CARD OF THANKS

We would like to express our heartfelt thanks to everyone who was so helpful and kind to us during the loss of our loved one. Thanks to each of you who brought food and to the ones who helped financially and also for all the beautiful flowers. A very special thanks to Bro. Clyde Miller for taking him to the doctor many times and for his love and patience. Also, a very special thanks to Norman Baker for all his kind deeds which are too numerous to mention, he is our friend. Also, a special thanks to Robert Jerry Mink and Robert Wilson for helping all of us the day of his passing. Thanks to Dave Jackson Lodge 731 and thanks to Bro. and Mrs. Medley and Bro. and Mrs. Stallworth for their beautiful singing and to Bro. Jim Miller and Bro. Gordon Mink for their comforting words and Dowell and Martin Funeral Home for their kind and efficient service.

We hope we haven't forgotten to mention anyone. Our hearts are still very heavy from losing such a precious loved one, but all of us pray the love shown to us during this time has helped make our burden a little easier to bear.

God Bless Each of You
The Family of
James McClure

IN MEMORY

In Loving Memory of Eugene and Lydia Repper and Family Members
We little knew that morning, God was going to call your name. In life we loved you dearly, in death we do the same. It broke our hearts to lose you, You'd not be gone alone. For part of us went with you, The day God called you home. You left us beautiful memories, Your love is still our guide, And though we cannot see you, You are always by our side. Our family chain is broken, And nothing seems the same, But as God calls us one by one, The chain will link again.

Misconceptions about taxes can cause needless worry

Taxpayers have many misconceptions about filing taxes, which in some cases can delay a speedy refund, the Internal Revenue Service said.

Many taxpayers get their information from unofficial sources such as neighbors, relatives, magazines, and newspaper articles. While this information may be helpful, it is not always accurate or complete and can lead to errors on tax returns.

Two common misconceptions are, for example, that filing early may lead to an audit and that an audit can be triggered by an error on taxpayers' tax returns. Filing early has no effect on income tax returns being selected for further examination because the tax agency uses a sophisticated computer system to score and select tax returns according to the probability that a return has an error. All returns receive the same treatment regardless of when or where they are filed. Generally, math errors are corrected automatically by the computer and do not cause an examination. The adjustment is also automatic, increasing or decreasing taxes and refunds as appropriate.

While a telephone call to IRS can quickly clear up any of the misconceptions surrounding taxes, some taxpayers are hesitant to contact them. These individuals often believe that when they call the toll-free number, the IRS keeps a record of their call to mark their return for a tax examination; this is false. The IRS telephone systems are not used to screen taxpayers for future tax examinations; it is designed for taxpayer assistance. Although they all may be monitored under the Service's Quality Review Program, this is a procedure merely to insure courteous and accurate responses to taxpayer or caller questions. No record is kept of the caller's name. Some taxpayers believe that once examined, always examined. The IRS has a special program called the Repetitive Examination Procedure. Its purpose is to make sure no taxpayer is examined two years in a row on the same issue when there was no change the first year.

Another misconception is that when IRS prepares a return, the tax is always higher. If facts and figures remain the same, the correct tax will be identical, no matter who prepares the return.

Several free IRS publications can help eliminate some taxpayers' misconceptions. IRS Publication 17, Your Federal Income Tax, gives step by step assistance in filing tax returns. Publication 910, Guide to Free Tax Services, is a catalogue of the free services offered by the IRS. These publications can be ordered by calling the toll-free number at 1-800-424-3676.

Q. What is this 'electronic filing' of my tax return I've heard about?
A. Electronic filing is a method of transmitting tax return information over telephone lines to an IRS computer. It offers several advantages. Since computers do most of the work, processing your return can be speeded up by as much as three weeks. Also, the IRS will notify your electronic filer when your return has been accepted, and you may choose to have your refund deposited directly into your saving or checking account by "Direct Deposit."

continued, "I rely on Danny's advice on many issues and I admire what he has been able to accomplish for his district."

Rep. Ford was also re-appointed to the Business Organizations and Professions Committee and the State Government Committee.

The Business Organizations and Professions Committee has jurisdiction over issues pertaining to professional licensing.

The State Government Committee oversees all legislation pertaining to the general operations of state government, including all agencies, programs and employees.

"I am pleased with my assignments, I've served on these committees for several years and gained a lot of experience," Ford stated.

Ford continued, "experience in the legislature is valuable, it helps me represent the best interests of the 80th district."

A toll-free line dedicated to the bonus program will be set up within a few months, and twenty to thirty temporary employees will be hired by the Veterans Affairs Division to administer the program.

The first Kentucky Vietnam veterans bonus is expected to be paid in early April, 1990.

Ford appointed to DUI task force by Attorney General

State Rep. Danny Ford has been named to a task force formed by Attorney General Fred Coward that will conduct "an all-out assault" in finding ways to improve Kentucky's system for dealing with drunk driving.

According to Cowan, the 29-member group will examine all facets of the drunk driving problem including prevention, enforcement, prosecution and treatment. "We need a much greater understanding of why drunk driving is such a deadly serious problem in Kentucky," Cowan said. "This task force will find answers and recommend action."

The task force will analyze proposed changes in Kentucky's drunk driving laws as well as the effectiveness of those statutes already in place.

"We have some fairly tough D.U.I. laws in this state, but we need to take a close look at just how well they are working and quite possibly come up with stronger laws," Cowan said. He added that task force members would be able to utilize information compiled through the Criminal Justice Statistical Analysis Center.

One specific project planned will involve tracking the disposition of arrests made for drunk driving statewide. Cowan also identified the treatment of persons with drinking problems as areas that have received inadequate attention.

Brodhead tournament delayed

The recent flu epidemic that has rocked southeastern Kentucky and Rockcastle County has also taken its toll on the annual Brodhead Invitational Tournament.

The tournament which was to have started Monday night was postponed until (tonight) Thursday according to Mrs. Shirley Martin, tournament director.

All first round games will be played Thursday with the first game starting at 5:30, between Mt. Vernon and Roundstone.

The semi-finals are scheduled for Friday night and the Championship game is set for Saturday night.

Rowe dies suddenly Thursday

A Mt. Vernon man was pronounced dead on arrival Thursday night at Rockcastle County Hospital, after he apparently took an overdose of drugs.

According to Mt. Vernon City Policeman Kevin Fletcher, Jerry Rowe, 28, of Mt. Vernon was a passenger in a car driven by Alvin Keith Saylor of Brodhead, when the two were pulled over by Department of Transportation officer Ronnie Bradley of Brodhead in front of Appliance Service Center around 10 p.m. Thursday.

Saylor told police that Rowe had been at his Broughtontown home since about 8:30 that evening and that when Rowe got ready to go home he was unable to drive. Saylor told police that he witnessed Rowe taking pills while at his home, but did not know where they came from or what they were.

Saylor told police that he was on his way to Rowe's home when Bradley stopped him.

Bradley said that he noticed Saylor's vehicle darting about on Hwy. 150 when it came up behind it. When he stopped Saylor, Rowe had slumped over Saylor, who has only one leg.

Rowe was taken to the Rockcastle County Hospital where he was pronounced dead by Rockcastle County Coroner Bill Dowell. An autopsy was performed on Rowe Friday at the University of Kentucky Medical Center. Dowell said the death was still under investigation, pending the autopsy report.

No charges have been filed.

January wet month, but no snow here

January has not been a typical winter month in Rockcastle County. For the first time in as many years as most can remember, there was no snow in the county during the month, but there was 4.02 inches of rain, compared to 3.98 a year ago when there was 1 1/2 inches of the white stuff fell.

The high temperature in January was 70 on the 25th while the low was 15 on the 20th. Last year's high in January was 64 and the low 0.

All these figures are from the Cox Funeral Home Weather Station in Mt. Vernon and may be somewhat different from other areas of the county.

Bussell injured in accident at Renfro Valley

Gail Bussell, 16, of Chestnut Ridge, escaped serious injury Monday night after she drove her pick-up into the rear of a tractor trailer at the intersection of I-75 and U.S.-23 at Renfro Valley, around 11:30 p.m.

Mt. Bussell was taken to the Rockcastle County Hospital where she is listed in fair condition.

Nine people indicted

Two traffic accidents last month have resulted in indictments against a Berea man and a Brodhead man.

