

Roundstone Scout News

Rockcastle County Girl Scouts have started off with a great year. We have registered more girls and adults than ever before.

We greatly appreciate these adults that help lead our Girl Scouts. They play a very important role in making a troop successful. We are happy to say Brodhead has troops this year. Thanks to everyone involved in that. A lot of the credit goes to Donna Brewer. The leaders have been busy doing registrations and taking necessary training. In October we did the Outdoor Training. This includes campfires, knots, tools and cooking. This was an experience that Jeannie Witt, Allene Cornelius and Kathy Coffey will not forget. We heated our dish water in tin cans, cooked steak on an open fire and baked a cake in a foil box. Sound impossible? It's not and there was no electricity involved.

Thanks to Regina Hodge and Donna Brewer for giving this training. Thanks to the Family Life Center for allowing us to use their building for the night and the grounds.

The girls have been busy selling pocket calendars and magazines, planning events, doing crafts. Be ready when a Girl Scout knocks on your door taking orders for Girl Scout cookies.

We thank everyone directly for helping our Girl Scouts but if it wasn't for the people of our county backing us, we couldn't do it. So thanks Rockcastle County!

Boonesboro

Recently at Fort Boonesboro there was a total of 795 Girl Scouts from Area 6 which includes 8 counties participating in an Outdoor Skills Day. This included the eight basic skills of outdoors such as tools, first aid, conservation, campfires, and knots. All the girls and leaders had a great learning experience.

A Sincere Thank-You...

Dear Editor,
We would like to use this column to say a sincere "Thank you" to all the friends and neighbors who turned out last Saturday (the 7th) to help fight the fire that raged across the Central Ridge. The message picture in last week's Signal showing the National Guard battling the blaze was only one small section of the total picture; men and women, young people and old, worked shoulder-to-shoulder throughout the day to help stop the destruction.
Friends and strangers poured in throughout the day to help in any way they could. We could not possibly name everyone who worked or helped, and probably did not even see everyone; but we felt the neighborly-bond that held us together, and even though everyone was exhausted at the end of the day, no one really seemed to mind; it was a battle won!

Neighborliness is alive and well in Rockcastle County! We're "much obliged".

The Hugh Ramsey and Elbert Eversole Families

Would like to get letters...

Dear Editor,
I'm a 26 year old black male inmate at the state prison. I never get mail and I get very lonely in here. It would make me very happy if I could make some new friends.
Through your newspaper, if anyone wishes to write me... I will answer all letters...I'd like to send you a poem to put in your paper also. Thanks very much.

Respectfully,

The declaration entitled "Our Children - Our Schools - Our Future" notes that research on effective schools reveals some amazingly simple findings.

"Good schools are founded upon very basic, simple premises, and in the years ahead we intend to keep those basic concepts first and foremost as we plan the programs that will provide the focus and direction for our schools. Good schools are founded upon pride to their students, their staffs and their communities."

Stokes gets Award of Excellence

C. Shannon Stokes, professor of rural sociology at Penn State, received the 1987 Award for Excellence in research from the Rural Sociological Society at its awards ceremony in Wisconsin.

Professor Stokes is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Burkes Stokes, formerly of Mt. Vernon.

Stokes was honored for his work on the demographic implications of agricultural policy as discussed in his recent book, "Rural Development and Human Fertility." The book was co-authored by Wayne Schutjer, head of the Department of Agricultural Economics and Rural Sociology at Penn State. The World Bank and the U.S. Agency for International Development are now using his work.

Stokes is the associate director of the Population Issues Research Center at Penn State and is the author of more than 60 major research papers. He teaches graduate courses in population issues and rural sociology.

Dr. Orson Arvin not guilty

It took a Rockcastle County jury only about 15 minutes last Wednesday to find local medical doctor Orson Arvin, not guilty of mal-practice.

A civil suit filed by Cheryl Thompson for her daughter Shawna in July 1985 prompted the three-day trial in Rockcastle Circuit Court last week.

Cheryl Thompson had been under Arvin's care during a 1981 pregnancy. In the suit Thompson claimed that Arvin Caused her daughter Shawna to be born prematurely, eventually causing her death in February 1985.

But Arvin testified that the child was full term when it was born in December 1981.

