Beef Preconditioning Derby

By: Tom Mills
County Extension Agent
for Agriculture

The Rockcastle County Beef Association will be conducting their third annual pre-conditioning demonstration starting Tuesday, Sept. 27 through Oct. 25. Any beef producer may enter spring born steer calves just off the cow. Preferably February and March calves in the 400-500 pound range. Entry fees are $5 per head and registration should be made with Keith Smith at 256-2500 or Tom Mills 256-2403, by Friday at 4:30 p.m.

Calves will be weighed and tagged, as well as given necessary herd health practices by Dr. Joe Korn. Producers wishing to see the weigh-in and health demonstration should be at Keith Smith's farm on Highway 150 at 1 p.m. on the 27th.

Following the weigh-in, calves will be placed on a preconditioning ration from Purina Chow. Albright Feed and Supply will be donating half the feed with farmers picking up the remaining cost.

On Tuesday, Oct. 25, calves will be reweighed and the winners announced at an association banquet. Premium money will be awarded to first and second place for percent weight gained.

Club, directed all the homemakers in three games.

The first one was to get signatures of others on a paper. Virginia Hansel ended up getting the prize for this. Second game was to make as many words as possible from the word, Homemaker. Joyce Craig won this one. Then Barbara Watson won the prize for naming the most books of the Bible in a certain length of time. Teaching Bible School paid off for her or did she learn it when she was a student?

Clara Proctor asked us to bow our heads in a word of prayer for the loss of two county homemakers, Joyce Whitaker and Joyce Hopkins, who died last week. They will be greatly missed.

Debbie McQueen called the roll for the last time, as she is our outgoing secretary. Then our president, Virginia Hansel, presented Perfect Attendance Certificates for the Homemakers '87-'88 year. Those receiving them were: Joan Albright, Carolyn Brown, Alta Bullock, Vada Cummins, Patricia Fletcher, Bea Hensley, Tammy Hopkins, Emily Glovak, Virginia Hansel, Jean Geatry, Ella Mae Martin, Debra McQueen, Lorraine Newland, Brenda Powell, Betty Roach, Gayle Scoggins, Christine Taylor, Noretta Thompson and Sylvia Whitt.

One Hundred Percent Club Award went to Quail Club. Congratulations, Quail! You deserved it.

Last year's officers presented certificates and keys to the new officers elected. The new officers installed for the year '88-'89 were: President - Carol Riddle; Vice President - Linda Williams; Secretary - Noretta Thompson; Treasurer - Virginia Hansel.

A Fifty Year Pin was presented to Quail's Clara Mae Brown by Cheryl Witt. Applause showed her our congratulations.

Before adjournment, Brodhead Willing Workers' new president, Patricia Fletcher, gave out the door prizes. Bea Hensley won the beautiful wreath donated by Gail's Florist and Debbie McQueen won a portrait certificate, donated by Doug Brock's studio.

After saying our Homemaker's Creed, we were adjourned.

Why not join one of our county clubs or become a county-wide member and receive all information, recipes, etc. each month? You'll be glad you did!

County Homemakers hold dinner

The Rockcastle County Extension Homemakers finish the old year and start a new one with their county annual dinner meeting each September. This year's meeting held some special honors for some of its members.

Flora Mae Brown was presented a 50-year pin and certificate as a member of Extension Homemakers. She said she joined the Quail Homemakers about a year after she married. She has been a member of that club continually since.

The Quail Homemaker Club received another honor as Outstanding Club for 1988. This award was presented to Gayle Scoggins, president of the club. The award was based on the clubs activities, participation in Homemaker events and gain of new members.

New officers for the coming year were installed by the outgoing officer. Incoming county Extension officers are Carol Riddle - president;

Linda Williams - vice president; Norietta Thompson - secretary; Virginia Hansel - treasurer. Those officers who have served the past two years and relinquished their duties were Virginia Hansel, president; Faye McCauley - vice president; Deborah McQueen - secretary and Clara Proctor - treasurer. They were presented certificates and books.

The following persons received certificates for perfect attendance at club meetings during the past year:

Jean Albright, Carolyn Brown, Ala Bullock, Patricia Fletcher, Vady Cummins, Emily Glowak, Virginia Hansel, Bea Hensley, Tammy Hopkins, Jean Gentry, Ella Mae Martin, Deborah McQueen, Loraine Newland, Brenda Powell, Bettye Roach, Gayle Scoggins, Christine Taylor, Norietta Thompson, Sylvia Whit.

The Extension Homemakers in attendance enjoyed entertainment by 4-Hers who were winners in previous 4-H variety shows. Thanks to Jessica Rosenburg and Missy Makin of Roundstone School and Ricky Rice and Juanita Robbins of the Rockcastle County High School Teen 4-H Club.

Recreation was provided by Sharon Palmer of Rise & Shine Homemakers. Patricia Fletcher of Brothead Willing Workers provided dear prizes. Winners were Deborah McQueen - photos, and Bea Hensley - wreath.

The meeting ended by the members reciting the Homemakers Creed as they look forward to a new club year.

County Homemakers News

Another successful annual dinner-meeting for the county homemakers was enjoyed by those who attended. This meeting was held at Kastle Inn, Sept. 8, 6:30 to 9 p.m.

Table decorations by the Sunshine Club blinked at us from lighted candles in a fall colored glass holder, as we registered and received our name tags from Quail Club Homemakers.

These tags had a smiling face on it. This reminded us to smile as well as Clara Proctor's "Thought of the Day" did.

Salad was served first and then the dinner before we enjoyed the "4-Hers Top of the Show" performances.

