

Buckle Up America Week!

(Ed's Note: We are a week late in printing this article but felt that it contained so much useful information that we felt it would still be very beneficial.)

May 22-29 is Buckle Up America Week. This is a great time to start the safety belt habit. If you make it a habit to buckle up as soon as you get in the car and make sure all your passengers do too, you'll have a habit for life. Buckling up is for everybody and for every trip. Wearing them is the best way to protect yourself.

Motor vehicle crashes are the number one cause of death of children over six-months of age in the United States and motor vehicle crashes account for sixteen times more fatalities than all other forms of transportation combined.

Rockcastle County Health Department reminds you that safety belts and child safety seats save lives and prevent injuries. That's why it's so important to buckle up the little ones every time you take them out in the car. And, remember, safety belts save grown up lives too. Let's buckle up America.

The most common misuse errors are related to improper routing of the car's safety belt or anchoring the seat, infant seats facing the wrong direction, seat harnesses or shields not fastened correctly, or unused tether straps (which are on some older models of seats).

Helpful Hints

Adults cannot hold on to a child in even a minor crash. The child is torn from the adult's arms - even if the adult is buckled up. An unbuckled adult can crush the child against the dashboard because of the force of the crash, further contributing to the child's injuries or death.

Child safety seats and boosters are certified by the manufacturer to meet federal safety standards when they are used according to their directions. Improper installation or misuse will reduce protection substantially, read the directions that come with the seat carefully before installation.

Safety seats must always be anchored to the car with the car's lap belt exactly as specified by the manufacturer.

Never use plastic feeder stands, car beds, pillows, or cushions that are not certified for use in cars. Certified seats have a label showing that they meet federal safety standards.

The safest place for a child is in the rear seat of a car, buckled into a child safety seat, a booster seat, or the car safety belt if they have outgrown the seat.

Not all models of seats fit all cars. Shop for a seat that is convenient for you to install. Try your child in it and then try the seat in your car. Buy only a seat that will use each and every time your child rides in a car.

Automatic safety belts are not designed, and should not be used, to install safety seats in a car. If there is a manual lap belt it can be used to secure the seat. For cars without manual lap belts in the front, the safety seat must be installed in the rear.

Shoulder-only automatic belts are designed to protect adults. In a car equipped with shoulder-only automatic belts in the front, children should sit in the rear and use a lap belt. Most cars with automatic belts allow for manual lap installation (check the owner's manual).

In the front seat of an air bag equipped car, children should be secured in a safety seat or booster by the car's belt. This holds the child in place while protecting them against side, rear, and rollover collisions.

Whenever a child safety seat is involved in a crash, it must be replaced.

For the best protection use the seat only for the duration of one child's growth through childhood.

If you need additional information about child safety seats, such as a listing of seats certified by the manufacturer to meet federal safety standards, or about auto safety, call the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration's Auto Safety Toll-Free HOTLINE (800) 424-9393.

Sue Bennett Folk Festival

A blend of old time fiddle tunes and vocal melodies greets visitors to the arts and crafts workshops and displays on a picturesque college campus in London. Onlookers listen to quilting instructions and admire paintings of Kentucky craftsmen.

Enjoy highlights of this traditional festival on the 1989 Sue Bennett Folk Festival, airing on KET at 10 p.m. Monday, June 12. The special repeats at 1 p.m. Friday, June 16. The festival celebrates its 15th year with several musical presentations, including The Fraley Family, Fiddler J.P. Fraley accompanies his wife, vocalist Annapadne.

Interim-President and Academic Dean Joan Silvers commended on the Sue Bennett College mission of serving the needs of Appalachian students. The festival is one effort to "highlight the Appalachian history and enable them (the students) to appreciate mountain tradition," Silvers explains.

Madge Chesnut and Elaine Hays, who serve on the festival planning committee, describe the community's support for the festival. Former Sue Bennett College President Earl Hays, and Jan Mays, chairperson of the arts and crafts subcommittee, also discuss the event.

Folklorist Randy Wilson conducts an impromptu folk dance with some local children. The Sue Bennett Dancers complete the festival activities with a traditional Maypole dance.

The 1989 Sue Bennett Folk Festival is a KET Special Events Unit Production.

This week's Poetry

The Maretburg School
By: Ada Bullock

Today I came to visit
this place; I'll ne'er forget
Here once stood a school where many friends I met

Now it's just a grassy area combined with the cemetery
And as I read the headstones
my thoughts are so dreary

Names of my schoolmates and friends of long ago
Lay here asleep in Jesus to awake with joy untold

As I reminisce of childhood
I recall many names
And how we were so anxious for recess to play games

Mullins, Doan and Bradley
Owens, Cope and Hunt,
Nichey, Payne, and Chaney.
We were a happy bunch.

There are many others
in memory I relate
One, a special teacher to us so much she gave

She was an inspiration
and to all she did a favor
By encouraging us to succeed
May God bless you, Lela Saylor

Many times we'd stand together and recite the golden rule
Sharing love, respect and laughter at the old Maretburg School.

