body, it is essential for it to be consumed either by diet or by vitamin supplements.

The daily requirement, 60-70 mg. for adults, is easily fulfilled by a variety of foods: one medium size orange, ½ cup orange juice, one cup grapefruit sections, six ounces of grapefruit juice, one cup strawberries, ½ cup pineapple chunks, 2 medium size tomatoes and others.

Millions of people are using megadoses of vitamin C to ward off and decrease the severity of the common cold. However there have been no conclusive studies of its benefits for this purpose.

Vitamin C is one of the safest vitamins since excesses are excreted in the urine. However in certain people, megadoses can precipitate gall and the formation of kidney stones. It can also cause abdominal pain and diarrhea. It may also interfere with other

Your Child's Health

By: Dr. John Payne

The American Academy of Pediatrics recently came out with recommendations on All Terrain Vehicles or ATVs and minibikes. There is not much good news from the doctor on this issue.

Minibikes, those weighing less than 100 pounds, have been responsible for at least 24 deaths since 1980, mostly in children less than 14. Usually collisions with fixed objects or motor vehicles from illegal use on public roadways were involved. Neck injuries from driving into poorly seen fence wires were also responsible. Pediatricians are advised to strongly discourage the use of such cycles under 14 years of age and to encourage more developmentally suitable outdoor exercise. If parents insist on the use of these bikes by their children, then riders must receive instruction from a mature experienced cyclist; riding must be supervised and allowed only after demonstration of competence. Helmets, boots, gloves and heavy pants are a must. Roadway and nighttime riding should be forbidden.

ATV's vehicles with 3 or 4 large soft tires intended for off road use are much more dangerous than minibikes. In the past 5 years more than 559 deaths, at least 40 percent of them in children. These devices are top heavy, can attain unsafe speeds, and require much skill and judgment to operate safely. The Academy of Pediatrics considers them a MAJOR THREAT to children's health and urges a recall of all such vehicles and the banning of further manufacture until safety standards can be greatly improved. There are many more things children can do outside that are more fun and infinitely safer. Many parents will not like to read this news, but it is based on extensive research and study.

Seniors who live on farms eligible for loan program

Kentucky high school seniors who live on farms may qualify for financial assistance for college from an educational loan program administered by the Kentucky Department of Agriculture.

"We're trying to get the word out to our graduating farm youth that money is available to help fund their quest for higher education," said Agriculture Commissioner David E. Boswell. "While the loan program is not just for high school students, now is the time they are firming up plans for college, business school or vocational school. We especially want them to know this program has money to lend."

The Kentucky Rural Rehabilitation Student Loan program was established in 1973 to provide loans to Kentucky residents who are farmers or farm laborers and to their children. Students are not required to pursue agriculture-related fields of study and schools can be located in Kentucky or out of state.

The program is currently serving 112 Kentucky students and money is available for as many as 25 to 30 more each.

The loans are made at 8 percent interest. Students must begin repaying the loan within six months after graduation or after failing to be enrolled as at least a half time student.

"So far, the loan repayment record of our students here in Kentucky has been very good," said Commissioner Boswell. "As a result of the good overall repayment record, we have been able to help more of Kentucky's rural students continue their education."

In addition to a farm background and Kentucky residency, students must:

"Carry at least one-half of the normal full time workload as determined by the school."

"Show a gross family income of less than, or equal to, $30,000."

A first- or second-year undergraduate can borrow up to $2,625 per year. A student in the third or fourth year of undergraduate study may borrow up to $4,000 per year with a maximum of $17,250 for the total undergraduate loan.

A graduate student can borrow up to $7,500 per year, not to exceed $54,750 which includes any undergraduate loans the student may have received.

"Our student loan program staff works with county supervisors from the Farmers Home Administration and with vocational agriculture teachers to inform people about this loan program," said Commissioner Boswell. "I encourage anyone who is interested in applying for a loan to contact one of these people in their county. If they need more information, then contact the department's Division of Student Loans."

For further information, write to J.D. Wolf or Marjorie Tipton, Student Loans Division, Kentucky Department of Agriculture, Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Ky. 40601 or call (502)564-7135.

Ms. Lawless is coordinator for State Games

Just as the journey of 1,000 miles must begin with a single step, so must an event of the proportions of the Bluegrass State Games begin on the local level. Gov. Martha Layne Collins announced the names of the Area Development District regional coordinators for the third annual statewide sports festival, which has become the second largest state game program in the country.

"Kentucky's Area Development Districts have played a vital role in the success of the Bluegrass State Games since its inception in 1985," Gov. Collins said. "Through their daily contact with the leaders and residents of their regions, ADD staff members possess the skills and expertise to most effectively promote the Games on the local level. I am pleased that these people have enthusiastically accepted the task of recruiting support and participation for the 1987 Games."

Names as the Games regional coordinator for the Cumberland Valley district is Judy Lawless. Ms. Lawless is an administrative assistant for the Cumberland Valley ADD and can be contacted regarding the Bluegrass State Games at Cumberland Valley ADD Building, Route 12, London, Ky. 40741 or by calling (606)864-7391.