Ricky Kaylor, 25, of Rt. 3 Brodhead was indicted on seven counts by a Rockcastle County Grand Jury last Friday, for a December 23rd accident that sent four people from Berea to the hospital.

According to the indictment, Kaylor was apparently driving under the influence when he attempted to pass

Danny Ford Vice-chairman of appropriations committee

Danny R. Ford, State Representative for the 80th District, was appointed to some of the legislature's most important committees during the General Assembly's Organizational Session at the State Capitol during the first week in January.

The 80th District is composed of Lincoln, McCrory, Pulaski and Rockcastle Counties.

Rep. Ford was re-appointed Vice-Chairman of the Appropriations and Revenue Committee.

The powerful Appropriations and Revenue Committee, which is one of the hardest working panels in the legislature, oversees the preparation of the budget that funds all of state government.

During the closing days of the 1988 Legislative Session Rep. Ford served as a member of the Budget Conference. The House writes a budget to fund State Government and the Senate also writes a budget. The budget then goes to a conference committee between the House and Senate to hammer out differences and come up with one budget to fund all of state government over a two year period.

The 1988 Budget Conference was composed of eight legislators, five representatives and three senators. Danny Ford was one of the House members and the only Republican on the committee.

Newly elected Republican Floor Leader, Rep. Bill Strong of Hazard said, "Danny's one of the most skilled and effective legislators in the entire General Assembly." Strong

Charges against Miller dropped

Charges of rape and assault against a local man were dropped last week in Rockcastle District Court.

Gary Miller of Mt. Vernon was arrested by police after complaints were filed against him by Tammy Hasty and Jenny Denny. Hasty accused Miller of raping her at a party on December 9 at the home of Pat Senter in Mt. Vernon. Denny's complaint said that Miller assaulted her at the same party.

Miller pleaded not guilty to both charges during a preliminary hearing last Wednesday. Hasty said she did not want to prosecute Miller and Denny did not show up to testify. Both charges were immediately dismissed by District Judge William Cain.

Lincoln hearing

A Rockcastle County youth will have to wait until February 23, to see if he will be tried as an adult in a murder trial in Lincoln County.

Kenneth Wayne Robinson of Mt. Vernon, who has confessed to shooting to death a Dog Walk woman at her rural grocery store in Lincoln County, was only 17 at the time of the crime, but Lincoln County attorney Jimmy Williams wants Robinson tried as an adult.

District Judge Marvin Cornett was to have ruled on Williams' request last Thursday, but a conflict caused the hearing to be postponed.

If tried as an adult, Robinson could face the death penalty with his brother, Steven Dale Robinson, also of Mt. Vernon, who is charged in the slaying also.

The Robinsons' original trial date was set for February 20, but it will have to be postponed.

another car on U.S. 25 just north of the Family Life Center and struck a car, driven by Thomas Alexander, 25, of Berea, head-on. Alexander, and his wife Catherine, were seriously injured in the accident. Two children in the car were treated and released.

Kaylor, who is presently lodged in the Rockcastle County jail, was indicted for first degree assault, second degree assault, driving under the influence, no liability insurance and possession of marijuana.

Arraignment for Kaylor will be held February 10 in Rockcastle Circuit Court.

An accident that occurred the day before Kaylor's, but which had much of the same circumstances, occurred on U.S. 25 at the intersection of Flat Gap road. That accident too resulted in multiple count indictment against a Berea man.

Tony McHone, 23, was indicted on three counts including two counts of second degree assault and no liability insurance.

According to police records, Phyllis Durham, 44, was traveling toward her home when she turned her vehicle onto Flat Gap road and was struck in the rear by McHone's car, around 9:30 p.m.

After the collision, Mrs. Durham's vehicle burst into a fire ball.

Mrs. Durham and her son, Phillip, 9, were pulled from the car by a passing motorist only moments before the explosion.

McHone is free on bond until his arraignment February 10.

A Gum Sulfur man was indicted on three counts stemming from a January 2nd incident in which he apparently ran from police after being stopped.

According to the indictment, Ronald Wilson, 28, is charged with attempting to run over Kentucky State Trooper Jimmie Silvers, driving under the influence of intoxicants and driving 95 miles per hour in a 55 mile per hour zone.

Wilson was indicted for wanton endangerment, first degree, driving under the influence and speeding. He is presently free on bond and is due in court February 10.

Earlinda Lee Thomas, 22, of Mt. Vernon was indicted for theft by failure to make proper disposition of property over $100 after she failed to

Flu causes classes to called off in county

Students in the Rockcastle County school system enjoyed a surprise vacation this past week due to the flu outbreak that resulted in high absenteeism at the elementary schools and the high school.

Last Thursday, attendance dropped below the 90 percent level which prompted the closing of school for the following three school days, according to Rockcastle Superintendent, Bige Towery, Jr.

Classes resumed on Wednesday with attendance still below the 90 percent mark. Towery said that he anticipated the low attendance for the first few days following school being out, but he added that attendance should rise steadily for the next several days.

The average daily attendance is usually lower during the fifth and sixth months of school, that being in January, Towery added.

The school system receives state funds based on the average daily attendance of the entire district. The schools, so far this year, have been averaging over 95 percent attendance.

Roughly 2900 students are enrolled in the Rockcastle County school system. Normally, about 5 percent, or 150 students, are absent on any given day. When absenteeism is 10 percent or higher, the school system will lose at least $1,000 a day, based on 100 students being absent. If you have five days of attendance being only 89 percent, it would add up to $7,000.

Everyone will not be at school every day, but those additional 150 students not in school become very costly.

School officials say they plan to have school for the rest of the week unless the situation becomes drastically worse than it is now.

Other school districts have held school with attendance as low as 85 percent, said Finance Director Richard Bray. Bray also added that he did not expect the attendance in this county to drop that low. This year has been above average in attendance and we expect the rest of the year will continue to be as good.

"We expect things to return to normal very quickly," Bray said.

A Weekly Report from Fifth District Congressman Hal Rogers

New Administration Off To Good Start

As George Bush took the oath of office as 41st President of the United States, he had already been laying the foundation for the team which will run his administration. I think he has made some excellent cabinet choices which will be extremely helpful to him in carrying out the difficult work that lies ahead.
 A President needs strong, effective people running the various agencies and departments of the federal government, and he needs loyal workers who will not pursue their own agendas. As I look over the choices he has made, I find them to be extremely competent and real team players.

I particularly like the choice of James Baker as our new Secretary of State. With four years as a senior Reagan adviser and four more as Treasury Secretary, Jim has the understanding to work with Congress and with foreign leaders to push forward our world agenda. His work in helping stabilize world currency exchange rates and in monetary negotiations with our European and Japanese allies gives him a big leg up in his new position. I know Jim Baker personally and believe he will be a strong Secretary of State to help carry on our further negotiations with the Soviet Union, while maintaining America's commitment to human rights and democracy.

I also applaud the choice of Clayton Yetter as our new Secretary of Agriculture. In his previous work as Special Trade Representative, Yetter was a tough negotiator on farm exports who worked to help lower trade barriers to American goods. With our agricultural economy relying on increasing our exports of farm products, Yetter's a good choice to help expand markets overseas.

Another outstanding selection was former congressman Jack Kemp as Secretary of Housing and Urban Development. Jack was a personal friend while he served here in the Congress for eight years before he ran for president. His ideas of helping public housing dwellers buy their own homes and run their own affairs have already received acclaim.

In addition to his cabinet choices, Mr. Bush has also begun a good relationship with congressional leaders. In his inaugural address, President Bush was conciliatory and thoughtful. He offered to meet Congress halfway in working to solve the critical problems of the deficit, maintaining a strong defense and continuing the growth of our economy. He again spoke of working toward a "kipder, gentler" nation while also keeping government within limits. His speech was well received by both Republicans and Democrats and sets a good tone for the start of his administration.

On February 9th, Mr. Bush will offer his own version of the 1990 budget to a joint session of Congress. That will signal the start of the hard negotiations and bargaining which will hopefully lead us to further deficit reduction. But it is already clear that President Bush intends to keep America moving forward on the right path, and his choices for the Cabinet and his inaugural address reinforce that impression.

Fellow Citizens of the 3rd District

I've chosen to run as Magistrate because of my convictions of what our district and our county should be doing -- money is certainly not the reason.

