Your Child's Health

By Dr. John Payne

Children are fortunate today to have protection against several diseases through immunizations which only a generation or so ago brought death and retardation. The latest of these is the Hib or Hemophilus influenzae B vaccine. This has nothing to do with flu vaccine. It has to do with protection against the hemophilus germ which can cause meningitis as well as various other serious diseases such as arthritis, pneumonia and skin and ear infections.

Until very recently this vaccine was given at 2 years of age. However, now a new form is available which is given at 18 months of age, thus providing protection 6 months earlier. Hopefully, this age can be lowered even more with newer vaccines since young infants are often affected with hemophilus disease.

Side effects are mild, and include occasional muscle ache, soreness at the injection site and mild fever. However, serious side effects are virtually unknown. This new version of the vaccine is not yet available at health departments, which still have the older, 2 year age shot. However, doctor's offices have the newer form. It is of local interest that a Berea College graduate was one of the major researchers involved in development of the original Hib vaccine.

Application forms are being sent to all homes with a letter to parents or guardians. To apply for free or reduced price meals, households should fill out the application and return it to the school.

Children from families whose income is at or below the levels above are eligible for free or reduced price meals. Foster children may also be eligible for these meals. Families with Foster Care Program or School Breakfast Program are eligible for free or reduced price meals. Additional forms are available at the principal's office in each school. The information provided on the application will be used for the purpose of determining eligibility and may be verified at any time with each local district representative to verify a sample annually. Applications may be submitted at any time during the year.

For school officials to determine eligibility, households receiving food stamps or AFDC must list the child's name, their food stamp or AFDC case number and the signature and name of an adult household member not receiving food stamps or AFDC must list: child's name, name of all household members, social security numbers of all adult household members or a statement that the household member does not possess one, total household income and the amount and source of the income received by each household member and the signature of an adult household member in confidence and will be used only for the purpose of determining eligibility and verifying data.

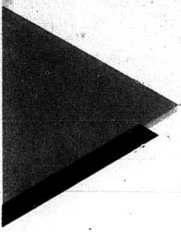

Households that list a food stamp or AFDC case number must report when the household no longer receives these benefits. Other households approved for benefits are required to report increases in household income of over $50 per month or $600 per year and decreases in household size. Also, if a household member becomes unemployed, or if the household size increases, the household should contact the school. Such changes may make the children of the household eligible for benefits if the household's income falls at or below the levels shown above.

Under the provisions of the policy, a school official will review applications and determine eligibility. If a parent is dissatisfied with the determination, he/she may contact either orally or in writing the principal's office at Mt. Vernon, KY 40456

Cameron served in wrong board district for 8 years

By: Richard Anderkin

A check of official records shows that 4th Division school board member, Edna Cameron, has served the division for almost eight years and has not lived in the division, a legal requirement. Mrs. Cameron lives near Salspeter Cave in the East Livingston Precinct just outside the division boundary. The resident requirement was revealed when Sam Stallworth came to County Clerk Norma Houk's office to file his candidacy for school board in the 4th division and was told that he did not live in the fourth division which is comprised of Orlando and Climax precincts. Mrs. Houk told Stallworth that he lived in the East Livingston precinct which is represented by Board Chairman George Poynter and is part of Division 1. Mrs. Cameron, who has filed for re-election, said Tuesday that she had not decided what action she might take. "I have got to talk to the school board's attorney before I can make any decision," she said.

Mrs. Cameron did say that when she decided to run against Isabell "Cookie" Mason in 1980, she was told by then County Clerk Irene Bales that she lived in the Orlando Precinct, and that until this week, she had no idea that her trailer was not within the Division 4 boundaries. She explained that the majority of her farm is located in the Orlando precinct. County Clerk Houk said Tuesday that it was her understanding that any registered voter, citizen, or opponent

Mt. Vernon to repay money

By: Ray McClure

Money borrowed by the city from an Urban Development Action Grant (UDAG) will have to be paid back now, Mt. Vernon Mayor Gary R. Cromer told the Mt. Vernon City Council at a meeting Monday night. The council responded by voting to borrow $42,783 to pay off the debt. The newly appointed mayor told the council when he came into office he had no idea where the money had come from, but he soon found out.