The following counties are in this region: Bell, Clay, Harlan, Jackson, Knox, Laurel, Rockcastle and Whitley.

The role of the ADD coordinator, Gov. Collins explained, is to distribute information throughout the multi-county area and to work with county captains that have been recruited in all 120 counties.

The goal of the Games coordinator is to ensure all eligible amateur athletes in the district are given the opportunity to participate in the Games. This year's Bluegrass State Games will be held July 31 - Aug. 2 primarily in Lexington. Some competition will be held in Louisville, Georgetown, Frankfort, Richmond and Nicholasville.

"The Bluegrass State Games has become a tradition in Kentucky and an event many Kentuckians look forward to eagerly," Gov. Collins added. "The extraordinary assistance provided by the ADDs has contributed much toward the statewide support the Games has enjoyed thus far."

Brown and White Are Alike

The color of the egg depends on the breed of hen. The only difference between brown eggs and white eggs is the shell. Brown eggs taste the same, have as much nutrition and keep as well as white eggs. Brown eggs sometimes cost more than white eggs, though.

Eggs and the Ten-Cent Rule

Eggs are a good protein buy. When large eggs are 80 cents a dozen, they are only 53 cents per pound. They are ideal for low-cost dishes and to add to other protein foods. Many grocery stores have regular sales on eggs. Check store ads for the best prices.

To determine the best size of egg for the price, use the 10-cent rule. If the price of large eggs is more than 10 cents over the price of medium eggs, medium eggs are the better buy. If the large eggs cost less than 10 cents more than the medium eggs, buy the large eggs.

Storing Eggs

Fresh eggs will keep for two to three weeks if stored correctly. They should be refrigerated and stored in their carton. Eggs will keep better with the large end of the egg up in the carton. Hard cooked eggs need to be refrigerated too. They will keep at least one week in the refrigerator. Try using them in these ways:

Chopped on tossed salad or sliced on chef salad mixed with celery, minced

"I just got back from an inspection tour across the southern tier of counties, where most of our apples and peaches are grown, and almost everywhere I've been, the peach orchards I visited still have enough buds left for a full crop," he said.

There is still the chance however that another cold snap could damage both crops. Freezing temperatures which could destroy large portions of the crop have been recorded in the fruit growing regions of Kentucky well into April in past years, according to the Agricultural Weather Center at UK.

"We recorded a temperature of 26 degrees in Lexington in May of 1966 and had a low of 18 degrees in Lexington in April of 1982," said Tom Priddy, UK's chief meteorologist.

"Granted, Lexington is not apple growing country but if it's 18 degrees in Lexington, chances are it's going to be cold in Casey County, too," Priddy said.

"Of course, I can't see into the future, but at this point, barring any disastrous weather, I'd say we're in for pretty good crop this year," Brown said.

BLACKLEG VACCINATION PAYS BIG DIVIDENDS TO BEEF PRODUCERS

Kentucky cattlemen can help prevent death losses and market more beef by vaccinating their calves and adult animals against blackleg, a disease caused by a bacteria prevalent in Kentucky soils.

According to U.K. Extension Veterinarian, Duane Miksch, vac-ination is important. Animals should be vaccinated before they are four months old and again later to confer strong immunity.

Most animals die before their disease is detected. However, symptoms of sick animals include lameness and gas pockets under the skin that have a crackling feel when pressed. The diseased muscle, usually in the upper portion of the leg, is black and jelly-like. Sometimes, however, internal muscles are affected and no gas can be felt at the body surface.

Many deaths caused by blackleg are blamed on other causes. Corn flanking and related activities have been delayed. Fields have been planted in a number of western and southern counties, with Simpson approximately 20 percent complete.

The average weather height is eight inches, slightly ahead of last year. Wheat is in good condition. Approximately 50 or 60 percent of the fruit trees across the Commonwealth are budding or in bloom. Freezing temperatures during last year's cold snap have caused damage, especially to peach trees.

Pastures are reported to be in fair to mostly good condition, although the recent snow accelerated feeding hay to livestock.

percent surplus. "Field activities were greatly limited, to 1.5 days out of six. However, field work remains largely on schedule," Bownell said.

Seeding of tobacco beds advanced 7 points to 82 percent complete. This compares with 87 percent last year and an average of 74 percent. Approximately 22 percent of the beds have emerged plants, slightly ahead of last year and the average.

The condition of the beds is reported as fair to mostly good.

New Program Teaching Adults To Read To Air On KET

FARM ACTIVITIES DELAYED BY BIZARRE WEATHER

Farm activities had been running well ahead of schedule until Kentucky suffered weather described variously as bizarre, unusual and unbelievable.

The Commonwealth was blanketed with snow last week, ranging from an inch to two to nearly three feet in Eastern Kentucky.

"One good aspect of the snow was that soil moisture levels were largely replenished," said Agriculture Commissioner David E. Bownell.

