Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,
In this age of digital technology I find myself growing accustomed to the many modern conveniences my city dwellers take for granted.

During my past two visits to my fathers house on Brindle Ridge, I have been rudely awakened by the loud hour of air stealing from his faucets. Wandering very much to wash my sleepy body and perhaps take part in a warm cup of coffee, I have driven to the everflowing metropolis of Mt. Vernon to quench these simple desires.

Sometimes I feel sorry for old dad. Maybe in the future more than air can be piped to his home. It seems if NASA can ...oh forget it.

Warmly yours,
Craig White

Dear Sir,
I am trying to locate any information on a death record of a George Ballard who died in Rockcastle County, near Brodhead between 1910 and 1920.

I cannot find a death record or any other method of finding his exact death date.

Is there a Mt. Vernon Signal exist at that time? Can the Signal help or maybe someone else. Are any records of the Mt. Vernon Signal on film? Any help is appreciated.

Sincerely,
Mike Padgett

Officers chosen for the newly

Social Security beneficiaries will receive benefit statement soon

If you're a Social Security beneficiary, you should receive a Social Security Benefit Statement (Form SSA-109) in the mail sometime this month, according to Robert Anderson, manager of the Richmond Social Security office. The form shows the amount of Social Security benefits you received or repaid in 1987. You should use the form to help you figure whether any of your Social Security benefits are subject to Federal income tax.

Most Social Security beneficiaries do not have to pay any Federal income tax on their Social Security benefits. If your Social Security check is your largest source of income, you probably won't owe any tax on your benefits. But if you have substantial income in addition to your Social Security benefits, up to half of your annual Social Security benefits may be subject to Federal income tax.

Your Social Security benefits may be taxable if your taxable income plus your non-taxable income exceeds certain limits. For example, if you are a single person, your taxable income plus your non-taxable income must not exceed $2,500. If you are a married couple, the limit is $3,500. If you are a widower or widow, the limit is $2,500. If you are a divorced person, the limit is $1,500.

Organized Future Homemakers of America Club at Brodhead High School were installed; Elizabeth Thompson, secretary; Diane Burton, first vice president; Joan Burke, song leader; Sue Cummins, second vice president; Betty Rae Adams, parliamentarian; Joann Adams, treasurer; Martha Bullock, historian; Linda Chandler, reporter; Charlotte Robbins, president; Wanda Jean Bullock, recreational leader and Mrs. Carol VanHook was their advisor.

A loan of $421,000 for new telephone line construction was awarded the Kentucky Telephone Company, London, which also serves Rockcastle County.

terest plus half of your Social Security benefits exceeds the base amount. The base amounts are $25,000 if you are single; $32,000 if you are married and file a joint return; or $0 if you are married, live with your spouse at any time during the year, and file separate returns.

Included with your benefit statement will be an IRS Notice 703. This notice includes a worksheet you can use to get an idea if any of your benefits may be taxable. If you are married and you and your spouse will file a joint return, be sure to combine your incomes and your Social Security benefits when you fill out the worksheet.

If you have any questions about the worksheet or how to figure your taxable income, call any IRS office. The phone numbers of IRS offices are listed on the back of the Notice 703.

If you have questions about the information on the SSA-1099, you can call any Social Security office.

Livingston Starts New Year!

Livingston starts a new year with a new council member and the town being in good financial shape. Mrs. Margaret Burdine replaces councilman John Phelps.

All other members were re-elected - Mrs. Sue McClure, Earl Baker and Todd Mink. Due to Federal Revenue Sharing cut off, the city has had to cut back on expenses, wages, etc. Fortunately property taxes, licenses, privilege licenses, taxes on coal tipple and municipal food fund has made up for this loss in revenue. Livingston Manor pays per $1,237.50 taxes which also means $1000 to county and $200 to school.

So even with necessary expenditures, the city has well coped with the situation.

Cable company open house called success

By: Richard Anderkin

Stressing that some subscribers are happy, a representative of Southern Cablevision explained new services and rates to about 100 who attended an open house Monday at the Teen Center in Mt. Vernon.

But all those who attended were not happy when Carolyn Byble, marketing representative for the company, opened the floor to questions from subscribers. They were ready to protest a rate increase from $11.00 a month to $14.95 for basic service.

"We want to work with the people of Mt. Vernon," Ms. Byble said, "We have some happy customers and we feel our new services will justify the increase." The new rates go into effect Mar. 1 with 15 channels compared to 11 at the present time. For those who do not have a cable-ready television set (more than 13 channels) they must have a converter. A converter rents for $2 a month from the company, or can be purchased from Eaton Electronics in Mt. Vernon for $39.

Converter pickup and monthly payments can be made at the local office behind Dollar General Store on Main Street. Office hours are noon to 8 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Mrs. Byble told those at the open house, the local office will be closed in the next few months, and the company is making plans for a local payment point in Mt. Vernon, or payment can be mailed to the company office in Corbin.

Several residents at the open house questioned the price increase as "too high," echoing a similar charge made recently at a meeting of the Mt. Vernon City Council that the rates were too high and that some residents did not want more channels.

Final count on forest fires

Kentucky Division of Forestry officials have compiled the final figures for the fall 1987 forest fire season.

During the fall, the Kentucky Division of Forestry's 10-county Southern District, which includes Rockcastle County, took action on 353 forest fires which burned a total of 56,253 acres.

According to Steve Bullen, county ranger for the Kentucky Division of Forestry in Rockcastle County had 56 forest fires this fall which burned over 2,290 acres. A high percentage of these fires were due to arson where fires are deliberately set to burn other peoples property.

