"MOBLEY'S CRAFT SHOP"

Austin, the outspoken, sometimes controversial Church of Christ preacher makes all of the wood crafts that are sold at the shop.

Ranging from $5 tooth pick holders to $50 quilt racks, Austin's wood crafts are the top seller in the shop. He makes all of the items in his workshop at home.

His top seller is the quilt racks, but he also makes gun racks, door knockers, paper towel and napkin holders, Reindeer, wall coats racks and many other items.

The Mobley's also sell antique furniture that they have stripped, fixed and refinished. Faye and Austin both refinish the furniture. They explained that it takes about 40 hours of hard work to finish a piece properly.

The furniture at the shop now includes a beautiful solid oak bedroom suite, antique kitchen cabinet, a dish safe full of depression glass, a picnic set, an oak table and chairs, a wash stand and a 1930 Singer sewing machine that runs.

The Mobleys also have many other items at their home on Lake Linnville.

"We could have sold each one of these items at least 25 times, but people usually don't take about it," she said. "It's not the first time that has happened," she added.

Faye says that she will miss the people that come into the shop most of all. "We have met so many nice people," she said. "We have had our customers come in three or four times a year and we have gotten to know many of them very well," she said. "This place just seems to attract nice people," she added.

No pay is being received for their work at Waynesburg, so when the Mobley's close out the shop, they will continue to do some work at their home, but until then if you need a country music album by their son Gary or maybe a 1920 Crescent gas stove you can find it at Log Cabin Crafts in Renfro Valley.

"POET'S CORNER"

I was searching for something but I didn't know what Now I have found the answer the answer is God

There was an empty spot in my life one I could not fill Until one day I met Jesus the one who has so much to give

He took away the loneliness the hurting deep inside As I began to realize It was for me He came and died

Now I look forward to each day I spend with Him And I days of aimless living will never be my lot again.

Upcoming KET Events

Voices of Memory
Monday, May 8 at 8 p.m. on KET

From the legends of Star Wars movies to urban rapping, the oral history tradition is alive and well. This one-hour special traces the roots of cultures in the southeastern United States that have preserved their histories through the oral tradition, enriching the lives of all Americans. Featured are the stories and traditions passed down from generation to generation among the Cherokee Indians of the Great Smoky Mountains, the Europeans who settled Appalachia, and the African-Americans brought to this country in slavery.

Gurney Norman explores history and culture of the Big Sandy in KET special
From This Valley

Amid the breathtaking beauty of the 1000-foot gorge known as the Breaks of the Sandy, author and outdoorsman Gurney Norman begins a journey along the Big Sandy River to explore the history and culture of its people. The resulting one-hour special, From This Valley, airs on KET at 8 p.m. Monday, May 15.

While hiking the woody trails and cascades of the quiet creek waters, Norman reflects on the rich heritage of the region, which has produced an abundance of writers, historians, musicians, and artists over the years. "People are used to a definition of Eastern Kentucky as a place that has seen its coal and oil and timber and even its people out to enrich the larger world. But that Eastern Kentucky as a land has also given the world a goodly portion of writers, artists, scholars, and educators is less appreciated; and it's time that story was told."

In From This Valley, Norman introduces us to authors Verna Mae Stone of Pippa Passes, Billy C. Clark of Catsburg, and Denise Giardina of Bluefield, W. Va., whose writings are deeply rooted in the Big Sandy region. "As I traveled in the mountains, I gradually became aware of the Big Sandy as a place that not only had a magnificent story surrounding it, but also had produced many individuals who wrote books that, in their different ways, rendered the stories of the valley," says Norman.

Pausing at various sites along the tributaries, Norman recounts notable events in Kentucky history that have occurred in the Big Sandy region, including the explorations of frontiersman Daniel Boone, the capture and escape of pioneer woman Jenny Wiley, and the tragic Hatfield-McCoy feud. In the sensational media coverage of the feud, "one sees how the whole problem of stereotyping mountains folks by the national press began," Norman says.

Norman also discusses early 20th century events in From This Valley: the formation of coal camps such as Wheelwright in 1916 and the bitter coal mining disputes of the '20s and '30s when efforts were made to unionize the miners of Southern Appalachia. In Wheelwright, Norman introduces us to an oral history project undertaken by students of Carol Stumbo. Teachers like Stumbo are using the "local community as a living tool for education" in an innovative way, says Norman.

Modern day achievements and traditions of the area also are featured in From This Valley. In Pikeville, Norman points to the rechanneling of the Big Sandy through the mountain at Pikeville as a dramatic turning point in the history of the region. In another segment, Norman attends the Johnson County Apple Festival held each year in Paintsville for area natives. Here Norman joins in the homecoming festivities and music making as he ticks off the names of the region's offspring who have found success in the music industry: Ricky Skaggs, Dwight Yokum, the Judds, Loretta Lynn, Crystal Gale and Patti Loveless. "Music in the mountains is part of the very air you breathe," says Norman.

As for the festival itself Norman says, "It isn't just Johnson Countians who have a sense of pleasure in belonging to their place. People in every rural Kentucky county feel it. It's a sense of belonging somewhere, of having something in common with people you know and who know you," Norman says.

In the final scene of From This Valley, Norman reflects on "our throwaway society" and our vanishing heritage and culture. From his journey into the Big Sandy, Norman knows hope and reassurance from the discovery that "much of the old value remains in the minds and memories of the older people, and in the energy and spirit of the young people who identify with the Big Sandy Valley as home."

From This Valley is a KET production directed and produced by John Morgan. Norman, who is now an associate professor of English at the University of Kentucky, wrote the script. From This Valley was made possible in part by a grant from the Corporation for Public Broadcasting and the Southern Educational Communications Association.

Friends of KET receive award

The Friends of KET recently received the Jan Mitchell Community Development Award for the coordination of seven Teaching With Television Award Receptions held in Kentucky during 1988. The award was presented at the annual meeting of the National Friends of Public Broadcasting.

The National Friends of Public Broadcasting Conference was held concurrently with the 1989 Public Television Annual Meeting in San Diego April 8-12. Accepting the award on behalf of the Friends of KET Board Members and County Coordinators were Ruth Wesley, incoming president of the Friends Board of Directors, KET Deputy Executive Director Sandra H. Welch, and Jan Mullancy, KET Community Services administrator.

HAVE OUR COUNTY OFFICIALS FALLEN ASLEEP?

It's time to wake up and build a better future for our community.

ELECT DEE HOPKINS

Magistrate 3rd District,

Republican Party May 23rd Primary #1 on the Ballot

My decision for running for magistrate is for the needs of our county, now and for the future. I am asking for your vote in striving to meet the needs of everyone concerned in Rockcastle County.

In Rockcastle County our parks and recreational areas are very scarce. What we do have is being in the construction business I have been seeing a lot of work going on in all the districts. Up until just recently, not a gravel truck or road maintenance truck had ever been seen. Are these out here, just to get votes? Also, in my personal opinion, the county officials have been too much concerned with these things about how long they've been in office. I am also seeing a lot of work going on, but whether I am elected or not.

From 8:00 p.m. - 7:00 p.m. any evening I will be willing to discuss any matters concerning the improvements of Rockcastle County. Call 758-9251.

More than 100 $5,000 tickets still at retail outlets

Although more than 85 people have won the top prize of $5000 in the Kentucky Derby DreamStakes lottery game, there are still many more such winning tickets available at retail outlets, according to Frank Keener, president of the Kentucky Lottery Corporation. "If all tickets are sold, there are approximately 200 $5000 tickets among all the DreamStakes tickets printed," he said. "With the $5 that have been validated, that leaves more than 100 out there somewhere in retail outlets across the state."

Keener emphasized that neither lottery officials nor retailers have any way of knowing where those tickets are. "Our security system is such that, until a $5000 ticket is validated, no one—not us, not the computer, not even our ticket printer—knows the location of those winning tickets more than $25," he said.

Keener said that each $5000 winner validated before noon on Wednesday, May 3 is eligible for the final television drawing that evening to determine the final 10 of the 25 people who will be the guests of the Lottery for the Kentucky Derby weekend and in the running for the $1 million grand prize to be determined Derby Day. "I've had a chance to talk to many of our winners and they are excited about the chance to go to the Derby and so thrilled with the idea of the $1 million," he said.

Keener also said that lottery ticket sales continued to be strong as the third week for Kentucky's first lottery games came to a close on Tuesday. "Ticket sales for both games totalled $52.5 million, with $27,650,000 in tickets sold for 'Beginner's Luck' and $24,850,000 in tickets sold for 'Kentucky Derby DreamStakes,'" he said. "That puts at $13.93 per capita for total sales," Keener also said that 1,115 people had won $1000, the largest prize in the Beginner's Luck game, in addition to the 85 top prize winners in the DreamStakes game. In addition, more than 27,000 people have won $100 or more in Beginner's Luck and DreamStakes. Prizes range from $1 to $1000 in Beginner's Luck and $2 to $1 million.

Project Graduation

The drug and alcohol free party planned the night of graduation for the seniors gained some much needed funds and approval from the school board.

RCHS Home Economics teacher Betty Glovak, a sponsor of the event and RCHS senior Angie Carl were on hand to give the board an update on Project Graduation and to ask for a donation. According to Carl, the party has at least one car to be given away, many of other prizes and lots of food. Music and games will also be provided for the graduating seniors.

The substance free party will last until 6 A.M. with the parents of the seniors knowing where they are at all times. If the seniors leave the party before it is completed, the parents will be notified.

The board voted to donate $500 to the project and give approval for use of the high school for the party.

Personnel

In personnel moves the board voted to approve reemployment for four certified people pending certification requirements. Teresa Sayble, Kenna Mogg, Elizabeth Moore, and Olive Whitaker were reemployed.

The board also issued a continuing contract to RCHS math teacher, Ed Peterson.

A letter of reasonable assurance of employment was issued to all applicable classified personnel.

The Governor's Scholars were announced for 1989 and Rockcastle County is well represented with four outstanding students.

Chad Abney, Cecil M. Linville II, Angela McKinney were announced as Governor's Scholars. Krisy Fletcher will also be attending the Governor's School for the Arts.

In other business the board approved GED Certificates for Sharlotte Bowling, Jeanette L. Bullock, Cinderella R. Cook and Priscilla A. King.

Change in federal law

Beginning April 29 a new federal law designed to reduce odometer mileage fraud will take effect, requiring the seller or transferee of any motor vehicle to provide mileage disclosure to be placed on the title document.

The change is part of the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration's implementation of the Truth in Mileage Act of 1986. The new law amends the form and content of the odometer disclosure statement, and requires it to appear on the title or a separate written document.

