LET US PROTECT OUR PLANET; IT'S THE ONLY ONE WE HAVE

Do you ever take time to look at the world around you? In some places it is still very beautiful and unspoiled, but in too many areas our civilization has taken its toll. In ever-increasing amounts we are polluting our air and water, turning the land into a gigantic trash dump and eradicating all forms of plant and animal life, at the rate of one species each year. Not all of these things can be helped, nor are they necessarily the result of negligence, but with our population growth and diminishing wilderness areas it behooves us to keep all of these unfortunate actions to a minimum. Learn at your House of Worship that God gave us our world and all its natural resources to use, but not to destroy. Thank Him for this evidence of His love which is all around us, and resolve to do all you can to help preserve it.

Each generation has fought nature. Now we must become the protector of nature. — Jacques Cousteau

"Every creature of God is good, for it is sanctified by the word of God and prayer." — 1 Timothy 4:4,5

Parents jailed for not sending children to school

Rockcastle District Judge Walter McGuire jailed two parents last week for not making their two school age children attend classes.
According to court records, Warren Poynter, 36, and his wife Judy, 30, of Flat Gap were sentenced to 30 days each for not sending their children to school and for contempt of court.
The Poynters were to appear in court last Wednesday to answer truancy charges but failed to do so. When they did not show McGuire issued warrants for their arrest.
Warren Poynter was also charged with public drunkenness when he did show up.
Two of the Poynter's four children were taken to Project Hope in Somerset and the other three children were taken in by a relative, according to state social workers. The children were removed from the home because of living conditions.

Rockcastle Grand Jury hands down 5 indictments

Friday the Rockcastle County Grand Jury handed down five indictments for charges ranging from attempting to elude a police officer to theft by unlawful taking.
A March 15th incident in which a Livingston man tried to elude police resulted in a seven count indictment against him.
Steve Cameron, 23, of Rt. 2 Livingston was charged with two counts of third degree assault, third degree criminal mischief, attempting to elude a police officer, operating a motor vehicle on a suspended license, resisting arrest and driving under the influence.
According to court records Cameron apparently assaulted State Troopers Jimmy Silvers and Clinton Graves after they stopped him.

Cameron is also charged with kicking out the rear door glass of Silvers' cruiser and driving drunk.
He is in the Rockcastle County jail awaiting an April 14th court appearance.
A Burside man was indicted for theft by failure to make proper disposition of property over $100 in a May 27 incident in which he rented a VCR and three movies from Video Alley in Mt. Vernon.
Bob Raleigh, 45, is accused of not returning the items he rented. He is presently in the Rockcastle County jail awaiting his appearance in court on April 14.

David Rowe, 21, of Mt. Vernon was indicted on charges of third degree assault, resisting arrest, alcohol intoxication and disorderly conduct.
Rowe is accused of assaulting Mt. Vernon policeman Larry Thompson on March 13, when he was apparently involved in a fight and drunk in a public place.
Rowe is on bond until a April 14th hearing before Circuit Judge Dan Veners.

Walt Shepherd, 18, of Mt. Vernon was indicted for theft by unlawful taking over $100 for a March 11th incident in which he is accused of taking a 1984 Nissan Sentra belonging to Shannon Bishop. Shepherd is free on bond until his next court appearance.

Audit of books reveal

Western Water undercharged $30,000 by city of Mt. Vernon

By: Jeff Hammond

An audit report of the City of Mt. Vernon's finances has revealed that an error in billing of Western Rockcastle Water District has cost the city about $30,000.

The audit, reported at a called meeting last Thursday and compiled by the accounting firm of Garska, Lawton and Clontz (GLC), showed that the city had actually undercharged Western Water about $30,000 for water dating as far back as 1984.

The greatest majority of the undercharges, $18,000, came during 1988 when consumption was at peak levels.

According to Joe Clontz, from the firm of GLC, two factors contributed to the error. The consumption of water by Western increased substantially during the period in question and the meter used to measure the consumption may have been functioning improperly. These factors combined led to the incorrect calculations of the water billed to Western.

Joe Clontz also added, "It is my opinion they (Western) knew they were getting a bargain".

Mt. Vernon City Attorney John Clontz was asked by council if Western Water was still liable for the amount they had been undercharged. According to John Clontz, Western had obviously used this water, it was on record, and although they had been undercharged they should still be held accountable for the water they had used but not paid for.

Mayor Gary Cromer then put before the council the question of whether or not the city should try to collect the entire amount or the most recent undercharges, about $18,700, which was for consumption from July to Nov. 1988. The council voted to collect the $18,700 and forget the rest.

The audit also showed that the Water and Sewer Department finished the year with a $91,000 surplus even with the undercharge of Western Water. However, the city's general fund finished the year with a small deficit. GLC gave the city a "Clean" opinion.

The audit was not approved last Thursday because several of the council members wanted time to look over it. The report was approved at another meeting held Monday evening.

EPA Citations
According to Mayor Cromer he was surprised when he read the news accounts that the city had been cited by the Environmental Protection Agency for dumping of sewage.

Mayor Cromer stated that no such citation had been received by the city as of Tuesday, March 28. Attorney Clontz then advised the council against discussing the possible citation because of the legal ramifications.

County eligible for flood relief

Three more counties have been added to the record-breaking number of flood-damaged counties now eligible for state and federal disaster aid.

The latest counties added are Grayson, Johnson and Rockcastle. The addition increases the total to 64 counties announced by officials at the joint federal-state Disaster Field Office in Frankfort.

No additional disaster application centers will be opened, officials said. Anyone with uninsured losses in the newly declared counties may apply for disaster assistance by calling the Disaster Hotline on the toll-free number, 1-800-248-0068, operated daily, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. (EST).

Ronn Padgett, deputy State coordinating officer assigned by Gov. Wallace G. Wilkinson to supervise state disaster relief efforts, said "we have operated 12 joint disaster application centers during the recovery phase of this flood."

present at the meeting to address the council regarding the citation issue. He was denied the opportunity to discuss the issue with the council.
Later the Signal asked Mr. Hopper about the EPA issue. Hopper said that he simply wanted to clarify what had been in the paper. Hopper said that Mayor Cromer was mistaken when he said the HSI had taken sludge from Mt. Vernon Water Works to their landfill located in Laurel County.

"At no time has Harkon Sanitation brought anything to our fill," Hopper added.

Hopper also said he was not present to complain just to clarify what had been published.

Personnel
The council went into executive session to discuss personnel moves. No action was taken during the session. However according to Cromer, Joe Howard has returned as Chief of Police. Howard had only recently resigned. Cromer wanted to clear up any misunderstanding about the police department. Bill Mink, candidate for jailer, is currently on leave of absence. Jackie Fortner, who also recently resigned, will not be returning to the force according to Mayor Cromer.

Southern Cablevision will attempt to get county wide franchise for cable t.v.

By: Richard Andrick
Managing Editor
Residents in the western part of Rockcastle County will be getting cable television, one way or the other. Or actually from one company or the other.