The Fly
By: Juanita Fordyce

One of the things I really detest
The common house fly, what a pest!
I believe he also knows a lot
Like disappearing when I get the sweet

And when I'm sleeping in some one needs something special.
Comes and sits upon my nose
When I raise my hand to brush it away

Oh! it really riles me up
When it tries to sit on my coffee cup
Then seeing my true feeling
Goes and sits upon the ceiling

Now it does have a gentle touch
But that doesn't make me like it much
And even tho it doesn't bite
I wish it would stay out of my sight

It gets up early, sits up late
Flies around buzzing and aggravates
I'll put an end to him and friends today

I'm sending out for a can of spray

They help me to get on my knees and pray

We grow with each experience
That's one thing I have learned
Sometimes God lets the hedge down
To see how well we'll turn

What pleases me the most
Is knowing I'm not alone
No matter what kind of storms
come my way
They never stay too long

Time Can Run Out!
By: Anna L. Clifford

Don't put it off
When there's something you should do

Don't feel it doesn't matter
If you wait a day or two
I've been one to do that
Most of my life
But I feel one day God showed me
That it wasn't right

I bought a birthday card
To send to my dad
I layed it on a shelf
When the message I had read

When I finally mailed it
It was a couple of days late
But I didn't realize How much difference this would make

Until my phone rang
They said, come home your dad has died

It was hard to believe this message
As to God I cried

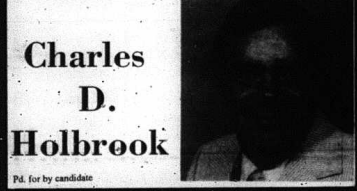

I didn't think about the card
Till I got to his house
The mail had arrived
So from the box I took it out

And as I looked down
I saw the card from me
He would never get it now
No, it he would never see

I know, he knew I loved him
And probably expected it to be late
But Oh! how I wished
I could have changed the date

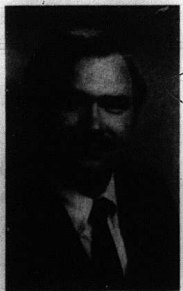

Thank You

I would like to thank everyone for their vote and support in May's Primary.

COUNTY ATTORNEY RESPONDS

Rockcastle County Attorney, James H. Lambert, releases the following statement.

Dear Friends:

Throughout my tenure as County Attorney, Rockcastle County has at all times been served by district judges who live in Pulaski County, but serve both counties. At the present time, Judges William T. Cain and Walter F. Maguire alternate months presiding in Rockcastle District Court.

As Pulaski is a much larger county and has approximately 3 1/2 times the population of Rockcastle, an inadequate amount of time is and has been allotted by the judges to Rockcastle County.

I have heard many of you say repeatedly that Rockcastle deserves to have at least one of its district judges live here. To my knowledge, however, that has never been the case.

In addition to this problem is another one. Frequently, when I, representing the Commonwealth of Kentucky, am ready for trial with witnesses present, the defense attorney requests that the case be continued or postponed, and often the judge grants that request. This produces a backlog. As I am sure you know, the county attorney has no authority to continue cases; only the judge can do that.

On other occasions, and despite the fact that subpoenas or notices to appear have been sent to them, certain police officers, chemists and expert witnesses inform me that they cannot appear to testify at trial due to their responsibilities in other places.

Furthermore, even though I have been requesting an assistant county attorney since 1984 (and I believe that certain counties in Kentucky with a lighter caseload than Rockcastle have one), my office has never been provided with such.

In spite of these factors, about 90% of the approximately 1,500 cases that come before the district court each year have presently been disposed of.

As County Attorney, I have been willing to accommodate the professional responsibilities of police officers and opposing lawyers. Also, because I recognize that witnesses have personal and professional responsibilities, I have made every effort to avoid undue hardship on them. And I have tried consistently to do my job within all of these limitations without accusing others of not doing their job.

Possibly I have not requested strongly enough that our district judges give Rockcastle County the attention it deserves. Perhaps I have not requested strongly enough that our district judges compel witnesses to come to court when they are supposed to. If so, this has been an error. The people of Rockcastle County deserve the best court system possible, and I shall do everything in my power to improve the effectiveness of our courts.

I have today written Judges Cain and Maguire requesting that additional trial days be assigned to Rockcastle County to speed up the disposition of cases in our district court. I am willing to work as much as required to accomplish this objective.

You, the people of Rockcastle County, have been good to me, and I appreciate you more than you know. And I know you first and foremost to be fair-minded people. And, as fair-minded people, I don't think you will believe that I, and I alone, have control over all the elements of the district court.

Further, I don't think that you will believe that I, and I alone, am responsible for all the shortcomings of the district court.

As Circuit Court Clerk Denver Miller said in an interview with the news media, concerning his role with the district court, "If everybody does their job, it makes my easier." I couldn't agree with him more. But instead of assigning blame to various people, I feel it is more effective for all court personnel to work together for a common goal.

That is the reason I initially declined to discuss our court system with the Lexington news media. However, as others felt no such restraint, many of my friends have encouraged me to make this statement.

As a final note, I would certainly welcome—as I am sure the judges and Mr. Miller would—any citizen who wishes to attend district court sessions and observe the proceedings. That way you can see for yourself what is going on.

As Ever,
Your Friend,

James H. Lambert,
County Attorney

Mount Vernon Signal

Mount Vernon, Kentucky 40456 Volume 101 - Number 32 Thursday June 1, 1989

Shooting incident claims life of Climax man

A Climax man died Monday afternoon from a gunshot wound to the head.
Gary S. Whittemore, 25, was pronounced dead at the scene by Rockcastle County Coroner Billy Dowell. Dowell said that Whittemore was an apparent suicide victim. The shooting occurred at the house where Whittemore was living with his wife and two daughters at around 4:15 Monday afternoon.
Dowell said that Whittemore used a small caliber handgun and that his wife witnessed the shooting. An autopsy was performed in Frankfort on Tuesday.
Funeral services for Whittemore are scheduled for Thursday, (today) at 2 p.m. at the Reppert Funeral Home in Berea. Burial will follow in the Silver Creek Cemetery.
Whittemore is survived by his wife Laraine Whittemore of Berea, his daughters Risha and Courtney both at home and his parents Mr. and Mrs. Alton Whittemore.