Ten of the 12 jurors signed the judgment which stated that they did not believe Arvin failed to comply with his duty and that he did not cause either injury or the death of Shawna Thompson.

In a civil suit only nine of the 12 jurors must rule the same way.

Footprints left on the Moon by Apollo astronauts will remain visible for at least ten million years, plenty of time for humankind to visit a nearby star with a suitable planet and leave footprints on its surface.

Heat assistance program second phase postponed

The second phase of the 1987-88 winter Home Energy Assistance Program (HEAP) for low-income Kentuckians has been postponed at least until mid-December and will probably be canceled entirely if projections of the state's share of a reduced federal program budget hold true.

However, officials of the state Department for Social Insurance now intend to open what is usually the third and final HEAP segment next month instead of waiting until January, if funds are approved by that time at a level forcing cancellation of the application period originally scheduled to open Nov. 16.

Social Insurance Commissioner Mike Robinson said Monday, Dec. 14 is the target date for the next set of applications from Kentuckians needing help with their electricity, gas, wood, coal, bottled gas, or other heating fuel costs.

"Based on the most reliable speculation coming from Washington this week, it's likely state appropriations for HEAP this year won't be known for another three to four weeks," Robinson said. "And it now appears that Congress will pass a bill that severely cuts the winter heating program budget."

"We already have approximately 46,000 approved applications from the initial HEAP segment for households with elderly or disabled family members. It wouldn't be fair to hold out much hope that we'll have adequate funding to open the process in a regular, second HEAP phase for the other low-income applicants."

Another factor favoring elimination of the middle application period and an early start to the third or "crisis" HEAP segment is that many Kentucky families eligible in either of the first two parts of the program may be helped during that final portion as well.

"Because the available federal money was already limited, benefits in the first two parts of the program only averages about $100 per household," Robinson said. "That doesn't go a long way toward retiring an outstanding utility or fuel bill that may have been building for months. So these families may be eligible again sometime during the crisis component which operates during the hardest winter months."

Applications are handled statewide by the Kentucky's 23 regional community action agencies in the "crisis" segment of the program. Eligible families in need may receive up to $300 worth of aid, varying from heating systems repairs and blankets to utility payments and temporary shelter, dependent on the assessed individual needs of that household.

When Kentucky's share of the federal HEAP financial pot is determined, the community action agencies will be able to draw upon a predetermined portion of that fund. Each region is allocated a percentage of the federal money based upon the percent of the area population with resources below the poverty level.

Robinson said if the department determines there are sufficient funds, a $400,000 reserve account will be set aside to be used to help households without heat after all other available "crisis" segment funds are expended.

Good schools help growth

Good schools promote community development and growth, says a declaration from the Rockcastle County Board of Education in observance of American Education Week, Nov. 15-21.

The complete declaration from the board will be found in a public notice published on another page in this issue of the Signal.

"Schools are regarded with high esteem by the community," the notice says. "School staff benefits when respected by the community and this respect promotes a sense of dignity."

The statement comments that "good schools promote community development and growth; they build upon the strengths of the community and make them an integral part of the school programs. Progressive communities

Vandals target business windows

Henry Hines replaces one of the windows in his printing shop on Main Street in Mt. Vernon after it was shot out by vandals last Thursday. Several business places in Mt. Vernon and surrounding area were targets for the vandals.

Reward for information

A $1,000 reward is being offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of person, or persons, involved and responsible for vandalizing—several businesses in the Mt. Vernon area last Wednesday night.

According to Mt. Vernon City Police Chief Joe Howard, about 15 businesses received shots, by either a pump pellet gun or some type of small caliber weapon.

The businesses hardest hit were Mt. Vernon Printing and Save-a-lot where the glass shattered, according to Howard, who said that both front doors at Save-a-lot were apparently beaten out.

The episode took place from about 12:30 a.m. when an alarm sounded at Young's pharmacy, until about 2:30 a.m. The alarm at Saylor's Pharmacy on Richmond Street was tripped about 1:30 a.m.

The shattered doors at Save-a-lot were discovered about 2 a.m. by Pat Winstead who was delivering the Signals to the business. Other store owners discovered their problems when they opened on Thursday morning.

Others hit were the Bank of Mt. Vernon, Hiatt's 5 & 10, Red Top Restaurant, Hand W Dinner, Carriers Laundromat, Cox Hardware, Bryant Brothers, the Mt. Vernon Post Office and the Mt. Vernon Dairy Freeze.