There was a reading by Jessica Rosenburg; clogging by Missy Makin; and singing by Ricky Rice and Juanita Robbins. What talent our 4-Hers have! Applause and gifts were given to performers. Being an adult leader of them is surely rewarding. I know, I have a 10 year certificate from U.K. for being an Adult Leader. I took Brothead groups to School Fairs many times, where handwork was displayed.

After entertainment we were served cherry cobbler for our dessert. Bea Hensley, from Rise and Shine. Cont. on page 18

Mrs. Flora Mae Brown was honored for her 50 years as a member of the Rockcastle County Homemaker's Club.

Schizophrenia Questions & Answers

From newspapers, television and radio, even our neighbors we are constantly made aware of physical illnesses. We know their causes, treatments, and effects upon a person. Indeed, whole programs on television have centered around hospital care and the care of the physically ill. Another type of illness, however, is not easily understood by the average person.

In this series of articles, mental illnesses will be discussed in order to bring about a better understanding of a sickness most of us know little about. With some basic knowledge of mental illnesses, it is hoped that each of us will be better prepared to cope should they strike friends, neighbors, family, or ourselves.

Mental illnesses are not that unusual. In this region alone (Bell, Clay, Harlan, Jackson, Knox, Laurel, Rockcastle, and Whitley counties), 1,603 persons suffer from mental illnesses to the extent they are unable to lead normal lives without medical and professional supervision. (This is no more than the national average.) While several mental illnesses will be discussed in this series, this particular article is devoted entirely to schizophrenia, a term used to describe a complex and extremely puzzling condition that is the most chronic (continuing/recurring) and disabling of the major mental illnesses.

Almost one out of every hundred persons develop schizophrenia during their lives, with the first psychotic (loss of contact with reality/inability to separate real from unreal experiences) symptoms often seen in the teens or twenties in men, and in the twenties or early thirties in women. Less obvious symptoms, such as social isolation (keeping to one's self) or withdrawal from daily events, or unusual speech, thinking, or behavior may precede and/or follow the psychotic symptoms.

Few statements hold true for all people diagnosed as schizophrenic, and "psychotic" episodes may occur only one time in a person's life, while others may have many such episodes during a lifetime but are able to lead fairly normal lives between psychotic periods. The person with chronic schizophrenia, however, often does not fully recover normal functioning and usually requires long-term treatment, generally including medication, to control the symptoms of the disorder. Some chronic schizophrenic patients may never be able to function without assistance of one sort or another.

Although the term "schizophrenia" was not used until the early 1900s, the disorder has existed for a great many years and has been found in all types of societies. In 1911, schizophrenia was first distinguished from other mental illnesses by Dr. Eugen Bleuler, a Swiss psychiatrist.

Just as "normal" persons view the world in their own way, schizophrenic people, too, have their own ideas of reality. Their view of the world, however, is often strikingly different from the usual reality seen and shared by those around them. Living in a world that can appear distorted, changeable, and lacking the reliable landmarks we all use to anchor ourselves to reality, a person with schizophrenia may feel anxious and confused. This person may seem distant, detached, or occupied with other matters, and may even sit as rigidly as a stone, not moving for hours and not muttering a sound. Or he or she may move about constantly, always occupied, wide awake, vigilant, and alert. In short, a schizophrenic person may show very different kinds of behavior at different times.

In the next article, we will look at the world of people with schizophrenia along with common symptoms (delusions and hallucinations), disordered thinking, "inappropriate affect," give you addresses to write for more information, and give answers to the following questions:

What causes schizophrenia? Is schizophrenia inherited? Are parents at fault? What about drugs? and, finally, is there help?

Transporting Hazardous Materials

Many hundreds of vehicles pass through Rockcastle County each day. A large percentage of them are trucks. Part of these trucks carry liquid, gas, or solid, flammable, explosive or reactive hazardous material.

Trucks will be equipped with signs worded with: Poison, Explosive, Flammable, Combustible, Oxidizer, Irritant, Radioactive, etc. Respect these signs. They indicate the category of hazardous material they carry.

If you come upon an accident involving one of these trucks, do not get too close. The air you cannot see or the puddle you do see could kill you. Call the fire department immediately. Warn other motorists and area residents of the potential dangers and to stay away from the scene. Let the trained, equipped fire fighters handle the emergency work.

Evacuation of the entire area may be necessary. If the fire department orders this, please cooperate. It is for your safety. You may have only a short time to leave, depending on the material involved. Let your relatives and friends know your whereabouts. This will prevent any unnecessary searches in a hazardous area.

Please support your local fire department.

Outdoor Fire Safety!

Labor Day marked the end of summer. Temperature and humidity levels fall. Grass and leaves begin to dry out. The fire hazard increases.

The camping and barbecue season is still in full swing with the dry conditions. A fire can get out of control in seconds. Do not build a fire on a windy day. Always make a fire break around a fire. Have a means of fire extinguishment nearby. Do not start a fire that is larger than you can handle. Notify the fire department if you plan on burning a brushpile or field. They can advise you, if it is safe or not.

If you spot a fire that is out of control, notify the fire department immediately. You may be the first to see the fire. If not, it is always better to get several calls about a fire than to get none.

Always report arson. The amount of property damage does not matter. Arson is a crime.

Please support your local fire department!

Captive Animals

There are numerous types of animals that function well in captivity, but likewise, there are many animals that should not be kept as pets.

Each year, the Department of Fish and Wildlife receives calls concerning keeping all types of wildlife in captivity, and each year the response is the same: "We highly recommend against it." Keeping wildlife in captivity also happens to be illegal, unless the owner obtains a permit to do so from the department.

