Mrs. Middleton dies after illness

Mrs. Euna Denney Middleton, 66, of Richmond, died Oct. 12, 1987 after a short illness.

A native of Rockcastle County, she was a member of the Rosedale Baptist Church.

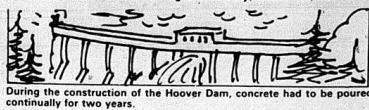

She is survived by her husband, John C. Middleton of Richmond; her mother, Mrs. Sally Denney of Danville; a son, Gary Hawn of Richmond; a brother, Tusco Denney of Brodhead; two sisters, Eva Jo Carey of Danville and Dolly Hopkins of Brodhead, and four grandchildren. She was preceded in death by a son.

Services were held Oct. 14 in Richmond with burial in Madison County Memorial Gardens.

Pallbearers were Junior Hopkins, Roger Dale Hopkins, Charlie Hopkins, Johnny Davis, Randy Anglin and Lanny Anglin.

There's a snap in the air and the hillsides are beautiful dressed in their multi-colors but all that means it's time for raking leaves. Mt. Vernon resident Larry Coguer was busy Tuesday trying to stay ahead of the annual chore.

During the construction of the Hoover Dam, concrete had to be poured continually for two years.

Your Child's Health

By: Dr. John Payne

Parents who have had to deal with a colicky baby for many sleepless nights would likely go to any lengths to get relief. It is no wonder that marriage breakup and child abuse have resulted from the constant crying. Now a new device is being advertised as providing relief "only a car ride away". It is based on the observation that babies often calm down and go to sleep while being ridden in a car.

The new device consists of a vibrator which fastens to the bottom of the crib and provides a rocking motion while a noise generator at the cribside provides the sound of wind rushing past a closed car window. The whole thing is supposed to simulate the sound of a car ride at 55 miles per hour. Within 4 minutes of starting the device 85 percent of babies stopped crying and stayed quiet as long as the device was going. All this sounds like hocus pocus and good advertising but apparently works. The device costs about $60. Does this mean that mothers in rocking chairs can't learn to hum like the wind and go vroom vroom like a car engine?

While on the subject of cars, remember that a car ride with the windows down and cold air blowing on a babies face is reputed to be good for breaking up spasmodic group.

All this vehicular medicine must of course be practiced with baby in a secure car seat.

A final note on cars and medicine: Recent studies showed that temperature in glove compartments can rise to 150 degrees or more. Don't store medicines there or they will be ruined.

LOCAL STUDENT ATTENDING CENTRE COLLEGE

One student from the Mt. Vernon area is a freshman at Centre College this fall.

Mike Hamilton, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Hamilton of Berea, is a 1987 graduate of Rockcastle County High School, where he played football and baseball.

This fall, Centre College welcomed 282 freshmen and 10 transfer students. The new freshmen class, which will graduate in 1991, is the largest freshman class ever enrolled at Centre and has an academic profile-comparable with the most selective small colleges in America.

estimated 11 percent. In addition, farrowing plans for the next six months call for even more increases. Intentions for the September to November period are up 7 percent and up 8 percent for the December to February quarter, Meyer says.

Pork production rose to levels over last year during July. Slaughter is now about 8 percent higher than last year. Meyer predicts that slaughter will continue at these high levels into 1988.

While the pork production jump began in June, prices for market hogs remained at high levels until mid-September due to strong demand, partially as a result of rising beef prices. The continued drop in beef production will continue to support hog prices, he says.

Preparing to dig for a break in a water line near Countdown Restaurant are employees of the Mt. Vernon Water Works. Burgess Mullins, Dennis McClure, Billy McFerron and Steve Griffin. Because of the amount of water, the break was first thought to be the 10 inch line leading into Mt. Vernon from the city water plant at Renfro Valley. The water was running under the road and pouring into a ravine on the east side of the highway. The break turned out to be in a small service line leading to Countdown and may have been there since the restaurant was built.

What is Your Life?

This question was asked in James 4:13-14 in view of warnings given relative to presuming too much. In this text, your life is a "little time," even "a vapor" which makes but a brief appearance. However, much is said in the Bible about this subject and we need to consider other things involved in this question.

What is your life? In one sense, your life is a mystery. It is beyond comprehension. Some explain life with the idea of the theory of evolution. The Bible tells us that God created man and gave him life (Gen. 2:7; Acts 17:24-26).

What is your life? It is an uncertain thing, and we are warned not to boast of tomorrow because we do not know what a day will bring forth (Prov. 27:1; Jas. 4:13-16). David described life as "a tale that is told" and said that "it is soon cut off, and we fly away" (Psa. 90:9-10).

What is your life? It is not something measured by material things, as some say; "This sure is living." One may say of the possessions of material things: "I have it made." However, Jesus taught that "a man's life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth" (Lk. 12:15). "For we brought nothing into this world, and it is certain we can carry nothing out" (1 Tim. 6:7). "Man's last robes are without pockets." Please read about the rich fool in Luke 16:19-31).

What is your life? Life is not just having a good time, even though that is what many seem to think, especially the young. Wise Solomon said, "Rejoice, O young man, in thy youth, and let thy heart cheer thee in the days of thy youth, and walk in the ways of thine heart, and in the sight of thine eyes: but know thou, that for all these things God will bring thee into judgment" (Ecc. 11:9).

What is your life? Life can be aptly defined as a time of preparation to meet God in judgment (Ecc. 12:13). Life is sometimes spoken of as a dressing room where one should put on the white armor of God (Eph. 5:27; 6:11-16). Life is a contest like running in a race and only the winner is crowned (1 Cor. 9:25-27; 2 Tim. 2:5; Heb. 12:1-2). It is a seedtime in which we either sow to the flesh and reap corruption, or sow to the Spirit and reap life everlasting (Ga. 6:7-8).

What is your life? Life is a gateway into eternity, for "it is appointed unto men once to die, but after this the judgment" (Heb. 9:27). We pray that, from your consideration of this lesson, you are impressed with your life and its responsibilities, and that you will believe in and obey Christ. (Mk. 16:15-16).

Let's Talk About
Pre-Arranged Funerals

There is a growing tendency for folks to make Funeral Plans before death -- in much the same manner as they make their wills. A written list of requests -- placed where the family can easily obtain it -- relieves much of the burden for those left behind. Cox Funeral Home feels this is a very worthwhile and sensible approach to death. We welcome you to stop in any day and discuss your funeral arrangements. Naturally, you will be under no obligation. It's a service Cox Funeral Home is proud to offer the community.

Thousands attend sixth Lasses fest

By: Ray McClure

Folks came from as far away as Canada, California, the Carolinas, plus a dozen other states and they swelled Renfro Valley's population to the breaking point Friday and Saturday during the annual Lasses Making and Country Music festival.