During the Rockcastle County Fiscal Court meeting last month, the court gave Lincoln Cable T.V. a 15 year franchise for that part of the county.

At the time Lincoln told court members they planned to serve the western part of the county which includes Mareburg, Quail, Willilailla and Otawa.

But since the court meeting some things have changed.

Lincoln plans to continue with their efforts to supply cable, but Southern Cablevision of Corbin is also going to attempt to supply cable to much of the same area.

Roger Pittman of Lincoln Cable T.V. said Tuesday that his company planned to offer 22 basic stations on their cable at a cost of $119.5 a month, plus other features such as free hook-up and a month's free service.

Carolyn Byble of Southern Cablevision said Wednesday that her company was going to try and get a franchise for all of Rockcastle County at the next fiscal court meeting.

She said that her company was wanting to go into other areas of the county because of the number of requests made to them by residents of those areas. She said that her company had even been approached by Mt. Vernon Mayor Gary Cromer, who was acting at the request of several residents who live out of the city.

"Our goal is to provide quality cable television to as many people in Rockcastle County as we feasibly can," Mrs. Byble said.

But Pittman said that he could not understand why Southern Cablevision had not made any move toward providing service in the western part until his company gained a franchise from the county. He said that he thought Southern Cablevision simply did not want Lincoln to have the area.

But Mrs. Byble said her company had been planning this move for the last few months and that a small delay had been caused because of easement problems in the Renfro area where Southern recently ran new cable after buying Burck T.V. Cable Company.

Southern Cablevision now provides cable to about 1,600 customers in the Mt. Vernon and Renfro areas, with 18 basic stations at a cost of $14.95.

Both companies are in the process of stringing cable along Highway 150 and Pittman said Tuesday that his company was going to have service available very soon.

Mrs. Byble said that her company could string cable because they already had agreements from RECC and the phone company and their next step would be to try and gain a franchise at Tuesday's court meeting.

Pittman and Gary Yocum, who also owns Lincoln Cable Television have a cable company in Russell Springs and said Tuesday that they would attend the court meeting as well.

Southern Cablevision's initial plans would include about 190 customers along 150 to Houston Point Estates and along old 461 to Rons Country Market.

Lincoln plans to provide cable to all of the franchise area, which runs south of the Mt. Vernon by-pass and west of Highway 150.

Pittman also said Tuesday that his company would approach the City of Mt. Vernon about getting a franchise for the city. Pittman said that his company would be willing to pay the city 5% of their gross revenues for a franchise. Southern Cablevision, which bought the Mt. Vernon television cable company from

Dear Editor,

I thought it would be enlightening to share with your readers some important information regarding the current sex-education debate. I hope many of them will be justly alarmed by these facts and be led to take an active part in this debate with their own local school boards.

First of all, make no mistake about it, the main issue is not simply over at what age birth control information should be taught to our kids. The issue is over who should have the final and most important input on what values are taught in this family life curriculum. Stuart Jay, state school board member, clearly let it be known that the school board would like to downplay the role of parents and to openly encourage students to abandon the values of their parents.

Rogers Supports Bush Proposal on Minimum Wage Increase

We need to have a fair minimum wage, a wage that will bring those who work at that pay rate to a fair level. But we also are careful not to feed the beast of inflation, which threatens to choke off our economy by raising interest rates, forcing layoffs and escalating the prices of everything we buy.

I voted this week in the House to raise the minimum wage to $4.25 an hour over the next three years. We have not seen an increase in the minimum wage since 1981 and I believe some increase is justified. But we must also be wary of raising the wage so high that it forces small businesses to lay off workers, rekindles inflation and defeats the purpose of helping people.

The proposal I supported, which was favored by President Bush, also calls for a "training wage" for newly-hired workers. These are primarily teenagers without skills or education who need to learn job skills, earn money for college and pay personal expenses. This training wage of $3.35 an hour is the current minimum, and it could be used for the first six months of a worker's time on the job. This would allow our small businesses to afford to hire young workers and train them.

I was also concerned that if we raised the minimum wage higher, we would see large numbers of young people laid off. Estimates indicate that as many as 750,000 workers could lose their jobs if we raise the minimum to $4.65 per hour as some in Congress want. Add to that the pressure this would put on prices and on other wage rates and you have the beginning of the unraveling of our American economy, an economy which has seen inflation rates drop from 14 percent in the late 1970's to 3 or 4 percent in recent years. Interest rates, already under pressure, would also be pushed back up, leading to another recession with rates perhaps back to the high teens or low twenty's of Jimmy Carter days.

Unfortunately, the House voted down the Bush plan and chose instead to raise the minimum to $4.55 an hour. I voted against the higher figure because of my concerns about inflation, job losses and the overall impact on our economy.

Most minimum-wage earners are under 25, single and work part-time. Only 8 percent of those at this pay level are heads of households. The idea that we can help the working poor by raising the minimum wage simply does not hold water.

I am hopeful that as the Senate considers this bill, it will revert back to the $4.25 an hour which the President and I support. This is a fair increase which will not be inflationary. Should the Senate reject this advice, however, President Bush has the votes to uphold a veto of this legislation. Let us all hope that Congress will look past partisan politics by setting the minimum wage at a fair level, helping thousands of Americans—mostly young people—keep their jobs and helping reduce the pressure on inflation and interest rates.

1989 feed grain sign-up ends April 14

The Rockcastle County ASCS Office will be having the annual Feed Grain Sign-up through April 14. Corn, grain sorghum, barley and oats are considered as program crops for the Feed Grain Program.

The target prices per bushel are: Corn, $1.57; Sorghum, $1.57; Barley, $2.43; Oats, $1.50.

The national average loan rates per bushel are: Corn, $1.65; Sorghum, $1.57; Barley, $1.34; Oats, $1.85.

Producers must reduce their corn, sorghum and barley yields by 10 percent of their crop acreage base to be eligible for loans, purchases and payments for the 1989 crop. The oats acreage limitation percentage will be five percent of the crop acreage base. The oats and barley bases will continue to be combined. Producers will be allowed to plant oats or barley on the permitted acreage within the combined acreage base before any base adjustment. If acreage has been substituted, it must be permitted barley acreage cannot exceed the original oat/barley base, minus the required ACR. There will be NO PAID DIVERSION program.

Feed grain producers are eligible to earn deficiency payments on the actual acreage planted, within their permitted acreage.

Advance payments will be equal to 40 percent of the projected commodity deficiency payment rate, payable in cash as soon as possible after the application has been approved.

Feed grain producers have the option of participating in an optional acreage diversion in which they may underplant their permitted feed grain acres and still, under some conditions, receive deficiency payments on the underplanted acreage. Known as the "0/92" provision, the option allows feed grain producers to devote all or a portion of their permitted acreage to conserving uses (CU) and receive deficiency payments on the acreage. The maximum CU acreage for deficiency payments under this provision is the difference between the planted and 92 percent of the permitted acreage. The deficiency payment rate on the CU acreage will not be less than the projected deficiency payment for the crop. The production of alternate crops on the CU acreage will not be permitted.