Two car windows were also shot out, one of which belonged to Mt. Vernon city police officer Wayne Bentley.

Anyone with information about the night of vandalism should contact Howard or the Rockcastle County Sheriff's office.

Rain douses forest fires

Forest fires became a thing of the past Tuesday as rain damped the woodlands.

But Forest Service officials said fires could rekindle if more dry weather returns. The Weather Service said it would likely be dry at least through Friday.

Before the rains came Tuesday, there were six fires reported since last week, but only one was considered major.

Fire destroyed about 110 acres on May Apple Road near Conway Sunday and Monday.

About eight acres reportedly belonging to Darrell Isaacs burned on Flat Gap Road Monday. A small fire of about an acre burned woodland at Sand Hill Monday night, according to Jerry Mink, Livingston fire chief.

A grass fire burned less than an acre on Old Somerset Road in Mt. Vernon Monday. It was reported on George Lakes' property.

A small fire was reported in the Brodhead area Monday, but details were not available.

To date this fire season, a total of 2,405 acres have been burned in Rockcastle County.

Another rain

The second rain this month—Monday and Tuesday—added .60 of an inch to the total rainfall for the month.

To date in November, a total of 2.28 inches has fallen, partly snow. Last November, the month's total was over five inches.

Santa Claus to visit Brodhead

Santa Claus is scheduled to arrive in Brodhead at 2 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 5.

He will have treats for the children. There will be drawings held by Brodhead merchants. Before Santa arrives, there will be a bazaar at 10 a.m. with baked items and crafts located in the new fire department building and sponsored by the Willing Workers Homemakers Club.

Persons who wish to participate in the drawings should put their name in boxes provided by participating merchants. Those merchants who do not have a box, names will be drawn from all others combined.

Several merchants are stressing that the person whose name is drawn must be there to claim the prize, except for Wilcox Television.

There will also be a drawing for a quilt made by county Homemakers. Tickets for the blanket will be sold by a homemaker at the Extension office. Charities are $1 each or six for $5.

Merchants participating in the drawings are:

Barbara's Beauty Shop, curling iron; Bentley's Marathon, $20 in gas; Brodhead Cafe, large pizza (choice of toppings); Brodhead Hardware, torch kit; Brodhead Dart delie, $15 cash; Citizen's Bank, $50 cash; Convent Food Market, $30 gift certificate; David's Tire Center, $20 cash; Brock Studio, $10 gift certificate; Doug's Hair Design, $10

Pleads to lesser charge

Allen Charles, 30, of Livingston, who shot his former brother-in-law to death in a Livingston apartment on June 15, pleaded guilty last Friday to reckless homicide in Rockcastle Circuit Court.

Larry Bruce Kirby, 36, of Mt. Vernon, died instantly from two .22 caliber gunshot wounds, one to the chest and one to the head, after he came to Charles' apartment.

Charles told police at the time of the shooting that it was in self-defense. A Rockcastle County Grand Jury later indicted Charles for murder.

Rockcastle Commonwealth Attorney Benny Ham recommended a sentence of two years in the state penitentiary for Charles. He will be sentenced Jan. 22. He will remain on bond until then.

David Bradley 19, of Mt. Vernon who was charged with a Jan. 17 break-in at C.C. Cox Hardware in Mt. Vernon pleaded guilty to a lesser charge of criminal trespassing in the first degree.

Ham recommended a sentence of six months in the county jail. He too will remain on bond until Jan. 22, when he is formally sentenced.

In Remembrance

Members of VFW Post 5908, Mt. Vernon, and others, pause to pay tribute to those who have died in all wars, including World War II, Korea and Vietnam, during ceremonies on Veterans Day. The group, which assembled at the war memorial at the Rockcastle County Courthouse, is being led in prayer by Rev. Marvin Hensley, at left. About 25 persons attended the ceremonies.

Three types of U.S. mass transit grants are available: operating, administrative and capital. Operating and administrative assistance both require local matching funds. Capital assistance grants require state and local matching funds.