In fact, crowds spilled over in a wave leaving barndance tickets and parking spaces at a premium.

"I can't remember when there has been a larger crowd here on the grounds," said smiling Mrs. Ann Henderson, president and manager of Renfro Valley Folks.

Apparently she was right. Old timers recalled only a rodeo and a Mac Wiseman bluegrass festival with crowds that size. The Old Joe Clark's Bluegrass Festival now draws large crowds but that festival is not associated with the Renfro shows.

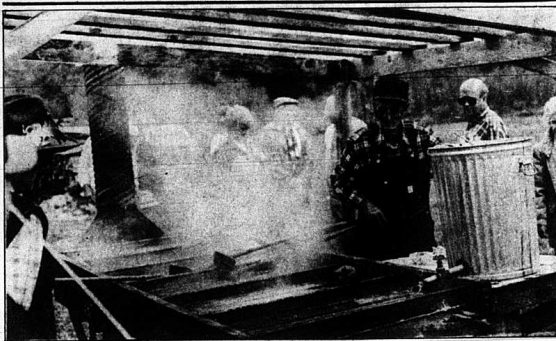

"We were surprised at the extent of the turnout," Mrs. Henderson said. "We knew we would likely sell out our regular shows, but we also sold out the Friday night barndance and the Saturday matinee."

At one time Mrs. Henderson toyed with the idea of a midnight Saturday show. If that had occurred, it would have been the first time since the 1940s that a third regular barndance had to be held to accommodate the crowd.

During Saturday afternoon, parking space became so scarce that cars were sent to the Lair home yard for the first time.

Additionally, some visitors were unable to attend the six barndances because they could not find a motel. Motels as far away as Berea and Corbin had Renfro visitors. Local restaurants had overflow crowds.

October is normally Renfro's best month. This year, the fine weather combined with the colorful foliage helped to entice the crowds. The Weather Service had predicted showers but Friday and Saturday there wasn't a cloud in Molasses making was left to Richard Mullins at the Lasses Festival. So many persons bought molasses, Mullins had a difficult time keeping up with the sales.

If anyone worked hard at the festival, it was Larry Prewitz who fed the cane grinder for three days. Also tired when it was over was Ernest Moore's mule and horse that turned the mill.

Company promises large savings on new Mt. Vernon school

By: Richard Anderkin

Representatives of Alliance Corporation, a construction management company from Glasgow, told members of the Rockcastle County Board of Education Tuesday night that they could save tax payers eight to 14 percent on the total cost of the construction of a new Mt. Vernon Elementary School.

Thomas Gumm, vice president of the corporation and Mick Spiegel, told the board and Superintendent Bige Towery that they had managed the construction of numerous schools in the state and they would certainly save the local school system all the money they could.

They pointed out that they would bid every aspect of the job so that the school system would get the best possible work for the lowest price. They pointed out that by bidding everything through the school system they would automatically save the state's five percent sales tax.

The school system is exempt from paying school taxes, but a general contractor who would

School Budget

The Rockcastle County school system is big business in the County.

Approximately $8.3 million is the figure for the working budget for fiscal year 1988.

The new budget for the coming year is up from $6.2 million a year ago.

Superintendent Bige Towery attributed much of the increase to the hike in teacher's salaries this year.

The new budget was discussed and adopted at Thursday night's regular monthly meeting of the board.

Hamm is new counselor

A fourth grade teacher at Broadhead Elementary school was hired to fill the job of guidance counselor for Broadhead and Livingston Elementary schools during the regular meeting of the Rockcastle County Board of Education Thursday night.

Molly Hamm, who has taught in the Rockcastle County school system for many years was the choice of the Personnel Committee and Superintendent Bige Towery.

The five members of the committee were Principals John Hale and Jerry Mink; high school counselor Jamie Worley, and teachers Shirley Martin and Janie Grigsby.

The five members recommended Ms. Hamm to Towery following an interview. Towery, who is not bound by the committee's recommendation in any way, said that he felt Ms. Hamm would do an excellent job, because of her many years experience at the grade school level.

Ms. Hamm's hiring was the first administrative position filled since the recent ruling of a federal judge, which set up the personnel committee policy. The committee, which is selected by the Superintendent, will rotate with each vacancy.

Ms. Hamm will assume her duties as soon as a replacement can be hired

The council approved the transfer of Policeman Frank Debord from the Police Department to the Water Department effective Nov. 4. He had requested the transfer.

The council then voted to hire Jackie Fortner, 23, to replace DeBorde on the Police Department effective Oct. 16.

No star shining

No country music stars will be on a train promoting Project Second Chance as it makes its way through eastern Kentucky on Oct. 19.

An early press release listed Loretta Lynn, Ricky Skaggs and Tom T. Hall as being aboard and would entertain briefly. Not so. It was all a mistake, says promoters. The train will stop in London about 1:45 p.m. and Berea about 3:15 p.m.

Dropout rate is less now

About 3.5 percent of Rockcastle County school age children have already dropped out of school during the 1987 school term.

That figure is up .2 percent from a year ago, according to a report issued to the local board of education by Pupil Personnel Director Buford Parkerson last Thursday.

According to the report, 3.3 percent of local students dropped out of school in 1986 compared to 6.8 percent in 1984.

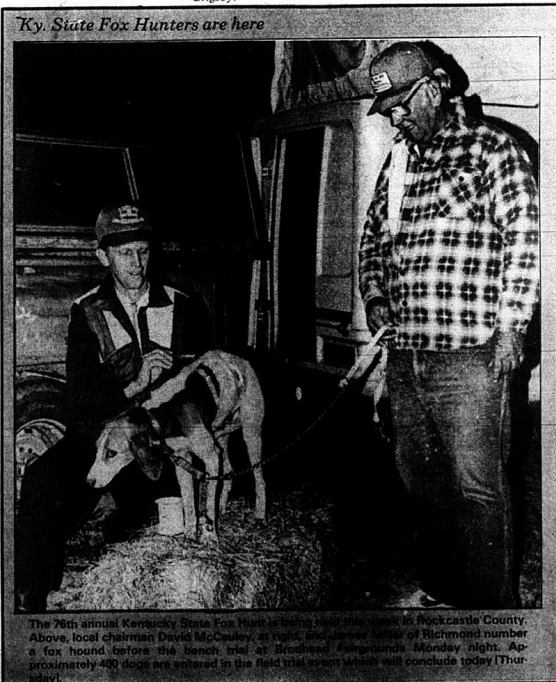

Parkerson attributed the sharp decline in dropouts to the recent prevention programs started in the high school as well as the grade schools.

The satisfactory range that Parkerson said most school systems in the state go by is 3.5 to 5.5 percent dropping out.