Local Grand Jury returns indictments against six

An incident at the Rockcastle Villa apartments resulted in two of the six indictments returned last Friday by a Rockcastle County Grand Jury.
Jesse Cromer, 55, of Mt. Vernon was charged with Wanton Endangerment in the first degree for shooting a firearm at Bruce David Morris, last Wednesday.
Sheryl Cromer, 27, of Mt. Vernon was charged with Terroristic Threatening for a May 21 incident in which she reportedly threatened to kill Morris with a firearm.
All three people involved are residents of Rockcastle Villa apartments and both people charged are free on bond until a June 30 arraignment date in circuit court.

Indictment returned in Crab Orchard murder case

A Lincoln County Grand Jury indicted Emery Duke Payne, 62 of Crab Orchard last week for the shooting death of his son-in-law on May 10 in the Rowland community.
Payne is accused of killing Alan Eugene Irvin, 44 of Crab Orchard in the driveway of a friend's home on Rice's Lane.
According to authorities the two men had been drinking before the shooting occurred at 10 p.m.
No trial date has been set.

If you don't like the weather in Kentucky - stay awhile

From snow flurries on the 6th and 7th to 86 degrees on the 30th, May has been a normal Spring month in Kentucky.
Besides the snow flurries, 5.18 inches of rain also fell in Rockcastle bringing the total rainfall for 1989 to 28.06, which is almost twice as much precipitation as a year ago.
The low for May was recorded on the 8th when the mercury dipped to 32 degrees at the Cox Funeral Home weather station.

Rockcastle special deputy arrested for DUI in Pulaski

A Rockcastle County Special Deputy was arrested last week in Pulaski County for driving under the influence and operating an auto on a suspended license.
Billy Ray Graves, 36, of Mt. Vernon was arrested by Pulaski County authorities after he was observed driving at a high rate of speed on south highway 461.
Local Sheriff Clarence "Jib" Hasty said Graves was never put on active duty with his office.
Graves is due in court on June 1.

Boys basketball camp set for June 12 at high school

RCHS boy's coach David Perkins will hold his basketball camp Monday June 12 through Thursday June 15.
Players who will be in grades kindergarten through eighth next year will attend from 10 a.m. until 12 noon.
Players in grades 9-12 are tentatively scheduled for noon to 2 p.m. Those hours are subject to change, Perkins said.
Any players or parents interested in the camp, but who need more information, can contact the coach at the school (256-4816) or at Perkins' home (758-4024).

Cash trying to form girls summer softball league

Rockcastle County High School girls' softball coach Debbie Cash is planning a summer softball league for area players.
Cash has had permission forms at all of the schools during the last weeks of the school year.
The league is open for players who will be in grades 6-12 next year.
For more information, contact coach Cash at school (256-4816) or at home (758-4024).
They should begin early this month, once teams are formed.

Homecoming royalty

'Michielle Blanton, a 13-year-old eighth grader at Brodhead Elementary was elected queen of the first Brodhead Homecoming Saturday. She is the daughter of Opal and Earl Blanton. She holds Courtney Cordier, elected queen baby for the Homecoming. Courtney is the child of Ernie and Leslie Cordier.

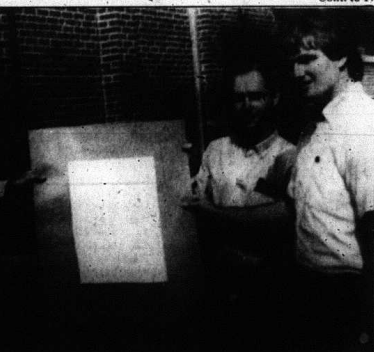

Elizabeth Mullins is Citizen of the Year in Brodhead. The 41-year school teacher and former Brodhead mayor rode near the head of the parade Saturday. She is also a 50-year member of the homemakers club, and is a member of the women's club. She and her husband, Earl, also ran a store in Brodhead for 25 years.

Cable companies may reach agreement

By: Jim Griesch
A lawsuit filed by Southern Cablevision against Lincoln Cable TV, and Gary Yocum in March may be settled out of court soon.
The suit, filed in Rockcastle circuit Court in March, would restrain Lincoln Cable TV from serving customers in western Rockcastle County.
Dave Hudson of Southern Cable said late last week, "A verbal agreement was reached four or five weeks ago," between the two companies.
They initiated a situation with us where we would split territory we both wanted," he explained. "Lincoln would take everything from KY 70 west. We would take the rest, with Mt. Vernon (which is already being served by Southern)."
However, no agreement has been signed. Until there is a signed agreement, the suit is still pending said Southern's attorney, Wes Tipton of Corbin.

"We have a contract to use telephone poles," said Hudson. "And, I understand Lincoln has a contract on power poles."
Where both companies have contracts for pole use in the same overlapping areas, both companies could try to sign up customers.
However, Hudson also promised that Southern would go after customers along KY 70 if the two companies don't come up with an agreement soon.
He explained that along both US 150 and KY 461, phone company poles are up on one side of the road, power lines are up on the other.
"If no agreement is reached soon, the two companies could start signing customers up in both areas."
But, without the agreement, residents in two subdivisions (and a prime location for cable service because of the number of homes involved) could wind up without cable service for still more weeks or months.