The mileage disclosure must be signed by both the buyer and seller and provided to the county clerk as part of the application for a new title. The law applies to all persons selling or transferring a motor vehicle, including private citizens and used car dealers. It also applies to lessors and lessees, adds a record retention requirement for lessors and auction companies, and extends the record retention requirement for dealers and distributors.

Congress enacted the legislation in response to ongoing consumer problems with odometer fraud. Persons needing further information should contact their county clerk's office.

Kentucky crafts to be feature of Governor's Derby Breakfast

Guests at the annual Governor's Derby Day Breakfast held in Frankfort will once again have the opportunity to see and purchase crafts from 50 of Kentucky's finest craftspeople.

Coordinated by the Kentucky Department of the Arts, the crafts on the lawn have become a familiar sight at the Derby Breakfast.

"Kentucky crafts are a natural way to reflect the cultural heritage of our state," says Arts Commissioner Lanette Thurman. "We are especially pleased to have the opportunity to showcase the work of our craftspeople and artists at a time when Kentucky is spotlighted all over the world."

Papermaker Walt Underwood of Louisville will create a unique paper gassing from roses the Kroger Co. will use in the garland presented to the 1989 Kentucky Derby Winner. Guests will be able to watch Underwood make plaster castings of the roses which he later creates in a framed, limited edition piece. An example of his work is among the crafts in the Capitol display case which is maintained by the Kentucky Department of the Arts.

Other crafts which may be purchased during the Derby Breakfast include jewelry, wearables, baskets, quilts, pottery, toys, dolls, woven rugs, furniture and many other unique decorative items.

Exhibiting craftspeople have been accepted into the Crafts Marketing Program of the Kentucky Department of the Arts through a biannual jury process.

Persons interested in additional information about this exhibition and other Crafts Marketing Programs may call the Kentucky Department of the Arts, (502) 564-8076.

$275,000. The circumstances surrounding the use of the construction manager at Roundstone were primarily because Branscum Const. was already at work on the Mt. Vernon project. According to Garlan Vanhook, architect for both the Mt. Vernon building and the Roundstone addition, the Roundstone school was a special case that warranted a construction manager.

Fred Tarter, vice-president from Branscum, said the bottom line was dollars.

Normally, construction managers can not save a school board money in projects under a substantial amount of money. However, Branscum was doing the Roundstone project for much less than comparable projects because they were already here and they can use many of the same companies that are working on the Mt. Vernon project.

The thyroid gland lies in the middle of the neck, just under the Adam's apple. Its function is to make a hormone which is important for growth and energy level. Too much of its hormone makes a person jittery, high strung and lose weight. Too little causes weight gain, depression, constipation and tiredness.

The thyroid gland is usually not felt when the neck is examined by the doctor. However, in adolescents it may be felt as part of the changes of puberty, especially in girls. Sometimes, perhaps in 1 percent of teenagers, the gland becomes more enlarged. This could be due to a condition called Hashimoto's thyroiditis.

This is not another new appliance from Japan. It is a disease caused by the body making antibodies to its own thyroid. The gland swells up and may produce too little hormone. Sometimes there are no symptoms. If such a swelling is noted upon examination of the young teenager, especially female, a doctor may want to order some blood tests, especially if there are symptoms related to low

Brodhead tries to avoid further E.P.A. problems

Will hire additional person for water department

By: Richard Anderkin

A recent fine by E.P.A. is still on the minds of Brodhead officials and their consultant Jim Cass of Cumberland Valley Area Development District.

Cass told council members and city attorney Jerry Cox that they should try and comply as close as possible to the consent decree they entered into with EPA officials following a fine for polluting Dix River last summer.

The city agreed to hire an additional person to help water superintendent Dee Bussell and assistant Cam Halcomb, but to date have not done that.

The extra person would allow Bussell to spend more time at the plant and repairing leaks in the line, something the EPA felt needed to done.

Council members agreed to allow Bussell and Halcomb to find someone to work for the city.

Councilmembers agreed that Bussell and Halcomb should recommend someone they could work with to the council for hiring. It was not clear whether the person would be hired full or part time.

Cass also told the council that a $300,000 renovation project was still on the drawing board and that bid application would be ready soon.

Cass said that it was his hopes the project to upgrade the city's water treatment plant would be finished by the end of the year.

The city hopes to gain a grant to pay for that completion.

Towns size of Brodhead usually don't have traffic problems of any magnitude to discuss, but Monday night that certainly wasn't the case at the council's regular monthly meeting.

For almost an hour councilmembers and citizens discussed a parking lot beside Marie's Discount on Main Street and a proposed one-laning of School street and the parking problem already on the street.

Police officers Joe Bussell and Grant Petrey asked the council what they should do about people parking in the lot at night. The council had earlier passed an ordinance prohibiting parking in the lot from 6 p.m. to 6 a.m.

But, Councilman D.A. Robbins said that he did not think a town the size of Brodhead should have such a law and if there was a problem with someone taking advantage of the parking in the lot or blocking owners of the buildings, he thought the police could handle it.

Bussell and Petrey said they thought the only problem was with semi-trucks sitting in the lot over night. The police, said they could indeed control that.

Johnny Newland, who lives on School Street told the council that he wanted to go on record as being concerned about the traffic situation on his street.

He asked the council to put some no parking signs on the side of the street that he lives on because, according to Newland he has a great deal of trouble getting in and out of his drive-way before and after school and especially on ballgame and special function nights.

City awards franchise to Southern for 3% fee

By: Jeff Hagmond

The City of Mt. Vernon has about 10 days to submit to the state a contingency plan that would take care of the sludge removal from their sewer plant during wet weather.

The City of Mt. Vernon was cited a month ago for improperly disposing of the liquid sludge.

The hauler, Helton Sanitation, (HSI) was not properly permitted by the state. According to city attorney, John Clontz, even though the city did not know that HSI was not permitted to haul the sludge, they (the city) is still liable for their product or by-product.

The council voted in favor of adopting a plan developed by Richard Moore, sewer engineering consultant for the city. Moore's plan calls for primary action dealing with joining the state's give away program.

The program calls for the sludge to be given to individuals, usually farmers, but the sludge must first be tested and the individuals approved by the state. The testing will cost about $500 per year. If the state approves the plan it could save the city a considerable amount of money.

The city paid HSI about $9,000 last year to haul their sludge.

Moore's plan also called for developing intergovernmental agreements with surrounding towns for disposing of the liquid sludge.

So far, these agreements have not been fruitful for the city. In the past, surrounding cities such as Berea, London and Richmond have been unwilling or unable to take any sludge from Mt. Vernon.

Modifications for water plant

Modifications will soon be underway for the city's water treatment plant that will enable the plant to handle a greater volume of water.

Since the peak use season is approaching, modifications will have to be made in order to service all the customers that rely on the lake for water.

"According to Mayor Gary R. Cromer, "We're selling all the water we can produce at the present time."

Charting Rockcastle

This is not a trash story, but about a trashy thing someone did.
Some residents of the Copper Creek area were very upset last week when someone painted over a "Children Playing" sign with yellow paint and then put a political sign up.
You can't really blame the upset folks. A Mrs. Baker, I forgot her first name, seemed to think that her's and other people's children safety was more important than putting a political poster in a noticeable position.
Fact is the poster should come down and possibly a citation be issued because it is on the State Right of Way and that is strictly against the law.

I was very pleased a couple of weeks ago when the Mt. Vernon City Council voted to commit $200,000 to a proposed new industry.
The council and the mayor listened, asked questions and voted without causing any delays for the prospective industry.

The council made the statement that they know what kind of impact more jobs has for our county and they want to do what they can to help.
U.S. Senator Mitch McConnell was in town last week to hold a town meeting. Before the meeting, he met with local Republican leaders to talk about his re-election effort next year and to take donations for this re-election war chest.

Many people will tell you that they don't vote because they don't think it matters if they cast their vote or not and many others will tell you that their life style doesn't change no matter who is in office.

I haven't kept close tabs on McConnell since he rode President Reagan's coattails into office years ago.

But, I am somewhat of the opinion that things haven't changed or been done any differently since McConnell defeated Democrat "Dec" Huddleston.
I've not been a real big fan of McConnell since the last time he was running. The senator was speaking at a gathering at the library when he told me that he did not want something printed in the paper.

McConnell was getting ready to ask for money for his campaign when he informed me that he did not want it in the Signal.

I really haven't had much use for the senator since, and Thursday did not improve his image with me.

When I got to the courthouse to take McConnell's picture, I was met at the door by one of his aides, who did not want me in the room while he was talking to fellow Republicans.

But, I went in anyway, took his picture and left. I don't know about a politician that wants to censor the news and I don't know if McConnell can get re-elected without a strong Republican presidential candidate with a long coat tail.

You have to keep in mind that Democrats out number Republicans 2 to 1 in our fair state.

Although most things about the recent judge's forum were positive, one thing sorta of bothered me.

Just over a hundred people attended. Very few of those were candidates.

Surely there are more than a hundred concerned citizens and if you were one of those that should be there and weren't, it was your loss.

If last week's single copy price increases next year, then there is an alternative. Subscribe. We'll be more than happy to have one put in your mail box for $12 a year in Rockcastle, $15 a year in the state and $20 per year out of state. You can save as much as $14 a year in the county.

Points East

By: Ike Adams

For at least 30 years I have been reading and hearing tall tales of the monster crappies that are supposed to inhabit Kentucky Lake by the millions. However I have just returned from a five day stay on that famous body of water during which time I spent more than seventy five hours guarding from three to five fishing lights that were baited for crappie and I still have no direct evidence that there is any truth in all we heard.

I got talked into this trip by my brother, Keith, and three of his brothers-in-law, none of whom are famous for sticking to the facts when the subject has to do with fishing. However, when Raymond Bowling, an elderly friend of our family who also made the trip with us, gave a solemn amen to Keith and Mike Mitchell's game description of last year's trip, I decided that it was too good an opportunity to pass up.

Raymond is not a man given to wasting money and I honestly believe that he caught "nearly 200 big mouth bass last year." The fact that he was going back again this year was all the convincing I needed.

So I rendezvoused in London just after dark last Wednesday night with those three and we spent the next six hours driving and voicing much worry that we didn't have as many 48 quart coolers as we would need to haul our fish back in. We kept trying to figure out how much space we would need to accommodate possession limits of 60 two lb. crappie and 8 five lb. (or better) bass each. The only expectation we had on the trip westward was to come home with precisely as many fish as the law allowed.

We arrived lakeside an hour or so before daybreak with intentions of sleeping until the marina at The Moors Resort opened and/or the rest of our party arrived from Indianapolis. But I was too excited to even consider sleeping. A full moon almost directly overhead provided more than ample light so Mike and I decided to fish off the bank instead of sleeping. Fifteen minutes later Mike was showing off a bass in the four pound class with an "I told you so" look on his face. I haven't caught a bass that large in over a year and no more than a dozen any larger in my life.