Ranger Bullen advised that the damage from fires this fall was

Post office at Orlando

The 15 boxholders at Orlando Post Office have a new address.

The Postal Service has announced the post office at Orlando has been closed. Patrons must pick up their mail at the Livingston Post Office.

The two routes out of the Orlando office remain the same. Mrs. Norma Mullins, who has been postmistress at Orlando, returned to the Renfro Valley Post Office where she was for several years before being transferred to Orlando.

Two-year-old Matthew Mullins, son of Burgess and Betty Mullins of Mt. Vernon, assisted Carolyn Byble, of Southern Cablevision, with the drawing of names for door prizes. Over 100 attended Southern Cablevision's Open House.

Court meets to choose treasurer

The Rockcastle Fiscal Court met Wednesday to choose someone to sign checks for the county in the absence of County Treasurer Floyd Owens.

Mrs. Anna Rose Mullins is expected to be appointed in place of Owens until he returns to duty.

voters will choose a party candidate for president in several Southern States. However, winners may not necessarily be nominated by their party.

Nothing comes cheap, so Rockcastle County taxpayers will have to foot the bill for the special election estimated to cost between $5,000 and $6,000, unless the state helps out later on. The money goes for four election officers in the 14 county precincts, printing of the ballot, absentee ballots, advertising, and to set up the machines.

The county budgeted $24,700 for the May 24 primary and the Nov. 8 General Election at which time the president is elected.

The county probably can come close to reaching the necessary money for the added election in the amount already budgeted.

Drugs taken in break-in Drugs were the only items reported taken in a break-in at Mt. Vernon Pharmacy Jan. 20.

Reported taken were three bottles of Valium, two bottles of Librium and a bottle of Talwin.

Entrance was gained by breaking a lock on the front door. Police Chief Joe Howard said police have a suspect in the break-in.

Fourteen county residents have been indicted by a Rockcastle County Grand Jury on charges of "welfare fraud", the largest number ever summoned into Rockcastle Circuit Court for that offense.

The charges are Class D felonies and punishable by one to five years in prison upon conviction.

As expected, three Rockcastle County men have been indicted for the shooting death of James David Bradley, 19, of Mt. Vernon, on Dec. 26.

According to the indictments, the three were involved in the murder and robbery of Bradley, whose body was found in a garbage dump on the banks of Crooked Creek at Poplar Gap.

Bradley died of a single gunshot wound to the back.

Indicted for murder, robbery in the first degree and tampering with physical evidence is Billy Gene Hubbard, 28, of Mt. Vernon, who remains in the Laurel County Jail.

Indicted for murder, robbery in the first degree, tampering with physical evidence, and being a persistent felony offender is Terry Miller, 26, of Mt. Vernon.

Indicted for murder is Gary Lynn Griffin, 25, of Mt. Vernon. Miller and Griffin have both post bond.

Charles David York, 25, of Brodhead, was indicted by the grand jury on charges of burglary in the third degree and theft by unlawful taking under $100, and over $100.

Calvin Moore, 61, of Mt. Vernon, was indicted for assault in the first degree for the shooting of Ben Durham on Jan. 15.

Births things of past at Rockcastle Hospital

In 1981, 69 births took place at Rockcastle County Hospital. Five years later, there were none as the hospital joined a growing list of Kentucky health care facilities that no longer offer obstetrical care.

Of 85 Kentucky hospitals delivering babies in 1981, at least 17 have since discontinued obstetrical services. And, according to a study done for the Kentucky Medical Association, in nearly every case the rising cost of liability insurance was a direct factor.

"In most instances," the report concluded, "family practitioners who had been delivering babies eliminated that part of their practice because they could no longer justify the rising cost of professional liability insurance."

"Without an area doctor available to deliver newborns, hospitals had no alternative except to discontinue obstetrical services. As a result, many Kentuckians, especially those in rural areas, now must travel increased distances for prenatal and obstetrical care."

The report, a five-year statistical analysis of delivery trends at Kentucky's acute care hospitals, was conducted for KMA by the Preston Group, a Lexington-based research and consulting firm.

According to the report, all of the hospitals that dropped obstetrical services were located in smaller communities outside major metropolitan areas. Hardest hit was the Lake Cumberland Area Development District, where hospitals in Casey, Green, Russell and Wayne counties discontinued deliveries.

Statewide, less than half of Kentucky's 120 counties now have a hospital where deliveries are done on a regular basis.

"Smaller communities traditionally have depended on a local family practitioner for obstetrical care," the report noted. "But liability premiums have increased by nearly 450 percent over the past three years for family practitioners performing obstetrics. In 1984, premiums averaged $2,879. In 1987, the average was $15,820. For obstetrical/gynecologists, the 1984 figure was $9,192. Today, it's $31,961."

Hospitals reported that soaring liability rates not only led to eliminating obstetrical programs, but also have made it difficult to recruit replacement physicians so

New window hours for local post office

Mt. Vernon Postmaster James O. Smith announced Wednesday that in order for the post office to meet budget cuts, the Mt. Vernon Post Office will have reduced window service hours.

Beginning February 13, the window will be open from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday with no window service on Saturday.

Bank of Mt. Vernon president Jess Bullock, right, presents Sam Ford, vice president of Forward in the Fifth, with a check for $600. The money will be matched by the district Forward in the Fifth and Lexington Mayor Scotty Baesler's Academic Showcase. The $1800 will be used to take every 5th grader in the county on a field trip. Sites to be visited include: Shakerstown, Fort Harrod, Henry Clay's Home, Ky. Horse Park and the Lexington Herald Leader.