East Main Street on which to build a fire station. On Jan. 8, 1987, the city borrowed $4,405.21 to pay Karish Construction for sewer line work; borrowed $4,500 on May 14, 1987 for city payroll/bills; borrowed $8,000 on July 15, 1987 for payroll/bills; borrowed $1,628 on Aug. 15, 1987 for payroll/bills; borrowed $3,000 on March 15, 1988 for payroll/bills; borrowed $5,000 on April 14, 1988 for payroll/bills, and $8,000 on May 12, 1988 for payroll/bills.

"I'm not blaming anyone," the mayor noted. "But it was not proper to use this money, so we'll have to pay it back. I'm not going to the pokies for spending money that shouldn't be spent. I think it was an innocent mistake, but a mistake that has to be corrected." Strapped for money because of a low property tax rate and ever-increasing costs, the city borrowed from the UDAG fund to pay city expenses with the intention of paying the money back to the fund. Initially, it did not appear to be a big problem, but the borrowing began to accumulate and the city found itself trapped in a mounting debt. As long as the money borrowed from the fund could be returned soon there would be no problem, but in this case the city could not recover the needed amount.

UDAG money can only be spent for industrial development. The UDAG grant was made for a loan to Mt. Vernon Plastics for the company's expansion program. An account was set up for the company to repay the loan, plus interest, to Mt. Vernon and Brodhead county. Recently Reynolds Metals purchased Mt. Vernon Plastics and paid off the remainder of the loan. Mt.

Vermon received $161,697 as final payment. Brodhead received $238,307. There is now $243,802 in Mt. Vernon's UDAG account that can be used only for industrial development. "We are going to make sure we do everything right from now on," Mayor Cromer stated. He also stressed that the present council did not vote to borrow the money. In another discussion, Jack Crawford, a Burdette engineer for the city's water program, told the council it should be thinking about future grants to expand the city water plant and for another new water tank. Since it takes several years sometimes to get a grant, Crawford advised the city to make an application this year. Crawford estimated the cost to bring the plant up to producing three

Traffic control stepped up

Traffic changes and city office hours got the attention of the Mt. Vernon City Council Monday night. The council voted, at the request of Mayor Gary R. Cromer, to change the method police use when directing traffic coming from Mt. Vernon Elementary School in the afternoon. In the past, police have allowed all traffic to proceed, sometimes backing up Richmond Street traffic from Horseshoe Bend to the railroad. A policeman will be at the Richmond Street intersection to alternate traffic. Another policeman will be at the Williams and West

Main Street intersection to direct traffic after school. The mayor said it would allow traffic to move better. The mayor also changed office hours at city hall. The office remain open continuously from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. It will not be closed for lunch. The mayor also set up a Police Committee made up of residents of the city to advise the council on police activities. The mayor did not name the committee members pending their acceptance. A group of citizens asked the council

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,
Speaking on behalf of myself and my family (Cody and Melinda) concerning the recent Benefit Signing at Maple Grove Baptist Church for Cody's hospital bills and medical care.

First, we give thanks to God for His love and mercy. For giving us strength to overcome. The faith to look beyond this life where there will be rest and peace at home with Jesus while the ages roll.

We hope and pray for Cody's complete recovery. He has come a long way and we are thankful for all the prayers. We are looking forward to Cody doing the normal things of a two year old.

Through faith all things are possible. With faith unto salvation we look forward to walking (on streets of gold) to talking (to our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ) to eating (of the Tree of Life) to our bodies being without pain (glorified without blemish) to God wiping away all tears from our eyes.

We give thanks to all the brothers and sisters from all the churches in the community, to our family and friends, to everyone that helped in any way. We know that all was done through love. We desire your prayers.

May God Bless you all.
Cody and Family

Dear Editor,
I am writing to urge all Kentuckians to vote "yes" on the Broad form deed constitutional amendment (amendment #2).

The language that will appear on the ballot in November is complicated and confusing. What passage of the amendment will do is protect landowners from having their property strip-mined without their permission.

Mineral owners have the right to remove their coal, oil and gas—but only by means in use when they bought the mineral rights, which did not include strip-mining before the 1950s.

It makes sense to protect surface-owning, tax-paying Kentuckians from those who would destroy their land. There are other ways to retrieve underground minerals.

Vote YES on November 8 for constitutional amendment No. 2.

Sincerely yours,
Bety L. Blanton

Dear Editor,
I like Guy Wallace Wilkinson's crackdown on drunken drivers. Most wrecks are caused by drunken drivers.