A dropout in the Rockcastle County school system is defined as a student who withdraws from school when they turn 16, or are discharged from school, withdraw due to marriage, or are a female student who under 16 years of age who gives birth.

Parkerson reported that most times dropouts occur because of an indifference at home concerning the importance and need of an education, repeated failure at

RCHS band performs at Barbourville

The Rockcastle County High School band has recently been involved in two major Kentucky parades.

On Saturday, Oct. 3, Mr. Pybas took the band to Richmond to perform in the Homecoming Parade. There they marched and played and did a great job. Afterward they got to go to the stadium to watch the Homecoming game.

On Saturday Oct. 10, they were invited to perform in the Barbourville Founder's Day Parade. Performance in this parade is by invitation only and some of the better bands in the state march there every year. The flag girls also worked very hard and put on a good show as the band marched along. While this is one of Mr. Pybas' smallest bands to date, he says it is one of the best bands he's ever conducted.

We band parents feel that we are very lucky to have such a talented and dedicated person in charge of our young people. Band gives a student an opportunity not only to develop their musical talent but to learn to get along with others and share common interests and goals. We feel the time put into band or flags is well worth the time and effort.

A R.C.H.S. Minute

The past week at R.C.H.S. has been busy. On Saturday two groups from Rockcastle participated in their own events. The band went to Barbourville to march in the Daniel Boone Festival Parade. Also, on Saturday, the three cheerleading squads from R.C.H.S. went to Eastern Kentucky University to compete in YMCA's cheerleading competition.

The Rocket's girls and boys basketball teams are starting conditioning to get ready for their upcoming season.

Tuesday was Parent-Teachers conferences, and any parent who came could have looked at the display of pen and pencil drawings in the library by the art department.

School Annuals went on sale Monday and will be on sale for two weeks. Students can make a deposit which will reserve an annual for them in the spring. The annuals cost fourteen dollars for underclassmen and fifteen for seniors because they are personalized.

Also on sale are magazines. The junior class is selling subscriptions or renewals of magazines to raise money for the prom.

Senior invitations and keys were ordered on Wednesday.

build the school for one price is not exempt. The sales tax would be included in the total bid price. "One of the points of the presentation that I especially liked was the fact that they are on the site all the time, making sure that we get what we're paying for," Towery said.

Towery said that he had checked with approximately 10 superintendents in the state who had recent building projects and he was told that the construction manager route was the best to take.

The state also highly recommended that we go this direction because of the enormous savings involved," the superintendent said.

The fee for such a service is anywhere from 4 1/2 percent of the total cost to 4 percent depending on the actual cost of the project. Board members voted to take the construction manager route, but they also voted to listen to one more proposal from another firm, before making their final decision on who will guide the construction of the new building.

Branscum Construction of Russell Springs, which has built such things in the county as the new Rite-Aid Drug Store, the new Family Dollar building and the recent addition to the Citizens Bank at Broadhead will present a proposal to the board very soon.

A new building for the new Mt. Vernon Elementary School—a tough row to hoe for the local board of education.

Tuesday School Superintendent Bige Towery released the following facts about the finances for the new Mt. Vernon school, which is slated to be under construction by sometime next spring or early summer.

The 68,400 square feet facility will have to be built in phases, because of a lack of money.

When the Kentucky General Assembly meets next January in Frankfort it will be known very soon if Governor Martha Layne Collins' school facilities construction program will be funded by the state's lawmakers.

Education officials in Frankfort are very optimistic that it will get some funding from legislatures but there is no guarantee that Wallace Wilkinson or John Harper will push for the program.

But Towery and local Finance Officer Garland Cummins have been told by state officials to expect about 20 percent of what the school cannot pay to be paid for by the state. If that happens the local school system will only be about $1.2 million short of the needed $4.1 million it will take to build the school.

Towery explained it this way. Right now the board's bonding potential on capital outlay money is $405,000. A balance of $515,310 from the board capital outlay fund was transferred to a special building project fund, and a balance of $372,768 from the general fund was also transferred to the building account on June 30 of this year.

The board's bonding potential on new tax money generated by the recent rise in taxes is $1,645,000. That makes the total local effort toward a new school at Mt. Vernon $2,578,078. But that leaves a balance of $1,525,922 to be paid on the school.

Hopes are that the school will pay about $305,184 leaving the $1.2 million unpaid balance.

"We are hoping the state will pay more toward the new school but if they don't we will have to build it in phases, beginning with a cafeteria," Towery said. "We are just going to wait and see what happens in the General Assembly," he said.

school which results in a lack of self esteem and self-confidence and most times the student is unhappy both at home and school.

Parkerson said that many preventive methods have been put into operation including that one such measure that any child wishing to drop out of school between the ages of 16 and 18 must have the consent of their parents, parent or guardian in the form of a written agreement.

Presently a total of $118,700 worth of programs is in operation including summer youth remediation, drop prevention, alternative classroom, in-school career development and the states' funded drop and prevention programs.

Wildcats still undefeated in league

By: Clarice Kirby

Folks our youth league football season is almost over. This week will wrap it up. If you have meant to attend a game of some relative, friend, or if you used to play for some team and haven't taken the opportunity to see a game this year, better hurry up. Thursday Oct. 15 ends Rockcastles' Youth Football season.

Tuesday, Oct. 13 games will already have been played when the paper comes out but you'll have the opportunity to see the Wildcats challenge the Redskins perfect season on the B team or the Bengals and Bucs tangle in the second game.

After Tues. Oct. 13 we'll know how our A teams have placed for the season. The Wildcats wrapped up first place last week by defeating the Bengals 24-0. The Redskins won their game with the Bucs by a score of 18-6. Right now the standings are: Wildcats 5-0, Bengals 3-2, Redskins 3-2, Bucs 0-5.

The B team games began as usual Thursday at Roundstone but ended up being unusual. The Bengals and Wildcats began the opener. At their first meeting the Bengals had been able to shut the Wildcats out. But all claws seemed to be out on both teams this time. The Bengals team spirits seemed to dampen after a team member, Aaron Cox, was down on the field on a punt return. In the final seconds of the game another team member was down. This time, Michael Schaffer, who had scored the Bengals only touchdown. The extra points were tried for by the kick, but was knocked down by Stacey Kirby of the Wildcats.

The Wildcats touchdowns were all three made by Chris Hasty, who turned on when on defense also. The extra points were made by Chris McHargues' kick. The final score was 20 for the Wildcats and Bengals 6.

After I left to go see some of the high school game of the 7th and 8th grades who played Lincoln and Laurel Co., I heard a lot of offensive plays were run between the Redskins and Bucs. It was a high scoring game to say the least. Final was Redskins 43,

Rockets slip by Wayne County

By: Cindy Witt and Leslie Norton

Friday night, Rockcastle County's defense was determined to hold Wayne County scoreless and that is what they did by defeating Wayne Co. 6-0.