If I'm elected, I'll be available for you seven days a week to listen to your problems and concerns. I'll work with the fiscal court and county judge to address problems such as garbage and road maintenance and I'll look for ways to bring in new businesses to offer more jobs for our community.

I've been actively employed in Rockcastle County for 27 years and have been in business at DeBoard Oil Company for the past 10 years. I've traveled the roads in the third district daily. I know a better job can be done and I hope you'll give me the opportunity to speak up - speak out and address the needs of our district and our county.

Burley crop nearly sold; markets will close soon

The sale of the 1988 burley tobacco crop is almost history. Less than 4 percent of last year's production remains to be sold.

All warehouses in Tennessee, Virginia, North Carolina and Missouri have closed for the season. Ten of Kentucky's 28 markets also have shut down operations, with a dozen more expected to close within the week.

Other state markets remaining open include: two in Indiana and one each in West Virginia and Ohio.

Sales—and prices—have declined appreciably since Monday. Pounds offered for auction dropped from approximately 10 million pounds Monday to 3 million pounds Tuesday. Less than 2 million pounds were expected to be sold Wednesday and Thursday.

The eight-state belt is capable of selling about 40 million pounds each

Next CRP sign-up set for February 6 - 24 by USDA

Farmers with land eligible for enrollment in the USDA's Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) may want to consider offering a bid for their land during the next sign-up period, Feb. 6 through 24, according to a University of Kentucky Extension agronomist.

"CRP is part of the 1985 farm bill and allows farmers to take highly erodible land out of production for 10 years and receive a payment for each year to keep it out of production," said Monroe Rasmak, an agronomist for the UK College of Agriculture.

Land that was not eligible in the past may now be eligible due to changes in the program, he said.

"Wetlands and land which may be eroded by overflowing of streams and rivers may now be eligible for the program, regardless of their slope," Rasmak said.

To enroll land in the program, the farmer needs to submit a bid to the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service during a sign-up period. The bid should stipulate how much payment the farmer needs to have to remove the land from pro-

Stockpile winter wood now

Homeowners may want to consider stockpiling next year's firewood supply for several reasons, said an Extension forestry specialist. Because wood usually needs from six to 12 months to dry properly to achieve maximum heat value, homeowners should purchase or cut their wood now and provide adequate cover during the spring and summer," said Doug McClure of the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

"This will assure them a properly dried wood supply readily accessible at first signs of cool weather next fall."

The most important rule when purchasing or cutting firewood is to determine how dry the wood is. Freshly cut unseasoned wood will not produce the maximum heat when sale day. The daily market peaked the fifth day of sales this season on Nov. 29, when 38.6 million pounds averaged $162.79 a hundredweight. Tuesday's market averaged $155.

Burley tobacco cooperatives have received a total of 118 million pounds this season, compared to a total of 90 million pounds last season.

Receipts this season include 8.7 million pounds at Burley Tobacco Growers Cooperative Association in Lexington and 2.1 million pounds at Burley Stabilization Corporation in Knoxville, Tenn.

Pool receipts jumped from 9.6 percent of marketings Monday, to 19.8 percent Tuesday. Receipts are expected to remain high the remainder of the season as more undesirable leaf is brought to market, cooperative officials said.

Pool receipts jumped from 9.6 percent of marketings Monday, to 19.8 percent Tuesday. Receipts are expected to remain high the remainder of the season as more undesirable leaf is brought to market, cooperative officials said.

If the bid is accepted, the farmer must plant the land in grass and legumes, trees or make a wildlife planting, all of which must be maintained for the 10-year contract period, Rasmak said.

"The ASCS will help defray the costs of establishing the cover by providing up to 50 percent, he said. Once the cover is established the farmer is responsible for maintaining it."

Land eligible for enrolling in the program includes that which was in crops for two years between 1981 through 1985 and which is sloped, Rasmak said. Land adjacent to streams, rivers and lakes and ponds with a surface area of over five acres also is eligible for the CRP program, Rasmak said.

"Enrolled land close to water must be planted to filter strips that are at least 66 feet wide, but not more than 99 feet wide," Rasmak said. More information about the program can be obtained from ASCS, Soil Conservation Service and Extension Service offices, Rasmak said.

burned, he said. "Seasoned wood varies according to the species and drying methods," he said. "Generally the wood will have a weathered appearance, grayish in color, often with the surface and ends cracked."

If the wood is not properly seasoned, much of the energy released in combustion will be used in removing moisture in the wood.

Another important characteristic to look for when purchasing or cutting firewood is the heat content of the wood.

"The denser the wood, the higher the heat content value," he said. "Locust, hickory, oak and beech are denser woods and will provide more heat per unit volume than yellow poplar, red maple or sycamore."

Alfalfa good to graze

Kentucky cattlemen worried about continuing droughts might well consider establishing alfalfa pastures, a University of Kentucky agronomist said.

"Alfalfa is simply the best drought pasture plant there is for Kentucky," said C.T. Dougherty, speaking at a symposium on recovering from the drought of 1988 sponsored by the UK College of Agriculture and the Kentucky Forage and Grassland Council.

"If you walked over your pastures last June or July, did you see anything green?" he asked. "If you did, it was alfalfa. Alfalfa is the very best pasture in times of drought."

Alfalfa usually is grown for hay and silage rather than grazing in this country, but it also is very well adapted for grazing. Grazing systems based on alfalfa are widely used in the ewelamb industry of New Zealand, said Dougherty who originally is from that country.

"If your soil will grow it, it's the best forage there is," he said. "A weight gain of two pounds a day for cattle grazing on alfalfa is achievable in Kentucky."

The physical structure of alfalfa permits cattle to take large bites and eat at a high rate. Cattle can eat quickly. Dougherty said they will eat daily requirements in about four hours, grow faster and not "walk the weight off" as they might if they grazed longer hours on poorer quality forage.

Grazing alfalfa does require good management for optimum results, he said. Animals should begin grazing about a week before alfalfa would be cut if it were going to be used for hay.

Dougherty also recommends rotational grazing, generally on a basis of one week on the pasture and five weeks off.

"We recommend no less than five days and no more than 12 on alfalfa pastures to ensure uniform grazing," he said. "Selective grazing may result in increases in unpalatable weed species. If the animals are grazed for too short a period, one or two days, they tend to eat the lush vegetation and avoid the rest. It's like they are saying, 'I'm going to move tomorrow anyway so I'm not going to eat that crud.'"

Overgrazing more than about 12 days should be avoided too. New crown shoots may be grazed off or damaged by trampling which will reduce the stem population, the yield of the next crop and could lead to grass or weed invasion.

"Continuous grazing is the worst possible management of alfalfa," he said. Grazing alfalfa fields when soils are very wet should be avoided, he said. Severe trampling could reduce yields and shorten stand life. This means good managers will anticipate the problem and have an alternative pasture available during heavy rain periods.

To all Rockcastle Countians,

My name is Doug Griffin. I am married and have three children. We are residents of Barnett Subdivision in the city limits of Mt. Vernon. I would like to take this opportunity to announce my candidacy for Rockcastle County Jailor and to also thank those who have encouraged me to seek this position. If elected, I shall run a clean and safe jail at all times. Any arrested persons brought to jail will be treated equal and well taken care of; all visitors will be treated in a respectful manner. All full-time deputies will be respected, law abiding citizens chosen from Rockcastle County. These men will not be relatives of myself. Looking forward to talking with as many of you as possible as the election draws near. Your vote and support will be deeply appreciated.

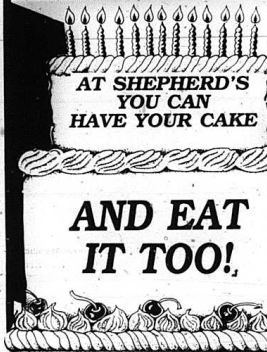

Thank you,
Doug Griffin

U.S. SENATOR FOR KENTUCKY

Mitch McConnell

SPENDING PRIORITIES WILL FORCE HARD DECISIONS

As we move into the 101st Congress, one of the first issues that must be addressed is the Reagan budget for the upcoming fiscal year and deciding if this is a budget that is good for the country. Deciding how much the government will spend provides a blueprint of sorts for our nation's economy and the next year will be a critical one as we attempt to continue reducing government outlays.