Legislative Report . . .

By: Representative Danny Ford

The 1988 legislative session continues to build momentum as new laws and changes or amendments to old laws are proposed almost daily.

This week the House Appropriations and Revenue Committee approved Senate Bill 16 to give the legislature continuous computer access to the executive administration budget information. Senate Bill 16 in all likelihood will be one of the first bills if not the first bill passed by both Houses of the legislature and sent to the governor.

Upon receiving a bill, under Section 8 of the Constitution of Kentucky, the governor has ten days to sign the bill into law, veto the bill or let it become law without his or her signature.

As the various bills are discussed in committee the prospects of their passage to improve wheelbores lose steam.

New and stronger laws aimed at getting tough on drug and alcohol abuse in the Commonwealth are beginning to really pick-up steam.

A drug reform package consisting of ten bills has been introduced in the House of Representatives and its prospects for gaining passage looks very good.

This legislative package, the product of an 18-month study of drug problems in Bowling Green and Warren County, will stiffen the penalties for possession or sale of such drugs as hashish, marijuana and LSD. Also, the measures will increase penalties for drug-related crimes committed on or near a school yard.

In other actions, Governor Wilkinson delivered his first veto of a bill, that of a bill to create a "Commonwealth" address to a joint session of the legislature. The Governor's speech was well received, but the specitics of his programs will not be detailed until he offers his budget to the legislature next week.

Finally, the House Republican Caucus introduced a resolution calling on the governor not to take funds from the state's various pension funds to make up for any impending shortfall in state revenues.

If you have any questions, opinions or suggestions about the legislature please write to Representative Danny Ford, Capitol Annex, Frankfort, Ky. 40601. Additionally, the legislature has installed three toll free telephone lines to aid those who wish to participate in the legislative process. To leave a message for a legislator, call 1-800-372-7181.

To check the status of a bill, call 1-800-248-8122, and to receive a taped calendar of committee meetings, updated daily, call 1-800-633-9650.

Sign-up for CR program

The sixth sign-up period for the Conservation Reserve Program begins Feb. 1 and ends Feb. 19, according to the

At that time, Mayor Elizabeth Baker questioned the new rates and later met with company officials to discuss the rates. All she was promised was that senior citizens would get a discount.

New channels include Cable News Network, 24-Hour Channel, MTV and Nickelodeon.

In some areas KET is not available at this time because of changes being made to accommodate the new channels. KET will be back on Channel 13 when changes are completed.

There is also an $8 extra monthly charge for Home Box Office, Showtime and Disney Channel each.

Service and questions may be obtained by calling 256-4142 from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily.

very severe because of the extremely dry conditions. The larger trees which were not killed will leaf out this spring and may appear undamaged at first glance. However, the bark at the base of the trees has been damaged, and a high percentage of these trees will decline in value, and many will eventually become worthless for timber.

that those services could be resumed.

"This trend poses a very real and present threat to both the quality and availability of health care for many Kentuckians," according to the report. "Left unchecked the implications could be permanent and far-reaching, negating many of the advances that have occurred in making quality health care available in all part of the state."

Groups concerned about the professional liability crisis hope that the 1988 Kentucky General Assembly will take action to solve the problem.

For instance, the Kentucky Medical Association is on record as supporting a four-part solution that includes:

- *Constitutional change to allow the General Assembly to place a limit on non-economic awards.
- *Modification or elimination of the collateral source rule, which allows double payment for the same injury.
- *Adjustment of the statute of limitations for minors.
- *Establishment of periodic payments, rather than lump sum payments in malpractice judgements for future damages.

Rockcastle ASCS Office.

The program encourages farmers to stop growing crops on highly erodible and plant it to grass or trees through 10-year contracts with the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Farmers who want to bid to enter their highly erodible cropland into USDA's 10 year Conservation Reserve Program may do so during the sixth sign-up period.

To apply for the program, farmers are required to submit bids for rental payments on the eligible acres provided the fields have been cropped 2 years between 1981 through 1985 and is determined to be highly erodible. The acreage must be devoted to a conserving use during the life of the 10 year contract. Harvesting, grazing or other commercial use of forages is not allowed.

Under provisions of a recent amendment to the legislation, filter strips, cropland acres 66-99 feet wide with a permanent cover, next to streams, lakes and estuaries will be eligible for the CRP even if the soil erosion criteria are not met on cropland.

The change will permit farmers to use CRP enrollment as a cost effective option to controlling their nonpoint source pollution employing into valuable water resources.

Under the voluntary CRP, farmers enter into contracts to retire eligible cropland for 10 years. In return, USDA makes annual rental payments and shares half the cost of establishing grass or trees on the land. To date, nearly 23 million acres of land has been contracted in the program. The program goal is to retire 40-45 million acres by the end of 1990.

USDA will establish maximum acceptable rental rates after sign-up ends and bid data is evaluated.

The Bike-A-Thon program this year is dedicated to Brian McCollister. Brian, a native of Louisiana, was diagnosed with leukemia in October, 1984. Since that time, Brian has come to St. Jude every six weeks for treatment, and every 12 weeks for a bone marrow test and spinal tap to make sure his cancer stays in remission. While at home, Brian receives oral medication daily. Brian is a living example of the progress and success of the research, patient care, and educational programs of this internationally recognized hospital.