Hudson said that's because both Happy Acres and Houston Point have phone and power lines strung on the same poles within the subdivisions's limits.
"The fight would be over using the poles."
Said Hudson, coys could affect service in the subdivisions as well.
"The phone and power companies will allow both (Southern and Lincoln) to use their poles," he claimed.
"But, they will want both to meet national safety regulations. Making changes on the poles could cost as much as $5,000 to $6,000 per pole on certain poles."
Hudson thinks Southern is operating from a position of strength in the whole case.
"Without an agreement," he said, "we will do what we have to do to build on (KY) 70. An agreement would not have permitted that."
Hudson promised service on both KY 461 and US 150 by mid-to-late summer.
Tipton said, (the suit is) on-going at this point, but I think we'll have it worked, although it's not settled."
But, without an agreement, the suit would still be in effect, and a hearing date would eventually force the two sides into court.
All the while, prospective customers in western Rockcastle would still be waiting for service, especially in Happy Acres and Houston Point.
Would either company be able to

Letters from our readers

Was a beautiful poem

Dear Editor,
I would like to say, Weeping Forests, is one of the most beautiful poems I've ever read.

When I lived in Rockcastle County I sent some poems to the Signal that were published too.

I now live in Louisville and a dear friend had the Signal sent to me. It's kinda like a letter from home. I enjoy it so much.

I have several poems I've written, some for laughs, some sentimental. I'm sending three, hope you can find space to print mine again.

Good luck to all the poets.

Thank you Ladies Aux

Dear Editor,
We would like to thank the Ladies Auxiliary of VFW Post #5908 for the Health and Safety coloring books. These books contained pictures for students to color and important information for parents as well. The booklets were especially welcome as we were involved in our "Just Say No" drug prevention unit.

Sincerely,

LES students liked play

Dear Editor,
On May 15th, the first and second graders of Livingston Elementary School enjoyed a field trip to the University of Kentucky's Singletary Theater to see a play, The Wizard of Oz.

After the play, they were treated to lunch at Show Biz Pizza while Billy Bob performed for them. After lunch they enjoyed using tokens to play games at Show Biz.

We would like to express our appreciation to all who helped make this trip possible.

Thank you for your donation Young's Pharmacy, Hiatt's 5 and 10, DeBordes Discount, Clontz and Cox Attorneys at Law, "Jib" and Brenda Hasty, Billy Kirby, Denver Miller, Buddy Cox, Franklin's Department Store, Quality Sunoco, Citizen's Bank of Brodhead, Saylor's Pharmacy, Sears, Fain's Furniture, Elmer Hale, McNew Monuments, Renfro Valley Shell, Jack Bradley, Mt. TEACHER APPRECIATION DAY. The 4-H Council says a special thank you to all teachers and administration workers of Rockcastle County for their outstanding cooperation and dedication to the 4-H program in our county. Donuts were given to each teacher and pens and key chains were given to teachers who had clubs and work closely with 4-H programs. This is just a small way to say a very special thank you to these special people. In the above photo; Mrs. Dollie Roberts at MVES is presented her donuts and pens/chains by her 4-H class officers: Ben Owens, Drema Plummer, Melissa Cummins and Cassie Mullins.

Adam Trebolo, Rachel Trebolo, and Willy Witt competed in the Wilderess Trail Forestry Field Day at J.M. Felmer 4-H Camp in London, on May 16. Thirty-two 4-H'ers competed in this 4-H event. Rockcastle County placed very well in overall results. Adam Trebolo with a score of 227 was 1st champion, Rachel Trebolo was 4th place overall with a score of 222. Willy Witt finished with a score of 171. 4-H'ers competed in three different events. Tree identification, tree measurements, compass and pacing. Adam Trebolo was first place in each category. Special thanks to Cindy Witt, and Wanda Trebolo, for being our leaders. Congratulations to these three 4-H'ers.

Charles Wayne Bullock is local president of the All-American Club.

Did you know that many adults cannot read? This means that they cannot read labels on medicine! They cannot look up emergency telephone numbers such as police, fire, doctor, ambulance! They cannot read street signs! They cannot read recipes to use in cooking! They cannot read the newspaper! You can help!!! If you or your family know of someone who cannot read, tell them to call the public library. They have a program to help them LEARN TO READ!

HALLUEJAH!!!
It's finally happened. I have just read an editorial in the Lexington Herald Leader with which I agree right down to the last line. Normally that would ruin the rest of my day because disagreeing with the Herald Leader's Editorial writers has been a part of my morning routine for decades. By grumbling at them in the morning I am able to satisfy my grouch quotient and that enables me to be a rather pleasant person for the rest of the day.

But this morning I was stunned because upon finishing reading the editorial I found myself thinking that these guys were precisely right. So I'm going to grumble because they were.

Today's editorial dealt with the fact that West Virginia has finally taken a fairly simple step to curb its high-school drop-out rate. In a nutshell, the writer strongly suggested that Kentucky copy West Virginia's program.

In West Virginia they require young folks to either finish high school or at least stay in school until they are eighteen years of age if they want to drive an automobile. Drop out of school before you're 18 and they revoke your driver's license. It's as simple as that. And it works wonders. I know at least a dozen fourteen and fifteen year old kids right now who literally have the days counted until their 16th birthday. Sweet sixteen is that magical time in their lives when they can simultaneously drop out of school and get their driver's license. To them that equates freedom beyond which none of them have any ambition. They haven't even figured out how they're going to buy gas except during tobacco housing time.