The budget's effect on the economy is best illustrated by looking at the last eight years of the Reagan presidency. When Reagan first took office, he was faced with an unresponsive bureaucracy, spiraling inflation and high interest rates that stagnated our economy. Reagan's spending priorities focused on four areas to restore our fiscal health: slashing personal and business taxes, cutting federal spending, reducing federal regulations, and supporting a moderate and steady monetary policy. These priorities have combined to produce the longest peacetime economic expansion in our nation's history, creating 19 million new jobs. In spite of this success, one thing that has not been accomplished is a balanced budget.

The budget Reagan has sent to Congress forces steep cuts in many programs and the elimination of others, such as the Appalachian Regional Commission. Although I consider myself a fiscal conservative, I will not endorse this budget in its present form because it places an unfair share of the burden on Kentucky's less fortunate. The Reagan budget has indeed cut spending. But I am afraid that the human cost of these cuts will exact too high a toll on people who depend on the government services that will be reduced or eliminated. I stand against a big, bloated government with its red tape and bureaucracy. However, I am a strong advocate of a compassionate government that serves as a catalyst to help people get on their feet and become contributing members of our society. In order to make meaningful changes, Congress must push aside partisan differences and work with President Bush to make the hard decisions that will be necessary to reduce spending while continuing to fund programs that help the less fortunate. I have stated before that there are plenty of places to cut government fat and stop waste. This is where we must start in order to return our government to a solid fiscal footing. I look forward to giving all the help I can to our new President in achieving this important goal.

I would like to take this opportunity to announce my candidacy for magistrate of the first District of Rockcastle County.

I have lived in Rockcastle County for the past 18 years with my wife Helen and my two children Rhonda and Anthony. My occupation is union masonry and I am self-employed part time in masonry work.

If elected, I will do my very best to let the people know in the First District what's happening each month and so forth. If for some reason I can not provide the needs of the people of the First District, I will let the people know why I can't do it, not let them wonder if I am doing my job or not. The way I see it, why pay a magistrate if they can't do the job and the money could go to the needy children of Rockcastle or other major concerns.

I would greatly appreciate your vote, and if elected I will do my very best for the people of Rockcastle County.

Thank you,
Owen Noel

Now that the filing deadline has passed for candidates wishing to seek office in this May's Primary to fill county offices, it is obvious to me that when it is all said and done there will most certainly be some new faces on the Rockcastle County Fiscal Court, come next January. Of course in many of the magisterial districts there are both Democrat and Republican candidates so that means that we won't know until the General Election in November who will represent these districts.

When the candidates come around seeking your vote there are a few questions that you should be sure and ask them.

(1) How do you plan on taking care of the worsening garbage situation and what kind of time frame would you place on getting started?

(2) Are you in favor of helping subsidize the county sheriff's office so that we can have more police protection?

(3) Would you work hard with other members of the Fiscal Court in trying to attract new industry to our county, or would you simply attend the one meeting a month of the Fiscal Court and cash your check?

(4) Would you be in favor of a county wide road program that benefits all areas of the county, instead of just a couple of districts?

(5) Would you get out and talk to people and find out what their needs and wants are and not just sit back and draw your monthly pension from the taxpayer?

This May when you go to the polls, don't do so just because you are re-

Dear Editor,
I am searching for information on my husband's ancestors. His grandparents were: Al Albert and Mary E. Cummins from the Mt. Vernon and Livingston area. In the 1880 U.S. Census Albert and Mary were living in the S.W. Randle Section of Mt. Vernon with three children: Josiah B. 1876; William, born Jan. 18, 1878; and Champ born June 16, 1879. Later three more boys were born to this union: Albert born Dec. 4, 1881; James Martin born Feb. 11, 1883 (my father-in-law); and Henry born 1885. Grandfather was killed in the World war when Champ was 10 years old making the year of his death 1889.

The oldest son went into the army and wasn't heard from anymore. Grandma Mary took her sons and went to Jellico, Tenn. and ran a boarding house for the coal miners to make a living.

The youngest son was gambling up near Cincinnati, on Kentucky side, won a lot of money and was never seen or heard from again. The man that was with him left the state, bought a house and settled in another state. Brothers of the youngest made several trips in search of him but to no avail.

That poor mother worried and worried about her two lost sons and did not know the fate of them. Can anyone shed any light on this mystery. That was so many years ago that all the older folks are gone with no one to turn to for answers.

Who were the parents of Al and Mary Cummins? Any information on these grandparents would be appreciated.

Sincerely,
Lois Cummins

Taxpayers Ask IRS

Q. Do I have to include the amount of my 1987 state tax refund as income on my 1988 federal tax return?
A. If you included your state and local taxes as an itemized deduction on your federal tax return last year, you derived a benefit. Therefore, you must include your state and local tax refund, to the extent you derived a benefit, as income on this year's federal tax return. If you filed a Form 1040, or Form 1040EZ last year, you did not itemize. Therefore, you generally would not have to include your state or local refunds.

Q. I receive social security benefits. Are they taxable?

A. For many people they are not taxable. Social security or equivalent Tier 1 railroad retirement benefits may be taxable depending on the amount of income you have and your filing status. You must compute the taxable amount of social security or equivalent railroad retirement benefits using the worksheet in your tax package. Publication 915, "Social Security Benefits and Equivalent Railroad Retirement Benefits," provides a detailed discussion. Order it from the IRS by calling toll-free, 1-800-424-3676.

ATTENTION VOTERS

As most of you know I had my name placed on the ballot for Magistrate in the First District. This is my first time to run for any office and for those who don't know me personally, here is a brief run down.

I grew up in the Scaffold Cmc section of this county, attended Walnut Grove School, Mt. Vernon High School 1941-42, served in WWII, worked as a printer and publisher, farmer construction worker and road builder, stripped mined coal and now I am retired.

There are many important things facing the new administration, such as repairs to our court house building, a long range county-wide garbage plan, update our road equipment, more support for our county schools. I will talk about these and more in the weeks ahead.

Before you promise anyone you will vote for them, consider ELMO C. ANDERKIN for the job. I feel that I am qualified and have the time to devote to it, and will work hard to support Rockcastle County. Your vote and influence will be greatly appreciated.

Poet's Corner

'Searched and Found'

By: Ada Bullock

One day I visited in a church I'd hungered for so long
Just to hear the Word of God that reigns upon the throne

I saw this building huge and tall and so I entered in Perhaps someone would tell me how to cleanse myself from sin

I slowly walked down the aisle and took a front row seat
Everyone was dressed in style and looked extremely neat

I gazed down at my thin wrist suit and felt so out of place
Was this church just for the rich and not the poor in grace

No one arose to shake my hand nor said we're glad you came
They seemed to shy away from me and never asked my name

I said Lord take me by the hand and lead me till I find
A church where they'll welcome me so I'll have peace of mind

Next Sunday I search again I saw this little crowd
Singing as they neared their church; 'twas small but stood so proud

As I walked up the steps they waited by the door
Each of them shook my hand introducing me to more

They praised the Lord I had come to worship in their midst
Thank you Lord for guiding me to a place where you exist

The New Year

By: Nora Orton Hensley

He came to my desk with a quivering lip,
The task was done,

"I want a clean sheet, dear teacher,
He cried,
'Twe spoiled this one,"

I took the sheet so stained and blotted,
And gave him a new one all un-spotted,
And into his tired eyes smiled,
"Do better now, my child"

I came to God's throne with a quivering soul,
The year was gone,
'I want a New Year, dear Lord,"

I cried
'"Twe spoiled this one."

He took the year so stained and blotted,
And gave me a new one, all un-spotted,
And into my tired heart smiled,
"Do better now, my child."

The New Year

The New Year lies before you
Like a sparkling track of snow
Be careful how you tread it,
For every track will show.

Waiting

By: Karen Noy

As the tall, towering trees spread out her arms to the cool winds
Of the warm evening breeze, like a virgin waiting for her first love,
So tall and unyielding, afraid to move,
unable to shed tears of joy Fearing lest her dream might be shattered, that's the way I wait for you my love.

I stand gazing at the evening sunset
so red and colorful
A magic I'm unable to touch, although I stretch my hand to grasp a piece of this loveliness
Before it escapes beyond the eyes of man.