Mike held the fish up for inspection and then gently tossed it back into the lake. Let me tell you folks, I was IMPRESSED!!! I still hadn't had a strike, but my tackle suddenly seemed woefully inadequate. I have never fished in any other circle wherein that fish would have failed to be a keeper. I mean he didn't even wake Keith and Raymond to show off the catch. If I had made it I would have been getting strangers out of bed.

For the next two hours I cranked my reel handle with the rod clenched so tightly that my knuckles were white as ivory to make sure that no behemoth bass might wrench it from my hands. I needn't have worried. When Mike's brother Bib and Mark, along with Ed Caudill arrives from Hoosier land at 7 a.m. I still hadn't gotten a nibble.

When we came off the lake at mid-afternoon that first day, Mike's bass could have eaten every other fish that had been caught and it would have still been hungry. Between the seven of us, four crappie had been caught but they were not two pounders. In fact, all four of them together would not have weighed much more than a pound. If, indeed, they weighed that much.

And that's about the way our luck ran for the next four days except that the Mitchell boys and Raymond did manage to keep us fed on fourteen inch bass. Keith also caught a couple or three keepers and I caught one about thirty minutes before we came home last Wednesday evening. What I'm trying to say is that in my opinion, the fishing at Kentucky Lake is vastly over-rated. We gave it our best shot and we each came home with two little sandwich buggies of fish filets. We did not need extra coolers. We had plenty of room left in one of those little jobs designed to hold a six pack of beer.

I'd make the trip again though. I wouldn't hesitate to take off knowing that the trip was going to turn out exactly as it did. Western Kentucky is beautiful this time of year. The cottage we stayed in was very reasonably priced; well maintained and comfortable. I'd do it again just to get to eat Ed Caudill's cooking and expect I'll be going back again next year. I will not, however, be harboring any dreams of catching boat loads of fish in the meantime.

I'm going back to spend time with and enjoy the camaraderie of some fellow I simply don't see enough of anymore and I can't think of a better place to do it -- or a better reason.

But dang it, I still wish Mike Mitchell hadn't turned that first bass loose.

Gardening Tip:

Only got room for one and its from the Dean of Laurel County gardeners, Martha Rader of London. Martha says that arthritis has just ruined her relationship with a hoe, but that there's one thing that everybody should know about tomatoes. Plain old yellow sulfur which can still be found in hardware stores and at E.C. Porter's in London should be applied at the rate of 2 teaspoons to the plant, making sure that some of it gets on

Open letter to parents

Dear Parents,
Your child will be taking an achievement test at school. Following are some things that you can do the night before the test to help your child obtain higher scores:

1. Help your child feel confident about taking the test. Express confidence in your child's ability to do well.
2. Have a relaxed environment. Avoid any activities and conversations that may cause anxiety, conflict or unpleasantness.
3. Try to avoid applying disciplinary measures to any member of the family on the evening before the test.
4. Have your child go to bed early enough to get plenty of rest.
5. Set the clock to alarm a little early in order to allow your child time to eat and dress without rushing.
6. See that clothes that your child likes and feels comfortable in are laid out so that frantic searches are avoided.
7. Be sure that paper, pencils, and other needed school materials are together and located where they will not be forgotten in the morning.
8. You may want to talk briefly about the test in an encouraging way. Let your child know that you understand how difficult tests are, but you are confident in his/her ability to do well. Emphasize that test results help in planning the child's instructional program.
9. Ask your child to do as well as he/she can. Think of something that would be very pleasing to your child and say that this will be the reward following the test.

10. Let all conversation about testing be casual and brief.

11. Prepare a good breakfast for your child, but not a heavy one.

12. Be sure that your child is not late for school.

Testing will be during the week of May 8 - 12. Please make every effort to have your child in school every day.

Wasn't Self-Defense

Dear Editor,

I just read your write up about the Lasswell boy, who was murdered. You said Baker shot him in self-defense. Well, as I recall from the witnesses, Roberts hands were on top of the car the first time he was shot and was leaving the second time he was shot. Got this; once in the heart and once in the back and you call it self-defense. Robert never had a chance to defend himself. And I have to say Mt. Vernon has no justice. And we all know Baker will walk free just as Payne did for Robert's brother Randall Lasswell. Well let him walk free. But don't forget Baker, you still have to face God. Remember you took a man's life and you will pay, maybe not on earth but when you come before God, you will pay. But I do thank God for Robert in His hands now. And he's safe from this cold world, him and Randall both. And they're together and no one can separate them. So it don't matter what the people and the justice thinks for this is not important anyway. But I thank the people of Rockcastle and the justice should be told to get their facts straight. And that goes for the editor. But you all have to face God some day so I'll close my letter now.

Thanks for nothing, Robert and Randall's Double First Cousin

Thanks for helping save Blue Birds
Dear Editor,
I want to thank everyone for putting up several hundred Blue Bird houses. The Blue Bird was almost extinct but now we have plenty of them.

The government is spending millions of dollars on a few birds, baboons and wild animals but not one cent to save our beautiful birds.

The startings have made all hole nesting birds near extinction. The beautiful red head Pilated Woodpecker, and Flickers Wood ducks are very scarce.

I am trying to save these birds. I am making houses now that the birds will nest in. The houses are well made and will last fifty years. You must put a little sawdust or vermiculite in them in trees on electric and telephone lines.

Twelve years ago I sent a letter to every paper in Kentucky telling them the harm the starting was doing. They are carriers of Hystioplamosis and are scarce in Rockcastle County. Forests are all gone, no hollow trees, for them to nest.

Wanted you please help save these beautiful Blue Birds by providing nesting places for them. They will repay you well by eating the bugs from your garden and flowers.

If I was a kid all the spraying we'd do was put woodashes on cabbage and persipren on potatoes. The bean beetle was the only bug we didn't have then.

Please help save these beautiful helpful birds.
Anyone who wants to make their own bird house, come and see mine for a pattern.

Thank you for helping save the Blue Bird. I have tried to get the Blue Bird as our state bird instead of the Cardinal but ran into trouble with the Louisville Cardinals basketball team.

Public official didn't show enough concern

Dear Editor,
I was reading your article about Michelle Mott and Robbie Robinson's deaths.

The two were reported missing Tuesday morning, but it was 2 a.m. and Michelle was supposed to be home at 10 p.m. After waiting for her, she nor Robbie were home, my mother, Molly Hellard, got very worried and called the Rockcastle County Jailor, at 2 a.m. He asked her if she knew it was 2 a.m. and mother said she hung up. Then she waited and at 6 a.m. Robbie's mother called and asked if Michelle was home, she said no. Robbie wasn't home either so my mother called a friend who called the State Police.

Even though the two were already dead at 2 a.m., the jailor should have helped my mother out. I'm not blaming them for the deaths but am worried that he might do something similar again. Something that might be prevented.

I thank everyone else who has been supportive for the families of Michelle and Robbie.

Thank you,
Rhonda Gail Mott

Livingston Fund-raiser was deemed "a success"

Dear Editor,

The fund raising event held at the Livingston Senior Citizens Center, Friday evening was certainly deemed a success. Proceeds from the "Bean Supper" was $35.55 and the "Pie Supper" brought in $252.40 for local funds. I must admit, that this was the first of this type of fund raising events that I had ever attended, so I was overwhelmed by the enthusiasm and generosity of those present. Rockcastle Countians certainly come through with support of worthy projects.

We want to extend a special thanks to Danny Ford and Stephen Barnette for conducting the pie sales and making this an enjoyable event.
Thanks to the Livingston Center Site Manager, Edna Cameron, her family and the senior citizens for making the preparations, arranging and promoting this special occasion.

Thanks to all of the ladies who made pies for the sale and everyone who came out to participate and help in any way.

The candidates certainly came through with making the whole event worthwhile, with cash contributions and buying the pies, they were:
Buzz Carolotis, William Taylor, Delno McClure, Clarence "Jib" Hasty, Roland Mullins, Clarence Carter, Benton Bullock, Bill Mink and Paul Kirby

All proceeds from this event will be used at the Livingston senior center toward appliances or furnishings, as the staff and senior participants collectively decide to apply the funds.
I know it will be difficult for the Brodhead and Mt. Vernon senior centers to compete against the performance displayed at Livingston, but I'm sure they will be planning something soon.

To the People of Rockcastle County:

ACCOUNTABILITY: Over the past 25 years, I have directly administered over $70 million in public funds. My records have been reviewed by some of the best firms in the nation. Never has there been a question of misallocation of funds, improper, inside help yourself dealings, or mysterious shortages.

ALL KENTUCKY CITY: During my tenure as mayor of Mt. Vernon, the citizens, the council, other leaders, and I were awarded 'All Kentucky City' status for excellence. Working together, we can do something similar for Rockcastle County.

COUNTY GOVERNMENT: Various 'arms' of the government are established and financed by the people to serve the common good. When an individual petitions the government - fiscal court, etc. - he or she has the right to be heard and responded to in a manner that meets his or her needs. All government meetings should be open to public review. Citizens not only should be encouraged to attend, they have an obligation to attend and participate in matters that concern them, their families, and their money. Officials, too, have a responsibility. They are elected to serve, to find ways to assist, to help all alike, and to see that resources (roads, water, etc.) are allocated to meet the needs of everyone. Government is not established only to help the privileged or the family and friends of the official at the expense of others. Good treatment for all is a motto worthy of daily pursuit.

ADMINISTRATION: Should be selected to serve with other county leaders during these next four years, every effort will be put forth to secure outside funding and investments. The fiscal plan will be set to function as a 'three-headed funnel' with one head pointed toward the GM's, the GE's and other corporations; one head pointed toward Frankfurt; one head pointed toward Washington. Thus, as funds can be 'shaken loose' we will be in a position to catch them and utilize them in behalf of all citizens.

Parents must assume responsibility for ensuring children's education

(reprinted from the 3/21/89 edition of the Kentucky Post)
By: Clifford Wallace

Educators across Kentucky and the nation have grown tired of being the "whipping boy" for all of society's ills. Obviously there is room for improvement in all our schools. We as educators cannot shirk our responsibility in terms of making real efforts to improve the learning environment for the children in our classrooms.

Numerous councils, forums, committees, politicians and the media have offered their views on how to improve our public schools. Let us involve some of the real issues involved in improving education for the children of our state.

A child of even close to average intelligence and from a home supportive of the school is sent to school every day free of drugs and major discipline problems, that child will learn to read, write, spell and compute in a virtually every school in Kentucky. I ask you to find exceptions to this statement. Indeed, you can find many students who are unsuccessful in school who have not met these criteria for success.

The simple fact is that we have thousands of children in our schools who have missed over a 100 days of school by the time they have finished the seventh grade. Some have missed the equivalent of one full school year. These children are missing school for no good reason other than parents are not being held accountable to see that they are in school.