I think mandatory blood-alcohol tests on anyone involved in a wreck that causes death or serious injury. Also allow police to seize the license of a drunken driver on the spot.

Courts that allow plea bargaining is not right for the honest people.

A Weekly Report from Fifth District Congressman Hal Rogers

Working to Provide Water For Our Region

There is no question about what the number-one topic was in the first week of my annual Community Meetings tour—water.

At almost every meeting through the eastern portion of my district, groups of citizens petitioned for help in getting city water to some part of their county. And the intensity of feelings about the need for better and cleaner sources of drinking water was stronger than ever.

Part of that intensity is the result of this year's drought. The lack of rain earlier this year has heightened attention to a problem Kentucky was already facing, and has crystallized the need to act soon to provide water for regions which lack it currently.

Another reason may be our recent success in getting federal funds for a number of water districts in our region. We have helped secure millions of dollars in grants and loans for water projects across the district, and this has motivated others to seek similar help.

As we grapple with the increasing need to provide water, we face tough problems here in Washington. Money for rural water programs has not grown with demand. Tough requirements must be met in order to qualify for such help, including having enough homes—some to justify the huge expense involved in extending water lines. Many of the projects left undone are those which are tougher to get approved because of their size or their inability to pay for themselves.

I have instructed my staff to begin a comprehensive look at our water problems and how we can address them in a number of ways. We are talking with the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers to look for ways to increase their ability to help solve water problems. We want to know if the Soil Conservation Service can help us provide water supplies to small areas of rural counties. We also need to involve our state government and our universities in helping plan for the future. There are a number of ways that rural areas can provide for water without going to the expense of providing city water, such as cisterns or deeper wells. Our university extension agents can help us find these and other solutions to our water problems.

We also must begin doing long-range planning to solve general water needs for the next 10-20 years. We face continuing shortages in some areas as population grows and industry's needs increase.

Long-term planning and new solutions to providing water are part of the answer, but we also need to spend more money at all levels of government to provide for clean, drinkable water in rural Kentucky. I intend to push for federal funding increases, particularly through the Farmers Home Administration. We need regional approaches to water problems which can be tailored to meet the specific needs of each area.

Solving our water needs will not be easy. But it must be done. To do otherwise would deny us the ability to grow as a region and attract the new industry and population we want in the years ahead.

Hershman, stationed at the UK Research and Education Center in Princeton, said the disease, "appears to be quite prevalent at this time," in the western end of the state.

Owens prepares for national teen competition

When Jerrol Owens goes to Texas this summer, he stands a good chance of returning with an international talent award and the needed boost to begin a singing career.

The North Bullitt graduate said he hopes to become a professional singer in a gospel group or other band, and the international Teen Talent contest just might give him the chance to prove his singing ability.

Owens received the option to compete at the national level and was also awarded a recording contract with Revelation Christian Studios.

Since his first attempt in the Teen Talent contest two years ago, Owens has obviously improved.

He placed third in last year's Teen Talent contest. Thanks to the help of his choral teacher at school, Owens managed to capture first place this year.

This year, judges said he has an excellent chance of winning the number one honor, and the 18-year-old Hillview resident is also confident about his talent.

"I'm optimistic," said Owens, who has been singing practically all his life. "I'm always trying to do my best, and hoping for the best," he explained.

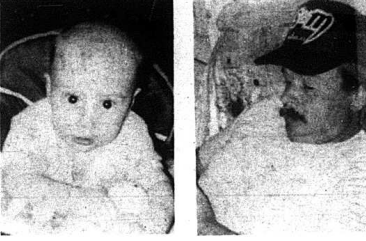

Owens said he first became involved in music at the urging of his mother, Sue. As a fifth-grade student at Maryville Elementary School, Owens joined the school's chorus, and, supported and inspired by his family, he ventured the voice changes and developed his potential.

In high school, he was named an honorary choral student and three Learning is easier on a full stomach!

Before you send your child off to school each day, make sure he will have an advantage in the classroom: serve him breakfast.

Studies show that children are less fidgety and more alert and their performance is better if they've eaten the morning meal.

Breakfast is the most important meal of the day. Breakfast supplies nutrients and calories to the body after a night's fast and maintains the body's sugar level during the morning hours. It should include one-fourth to one-third of the daily calories and nutrients needed.