Where have all the Republicans gone

From Commonwealth-Journal

Kentuckians saw a one-party system emerge as Democrat Wallace Wilkinson turned the commonwealth's politics upside down, running away with every gubernatorial record in sight—the largest percentage of victory, the greatest margin of votes, and carrying all but five of the state's 120 counties.

One of the key factors contributing to Republican ineptness was a lack of party support.

Not much in-person assistance was provided the 1987 candidates by Republican powers, both elected and otherwise. Instead of working the campaign trails, making public appearances, endorsing in commercials and advertisements and sharing personal and staff campaign expertise, the one Republican senator and three congressmen did relatively little. Of those, 5th District congressman Harold "Hal" Rogers offered the most visible support for Harper and the state GOP ticket.

Catch the arsonists

From Corbin Times-Tribune

"The frequency of arson in the forests is deplorable," said Natural Resources Secretary Mary Helen Miller in a recent story in the Times-Tribune.

"Deploable" is not strong enough. "Criminal" and certainly "sick" are two words acceptable in a family publication, but they still lack the force to describe the type of person who would start a fire.

"Unfortunately, because of an unthinking few, and an uncaring majority, our region has a bad reputation of abusing our beautiful natural resources.

"We allowed many of our mountains to be raped by strip mining without insisting on inactivity was blamed on the slate of weaker candidates fielded by the party, with experienced Republicans shaking their heads and saying they've had enough.

Granted, stronger candidates are needed. But how are strong candidates going to emerge unless they get the support from within the party at the grass-roots level? Party workhorses can't be over-taken by the chilling snowball of ineffective candidates who were coaxed into running; instead, the snowball must be reversed to the point citizens are begging to be endorsed by the Republican Party.

Several statewide GOP meetings are in order, organized meetings at which burdens of regional Republicans hear the facts laid before them. Strong district organizations must be re-established; the various jobs, and their duties, must be explained and assigned to create an organizational flow for the next decade.

After all of that is accomplished, and a momentum is born, Republicans statewide must begin recruiting candidates for future elections. It is a move that must start soon, given the complex and lengthy campaign process of the '80s.

responsible reclamation; we still refuse to pick up our trash along roadsides—creaks, and river banks; and now the severity of the fires which burn unchecked have focused national attention to the problem of arson in our beautiful state.

Until law enforcement agencies and the courts declare war on the wildcaters, the dumpers and the fire-starters, the quality of life certainly can't improve in our region.

I do insist that law enforcement, the courts and the community work together to develop a sense of pride in what has to be our greatest asset...the land.

As for the arsonists...

Lucky Mike...

By: Richard Anderkin

It has been a lucky two weeks for Mike Hansel.

First, it was a free gallon of antifreeze at the Farmer-Business Banquet, and then last Saturday the Rockcastle Bass Club held its member gucci fishing tournament and Mike was happy he attended.

Ronnie McClure, probably the best known local fisherman, one who has had more success than most of his peers, won the tournament with his guest, you guessed, Mike Hansel.

"I fished the tournament, I asked Mike?"

"Near Somerset on Lake Cumberland," he replied.

"Where on Lake Cumberland, I persisted?"

"I don't know, just on Lake Cumberland," he replied.

The duo, both 1967 graduates of Mt. Vernon High School, caught over 11 pounds of black bass in their winning effort. Ronnie also caught the big fish, over three pounds, to capture the big fish pot.

"How many fish did you catch, Mike, I inquired."

"None," he said, "but I think I got one bite, but I'm not real sure."

"Were you and Ronnie using the same bait, I asked?"

"I'm not sure. I think my bait fell off after about the first couple of hours," he answered with a shrug.

"How long did you fish, I inquired further?"

"About seven hours," he related. "I sure had a sore shoulder."

"For their winning effort, the two received $5 each."

"I told Ronnie to take it all, but he said that I did not a few and I drove the boat well."

Mike is considering professional fishing, but in the meantime he says he'll probably stay with the rock at Kentucky stone, instead of the rock bass in Green River, Barren or Cumberland or whatever that place was.

"Went to Greenup to see old friend Steve Henneman and his wife, Nancy, Friday night. Everybody remembers Steve."

"After the Greenup trip we went to Louisville on Saturday. We are still trying to get over that."

"We went to a restaurant to eat breakfast. After a long wait to be seated, we were seated so close to some other people that Aaron, our two-year-old kept asking who those people were eating breakfast with us."