This state should pass laws that would make parents guilty of child abuse and/or negligence if they keep their children from school without valid reason. Current compulsory attendance laws simply do not have enough real clout to hold parents accountable for keeping their children in school. A person would get more hassle from a parking ticket than he would for the abuse of keeping his child out of school for 30 days a year or more.

My 27 years of experience in the field of education have led me to believe that the problems with schools are more social than they are academic. Schools cannot be held accountable for students who do not come to school on a regular basis or for students who are high on drugs. The basic values of discipline, respect and hard work must be instilled and reinforced at home.

We all know that a very high percentage of the children that are attending our schools are coming from single parent families, a high percentage of whom are living in poverty. Six or 7 percent of our children come from homes where only one parent works outside the home. Slightly more than 40 percent of our young people can expect to reach the age of 18 living in a family where both natural parents reside.

If you look at the major social institutions in our society - home, church and school - the school is far and away the most stable and productive of the three. If the schools had deteriorated to the extent of the American family, they would not even be a safe place to send children.

The schools are being asked to do more and more with fewer and fewer resources. Knowledge has increased many times in the past 30 years. However, the six-hour school day has not changed. And at the same time, the schools have had to assume almost total responsibility for teaching values, morality, work ethic, and many other things that were traditionally the responsibility of the parents and the church.

Perhaps there would be fewer children born out of wedlock to young teenage mothers if society placed greater responsibility on parents and held them accountable for seeing that their children are in school on a regular basis. Parents must also be held accountable for coming to the schools to work with teachers and administrators on problems that confront their children.

Society must somehow figure out a way to stop rewarding poverty-level parents for producing more and more children, and thus perpetuating the cycle of poverty and ignorance. We cannot control the number of children born, but society can hold parents more accountable for ensuring that their children have the opportunity to get an education.

If schools were given a blank check to provide for school improvement, it would be more difficult to achieve the outcomes that seem to be expected by some of our politicians, news media and parents. Schools will never be able to appreciate or change the outcomes of student achievement until these social problems are addressed. Poor outcomes by many of the students in our schools are merely the byproducts of the decline in our American society.

Our politicians have continued to use the issue of education at the expense of opportunity for the future of our young people. Contrary to some recent statements, I do not believe the people in Kentucky want their taxes increased in order to fund better schools. Kentuckians have never valued education enough to make the necessary sacrifices to get it. Ultimately, the financial fate of the public schools rests in the hands of lawmakers who recognize that they cannot be re-elected if they void an increase in taxes.

The status of education in Kentucky will never really change until we have more "Thomas Jeffersons" in our government who are willing to do the right things even if it means sacrificing their political careers. Wouldn't it be wonderful if someday a candidate was defeated because he didn't raise taxes?

A Florida governor once said that there are two myths about education. The first is that you can improve it only with money; the second is that you can improve education without money. In summary, schools will not measurably improve until we add. Cont. to A7

To the Voters of Rockcastle County

I would like to take this opportunity to announce my candidacy for Sheriff of Rockcastle County. My name is Gary Mullins, I'm the son of Brilla Nicely Mullins and the late Jack Mullins of Mt. Vernon. My wife Kathy and I have two children, Sean, 14, and Holly, 5. We reside here in Mt. Vernon. I have one living grandparent, Sinnie Nicely, also of Mt. Vernon. I'm a electrician at trade and a Viet vet.

So much for who I am, the real concern is the people of this county. I could make you a lot of bull promises like other candidates have in the past, but if it takes misleading words and broken promises to win an election in Rockcastle County I don't want it. With the help and support of all the people of this county we could have a good sheriff's dept. The sheriff's department shouldn't be just someone you pay taxes to or inspect your vehicle but, someone you can count on when you need law enforcement.

Let's together make this a sheriff's department you can depend on. Vote and elect Gary Mullins for your next sheriff and get this county back in the right direction.

Thank you for your time,
Gary Mullins

Broadhead teachers and students have just observed "Reading is Fun Week" from April 24-28. Each grade did special activities and projects for this special celebration of reading as fun.

Special guests were invited and/or volunteered to read stories to some of our students. Mr. John Holbrook, DHR, not only shared stories with students in grades 2-4; but he also talked to them about his career in social services. Other guests included Mrs. Claudinnia Cash, Chapter 1 supervisor, who read a very special story to our sixth graders. Kindergartners and first-graders were treated to a story by Mrs. Don Stevens. We appreciate these visitors to our school. Mrs. Bobbie Durham, Chapter 1 reading teacher involved her students in choral reading and the reading of poetry during this week. They visited various classrooms to perform for them.

Mrs. Kelly Pensol's class had some students who wrote their rendition of "Little Red Riding Hood" in play form, designed their own sets, created their own costumes, and presented their play for numerous audiences. The play was a delight and demonstrated much talent and creativity.

We are striving to encourage our students to read as much as possible. Reading is fun!

Clark receives award

Traci Clark of Rockcastle County was given the "Clarence H. Gifford Scholarship in the Natural Sciences," at Eastern Kentucky University's annual Honors Day program held Sunday, April 23. This honor is awarded to a high school graduate who has attained a high scholastic record and has demonstrated an aptitude in the area of natural sciences.

The recognition program honored more than 200 EKV students who have distinguished themselves by scholarship, leadership, and hard work, according to Dr. John D. Rowlett, EKV vice president for academic affairs and research and dean of the faculties.

One of the best ways to encourage scholarship is to praise publicly during the academic year to publicly recognize the students who excel academically," Rowlett said.

"The students we recognize on Honors Day are campus leaders -- either in the classroom or through student leadership roles," Rowlett said.

"All are products of a well-rounded EKV education."

This year's recognition banquet was held in the ballroom of the Keen Johnson Building, EKV. Eastern Kentucky University at Richmond serves more than 13,000 students through programs in its nine colleges and the graduate school.

In some parts of Russia, people used to roll around in the fields in the hope that this would encourage the crops to grow.

Together, we will keep the door open for any opportunity that may come our way

We, as a united people, must reach out, communicate & cooperate in order to have a more successful county government -

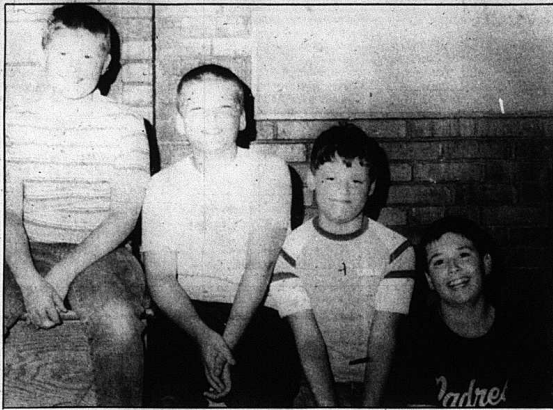

As long as we can join hands in brotherhood, stand up for what we believe in and are willing to work together, we will have a county government of the people, by the people and for the people. And as a result of this, our county will prosper and begin to move forward -

So, please, go to the polls on May 23rd. And vote for me, as your next County Judge/Executive (No. 3 on the ballot) -

You and be sure that I will appreciate your vote and if I am elected, I will repay your kindness by being the kind of official that you will be proud of -

All-American Scholar named

The United States Achievement Academy announced today that Bonnie Riley, daughter of Joe and Stella Sparks of Mt. Vernon, has been named a Collegiate All-American Scholar.

The USAA has established the All-American Scholar Collegiate Award Program in order to offer deserved recognition to superior students who excel in the academic disciplines. The scholastic All-American Collegiate Scholars must earn a 3.30 or better grade point average. Only scholars selected by a school official or other qualified sponsor are accepted. These scholars are also eligible for other awards given by the USAA.

Bonnie Riley, who attends Sue Bennett College, was nominated for this National Award by Professor Sharon Caron. Bonnie will appear in the All-American Scholar Collegiate Directory, which is published nationally.

"Recognizing and supporting our youth is more important than ever before in American history. Certainly, winners of All-American Scholar Collegiate Awards should be congratulated and appreciated for their dedication to excellence and achievement," said Dr. George Stevens, Executive Director of the United States Achievement Academy.

The Academy selects All-American Collegiate Scholars upon the exclusive recommendations of professors, instructors, deans, and other qualified sponsors. Once awarded, the students may be recognized by the USAA for other honors.

Local student elected to honor society

Betty Purcell, wife of Rodney Purcell of Brodhead, has been elected to membership in Sigma Theta Tau International Honor Society of Nursing.

She was inducted as an undergraduate member of Theta Tau chapter at Eastern Kentucky University in Richmond in November, 1988. Mrs. Purcell is presently Director of Nursing at the Rockcastle Hospital.

Sigma Theta Tau International is a prestigious organization of leaders and scholars in nursing. This honor society, founded at Indiana University in 1922, currently has 264 chapters at over 280 colleges and universities worldwide.

Membership in the society is awarded to bachelor's, master's and doctoral nursing candidates who achieve high scholastic averages and to graduates of the college programs who achieve excellence in nursing leadership roles. The undergraduate inductee must have at least a 3.0 grade average on a 4.0 scale and be in the upper one-third of her class.

The honor society is committed to improving the health of the public by advancing nursing science. Sigma Theta Tau sponsors nursing research, produces various publications and hosts scholarly programs on the international, national, regional and local level. It is currently building a $4-million Center for Nursing Scholarship in Indianapolis that will provide nursing information services for the public and for health professionals around the world.

SCC offers continuing Education Class

"Kentucky Wildflowers" will be offered May 18 and 20 (Thursday and Saturday). The Thursday class will be from 7-9 p.m., and the Saturday class will be held from 11-4 p.m. Taught by Carole Hancock, cost is $20.

Students will become familiar with Kentucky flora and learn to identify, understand, and appreciate our wildflowers. Some of the mysteries and folklore associated with various wildflowers will be presented. A Saturday field trip to Cumberland Falls with lunch at DuPont Lodge is planned.

For more information or to register, please contact the Office of Continuing Education at Somerset Community College at 679-8501, ext. 208.

"Supervisory Management" will be offered May 22 - June 1 (Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, Tuesday, and Thursday) from 6:30-9 p.m. Taught by Connie Morrow, cost is $40 plus text.

What is a supervisor and what does a supervisor do? How does a supervisor motivate employees? How does a supervisor deal with conflict? This course will demonstrate the latest motivational techniques and provide specific direction in disciplining problem personnel -- how to delegate authority and remain the "boss." Learn to demonstrate effective methods for conflict management; how to react to problems positively; how to cut wasted time out of your work day; and how to reward, promote, and keep good employees.

To register, or for more information, please call the Office of Continuing Education at SCC at 679-8501, ext. 208.