The single, most important thing that this state could do to immediately affect the education problem in Kentucky is run over to Charleston, photo-copy the Mountain State's drop-out law and pass it verbatim in Frankfort. If I were governor I'd call a special session of the legislature with nothing else on the agenda and I'd keep them there until they passed it. Some schools would most likely have to build additional class-rooms because I guarantee you they would be fuller next week.

Just this fell I got into a heavy duty discussion with a fellow who has a PhD in education from Duke University who argues that the cause of our drop out problem is that there aren't any incentives to go to school. It's not fun he says.

I get up every morning and go to work knowing that it's not going to be a fun day. I keep my lawn looking respectable and I despise every single minute of it. I pay out a third of what I earn to the government and I don't like it a bit. At this very moment I'd much rather be tempting a wiley small mouth bass in a shady spot on the Rockcastle River than sitting here pecking away on my typewriter. On the other hand, I don't feel that it's unreasonable that I have to work for a living.

And that's the message that we need to be getting to that percentage of our young folks who seem to think that retirement begins at age 16. Life, in fact, is not all fun for anybody that I know even though I know a lot of folks who are much more gracious about accepting the facts of life than yours truly. I don't much care whether they love every minute of it or not. In fact, I think that teenagers should be required to perform a distasteful task every now and then just like the rest of us. There's more to getting an education than just plumb loving everything that goes on in a classroom. The larger part, it seems to me, is that kids learn that they are going to accept some responsibility to get along in society or they're going to be denied some privileges that the rest of us enjoy.

I feel like I should personally thank all of the nice people in Rockcastle County that I contacted during Shirley's campaign for sheriff. So many of you that knew me but hadn't met Shirley and the many that knew him or had already heard about him. To everyone of you my greatest thanks and appreciation goes out to each one of you.

To everyone that voted for him, to the ones that supported him (although they couldn't vote in this election), by telling others about him, to you that called after the election to congratulate and tell me how fair he ran his race with no special favors or promises to any individual, being fair to everyone.

With the continued support and confidence you've shown this far, we can go to the polls in November and elect him our next sheriff.

Proud to have been a small part in his campaign, I'll always remember the kindness, support and confidence shown me as well.

Thanks again! God bless all of you.

Buzz CARLOTTIS

My congratulations and best wishes to Roland Mullins for his nomination for County Judge-Executive, and my sincere thanks to him, Bill Norton, and Clarence Carter for their conduct and attitude during the campaign. Although there was only one winner, I honestly feel there were no losers among us, and no lost votes.

As a newcomer to politics - and the least-known candidate - I faced an uphill battle from the start, but I am extremely proud of my honesty to the voters - I promised nothing except devoted hard work for their best interests. I took decisive stands on issues facing us, and genuinely hope that I will have a positive influence upon our future.

To my old Livingston precinct that gave me 83% of its votes, and to the other 1,300 voters across the county who had confidence in my abilities to lead Rockcastle, I salute and give you my heart-felt thanks for so loudly voicing your opinion at the polls. The election results were very encouraging to me, and I sincerely hope that my candidacy has, in turn, encouraged other young people to become interested in the affairs of local government.

We can begin by telling them loudly and clearly without any apology for doing so that they are going to go to school whether they like it or not because the rest of us are not going to keep them up for the rest of their lives. We can let them know in very certain terms that we are not going to tolerate their refusal to prepare themselves to earn their keep and that the best way we know to accomplish that right now is to keep them in school. And we need to commence that effort right now.

I'm not saying that there isn't room for curriculum improvement in the schools. I think it's pretty obvious that we could do a bit better in terms of what we teach and how we go about teaching it. But we can't teach anything to those that don't even show up for class. And the reasons they aren't showing up has nothing to do with the quality or lack thereof in the curriculum.

Kids drop out of school because we have a system that lets them. Period. And as long as state law says that kids can leave school when they will do so in spite of anything that is done to improve the quality of the education that is available to them.

I urge you to write your state legislators and the governor and voice your disaste with the drop out rate. Tell them there is something that can be done about the problem. Tell them to look at West Virginia and stop worrying about hurting the feelings of the 16 year olds. Chances are that if they are allowed to drop out of school they probably aren't going to bother registering to vote either.

Gardening tip:
Nelle Glad wrote me a fourteen page letter from Welch, Minnesota the other day which she began by insisting that she didn't have any gardening tips to offer and that her intentions were to invite me to her reunion where her family has at Kingdon Come State Park every year. But she described her tomato staking system and it's probably the best time saving tip I've had in years.

Instead of staking every plant, put one sturdy stake at each end of the row and nail a long board about two feet off the ground between the stakes. Then all you have to do is tie all your tomato vines to that one board. That folks, is pure genius so far as I'm concerned.

The sixth grade classes at Brodhead Elementary sang at the groundbreaking ceremonies for the school's planned outdoor classroom. First graders led the Pledge of Allegiance. The outdoor classroom, which will provide exploratory opportunities, will be built between the gym and a front wing of the school.

BES outdoor classroom beginning to take shape

Last Thursday, Soil Conservationists and Brodhead School PTA officers broke ground for an outdoor classroom at the school.

PTA secretary Steve Trebolo told a small group of parents, students and officials that he sees students learning to grow various plants, raise small animals, or even plant trees in the area or on school grounds.

The area set aside for the classroom is between a front wing of the school and the gym.

A drawing presented at the groundbreaking includes flower beds, and areas set aside for various projects.

Trebolo said he could envision students planting cotton, wheat, vegetables, and several kinds of flowers.

While he said the groundbreaking amounts to the official beginning of the project, it should "never be finished."

By that, he said he meant that students would always come up with something new to work on, making the physical area a continually changing one.