The Rockets had two goals going into the game to keep tailback Sam Blanchard, the state's leading rusher, under 60 yards and to keep fullback Daniels under 40.

Blanchard has rushed for nearly 1200 yards in seven games this year but got only 58 on 21 carries against the Rockets.

Daniels has stepped his way through the defensive line for over a hundred yards in two separate games, including 170 against powerful Corbin. He was held to nine yards on seven carries.

The game went down to the wire with Rockcastle putting the first points for either team on the scoreboard with just 2:23 left in the 4th quarter.

Wayne Co. came right back and threatened to score but the drive ended on the Rockcastle 6 yard line when time ran off the clock. It was an exciting win for the Rockets who are now 7-1.

Chris Larkey took the opening kick to the 41 yard line and then picked up a 1st down on the first two carries. Adam Coleman got off a bad punt of only eight yards but the Rockets' defense forced a punt from Wayne Co. after another 1st down. Rockcastle was again forced to punt but this time Coleman booted the ball into the endzone for 42 yards.

Wayne Co. got a drive going on a 40 yard pass but Rockcastle held them on the 4th down and one yard to go.

The second quarter was a defensive battle with the exception of a 15 yard pick up by Larkey and a 34 yard gain by Chad Burdette. The half ended with no score.

Wayne Co. received the kick to begin the second half. On their

Citizens of Rockcastle County and Voters of District 3

I would like to address briefly the subject of community involvement in the Rockcastle County School District.

I believe parents and all interested parties should feel free to attend the monthly board meetings. Every one should be acquainted with the operation of the school system.

On subjects discussed at the board meetings, individuals should feel free to express their opinion, pro and con.

One of the ways I propose to help create more community interest and involvement is to have the monthly board meetings at each school on a rotation basis. This would allow the board members to tour the schools and talk to the people involved in that particular school.

If elected, I hope to implement this policy as soon as possible.

Thank You,

Buccs 14.
NOTE: The 4-B team games that Lincoln Co. had scheduled with Rockcastle for Saturday were called off. I don't know what the possibilities are about rescheduling. I'll keep you posted when I find out.

While the B teams were playing at Roundstone Thursday night two of Rockcastle A teams were meeting up with two other counties at the high school.

Laurel Co. was supposed to bring its North and South teams to play the Redskins and Wildcats. The Redskins had played the South team at London already this year and the Mt. Vernon Buccs played the North team. They had only been defeated by small margins and the Redskins wanted a return match for their team on our soil. Therefore it had been set up, but since Laurel hadn't seen the Wildcats play they came up Tuesday night and after watching the games decided they didn't want any part of the Wildcats. However they did bring their North Laurel Co. team and the Redskins kicked it off with them in the opener.

I was at the Roundstone first game during this but everyone vouched that the Redskins looked good against Laurel and stopped their brags by defeating them 20 to 6. Congratulations Redskins! Well when Laurel cancelled out their game with the Wildcats our youth league president, Howard Saylor, was not to be out done. He had promised the Wildcats a game and he went to work to find a team. He made some calls and came up with Lincoln County. Hey this was a county wide school team! Rockcastle has four teams, two of which are from Mt. Vernon, the Wildcats bring one of these, and they were to take on Lincoln County's best?

Many figured this was where the Cats would go down, but the Wildcats showed their stuff and Lincoln County's Patriots could never get in tying range. The Patriots kept coming back to score but the Cats kept screaming up and down the field for more.

Every squad combination looked good for the Wildcats but the combination of quarterback Jason Kirby's pass to Stacy Nicely for the touchdown put the clincher on the Patriots. The final was Wildcats 34 and Patriots 22. Way to go Wildcats -- 6-0.

NOTE: This Monday night at the high school we should have a deusy. Two Manchester, Clay County teams will come down to tangle with the Redskins and Wildcats. Hey football fans how about going out and supporting Rockcastle against Clay Co.? Kick off at 6:30 Monday, Oct. 19.

first series, Chad Williams recovered a fumble to give the Rockets' offense another chance.

The opportunity was lost, but Coleman's punt put Wayne Co. on their own 11 yard line. After picking up a first down, Williams recovered another fumble for Rockcastle. This time the Rockets were on Wayne's 25 yard line. After picking up a first down to Wayne Co.'s 12 yard line, Coleman threw to Chuck Shields in the endzone on 4th down. The pas was incomplete and Wayne Co. took possession of the ball.

In the fourth quarter Wayne Co. punted the ball to Pete Harrison who returned the ball to the Wayne 22 yard line.

After Larkey and Kevin Rowe picked up a first down to the Wayne Co. 15 yard line, the Rockets were forced to try for a field goal on 4th down. The field goal was blocked and Wayne Co. took over on the 36 yard line. A 23 yard pass and two runs of 6 yards and 4 yards put Wayne Co. in good field position.

From the Rockcastle Co. 35 yard line, Harrison intercepted a pass and ran 42 yards to the Wayne 28 yard line. An eleven yard run by Larkey took the ball to the 15 yard line for a Rocket first down. Rockcastle was then forced back to the 24 yard line by a holding penalty. On 3rd and 16 on the 22 yard line, Larkey threw a pass to Harrison who caught the ball as he crossed the goal line for the only points of the night. The extra point attempt was no good and there was only 2:23 left to play.

Wayne Co. came back with a good drive highlighted by a 35-yard pass. The clock was running but so was Wayne Co. From the Rockets' 8 yard line, a pass was knocked down by Chad Williams. With ten seconds left on the clock, the Wayne quarterback went back to pass. With pressure by Rowe, he was forced to run the ball and as the clock expired, was dragged down by Williams.

Larkey was the leading rusher with 27 carries for 94 yards. Harrison had an interception and received the TD pass. High tackler was Williams who had 4 solos, 11 assists and also 2 fumble recoveries. Other tacklers were Gerald Rowe, Bobby Hayes, Chad Hodges, and Ralph Hines with 9 each and Chuck Shields with 8.

The Rockets have an important game next week at Cawood. Rockcastle must win this one to stay in running for district playoffs.

The game is at Cawood. For any R.C.H.S. students or fans who are planning to drive to the game and do not know how to get there, directions follow.

Go through Pineville and turn left across the bridge on I19. Go approximately 30 miles, turn right on 421 to Harlan. After 3 or 4 miles you will be in Harlan. You will see a hospital on the right. Turn as if going to the hospital, Cawood High School is behind it.