"For those of you who are wondering who is going on on the Ky. 461 bypass, not it is not a McDonalds, Kroger, or Wal-Mart, just yet. All of the work that is going on around the bypass is just a preliminary cleanup, according to one of the developers, Bill Ford."

Sam said that as of right now the property has not been sold. But that is not to say that it won't be soon. Sam wouldn't say jo whom for what. He just wouldn't say.

Our Children - Our Schools - Our Future

November 15 - 21 is American Education Week. This observance provides an appropriate opportunity to reflect upon the goals and aspirations that all of us should maintain for the schools of Rockcastle County.

The research on effective schools reveals some amazingly simple findings. Good schools are founded upon very basic simple premises, and in the years ahead we intend to keep those basic concepts first and foremost as we move the programs that will provide the focus and sense of direction for our schools. Good schools are sources of pride to their students, their staffs and their communities.

Characteristics of Good Schools

- Good Schools maintain a climate of high expectations for both students and staff. Such schools firmly believe that commitment to quality can make a difference and that no child is doomed to failure. A belief in the value of hard work, the importance of personal responsibility, and the importance of education itself contributes to greater success in good schools.
- Good Schools maintain a clean, safe and orderly climate. Pride is obvious within the physical environment of good schools. Such schools contribute to their students' academic success by establishing, communicating and enforcing fair and consistent discipline policies. Time is managed wisely in good schools because the amount of time that students are actively engaged in learning contributes strongly to achievement.
- Good Schools have strong leadership. The leadership of such schools focuses sharply on learning. The principals and teachers believe they can make a difference in what students learn. In good schools, strong instructional leadership is provided. The principals of good schools provide the vision and the energy to create and maintain conditions essential to success. Successful principals establish policies that create an orderly environment and support effective instruction.
- Good Schools involve parents and community resources in planning and maintaining quality programs. Such schools recognize that parents want to be involved with their children's schools but are often unsure of what to do or how to do it. Parents in good schools understand that they have a responsibility to instill in their children the values needed to progress in school and throughout life. A cooperative, supportive relationship exists between parents and school personnel in good schools. Parent involvement helps children learn more effectively. The schools which are successful at involving parents in their children's school work are successful because they work at it.
- Good Schools hire and retain competent teachers. Good schools are staffed with teachers who are competent and knowledgeable, not only in their subject areas but who also have an understanding of the teaching-learning process. Such teachers recognize the value of understanding developmental processes (emotional, physical and mental) and how these processes contribute to academic success. Good teachers know how learning takes place and how to apply the principles of learning and they believe firmly that all children can learn. Excellent teachers go one step beyond knowledge and the laws of learning - They are genuinely interested in children and are willing to get to know their students and their environments and they never fail to promote the value of all children's self-esteem.
- Good Schools maintain a spirit of cooperativeness and commitment. Pride is evident in good schools and their staffs are committed to promoting the interests of children. Team decisions are made by staff and administrators encourage input from teachers. Students benefit academically when staff members share ideas, cooperate in efforts to build a better school, and assist one another in professional growth. A high standard of professional ethics and values is evident in effective schools.
- Good Schools have community support. Such schools are regarded with high esteem by the community. School staff benefits when respected by the community and this respect promotes a sense of dignity. Good schools promote community development and growth; they build upon the strengths of the community and make them an integral part of school programs. Progressive communities join in efforts to address deficiencies rather than offering only harsh criticism. Students benefit and have more pride in their schools when schools are respected, encouraged and promoted by parents and community.

It is our hope that all school personnel, students, board members, parents and concerned citizens will join in efforts to promote quality education in Rockcastle County and that as a result the year ahead (1988) will be a time of growth and progress.

Kenneth Pillion and some of his 175,000 baseball cards.

For Kenneth Pillion

Baseball card collecting big business

By: Richard Anderkin

When Pete Rose broke Ty Cobb's record for most major league hits on Sept. 11, 1985 his baseball card went up in value about $200.

A card that you could have received in a pack of gum in 1963, when no one knew who Pete Rose was, now brings about $500.

If you don't think so, just ask local authority Kenneth Pillion. Probably the biggest collector of baseball cards in Rockcastle County, Pillion's prize possession, his baseball card collection is worth about $10,000.