He did say he hoped that students could begin to use the area -- and their ideas -- when school begins this fall.

The project is an outgrowth of a plan presented at the school's February PTA meeting.

Assistant principal Sue Hamm was master of ceremonies for the program. Also speaking and participating were Soil Conservation Service district board chairman Roy Brown, district conservationist Dave Edwards, and 4-H extension agent John McQueary.

First graders led in the pledge of allegiance, and sixth graders sang at the ceremonies.

Rockcastle 4-H Extension agent John McQueary, Brodhead Elementary assistant principal Sue Hamm, PTA secretary Steve Trebolo, SCS board chairman Roy Brown and district conservationist Dave Edwards (left to right) broke ground last week for the new outdoor classroom at Brodhead Elementary School, which should begin to be used in the fall.

Congratulations to the winning candidates in the Primary Election and many thanks to those voting for me.

Paddington Bear Reading Club

Plans for the "Paddington Bear" reading club -- Primarily ages pre-school through age 10, mothers may read to pre-school children.

When each child enrolls, they will be given a booklog, a bookmark and a sticker.

The program will start June 5th through July 29th.

Book bags will be given to each child after he has read 10 books.

Paddington Bears will be given to the children that have read the most books.

There will be additional prizes donated by Hilias' 5 & 10. Deluxe hamburgers from Drubbers will be given after each child has read 15 books.

Dinosaur balloons will be drawn for at the Pizza party.

At the end of our reading program, all children will be invited to a Pizza party in the library given by the Rockcastle county Library board.

Thanks to everyone that made the Reading Program a success.

Alleyne Davis and Geraldine Robbins

Children related to employees of the library will not be eligible for the Paddington Bear prizes.

42 Roundstone students tour Ft. Boonesboro

Forty-two fifth graders in classes taught by Mrs. Carol Pybas and Tracy Gabbard at Roundstone Elementary made one of the last field trips of the Rockcastle County school year.

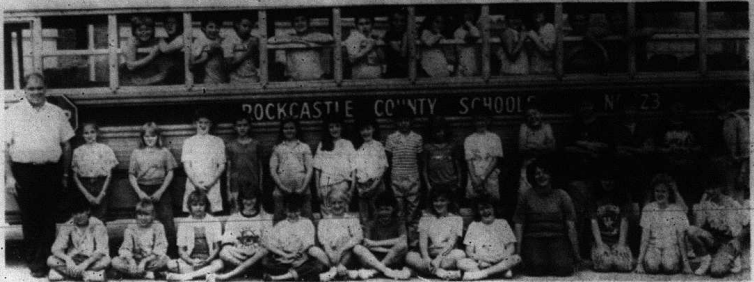

They toured Ft. Boonesboro and had lunch at Boone's Tavern in Berea recently, courtesy of funds provided by Forward in the Fifth.

Mrs. Pybas said most of the kids liked lunch at Boone's Tavern, and the students seconded the idea with great cheers as she said it.

The students, teachers and five chaperones had $2 (for students) and $3 (for adults) tours of the Fort, and $5 meals paid for by Forward in the Fifth, which has allocated money to counties in the Fifth Congressional District for a variety of studies, trips and special events.

The total amount funded was $350.

BMV donates video to library

The Bank of Mt. Vernon in cooperation with the Blue Grass AAA Foundation for Safety has donated an instructional safety video to the Rockcastle County Board of Education. The video, "Thinking About School Bus Safety," is designed for students in the fourth through sixth grades and is concerned with proper and safe school bus behavior. Teachers will be able to use the video to supplement classroom segments on pedestrian safety.

School bus safety has become a priority for the state of Kentucky. Proper conduct in and around school busses by students is a strong deterrent to bus related accidents or injuries. This is a generous contribution made by The Bank of Mt. in their effort to increase safety awareness in the community," said Lissa Mason, Executive Secretary of the Foundation for Safety.

THANK YOU

Thank you for the vote and support that I received during the May 23rd Primary. I certainly appreciate everything that was said and done in my behalf.

Now, I pledge my vote and support and I ask you that you pledge yours for our nominees during the November Election.

OUR REPUBLICAN PARTY MUST BE UNITED for the finals in November, FOR YOU CAN BE SURE THAT THE OTHER TEAM WILL BE.

Your friend,
Clarence Carter

Letter from the President

Billie Jo Bryant, a second grader at Brodhead Elementary, shows her reply to her letter to President George Bush. She wrote to him after seeing his inauguration on television in class. She told the President that she had watched his "show" on TV, and invited him to visit the school. Bush's reply encouraged her to help America live up to its full potential. Billie Jo's teacher, Beverly Owens, assisted her in writing the letters.

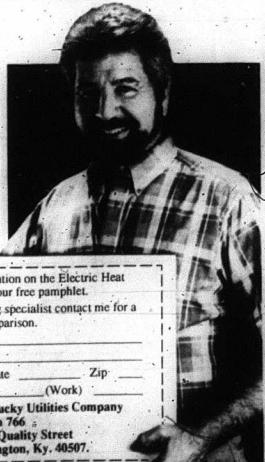

I would like to thank everyone for their vote and support in the recent Primary Election. Your confidence in me was appreciated.

Project graduation was a great success thanks to many Graduation has come and gone, but the memories of good times are still with us. This includes the Project Graduation party which was a huge success. We could not have achieved this without the tremendous efforts and work of a lot of people. It would not have been possible at all without the donations from the various people, both individual and businesses in Rockcastle County.