Fishing Report

The ACR acreage must be protected from wind and water erosion throughout the year. Production of alternate crops on ACR land is not permitted. Haying and Grazing of ACR will be PERMITTED during the designated seven month period.

This Program and Activity will be Conducted on a Nondiscriminatory Basis Without Regard To Race, Color, Religion, National Origin, Age, SEX, Marital Status, or Handicap.

Fishing activity over the March 25-26 weekend was light to moderate statewide. Water temperatures continue to warm causing increased fish activity levels. While water levels continue to decrease at many lakes, some ramps remained closed due to high water conditions. Boaters should exercise caution and be alert of debris in the water and contact the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers for up-to-date ramp information. The lake-by-lake reports:

nnows, jigs and corn and cheese 1-5 feet deep below the dam; high water conditions exist, launching at your own risk; clear to muddy, falling, 15 feet above summer pool and 56 degrees.

Taylorville: All launching ramps open as of March 27; muddy, falling, seven feet above summer pool and 55 degrees.

Herrington: White bass and hybrid striped bass were hitting small spinners and minnows in the headwaters of the Dix River 5-10 feet deep; murky, falling, eight feet above summer pool and 52 degrees.

Green River: All ramps remain closed and not expected to be usable until mid-April; launching may be possible from Taylor County Boat Dock. Murky to muddy, 19 feet above summer pool and 50 degrees.

Rockcastle prepares for Volunteer Awareness Month

Governor Wallace G. Wilkinson has proclaimed April, 1989, as Kentucky's Volunteer Awareness Month (KVAM). KVAM is a month of recognition and celebration for volunteers. It's also a time to educate everyone on volunteer opportunities throughout the state. Aside from the humanitarian worth of Kentucky's volunteers, their financial value is also substantial. The Independent Sector reports that in the United States 21 million people donate at least 5 percent of their income to charity, and 23 million people volunteer at least five hours a week.

Watch for your locally scheduled KVAM events and show your appreciation by participating.

DAR News

The Rockcastle Chapter DAR met on the evening of March 21, at the home of Mrs. Lee Durham. In the absence of the regent, Onna Kay Owens, the vice regent, Mary Elizabeth Adams presided. The National Defense news read by Mary Alice Hunt was an article written by Patrick J. Buchanan titled "Enough - Bailouts Have to End," which warned of the folly of the United States bailing out other countries from their national debts.

The program, introduced by Mary Walker was about "Grandma's Home Remedies," the old remedies that passed from generation to generation before the days of ready access to doctors, hospitals or drug stores. Nancy Lambert, Mary E. Adams, Belle Huff, Jean Towery, Mary Alice Hunt, and Louise Bailey took part in the program. Many interesting and some amusing remedies were discussed, leaving the group wondering if the old timers recovered because of the remedy or in spite of it.

Onna Kay Owens and Mary Alice Hunt had represented the chapter at the Ninety-Third Annual State Con-

Vote Mullins for County Judge-Executive

Profiles in Experience, Cooperation, Friendship and Brotherhood.....
Rockcastle

To the People of Rockcastle County:

The decision to run for County Judge/Executive has not been an easy decision for me to reach. With young children, mortgage payments and the ever present uncertainties, it is very scary. But you, as voters have given me strength and courage. Based on that and being dedicated to the following issues, I have announced for the Republican nomination for County Judge/Executive.

Jobs - I know first hand the employment needs of Rockcastle County. At age fifteen I left the state to find a job. Then as an adult, I have driven 150 miles a day to work. I will, therefore, fight a vigorous day to day battle to recruit jobs and to maintain the jobs we now have.

Good Treatment - None of us should have to face the pangs of being ignored, or seeing our ideas discounted, or of having our needs considered unimportant. Each of us deserves to have a voice, to be given special consideration, and to have our needs recognized. Since the county is yours, the Judge/Executive is to serve you.

Water - A large percentage of families in Rockcastle County have no public water. Knowing first hand the hardships of not having enough water, I intend to attack this problem immediately and forcefully in 1989.

Roads - I was born on the banks of Crooked Creek over a mile from the nearest road. I am familiar with the road problems and needs of our county. You can be sure that if I am elected, the county road fund will be stretched toward every household in the county.

Garbage - The other person's filth is always dirtier than our own. Roadside dumps and illegal disposal is other persons' filth to each of us. And think how I must look to tourists and industrial prospects. This situation must be remedied. Also, county facilities must be maintained, kept clean and attractive.

Taxes - If I am nominated and subsequently elected Judge/Executive, I will get the most for your tax dollar, seek alternative funding for eligible items, and mind the treasury on a daily basis.

Economic Development - Endeavors that introduce new dollars into the county allow for a scope of development. The expansion at Renfro Valley will tap the thousands of cars that pass on I-75 daily bringing new money. The development of U.S. 150 will prompt building along that corridor. Promoting regionalism of business to reach the 100,000 plus population South and the 100,000 plus population North, both less than an hour away, will bring in new dollars. Leadership can tackle this.

Community Development - Encouraging the individual to produce by opening avenues for producing enhances any community. Assisting organizations to build, to develop, to expand to do better, to serve more, promotes the common good and results in community development. This should be the commitment of any leader.

So, if you nominate me as your County Judge/Executive, and I am elected this fall, I will serve with the other leaders at the county gates endeavoring to do a job that you can be proud of.

SENATOR WENDELL FORD

U.S. Senator, Washington, D.C. 20510

NEW LEGISLATION PROTECTS GOVERNMENT WHISTLEBLOWERS FROM REPRISALS

I've long been concerned about the waste and abuse that exist in many government programs, and am heartened that we in the Senate have taken strong steps to protect employees who report fraud and mismanagement.

This new legislation strengthening protection for employees who blow the whistle on government abuse will not only save our taxpayer dollars but protect us from potentially dangerous practices.

We in the Senate unanimously passed whistleblower legislation that makes it easier for employees to pass they were fired or demoted because they reported government fraud. Fear of reprisal will no longer stand in the way of employees coming forward with criticisms of their employer.

Federal surveys, in fact, show that 70 percent of federal employees with knowledge of misconduct don't expose it. And the number of employees who did not report for fear of reprisal rose from 20 percent in 1980 to 37 percent in 1983.

Last year, we worked out a bipartisan compromise on this bill with the White House, only to have it unexpectedly rejected by President Reagan. That controversial move was largely based on the advice of new Attorney General Richard Thornburgh, who claimed age bias made it too easy for the employee to prove that retaliation was being taken by the employer.

The Bush Administration, however, accepted a virtually identical bill, with a few modifications agreeable to the Attorney General, and the House followed the Senate's lead in passing the bill. The new legislation protects the employee by raising the government's burden of proof in defending its actions. And whistleblowers, for the first time, will be able to appeal their cases in court.