Since Kenneth, who is now 26, was about 12 when he started collecting baseball cards. Only in the past two years has he made it one of the top priorities of his spare time.

Armed with the most up to date price guide, his 175,000 cards and usually a pocket full of money, Kenneth hits about 25 card shows a year. He travels the local circuit from Nashville to Cincinnati to Pikeville, where he tries to find a bargain for his already prized collection.

This weekend Kenneth will show his cards as one of the participants in a card show at Pikeville, where he will give other collectors and first time buyers a look at what he has to sell or trade.

What makes people collect baseball cards? "It's a hobby, the same thing that makes a man fish, hunt, play softball, golf," he said. "A hobby that you can be profitable, if you stay on your toes," he said.

Kenneth actually has two collections of cards, one that he trades from and one that he keeps for his own private collection. Very often he does not even show his private collection, just the ones he is willing to sell or trade.

In his private collection, along with Rose's rookie card, is Kenneth's most expensive card, a 1952 card of slugger Mickey Mantle. That card is worth about $600 or more but it depends on who you are talking to. Kenneth admits if the price is right Mickey and Pete could buy another home.

How do you make money in card collecting. Well, if you had bought a Honus Wagner card in the early 1900's when you bought a pack of tobacco you would have a card worth $36,000.

A 1952 Mickey Mantle card is worth $600.

No Operators License in Possession: Scott Estes, $20 plus costs; Willard Overbay, $50 fine; Gene W. Bryant, warrant issued/license suspended; Improper Passing: Michael G. Komenovich, license suspended; Concealed Weapon: Clell Pittman, $25 fine (authorize refund of weapon).

Balance Due: Timothy Johnson, $307.50; Timothy Johnson, $507.50; Harold Callahan, $187.50, warrant issued/license suspended; John K. Hoskins, $160; David John King, $517.50, warrant issued/license suspended; Willard Overbay, $257.50; Randy A. Coffey, $357.50, warrant issued/license suspended; Timothy Joe Bradley, $67.50; 30 days Failure to appear-suspend 20 days if paid.

the most expensive card. Why? There are only about 50 to 100 of them in good condition.

"Condition has everything to do with it," he added.

According to Kenneth, who said, besides keeping his collection in good shape, he keeps his most expensive cards under lock and key in his safety deposit box.

Every Thursday Kenneth gets the Sports Collectors Digest in the mail at his Richmond office. He goes through it very carefully looking for cards he might need or people that might want some of his cards. He also checks out the latest price scale.

"Card collecting is just like the stock market, mostly speculation," he said. "You buy a players card when the player brakes into the league and hope he does well throughout his career. If he doesn't you've only got a small amount invested, like usually less than a dollar, unless he does like Bob Horner, and you pay a lot for him and he leaves the country, to play, then you've lost. Card collectors hate Bob Horner."

What will be the next price increase for Pete Rose's cards?

The Mt. Vernon Signal Thursday, November 19, 1987 P-3

"The Hall of Fame, then death," he said. "I guess it is true that most people are worth more dead than alive. It is certainly true with card collecting."

TALKING TURKEY

Cooking a turkey for the first time can be threatening to a holiday host or hostess. Deciding whether to buy a fresh or frozen one, self-basted or pre-stuffed one, or a 10-pound or 24-pound bird can bring on a case of jitters. But with a few guidelines, turkey can be easy to prepare.

First of all, make sure it has been inspected and labeled with a USDA sticker. Check for a grade mark, too. Look for a Grade A Turkey, which indicates the bird is meaty and is free from pinfeathers, bruises and cuts and tears on the breast and legs.

All turkeys are young, usually four to six months of age. Sex designation of hen or tom is optional on the label, and is an indication of size rather than the tenderness of a turkey.

When you go to the store to buy one, you'll have to decide whether to buy fresh or frozen. There is no significant difference in quality between the two but if you don't want a large turkey taking up space in your refrigerator for four or five days while it thaws, you may want to order a fresh bird ahead of time and pick it up one to two days before you'll be cooking it.

If you're looking for convenience, consider stuffed and ready-to-cook items like boneless turkey breasts or chicken breasts as quick alternatives. Carefully follow the "best if used by" dating and directions on preparations to ensure food safety and quality.