Answers to some gardening questions

Your lovely tomato vines just fall over and die. Or something is chewing up the leaves of your lettuce. Where do you find answers about gardening problems such as these?

"County Extension agents can help you find out the causes and provide solutions for your gardening woes," said Mary Witt, University of Kentucky Extension horticulturist.

County Extension agents can help home gardeners with every facet of the home garden from planning to planting to production, she said. Agents have training in home horticulture. They also have horticultural specialists backing them up at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture. In addition, they can give you publications on every aspect of home gardening," Witt said.

For the basics, Witt suggests Extension publication, HO-63, Home Gardening in Kentucky, available from Extension offices throughout the state.

"This publication provides information on variety selection, planting and care of most home grown vegetables," she said.

If your gardening efforts are focused on home fruit production, she suggests Extension publication, HO-64, Growing Fruit at Home in Kentucky.

When a special problem arises, Witt suggests calling the county Extension agent for advice.

"County Extension agents usually can identify a problem almost immediately. But if the problem is an unusual one, they have the resources of the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture to help them," she said.

Some American Indian tribes believed it to be good luck to "marry" their fishing nets to little girls.

A Message to the Voters of the 1st District by Bill Swinney

It has been rumored by some people that I have dropped out of the race for magistrate of District 1. This rumor is totally wrong. I'm still in the race and plan to stay in. It may not be possible for me to have the opportunity to see and talk with all the voters of the 1st District. With my work schedule and some recent health problems, I have been limited as to the time I could spend on my campaign for magistrate. Local teachers and administrators complete TESA inservice program

Nine teachers and two administrators from Brodhead School have just completed a five-month inservice training program based on comparatively new research dealing with the effects of teacher expectations on student achievement. This project was funded through an ESEA Title III grant, and Eastern Kentucky University brought it to Rockcastle County. Those educators who volunteered to participate in TESA were teachers Jennifer Adkisson, Charlotte Bullock, Regina Burton, Mary N. Cash, Caroline Graves, Pamela Martin, Shirley Martin, and Rita Shaffer. Mary B. Hamm, counselor, and Sue Hamm, assistant principal, participated also.

Dr. Joanna Patuno Dickey and Dr. Dorothy Kirpatrick were the college educators who presented the series of after-school in-services. The group met for three hours once a month for five months. Throughout this time, each teacher was required to observe at least four teachers for five different strands of coding, observing fifteen separate interactions between teacher and students.

These fifteen teaching practices are to be internalized by the teachers and incorporated into the classroom experiences of the students. Students are not all alike physically and mentally, but they are all alike in having the right to an equal opportunity to learn.

Hawaiian Holiday

Tracy Todd, Regina Collins were two 4-H'ers in Unit IV and unit V.

Twenty 4-Hers had their fun in the sun at Roundstone Elementary School on April 10th at the 4-H Fashion Revue. The theme of this year's revue focused on Hawaii.

4-Hers who participated in the 4-H sewing projects held at all elementary schools were eligible to show off the garments they made at the Fashion Revue.

The Master of Ceremonies was Larissa Hayes, who will be competing in the State 4-H Fashion Revue in Lexington. 4-Hers that competed in Unit 1 were: Talona King, Angie Lawless, Sherry Ridgell, Tabatha Wagers, Lisa Midkiff, Jimmy Kidwell, Theresa Roberts, Rhonda Collins, Amy Parker, and Monica Cummins.

Unit 2 participants included Jamaica Cummins, Melissa Cummins, Missy Makin and Amanda Collins. Unit 3 participants were: Melissa Hayes, Amy Thacker and Bonnie Sigmon.

Unit 4 and 5 competitors were Tracy Todd and Regina Collins.

4-Hers were judged on garment construction and the way in which they modeled their garment. Winners were selected from each unit. Winners were: Monica Jill Cummins, Unit 1; Missy Makin, Unit 2; Melissa Hayes, Unit 3; Amy Thacker, Unit 3; Tracy Todd, Unit 4; Regina Collins, Unit 5. The overall junior champion was Tracy Todd.

Senior winners are Larissa Hayes and Cindy Witt. These two 4-Hers will represent Rockcastle County at the State 4-H Fashion Revue in Lexington during June.

I would like to extend a special thanks to the following people: Alma Kendrick, Cindy Anderson, and Cheryl Witt, who organized the Fashion Revue; Brenda Lambert and Carolyn Chasteen, who did an outstanding job as judges.

Thanks also to Citizens Bank for sponsoring the plaques for the winners, Gail's Florist for the beautiful greenery, and Food Town for our refreshments.

Demonstration Contest

The 4-H County Demonstration Contest was recently held on April 20th at Livingston Elementary School.

4-Hers who competed at the recent event were:

Over 500 Youngsters Celebrate Arbor Day

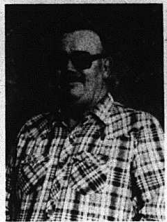

On Monday, April 10th, third and fourth graders received two white pine seedlings to celebrate Arbor Day. Even though Arbor Day was last Friday, we still had a great time.

Steve Bullen, retired Forest Ranger of Rockcastle County, helped pass out and tell 4-Hers how to plant their white pines. Steve, along with myself, passed out over 1,000 white pine seedlings. Five hundred of these seedlings were sponsored by Ken's Auto Repair, the other 500 were matched by the division of Forestry. The council would like to thank Earl Bonten Cromer and Ken Cromer for their support. They would also like to say a special thank you to Steve Bullen for his continued support and cooperation to the 4-H program. Steve volunteered his time to help put together the pines and pass them out.

As Election Day draws closer, I wonder where all the gravel and tile are going. Traveling over some roads don't show any. The roads are worse at present than a month ago. But, if you people could travel over some roads, you could see a few are receiving most all of the gravel and tile and the rest are getting promises. There is one section that nearly every driveway has a new tile. Another section that all the roads are chipped and sealed. Do You Have This? I am retired and not running for another retirement as some people seem to be. So, I will not be trying to raise my salary to receive more retirement which has been done in the past. The reason for me running is to make the county a better and safer place for your children and grandchildren and mine to live. They are the future of our county. I will work hard for this as I consider being a magistrate a full-time job, not just one day a month. I am not farming or doing any other work so I will travel the district and talk to you people and see first hand what needs to be done. Then the roads can be repaired at the proper time at less cost and be safer for the school buses and your family to travel. The "Clean Air for Kentucky" hot air balloon will tether at the Brodhead Elementary School Wednesday, May 10 at 8:30 a.m. (weather permitting).

The Clean Air Balloon represents the Department for Environmental Protection, Division for Air Quality at schools and special events throughout the Commonwealth. Captain Z.A.P. (Zap Air Pollution), Jim Schoo, Versailles, pilots the balloon.

At each event, the Division for Air Quality staff gives a short presentation on Kentucky's air quality and distributes materials on the need for clean air and what the public can do to help protect it.

According to Lillie Cox, public education/information coordinator for the division, the balloon is used to increase awareness of the importance of clean air. "We all know we need clean air but many people shy away from learning about air pollution because it is a complex, technical subject. The balloon gets attention and opens doors to understanding," Cox said.

For Women

Job Opportunities

For women who've been thinking about returning to the work force this fall when their children are back in school, temporary employment services offer many excellent opportunities.

Temporary employment agencies offer valuable office skills training.

Women with family responsibilities appreciate the flexible work schedules temporary employment provides. Being an employee of a temporary services firm allows you to sample a variety of work environments until you find one you might like for a permanent job. What's more, these companies will train you in the latest, high-paying, office automation (OA) skills.

Nurrell, one of the leading professional temporary services firms, has developed a four-part Office Automation Program that involves selection, testing, training and ongoing support. Employees receive basic and advanced training in software most commonly used by business, such as PC-DOS, Lotus 1-2-3 and dBase. With this training, an employee can earn the OA Skills Certification, an enhancement to the temporary worker's marketability and career. For the name and number of the temporary service firm nearest you, check the yellow pages.

way, cutting down the trees in front of the school and blacktopping to the sidewalk and making the street one way.

The council took no action on Newland's request, except to tell him that they understood the traffic problem and suggested that he might put signs up himself to keep people from blocking his drive-way.

The council also discussed two eyesores in the city, one at the former Homer Jones residence, now owned by Russell Bullock and the other at the Ray Alexander place.

The council voted to send Alexander a letter notifying him that they wanted the lot cleaned up or they would have it cleaned up and he would be responsible for the bill.

At the request of developer Keith Smith, the city agreed to supply water to 28 proposed homes on lots at Houston Point Estates on Hwy. 150.

Smith asked the council if they would lay the lines themselves, but for the city, recommended four modifications for the plant that would allow a greater volume of water to be handled and which would allow the city to sell more during their peak seasons.

Crawford called for making the intake valves larger and raising the walls of the plant. "These need to be done immediately so we can get more water into the plant and make it operate more efficiently," Crawford added.

Currently the plant can handle about 1.5 million gallons of water per day. The modifications will increase the capability of the plant by at least 500,000 gallons a day.

The estimated cost of the modifications will be about $25,000. According to Cromer the funds are available and the city will not have to borrow money for the improvements.

Cable Franchise

In a split decision the council voted to extend Southern Cablevision's non-exclusive cable television franchise to 10 years. In return, Southern will agree to pay a three percent franchise tax that will amount to about $450 a month in income for the city.

Currently, Southern is paying $1 a year for their franchise. According to Mayor Cromer, Southern has also agreed not to raise their cable prices for one year.

Voicing against the franchise agreement were council members Billy Dean and Tommy Bussell. In favor of granting the franchise extension were council members: Clarice Kirby, Earl Nichols and Bill Swinney.

However the non-exclusive franchise does not forbid other cable companies from entering the city's cable television market.

In other business the council decided to put a resolution for Rentro Valley on hold. The council also decided to have a special called meeting on Monday, May 15, to discuss the privilege license and possible alterations of them.

they did not go along with that idea.

Bussell told the council that Smith would go ahead with the project and pay for the water lines, he just wanted to make sure water was available.

The council also voted to buy $300 worth of furniture for the upstairs room of the firehouse at the request of fire chief David Ott and council members also agreed to ride in the Brodhead Homecoming Parade scheduled for Saturday May 27, as part of Homecoming Festivities.

Julie Dowell will crown a new Miss Rockcastle County on May 12. The pageant will be held at the Rockcastle County High School.

Miss Rockcastle Pageant scheduled for May 12

Eleven young ladies will vie for the Miss Rockcastle title on May 12 during the annual pageant at the Rockcastle County High School.

According to the organizer of the event, Mrs. Karen King, this year's theme will be "Rock Around the Clock" and the eleven girls in the pageant will perform a dance routine as part of the entertainment.

The eleven girls participating are all 17 to 25 years in age and have not been married. Each girl was sponsored by a member of the Rockcastle County Chamber of Commerce, who produces the annual event.