Under the bill, the federal Office of Special Counsel (OSC), which was created in 1978 to protect the rights of whistleblowers, would become, in effect, an agency that can only be an advocate for whistleblowers, and can never take reverse action against them. In the past, the OSC, which is a branch of the Merit Systems Protection Board, has often harassed workers instead of helping them. Only about 5 percent of those who complained to the counsel even got past the initial screening stage.

As one of my fellow senators said, the OSC was "little more than a rubber stamp for...reprisals" against employees who expose abuse - whether it be illegal accounting methods or doctored reports on the safety of nuclear plants. With this bill, employees will be less fearful of speaking up, and in the end, the taxpayers are the beneficiaries. This legislation is a small but significant step toward a more efficient federal government. Given the overwhelming need to reduce the budget deficit, this new protection for employees will provide a valuable tool for eliminating waste, fraud and mismanagement.

15th Annual Roland Wierwille Basketball Camp

The 15th annual Roland Wierwille basketball camp for boys and girls between the ages of 8-17 will be held June 12-16 on the Berea College campus.

The camp has gained a reputation as one of the finest summer basketball camps in the state. Enrollment is limited to afford each camper the individual instruction he or she needs to develop coordination and basic basketball skills.

There will also be competition in shooting, running the obstacle course, and three on three league play. The 12-17 year old campers will have full-court team leagues in the afternoon.

Along with instruction from the selected staff, there will be special guest speakers and sports films. Campers will be allowed to swim in the Berea College pool at designated times under qualified lifeguard supervision.

Camp hours are 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. for 8-11 year old campers and 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. for 12-17 year old campers.

The cost for each camper is $95, which pays for a T-shirt, limited insurance, lunch, juice, movies, an achievement certificate, a season pass to Berea College home games and instruction. A non-refundable $45 deposit must accompany the application with the balance due on registration day.

Checks should be made payable to Roland Wierwille Basketball Camp, Inc.

The deadline for application is June 6. Applications may be obtained at Seabury Gym, or by calling 986-88-30, 986-9341 ext. 5424, or writing to Roland Wierwille Basketball Camp, Inc., CPO 2329, Berea College, Berea, 40404. The earliest applications will be given first preference.

Wierwille has just completed his 17th season as head coach of the Berea College Mountaineers. In those 17 years Wierwille has led his teams to four KMAC conference titles, gained ten NAIA play-off berths, and the District "32" title and national tournament appearance in 1985.

Superior Rating given to nursing home

The Cabinet for Human Resources has awarded a Rockcastle County health care facility the state's highest rating for a level of patient care provided to residents of the long-term care facility.

The "Superior" rating was made for the personal care unit of the Sowder Nursing Home of Brodhead.

Kentucky nursing homes are rated for each level of care offered following the annual inspections by the cabinet's Division of Licensing and Regulation.

Woodrow Dunn, Licensing and Regulation director, said, "Kentucky's nursing home reform law established the rating system for individual levels of care. So the public could get an idea of the quality of service provided by facility.

An "Unrated" status indicates the service is in compliance with the minimum standards. A "Conditional" rating means that deficiencies have been found which must be corrected before that level of care will be in compliance.

Dunn said, "It's important for people to realize that each level of care is rated individually. Facilities offering more than one level of residential care have separate ratings for each unit.

A facility level of care earning a "Superior" rating has exceeded those standards in at least six of the 11 areas inspected. Those 11 areas are administration, drugs and biologicals, dietary and nutrition services, life safety code, nursing services, physical environment, physical and restorative therapy, social services and activities, medical services, patients' rights and record keeping.

Dunn said, "The real incentive for nursing homes to achieve a 'Superior' rating is in the message it gives the public about the home's quality of care."

Pasture renovation

Farmers should consider renovating their pastures this year by adding clover or other legumes into their cool season grass pastures, according to a University of Kentucky agronomist.

Last year's drought and high temperatures dramatically reduced the legume content in many Kentucky pastures, said Garry Lacerfield, Extension forages specialist with UK's Research and Education Center in Princeton.

"In addition, late winter or early spring seedings during 1988 and 1987 were not as successful as normal due to limited moisture during the establishment periods," he said. "As a result of the reduced amount of legumes in many pastures, serious consideration should be given to renovating pastures in 1989."

Pastures renovated with clovers or other legumes improve production and quality, Lacerfield said.

"Most of the growth of cool-season grasses such as fescue, orchardgrass or blue grass occurs during the first one-third of the growing season," he said. "Legumes grow more during the summer months than do cool season grasses. As a result legume-grass mixtures improve the seasonal distribution of pastures over that of grass alone."

In addition to improved summer production, he said UK research shows that renovation of cool season grasses usually increases total yield. Not only is more feed produced, the quality is higher, he said, which improves animal performance. Cattle gain more weight because the feed is more palatable, more digestible and contains more minerals and vitamins.

"Many research studies show that legume or legume-grass mixtures stimulate liveweight gain, animal growth, milk production and reproductive efficiency far above that for grass alone or grass fertilized with nitrogen," he said.

Phosphorus content in swine feedstuffs

Nutritionists have generally assumed that about one-third of the phosphorus in cereal grains and other feedstuffs of plant origin is available to pigs, but researchers at the University of Kentucky have determined that phosphorus availability varies widely among feedstuffs.

Researchers Tom Burnell, Gary Cromwell and Tim Stahly found that about 46 percent of the phosphorus in triticale is available to pigs, whereas only 14 percent of the phosphorus in hominy feed (corn product) is available. They also found that when corn was processed to remove the starch for manufacturing to corn sweetener, the phosphorus in the resulting by-product, corn gluten feed, was highly available (59 percent).

"Swine producers who formulate their rations without regard for the differences in availability of the nutrients may be shortchanging their hogs," Cromwell said. "And at times they may even be including more phosphorus supplements in their feed than is actually necessary, and phosphates are expensive," he said.

The researchers fed graded levels of phosphorus from various sources or from a highly available phosphorus source, monosodium phosphate, then they used bone strength to establish the relative availability of phosphorus in different feedstuffs.

"We were not too surprised about the high availability value for triticale," Cromwell said. "Because triticale is a cross between wheat and rye. Our previous research has shown that availability of phosphorus in wheat is quite high."

The researchers presented the findings of their research at the 25th annual meeting of the Midwestern Section of the American Society of Animal Science in Des Moines, Iowa, March 21-22, 1989.

Research help farmers

When the University of Kentucky's Research and Education Center in Princeton was first dedicated back in 1925, more than 8,000 people showed up. Maybe a part of the reason was a team of mules was given away as a door prize.

Another reason for the support which continues until this day was the respect farmers had and have for the technological and experimental expertise available from UK's specialists in swine, beef, cattle, horticulture, small grain research, entomology, agricultural engineering and other areas.

Farmers asked that the experiment station be placed in western Kentucky, said Donnie Davis, superintendent of the 1,300-acre research facility. Farmers helped obtain funding for the new $3 million dollar building which provides office, laboratory space and conference rooms that accommodate up to 400 people.