A spokesman at the hospital said officials at the hospital "sincerely appreciate the concern that Mrs. Mobley and Mrs. Birney have for its work and hope the citizens of Mt. Vernon

Bike-A-Thon planned

Mrs. Alecia Mobley of Mt. Vernon and Mrs. Carolyn Birney of Brodhead have been appointed coordinators for the next Bike-A-Thon to benefit St. Jude Children's Research Hospital.

No date for the Bike-A-Thon has been announced, but it annually draws many participants.

St. Jude Children's Research Hospital was founded by entertainer Danny Thomas. The institution opened its doors to the public in 1962 to combat catastrophic diseases which afflict our children. St. Jude Hospital is non-sectarian, non-discriminatory, and provides total medical care to over 4,200 patients.

At St. Jude, scientists and physicians are working side by side seeking not only a better means of treatment, but also the causes, cures and prevention of these terrible killers.

All findings and information gained at the hospital are shared freely with doctors and hospitals all over the world. Thanks to St. Jude Hospital, children who have leukemia, Hodgkin's disease, sickle-cell anemia, and other child-killing diseases now have a

QUAIL HOMEMAKERS MEET

A chilly rainy night didn't dampen the spirits of 16 members and 2 guests as we met at Carolyn's for our January meeting. We're pleased to see some young enthusiastic faces joining our club. We'd like to welcome: Kay Taylor, Debby Brown, Janet Robinson, Millie Bailey and Stephanie Hurst. We now have an enrollment of 27.

The roll was answered by giving our name and telling something about ourselves for the benefit of our new members.

Our devotional chairman, Joyce Taylor, gave some sound advice for everyone who desires to have a more meaningful year in '88 by being a giver instead of a taker. She mentioned gifts of encouragement, humility, thoughtfulness, patience, presence and thankfulness.

We discussed plans for the county wide International dinner to be held March 14th. Our club is in charge of decorations. We need to finalize plans at next months meeting. All I can tell you now is; Senora's drag out your sombreros for an evening soon-of-the border.

Judy Ford had the lesson on Kentucky heritage crafts. We took a quiz on pioneer life in Kentucky. We're thankful for our pioneer ancestors for leaving craft skills which were a necessity to them and a leisure to enrich our lives today.

Our game was answered with the name of a flower or tree. It was won by Tammy.

Our hostess prepared a table brimming with sandwiches, vegetables and desserts.

Next month our meeting will be held at the home of Judy Ford on Feb. 15th, 7:00 p.m.

Reporter

We all say Happy Birthday to JaDawn. Those present were Sonia Morgan, Sonya Hook, Lois Cromer, Chastity Smith, Ann Thomas, Anna Stevens, Jennifer Bishop, Amy Childress and Jessica Todd.

Life does many things to us with the passing of years. It makes furrows in our skins. It turns the hair gray. It dims our vision. Our steps falter. It bends our backs. Pains are frequent. It bulges our figures.

Even with this happening, some keep on growing and reaching out for whatever the years hold in store. "Life's Adventure Goes On".

Others lose this urge, and life for them becomes a tiresome burden.

They become negative and critical in everything! They grumble about the young generation, new fashions, taxes, news, neighbors, acquaintances, officials of their town, county and country and world, church, stores, etc. Nothing seems to please them!

They are always having "difficultly for every solution!"

But just as some folks become negative and critical as they get older, there are others. They are more calm and serene. Each year they become more sympathetic with their fellowmen, more forgiving. They don't feel that life has gapped them; they have a debt of gratitude they will never have to pay.

We can look out on life and feel sorry for ourselves. This feeling about life walks hand in hand with the decline of our body.

Our feelings depend on the way we think and on practical attitudes we take to the days and

Dr. Hedrick hopes upon his return to be able to share his South Africa experiences with any who are interested in hearing. He plans to take a number of slides to make a slide presentation.

U.S. ARMY NEWS -

Cpl. Donald E. Singleton, son of Douglas E. and Velma J. Singleton of Route 2, Livingston, has re-enlisted in the U.S. Army at Fort Riley, Kan., for six years. Singleton is an infantryman with the 16th Infantry.

He is a 1984 graduate of Rockcastle County High School.

the years. It depends on whether we say "yes" or "no" to invitation for involvement. Everyday we are invited to read a book. Everyday we are given a chance to cultivate new arts and skills. Everyday we are invited to meet new people. Everyday we can assume new responsibilities.

Who invites you? Your friends, and your church. Then there's clubs you can join that offers involvement in crafts, art, sewing and nutrition.

Homemaking clubs, all over Rockcastle County, offers these involvements. I know that I have received information from being a member of this club.

Receiving this information helps me to keep involved in working at home in things I enjoy.

In fact, I can say truthfully, I don't let myself get lonesome as some of my friends say they do. I find something to do.

You see, the person who says, yes to life's invitations is always in the prime of life, no matter what his calendar age may be. The adventure of life goes on!

The January club date found the weather pretty chilly, but the ladies didn't seem to mind the cold as they showed up for this month's club meeting.

Alta Bullock (our hostess) had her house all warm and cozy with food cooking in the oven and coffee perking, so we soon forgot the weather and just enjoyed a good visit with friends.

The meeting opened with a devotional given by Pauline Kincaid. Then the roll call by Sharon Palmer was answered by each lady present naming a craft they could do. By the time the fifteen ladies had answered there had been several different crafts mentioned, and some claimed more than one.

Club President, Juanita Davis, reminded us of the International Dinner to be held March 14th in the club room located in the Agriculture Service Center down stairs.