Plowing In A New Ground

By: John Holbrook

Plowing in a new ground
with a mule and ball tongue plow
No matter how hard you try you never will learn how

Sometimes you think you got it then suddenly hit a hitch
Then plow handles will hit you and throw you in a gully ditch

You may get up a cussing
and limp back to the plow
Surprised that you already learnt that you never will know how

When plowing in a new ground a real slow mule is best
Then at the end of day
you may get some rest

If you plow a fast mule

And have sweat upon your brow
That's part of plowing in a new ground
With a mule and ball tongue plow

You've plowed three days in the new ground
And feel about half way dead
Then you turn over a big rock
And there's a copperhead

When you see a copperhead
you quickly take up the slack
And you would probably still be running

But the plow lines jerked you back
You'd break a root with the plow
it thurted dirt into your eyes
Cause it hurt so really bad
it made you want to cry

You get so tired holding back making the mule go slow
Wishing you were in bottom land so you could let the ole mule go

Now you are getting old and kindly short of breath
But that's better than plowing new ground
And being nearly kicked to death

The handles kick and poke you the lines wear blisters on your back Suddenly you're yanked forward as the mule takes up the slack

You are retired now and no longer hitch the mule

Knowing working in a new ground made that plow a dangerous tool

Sleepless Night

By: Nayzell Ries

Have you ever got into bed and then been wide awake
You'd try to count sheep
for goodness sake

Nothing seemed to help
a bit to eat
A glass of water something sweet

Still you couldn't sleep in the evening you'd watch TV
And in no time at all you'd be fast asleep

You'd miss that favorite program and think you'd go to bed
You guessed it, that's right
no sleep for your head

Open comes the eyes
staring at the walls
Sleep never comes until the morning calls

Ringing, the alarm goes off
Oh no! let me sleep
'T's time to get up," they call
At the end of the day and the evening hums
You dread the night
when sleep never comes

So Thankful,

Jesus Came

By: Anna L. Clifford

God looked down from heaven,
and He saw our need,
He knew the only answer,
but I'm sure he was grieved

Jesus, was His only Son
but He knew what He must do to save a father and a mother, you can imagine what He went through

He could not turn His back on our cries for help
I'm sure if He could have
He'd have rather come Himself

He did what He must
and didn't count the cost
Can you think of more love than this?

To nail your own Son to a cross

Still some turn away and choose not to believe I choose, to thank Him everyday for what He did for me.

Mary Hazel Wolfe Linville

Hazel was born to James Henry (Jim) Wolfe and Agnes Bullens Wolfe in the Disputana Clear Creek area of Rockcastle County. She was one of six children. Her brothers were: Roy, Stewart, Burl and Tarance. She has only one sister Elizabeth Wolfe Olson.

As a child she lived on the farm where William K. Bullens now resides.

Hazel attended Disputana School from grades 1 through 8, then she went to Mt. Vernon and on to Eastern Kentucky University.

While Hazel was attending Eastern she was being courted by a very handsome young man by the name of Howard Linville. They both fell deeply in love and decided to get married and kept it a secret until school was out. She was commuting from Eastern and Howard's job was away, so he could only be home on weekends. Hazel said, "I knew Papa would never give me up, as I was the apple of his eye. We kept our secret until Howard came to see me and I ran to meet him and threw my arms around his neck and kissed him. Papa saw us! Papa reprimanded me so severely that I had to tell the truth that we were married. Papa was so upset he couldn't speak."

"To us were born two children Jimmy and Mary Lou and we now have four grandchildren."

Hazel taught many years in the rural schools, Disputana and Brush Creek. She still has a marble top table that she bought from a lady while teaching at Brush Creek. She enjoyed the rural schools but stated it was very hard. Hazel's father was a director of the bank and he asked Mr. Snook to use his influence to get a position for Hazel in the Mt. Vernon Independent School.

The next year Hazel started teaching first grade and continued at the Mt. Vernon Elementary School until she retired to care for Howard, until his death.

Hazel was an excellent teacher and is treasured with 39 years teaching experience.

Howard and Hazel were beautiful people and had over 50 wonderful years of marriage.

Jane VanWinkle, a former neighbor of Hazel's on Clear Creek and Barbara Rader went to visit. They were greeted at the door by Hazel, a cute, chipper little white-haired lady.

Hazel was busy working on a quilt and got up to show some of the prettiest quilts she had made. They were as pretty as any seen. Then Hazel took them on a tour and showed them many other beautiful items that she had collected through the years. She shared with them a unique story about almost every item.

They asked about her childhood and she said, "I'll tell you about the worst spanking I ever had! Oh, no, I can't tell you that, but see this scar on my forehead. I was a feisty little girl and I was told by our hired girl to stop but knew I didn't have to mind her, so I kept on. Papa always had a dinner cooked and all the farm workhands came to eat. I was showing off when them and fell cut my forehead."

Hazel has always resided in Rockcastle County except for a year or two during World War II when they moved to Indiana. When they returned they moved to Mt. Vernon where she now lives.

She attends church regularly and keeps busy with her quilts, reading, watching T. V. and visiting with her brother who lives near.

Fairview

By: Mrs. Hubert Chasteen

To all you good and friendly readers, a warm hello from Fairview. To all of you who are sick with the flu, do hope you will be feeling better soon, and to the ones of us who have been blessed so far, I hope we won't get it. Several around here have had it and been so sick. So to all who are ill in any way, you have our love and prayers: God bless you.

We are still having very warm and mild weather. Mostly this winter we have had rain and a very little bit of snow. We just thank God for whatever He sends us because He knows best.

The Rockcastle County Schools closed for three days due to the flu. They are scheduled to open again on Wednesday, Feb. 1. Sunday School attendance at the Fairview Baptist Church Jan. 29th was one hundred and thirteen and a large crowd attended worship service, thank the good Lord.

Hope my grandaughter Connie Adams of LaGrange, Ga. is enjoying the Mt. Vernon Signal. (This was my Christmas gift to her) We love you Connie.

Sympathy is extended to all those who have lost loved ones recently including the families of Abe Anglin, Sherman Hansel, Ivory Anglin and Bill Gabbard.

Also one I have failed so far to mention (sorry) Frank Poynter of Lima, Ohio who died Dec. 23, 1988. He was the son of the late Millard Poynter and Mabel Poynter who also live in Lima. To all the loved ones left

Writing To Read

By: Alison Sowder

The computer age has now reached the Rockcastle County school system on a large scale. Thanks to a new program known as Writing To Read, first graders and kindergartners in all of the county school systems will no longer rely on conventional methods when they learn to read.

New students will be taught by computers. The program, is funded by Forward in the Fifth, an organization of citizens concerned with improving education in the Fifth Congressional District, and the Appalachian Regional Commission, a federally funded organization which works to improve conditions in Appalachia.

These groups chose Mt. Vernon and Livingston Elementary Schools as a part of this program designed to improve scores on standardized test.

According to Mr. Bige Towery, superintendent of the Rockcastle County School System, these schools were chosen on a basis of test scores in reading, economic indexes and number of deprived students. Mr. Towery estimated the cost of each of the nine computer systems to be $25,000. The only cost to the county school system was to provide the room for the computers and teacher's aid for each school.

Brodhead and Roundstone Elementary Schools will also have computer system but theirs are granted from a different source.

Mr. Towery said that after Livingston and Mt. Vernon got systems, he went and talked to Dr. John Brock, Superintendent of Public Instruction, about getting these systems for other schools in the county. Dr. Brock was trying to find a small school system in which to begin a pilot project.

The purpose of the project is to see if the computers will improve reading and writing skills for the county as a whole. Because Rockcastle has only four elementary schools, it was chosen.

Dr. Brock then talked to Jim Jackson, the education consultant for International Business Machines (IBM) and IBM agreed to donate all the hardware (computers PC Jrs. and printers) for the two other elementary schools.

The school system agreed to pay for the software (programs) for the other two schools and to provide an aide and space for the classrooms. The program began at Mt. Vernon and Livingston in October, but is not scheduled to begin at Brodhead and Roundstone until late January.

On January 13, the high school Journalism Class traveled to Mt. Vernon to learn more about this program from the ones who were most involved, the students. The Journalism Class visited Ms. Jerri Smith's first grade class. The students in each first grade and kindergarten class are required to spend one hour a day in the computer room.

The room at Mt. Vernon, which is located in the white brick building by the school, is divided into six sections. The class is run by a system of student rotation.

Every day, each student is required to visit the "reading computer station" where he or she learns new words for the day. Each student also visits the "work journal station" where he uses workbooks to enforce what he has learned. All students are required to visit these two stations every day.