Mornings usually are hectic when you are trying to get children off to school and you and your spouse off to work. Don't feel that you have to fix a bacon-eggs-biscuit breakfast each morning. Many other foods will give your child the start he needs. Some not-so-traditional breakfasts include peanut butter and jelly sandwiches with milk, hamburger on a bun and a glass of juice, leftover chicken and a glass of juice, leftover chicken and milk, peanut butter and raisin sandwich and a glass of water, a meat sandwich of various types and a glass of milk, and a bacon, lettuce and tomato sandwich.

Keep on hand fresh, canned or dried fruits; yogurt, cheese or cottage cheese; and quick cooking, instant or ready-to-eat cereals.

Since some family members will have to eat breakfast at different times, store breakfast foods within easy reach of family members. Try to encourage all family members, including adults, to get into the habit of eating a nutritious breakfast.

Many of the students found themselves doing things they have never done. They were acting, feeling more comfortable dancing to music, and having greater confidence talking before groups.

Brent Jackson, Tim Huff, Jackie Huff, Terry Montjoy, Jared Pitman, Victoria Newton, Christine Newton, and Imogene Owens participated in the program that included instruction and practice in elocution, dancing, improvisation, voice, and acting. They also used their skills to design posters, write newsletters, and construct stage sets. They took field trips to local industries and historic sites, and a personnel director from a Danville industry showed them how to communicate properly in a job interview.

Eben Henson, founder of Pioneer Playhouse, received a state and federal grant for $20,000 to finance the program.

JKU Students

Three residents of Rockcastle County are among more than 300 Eastern Kentucky University students participating this summer in the University's Cooperative Education Program.

They are: Janis-Lynn Durham, Livingston, working as a pre-trial officer trainee at the Administrative Office of the Courts.

Mickie Lea Pruitt, Route 1, working as a claims rep trainee at Social Security Administration.

Kelli Thomason Taylor, Mt. Vernon, working as an applications programmer for North American Philips Lighting, Richmond.

EKU students in the program apply principles and theories learned in the classroom to practical, on-the-job situations.

Participants also receive a salary from the participating employer, which may help to defray college expenses.

years in a row was admitted to the national Who's Who in Music.

He was also in All-State Chorus and participated in the Governor's Scholar Program his junior year.

"I'm still trying to make the song even better," he said.

Owens said he enjoys singing and hopes to make a professional career in the field, "probably with a gospel group."

He said he is excited about the opportunity to compete on an international level and is thrilled about the recording contract he received for winning the state contest.

Under the contract, Owens may record two original songs, which will be released to local radio stations.

He said he plans to use songs written by his 24-year-old brother, Carl, who is a composer, but is unsure about which ones he will use.

He said both the first-place honor and the first-place prize were not anticipated.

"I'm real excited," he said. "I was all unexpected. When I found out I got the recording contract, that made it that much better," he said.

This will be the first time he has recorded and Owens is anxious to begin work. He said he will probably begin working on the recording in mid-August. He will be in Fort Worth from Aug. 1-7.

Jerrol is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Owens and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Owens of Route 2, Mt. Vernon.

Mt. Vernon Manor Senior Citizens had a blessed treat Saturday night with a Saturday night fellowship supper and a Gospel Singing. Bobby Jo and Charlotte Hansel, managers of the Manor Apartments, were hosts. Thanks Bobby Jo and Charlotte for a job well done.

The gospel singing and music was from Northside Baptist Church by a group called The Called Out. They really put their hearts in their singing and it was beautiful. Everyone there enjoyed it very much.

The food were plentiful and delicious with a variety of soft drinks, tea and coffee.

A lot of Northside members and friends came along with the singers. Mrs. Thelma Fletcher, who makes her home at Mt. Vernon Manor, helped the hostess in so many ways, we want to thank her.

There were two beautiful cakes, one said "Hello Senior Citizens".

Our special guests were the former managers Bob and Bessie Hansel of Ohio.

We all had a good time!

Appreciates efforts

Dear Editor,
 On Friday, Aug. 5, while traveling east on highway 150 enroute from Elizabethtown to Pineville, I stopped at the red light about a mile from Mt. Vernon. I noticed smoke coming from under the hood of my car. I continued through the light and pulled to the side of the road, stopped the car, got out and raised the hood and smoke just boiled out.