Irene Baker had the club lesson for January titled Kentucky Heritage Crafts. We enjoyed the lesson and the quiz on life in Kentucky about old customs and expressions. Some of us didn't score too well on the quiz.

After a delicious meal, prepared by our hostess Alta and co-hostess, Bea Hensley, (reporter) with pot luck dishes from the members, we departed, looking forward to next months meeting at Bessie's house.

ROCKETS LOSE TO BARBOURVILLE

The Rockets losing ways continued Tuesday night as they went down to defeat at the hand of visiting Barbourville by a score of 57-49.

The Rockets got off to a slow start in the first quarter but came on like gang-busters near the end of the quarter and eventually gained a three point advantage. Unfortunately, at least for the Rockets, the first stanza was to be their best.

Some cold shooting and poor defense added to the despair of the Rockets fans as they watched their team lose for the ninth time this season.

The second quarter of play saw the Rockets score a total of only 7 points. A last second three-pointer by Barbourville gave them the half-time lead, 25-24.

The second half was not a thing of beauty for either team. In the third period of play the Rockets could manage only 9 points to Barbourville's 12.

The inside play of Darren Allen, who had a good first half, was virtually non-existent in the second half because of the failure to get him the ball. That combined with some ill-advised long range shots led to the Rockets downfall.

Rockcastle was led in scoring by Kris Ponder's 13 points, Darren Allen added 12, Jon Bullens 10, Pat Hansel 6, Anthony Lewis and Shannon Burton 4 each.

The Rockets have now lost for the 9th time in 14 tries. Their next game is Friday night when they travel to Whitley County.

LADY ROCKETS LOSE TO MONTICELLO

The Rockcastle Lady Rockets lost by one of their widest margins of the season Monday night as they went down to defeat at the hands of the Monticello Lady Trojans (69-30).

The game, at least for the Rockets, did not start until the second quarter. The first quarter saw the Rockets not score a single point. By the time the Lady Rockets scored their first point of the game Monticello had taken a commanding lead.

There were few bright spots on the evening but one of the brightest had to be the play of sophomore forward Donna Harper. Harper came off the bench to lead Rockcastle in scoring with 12 points, several rebounds and key assists.

Harper was the only Rocket to score in double figures. The rest of the scoring was: Lori Mink with 5, Stephanie Northern 4, Tanya Parrett 3, Shonda Renner, Karla Bullock, and Angie McClure with 2 each.

The Lady Rockets fell to 5 wins and 8 losses on the year. Their next game is at home Thursday night against Jackson County.

VARSITY GAINS REVENGE AGAINST CLINTON

The Rockets gained revenge Friday night as they soundly defeated Clinton Co. by a score of 67-51.

Clinton County, a team that had narrowly beaten the Rockets on their home court on Dec. 21, 78-73, came to Mt. Vernon Friday night and got a taste of defeat at the hands of the Rockets.

Anthony Lewis led the way for the Rockets with 18 points, 7 rebounds, 2 assists and 1 steal. Darren Allen and Jon Bullens each had 12 points; Pat Hansel 8, Kris Ponder 6, Jason Coguer 6, and Chuck Shields scored 1 points on the evening. The Rockets shot nearly 56 percent for the game.

ROCKETS LOSE ON THE ROAD TO MONTICELLO

The hot shooting of the Clinton County game was not evident Tuesday night against Monticello as the Rockets hit on only 13 of 34 field goal attempts and lost by a score of 62-55.

Jon Bullens was high man for the Rockets with 14, Shannon Burton added 12, Kris Ponder 11, Anthony Lewis 8, Pat Hansel 7, and Darren Allen scored 5.

ROCKETS' JV HANG ON TO BEAT BARBOURVILLE

After a slow start against the Barbourville Tigers Tuesday night, the Rockets came on strong near the end of the game to pull out a hard earned 45-41 victory.

Trailing for most of the game Rockcastle tied the game with 47 seconds left in the game and eventually pulled away from the visiting Barbourville Tigers.

Mike Barron's first half play apparently drew the criticism of Coach David Riddle. Barron was benched early on in the contest because of poor play and even worse shot selection. However, when the Junior Varsity needed him most Barron rose to the occasion. Barron along with freshmen David Sargent and David Eaton played aggressively down the stretch and helped the Rockets pull away from the Tigers.

David Eaton's rebound and basket with 47 seconds remaining, gave Rockcastle its first lead of the contest. Three missed bonus situations inside the final 35 seconds kept Barbourville in the game for longer than needed. But the timely rebounding of Eaton and Steve Clark made the Rockets winners of the game.

Mike Barron and David Owens led the Junior Varsity with 10 points each, David Sargent turned in a fine performance off the bench with 7. Adam Coleman had 6, David Eaton 4, Darren Smith 4, and Steve Clark 2 points.

PROJECT WORK

4-H projects offer an exciting, learn-by-doing method of presenting subject matter. 4-H project books are offered to students and teachers free of charge. Orders for materials should be placed at least three weeks in advance. Some resources are available only during certain months so be sure to plan ahead. Upon placing an order, teacher's are committing their students to the completion of each project.

Projects are grouped in a catalog available from the Extension Office, according to grade. However, it is only a suggested sequence. Resources may be used for another grade than recommended.

Cheryl Witt and John McQueary will be available upon request to serve as resource persons for your classes. Many of our presentations involve projects and visual aids listed in the catalog.