Next they have a choice. They can use games to learn new words at the "make word station" or type a story at the "writing computer station," or they may listen to cassettes which goes along with the books at a "reading station."

According to Ms. Smith the work journals which the students fill out and stories are never corrected by her. If she find a mistake, she has the child look at the page and she said the students usually find their own mistakes.

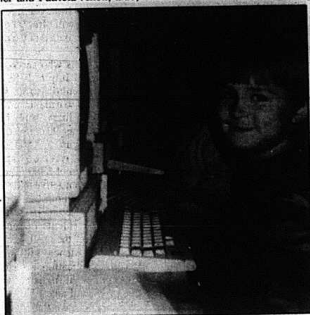

Her class has completed about eight work journals and after they are completed they are sent home to show the parents the skills their children are learning.

The Writing To Read is one of the first, if not the first, of its kind in Kentucky. The program shows promise because both of the children-I talked to said that they liked the program and it was fun.

Teacher and Patricia Allen, aide, also are very optimistic about the academic future of students who learn to read and write by this revolutionary method.

Coby Robinson, a first grader in Ms. Jerri Smith's class at Mt. Vernon Elementary, ponders what to write next in the story he is working on. Coby is taking part in a program known as "Writing to Read" which is intended to teach kindergartners and first graders reading and writing skills by the use of computers. (Photo by Alison Sowder)

Shannon R. Bales, Mt. Vernon, elementary education; Caroline Graves, Brodhead, elementary education; James Hamilton, Berea, computer science; Everett Harper, Brodhead, industrial technology; William Hines, Mt. Vernon, industrial technology with graphic art; Teresa Hopkins, Brodhead, 2 year nursing, associate degree; Blanche Johnson, Brodhead, management/administrative; Danielle Rene Ketyl, Mt. Vietnam veterans bonus

Kentucky's veterans of the Vietnam conflict can begin applying for the new Vietnam veterans bonus on March 1, but officials involved with the program urge them not to wait to find some important information they will need for the application. They will have a one-year window, from March 1, 1989, to midnight, Feb. 28, 1990, to submit a completed application, according to Larry Arnett, veterans affairs director in the Department of Military Affairs.

Applications for the bonus will be available at State Department of Employment Services offices statewide, as well as at all Kentucky National Guard armories and veterans organization offices.

If an eligible veteran is no longer living, the bonus can be paid to surviving family members. A separate family application will be available, and the priority for such payments will be a surviving spouse first, followed by surviving children, then the parents of the veteran.

All applications are to be mailed to Frankfort address which will be printed on the application.

But an important additional military document, called a DD 214, must also be submitted with the application.

"I encourage the veterans to find their DD 214 as early as possible and not wait until the last three months of the application window only to find they don't have one," Arnett adds.

Veterans who don't have the document should call the Military Records and Research Branch in Frankfort at (502) 564-4873 or write to the branch, on Louisville Road, Frankfort, Ky. 40601. If the DD 214 is incorrect or incomplete, call the Center for Veterans Affairs in Louisville, toll-free, at 1-800-752-6094.

Arnett is urging veterans to find the form as soon as possible because, in a few cases of missing or incorrect forms, the National Records Center in St. Louis may have to be contacted. Receiving a reply from the center can take up to three months.

"The veterans should look closely at the DD 214 to make sure the information on it is up to date and correct," Arnett says. "If they will review this document, it will offer 90 percent of the eligibility data that we're looking for."

Kentuckians who served in Vietnam between July 1, 1958 and May 15, 1975, are entitled to $25 per month of service up to a maximum of $500. Those in military service outside Vietnam at least 90 consecutive days between August 5, 1964, and May 15, 1975, may receive $15 per month to a maximum of $300. That service must have been active federal service other than training.

Eligible veterans must have been Kentucky residents for at least six months before their enlistment. (Some proof of residency will be required with the application. Arnett says the application will indicate what form that proof will take.)

"We will make the application as simple as possible to get the required information," Arnett says. "It will not be as complicated as the one in 1950, because that one dealt with four different wars. We only have to deal with one, and our ability to retrieve military records for verification is a lot better today than it was in 1960."

Arnett will try to reach as many eligible veterans now living outside Kentucky as possible, too.

"We will place advertisements in all of the national veterans magazines," he explained. "But we encourage all families of veterans now living elsewhere to put them in contact with us, or if families can get the application form to mail to the veteran. If I have the address, I will send them the application."

Up to 108,000 veterans may be eligible for the bonus, and Arnett, himself a Vietnam veteran, says he wants as many as possible to receive the bonus.

Eligible veterans, however, have the option to turn down the money and help other veterans in Kentucky.

"On the application, they will have the opportunity to refuse the bonus for themselves and request that the money be used to enhance veterans programs in the state," Arnett says. "The money will go into a trust fund created under the administration of the Department of Military Affairs."

"The preparations for the program are going very smoothly, and we will meet the target dates established by (Cont. to 20)

Dear Editor,

I am a 32 year old white male, incarcerated at the Kentucky State Penitentiary and would very much like to receive correspondence from those interested in writing. I'm a writer of poetry and articles, to which a few have been in print but hope to do better every day.

I was told through a friend that you would perhaps print my name and address in your paper.

Thanking you in advance.

Sincerely,
William D. Woolum

"What Saith the Scriptures"

One of the common spiritual activities of modern denominational churches and yes, even aggressive churches of Christ, is the matter of church socials, church ball teams, church recreation. Many churches have drunk deeply in the social gospel. People who know not the truth (or who have erred from the truth), look at the church as some kind of glorified social club; that is, in opposition to satisfy the physical, carnal desires of man.

Paul shows that the social, recreational needs of men are to be provided by the home. Individual responsibility covers the area of hunger, fun and play. 1 Cor. 11:18-34. Paul points out: "What? Have ye not houses to eat and drink in? Or despise ye the church of God and shame them that have not? What shall I say to you? Shall I praise you in this? I praise you not... And if any man hunger, let him eat at home." Vs. 22, 34, 34. How people can build and maintain church kitchens and church dining rooms in view of Paul's teaching here in 1 Cor. 11, is beyond me. "The kingdom of God is not eating and drinking but righteousness and peace and joy in the Holy Spirit," Rm. 14:17 ASV.

People who love the Lord will not try to make the church Jesus died for (Ac 20:28) a social club, but will see it as a haven of spiritual refreshment. You never read about a "Phillips" "ball team," or a "Thessalonian" "basket weaving class," or a Corinthian "gymnasium" at those first century churches. God has ordained what he wants the church to do. The work of the church is evangelism, education and benevolence for needy saints.

False teachers and people with itching ears (I Tim 4:3) have gone "hog-wild" over church banquets, gyms, ballteams, recreation rooms, dining rooms, etc. It pains my heart to see such things to go on, as one looks round about. These folks are/have been deceived into believing, that such is acceptable to the Lord when in reality they are being enemies of the cross of Christ, whose god is their belly. Phil 3:18-19, Mt. 7:23, Jn 9:10. The call of the Lord is to repent of such wicked activities. Ac. 17:30.

(An open letter to All My Friends and Neighbors in Rockcastle County)

Dear Friends:

As you know by now, my wife and I made the decision that I should not ask you to re-elect me in this next election.

I am writing you at this time because I want you to know how grateful that I am for the kindnesses that you have shown me in these recent past years. I have served you both as Magistrate and Judge and I have always done the best that I could. We have made improvements for our county but we still need to do more. Let's choose a good and able group for our county leaders and help them to continue to move us forward. I love you all and may God bless each of you.

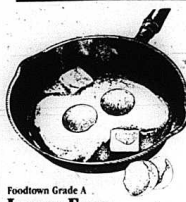

Respectfully,
Hubert Thacker
County Judge/Executive

Home Economics

Cooking vegetables in the microwave
By: Cheryl Witt
County Extension Agent
for Home Economics

One of the best ways to cook vegetables is in the microwave. Vegetables that are microwaved often turn out better than those that are boiled.

Cooking vegetables in the microwave has a nutritional advantage. Vegetables that are microwaved retain more vitamin C than those that are boiled because the nutrient breaks down with exposure to heat and leaches out into water.

Microwave cooking exposed foods to heat for shorter periods of time than boiling requires very little water.

Microwaved cooked vegetables have an excellent color and flavor. Green vegetables cook very well in the microwave for the crisp, tender vegetables needed in many dishes.