Last year's Miss Rockcastle, Julie Dowell will be on hand to crown this year's winner.

The winner will participate in the Miss Kentucky Pageant in July.

In the last decade, increasing attention has been focused on dietary fiber. Much of this increased interest by the general public is related to the suggestion that a low fiber intake may be contributing factor in the development of disease conditions such as colon cancer, coronary heart disease, obesity, diabetes and hypertension. The benefits of high carbohydrate, high-fiber diets in the management of diabetes and hyperlipidemia have been researched and well documented.

contain large amounts of soluble fiber stay in the stomach longer and prevent us from feeling hungry so quickly.

Insoluble fibers which are composed of lignin, cellulose and hemicellulose are plentiful in wheat, vegetables and cereal products. Foods containing large amounts of insoluble fiber help decrease the amount of time which food spends in the intestines and promote bowel regularity by increasing bulk.

Checking the cereal box for nutrition information will help you select a cereal wisely. It is a good idea to choose cereals which are not only high in fiber, but also low in sugar and fat. Cereals can make a beneficial and tasty contribution to your high-fiber diet any time of day.

around helping people improve their lives, both as individuals and as members of their communities. And Homemakers clubs follow the same orientation," she said.

In addition, she said, the Extension Homemakers organizations often act as catalysts of interested people to get community projects started, she said.

The Homemakers Association is organized into community clubs usually with between 12 and 15 members. Most clubs meet once a month. At each of the meetings one of the members presents a lesson she learned through Extension-sponsored workshops. Recent examples include Fiber in Diet, Children Under Stress and Updating Bathrooms.

"People who cannot attend club meetings regularly can still belong to the Extension Homemakers Association as members at large. About a fourth of Kentucky's 32,000 Homemakers members are members at large," she said. Rockcastle County Homemakers are celebrating Kentucky Homemakers Week, May 7-13, with Quilt and Craft Show and Window Displays.

Persons who want to become involved in Homemakers should contact their county Extension, she said.

Judge/Executive

37 years old

A note of thanks is in order to all the gracious and kind people I have met throughout the county. I have been impressed. When I filed for office in November, I waited almost two months wondering who my opponents would be and I was pleased. Without exception, they are very fine gentlemen, and I sincerely hope that our friendships are genuine and long-lasting, regardless of the outcome of this race. I really appreciate each of you.

This race should be one of issues and ideas, however, and there are some differences of opinion among us. I am the only candidate who is not retired or ready to retire - I have no other obligations. I am the only Republican candidate who has taken a firm and decisive stand on the problem of garbage and litter. I understand that our streams and countryside will never be cleaned up until we have a workable collection system in place. When industrial leaders look for new locations, they really look - not only at our schools and other support facilities, but, just as importantly, they look at how well we take care of our environment. Reliable water supplies and good roads must be expanded to help those most in need - this is what good local government should be all about.

I would sincerely like to see our next County Judge-Executive show a genuine interest in Rockcastle's youth. In addition to his salary, the judge receives $300/month (over $14,000 in four years) for travel expenses - whether he leaves the courthouse or not. I truly believe that all of that money not spent on out-of-county travel could be of much greater benefit to our future if it were placed on a trust to help finance cultural enrichment programs and scholarships for our youth.

That's where our future lies, and that's who we should also try to help. I have made no promises except complete honesty, unquestionable integrity, and fairness to all. I will sincerely appreciate your vote and support.

Game Fish Auction

The Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources' annual auction of confiscated and surplus equipment will be conducted by the Department of Finance on Monday, May 1, at the Game Farm, Frankfort. Registration begins at 7:30 a.m. on the day of the sale. All bidders must register, and payment must be made on the day of the sale. The only accepted forms of payment are cash, cashiers checks, travelers checks and personal checks with a letter of credit from your bank. Bidding is slated to begin at 9 a.m. only Kentucky residents are allowed to buy confiscated items; however, surplus materials may be purchased by either residents or nonresidents. Auction items may be viewed only the day of the sale.

Surplus items include approximately 30 vehicles, 14 motors, 13 boats, binoculars, cameras, projectors, office equipment and an ice maker.

Confiscated items include 10 boats, five motors, four vehicles, two trailers, 61 firearms, two bows, 18 rods and reels, diving gear, knives, lights and traps.

The Game Farm is located four miles west of Frankfort on U.S. 60.

Special Regulations on Lake Leary

Lake Leary's largemouth bass, bluegill and channel catfish have new size and creel limits under special regulations recently adopted by the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. Lake Leary is located on the Curtis Gadsden Lloyd Wildlife Management Area in Grant County. The lake is open for fishing from sunrise to sunset, daily. Both the lake and management area are owned by the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources.

Anglers who fish Lake Leary may creel one largemouth bass per day, but the limit must be at least 15 inches long. The daily limit on bluegill is 12 and two channel catfish may be kept per day. There is no size limit on bluegill or channel catfish at the lake. The special regulations became effective April 1.

Free Fishing Fun

Want to go fishing in Kentucky - for free? You can, if you go June 10 and 11. Anyone, whether resident or nonresident, may legally fish Kentucky waters on this particular Saturday and Sunday in June without a license, according to the department of Fish and Wildlife Resources.

If you're one of the few who hasn't tried fishing, or perhaps you've not gotten around to buying your fishing license yet, the free fishing weekend is a good time to start. Remember to abide by size and creel limits and other rules which govern fishing in Kentucky. And if your truck to the water requires crossing privately owned land, ask permission first.

Kentucky's free fishing weekend provides an opportunity to spotlight sport angling as a wholesome outdoor recreation open to all ages.

Just picture yourself fly fishing for trout or simply sitting quietly on a creek bank with line in water. Perhaps lake fishing is more your style, casting irresistible crankbaits or spinnerbaits along shoreline cover or off rocky points for largemouth bass. Why, you're feeling relaxed just thinking about it.

Make plans -- GO FISHING!

If you need more information on fishing in Kentucky -- license requirements for fishing or general travel-lodging information, the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources can help. A packet containing this and other fishing information is available on request by writing: Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, Division of Public Relations, #1 Game Farm Road, Frankfort, Ky. 40601; or call (502)564-4336.

No till farming reaped poor performance in 1988

Although 1988 was a bad year for producers of no-till corn, Extension specialists at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture say no-till corn will again be successful in the future.

Farmers in Kentucky and the Midwest had lower corn yields with no-till farming than with conventional tillage in 1988. Other farmers, however, observed that no-till corn recovered faster and grew better than conventional tilled corn following rains.

No-till corn planted early into a cover crop suffered the greatest drought-related yield loss and no till corn planted late recovered quicker and produced higher yields than conventional tilled corn after the rains.

Depletion of soil water by cover crops appeared to be the most likely cause of poor no-till corn performance in Kentucky in 1988," said Morris Bitzer, Extension grains specialist. He pointed out that it was a difficult year for conventionally tilled corn too.

"The drought began in April so water removed by the cover crops was not replenished by rainfall. No till corn that was planted into winter cover crops had much poorer growth early in the season than cultivated corn grown without a cover crop."

Recent studies in Kentucky, however, showed that killing the cover crop two to three weeks before planting corn may result in higher crop yields, he said.

Bitzer cited four other reasons for poor no-till corn performance: poor nitrogen fertilizer performance due to dry soil; no-till corn planted into previously compacted soil; planting too shallow in a dry year; and improperly adjusted equipment for no-till corn.

Yield differences between no-till and conventional corn appeared to be greatly affected by the planting date in 1988, he said. Corn planted before April 10 suffered more from the drought than that planted after that date.

Two conservation tillage experiments at Lexington also revealed that late planted no-till corn yielded higher than late planted conventional tillage corn. Yields averaged 62 bushels per acre for conventional tilled corn and 73 bushels per acre for no-till corn, Bitzer said.

News in brief

Thomas, Mink, Poynter indicted by Grand Jury

Ralph L. Thomas, 20, of Livingston was indicted on six counts by the Rockcastle County Grand Jury last Friday, for April 20 incident in which he reportedly ran from Kentucky State Police officer Craig Sutton.

Thomas is charged with wanton endangerment, driving under the influence, attempting to elude a police officer, disregarding traffic control device, left and run and no insurance.

According to state police public affairs officer Gilbert Accardo, Jr., Sutton was dispatched to a complaint of drunks fighting at around 2:30 a.m. on the 20th.

Enroute to the scene, Sutton met a 1980 Plymouth Horizon driven by Thomas. Sutton attempted to stop the vehicle, but apparently Thomas ran from the trooper.

During the chase, Thomas rammed Sutton's cruiser, according to Accardo, who said that when the Plymouth came to rest in the field the three suspects in the car tried to escape on foot, but were apprehended and arrested.

Ronnie McClure, 19 and Darrell Blackburn, 23, both of Livingston were charged with Public Intoxication; they were apparently passengers in the Thomas vehicle.

Roger Mink, 28 of Horseshoe Bend was indicted for cultivating marijuana.

According to Kentucky State Police, trooper Craig Sutton and Mt. Vernon police Officer Kevin Fletcher were attempting to serve a warrant on Mink for indecent exposure on April 26 at his Horseshoe Bend home, when they discovered eleven marijuana plants growing in two different buckets in a grown up area near the back of his house.

John Delmas Poynter, of Todd Road in Science Hill, was indicted for non-support of his daughter, a minor.

All three men are free on bond and are due back in court on May 12.

Two other people were also indicted, but they have not been arrested as of yet.

Attorney General's office investigating Ray Bailiff

Ray Bailiff, who has prosecuted many cases for the Commonwealth attorney's office in Rockcastle is apparently under investigation by the Attorney General's office and Kentucky Bar Association for undisclosed reasons.

Bailiff resigned from Commonwealth Attorney Benny Ham's office April 15, according to Ham, who said Bailiff tendered his resignation at least a week before that.

According to Ham, there was a question raised in regard to the way a civil case was handled by Bailiff, who was acting as a private attorney to Citizens National Bank of Somerset.

The case, Mutual Federal Savings and Loan vs. Eddie and Vickie Bishop and Citizens National was filed in 1987.

Mutual Federal's attorney, Robert Gillum, said that he filed a motion in Pulaski Circuit Court requesting an order to subpoena documentation. According to Gillum, shortly after the motion was filed Circuit Judge Dan Venters sent letters regarding Bailiff to both the Attorney General and Bar Association.

Judge Venters said he sent the letter to the Attorney General's office, but declined to confirm or deny on record whether he had also mailed the information to the Kentucky Bar Association.

Calling the matter an "ethical" question, Venters declined further comment.

Bailiff and Ham, who were also law partners, are no longer in business together.

Brodhead Homecoming set for May 26th and 27th

The first annual Brodhead Homecoming will be held this year on May 26 and 27.