Below are some of the resource materials that are available:

- Energy Project - Defines energy, its sources, how to conserve it.
- Exploring Citizenship - Focuses on all different types of citizenship: self-identity, being a good neighbor, government, etc.
- Windowsill Garden Project - Youth grow different vegetable or flower seeds in an indoor windowsill garden kit. Youth learn about germination, seeds and seedlings, and how to care for plants. Kits must be ordered and are .45 cents each. This project takes place during April.

Mulligan Stew - Series of six one-half hour T.V. shows on nutrition. Member manuals and certificates for each youth.

Awareness of the World of Work - A career exploration of the community, county, self and family, with a brief look at the world of work. Youth examine work groups in the county.

Entomology Project - Teaches parts of an insect, how and when to collect them, how to prepare an exhibit, and the difference between destructive and beneficial insects.

Chick Incubation Project - Aids youth in understanding the different stages of embryonic development. Build a small inexpensive incubator and hatch fertile eggs; learn the effects of heat, air and moisture control on hatchability. Chick incubator is available, along with booklets.

Geology Project - Defines geology, minerals, and different kinds of rocks. Explains collecting and identifying rocks.

Super Shopper Ad-Watchers Project - Teaches youth to recognize advertisements for what they are and to be good consumers.

Other projects are listed in our catalog with programs on nutrition using slide projector or other topics. If you are interested in any of the above, contact John McQueary at the Extension Office [256-2403].

Shown with Judge Thacker are, from left, Counselors: Loreta Powell, Mt. Vernon and Roundstone; Molly Hamm, Brodhead and Livingston; Jamie Worley and Dale Whitaker, Rockcastle Co. High School. The theme for this observance is "Sometimes the Learning Process Needs a Helping Hand. That's why we're here. Your school counselor - someone you can count on." The purpose of the week is to focus on the services school counselors can provide for America's students. Today's students are faced with more educational and social choices than ever. Of the 858 students named to the Dean's List for the semester, 250, or nearly 30 percent achieved a perfect 4.0 GPA, according to Dr. John D. Rowlett, vice president for academic affairs and research and dean of the faculties.

Eastern Kentucky University at Richmond is a comprehensive regional university serving more than 13,000 students with a diversity of programs in its nine colleges and the graduate school.

Local students named to the Dean's List include:

YOUR CHILD'S HEALTH

By: Dr. John Payne

This time of year probably the most frequent complaint we hear about young children is of a "constant" cough. This complaint is often as frustrating for the doctor as for the parent. There are slightly fewer than a zillion cough remedies on the market. If one were best there would be only one sold. The fact is none are completely effective, therefore the wide open market in such things. It is often forgotten that a cough is actually a good thing. It helps clear out infection or other noxious things from the body. A cough comes from irritation of the area around the voice box or larynx. It can result from infection in the lungs such as pneumonia or congestion of the airways such as in asthma. More frequently a cough results from mucus dripping down the back of the throat as from a cold or nasal congestion.

Irritation from tobacco smoke and nasal allergies play a big role too.

The correct treatment for a cough then depends on the cause. An antihistamine for drying up an upper airway cause of the cough may well make asthma or bronchial constriction much worse. An expectorant to loosen up a "chest cough" may make the nose run worse. Failure to remove an irritant such as cigarette smoke will cause all treatment to fail.

In summary, just telling the doctor your child has a cough is like saying he has "stomach trouble" or "is just sick". You have to be much more specific, and then realize the considerable limitations we have in managing coughs.

Nutrition-Wise, Women Need More

All people need a variety of foods and exercise for optimal health. Women have additional nutritional needs, particularly during certain periods of their lives, such as pregnancy, early motherhood and after menopause. Plus, a woman's knowledge of nutrition is very important for her family, since in many American households she purchases and controls the food supply.

These recommendations come from the American Dietetic Association to women who want to turn over a new leaf, nutrition-wise. It's not too late to include them in your New Year's Resolutions.

*Eat a variety of foods daily, including three to four servings of low-fat dairy foods, two low-fat servings of meat or meat alternatives, four servings of vegetables and fruits and four servings of whole grain breads and cereals.

*Limit total fats to no more than 1/2 of daily calories. Use a variety of fat including polyunsaturated, monounsaturated and saturated. Limit fatty foods that are not a part of the basic food groups, such as butter, margarine, salad dressings, cakes and cookies.

*Eat at least one-half of daily calories from carbohydrates, include complex carbohydrates such as pasta, dried beans, vegetables, nuts and seeds.

*Include iron-rich foods such as lean meats, dried beans, dark green, leafy vegetables, enriched and whole-grain breads and cereal.

*Eat a variety of fiber-rich foods. Include fruits with skins, vegetables, legumes, whole grains such as brown rice, oatmeal and oat and wheat bran. But increase fiber gradually, not by adding fiber to everything you eat or with lots of supplements.

*Include three to four servings of calcium-rich foods daily. Best dairy foods, you can find calcium in crocholi, collard greens, sardines and canned salmon with bones.

*Limit salt and sodium by using salt shaker less, cooking with less salt and reading labels.

*Rely on foods for necessary nutrients, using vitamin and mineral supplements only under specific circumstances.

The final recommendation is to maintain a healthy body weight. Note the usual term 'ideal' is not used.

In the past, women were urged to maintain their ideal weight, a figure based on height and weight charts used for determining life insurance premiums.

The word "healthy" displaces the emphasis on thin and model-thin. Don't worry about weighing exactly what a chart tells you. Look at other family members to see where your basic body shape comes from. Then work on maintaining a weight more suited to you as an individual -- a weight at which you feel your best.