"In 1988, there were over 250 meetings in our conference rooms with almost 10,000 attendees," Davis said. "The largest single one was the Pennyrite Area Homemakers with 350 attending."

There are also field days each year which attract farmers from the region, Davis said. The largest is the All Commodity Field Day, held every other year, which attracts about 2,000.

In addition, the Hopkinsville Community College now teaches some night classes at the Research and Education Center.

"We're more than just a place to have meetings and conferences," Davis said. "At any given time, 50 to 60 different experiments are being conducted here at the station and on farms with cooperating farm owners."

The center also now operates a soil testing lab which serves most of western Kentucky.

"We've run over 86,000 samples since the lab opened in 1982," Davis said. "They ran 16,000 samples just in 1988."

Before the soil testing lab was opened, all samples had to be mailed to Lexington, he said, and because the lab was handling requests from all over the state, it was difficult to respond promptly.

"Turn-around time has been much better with the Princeton Lab. We get soil test results back to the farmers quicker," Davis said. "Recently computers have become available, and soil test results can be sent back to the county even faster. Many counties already participate in this program."

A plant diagnostic lab was opened at the Research and Education Center in 1983 to diagnose diseases affecting western Kentucky farm operations. So far about 6,000 samples have been submitted and diagnosed.

"Before, plant samples had to be sent to Lexington just like the soil test samples," Davis said. "By the time a plant sample arrived in Lexington by mail, it frequently could not be determined what was wrong. With the lab in Princeton, we hopefully get better results back to the farmers quicker."

Among the experiments underway at the center is one by Extension entomologist Doug Johnson who uses an innovative technique under field conditions to control tobacco budworms, a pest which costs Kentucky tobacco farmers $500,000 a year. He, along with co-workers in Lexington, are seeking to control the pest by inflicting the male budworm with a virus. Upon mating, the female becomes infested and in turn infests her eggs and a portion of the plant. When the insects hatch and feed on the infested plant, they ingest the virus and die.

Jim Herbeck, Lloyd Murdock and others are doing research on a new crop which may be of significant economic interest to the region. Canola, a genetically improved variety of the rapeseed plant, is being tested in a double-cropping system with soybeans. Canola is lower in cholesterol and hydrogenated fats than some oils, and an increasing market may be available to Kentucky farmers when a new processing plant in Chattanooga is completed.

"The experiment station's growth has been slow but steady over the years," Davis said, "and I think this means it's going to continue."

He added, "Western Kentucky is where the agriculture is in Kentucky with 65 percent of the corn, 90 percent of the soybeans, and 80 percent of its wheat. It's also home of the state's top pork, vegetable and fruit producing counties."

Crime Prevention: Watching out, Helping out

Crime and the fear of crime are big problems which influence how you live. Figures and statistics don't tell the whole story. Because each incident of crime hurts all of us -- our neighborhoods, our schools, our businesses and our children.

"What can be done? Plenty!"

The most important resources we have in reducing crime and fear in our neighborhoods are neighbors working together to prevent crime.

Crime prevention. You know what it means? It means making it harder for crime to happen. It means protecting people and property, and increasing community safety and well being. Most of all, it means people like you taking responsibility for your own and your neighbors' security, and knowing and working with local law enforcement and your neighbors to protect your homes, your neighborhoods, and your kids.

Crime prevention is watching out, and helping out.

And it's easier than you think. Crime prevention activities are practical and direct approaches to reducing crime and fear in neighborhoods. Crime prevention is working in neighborhoods all around the country. It can work in yours. And the time to begin is before you, your family, and your neighbors are victimized by crime.

Crime prevention is catching on. Polls show that one in six Americans lives in a community with some kind of organized volunteer anti-crime program.

If you are interested in this local program, contact the president of the All American Club, Charles Wayne Bullock, at 256-4347. Marketa Lynn is the state coordinator.

"CITY COUNCIL" (Cont. From Front)

Group was once again on the agenda. The Renfro group wants the city to provide sewer and water for their complex. The group also wants the City of Mt. Vernon to apply for a loan for them.

"They (Renfro) are not in the city limits, I don't see how we can help them," Mayor Cromer added. City Attorney Clontz then advised the council to let engineer Richard Moore look over their proposal. He also advised that Renfro could be a boost to the local city and county economy, therefore the city council did not want to give a negative impression to the Renfro Entertainment Group.

A Saturday night at the Red Barn in Renfro Valley

JIM AND RUBYANN GASKINS provided some old-time fiddle playing and a "kitchen(?) band for the audience at the Red Barn last Saturday night. The two are regular performers there and were very well-received by the audience who enjoyed Jim's mastery of the fiddle and Ruby Ann's comedy skit with Bam Wilson. Also in the photo is Clyde Foley on the guitar. We are told by those who know a great deal more about music than we do that Foley is a top-knotch musician and the Red Barn is very fortunate to have his talent available to them.

THE CHANEY SISTERS from London open the musical part of the Red Barn's Saturday night show which was practically a sell-out last Saturday night.

BETTY JEAN HURT was pleasing to the ear and eye during the Red Barn show Saturday night.

Both show barns are well-worth price of admission

By: Perlina M. Anderkin
This is the last feature we will do on the two entertainment facilities at Renfro Valley, the Old Barn and the Red Barn, and if we haven't enticed you yet to give them a chance to entertain you one Saturday night soon, it's your loss.

Both shows are more than worth the price of admission and we are fortunate in this county to have such high-level entertainment available for us and tourists to the area.

Of course, bigger and better things for the "Valley" are reportedly planned, such as a new 1,500 seat auditorium, nightly shows during the season, etc.

And, with the coming of April, the Red Barn goes to two shows each Saturday night at 7:30 and 9:30. The price of admission is reasonable so you really have no excuse to give the entertainment available locally a whirl. It's good clean down-home fun and the entertainment and comedy available are second to none for many, many miles around.

We were looking forward to our visit to the Red Barn Saturday night and we were not disappointed. Bun Wilson, who appeared for many years with the late Ernest Tubbs, is so good and, as one of the last numbers of the show, Bun does a gospel number and it was amazing to discover that he had other talents besides his superb talent for comedy.

As always, we were impressed with Pete Stampler whose opening monologue kept the audience laughing (I don't know how his wife felt about it) and who kept the talent moving throughout the show as well as being involved in the show himself. Our only disappointment was that he didn't sing "Chevakaiserosidmotsakawitha continentaliki" (or something like that).

The show's band, The Straight Men, are all very talented musicians, especially one Clyde Foley who must just love to perform in the Valley because we were surprised that the Opry or some other bigger arena hasn't already snapped him up. Other members of the band are: Bill Wagers on the drums; Fred Wooten, steel guitar; Steve Hayes, bass guitar and Terry Benge, electric keyboard.