Mr. and Mrs. Kelvin Lee Machal

Goodlet-Machal vows said at Southside Christian

Miss Joyce Ann Goodlett, daughter of Harold and Margaret Goodlett of Harrodsburg and Mr. Kelvin Lee Machal, son of Paul and Kathleen Machal of Harrodsburg and grandson of Mrs. Sallie Coffey and Mrs. Sarah Machal of Mt. Vernon, were united in marriage at 7 p.m. Friday, August 28 at the Southside Christian Church.

The Rev. Rob Clark performed the double-ring ceremony. The altar was decorated with greenery and a spiral candelabra with cathedral tapers and two seven-branch candelabras. On the floor stood two columns, accented with baskets of white gladiolus and carnations. The windows of the church were decorated with white candles and peach tiger lilies. The main entrance doors were decorated with peach grapevine wreaths.

Mrs. Vicki Bell of Harrodsburg accompanied Mr. Mike Buerhaus of Harrodsburg in "Sunrise, Sunset" and the duet "Always." Mr. Doug Price of Harrodsburg played the following selections on the piano: "We've Only Just Begun," "If" and the traditional bridal march and recessional.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore an English tudor-style gown of slipper satin, accented with Venice lace and seed pearls. The skirt fell from an accented waist to form a cathedral train. The headpiece was a picture hat made of the satin of the dress with an illusion veil forming a buffont line over the hat and extending to the floor.

Miss Cindy Darnell of Washington County was the maid of honor and wore a floor-length, peach brocaded satin, off-shoulder gown, accented at the waist with a peach sash.

Miss Arlinda Rainey, Mrs. Denise Barrett and Miss Joy Powell, all of Harrodsburg, were bridesmaids. They wore dresses like that of the maid of honor. The girls carried bridal lights, which were perched on solid brass holders with peach tiger lilies and babies breath.

Ushers were Mr. Bo Goodlett, brother of the bride, Mr. Travis Baker and Mr. Ronnie Sims, all of Harrodsburg and Mr. Anthony Machal of Mt. Vernon. They wore tuxedos with pearl gray sport jackets, black slacks and cummerbunds and peach rose boutonniere.

Miss Starr Robins, daughter of Mrs. Brenda Robins of Harrodsburg, was the flower girl. She wore a peach, street-length dress with a white eyelet lace pentaforte and a small rose corsage.

The bride's mother wore a champagne, street-length dress with a brocaded bodice. The groom's mother wore a champagne, two-piece pleated, brocaded tee-length dress. They both wore peach carnation corsages, accented with lace and babies breath.

Mr. Paul Machal, father of the groom, was the best man. Groomsman were Mr. Eric Montgomery and Mr. Scott Moseley, both of Harrodsburg and Mr. Brian Robinson of Washington County. They wore full-dress, pearl-gray tuxedos with white shirts and pearl-gray cummerbunds.

Master Matthew Riley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Riley of Harrodsburg, was the ring bearer and was dressed like the groomsman. Mrs. Sheila Crawford of Crab Orchard, sister of the groom, registered guests. Miss Leigh Duggin of Harrodsburg, cousin of the bride, and Miss Caroline Machal of Mt. Vernon, cousin of the groom, accepted gifts.

Miss Cindy Goodlett of Harrodsburg, cousin of the bride, and Miss Kristy Straten of Harrodsburg distributed rice bags.

Miss Tracy Burdette of Mt. Vernon, cousin of the groom, distributed wedding programs. Mrs. Bessie Darland of Harrodsburg was the wedding coordinator.

A reception followed the wedding at the Brass Carriage Restaurant. The bride's table was covered with a white linen tablecloth and held a three tier-wedding cake with a peach fountain beneath it. The top cake was decorated with peach satin bells, the middle with a sugar bible with the bride and groom's name and wedding date inscribed and the bottom cake was decorated with the traditional bride and groom. Miniature stairways led to two three-tiered side cakes, decorated with miniature peach roses and sugar bells. Figurines stood on the stairways.

The table also held silver trays

"I won't get a second chance to plan my funeral."

So I chose ForethoughtSM funeral planning. I think planning my own funeral in advance makes good sense. By planning it and paying for it myself my family won't have to make all those decisions when the time comes. Plus, I know it will be the way I want it.

Forethought is funeral planning... before the need arises

I know it's not an easy thing to talk about. But, it's a lot easier to talk about it now. After the fact, everything happens so fast. There's so little time and so many decisions, everyone could really feel uncomfortable. I know my family won't have that problem. They already know how my funeral is going to be and they know what it's going to cost. Because I took the time to plan what I want... ahead of time. I even paid the bill with the Forethought life insurance policy designed and approved specifically for Forethought funeral planning. And, because I'm between 40 and 90 years old, I couldn't be turned down for any reason.

"Plugged in" at the bottom.

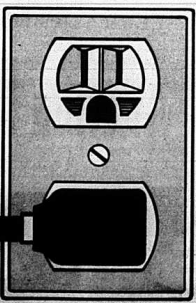

Absolutely. When it comes to comparing residential electric bills, Kentucky Utilities' bill is "plugged in" near the bottom of the national charts.

In 1984, KU's rates were considerably lower than those of the majority of electric utilities across America ($30.21 per 500 residential kilowatt hours).*

Today, we're "plugged-in" even lower on the charts ($26.88 per 500 kwh) and we continue our company-wide commitment to providing reliable service at the lowest reasonable cost.

If your electric bill is somewhat higher than it used to be, your living habits likely have changed and you're using more electricity than before.

During this, our 75th anniversary year, we thank you for agreeing that bright ideas are always electric.

Duncan in 1788 - the first stone building to be erected in this section of the state. This inn was necessary for lodging for the many men brought to Paris to settle suits caused by overlapping land claims.

After Major Duncan's death in 1800 his widow, Anne, built a small house flush against the Tavern where she raised her six children. By 1940 Duncan Tavern had become a "slum" area, housing too many families. The Kentucky Society DAR, led by Mrs. William B. Ardery and Mrs. Frederick Wallis of Paris, was able to acquire the property from the city of Paris, with the assistance of the fiscal court. Included in the deed was the provision that the building should be restored as a shrine and should always be open to the public. A report written by Mrs. Wallis in 1942 told of the struggle to restore the building and to furnish it. In 1956 the Society purchased Anne Duncan House and restored and furnished it.

The Duncan Tavern Historic Center is now a shrine which draws many visitors to Paris. Many come to do genealogical research in the John Fox Jr. Memorial Library on the ground level. The resident Hostess and cateress, Mrs. Alma Stapleton serves luncheons, dinners, teas, receptions for groups by reservation.

the sky. It was shirt sleeve weather.

"We love it here," said a Michigan resident. "We make a point to always be here at this time of the year. We've been to Nashville several times, but we like the old fashioned atmosphere here much better and the people are a lot friendlier."