One of the more popular species that has been inquired about in recent years is deer. Deer are wild animals that never totally domesticate. They do often stay or travel close to residential areas, but do not react well when confined to a small area. Bucks particularly can cause problems, even though they may seem perfectly "pet-like" for a while.

As they mature, they become an increasing nuisance and subject to biological changes as the fall rutting or mating season nears. There are incidents each year where children and adults are chased down kicked and gored by bucks that are becoming more biologically and physically active. In addition to the threat of causing bodily harm, deer can also damage gardens, trees and other property when encouraged to remain around houses and people.

Almost inevitably, when a captured deer starts becoming a problem, those who have kept it in confinement or have fed the deer to keep it around to watch in a subdivision or residential area call the department and want it removed.

Bee Lick store shot to death

Residents of the Bee Lick and Dog Walk area are still shocked and frightened by the murder and robbery of Alma Jean Brown at her grocery store Sept. 15.

Her death netted the robber or robbers about $300 in cash from the store register. No arrests have been made.

The Browns live near the Rockcastle-Lincoln county line and are well known by Rockcastle residents. Lincoln County Coroner Bill Demrow said Mrs. Brown, 46, was shot several times between 6:30 and 7 p.m. Her body was found behind the counter at Don's Country Market by a customer who then called an ambulance. Lincoln County Deputy Sheriff David Smith said.

Eight casings from a .22-caliber automatic pistol were found at the scene, Smith said.

Demrow said an autopsy showed that Mrs. Brown had "multiple wounds to the chest and neck"; he would not say last night how many bullets hit her. Mrs. Brown was shot at point-blank range, apparently as she stood behind the counter and the gunman stood on the other side, he said.

There was no sign of a struggle, Demrow said.

Mrs. Brown "was as friendly as she could be," said Diane Overby, who lives with her husband, Willard, just across Ky. 39 from the store. "It scares me that something like this could happen to somebody like her. I'll lock my doors tonight, believe me."

Donald Brown, who is retired from his job at Lexington-Bleu Grass Army Depot (Blue Grass Activity) in Richmond, opened the store about five weeks ago "to keep himself busy," said Beckham Simpson, Mrs. Brown's bookkeeper.

Mrs. Brown, an employee at the Christian Appalachian Project in Lancaster, usually relieved her husband after work, keeping the store open until 10 p.m.

Donald Brown went to a church in Somerset soon after his wife arrived at the store about 5 p.m. Thursday, Simpson said.

"Could've been anybody" who killed Mrs. Brown, Simpson said, pointing out that Ky. 39 is a well traveled road connecting Lancaster and Somerset.

Simpson speculated that, because of the multiple gunshots - which apparently no one heard - his granddaughter knew her assailant. "I think she probably called them by their names, and they were afraid she was going to identify them," he said.

"A stranger never would have shot her that many times," said Mrs. Brown's uncle, Jack Simpson.

But other Dog Walk residents said they suspected that two strange young men seen driving in the area Thursday in a small reddish-brown car might have been involved.

Jean Taylor, who runs Taylor's Grocery about a mile from Don's Country Market, said the car had passed her store late Thursday afternoon but didn't stop.

"It seems like these country stores are more of a target," said Mrs. Taylor, whose store has been robbed twice in the last two years. "It's out there where they're not expecting anybody to see them."

"It might not ever happen again, it might happen before dark," Mrs. Taylor said. "But you can't just close up the door and say, 'Hey, I'm gone.'"

Employees opposed to a union at Mt. Vernon Plastics display signs as they picketed the plant this week. The Teamsters Union failed in its attempt to organize the company.

School budget up slightly

By: Jeff Hammond

A budget of $8,402,968, for the 1989 fiscal year, was approved by the Rockcastle County School Board in special session Monday night.

The budget represents an increase of about $60,000 over the previous year.

The small increase can be attributed to two factors, said Administrative Services Director Garland Cummins. The biggest factor, according to Cummins, is that certified personnel received only a two percent raise for this school year. The other factor was the number of federal grants that the school system receives has declined over the previous school year.

The local tax rate, of .299 per $100 of property should generate about $443,500 of revenue.

The local revenue represents about 5 percent of the overall budget.

The state will be the largest source of income for the school system. About $4,604,953 will be coming from the state coffers. According to superintendent Bige Towery, Jr. the amount that the state contributed is based solely upon the average daily attendance (ADA) of the school district.

The ADA from last year 1987-88 was used to compute the amount the state contributes. Next year the amount will be contingent upon this year's ADA.

The amount that the federal government will be contributing is about $1,379,884. Most of which, according to Cummins has already been earmarked for specific purposes such as Title I, food service, which has to be handled in separate accounts, and other things such as grants that are

Court approves school bonds

First reading of an ordinance relating to the issuance of $3,550,000 in school building revenue bonds was held by the Rockcastle Fiscal Court Tuesday.

Second official reading will be held at 3 p.m. Oct. 4.

The money will be used to construct a new 800 student elementary school at Mt. Vernon.

The ordinance also approved the board's designation of Johnson/Romanowicz of Lexington as architect for the building. It approved Dupree and Co. of Lexington as fiscal agent for the county.

The board will receive annually in the form of a contract, lease, and option $153,500 toward payment of the debt service on the bonds as a grant from the Kentucky School Facilities Construction Commission.

school system receives.

"Every federal dollar that the school system receives has to be accounted for, they want to see where their money is going," said Cummins.