Precooked turkeys also are available but they should be served immediately after heating or they may develop an "off" or "warmed-over" flavor when reheated.

Once you get a turkey home, the kitchen counter is not the best place to thaw it because room temperatures fall within the danger zone of 60 and 125 degrees F. Those temperatures promote active growth of bacteria. Cooking does not destroy all bacteria and some food poisoning organisms produce toxins that withstand heat.

The safest way to thaw a turkey is in the refrigerator. Place the turkey in its original wrap on a tray or in a pan to catch moisture that accumulates as it thaws. For an 8 to 12 pound turkey, thaw 2 to 3 days. For one that is 16 to 20 pounds, thaw 3 to 4 days. For one that is 20 to 24 pounds, thaw 4 to 5 days.

If it's the day before you plan to serve your turkey and you just remembered that it's still sitting in the freezer, don't panic. Check the wrapping to make sure that there are no rips and simply place the bird in its unopened bag in the sink or in a large container and cover it with cold water. If the wrapping is torn, place the turkey in another plastic bag, close securely, and then place in water. You will need to change the water about every 30 minutes.

When thawing a turkey in water, allow 4 to 6 hours for one that is 8 to 12 pounds. For one that is 12 to 16 pounds, allow 6 to 9 hours. For one that is 16 to 20 pounds allow 9 to 11 hours and for one that is 20 to 24 pounds, allow 11 to 12 hours.

A turkey can be thawed in a microwave oven but since microwave ovens vary in what they accommodate, check the manufacturer's instructions for the size turkey that will fit in your oven, the minutes per pound and the power level to use for thawing.

Use either the refrigerator or the water thawing method instead of the microwave. In the microwave, the turkey may cook in spots.

Once your turkey has thawed, it requires little preparation before cooking. Remove the neck and the giblets from the turkey cavity. Wash the inside and outside of the turkey and the giblets in cold water and drain well. To prevent the spread of bacteria, wash your hands, utensils and sink after they have come in contact with the raw turkey.

Once the turkey is thawed it can be cooked by roasting in the oven, microwaving, or it can be placed on a rotisserie or grilling.

Old Fashioned Bread Stuffing
(Yield: 8 cups - enough for 12 to 14 pound turkey)

- 1 1/2 cups chopped onion
- 1/2 cups diced celery
- 1 stick (1/2 cup) butter or margarine
- 1 teaspoon poultry seasoning
- 1 teaspoon rubbed sage
- 1 teaspoon salt

Pepper
1/2 cup water or broth
8 cups dry unseasoned bread cubes (10 to 12 slices, cubed and dried overnight)

Cook onion and celery in butter until tender. Mix in seasonings. Add onion mixture and water to bread cubes. Combine. Stuff turkey and roast immediately.

Variations:

Cranberry-Sausage: Cut 1 cup fresh cranberries into halves. Cut 1 package (8 ounces) sausage links into pieces. Add to bread cubes.

Bacon and Green Pepper: Substitute 1/2 cups chopped green pepper for celery. Substitute 1 teaspoon thyme leaves for poultry seasoning and sage. Reduce salt to 1/2 teaspoon. Add 12 slices cooked diced bacon to bread cubes.

Traditional Gravy

- (Yield: 4 cups)
- Drippings
- Fat
- Turkey, chicken or giblet broth
- 1/2 cup flour
- Salt and pepper
- Cooked giblets, chopped fine, optional

Pour drippings from roasting pan into large measuring cup. Place 1/4 cup fat from drippings into saucpan or roasting pan. Discard any remaining fat from drippings. To drippings add enough broth to make 4 cups. Stir flour into fat in saucpan. Gradually blend in drippings. Bring to a boil, stirring constantly. Continue cooking 3 to 5 minutes. Season with salt and pepper. Add giblets.

Gravy Additions: Add 2 tablespoons sherry

Nutritious Foods. The lesson included a quiz for the ladies to test our knowledge on the amount of fat in certain types of food.

We discussed a project of giving hand made gifts from our club for Christmas.

It was decided we would make something for the residents of Sower Nursing Home for this year's gift giving.

Mrs. Alta Bullock was asked to give thanks and ask the blessing of our Lord for the nice meal we were about to receive.

The meal was a delicious early Thanksgiving dinner with all the trimmings. The food was prepared by our hostess and co-hostess Mrs. Pauline Kincer and Mrs. Margaret Coffey.