Other than the unusually large crowd, it was a typical Lassies festival, with almost continuous entertainment by bandance entertainers on the grounds, lots of molasses making by Richard Mullins, and an abundance of arts and crafts.

"We enjoy every minute while we're here," said an Ohio couple. "This is our second year and we thought about making ticket and motel reservations for next year, but I guess that's a little far ahead. We'll be here though."

Sunday was a cloudy day and an early morning drizzle met the visitors. It failed to spoil the Sunday Morning Gatherin, in the old barn. Not only was the barn filled, but many had to be turned away.

"This is one time we didn't get to the church on time," a disappointed couple standing outside the barn agreed. "We hear the gatherin' on WJR, Detroit, every Sunday and we wanted to get inside. Maybe we'll get in next time we come here."

Still profitable Hog prices expected to drop

Even though hog prices are expected to drop in the coming months, producers likely will find raising them to remain profitable.

"Production costs are so low (in the $30s for most producers) that hog production will remain profitable under the current price forecasts," said Lee Meyer, University of Kentucky Extension agricultural economist.

USDA's Quarterly Hogs and Pigs Report confirms that the current expansion in pork production will continue at least through 1988, causing prices to dip into the $40s by fall, Meyer said.

"At major Kentucky markets, barrows and gilts are likely to bring an average price in the $43 to $48 range. Prices in the first half of 1988 probably will be in the $40s, as well," economist says.

Production in 1988 probably will exceed the 1987 level by 5 to 10 percent and prices are unlikely to change much throughout the year.

"Even with the sharp drop in prices, there are not likely to be major changes in production plans because production still will remain profitable," he said.

According to the report, the inventory of hogs and pigs in the 10 major producing states (which account for almost 80 percent of the production), is up 9 percent from 1986 and up 2 percent from 1985. Percentage increases are the same for breeding and market hogs.

October is "Just Say No" month

October is designated as "Just Say No" to drugs and alcohol month nationally. A proclamation has been signed declaring the month officially "Just Say No" month in Rockcastle County.

Throughout October there will be special emphasis given to students and adults who it is important to say no to drugs and alcohol. Dr. Charles Hedrick, pastor of First Baptist Church, has been designated by the Governor's Task Force of "Champions Against Drugs" as Rockcastle County representative on the regional council against drugs. Dr. Hedrick is a resource person for assisting schools and local organizations in ways to approach the problem of drug and alcohol abuse.

During October Dr. Hedrick is seeking to start "Just Say No" clubs in all the elementary schools within the county. He hopes to have these clubs functioning by the end of 1987. On Wednesday, Oct. 28, there will be a "Just Say No" rally at Mt. Vernon and Brodhead Elementary School. Representing the Governor and speaking to the student body will be Charles Hurt, former basketball player for the University of Kentucky. Mr. Hurt will be speaking at Mt. Vernon at 1 p.m. and at Brodhead at 2 p.m.

Dr. Hedrick reports there is a growing interest in the drug abuse problem faced by our children and youth. The SAD Club (Students Against Drugs) is now being organized at the High School. The Rockcastle County Schools are updating their drug policies, and laying plans for a stronger drug and alcohol education approach on every grade level in the school system. Dr. Hedrick would like to thank every official, school personnel, students and citizens of Rockcastle County for their involvement in addressing the drug and alcohol problem that cost Kentucky $3 billion a year. Special thanks go to the Mt. Vernon Signal and staff for their printing and taking of pictures.

If congress approves plan

Nuclear waste route could be through Rockcastle Co.

Rockcastle County would be along the route on which nuclear waste would be transported if Congress approves a plan to build a nuclear waste temporary storage center at Oak Ridge, Tenn.

The waste would come from various points in the east and Midwest. It would remain temporarily at Oak Ridge then be transported to a permanent site in one of the Western states yet to be designated.

The waste would be transported by rail through eastern Rockcastle County and by truck along I-75.

Both state and federal officials say the proposed $3 billion storage center would make it safer to transport nuclear waste by reducing cross-country shipments.

But environmentalists say the center, which would store deadly radioactive fuel temporarily and prepare it for shipment to a permanent home, is unnecessary. They say it would increase the chances of an accident during the hauling of nuclear waste by train and truck.

And Kentucky members of the Sierra Club say the storage center -- which might open in Oak Ridge in 1998 -- would make Kentucky second only to Tennessee in the number of nuclear shipments on its highways, according to a story in Lexington Herald-Leader.

"There's just a no-win situation for Kentucky," said Stephen Smith, an Owensboro resident and Sierra Club member. "It's really a stinky mess."

The controversy's roots are in the Nuclear Waste Policy Act, passed by Congress in 1982. That law requires the U.S. Department of Energy to build a center for the permanent storage of high-level nuclear waste, which stays radioactive for thousands of years.

The waste consists of spent uranium fuel pellets, used to make chain reactions in nuclear power plants. The pellets, which have high levels of radioactivity, are now being stored at nuclear power plants throughout the country.

Energy Department officials want to store the nuclear waste in a permanent center, which will likely be built in Hanford, Wash., Deaf Smith, Texas, or Yucca Mountain, Nev. Waste from reactors in the western United States, which have only about 10 percent of the nation's high-level nuclear waste, would likely be shipped directly to the permanent storage area.

But Energy Department officials want to build a center for temporary storage in Oak Ridge. Nuclear waste from reactors in the East would be shipped to Oak Ridge, where the uranium pellets would be consolidated and later shipped to the permanent center. Kentucky, because of its central location in the eastern part of the United States and because it is close to Oak Ridge, could become one of the nation's busiest cross-roads for nuclear waste, environmentalists say.

Kentucky has had six shipments of high-level nuclear waste pass through it in the last three years, said Donald R. Hughes, who oversees shipments for the state. The number of annual shipments will multiply once the permanent storage center is opened, according to Energy Department estimates provided by Hughes.

Once the fuel was consolidated at Oak Ridge, it would be shipped west. It again would likely travel through Kentucky on the Southern Railway, from the Tennessee border to Louisville.

Hughes, who supports the proposal for an Oak Ridge center, said he thought the shipments would be safe. But some local officials have expressed concerns.

UK brings helicopter to local hospital for inservice

By: Bob Bailey

Recently the University of Kentucky emergency helicopter visited the Rockcastle Hospital. The reason for this visit was not an emergency but to give an inservice to hospital employees about the new "Aeromedical Service".

Based in Lexington, the service is available 24 hours a day, seven days a week. Because time is critical in an emergency situation, referring hospitals are encouraged to call UK Aeromedical Services as soon as possible. The call will be answered by a trained dispatcher who can determine the procedures and equipment needed for optimum patient care. A team of medical professionals trained in critical care, advanced life support, and emergency medicine, as well as helicopter safety and safe patient transport will be at the patient's side in record time. The medical flight crew consists of a flight nurse and paramedic. Certain types of transports may require the presence of physicians. The medical flight crew can provide advanced life support measures in the air while maintaining consultation with on-ground medical personnel.