Towery concurred with Cummins' thinking that even though the budget is over $8 million, by far the largest amount is going to specific purposes. This leaves the school system with very little money at its discretion.

The largest expenditure that the district has is cost for instruction. About $4,957,300 will be spent on teacher salaries. The other large expenditure that the district must meet is the cost of transportation.

Over $700,000 will be spent on transportation in the current school year. This includes such things as gasoline, maintenance and repairs on school buses. It does not, however, include the six new buses that are being voted to purchase, at a price of $150,000.

The six new buses will include four sixty-five passenger diesel buses, at a cost of $27,000 each, and two twenty-one passenger buses that cost about $19,000. The new buses should arrive sometime in the spring and will allow the district to remove 1977 when safety standards were not as strict on the buses.

In other business the board approved a resolution requesting the Rockcastle Fiscal Court to pass an ordinance authorizing the issuance of bonds for financing the new Mt. Vernon Elementary School building.

School board chairman, George Poyner and Supt. Towery met with the fiscal court on Tuesday afternoon for the first reading of the ordinance.

Dupree and Company, a Lexington firm, will be handling the sale of the bonds. The fiscal court will serve as the issuing agent in the bond sales. The school board will first deed the property over to the fiscal court and enter into a contract whereby they will rent the property back to the school board. "This is called a participation agreement."

The Bank of Mt. Vernon will be handling the paper work that the bonds require. The bonds are scheduled to be sold on Oct. 4.

Crash kills Mrs. Barnett

A former Rockcastle County woman was killed Sunday night in a one-car accident north of Berea.

Linda Kay Barnett, 36, of Rt. 1, Berea, died early Monday in the Chandler Medical Center in Lexington.

Her passenger in the Chevrolet Blazer was Dempsey Shearer of Rt. 4, Berea, who is in his 30s. Both were pinned in the vehicle. They were taken to Berea Hospital and transferred to the University of Kentucky Medical Center, where she died. He is reported in fair condition at the hospital.

State Police at the Richmond Post reported Mrs. Barnett was traveling east on Short Line Pike at high speed and lost control of her vehicle, hit a tree and overturned. Neither were wearing seat belts.

Mrs. Barnett was a machine operator at Continental Metal Specialties in Richmond.

She was born on Jan. 20, 1952 in Clark County, Ind., the daughter of Dolly Shepherd Bullock of Ouseco, Ind., and the late Arvil Bullock.

Survivors in addition to her mother are: a son, Farlie Holden Barnett of Rt. 1, Berea; a daughter, Mrs. Janet Lee Barnett, Issues of Rt. 2, Mt. Vernon; a brother, J.D. Plastics employees turn down union effort to organize

By: Richard Anderkin

An attempt to unionize Mt. Vernon Plastics by the Teamsters has apparently failed for a second time.

"I think this attempt to bring in the union is over," said plant manager Kent Johansson at a meeting of the Rockcastle Industrial Authority Tuesday.

The union did not get enough employee signatures to bring the proposition to a vote. Of 270 eligible employees, 207 opposed the union.

However, Johansson was not too unhappy that the attempt was made.

"In a way I am glad it happened because it helped us to realize that we had some problems and I think we have resolved them," he said.

He denied charges that he had harassed and threatened employees during the signing period. He called the charges "baseless."

The attempt to unionize at the factory may not be over, Johansson said he had been informed an aluminum union would also make an attempt to organize at the plant very soon. He added that the aluminum union had organized in some of Reynolds Metals plants.

Reynolds bought Mt. Vernon Plastics in June for an undisclosed amount.

Johansson said he does not believe another union would do any good trying to organize because "the majority of the employees do not want it."

"We have a great work force at Plastics and we all work together as a team very well," he noted. "A union would destroy the teamwork atmosphere."

Plastics, which employees 313 people of which 270 are eligible to be represented by a union, is located on U.S. 150 in the Rockcastle Industrial Park. Plastics is the county's second largest employer behind the Rockcastle County school system that employs only two more at 315. The company makes plastic containers for various products.

During the luncheon meeting, Johansson said that employees at

Car kills Mills child

A three-year-old Mt. Vernon girl died Sept. 14 after she was struck by a car on West Main Street.

Belinda Mills, daughter of Clarence Mills of Manchester and Julia Hicks Rowe of Mt. Vernon, was pronounced dead on arrival at Rockcastle Hospital from a lacerated heart, according to Coroner Bill Dowell.

According to police, the child got out of a Lighthouse Assembly of God church bus with her family. The bus went on and the little girl pulled away from her 27-year-old brother and ran into the street where she struck the front side of a car coming down the hill. The driver did not stop.

Her stepfather, Jack Rowe, told police the vehicle was a dark, later model, full size car.

A car was impounded by police but tests revealed it apparently was not the car.

Mt. Vernon Police officer Kevin Fletcher, who is investigating the incident, said he had no other leads at this time.

More marijuana

The Green Sweep helicopter found another patch of marijuana Friday while flying over Rockcastle.

State police landed and confiscated 720 plants on Chestnut Ridge Road. The plants were about 17 feet tall.

Officers involved were Sgt. Steve O'Daniel, Detectives Jimmy Henderson and Ernie Boggs, Sgt. David Biggestaff, and troopers Steve Mahan and Allen Lewis.

No arrests were made pending grand jury action.