Items of interest during the homecoming will be a flea market, homecoming queen contest, pretty baby contest, horseshoe tournament, go-cart races, antique car show and a gospel singing.

The Brodhead Ladies Auxiliary and Brodhead Fire Department are sponsoring the event.

Swinney enters not guilty plea in District court

Leonard J. Swinney, 27 of Mt. Vernon pled not guilty in Rockcastle District Court Tuesday morning to charges that he was illegally transporting alcoholic beverages.

According to Kentucky State Police public affairs officer Gilbert Accardo Jr., Swinney was arrested April 19 on the Horseshoe Bend Road in Mt. Vernon by Kentucky State Police officer, Jim Silvers.

Accardo said that 60 cases of beer and 49 bottles of liquor were confiscated from the Chevy pick-up Swinney was driving. He is due back in court May 17.

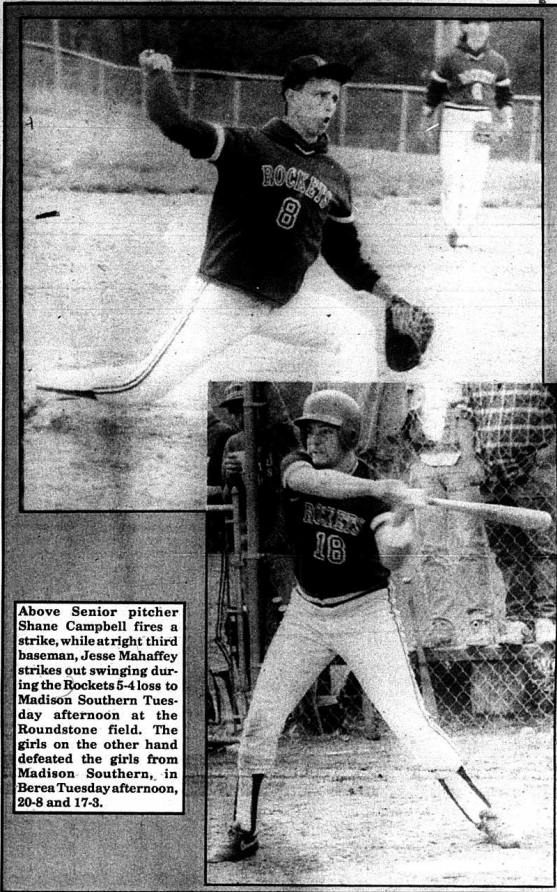

Only 2.61 inches of rain in Rockcastle in April

Although Mother Nature blessed Rockcastle County with over 20 inches of rain in the first three months of this year, she wasn't as generous during the month of April.

Only 2.61 inches of rain fell during April, about a inch below normal, according to local weather man Bud Cox who said that April's rainfall brings the total precipitation for Rockcastle County for the year to 22.68 inches.

The low in April was 20 degrees on the 12 and the high was 86 on the 25. So far in May 24 inches of precipitation has fallen.

Board talks about future construction

By: Jeff Hammond

Building projects and maintenance of the existing structures continue to occupy a majority of the school board's agenda as they met in regular session Tuesday night at the central office.

Larry Hammond, Director of Buildings and Grounds, gave a brief report to the board regarding the needs assessment report of the five schools in the county. According to Hammond several projects will be undertaken during the summer that will improve each of the schools.

At Livingston, which is listed as an interim center, the only critical need was some new furniture. Hammond said that since Livingston would probably be receiving a new school building in the near future, they decided not to spend a great deal of money there.

At Roundstone, where a new addition has been approved, repair to the drop ceiling was a major concern of the principal and teachers. The new Mt. Vernon Elementary will alleviate many of their problems, but in the meantime cleaning and general maintenance will suffice.

Brodhead Elementary, also on the building list in the future, needed a lawn mower, painting and asphalt.

By far the school with the greatest needs is the High School. According to Hammond, the school needs a new ceiling, paving of the drive ways, and renovation of the restrooms to accommodate the handicapped in the vocational school.

New building projects also received some attention due to a couple of factors.

Superintendent Bige Towery Jr. read a letter from the Kentucky Education Division of Buildings and Grounds, stating that they did not recommend using a construction manager for projects under $1 million.

The Roundstone addition is estimated to cost between $250,000 and

Mobleys will close craft shop

By: Richard Anderkin

When Austin Mobley decided to slow down a little bit last year and semi-retire from preaching, he and his wife Faye thought they would have more time for their craft shop at Renfro Valley.

The shop would also be a way the Mobleys could supplement their social security, but as fate would have it, this year will be the last for Log Cabin Crafts. The Mobleys will close their shop in November, because of a move to Waynesburg, where Austin has been preaching at the Waynesburg Church of Christ for quite sometime.

The Mobley's have sold their home on Lake Linville and purchased a home near the church in Waynesburg.

They had planned to sell their shop, but Renfro Entertainment Group, which recently purchased the valley would not give more than a six month lease to prospective buyers, because of renovation plans the group has for the valley.

So the Mobleys will make the 60 mile round trip drive until this Fall. Then they will auction off what is left.

Log Cabin Crafts is unique in many ways, but probably the most unique thing about the shop is the fact that 99% of the things sold are made by local craftsmen.

From an assortment of gourds grown by John Singleton to beautiful hand made quilts by Ella Gentry, Log Cabin Crafts showcases much of Rockcastle's talent and craftsmanship.

The shop is an avenue for many to sell their items including Maggie Kidwell of Brodhead, who makes hand made dolls and Sharon Hardin, a maker of cornshuck flowers and balls as well as Rosalinda Peters who also quilts.

Faye and Austin Mobley display some of the items for sale in their craft shop at Renfro Valley.

The purpose of the CVEDF is to promote generally economic development in the eight counties of Bell, Clay, Harlan, Jackson, Knox, Laurel, Rockcastle and Whitley, by fostering the efficient delivery of governmental services, economic development and industrial expansion.

He barks at anything that moves he barks at me.
I can clap my hands at music
especially Gospel Music
He jumps up and barks at me
But I knock on the wall
He runs to the door and barks
If he is laying resting,
he will growl at me
When I get up and feed him
he will run round, round, round
You would say, what a hound.

But he's just a Chihuahua.
I thank God, I have him around

That is my Chihuahua, Chi Chi.

Better close for now.

Fellow Citizens of the 3rd District

I've chosen to run as Magistrate because of my convictions of what our district and our county should be doing -- money is certainly not the reason.
If I'm elected, I'll be available for you seven days a week to listen to your problems and concerns. I'll work with the fiscal court and county judge to address problems such as garbage and road maintenance and I'll look for ways to bring in new businesses to offer more jobs for our community.
I've been actively employed in Rockcastle County for 27 years and have been in business at DeBoard Oil Company for the past 10 years. I've traveled the roads in the third district daily. I know a better job can be done and I hope you'll give me the opportunity to speak up - speak out and address the needs of our district and our county.

Seasons
By: Mae Taylor

As you sit by the fire on a cold winter night
You can hear the wind howling outside
You go to the window and see the ground all covered with snow
And see the tiny snow flakes falling
And all seem so still and quiet.

We look at the trees that have lost all their pretty color, then we think how wonderful nature is Then as you go to bed, thinking of things and drift off into a peaceful sleep and dream of all good things that has been in life or Maybe the bad things that shouldn't have happened yet we aren't alone
For God knows our every thought and watches over us
And stands ready to help, when called upon

Soon spring comes and we see the tiny bulbs and grass,
Peeping through the ground and then we know everything is coming to life again

Now summer is here and we can see all the pretty flowers blooming in all their colors

As we stand and look upon this beauty
And think how God made everything beautiful in His time
So summer passes away and the beauty slowly passes with it Makes us think that is the way of our lives
Although we may live to be old, but life is short; it passes away
as the life of a flower

His strength is made perfect in my weakness
I just lean on Him
I say, Lord, I have so many problems and I'm giving you, all of them

And first thing I know, everything's alright

I've heard them tell it times untold
In language plain and bold
But I'm not growing old

What if my hair is turning gray
Gray hair is honorable they say
What if my eyesight is growing dim
I still can see to follow him, who sacrificed His life for me upon the Cross of Calvary.
What though my tongue refuses to talk
I still tread the narrow way
I still can watch and praise and pray

FAMILIES AND NATIONS MUST TRY TO BE GOOD NEIGHBORS

Canada and the United States have always been good neighbors through the years, although as with families who live next door to each other, occasional differences will arise. This is only natural, but nonetheless the "heads" of the families can get together and work out solutions acceptable to both. The friendship is also kept to a healthy state by paying visits to each other at regular intervals, with no barricades to entering each other's territory. Moreover, their "children" play games together, and if they happen to be baseball or hockey, this completes the parallel. The faith that we learn at our House of Worship teaches us to "love thy neighbor," and we pray that this spirit of helpful friendship will ever transcend that 3,000-mile "property line" across our continent.

"Better is a neighbour that is near than a brother far off." — Proverbs 27:10

By: Mary McWhorter

Visitors of Ruth Mink recently were Carl Taylor of Ohio, Mrs. Christine Brown, Mrs. Ruby Thompson and Mrs. Maggie Whitaker.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Evans and sons were recent visitors of her parents Mr. and Mrs. Junior Mullins and also visited Mr. and Mrs. Donald Bullock and Mrs. Sonya Hard.

Mrs. Vivian Owens visited her aunt, Mrs. Zella Scoggins recently.

The families of Robert Hayes and Bee Thompson and Mrs. Lucille Beecher have our deepest sympathy.

A great big thanks to Mrs. Kathy McKibben and sons for taking myself, Ola Phelps, Brenda Bradley and Vernice Renner to South Side Church of Christ in Somerset Monday evening where a gospel meeting was being conducted by Brother Austin Mobley this week. It is always uplifting to hear a good sermon from the Word of God and as someone said before, to watch Austin preach, he's little but loud. We left poor Danny at home, no one to excuse, no one to believe me if I told you what a worker Danny is in the pulpit and at home. I still can't hardly believe he's only thirty three years of age and can preach like he does. We're fortunate to have him at the Providence Church of Christ and to invite you to our services any time you can come.

David Brock celebrated his forty second birthday Saturday April 22, and wants to thank Mike McFerron and Sharia Turner for the new Bible, also thank you to Jon Cash for dinner. Thanks to everyone for being so nice during the death of his dad one year ago.

Dee and Mary Buswell were in Ohio due to the death of Jack Wallin. Others attending were Mary Ann Childress and daughter Rachal, Teresa Shaffer, Jim and Rick Buswell. Also Barry Buswell was home over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Proctor attended the 60th wedding anniversary of Clara's aunt and husband Frank and Lillie Brown West at Richmond last Saturday. I'm sorry I forgot it, please forgive me, I have no excuse except being so forgetful. My daughter would have taken me as she and her son were over there visiting her daughter.