All hospitals within a 150 mile radius of Lexington will benefit from the new service. The Sikorsky S-76 twin turbine engine helicopter is recognized as one of the fastest (165) and safest in the industry. The large cabin is configured to the needs of an intensive care unit. The aircraft is capable of transporting two patients, two isolettes (for babies), or one patient with isolette or balloon pump (for cardiac patients) at the same time, in addition to a full medical crew and two pilots.

Six pilots and three mechanics are on rotating shifts so there can be two pilots on each mission and a mechanic on site. The pilots average more than 9,000 hours of flight experience each.

Along with a state-of-the-art navigation system on the S-76 helicopter, the crew communication system enables the pilot and flight crew to maintain communication with University Hospital as well as with the referring hospital or the first responder at an accident scene.

Since the new helicopter can be in Mt. Vernon from Lexington in about 20 minutes, it will be very helpful in transporting very critical patients when needed.

UK flight crew explains the helicopter to hospital employees.

Rockcastle Teen Center gets $5,000 renovation

"The staff and 10 or 12 teens performed most of the labor over a period of two weeks..." Ike Adams

Parents, teachers and the community in general are also invited to visit any time afternoon or weekdays.

The center offers a broad range of recreational opportunities such as bumper pool, table tennis, foot ball, board games, movies, and weight-lifting. The staff also offers tutorial help to students having difficulty with school work, and is planning organized classes in a variety of interesting, fun subjects such as photography, aerobics, music and nature study.

Teen center activity hours are 3 p.m. to 8 p.m. when school is in session and noon until 6 p.m. on snow days or other non-school days.

Use of the center is absolutely free providing that a few basic behavior rules are followed and a willingness to help keep the facility clean is demonstrated.

"We would be tickled to death if more people in the Brodhead, Livingston and Roundstone areas would take advantage of the center," Adams said. "Teens in those areas should give us a call at 256-4919 because we can probably make arrangements to get them home at least a couple of days a week if they want to drop off at the center after school. The same number can be used to schedule tutorial sessions.

Chances are that teens who have never visited the center will find a bunch of people they know already," he said.

NATIONAL 4-H WEEK CELEBRATED

Volunteers Support 4-H with Time

4-H leaders are a vital part of the Rockcastle County 4-H program. Last year 190 adults and teens served in various volunteer roles to help our 4-H program. Many of our elementary school teachers serve as leaders for 4-H school clubs. Also, teachers are involved by using 4-H projects, such as Mulligan Stew T.V. Nutrition Series, Chick Incubation project or Career projects, to supplement their curriculum.

Volunteers in our county teach 4-Hers new skills in after school project meetings. Last year, leaders were involved in four separate project groups: foods, clothing, woodworking and electric.

Judging 4-H events and activities is another way leaders show their support of 4-H. Poster Contest, Project books, award of excellence and demonstration contest are but a few of the many 4-H events that require judges. Volunteers are also found serving as leaders for community clubs, such as Roundstone Community Club, judging teams such as vegetable judging, land judging, horse and dairy judging, helping with 4-H fund raising activities, and assisting in 4-H camps.

Our 4-H Council consists of a group of volunteers who work together with the County 4-H Agent to plan carry out and evaluate 4-H activities in Rockcastle County.

A special thanks goes out to our 4-H volunteers who believe in 4-H and give of their time to provide it.

Everyone Wins with 4-H!

There are no losers in 4-H. Every young person 9-19, rural, small town or city dweller, can win with 4-H. And because of 4-H, our families and communities are strengthened.

4-H is the largest youth organization in the world. Last year in Rockcastle County alone, 2,217 youth participated in organized 4-H clubs, camps, activities, and school enrichment projects.

This means that 76 percent of the Rockcastle County youth age 9-19 participated in the 4-H program.

Young people, 9-19, you can belong to a school club, a community club or a project group. You can't lose when you are part of a program in which you can:

- *Make new friends
- *Develop self-confidence
- *Choose a project and see it through step by step with the help of an adult or junior volunteer leader.
- *Explore projects that can lead to future careers.
- *Work cooperatively as part of a group.
- *Work with your family and in your community
- *Earn achievement awards and trips.
- *Go to meetings, social ac-

When the cold chills of winter grip Kentucky, most things slow down activity. The cattle loose, however, increases activity and causes considerable economic loss to cattlemen whose herds are infested.

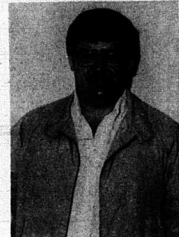

Cattle lice are most damaging during the winter, when they can hide in the heavier coats that the cattle have grown to withstand the winter's rigors. However, lice can be controlled easily by using any one of a number of pour-on or spot-on insecticides. Spray insecticides also will rid the animals of the lice, but, they should be used only in weather warm enough to prevent the treated animals from becoming chilled.

Lice also can be kept in check by using backrubbers or forced-air dustbags that contain insecticides effective against them. However, these devices do not eradicate lice; they simply keep them at reduced levels.

After enjoying a delicious meal prepared by the Brodhead cooks, those present were able to reflect on the value of 4-H while listening to Betty Jo McKinney.

4-H members and leaders received pins, certificates, plaques and trophies from 4-H Council members recognizing them for their 4-H achievements.

COUNTY AGENT HELPED HOST NATIONAL MEETING

Cheryl Witt, Rockcastle County Extension Agent for Home Economics, was in Louisville Oct. 4-8 to help host the annual meeting of the National Association of Extension Home Economists.

Extension administrators from other states focused on various parts of the theme. The group also had the chance to hear Michael Annison, who was part of the Naibett group which did research for the book, Megatrends.

Over 60 workshops were offered, some of which were presented by Kentucky agents and specialists. Many of the workshops were sharing sessions

Usually, foods heat more quickly and evenly if covered. A covering helps hold in the heat and forces the heat that starts at the edges to move to the center rather than be dispersed into the surrounding air.

When foods are to be covered, you have three choices: (1) a tight-fitting cover that will hold in the steam, (2) a loose covering that will allow some, but not all of the steam to escape and (3) a porous covering that will allow most of the steam to escape, but will retain most of the heat. Plastic wrap and made-to-fit casserole lids are examples of tight-fitting covers. With these, very little, if any, steam escapes. Vegetables, many casserole dishes, fish, simmered meats and soups are some examples of foods that usually require tight covering. For a less tight covering, use waxed paper or a casserole cover placed slightly ajar. Here, much of the heat is retained, yet the steam can escape by lifting the waxed paper slightly or through the small openings around the cover. This type covering is frequently used on meats where some crustiness or steaming is desired along with some drying as well. This type covering is frequently used on meats where some crustiness or steaming is desired along with some drying as well. This is also a good covering for leftovers or when you wish to prevent possible spatter-

ing. Paper toweling is a porous covering that allows some moisture to pass through and absorbs some of the moisture. This covering is frequently used to wrap sandwiches, to cover breaded poultry, fish or meat items and to cover casseroles that have some type of dry topping.