The Project Graduation committee would like to send a great big THANK YOU to the following:

Rockcastle Fishing Report

Renfro Valley Boat-Deck: Jim Hale reports that "a lot of bluegill" are still being caught and "catfish are biting right now." He said that within the past week a 6 1/2-lb. largemouth and a 3 1/2-lb. smallmouth have been landed. Hale also said that crappie and white bass are being taken at night.

to you too.

If we have omitted anyone, we apologize, but the response was so great we were not able to keep track of everyone.

Again we say "Thank You" and we think we speak on behalf of the senior class. They all had a great time. Last but not least "Thank You" to the chaperones who stayed for a few hours and also to the ones who stayed all night.

Also a thank you to June Stevens and Betty Glovak for their help and support and to Mr. Cash and Mr. Baker for their time and efforts.

See you next year.

Brodhead Homecoming '89

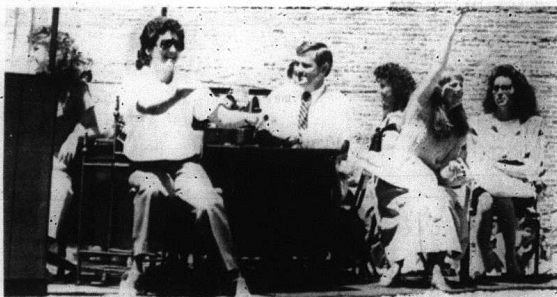

Barry Buswell hands some candy to Kevin Crowe, 2, who is held by his grandmother, Margaret Van Hook, as they watched Saturday's Brodhead Homecoming parade. Buswell was one of several clowns who found ready customers for the candy. Kevin and his grandmother were two of hundreds who watched the parade.

Johnny Bengo drove the Brodhead Fire Department's 1948 pumper in the parade. The same truck drew notice in another Brodhead parade during the town's 1976 USA bi-centennial parade.

Residents and employees of Sowder Nursing Home wave to the crowd in Saturday's parade.

Employees of Citizens Bank waved to onlookers during the parade. Several area businesses, churches and organizations either marched or had floats.

William Bentley's 1955 Chevy was "best in show" in Saturday's antique car competition. Bill Busseell's 1953 pick-up had the best paint job, Arlie Renner's 1970 Chevy had the best engine, and Browne Martin drove his 1951 Dodge the farthest, from Wiltalla, for the longest distance award.

Genis Ray Burdine lets go on a horseshoe toss during Brodhead's Homecoming Saturday. He and T.G. Caswell finished second to the team of David Rogers and Darrell Caldwell. It was the day's first event in the first Homecoming for the town.

Riding on one of the floats in the parade Saturday were Sherry Asher, with Jessica Asher (right) and Dustin Renner. The kids had a seat right in the middle of the action, as people along the sides of the street waved at them and others who manned the floats. They were participants in Brodhead's first annual Homecoming.

Millers start racing stable on Disputanta farm

By: Jim Griesch
Start with a retired IBM executive who is a Naval Academy graduate... Mix in a former John Henry groom who wanted to find a more wholesome environment for his family... And, stir in a dash of down-home horse sense from a groom... It all adds up to Disputanta Farm, Rockcastle's latest and first thoroughbred racing farm.

Hoyle Miller (with his wife Jane) is the ex-IBM, ex-Navy officer who bought the old John Payne family farm in the Disputanta area of the county. Raymond Ginter, Jr., was the great John Henry's groom, but before the horse achieved fame as a racer, Ginter is the trainer for Disputanta farm. Ginter said he moved to the country from Lexington to provide a better environment for his children. So far, it's working well. His wife, Barbara, is studying respiratory therapy at the vocational school. His daughter, Denise, is an honors student at Rockcastle County High. His son, Chris, is enrolled at Roundstone. Ginter has also worked for such racing stables as Gainesway, Calumet and Spendthrift.

Arthur Bishop, the farm manager also serves as groom. Both he and his wife, Irene, have hands-on experience with thoroughbreds. Bishop is a Broadhead native who has worked at several stables, while Irene once worked on one of the Nelson Bunker Hunt farms.

Mrs. Miller's father is Judge Ronald Swinford. The couple moved into the area from Maryland to be closer to her parents, who live in Berea but also own a farm at Disputanta. Her grandfather was Sherman Swinford. Her great-grandfather, was Ruben Swinford, both former Rockcastle County Magistrates.

The Millers owned a claiming horse in Maryland. When they got here, they decided to expand on that experience.

"My wife has loved horses, immensely," said Miller. "That's why I'm in it. Because of her."

By "in it," Miller means having two horses in training now at the Kentucky Training Center and another about to return to training after bucking her shins in a race this spring at Keeneland.

"The Streetwise Kid" is a gelding who is being groomed to run longer distances.

"MissAnnElisse" is scheduled to race at River Downs in Ohio on June 12.

"MyNameIsCaroline" is the filly who was bumped and injured coming out of the gate in April.

Miller and Ginter say she was a 6-5 favorite after finishing second in a tougher classification race earlier in the spring meet.

"Caroline" is nominated for the Bassinette Stakes at River Downs later this year, as well as for the Breeders' Cup.

"Streetwise Kid" is nominated for the $200,000-addict Cradle Stakes at River Downs this summer, as well as for the Breeders' Cup.

Miller said he hopes to have as many as 10 horses in training eventually.

Experts and vets have told him that "Caroline" and "Streetwise Kid" seem to have excellent lines, and solid futures.

If "Caroline" bucking her shins could be called bad racing luck, then Miller's acquisition should be called good racing luck.

Miller and Ginter had met just before attending an auction at the Kentucky Training Center on Paris Pike in Lexington.