In addition to her parents and stepfather, she is survived by four brothers, Edgar Hicks and Sherman Mills, both of Mt. Vernon, Garl Rowe of Greenfield, Ind., and David Lee Rowe of Berea; six sisters, Mrs. Lillie Mae Savage of Dale City, Va., Miss Milda Mills, Miss Minnie Mills, Miss Crystal Mills, and Miss Penny Rowe, all of Mt. Vernon, and Mrs. Jennifer Smith of Broughtontown; maternal grandmother, Mrs. Minnie Hicks of Manchester, and paternal grandmother, Mrs. Alma Rowe of Mt. Vernon.

Services were held at the Cox Funeral Home Chapel with Bro. Marvin Hensley officiating. Burial was in McKinney Cemetery.

Pallbearers were: Jerry Savage, Garl Rowe, Edward Rowe, Sherman Mills, Junior Rowe, and David Rowe.

New company coming to industrial park

By: Richard Anderkin

Just as one plant is experiencing labor problems another one has made plans to expand.

Ready Mix Concrete and Block Company of Somerset and the Rockcastle County Industrial Authority have reached an agreement on the sale of a 3.4 acre tract in the Industrial Park, directly across from Mt. Vernon Plastics.

Joe Newell, manager of the company which also has a concrete plant in Hazard, said Wednesday that when completed six to eight people will be employed at the new concrete plant.

Newell said that his company is moving dirt and hopes to have the plant opened as soon as possible.

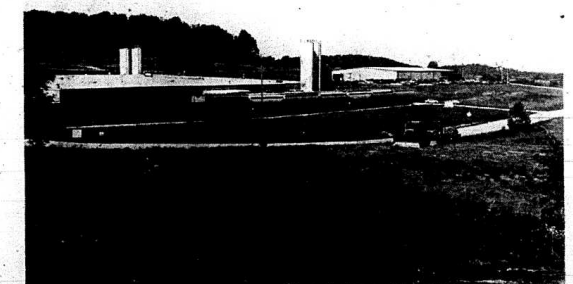

During an Industrial Authority meeting Tuesday, officials from Mt. Vernon Plastics voiced concern about the location of the new plant.

Plant officials, Kent Johansson and Bob Keppeler said that it was their hope that the new facility would not be an eyesore and that dust that concrete trucks generated would not damage equipment or products in their plant. The officials explained that their plant has to have a controlled dust free environment as possible.

Industrial Authority President John Clonzie told Keppeler and Johansson that he believed the new factory would not cause any problems for them. He also said that in his opinion Newell would work with Plastics in a direction to accommodate both facilities.

Site for a new concrete block company in the Rockcastle Industrial Park is a section of land in front of Mt. Vernon Plastics, whose officials questioned the location.

Grocery store was the location of a murder and robbery last week near Bee Lick. The store owner, Mrs. Alma Jean Brown, was shot by the robbers.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,
 I want to thank everyone that helped me when I was hit by a car on Sept. 2. The doctors, nurses and the ambulance driver, the emergency room attendants at Mt. Vernon Hospital and the lady that rode with me, the friends that met me at the emergency room, wishing me a speedy recovery. They gave me the courage to go on.

I also thank all those wonderful friends that brought food and visited me. I had so many wonderful friends and I know they sent up a lot of prayers for me, which I appreciated so much.

I had a serious time for 48 hours but the Lord was on my side and brought me through. With all those wonderful friends and the Lord I couldn't task for anything more.

These two little boys that came to the emergency room, I appreciated your concern. No one asked their name but thanks a lot. There are no bad feelings at anyone.

So thanks and neighbors, Pine Hill Holiness Church and Northside Baptist, for food and visits.

Lora Hamilton

Dear Editor,
 Enclosed is my check for another year. I truly enjoy it so much and look forward to it each week.

The article on Hummel's First Homecoming was really special to me. Since I was raised there I plan to attend next year, if it is the Good Lord's Will.

Keep up the good work, it's like a letter from home.

Thank you,
 Mrs. Glenna (Mason) Bailey

Dear Editor,
 I would like to let people know that I was not the one who hit and ran, in the accident that happened last week. A lot of people around thought I was the one because the police took my car to have the laboratory test it because it looked like the one that ran over the little girl.

I have six children of my own and I would never hit a child without stopping and trying to help.
 My deepest sympathy goes to the family who lost the little girl. May God be with you.

Editors Note: The little girl mentioned in the letter was Belinda Mills who died following an accident on West Main Street Sept. 14.

Dear Editor,
 Will you please take time to sit down and look at this mess? I pay for this paper to read the Fairview (I don't like) (A Fair View) news.
 You may call this Mrs. McWhorter names of people news, but I sure don't. If you are paying her you aren't getting your moneys worth.

 Now Hilda Payne Gabbard was one in a million, she writes news. Hope to see improvement.
 Sincerely,

Dear Editor,
 My complaints and harassment at their plant to keep the Teamsters Union out. I don't blame them, because they did 25 million in business last year and paid roughly 3 million in wages. The Teamsters would like to take these excess profits from shareholders and management and put it in employee pockets instead.

The Teamsters will stand up to management where you cannot. The Union works for you, the workers, to get better wages, benefits and working conditions and is done solely on a vote by you, the employees. You have nothing to lose, but everything to gain.

Those of you against Union Representation should work for minimum wage because that is all you will ever get.

To the ones who want union I feel sorry for you to have to work in a factory full of scabs too ignorant to help themselves.

Staying Home Alone

Staying Home Alone Preparing children to stay alone

At some point during the school year, parents consider having the children care for themselves before or after school rather than being cared for by others. Self-care can be a rewarding experience for children who are ready for it. It can help them develop independence and responsibility and can give them confidence in their own abilities. However, if the child is not ready, self-care can be a frightening and potentially dangerous situation.