Weight loss should be achieved through decreasing calories moderately rather than drastically, and by increasing exercise in moderation.

GIVE EMERGENCY EQUIPMENT RIGHT-OF-WAY

How often, while driving, do you look away from the road at something that catches your eye? Never? Hardly ever? Sometimes? Often? How often does an emergency vehicle pull up behind you with siren and emergency lights on and you keep driving, saying to yourself, "There's room up ahead for it to pass?"

Suppose there's not room up ahead and the emergency vehicle is delayed longer by following you at slower speeds. "What can it hurt? Those volunteers drive too fast anyway." Do they have reason to? You bet they do. And Kentucky law gives them the right to.

Automotive anti-freeze should not be used as a protectant in RV drinking water systems.

Kentucky Revised Statutes states that a privately owned vehicle can be used as an emergency vehicle if it is equipped with an audible siren or bell and visible flashing or rotating colored lights. These must be used together while responding to an emergency.

The 1986 official Kentucky Drivers Manual states on page 34, "Give room to ambulances, fire trucks, police cars, and other emergency vehicles. These vehicles move at high speeds. If they swerve suddenly, they will need lots of room. Any time you hear a siren, pull out of the way and stop. If you are at an intersection, get out of it before you pull over."

Seconds count in an emergency. An unconscious person will suffer irreversible brain damage in 4-6 minutes. Heavy bleeding will cause death if not stopped quickly. A mobile home can be totally destroyed in 15 minutes. Time is of the essence.

Drivers of emergency vehicles must always drive with caution. They must slow down at all intersections before proceeding.

Always practice safety and courtesy when driving. Kentucky law requires it and someone's life could depend on it.

Support your local fire department!

At 3 a.m., one day you awaken to the sound of breaking glass. You smell smoke. Where is that annoying sound of the smoke detectors? They won't work without batteries. Either the old one stopped working and you forgot to replace it or you forgot to reinstall the battery. The smoke detector always goes off when you cook something. Not all detectors do this. Put them on a wall or ceiling a short distance from the cooking stove. Some detectors are easily activated. Try not to disconnect the battery if possible. A working, ever-anxious, detector is safer than an inoperable one.

The first priority is to get everyone out of the house. Stay low, crawl if necessary, if you have to go to different rooms to arouse people. A small amount of smoke containing the right combination of toxic gases will bring the strongest man to his knees.

Call the fire department. Response time is longer for volunteer fire departments than paid departments. Paid firefighters stay at their station 24 hours a day. Volunteers respond from a larger area.

Then you can fight the fire with a fire extinguisher or garden hose if available. Do not take unnecessary risks. If the fire is too big to begin with, leave the building and close all doors behind you. A fire without oxygen can only get so big. An open door or window simple adds fuel to the fire.

Fighting a fire is dangerous. And it can be difficult. Fire fighters are trained to do the job. Call them. The damage can be greatly reduced.

FIRE HAZARD TIPS!

Never let combustible materials accumulate in an attic or basement.

Never store cloths or papers with flammable liquids or paint on them, except in a closed metal can.

Check your heating systems to see that smoke pipes are in good condition, chimneys free from soot, and all cracks plugged with patching plaster. Wooden joists should not be built into any chimney.

Do not store gasoline or more than the smallest amount of other flammable liquids such as turpentine, benzine, naphtha, etc. in the home. Do not use these for dry cleaning.

Keep a good adequate-sized fire extinguisher-carbon dioxide, ABC, dry powder, dry chemical or halon in a convenient place. Only the carbon dioxide type can be used on foods (grease fires) without harming them.

Install and maintain an adequate number of smoke detectors throughout your home.

Avoid the habit of smoking in bed; too often it has tragic results.

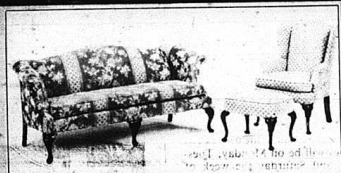

Never drop a burning match or cigarette on dry leaves, grass, or trash. Never throw a lighted match or cigarette from your vehicle.

Stop fires before they start. An ounce of prevention is worth a life.

Please support your local fire department.

Changes in federal support for the grain program by USDA

Changes in federal support for grain programs this year may mean that some farmers who previously participated in the programs may want to rethink their decisions, according to a University of Kentucky Extension grain marketing expert.

"USDA support for grain programs has been cut considerably in the quest to meet federal budget guidelines. As a consequence, participation in federal feed grain and wheat programs may be less attractive than last year," said Steve Riggins, Cooperative Extension agricultural economist.

Target prices for feed grains and wheat were reduced more than the 1985 Farm Bill allows by the Budget Reconciliation Act of 1987. Loan rates were cut less than the maximum the Farm Bill allows. As a result, the maximum deficiency payment will be squeezed considerably, Riggins said. For corn, the 1987 maximum deficiency payment was $1.21 per program bushel; for 1988, the rate will be $1.16. In addition, the amount of land that can be enrolled in the paid diversion program has been reduced from 15 percent of base to 10 percent and the payment rate was dropped from $2 per program bushel to $1.75, Riggins said.

For wheat, last year's maximum rate was $2.10 per program bushel; for this year, the rate will be $2.02. In addition, Riggins said, market improvements during the last few months for corn, wheat and soybeans have made participation in government grain programs less beneficial for some farmers.

"The decision this year will be much closer than in the past. Farmers must look at their own situation carefully before they make their decision. For some farmers, full participation will be the preferred choice; for others partial or non-participation will be best," Riggins said.