Beginning this Saturday night, the Red Barn will go to two performances each Saturday night at 7:30 and 9:30

It's time in this county to have people on the Fiscal Court who are willing to go the extra mile. When Pete Stamper introduced Gerald King of Madison County, Saturday night at the Red Barn, he told the audience that it had been tough to get Gerald to fit the Red Barn into his schedule and we can see why because he is talented and no doubt busy because of it. King's father and uncle performed at Renfro Valley during the late 40's.

If you didn't make it to the Red Barn this month, you missed a class act. Shelly Rand was there through March but has now left for Nashville to try her luck and we think she will have plenty of it.

And, what's a country music show without cloggers. This spot was very ably filled by the S/S Editions. They exhibited, a lot of talent and enthusiasm and the audience showed their appreciation.

girls, mostly at Berea College. We had settled down and got a construction job. Everyone of us went in separate directions, some in Ohio, others to Chicago. Most of us worked for Tommy Clark. Me, Hardin, Doug Baker, Marvin McQuarter, Bruce Cook and LeeRoy worked in Ohio. I was eighteen now, on my own, with all my friends. We would work all week and on weekends see the world.

We learned a lot, saw and heard strange things that happen in the Big City Life, especially in Chicago. We had almost quit drinking and none of us took drugs, because of our work. We were finished when fall came. I thought about not going back to school, but I looked at my bank account, and I only had $700 in the bank. So I gave my boss two weeks notice and started back to school. This time I tried. I was a sophomore and I knew I had to finish school. Although I made good money, I wanted to make better. I still parted some, but very little after that. Both me and Hardin quit our jobs and started back to school, but he missed making the greenbacks, so he quit school about Christmas and started back to work. After school was out, Tommy let me work with him again that summer, as a matter of fact. I traveled quite a bit, from Fort Lauderdale, Florida to some places in Colorado to the outskirts of New York City. I saved my money, put it in the bank, and fixed up a small house and moved out of my parents' house. Hardin bought a motorcycle, a 400 street bike, from Penny, a man who was a good friend, older, and a party animal. Then he bought a car, and I bought the bike off of him, dirt cheap. I rode it around for a long time. This bike was faster and more powerful than any bike I ever owned. It would run 140 mph. I only rode it one time that fast. The air would almost blow me off the bike.

Life went on, and everything was fine. I was working every evening after school, for neighbors and on cars and bikes. I had picked up a little knowledge in auto mechanics and learned a lot on my own about mechanics. I fixed a few transmissions and motors and got by.

I felt strange, but wonderful, living on my own and going to school. The first night at our bachelors' pad, me and Hardin had a party. It was to be a cool and hip party for all the gang and girls who helped paint the house. But it ended up an alcoholic dream. Marvin got off work. So did about twelve of my friends. They brought about ten cases of beer and all kinds of wine and other drinks. It was a mess. I ended up about half drunk, and babysitting a bunch of other boys and girls. After that had a slight accident. My mom and dad talked me into moving back with them. I hesitated, but finally did.

When I had the motorcycle accident, it all happened on a Sunday that I was looking forward to. Me and LeeRoy and Bobby Joe made it up to get a bunch of boys to go riding Sunday, and to meet at the Climax Post Office at 6 o'clock sharp.

We agreed, but I ended up haunting my mind 1:30, then I headed for home when I met the boys waiting on me. Some of the boys' bikes were torn up. Others decided not to go. By 2:30 only five bikes out of fifty went on the ride. I filled up my tank and lost the way. I was to lead, and Lee Roy was to bring up the rear. Tommy Oliver, Bobby Joe, and some boy from Sand Gap were between us. We took off on our ride and rode now and then we pulled over and checked the bikes to make sure everything was working right. Then a couple of college girls we knew climbed on mine and Tommy's bikes. At Salt Peter Cave my brakes went out and Tommy's started cutting out, not running right. We pulled over, and adjusted my brakes and fixed Tommy's motor and took off again. Everything went well. We were driving about thirty to forty mph. Then we met Rick Baker, Doug's older brother, on a little green mini bike. His dad had fixed my brakes went out and climbed on behind Lee Roy. Now there were eight of us. We decided to go on Green Pond Ridge. Me and LeeRoy told everyone to get on their bikes and get ready for rough country. We took off, I was in the lead. Then something knocked my wire off of the battery and my motor died. I was losing oil bad, so he parked it and ahead of me now. I took off and they waited on me at the log pile and let me back in front. Again LeeRoy brought up the rear and I supposed Bobby Joe wanted to lead. He passed Tommy and I cut over into the next lane to avoid a huge rock. He yelled, "No!" about the time he passed me in the ditch, and I saw he was going to wreck. So I cut back over in the other lane to avoid wrecking myself. He wrecked in that lane. I saw his leg scooting down the gravel, and Jamie was holding on for dear life. He had wrecked about ten feet in front of me. I was doing about twenty mph. I hit my brakes and went into one heck of a skid. I slid my bike around, got hold of Jennifer, who was riding with me, and laid my bike over, sliding around. The bike was on top of me. Jennifer, I had helped off of the motorcycle. Jennifer's hand was skinned, and Bobby's knee was busted up. I asked if everybody was all right. Jennifer didn't get a scratch. I told LeeRoy, who had stopped in time, and Tommy, who barely escaped the wreck, to get the bike off me. They put me up. My foot was twisted all the way around. I thought I had just bruised it, but when the bike came off my leg, I tried to get up. Then I knew, when my foot started dangling like a piece of cloth or something, that it was broken. They put me in the road. LeeRoy twisted my foot back around. The girls were screaming, going out of their minds. Bobby was limping around, telling me how sorry he was, and I was lying on the ground trying to keep a cool head. Tommy, not knowing what to do, was running around in circles. I finally sent him to get my dad. He did, and I was taken to the hospital and fixed up. Me and LeeRoy were the only two that kept our senses. The rest were crying until I went to the hospital.

Two weeks ago the Doc fixed me up and sent me home. I was all right. Then the hospital drove me nuts. I spent about twenty-four hours there, when I came home I laid down and slept and tried to go to school on a Tuesday. I made it to school on the bus, but got sicker than a dog, and went back home. I spent two weeks on my back in a cast, and did some homework for school. Now that I am dead, I'm going rabbit hunting tonight.

Your Child's Health

By: Dr. John Payne

As the flu epidemic winds down doctors are seeing more patients with pneumonia and other complications arising from the body being weakened by the flu virus. Often people are very frightened by the word pneumonia, and are sure the patient is critically ill. Actually, most cases of pneumonia are not very serious in children and often they are not admitted to the hospital. The great fear of the word pneumonia probably comes from back when there were no antibiotics to fight infections, and especially from people who remember the great flu epidemic of 1918 when millions of people died after having the flu. Pneumonia may be serious in elderly people confined to bed, and who cannot cough strongly. However, in children and infants it usually doesn't amount to too much. Most cases of pneumonia, or infection in the lungs, are due to viruses. However, since it is very hard for children to cough up sputum and give us a good specimen to examine, and since we can't be sure, we usually give antibiotics, either by mouth or by injection. A vaporizer, increased fluids, and medicine to help loosen the cough are also used.