Vegetables cooked in the microwave keep their bright color. Microwaving also prevents the overcooking of flowering vegetables such as broccoli.

Is an electric space heater really efficient?

It may cost a lot more to operate an electrical space heater than it appears. An electrical space heater that plugs into a 110-volt electrical outlet can be considered 100 percent efficient - no more and no less.

All space heaters convert electrical energy to heat. There are 3,414 Btu's of heat in each kilowatt-hour of electricity. If you pay 7 cents per kilowatt-hour for your electricity, then you are paying $20.51 per million Btu's of heat.

If you have a 90 percent efficient central furnace and pay 50 cents per hundred cubic feet of natural gas, you are paying about $5.56 per million Btu's of heat from the gas.

A homeowner can afford to heat almost four rooms with the gas central heating system for what it would cost to heat one room with the electrical space heater.

With the electrical space heater, there is also a safety factor to consider. Many electric space heaters are rated at 1,500 watts. This requires 13.5 amps of electricity on a 110-volt circuit. Many electrical receptacles are designed for only 15 amps, so to be safe no other lights or appliances should be on that circuit.

Vote for Lu Ed Nielsen

I would like to announce that I am a candidate for Magistrate in District 1. I am a resident of Rockcastle Co. and live with my husband, Dean C. Nielsen, on a farm on the old Mt. Vernon-Brodhead Road. We have been married for 33 years and have 4 children and 9 grandchildren.

I retired from the State of Louisiana after 13 years service in accounting, purchasing, budget-making and budget-cutting, and spent 5 years in Education and 5 years in Mental Health and 5 years in the Dept. of Hospitals as Supervisor of several large departments in a state hospital.

I am a Licensed Practical Nurse, have held a Real Estate Salesman's license, and currently I am the President of the Rockcastle Unit of the American Cancer Society, serve as Disaster team member for the American Red Cross, am a tutor and Sec-Treasurer for the Rockcastle Literacy Program and work with the Mt. Vernon PTA as Public Relations Chairman and with health clinics for our students. I am familiar with small county governments as I have lived almost all of my life in small farming communities and understand the problems that we have in Rockcastle.

Solid Waste Disposal is mandatory and we must comply with EPA guidelines. Pollution of water and environment is a major worry. As a person involved with cancer I see more and more cases every day. We must find out why. Yes, we need our roads improved, but it is not life-threatening. Our hillsides and roadways are too pretty to be littered as they are.

THANK YOU FOR YOUR SUPPORT.

Your Child's Health

By: Dr. John Payne

Acne or "Zits" have been a bane of teenagers for thousands of years. We don't know everything about their cause, but we do know more about how to treat them now than 20 years ago. Testosterone, the male hormone which is present in smaller amounts in girls as well, causes the oil in the skin to produce more oil. These oil glands get stopped up and will dead skin cells and the whole mess gets infected with germs which digest the oils. These breakdown products of the oil seem to cause much of the irritation of the skin in acne.

Treatment is aimed at killing the bacteria which live off the oils, and reduce the plugging of the oil glands. More use is now made of antibiotics taken by mouth to fight the germs and of agents such as benzoyl peroxide (the Oxy series of drugs) to help remove dead skin cells. Some of these treatments cause much sensitivity of the skin and make sunbathing more difficult.

Most doctors now feel that diet make no difference in acne. Avoiding chocolates or other foods does not help in most people. If an individual patient has found that he or she gets worse after eating certain things, then of course they should avoid these foods. Also the formerly used zinc therapy seems to make no difference. Ultraviolet light treatments are not much used today.

Some girls may benefit from estrogen therapy if used carefully. So, if your teenager is bothered by acne they should see their doctor. There are some fairly new therapies which help, and are definitely better than a generation ago.

Bad Breath In Children

Complaints about bad breath in children are very common. Failure to brush teeth is of course high on the list. It often seems the early grade schooler can never find time to brush more than 10 seconds.

More serious causes may be presented to the doctor. Stomach upset or viral illness will surely do it. Also, a child may have a sinus infection and have infected crud draining down the back of his throat. Infected tonsils, especially from strep throat certainly makes one smell foul.

One sometimes unsuspected cause is a foreign body in the nose. If a child presents with a runny nose from just one side of the nose this is presumed to be a foreign body until proven otherwise. A pencil eraser, piece of Kleenex, toy bead etc. may be stuck up the nose and forgotten until some weeks later when it causes a foul drainage from one nostril.

An abscessed tooth can cause the same foul odor, but of course will usually be associated with a tooth ache and easy to diagnose. So if Junior sinks around the mouth and he has brushed his teeth and is not obviously sick with a bug he may have something that requires medical attention.

The Cumberland Valley District Health Department Prenatal Program is ready to serve the eligible patients in Rockcastle County. The Prenatal Program offers excellent care to those eligible patients who otherwise could not afford good prenatal care. The Prenatal Program serves patients who are income eligible.

The Prenatal Clinic staff includes M.D.'s, Nurse Practitioners, Nurses, Dietitians, Social Workers, Health Educators, and Clerks. The Prenatal Program offers clinical, social, and nutritional services at no cost to the patient. The patient may be responsible for some part or all of the cost of delivery and/or hospital bill.

Good prenatal care is of great importance to the mother and baby. Prenatal care should begin as early in the pregnancy as possible to insure a health pregnancy outcome.

For more information on the Prenatal Program in your county, please call the Health Department at 256-2242.

To the Voters of the 2nd District of Rockcastle County.

I am Larry Bullock, I have been employed at Rockcastle Hospital as a Laboratory Technologist for 17 years. I am married to Donna Bustle Bullock, an employee of Farm Bureau Insurance Co.

As a concerned citizen I am seeking the position of Magistrate of the 2nd District. It is my opinion that the current Fiscal Court has failed to act on situations that should have been solved by now.

The thought I would like to leave with you is...What has been done in the last 10-12 years in our district and what is being done now? Now I ask you to think of the future, not only for the 2nd District, but of Rockcastle County.

Rabbit and quail numbers down

Hunters are reporting finding fewer rabbits and quail than usual in Kentucky this season. It seems last summer's drought affected these species more than had been anticipated, according to Jeff Sole, unplanned game program coordinator for the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources.

Even though rabbits reproduced at a normal rate last year, their numbers declined due to poor food production and reduced cover. Both were caused by extremely hot, dry weather experienced statewide last year.

Quail were even more affected because severe drought conditions hit during their first nesting period; eggs spoiled in the nest. The second hatch fared a little better, but traditionally it's never big enough to make up for the numbers lost on the first go-round. Surviving quail had quite a chore finding enough to eat, because there weren't enough insects. The drought also reduced insect production, and bugs of various kinds are an important component of the young birds' diet.

Sole said, "The drought brought quail numbers down 18 percent on a statewide basis, a level equal to 1986 figures. But so far we've had a mild winter, and that's good. Without another severe drought, these populations can recover."

Turkey and grouse nested before their eggs could be affected by the drought, and their numbers remain stable.

Balloons made of broken pottery were used by the citizens of Athens to get rid of unpopular politicians. Whenever 6000 or more were cast, the official was sent into exile for 10 years.

Boys win over Monticello; lose to Wayne

A weekend trip to Wayne County was both good and bad for the Rockcastle Rockets as they split two games.

On Friday night the Rockets defeated Monticello only to lose to one of the top teams in the twelfth region, Wayne County, the following night.

The Rockets played Wayne tough during the first half and trailed by only seven at halftime.

The second half was a different game as Wayne stretched out the lead and went on to win by a 79-49 mark.

The Rockets were led in scoring, in the Wayne game, by Kris Ponder with 20 points, Ponder was followed by Mike Barron with 8.

David Owens 6, Billy Todd 4, Darren Smith 3, Steve Clark, Adam Coleman, David Sargent and Robbie Phillips with 2 each.

The Rockets are now 4 and 11 on the line. Coming up on the schedule is an away game this Friday night at Madison Southern followed by a four game home stand that includes a game against top region contender Knox Central on Feb. 9.

Lady Rockets lose to Berea

The Lady Rockets visited the Lady Pirates of Berea on Monday night and came away with a disappointing 44-26 loss.

The Lady Rockets played even with Berea in the first half, but a devastating third period brought the Lady Rockets their 14th loss of the season.