How can you tell if your child is ready?

Unfortunately, there is no magic age at which children develop the maturity and good sense needed to stay alone. However, there are some signs that show your child may be ready. First, your child should indicate a desire and willingness to stay alone. Children who are easily frightened or who express an unwillingness to stay alone are probably not ready for this responsibility. In addition, your child should be showing signs of accepting responsibility and being aware of the needs of others and should be able to consider alternatives and make decisions independently. Children who are able to get ready for school on time, solve problems on their own, complete homework and household chores with a minimum of supervision, and remember to tell you where they are going and when they will be back are demonstrating some of the skills they need to care for themselves. For many children these abilities begin to appear between 10-12 years of age. Older youngsters, however, may need a few more years to develop the skills and sense of responsibility they'll need to stay alone. Finally, your child should be able to talk easily with you about interests and concerns. Good parent-child communication is needed to ensure that any fears of problems that arise because of staying alone can be quickly discussed and dealt with.

If your child has demonstrated some or all of the skills listed above, you may have decided your child can handle self-care. However, a few other factors need to be considered in your decision. First, how safe is the neighborhood in which you live? A high risk neighborhood naturally increases parents' concern for their child's safety. Second, the availability of neighbors nearby. Is there an adult nearby that you can depend on to respond to your child's needs? If emergency, or if your child must remain alone for a very long time, it may be best to continue to use some form of child care even if your child seems ready to stay alone.

Establishing a trial period
After you have helped your child acquire the skills and knowledge needed to stay alone, set up a trial period of self care to see how your child adjusts to the situation. Initially presenting it as a temporary arrangement lets children know they can choose not to continue if they are uncomfortable staying alone and also allows parents to more easily end the arrangement if they feel the child is unable to handle the situation.

Throughout the trial period, and afterwards if you continue the arrangement, talk frequently with your child about his or her feelings. This allows you to deal with problems quickly and helps you remain close to your child. Also, periodic evaluation of rules and safety information with your child. Children forget easily -- especially if the information is seldom used. However, this infrequently used knowledge -- such as what to do in case of a fire or other emergency -- may one day be critical to your child's safety.

Children who are mentally and emotionally ready to stay alone, who have been taught the skills and knowledge needed to deal with this new responsibility, and who are able to talk easily with their parents about fears or concerns that may arise, can gain much from the opportunity to care for themselves.

Time to be thinking about soil conservation

With the harvest season coming on, it's time to think about the key to all conservation tillage systems and crop residue management.

Conservation tillage systems leave 30 percent or more of the soil surface covered with residue to protect the soil. Residue protects the soil against the impact of rainfall and slows the runoff rate giving more time for infiltration of water.

The more residue on the surface, the more erosion protection you obtain. No-till, which blankets the soil with residue, can reduce erosion by 90 percent or more over the use of the mold board plow.

Throughout Rockcastle County, minimum tillage disk systems account for most of the acreage in conservation tillage. The best system suited to a field relies on the soil type and slopes. Generally speaking as the slope increases, the amount of residue cover needed control erosion increases.

With the recent drought, more people are aware of soil moisture. Residents help save valuable soil moisture for growing crops. With a good residue cover, up to 2 inches of soil water is available for growing crops. It reduces the evaporation of water and allows rainfall to soak into the ground before it has a chance to run off.

For information to put conservation tillage to work on your farm, contact the local Soil Conservation Service at the Agricultural Center on Richmond Street or phone 256-2541.

Mills Wins Achievement Award

William Thomas Mills, Rockcastle County Extension Agent, received the achievement award from the National Association of County Agricultural Agents.

Mills received his award in Charlotte, N.C. at the organization's national meeting.

He and his wife, Cloye, live in Mt. Vernon and he has been an agent for nine years in Rockcastle County.

Mills' major project was an extension program in beef cattle management emphasizing nutrition, herd health breeding, crop production and leadership development.

Mills held a beef derby for producers which provided information on management and new production practices. He also gave a demonstration on freeze branding as a new way of cattle identification.

Mills also gave demonstrations about New Zealand fences and their installation and Johnsongrass control for the local farmers that showed ways of combating the weed. He also held a demonstration on controlling multiflora roses which are spreading into the pastures and cutting down production.

Mills' short course was attended by local beef producers and had in-depth programs on management practices.

His field day had management programs, speakers, tours, machinery displays and homemaker programs.

Mills' leadership program proved successful for local farmers when they participated in getting a veterinarian to locate in their county.

Rhonda and Roger Wilson, Rhonda's brother from Indiana and his wife Carolyn Lear, visited beautiful, beautiful, beautiful Cumberland Falls last Sunday, Aug. 28.

A young man drown, a week earlier and his body was recovered while we were there. I don't know which town or city the young man was from in Tennessee.

From there we went on to Tombsone Junction and rode the old steam locomotive No. 77. It got robbed (not really, just an act) and they say everyone if they had any money. One lady on the train said she was broke. The robber, shut down at the ground and said are you broke now, and then the robber pointed his gun right at her and said give me all your money lady or you will be dead broke. From behind the train came the sheriff and said you are going to jail. The sheriff told the robber to give the lady back her money but the robber was stubborn and said he was not going to jail and pulled a gun and shot the sheriff. The sheriff laid about ten minutes and got up, that was the end of the train ride and then everyone got seated and on stage came Mr. Ray Stevens at 5 p.m.

Mr. Stevens lasted until a little after 6 and it was a blast. A couple more stops and we were back to good old Rockcastle County.