A diagnosis of pneumonia usually needs to be confirmed by a chest x-ray. However, if the doctor says your child has a chest infection, or bad bronchitis the treatment will likely be the same as if a diagnosis of pneumonia is confirmed. The term "Walking pneumonia" is sometimes used to indicate a chest infection in someone not sick enough to be in the hospital. Most cases in young children fall into this category whether they are old enough to walk or not.

VOTE FOR Stewart (Sap) Parsons Magistrate 4th District

Here is how I plan to work for a cleaner county:

First, you will not see any of my posters up because I plan to clean up the litter, not cause more.

If you drive over our county roads, you just don't see a few garbage dumps over hillsides, there are many of them. Just to mention one, visit Copper Creek Hill. The ditch lines and roadsides are also full. So I intend to work to get the prisoners who are serving time to clean the ditches and roads and also the dumps over the hills. All of those refrigerators that you see over the hills and dumps have a gas in them that is polluting our streams and no one seems to care.

I will work for a garbage plan or franchise controlled by Fiscal Court. We have, at the present time, a person getting paid to see about garbage. This person is carrying two jobs. Road foreman and also garbage coordinator and getting paid for both. Seems like they are trying to cover the garbage with garbage as many as is being hauled. But, why should he care about our county? He does not live in Rockcastle County.

There needs to be a central location for people to bring discarded appliances to so they can be disposed of properly.

If elected, this is only one of the important issues I will deal with as your 4th District Magistrate
Thank You,

"What Saith The Scriptures"

The Lord Jesus in Mt. 15:13-14 said, "Every plant, which my heavenly father hath not planted, shall be rooted up. Let them alone; they be blind leaders of the blind. And if the blind lead the blind both shall fall into the ditch." What is it that God plants? According to Luke 8:11, which is the interpretation of the parable of the sower, the seed that is sown is the Word of God.

When God's word is planted in the hearts of men, it will produce a Christian, nothing more, nothing less and not something else. Now when false teachers come along and add the doctrines and the commandments of men with the word of God, you have a planting not of God. What did Jesus say would happen to those whom God did not plant? They "shall be rooted up!"

Earlier in Mt. 15, Jesus had been showing that their human tradition had caused them to transgress God's commands, vs. 3. Then in vs. 9, he says "But in vain they do worship me, teaching for doctrines the commandments of men."

The word vain suggests the idea, useless, void, to not avail, worthless. Yes, Jesus said they "worship me" but it is vain, worthless, void and to no avail, all because of the doctrines and the commandments of men.

The problem of vain worship still continues today, with human denominationalism. With all the man-made doctrines and teachings that people are following are all in vain. They shall be rooted up because they are plants that God has not planted. How sad it is that people so blindly follow blind leaders. Jesus said both shall fall into the ditch.

God's word is so marvelous to guide and direct to us what is pleasing to God. It tells us exactly who and what to believe in. Christ and his church is the only planting of God in the world, all the rest my friends shall be rooted up. Open your hearts and minds to God's word for the truth shall make you free. In. 8:32.

Students learn to read while writing on computers

By: Richard Anderkin

It used to be Reading, Writing and Arithmetic that most educators agreed should be taught in all schools. Now many educators think the basic curriculum should be Reading, Writing and Computers.

Since October of last year local students have been getting all three in each of the county's grade schools. Thanks in part to I.B.M., Forward in the Fifth and the Appalachian Regional Commission.

The program, Writing to Read, involves kindergarten and first grade students.

The purpose of the program is to use computers to enhance reading and writing skills of the students and to also teach them computer skills, according to Superintendent of Schools Bige Towery Jr.

Rockcastle County is the only school district in Kentucky's Fifth District to have the computer labs in all of the grade schools.

Every day each student is required to visit the reading computer station where he or she learns new words for the day. Each student also visits the "work journal station" where he uses workbooks to enforce what he has learned. All students are required to visit that station every day.

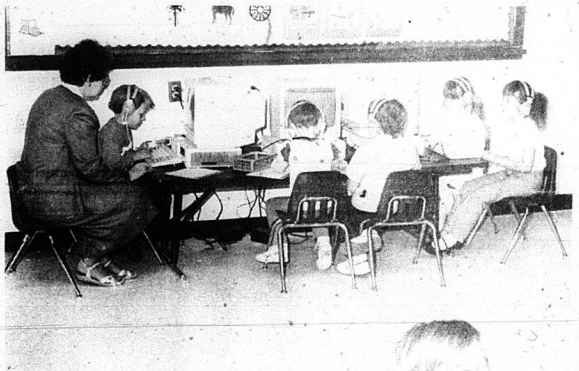

Next they have a choice. They can use games to learn new words at the "make word station".

There are a total of six stations in each lab and students spend one hour each day in the lab.

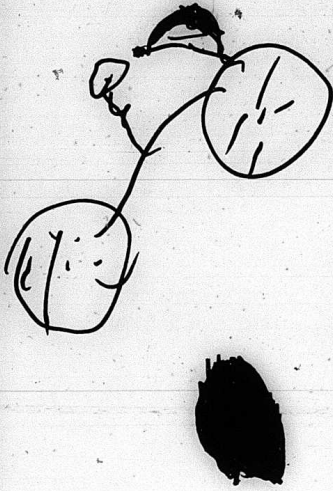

The state and I.B.M. will monitor the test scores of students involved in the program to see how the computer lab has effected the score.

Mrs. Judy Petry the Computer Lab aid at Brodhead helps Brandi Consiglio with a problem during class Monday morning. Mrs. Petry is one of four aids that were hired by the board of education to help in the computer labs in the county grade schools.

Students draw pictures and write about what they have done in the computer lab. Such as David Edwards who drew the picture above and wrote "bicycle ball oil. In the photo below that Ashley Hooker drew she wrote, cat man book we went on a field trip., truck, balloons eggs sick people flowers hors snak turtl kit pigs sun moon oil fish vas. Beware of chain letters

The Postal Inspection Service reports that an unusually high number of chain letter complaints are being received in the Central Kentucky area. Consumers are cautioned that, even though the initial letter is purchased for $10 (in person), the mails are used in sending $5 money orders or cashier's checks to the first listed individual on a list of 13 that is attached to the letter.