As of Friday, April 3, soil moisture was rated as 20 percent short, 70 percent adequate and 10

Everyone has inner Beauty

Doris Adams, owner and licensed C.L.S. designer of Touch of Class Hair Designs, recently returned from Carol Lyden Smith Enterprises in Atlanta, Georgia, where she attended a private finishing school for one week. While at the school, she learned to design free-form hair styles.

"Everyone has an inner beauty given to us by God," Doris said. "That beauty can also be seen on the outside, by bringing out a person's most beautiful features and accenting them with a hair design."

Doris' training also included chemistry. "We were taught how to examine the hair under a microscope to determine whether it was moisture lost and how to treat it to bring it back to its perfect state." The school, the only finishing school in the United States that is based on Christian theory, was 80 percent motivation, she said.

A designer is a person who has mastered each skill and technique to produce a special effect, and then takes his or her creative imagination and designs a feeling that fits that person's needs.

A nail for cutting hair called a Designer Canons, was also introduced at the C.L.S. Enterprise.

The cutting tool builds on the cutting method Doris learned in Atlanta, which made use of curved shears and the facial sketch as part of the styling process.

Depending on where the head is placed it aids in showing the stylist the way the hair falls naturally.

Dimensional coloring is also a very artistic creativity in design cutting. It lets the stylist combine the lines and motion of a new hairstyle with exciting new dimensions of creativity.

There is only one formula for successful individual designs: Creativity • Love • Science equals Designs.

Five-Year-Pins . . .

Todd Racer, at left, assistant plant manager at Rockcastle Manufacturing, presented Barbara Cromer, Helen Faye Abney and Pearl Barron with their five-year pins last week.

Teleservice from Social Security

People living in the Rockcastle County area can save themselves time and money if they take advantage of Social Security teleservice. Bob Anderson, Social Security manager in Richmond, said recently:

By using teleservice, people can conduct most all of their Social Security business by telephone. The teleservice number can be found in the telephone directory under "Social Security Administration."

Teleservice can be used to: 1) Start an application for Social Security benefits or Supplemental Security Income payments. The application can be started by telephone and completed by mail. 2) Apply for Medicare. 3) Report a name or address change. 4) Report a change in marital status. 5) Report that a person has stopped or started work or to report other events that may affect receipt of checks. 6) Report a lost or stolen check or delayed payment. 7) Report a lost or missing Social Security or Medicare card. 8) Get help in completing Medicare claims forms. 9) Request help in requesting a review of the decision made on a Social Security claim.

10) Get the answer to any Social Security question.

Unless a person's business is urgent, it is best to wait until after the middle of the month to call. This is because the first part of the month is the busiest time in the Social Security office.

The telephone number of the Richmond Social Security office is 256-5109. The office is located in the University Shopping Center on the Eastern Bypass in Richmond and the office hours are 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

McConnell expresses anger over USDA loan decision for Ky. Co-ops

Today U.S. Senator Mitch McConnell (R-Kentucky) reacted angrily to USDA's April 9 decision to suspend consideration of all Kentucky electric and telephone loans in response to the Kentucky Public Service Commission's March 17 rejection of Big Rivers Electric Corporation's rate case.

Commenting on the action, McConnell said, "It's outrageous, it's inappropriate; it's short-sighted."

It's a power play and a poor one at that. Rather than go back to the table as they could and should have done, USDA has escalated tensions to an extent

First Baptist will present three-act Easter play, "A Thief or a King"

In celebration of the Easter season, the First Baptist Church of Mt. Vernon cordially invites the public to a drama presentation of the crucifixion in three scenes this Friday at 8 p.m. at the church and

The action of the play entitled "A Thief or a King" centers somewhat on the concern of Pilot's wife and the bearing which the events of the crucifixion had on those close to Jesus.

Cast members include Norma and Elwood Tron, Angel Frank, Mike and Carol Bryant, Carrie and Nancy Mullins, Natalie Pyles, Close Mills, Kevin Fletcher, Joe Koon and Luther Allen. Also helping with production are Kizzie Owens, Matt Bryant and Sandy Allen. The sets are designed by Kevin Fletcher, Calton Creech and Director Keenan Franklin, who is also music director at First Baptist and a senior music major at Cumberland College.

On March 24, McConnell wrote REA Administrator Harold Hunter to "caution the government against precipitous actions which might foreclose negotiations for a new settlement." The letter further stated that "while many of us believed that the work-out was the best plan that could be engineered at that time, the PSC has spoken; it is unacceptable as submitted."

New scholarship available for 1987

Superintendent of Public Instruction Alice McDonald announced today a new scholarship program that will award $1,500 grants to 78 new graduates of Kentucky public or private high schools or 1987 GED recipients.

The Robert C. Byrd Honors Scholarships will be given to 11 students in each of Kentucky's seventeen congressional districts. An at-large scholarship will go to the applicant with the highest point score on the criteria: academic/vocational achievement, academic potential, and leadership/community involvement. To be eligible, students must verify full-time enrollment in an accredited college or post-secondary vocational school for the 1987-88 academic year.

The application deadline is May 1. "I regret that late federal funding allows so limited a time frame for so important a project," McDonald said.

The Byrd scholarship program was created by the federal