This intercession was very active at this time of the day about 11:45 a.m. After about twenty or twenty five minutes with no one offering to help me, a gentleman in a yellow pick-up stopped to see if he could help, after seeing that he couldn't do anything he said he would send a wrecker to tow me into Mt. Vernon. I thanked him but failed to get his name, but he said he was from Brodhead and should he read this, I wish to thank him for his concern and help. About fifteen minutes later a wrecker from the Town and Country Chevrolet station pulled up. A gentleman named Marvin checked out my car, oil was poured from the transmission. He towed the car into the station and after putting it on the lift confirmed what he had thought was wrong, the front seal on the transmission was out, I saw this myself as oil poured out.

I spent about five hours at the station and have never been treated any nicer in my life. Jack and Marvin who run the station were very helpful and kind during my long stay with them.

While there I saw several more people whose cars were being towed into the station and all of them were being towed with much kindness and concern. For example, one lady traveling with three small children was towed in from I-75, she had no money to pay her bill but they checked out her car, told her what was wrong and got the car running again when they took her word that she would mail them the money. People of Mt. Vernon, you couldn't ask for more outstanding citizens of your town than Jack and Marvin.

My brother arrived from Pineville to pick me up. I left my car in their care Sunday, picked it up in their repaired Sunday morning drove back to Elizabethtown. Although it was a hectic and more expensive weekend than my normal visits to Pineville, I am glad that these two people came to my rescue.

Again I say, Mt. Vernon you are lucky to have such guys in your community to serve you.
 Thanks much Jack and Marvin....

Thanks,
 Frances Williamson

EKU Fall Semester begins Aug. 25

Eastern Kentucky University is expecting near-record enrollment when fall classes open on Thursday, Aug. 25.

More than 13,700 students are expected to return to the Richmond campus or enroll in EKU's off-campus offerings this fall. University officials said recently.

Last year 13,099 students enrolled in EKU's fall semester offerings. Eastern's all-time record enrollment was in 1980 when 14,081 students signed up for classes.

"We had a record Intercession-enrollment this year and a near-record Summer Term enrollment," said Dr. John D. Rowlett, vice president for academic affairs and research and dean of the faculties.

"Eastern has worked very hard over the past few years to increase the delivery of its services throughout the 22-county service region. We're seeing that effort pay off."

EKU's fall semester opening schedule:
 Residence halls will open at 10 a.m. Sunday, Aug. 21.
 The annual assembly for faculty and administrative staff will take place at 8 a.m. Monday, Aug. 22.

The Schedule Change (Drop-Add) Day will be Wednesday, Aug. 24. Except for Drop-Add Day, registration for fall semester classes continues through Aug. 30.

A special evening period has been set aside for evening and part-time students who have not previously registered. This will be from 4:15 to 6 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 25 through Aug. 31 in the Registration Center, Combs 219.

Students who wish more information about undergraduate admission should contact the EKU Division of Admissions at (606) 622-2106. Graduate students who wish more information should contact the Graduate School at (606) 622-1742.

Drought's effects lingering in corn

Kentucky's corn crop may have been saved by recent rains only to fall prey to insects that benefitted from the drought.

Morris Bitzer, Extension grain specialist in the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture, said the Kentucky corn crop received adequate rain during the critical silking stage to set the stage for a good yield.

"If the break in the drought continues... if we get our usual amounts of rainfall from now until harvest, we could still make a good crop in most parts of the state," Bitzer said.

Deadline extended for CRP

The seventh sign-up for the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) has been extended through August 31. The sign-up began July 18 and was scheduled to end August 5. which began in 1984, is a free everyday attraction at the Fair. It was designed to give the people of Kentucky a chance to promote the special characteristics and attractions of their county.

The exhibit can be seen at the Fair Aug. 18 through Aug. 27. Fair admission will be $3 for adults, $1 for children 12 or under and senior citizens, plus $2 for parking. If you arrive before noon on a weekday, the entire carload will be admitted for $4 plus parking.

The exhibit is sponsored by the Kentucky Farm Bureau Insurance Companies. Senior Vice President James Batts said, "We at the Farm Bureau hope that all the Rockcastle Countians who visit the State Fair will put their own county's exhibit at the top of their list of places to visit while they are at the fairsgrounds. The exhibits are all quite attractive, and they are a source of pride to all the people of the County."

can file a protest with the local election commission if they think a person is voting in the wrong district.