P-12 The Mt. Vernon Signal Thursday, September 22, 1988

RCHS English teacher Nancy Bussell had the largest umbrella and perhaps the biggest bubble, at Friday night's football game with Everts. The homecoming festivities were called off because of rain. The homecoming queen will be crowned at the next homegame against Bell County, Sept. 30. The Rockets play at Madison Southern this Friday night. Game time is 8 p.m. at Berea High School football field.

Rockets dominate offensive line; easily defeat Everts for 5th win

By: Jeff Hammond
The homecoming festivities were not the only thing to be washed away during the rain last Friday night, so too, were the Everts hopes of an upset over the Rockets.

The Rockets, behind a strong performance by the offensive line, dominated the game from start to finish and won 28-6 for their fifth straight victory of the season.

Everts had come into the game after a very impressive win over an always tough Cumberland team. Their hopes of a victory at the expense of the Rockets were not to be this rainy night in Mt. Vernon.

The pass protection given senior quarterback Chad Burdette allowed him to hit on 8 of 9 pass plays for 201 yards and 1 touchdown pass.

Chuck Shields was again the favorite target for Burdette. Shields caught 7 of Burdette's 8 completions for 139 yards and 1 touchdown.

The Rockets tallied first on a touchdown run by Burdette with 2:06 remaining in the first quarter. The extra point run was good by Kevin Rowe and the Rockets took an 8-0 lead. An interception by an unlikely candidate, senior lineman Chuck Napier, gave the Rockets good field position and helped set up their second touchdown.

The second quarter was filled with big pass plays by the Rockets. A Burdette to Shields pass, that covered 22 yards, gave the Rockets another 6 points with 7:54 remaining in the first half.

The Rocket defense, led by Kevin Rowe's 11 tackles and Chad Hodge's 9, never allowed the mountain team to get on track.

The balanced Rocket offense of rushing and passing, kept the Everts team guessing what was to come next. In addition to a big passing game from Burdette, 201 yards passing, the Rockets had their usual steady game from their two rushing threats. Cox and Rowe who combined for over 135 yards on the ground.

Rowe led the Rockets in touchdowns on the evening with 2 and 1 point after. He also gained 63 yards on 14 carries. Dane Cox was the leading rusher with 74 yards on 17 carries. Chad Burdette gained 22 yards on 8 carries and 1 touchdown rushing. The Rockets gained 182 yards rushing and 201 passing for a total offense of 383 yards.

On defense the Rockets were led by Rowe's 11 tackles, Chad Hodge's had 9 tackles. Chuck Napier and Chuck Shields both had interceptions.

The Rockets now 5 and 0 on the year will travel to Berea to play Madison Southern this Friday night. Madison Southern, a school in its first year of existence, is 2 and 3 on the year with wins over Casey County and MMI.

According to Coach Larkey the Rockets will be facing a team that likes to pass the ball. "We really haven't faced a team that throws the ball as much as Madison Southern will throw it. Their quarterback has a good arm and can really throw the ball," Larkey said.

The game against Southern should provide the Rockets with a good tune up for next week's showdown with district foe and one of the top teams in the state, Bell County.

Bell County has lost only one game this year 19-18 to Corbin. "They really have few weaknesses and their line is very big," Larkey added.

But before Bell County comes to town the Rockets must first defeat Southern. Should they win the game the Rockets would go 6 and 0, a record that few felt they would accomplish in something of a rebuilding year.

At least two starters are questionable for Friday's game. Les Scalf has a hip pointer and is doubtful. Adam Coleman, who has done an outstanding job punting for the Rockets, has a shoulder injury and is day to day in his status.

Rockets play Southern Madison in Berea Friday

Ron McClure advances to Regional in Red Man fishing

Ronnie D. McClure of Mt. Vernon landed seven bass weighing 11 pounds 15 ounces and it was enough to give him second place in the Red Man Mountain Division fishing tournament at Watts Bar in Decatur, Tennessee.

Second place paid $1,028. He fished Millfoi in the Piney Creek area using an LC's spinner bait and a Rebel Pop-R.

McClure finished second in the point standings after six qualifying tournaments held during 1988. The top 24 were determined by a system of accumulated pounds and points for the six regular season fishing event.

McClure will now advance to the Red Man Regional Classic, Oct. 19-22 on Lake Sinclair in Milledgeville, Georgia. In the Regional Classic, which is one of four to be held, the 24 anglers from the mountain division will compete against the top 24 anglers from four other Red Man division including: Alabama, North Carolina, Virginia, Ohio and the Northeast.

According to McClure, had he finished first in the point standings in the Mountain division regular season, he would have won a Hawaiian vacation. "I really wanted to get that Hawaiian vacation, but I had to have a large amount of fish in the last tournament to beat the guy who lost me," McClure added.

He lost by a total of only 12 points in the standings.

According to McClure, if he finishes in the top 10 at the regional, he will qualify to go to the All-American tournament to be held June 30-July 1, 1989 on the Arkansas River in Little Rock, Arkansas. The All-American tournament winner gets top prize of $150,000.

Holbrook loves to write poems

By: Jeff Hammond

His poetry has been read in Denmark, Berea, Kentucky, and most recently a television station in Cincinnati, Ohio came to his house to interview him and do a feature story on his humorous brand of poetry.

Most Reckless countians do not realize it but the county is home to one of the most unique poets around, John Holbrook.

Holbrook has been writing his brand of poetry for only a couple of years, but in that amount of time he has made the subjects of his poetry happy when they are sad, or just made them smile when they hear the verses that he has written about them.