Trailing by only four points at the half the Lady Rockets were shut out in the third period while Berea went on to score 12 points of their own.

The loss dropped the Lady Rockets to 2 wins and 14 losses on the season. Their next game is at Madison Southern (Thursday) tonight. The Lady Rockets defeated Madison Southern earlier in the year.

B-team girls now 5 and 9

Darla Ream's RCHS girls basketball team split a pair of games in the past week, downing Berea Monday night 29-27 and losing to Jackson County, 42-28, last Thursday night.

The girls had a close contest throughout the entire game with Berea, as the score was tied on numerous occasions, including at the end of the third quarter when it was knotted at 20.

Ten girls saw action for the B-team which was led in scoring by Beth Amys and Clara Pigg who both garnered 6 on the evening. The rest of the Rocket scoring went as follows: Sharon Hines 5, Tiffany Carter 4, Linda Sowerdy, Jenny McClure 2, Tracy Owens 2, Cloia Bullock 1, Danetta Ford 1, Kristy Ruppe played but did not score.

The girls' junior varsity is now 5 wins and 9 losses for the year. They will be back in action this Thursday night when they travel to Berea to take on Madison Southern.

Some waterfowl hunters disappointed

Short and poor. Those words seem to sum up Kentucky's duck season which closed Jan. 4.

Fewer ducks in Kentucky this winter came as no big surprise since numbers have steadily declined nationwide for more than a decade. However, according to Western District Wildlife Biologist Vernon Anderson with the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, duck populations were substantially down from past years.

Low duck populations were forecast after last summer's drought. Season length and bag limits were both made more restrictive in response to this decline.

Flooded areas usually attract waterfowl, but that wasn't necessarily the case this season. Even with little flooding, Kentucky and Barley lakes had a fair duck harvest, but few or no ducks were seen when Anderson flew over flooded cornfields in Western Kentucky. However, the biologist reported Virgil Island (in the Ohio River) hosted 8,000 to 10,000 ducks.

At this writing, goose season is in

How to fish flooded timber

The old saying, "You can't see the forest because of the trees," sometimes applies to bass fishing, too.

Lakes filled with flooded timber look as if they should hold a bass behind every tree, but in truth, such lakes are often extremely difficult to fish. Anglers overlook other factors, such as bottom structure, current or water temperatures because they're so busy casting to the trees.

"Sometimes the best thing to do when fishing a lake full of flooded timber is to completely ignore the timber," says Johnson Outboards Pro Staff member Jerry Rhyme. "When everything looks so good you don't concentrate as much on what you're doing, and as a result, you don't accomplish as much, either."

"It's like being a bull in a china shop. You run around without any real direction, casting here and there, hitting stumps and scratching your boat but not catching any fish."

If you're determined to fish the trees, Rhyme offers several suggestions. First, look for different types of wood, such as cedars, pines or oaks. Fish each type carefully, as bass often relate to one specific type of tree on a lake.

Second, explains the North Carolina pro, look for larger trees. Bigger trees frequently have more limbs or debris around their bases, which make them more attractive to bass.

Third, study water depths around the trees. Look for more gradual depths changes, and for underwater features like humps and points.

"It's important to learn how to 'read' timber," says Rhyme, "because the trees can tell you a lot about possible bottom structure. Channels are often lined with big cypress trees, for example, and cedars often grow on flat, gravel bottoms. Oaks trees frequently grow in low lying areas where the bottom may be soft and mucky, while pines may signal an underwater ridge or high spot."

"Another thing to look for is anything unusual in the trees themselves. There may be one really big tree in a forest of smaller ones, or a clump of pines in the middle of an oak forest. These places, for whatever reason, are frequently used by bass and are always worth casting to."

A variety of lures can be used to fish flooded timber, says Rhyme, including spinnerbaits, plastic worms and jigs. One of Rhyme's favorites is a 1/2-ounce double willow leaf spinnerbait with size 5 and 7 blades. "The willow leaf spinnerbait is good in the fall months because it looks like baitfish," explains the Johnson Outboards pro. "Unless the water is extremely clear, I work a basic depth between five and eight feet, and bump the lure through the trees."

"In the summer, bass may suspend 10 to 15 feet down in flooded timber if the water is deep, but by fall the fish begin to move up closer to the surface and readily hit a spinnerbait. A large plastic worm with a light slip sinker also works well in timber too, especially if it is slowly through the limbs."

Because bass suspended in deep flooded timber are among the most difficult of all to catch, Rhyme also suggests looking for another type of timber that will usually be present in any lake that has standing trees. This is fallen timber, generally referred to as "laydowns."

"A fallen tree offers much more cover than a standing one," says Rhyme, "and because it does, a bass will often stay in shallow water to use it. These are spinnerbait or jig fish that can be caught, but they're frequently very spooky and require very accurate casting and presentation."

On clear lakes, Rhyme suggests anglers consider using light line testing between six and eight pounds to finesse fish out of the heavy cover. In dingy water, heavier line can be used.

"It is possible to lead bass out of heavy timber and brush before setting the hook," he points out. "Once the fish bites, all you have to do is keep gently pressure on the line and gradually pull the fish into open water. Once it's away from the cover, you set the hook."

The experts at OMC, manufacturers of Johnson and Evinrude outboards, recommend engine owners apply a thin coat of OMC Triple-Guard grease on the steering cable ram of remote controlled outboards. The grease will help the steering work smoothly and keep it from seizing. The grease should be applied several times each season and before winter storage.

Joe Raynor and Tilman A. Owens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Owens of Rt. 2, Mt. Vernon, killed these two Russian wild boars recently in Crossville, Tennessee.

ELECT

Stewart "Sap" Parsons
Magistrate 4th District

My name is Stewart "Sap" Parsons and I am a candidate for magistrate in the May 23 primary. I am in the 4th district (Conway, Climax and Roundstone). I am asking for and would appreciate the support of all the voters of the 4th district.

If elected I intend to work for the district in the following manner:

1. Travel the roads on a regular monthly basis to see their conditions in order to make monthly recommendations for their improvement.
2. Suggest and work for the implementation of a garbage franchise to be controlled by the Fiscal Court. And along with this, see to stricter enforcement of laws governing illegal garbage dumping.
3. Fire plugs on water lines out in the county. Fire plugs can be placed on 3 inch lines. This would prevent fire trucks from having to come back to Mt. Vernon to refill with water in case of a major fire.
4. For a 911 emergency phone number. Most communities already have it, we should have it too.
5. Provide for and note the needs of the rescue squad and the ambulance service. We need to make sure they have the trained personnel and equipment they require.
6. A 24 hour dispatcher for the proposed 911 number to consolidate fire, ambulance and police dispatching.
7. Recreation and play grounds in accessible areas. With the building of the new school at Mt. Vernon there is not a softball field in the county except in Broadhead. The so-called recreation area on the lake is useless. It is accessible only on a dangerous road, poorly designed and is in poor repair. Counties around us have play grounds including softball fields, tennis courts, basketball courts and swings. We should have these too for both adults and children.

The fiscal court should be run as a business, because it is. There is more to being a good magistrate than merely attempting to get elected by spreading gravel at election time. Problems should be noted and solved as they are recognized.

We need a cleaner and safer county that we all can be proud of. With this we stand a better chance for new industry and therefore more jobs.

If elected I intend to make this my agenda and with this, help to make Rockcastle County a better place to live.

Coming Wednesday, February 15 to First Christian Church of Mt. Vernon are the "Reach Out Singers" from Sioux Falls, South Dakota. We are encouraging all area churches to join us on January 28th. They will be with us on February 25th. It was our mistake. Maple Grove Baptist Church

DON'T LET YOUR FAITH BE OVERTHADOWED BY SUPERSTITION

That famous groundhog on the hill
 That's known as Punxsutawny Phil
 Emerges from his hole to say
 If winter will depart or stay;
 And if his shadow does appear,
 It's six more weeks of coldness here.
 Now, that's how legends come to be,
 Though scientists would not agree.
 We have our forecast right on tap
 By looking at the weather map,
 To tell if it's a sunny day
 On which we plan to work or play;
 But for our faith to be restored,
 We know that we can trust the Lord.
 His love will always help us out,
 Beyond a shadow of a doubt.

— Gloria Nowak

Never fear shadows.
 They simply mean
 there's a light shining somewhere nearby.
 — Ruth E. Renkel