Stallworth said Tuesday that he plans to file such a protest Saturday. "I don't think it is fair that she be allowed to represent one division and live in another one," he added.

Mrs. Houk, who is chairman of the local election commission said that in the event of a proper protest the election commission would notify the person in question that they are not registered in the proper precinct.

Houk said the person in question would have 30 days to file a protest of their own. If a protest is not filed the person is placed in the proper district.

However, if Mrs. Cameron's case, even if she were taken off the voter list in the Orlando precinct and placed on the rolls in East Livingston, it would still take Rockcastle circuit Court action to remove her from her seat.

According to Houk any action against Mrs. Cameron would have to be initiated by Commonwealth Attorney Benny Ham. Ham was unavailable for comment Tuesday.

 ASCS announced that cropland, which had been hayed in counties approved for drought relief, is now eligible for entry into the 1988 CRP during the seventh sign-up, if the land meets other program requirements. They also noted that land designated as Acreage Conservation Reserve (ACR) and Conservation Use (CU) for the 1988 program year is not eligible for entry into the CRP for 1988.

Another change, aimed at encouraging tree planting on CRP land, now allows CRP land to be planted to trees if only one-third of the area is predominantly highly erodible.

For more information on the CRP program or any other USDA program contact the Soil Conservation Service in the Agricultural Service Center on Richmond Street or call at 256-2541.

will allow them to upgrade the ball-fields at Lake Linville for use of Mt. Vernon teams that must now use Brodhead fairground fields.

Charles Russell told the council most of the work would be done by volunteers. Russell said the ball-fields would have to be plowed and seeded this fall in order to be ready for next year.

The council agreed if the volunteers would bring a letter to the council stating their intentions.

The council also approved purchase of a typewriter for the city office for $525. The city will receive a discount of about $400.

James Rickels, sewer plant director, will set up a safety program for all city employees.

Lights were approved for Shirley Street and for N. Richmond Street.

The council approved expenses for Mayor Cromer to attend the Governor's Local Issues Conference in Louisville.

Tim Schwendeman of the Cumberland Valley Area Development District at London told the council Area Development Funds may soon be applied for and the city should consider its needs and apply for these funds.

Mayor Cromer set up a Finance Committee made up of residents of the city to consider the city's financial needs. He did not name the committee pending their acceptance.

Public hearing for hospital expansion

A public hearing on a construction project at Rockcastle Hospital will be held today in Frankfort by the Commission for Health Economics Control in Kentucky.

The hospital plans to construct an addition to house 28 skilled nursing care beds and related space. The project is estimated to cost $3,552,449.

Wayne Stewart, hospital administrator, said chances of approval are about 50/50.

Stewart said a freeze on construction has been in effect for the past six or seven years on new construction for long-term beds.

He said he hoped the hospital could get a special designation since the new unit would be used for ventilation dependency patients.

The hospital had announced the new construction program earlier. If the agency turns down the project, that's the end of it, Stewart said.

Citizens against Lottery meeting is Tuesday p.m.

The Citizens Against State Lottery will have a local meeting on Tuesday, August 16 at 7 p.m. at the Rockcastle County Public Library. Everyone who is interested in the defeat of a state lottery in Kentucky is urged to attend this meeting.

At the meeting plans will be laid for a local effort to defeat the lottery issue in Rockcastle County on November 8 election day. Information will be given on how the lottery issue will be dealt with in Rockcastle County.

Those who will agree to assist will be asked to take some responsibility in getting information out to citizens and urging registered voters to vote against the lottery for Kentucky.

Your attendance is urged at this special meeting.

For more information call Dr. Charles Hedrick at 256-2922 or 256-5610.

Good News for Alfalfa Crops!

The drought may mean good news for alfalfa crops.

Dry conditions have restricted development of leathoppers this year, said John Parr, Extension forage entomologist with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

"Numbers of potato leathoppers in test plots have been low this year with nymphs found during field sampling and little evidence of hopperburn on plants in untreated plots," he said.

Parr said potato leathopper populations usually peak in Kentucky sometime between mid-June and early July. Their numbers usually decrease after the second cutting of mature stands or the first cutting of spring-seeded fields. Potato leathoppers should not be a problem during the remainder of this growing season, Parr said. Growers should continue to sample fields to determine population levels. Some wine will spoil if exposed to light; hence tinted bottles.