When foods are not covered, it is usually because some drying or evaporation is desired. Or, the food heats so quickly that a covering of any kind would be more of an inconvenience than a help. Foods that are frequently stirred, such as puddings and sauces are not covered because the inconvenience of continually having to remove a covering to stir plus the fact that the heat is moved to the center by stirring. Also, many milk-based foods are left uncovered because they boil over more easily when covered.

about successful programs implemented by the agents. Some of the workshops dealt with issues families face, such as caring for elderly family members, laws that affect divorced women and children, and balancing work and family. Others focused on financial planning and bankruptcy prevention, drug education, breaking the cycle of abuse, nutrition, Alzheimer's disease and literacy.

Mrs. Ann Rickels Whitaker of Marrow, Ohio, was present with her graduating class of 1954. Tuesday before leaving Amanda's, Cepha Kincer's two daughters Betty Barnett and Connie Coker came for their mother to accompany them home. How glad we were to see them.

Sunday morning we attended the First Christian Church, where Eddie Hammond is pastor, and wife, Roxanne, teacher. How their handsome little boys are growing! There was Amanda, her daughter Joan Spurlock; Ethel Greenwood and daughter, Annie Thornton; Leila Stokes and daughter, Joyce Wisemer; and Cepha Kincer. As it was Grandparents Day Mrs. Kincer received a beautiful flower plan for having the largest number of grandchildren. It was wonderful we could be together in the church we grew up in. We enjoyed Eddie's sermon from God's Holy Word.

At noon at Jean's Restaurant, a long table in the rear at the big window with a gorgeous view, where reservations had been made in advance: seated at the table, Amanda; Ethel; Cepha and I; Joan, her two daughters, Vicki Hestand and son Jerome of Columbus, Ohio, Elizabeth Annie Thornton, Indianapolis, In.; Joyce Wisemer of Bradenton, Fl. Then in the front door to our surprise came sister, Emma Thompson and daughter Mary and Bill Davis. The complete five sisters. We always enjoy the food and service at Jean's.

In the afternoon we all went straight from Jean's Restaurant to the home of Gordon and Christine Graham. We were glad to see Gordon improving so well but slowly from surgery, and his good wife (also nurse) Christine taking excellent care of him. Joining us at the Graham home were Randy Spurlock and friend, Somerset; Kenny, Sheri, Coby and Kalesa Robinson; Kevin, Ginger, Kristi and Jason Fletcher; Harry and Patricia Harmon. Joyce and I attended services at First Baptist with Ginger and Kevin, Kristi and Jason. Kristi played piano for all the service also offertory.

in Bradenton this summer. Mr. and Mrs. William O. Freeman (Fairy Dooley) have just returned to their home here from Ohio, Indiana, and Kentucky. They visited her brother, Mr. and Mrs. Hobart Dooley and Barbara Hubbard in Mt. Vernon and her sister, Mrs. Addie Martin and family at Three Links. Mrs. Martin accompanied the Freemans to Xenia, Ohio to visit their sister, Mrs. Ada Jones.

Willie Hiatt, son of Billy and Barbara Hiatt of Mt. Vernon, is living in Bradenton, Fl. and is Sports Writer for the Bradenton Herald. He was our visitor at Trinity Baptist Church for our 15th Church Anniversary on Oct. 4, with Rev. John Hawkins, Pastor, "Round-up Sunday" with preaching, the Brothers Quartet of Gospel Music and dinner on the grounds - lots and lots of food.

Mrs. Edna Hansel, of Mt. Vernon, and daughter, Mrs. Anna Bess Shatto of Merritt Island, Fl. drove over to spend a few hours with us in August in Bradenton.

While my daughter and I were in Mt. Vernon, we visited my former neighbors at the Lovell Lane Apartments: Gertrude Cole, Mrs. Letha Carpenter, Geneva Kite, Evelyn McMullin and Mr. and Mrs. Sheridan Mink. From Gertrude's apartment, I ran the back way into Dorothy French's back like old times, through her house to the front porch where she was. She had birthday supper for Mike Brown and was waiting for her daughter, Sue and Mike to come. She had a big birthday cake baked.

On Thursday afternoon, Sept. 10, my daughter, Joyce Wisemer, and I were met in Lexington, at the airport by my sisters-in-law (and Joyce's aunts), Mrs. Edna Hansel and Mrs. Floyd Stokes. They also took us back to Lexington on our return trip to Bradenton, Fl., on the 15th. We spent part of the day Friday with Edna who took us over for a visit with Mrs. Dolly Krahenbulh.

Mrs. Lula Stokes and daughter, Mrs. Danny Wisemer have returned to Bradenton, Fl., from a week's visit with sister and aunt, Mrs. Amanda Maggard

Notes from Florida

MVHS Annual Reunion

Our hearts overflow with gratitude to our dear sister, Mrs. Amanda Maggard, who returned to her Manor Apartment in Mt. Vernon to open up her home there and be there to welcome her three sisters and their daughters. Tears came to my eyes for joy when I think, "Where else could we have gone to have loving compassionate arms reaching out to greet us?"

On Thursday afternoon, my daughter and I arrived, then less than an hour later, sister Ethel and her daughter, Annie came from Indiana. Amanda was standing on her balcony beckoning us to hurry on up to the second floor. Just to be with her and her family was well worth our trip, for going and spending five wonderful days and nights with her.

On Saturday evening we attended the Annual Mt. Vernon High School Reunion honoring classes from 1914-1954, which brings many folk from all over our USA to this big event. With registrations over and greeting old school mates, we all had our special table and had our plates filled with delicious food prepared by the Home Ec. staff, and back at our tables, when radiant smiling sister, Cepha, came to our table, where we were saving a place for her. She, her daughter, Lois and Albert Hampton had just come from Glasco, where they attended a wedding of Kathi Kincer, daughter of John and Sandy Kincer of Tenn. There we four sisters were together. Also at our table was Joyce Wisemer, Mabel Rickels, Floyd and Kizzi Owens, all ready and set to enjoy the delicious banquet of food and the delightful program. Before we left the building, Jim Cox took pictures of the four Sparks brother, Bentley, William, Harry and Bob; also of the four Davis sisters present, Amanda Maggard, Ethel Greenwood, Cepha Kincer and Lelia Stokes.