Purchasers are told they are "on their way to receiving over $40,000" through the U.S. Mails in the form of $5 money orders or cashier's checks. They are told to sit back, relax, and enjoy their last 13 days of doing without. They are further promised that the first installment of their mail order wealth will amount to $8,192. The Postal Inspection Service, the law enforcement arm of the Postal Service, challenges these promotions because they conflict with postal lottery, false representations, and/or

America in the Age of Aids and Kentucky Responds to Aids

By 1993, someone you know will have AIDS. It is the most devastating and complex health problem facing our society today. Reported AIDS cases in Kentucky increased almost five times from 1982 to 1988. KET focuses on the moral, social, economic, and legal implications of the often fatal disease when it airs the national documentary America in the Age of AIDS, hosted and narrated by award-winning journalist Linda Ellerbe. The 60-minute documentary will be followed by the KET call-in special Kentucky Responds to AIDS. See Kentucky Responds to AIDS Wednesday, April 5 at 8 p.m. on KET.

fraud statutes. They offer prize (large amount of money) receipt of which depends upon the chance that later recipients of the chain letter, over whom the participant has no control, might also participate in accordance with the letter's terms. In addition, payment of a fee to sponsors of the promotion is a requisite. History is replete with proof chain letter participants become victims and that the promises made are impossible to achieve for all participants, even if all involved follow instructions to the letter.

Except for certain state operated lotteries, use of the mails in furtherance of a lottery is prohibited by Title 18, U.S. Code, Section 1302. Use of the mails in furtherance of a scheme to defraud is prohibited by Title 18, U.S. Code, Section 1342. In addition to the losses participants are likely to sustain, they may also be subject to challenge under the Civil Administrative False Representation and Lottery Statute, Title 39, U.S. Code, Section 3005. This law authorizes the Postal Service to withhold from delivery mailed remittances induced by a false representation scheme or lottery. The Inspection Service warns consumers to be cautious when considering questionable promotions. Complainants are encouraged to contact the Postal Inspector's Office at 606/231-6778. In emergencies, they should call the Postal Inspector in Charge, Cincinnati, Ohio, 513/684-5700.

Poet's Corner

Over the hill to the poorhouse
By: Mae Taylor

Over the hill to the poorhouse I'm judging my weary way I, a woman of seventy eight, an only a trifle gray

I, who am smart and chipper for all the years I've been told, As many another woman that is only half as old

Over the hill to the poorhouse I can't quite make it clear Over to the poorhouse it seems so horrid queer

Many a step I've taken to toiling and to fro But this is a sort of journey I never thought I'd be

I am ready and willing and anxious any To work for a decent living and pay my honest way,

For I can earn my victuals, an more I'll be found If any body is willing to only have me around

And when I got married, sure he was good and smart But he and all my neighbors would own I done my part For life was all before me and I was young and strong

And I worked my best and smartest in trying to get along

And so we worked together, and life was hard but gay With now and then a body to cheer us on our way

Till we had four all an grown clan as neat And went to school like others and had enough to eat

Strange how much we think of our little ones I'd have died for my daughter, I'd have died for my son

And God make that rule of love, but when were old and gray I've noticed sometimes it fails to work that way

Over the hill to the poorhouse my children dear, good by Many a night I've watched you when

And God will judge between us But I will always pray that you shall never suffer the half as I do today.

Who Am I?

By: Mary A. McFerron

As the child of my parents I'm the first born As the parents of my children, I'm their mother

To my friends, sometimes I probably seem foolish

I'm sure they wonder why the bother

I'm a waitress, a cook, a seamstress, a sometimes poet All these things I will give a good try

But sometimes I feel I'm a failure and I just say "Lord, who am I?"

Sometimes I have good intentions of doing my best for my fellowman But it seems like I fail more than I win

Maybe the reason I seem to fail is that I set my goals too high Each day I realize I must try again

Who am I to tackle this task No one has accomplished before Who am I to think I can do better

In this walk along life's shore But I pray God will give me the courage

To be the best I can in all I try Then at the end when life is over I'll find the answer to the question "Who Am I?"

Birds

By: Mayzell Ries

Do you ever wonder how birds survive? How do they live in the winter? What keeps them alive?

Some birds fly south, before the snows get here. Some stay because they have no fear

They know some of the people will feed them some seeds Bread and cracker crumbs They'll take care of their needs

Sometimes children are mean They take B-B guns and shoot them in the head

And then they run to them to see if they are dead

They think they've done something grand I think B-B guns should be banned

Let's preserve our birds Don't kill them for no reason Keep the feed out And they come back every season

It's fun to watch them build their nests With twig and sand they do their best

They lay their eggs and hatch them out It's fun to see them up and about

Birds are God's creatures too He made them for me and you

He put them on earth for us to enjoy Not for us to destroy

The Plant

By: John Holbrook

I know some that I won't name But I tell this tale just the same

This here tale went something like this And I hope there's nothing I miss

Run here mommy but don't you faint When you see my marijuana plant

It just came up on its own So I'd like to keep it till it's grown

Many times that mommy would say You had better destroy that plant today

You know son it's not safe To grow that plant on your place

Mommy I see no harm To grow one plant on this whole farm

From time to time he'd view his prize And even treat it to a little fertilizer

One day the police came to mommy's house Just then he thought "My mommy's a louse"

He thought his mommy had turned him in If he was caught he could be sent to the pen

He wasn't bad but he weren't no saint But he set out to destroy that marijuana plant

All this he did for his own sake

He grabbed that cursed plant out of ground And ran everywhere and scattered it around

He hurried through a barb wire fence Before this scattering he did commence

You could have guessed where he'd been By looking at the scratches in his skin

There was no reason for him to get shook The police went on up the hill to catch a crook

To save a lot of trouble in the long run The growing of this plant, you'd better shun

Get Behind Me Satan

By: Anna L. Clifford

Satan get behind me Don't try to do me in I have Jesus with me You're no match for Him

This is one battle You're not about to win I've already won the victory When Jesus saved my soul from sin

I know you'll never give up Trying to harm my soul But when I say get behind me Satan That's when you have to go!

"You"

By: Karen Noe

You are the star that shines within my sky You make me laugh, you also make me cry

You create the smiles that seem so far apart For you carved another scar that's etched within my heart

The pieces of my life are a puzzle so it seems You found the pieces then scattered all my dreams

Hopefully, I wander in the darkness of the night Searching for a path, searching for a light

I gather up the pieces and start my life anew No one touches my heart and my friends will be few

Brother

Written in memory of Aruel
By: Wanda Burton (Baby Sis)

A hard working boy from a family of ten Leading the way doing the chores For several years he fought in the war

Wounded a few times, oh his feet were so sore He would send home money, saying go to the store

Christmas is coming he knew we were poor The depression was rough he wanted us children to have some stuff

God saw him through and back home he came Married and raised a family of four

He was a brother you could depend on With his eight grandchildren he loved to play games

Oh, how we all miss him Since that heart attack came

Don't Give Up On Your Dreams

By: Jimmy Hayes

If today your dream doesn't come true you can look for it tomorrow. So there is no reason to fill your today's only with sorrow

Just lift your head and hold it high, your dreams will come true if you reach for the sky.

You can't give up on your wishes and dreams. Because they are the things that last it seems.

So let yesterday go and live today And look for tomorrow better things to come your way

Yesterday is gone and today is passing. But our tomorrows are everlasting.

So don't give up on your dreams and don't give up on your dreams because You never know what your future may hold.