Some of the ladies stayed on into the afternoon making rag baskets with assistance from Cheryl Witt, Margaret Coffey and Irene Baker.

First Christian to present "We Are So Blessed"

The adult choir of First Christian Church here in Mt. Vernon will present "We Are So Blessed," a thanksgiving cantata by Bill and Gloria Gaither, this Sunday, November 22 at 11:00 a.m. in the church building auditorium. "We Are So Blessed" will encourage everyone to live a life of gratitude. We firmly believe that God is the giver of every good and perfect gift and that not only we as Christians, but this country has benefited from the blessings of God. We are therefore to serve Him with this attitude of gratitude.

Soloists for the arrangement include Casandra McCauley,

Richard Broaduss, Anthony Machal and Jennifer Cox. The cantata is narrated by Roxanne Hammond, Phillip Stratton and Jennifer Cox. Jamie Cox has once again demonstrated her dynamic in music in the direction of this cantata. Her name is synonymous with quality when it comes to anything associated with music.

The congregation of First Christian awaits with great anticipation, "We Are So Blessed," and invites friends and fellow Christians to share with them this Sunday, November 22 at 11:00 a.m.

Other performances of "We Are So Blessed" will be Sunday afternoon November 22, 4:00 p.m. at the Respiratory Care Center of the hospital and Wednesday, November 25, 7:00 p.m. at the church building auditorium as part of the Thanksgiving Unity service of area Christian Churches/Churches of Christ. Everyone is invited and welcome to the church "Where Your Heart Knows the Difference."

FAIRVIEW

By Mrs. Hubert Chasten

Rev. Harvey Pensol filled his regular appointment at the Fairview Baptist Church over the weekend with good attendance. On Nov. 15th we had 124 in Sunday School. I just thank God so much for our children and young people, also for the parents of these children and our older people. Most of these children's parents attend church and Sunday School along with their children and I am so proud of them. We also thank God for our pastor and his wife who are so faithful and devoted, they have our love and prayers. And I also want to mention Mrs. Pensol's mother Mrs. Bernice Dixon who moved here some time ago from Georgia. She is a member of our church and attends every time she can, she is such a sweet lady, so friendly and kind, and one who truly loves her Lord and all people. May God bless every person who reads this is my prayer. We love you all, and invite you to come and worship with us anytime, we are always glad to have you.

We extend our deepest heartfelt sympathy to the family of Elijah Himes Jr. of Berea who passed away last Thursday. May God bless and comfort his loved ones. They have our love and prayers.

Along with many, many others I'm sure, I want to publicly thank God for the wonderful rain and also the snow we received last week. We had such a long dry spell but the rains come when God is ready to send them and not before.

I feel that we would receive many more blessings if we attended church and lived for the Lord daily.

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Cope have been their daughters, Mrs. Frankie Hayes and Mr. Hayes of Winchester. Mrs. Christine Barnett of Berea and Mrs. Helen Powell of Indian Hills. Their son Buddy (who lives close) and his wife are in and out very often helping with his father who has been disabled for some time. Mr. and Mrs. Cope have been blessed with good children who love their dad and mom.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Alexander visited his uncle and aunt Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Alexander of London last Sunday.

Hubert and I visited our son Junior and family in Berea last Thursday morning.

On Thursday afternoon three of my friends from Richmond visited in our home. Mrs. Christine (Noland) Ashcraft, Mrs. Edith Rae Houndshell and Mrs. Martha Perkins. I enjoyed their visit so much. We have been such good friends since our high school days.

Mr. and Mrs. R.J. Ridgell and Sherry visited his parents Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Ridgell of Corbin last Saturday.

Maybe more news next time.

Attend Sunday School and church everytime you can. Also remember, "You may have everything you want or need in this world, but if you don't have Jesus, you have missed it all." God bless you all.

In Loving Memory of Thomas William Kirby who passed away a year ago Nov. 22, 1986

It broke our hearts to lose you, but you did not go alone, for part of us went with you, the day God took you home. To your resting place I go, the flowers I place with care. But no one knows the pain I feel as I turn and leave you there. Very sadly missed by wife, Marian and children, Tommy, Jr., Vicki and Shane. Mother, Bessie and brother and sisters.