Farmers contemplating the decision to participate need to take into consideration their expected yields relative to program yields, number of crop acres relative to base acres, prices received and cash production expenses, he said.

"In situations where returns for full participation and non-participation are close, farmers probably will want to opt for at least some measure of participation because income is more assured," Riggins said.

Farmers who are unprepared for the risks of producing a crop without government participation may want to enroll in the programs even if their expected returns are somewhat less, the economist said.

NEW PIK AND ROLL TAX RULING ISSUED BY IRS

The Internal Revenue Service has issued a ruling on the taxability of generic commodity certificates to farmers. This revokes Revenue Ruling 87-17, 1987-9 IRB 4, on the same subject, sometimes called "PIK-and-roll."

The ruling explains the federal income tax consequences of receiving generic commodity certificates, pledging grain to secure loans from the Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) and using generic commodity certificates held by farmers to pay off loans. Farmers receive these certificates, which come in dollar denominations and are called PIK or payment-in-kind, as part of the government's price and income support program.

A farmer who receives a commodity certificate under a government deficiency and diversion program must include the face amount of the certificate in income in the same year.

If a farmer pledges a commodity to the CCC as security for a loan he or she may elect to include the face amount of the loan in income for that year. If such an election is made, there is no gain or loss when the loan is repaid. There is gain when the farmer later sells the commodity for more than the certificate amount.

If a farmer does not elect to include the loan in income when received and uses the commodity certificate to repay the loan, he or she will recognize income in the year the loan is repaid. The amount of income the farmer includes that year is the amount by which the face of the loan exceeds the amount of the certificate. Later when the commodity is sold, the farmer recognizes gain, for the full amount received on the sale.

Answers to questions on this subject may be obtained by calling the IRS toll free number 1-800-424-1040.

WOOL PRICES

Current market prices indicate that incentive payments will be required for the 1987 marketing of wool.

Payments will be made on sales of wool for 1987, if the national average price growers receives is below the support level.

In order for producers to be eligible to receive these payments it is necessary for producers to sign a CCC-1155, Application of Incentive Payment, by Jan. 31.

The CCC-1155 contains information to determine the amount of eligible payment. The following documents will need to be presented to the ASCS Office for the CCC-1155 to be completed correctly:

Receipts of all lambs purchased in 1987 stating date of purchase, weight, number of head and price;

Receipts of all wool sold stating pounds of wool, number of head sheared, date of shearing and price received for wool; Sales receipts of lambs stating weight, number of head sold and price received for sales.

Conserve program

Many Kentucky farmers could benefit from the Agricultural Conservation Program which currently is holding a registration period, says a Kentucky Department of Agriculture Official.

"I suspect fewer than 10 percent of our farmers know of and fully understand the program and its potential," said Richard B. Phillips, the department's market research director. "Farmers were notified of the program by a number of local ASCS offices, but the notice read 'SL 1 Permanent Vegetative Cover Establishment.' Unless the farmer inquired further, that was all the notification he or she got. I really question just how many farmers read that notice and understood what it meant. In any event, a lot of farmers are missing out on a good program, especially in light of the drive to raise the amount of alfalfa and other legumes grown in Kentucky."

Phillips said most counties are now having their spring sigh-up for seeding practices, and requests for cost-sharing can be accepted only during that period.

ASCs can pay up to 75 percent of the cost of seeding, but the percentage level is set by local county committees. Alfalfa must be sown with a grass and cannot be mixed with other legumes. Also, the acreage seeded must be protected from grazing by domestic livestock until the stand is well established, but the cover can eventually be harvested, according to the state ASCS office.

The purpose of a permanent vegetative cover is to protect the soil and reduce water, air, or land pollution from agricultural or silvicultural nonpoint sources on farmland or rangeland that is subject to wind or water erosion.

Farmers also could be eligible for cost-sharing for minimum plant food materials, seed, and seedbed preparation. Those interested should contact their local ASCS Office, Phillips said.

Soybean market; bank or whimper, weather will tell

Whether soybean prices will continue to climb upward during 1988 will depend in large measure on the weather in the western hemisphere, according to a University of Kentucky Extension agricultural economist.

"Disappearance of soybeans stockpiles has outpaced practically everyone's expectations. We are looking at the possibility of carrying out the smallest amount of soybeans since 1985. As a consequence, soybean prices could be affected dramatically by weather," said Steve Riggins.

Reports of South American planting in November suggest an increased acreage planted to soybeans—with some estimates as high as 110 percent of last year's, Riggins said.

However, a reduction in yield caused by poor weather in South America during the growing or harvesting season could mean a smaller world supply of soybeans, which would increase prices, he said.

In addition, recent strengthening in soybean prices could entice more North American farmers to plant soybeans this spring, which may buffer substantial price improvements, especially if favorable weather increases yields, the economist said.

Further increasing the uncertainty for soybeans in the coming year is what Congress will do with a proposal to allow corn farmers to plant five percent of their set aside land into oil crops, including soybeans, he said.

"If Congress does allow corn farmers to plant five percent of set aside land into beans and we have favorable weather, prices would not likely increase any during the year," he said.

Soybean farmers need to watch carefully the development of the South American crop and be prepared to act should rumors of production problems develop, Riggins said.

"They may want to consider flexible pricing options, such as basis contracts for their 1987 beans, selling their beans and buying futures contracts or hedging their 1988 crop," Riggins said.

"No matter what they plan to do, they should continue to monitor weather in both the U.S. and South America for the next several months," he said.