According to Holbrook, he and his wife, Faye, enjoy folk dancing at Berea, and this is where he was inspired to write his first poem about a young Berea college student who was complaining about her flu.

Holbrook has been working for the Department for Social Services in Mt. Vernon for 24 years. He admits that the department in which he works has changed its title several times but he has been at the same place for 24 years.

What makes his poetry so unique is that it is usually of the personal variety. Meaning that Holbrook writes about specific happenings in individuals lives. He has written about his co-workers, friends, acquaintances, and on a recent trip to Denmark he kept a journal written entirely in verse.

Poems that Holbrook writes are not researched or hidden with feigning, usually quite the contrary. "It only takes a idea that someone gives me, or if I talk to someone for a short time, I can sit down and write a poem about them in about an hour or less," Holbrook added.

Special occasions are also something that he enjoys writing about. Birthdays, graduations, or even retirement ceremonies have all been topics of his poems.

He recently wrote a poem about a social worker from Corbin who was retiring after a career in social work.

In "Ode to Bob" Holbrook writes:

"Robert Lockhart has told you and me
He was born Sept. 23, in twenty-three
Instead of living in a house with a bath

He grew up in a house with a path

This here topic is discussed a lot
The outhouse is supplemented by a pot

I will share a few thoughts with you
About the house out back without a flue

In the winter it sure is cold
Sitting there over that blasted hole

Some folks really puff with pride
When they can afford an outhouse
"two holes wide."

About two weeks ago Channel 12, the ABC affiliate in Cincinnati heard about Holbrook's unique brand of poetry and decided to do a feature story about him.

According to Holbrook, Maria Picciano, from the station had heard about him from her neighbor, Rosella Reynolds. Reynolds had asked her friend in London, Shirley McCowan, about a possible topic her friend at the station could use. McCowan in turn asked her friend Shirley Landon, who works for the Department for Social Services in London. It was Landon who suggested Holbrook's poetry as a topic because she had heard some of his poems and felt they were worthy of recognition.

Several of Holbrook's poems have been inspired while on training sessions for the department. It seems as though Margaret Allen inspired him to write one poem called "The Behavior Mod Squad".

It was just something that she thought of while sitting in a training session and Holbrook took the idea and developed it into a poem about her remark.

Who gets the most enjoyment out of his poems, the writer or the subjects? The answer, according to Holbrook, "I enjoy it when the people enjoy them."

One of his most recent poems is "Skinny Dipping." Just for the record, Holbrook says parts of the poem are true and parts are from his imagination. In "Skinny Dipping," Holbrook relates:

"Our mommas said its too cold
To go clostete that swimming hole

So many times we got a whipping
Cause we went too early for skinny dipping
Still down to the creek us boys went slipping

Cause we all were going skinny dipping

We would huller and we would quall
Cause the water wasn't warm at all

We would call it ole moonshine
When we jumped outa the water and showed out behind

You may wonder why we wore no clothes
When we played in them swimming holes

Two pairs of overalls is all we had
We were poor but we sure weren't sad"

Has he thought of compiling the poems and getting them published? Holbrook says that he has thought of that but for now he is content with writing them and doing the poetry just for a hobby.

Ladies Aid Missionary Meeting
By: Elizabeth F. Mullins
Loraine Newland's home was the Ladies Aid Missionary meeting place, Tuesday, Sept. 12 at 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m.

The president, Ella Mae Martin, called the meeting to order and asked Emily Glovak to present the lesson. It was on confession. First, she read a story for an illustration. A small girl washed her hands to make them clean. Her father told her that Jesus washed our sins away and cleansed us from all unrighteousness. It's a spiritual wash cloth. Sin is destructive to us. Uncontrolled passion, selfishness, blindness to God's Word makes up part of the sins that Rom. 6: 23 answers, "The wages of sin is death", and remember, Gal. 6: 7: "A man reaps what he sows."

The group of ladies signed more birthday cards to give to the Sowder Nursing Home occupants. Detailed plans for the quilt that is to be made and set Sept. 20th at 7 p.m. (Tuesday) to meet in our church's kitchen to clean the refrigerator and freezer. Someone left a fish in one of them too long.
After the blessing was said for the new and old members, Mrs. Edna Sand, 'wh, raw vegetables, dry crackers, mixed nuts and last but not least rhubarb pie! We founded! I think all of us come without our night meal at home, I did!
We are all looking forward to meeting at Arlene Marshall's home on Nigger Creek in October. Ella Mae Martin will give the lesson.

DAR News
By: Mary Gay Walker

The Rockcastle Chapter DAR met at the home of Mrs. Ruby Hamm on the evening of Sept. 13 with Molly Hamm and Sarah Hamm as hostesses. Mrs. Stephen Owens, Regent, presided.

The National Defense Report, given by Alice Hunt, was a discussion of plans for shelters from nuclear attack.
Miss Hunt also had the program which was a tribute of the writing of the Constitution and the development of the government of the United States. The government of the United States set out in that document. This was a five year project - from the writing of the Constitution in the summer of 1787 to the writing of the Bill of Rights and the election of George Washington as President in 1791.

The Constitution deserves the veneration with which thinking Americans regard it. It was a grant of power by the people to a government which they had created. It has been entered intact from the first two centuries of the "new nation under God."
Mrs. Owens announced that on Thursday, Sept. 29 from 2:50 p.m. the Kentucky Society NSDAR would hold a Bicentennial Party at Duncan Tavern in Paris. The Tavern, built in 1788, is the State Headquarters of the Society. The party is free and open to the public. The meeting concluded with a pleasant social hour.