Jerry Buswell of the U.S. Army is now stationed in Germany. We wish him well.

Ruth Buswell says everyone remember the Homecoming in Brodhead on May 27th.

Mary and Betty Simpson visited their mother Mrs. Nancy Burdine from awhile Friday and took her out for dinner.

Walter Doan celebrated his seventy fifth birthday Saturday. Those helping him celebrate were his wife Mae, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey McFerron of Mt. Vernon and his sister Mrs. Marie Cromer and daughter Shirley of Somerset.

Kevin Fletcher of Mt. Vernon was a recent visitor of his grandmother Maggie Fletcher and his aunt Audrey Fletcher. Others visiting were Walter and Mae Doan, Alene Parett, Tonya Parett, Tricia Foye and Lindsay Kay Alcorn of Berea.

Brother Hugh Thomas, who underwent surgery recently at Humana Hospital Somerset and is recuperating well at his home, also surprised us by coming back to church Sunday so soon. We sure are thankful he is doing well.

Mrs. Berrie Taylor is doing well at her home. We will be thankful if she can improve enough to be back with us in church.

Ronnie Singleton of Louisville visited a few hours last Monday evening with Pat and I, as he was in Richmond working with Blue Cross and Blue Shield last Thursday.

Visitors of Mrs. Katie Doyle were Gladys Roberts, Irene Roberts Permen, Wade Philbeck and wife Jean, of Hamilton, Ohio, who visited Mrs. Elizabeth Philbeck and Miss Ella Roberts at the Sowder Nursing Home.

We were so sorry to hear of the death of Mrs. Opal Frith McCullah of Florida and formerly of West Street in Brodhead. She and her husband Bill were real good customers of mine and Hermans. We missed them when they moved away. Our sympathy goes to their children and families.

Mrs. Mattie Adams who spent some time in the Jewish Hospital Louisville was improving and came home for two days and became worse and had to be taken back to Louisville. Our prayers are for her. We have since received word that she is improving and may be back to Rockcastle County Hospital for a longer stay.

Mrs. Katie Doyle visited her son Paul Doyle and wife Ruth and daughter Kim in Richmond Monday also Ruth and Katie went to Lexington shopping.

Mrs. Sylvia Whitcomb Roberts spent last week in South Carolina visiting her son Marvin Roberts and family and reported a very enjoyable trip.

Dr. Guy Albright of Louisville brought his Larry and wife Maeda and their daughter, Adriene from New Jersey to Brodhead Wednesday, Apr. 26 after showing them the town of his and Larry's birth place. He visited his sisters, Carter Hoskins, Lucille Bue and family, his niece Patsy Fletcher and husband Charles, and Elizabeth Mullins, then Guy traveled to Eubank to visit his brother, John Bill Albright and wife before returning to his home in Louisville. We miss Guy and his sweet wife Ellen Gaultiff Albright.

The Rockcastle retired teachers Association presented citizen, Mrs. Lou D. Payne with a corsage for her years of teaching in Rockcastle County and elsewhere. To their knowledge Mrs. Payne is the oldest retired teacher in Rockcastle County at 97 years of age and going strong.

My cousin Eugene McBee and I had dinner at Syble's Restaurant last week and met some very nice people, Robert and Lenora Sallgaver 31841 Codar Creek Rd., Cottage Grove, Oregon 97424, Robert is a retired employee of the L&N Railroad Company and came through Brodhead. Mrs. Sallgaver sister, Mrs. Marie Scoopmire of 351 Redwood Dr. Ct. Seymour, Ind. 47274 was with them and they had been on vacation and sidetracked through Brodhead hoping to see or hear of someone he had met when making his runs through here.

Sunday afternoon visitors of Willie and Mabel Taylor were Mrs. Lucy Brock and daughter Mrs. Geraldine Holbrook, Benny and Corey Craig and Jerry Hamm.

Pat, Freddy Jr. and I visited Gervis and Carol Singleton in London Friday evening. Also Pat and Freddy Jr. visited Mickie Lea in Richmond Saturday evening.

During the weekend, visitors of James and Brenda Bradley were Mike Leese, Everett and Loretta Woodall, Harold and Mary Woodall, Larry, Debbie, Jennifer and Kevin Bullens, Joyce and Kenny Leese, Carl Leese and friend Terri and her son Josh.

Walter Doan and wife Mae and myself all visited at the home of Harvey and Nona McFerron. Nona had just returned home from the hospital and wasn't feeling very well. Our prayers are for her and we also met a daughter of hers, Mrs. Flossie Mink, who was there cooking their dinner. His daughter, Louella French, whom I had seen so much at Jean's Restaurant, was sitting with Nona.

Recent visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Carrel Blanton were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lee Cash, Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Blanton and new baby of Berea, Mr. and Mrs. David Blanton, Rebecca, Regina and Rentia, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Blanton, Avery Wilson of Richmond, Ind. and his son Roger Wilson of Brodhead, Junior Blanton and Rodney of Mt. Vernon, Mrs. Irene Bengel and Virgil Brock of Slaty Branch.

Pat, Freddy Jr. and I visited Gervis and Carol Singleton in London Friday evening. Also Pat and Freddy Jr. visited Mickie Lea in Richmond Saturday evening.

Plans and more plans, took up most of the time at Clara Proctors home, Apr. 27, where the Brodhead Homemakers Club met.

Ella Mae Martin took plenty of time to present the lesson on "Children Under Stress". She also had us do exercises, as we sat down with shoulders, arms, lifting eye-brows, etc. to relax when we get tense.

She passed out cards with printed statements concerning children, for us to read aloud, and we were asked to give our opinions, if it were negative or positive opinion.

Besides a test, she gave us to grade ourselves on stress, she gave us a leaflet to read at home.

Lorraine Newland's devotion pointed out that "death of hope" would fill our hearts if the sun didn't rise each morning. But the sunrise could remind us of Jesus' resurrection.

Clara Proctor read minutes of last meeting and gave us the balance of our bank account. Although, the latter was "slim", we decided to donate $25 to the Kidney Foundation.

Nancy Buswell, Barbara Watson, and Ruth Buswell will take anyone's donation for this important fund before June 1st.

Our president, Patricia Fletcher, passed around prints of a new homemakers 'pin' that was for sale to help the County Homemakers Account.

Then she started to tell us our role in Brodhead's Homecoming event, May 26 and Sat. May 27.

The Auxiliary club is sponsoring this.

On Friday, in the evening, there will be a singing at Brodhead Fair Grounds, but if it rains it'll be at Brodhead School.

Saturday, May 27, a parade will start at the school, go through Brodhead's business district and on to the fairgrounds, coming back the route will be via Wallin Street and back to the school house to disband.

In the early morning the flea market (on both sides of downtown Brodhead) will set-up for business.

Brodhead Homemakers have charge of placing the units and collecting fees for the Auxiliary Club. All profits for fees will go into an account for 1990 Brodhead Homecoming.

We, Brodhead Homemakers, will have a table of baked small treats, etc. in front of Fleckers Grocery Store.

Saturday afternoon there will be more entertainment! Read about this in the Mt. Vernon Signal.

We will have a display of our work during National Homemakers Week after the Quilt and Craft Show, May 5-8, at the Home Economic and Agriculture Building in Mt. Vernon, in windows and in our town.

Enter your quilt or craft May 5th, and pick up May 8th in Mt. Vernon.

Oh yes, our club is responsible for prizes for this show of our work, May 5-8. Can you do now?

We can still send recipes in for Egg and Dairy contests.

Patricia Fletcher decided to have an early date, May 11, for our next Brodhead Meeting at Dix Point Restaurant. This was changed so we would be free to attend Brodhead and R.C.H.S. graduations.

Jean Albright's sister, Mary Ann Brown, was a guest Thursday and Jean was co-hostess with Clara Proctor.

Their refreshments were delicious, as usual.

Cooper

A memorial service for Leonard Teague Cooper, Richmond, Virginia, brother of Ruby Cooper Adams of Rockcastle County, was held Saturday, April 22 at the family farm in Rockcastle County. He died in Richmond, Virginia March 4, 1989.

In Loving Memory of Jerry Rowe

We little know that night God was going to call your name. In life we loved you dearly, in death we do the same. It broke our hearts to lose you, You did not go alone, For part of us went with you. The day God called you home. You left us beautiful memories, Your love is still our guide. And though we cannot see you, You are always by our side. Our family chain is broken. And nothing seems the same. But as God calls us one by one, The chain will link again.
Deeply Loved and Sadly Missed
Your Wife and Son

Survivors include his wife, Eloise, of Richmond, Virginia, four sons, one daughter, seven grandchildren, two sisters and one brother.

Cooper attended school in Mt. Vernon, graduated from Lincoln Memorial University in Tennessee and received his Master's degree in Agriculture from the University of Tennessee. He was a 32-year employee of Southern States Cooperative in Richmond and director of the Farm Supply Distribution for the cooperative.

Officiating minister for the service was Rev. Syd Weedon, pastor of Graham Memorial Presbyterian Church, Whitesburg.

Central Kentucky Blood Center News

On Friday, April 14, 94 students and faculty members volunteered to donate and 81 units of blood were actually collected at the Rockcastle County Vocational School/High School blood drive. There were over 55 first-time donors! This wonderful response will help as many as 243 patients in area hospitals.

The drive was sponsored by Central Kentucky Blood Center and the FBLA.

Contributing to the successful drive was Ms. Fathergill, blood drive chairperson and FBLA Advisor. Also, Mr. Cash, principal of Rockcastle High School and Ms. Dillingham were very supportive.

The Rockcastle County Blood Program is greatly aided by the community support of the Vocational School and high school. The following people took time to try and share their good health by donating at the drive.

Teresa Wilson, Donna Howard, Evett Bullock, Jennifer Carpenter, Priscilla Hickey, Leigh Thomas, June Stevens, Teresa Howard, Treena Carter, Michael Barron, Elaine Denny, Jackie Huff, Lola Pigg, Ronnie McGuire, April Scaff, Stacey Barron, Tabetta Clark, Fannie Martin, Kimberly Barnes, Rebecca Poynter, Shelby Fathergill, Leigh Rowe, Melinda Sargent, Charles Shields, Jennifer Thacker, Kevin Parrett, Victoria Newton, Marshall Brown, Sharon Blanton, Dianah King, Dean Shearer, Stephanie Curry, Jennifer Chastain, Edna Thompson, Patricia Stanfield, Julie Perry, Otis Howard, Sherry Jones, Christian French, Dorene McClure, Jared Pittman, Otis Prater, William Merritt, Rebecca Robbins, Debra Britton, Penny Rowe, Scott Bryant, Charles Thomas, Stony McGuire, Rita Basile, Sherry Carpenter, Melinda Fruin, Tomi Baker,