Miller said he and Ginter had gone up there so that Miller could get a better idea of just how knowledgeable Ginter was, and who knew him.

Ginter passed the test with flying colors.

As the Millers and Ginter stood watching the auction, Ginter saw a horse he liked a lot.

Miller said that Ginter was trying to tell him that bidding had bogged down on the horse.

But, Miller, who uses his hands extensively to express himself, was gesturing and telling Ginter over his shoulder that he wasn't going to buy any horses that day.

Miller said he suddenly heard the auctioneer yell "Sold!" and pointed to Miller.

His gestures had just bought "Caroline."

After that, Miller decided to buy "MissAnnElisse" at that same auction. She is also nominated for the $150,000 Bassinette Stakes for 2-year-olds.

In the peculiarities of auctions, Miller had to be very firm on that purchase. He said, "It seemed like they were ignoring me. I had to practically jump up and down and wave my arms at them."

With "Caroline," "Streetwise Kid," and "MissAnnElisse" about to make their marks on racing, (Miller and Ginter hope), the future star of the stable may already be on the horizon.

"Mr. Disputanta," foaled this spring out of "Miss Streetwise," by "Host The Silver," and looks promising, they said.

Still, it will be two years before they can put him on the track. But, they both like his size; his blood lines, and his promise.

Three other yearling colts are on the grounds, as well as another possible broodmare, "Crazy Princess," a five-year-old whose racing career was ended by a fractured left foreleg.

Trainer has solid background

By: Jim Griesch
Disputanta Farm trainer Raymond Ginter has already put in a solid career with several "name" farms, such as Calumet, Gainesway and Spendthrift.

Those are the kind of pedigree names on a racing resume that open doors immediately.

Perhaps none is more famous, or more important than the name of a horse, "John Henry."

"John Henry," of course, is the gelding that raced for a half-dozen years, earning millions that made him Horse of the Year several times.

But, Ginter knew the "other John Henry" as his early groom. Then, the horse was talented, but worthless, because no one could handle him well enough to race him.

Ginter called him "a real savage."

He added, "He would tear feed bags and water buckets off the wall."

"John Henry" was sold three times before reaching thoroughbred racing stardom.

"He was sold for $700," Ginter remembers. "Two weeks later, the people called us and begged us to come get him for $500."

"He was sold again, later, for $1,200," he said. "Soon, they said, 'Come get him for $1,000.'"

"John Henry" was simply too fierce to deal with as a racing prodigy.

Ginter continued, "John Henry was getting on people. He savaged me, and he'd never done that before."

He added, "The owner, Bubba Snowden, decided to castrate him then. He held his head as they did it, and I thought, 'he won't be a problem any more.'"

He was sold for $2,500 shortly after that. Ginter was right.

At age four, he began a career that eventually won $6.5 million said Ginter.

But, "John Henry" never ran prestigious races for three year olds.

He, like "Man O' War," never raced in the Derby.

Why?

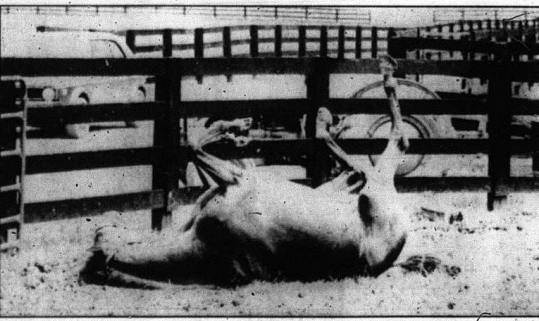

"Because he didn't have any pedigree," said Ginter. "He was a nobody."

Of course, "John Henry" is a "somebody" now. So are 1961 Derby winner Carry Back, and a handful of others who achieved stardom without sterling family trees.

That's the special lure of racing for Ginter and farm owner Hoyle Miller. They'd like to find another "John Henry" or "Carry Back."

The Miller home is deceptively simple on the outside. It has a modern flair, but it is inside that lends itself to the grace and style that marks it as something special.

"Miss Streetwise" takes a few moments to scratch her back for the benefit of visitors last Friday. The mare has just foaled "Mr. Disputanta," a colt that Hoyle Miller and Raymond Ginter hope will one day be a champion.

Farm home is magnificent

By: Jim Griesch
Sports Editor

The new home of Jane and Hoyle Miller in Disputanta, the horse center for Disputanta Farm, is modern, sophisticated, elegant, gracious and equipped with a view of the farm down below that men usually dream about, but never have real hopes to live in.

The house is built onto the side of a hill in this year of the table's round in progress.

Miller says that some people have said that other houses similarly built into the sides of hills have had a waxy habit of sliding down the valley below.

But, Miller knows the home is built on a solid foundation of constant firm, and feels confident his "retirement castle" will stand years from now.

Spaciousness and view are two keys to the home that are immediately obvious to any visitor.

There is a three-toe-tinging bay window in the kitchen, and a wall of windows in the den.

Both provide panoramic views of the 50-acre farm below, the road just beyond that, and the valley which seems to run for miles on the other side of the road.

A balcony runs around the rear and all the way across the front of the house, with a view of the farm and valley.

All of the walls are painted white, with gray trim and ceiling.

From the kitchen, looking south, you can see the road, with its all white - fixtures, cabinets and appliances.

The whole is broken up with several stone walls and corners that highlight everything.

Miller wouldn't say what he does, but he has his own construction business at the present.

The Miller children, two girls, live in Maryland, but they do come by their father's place.

It was one of the days when the Miller boys, a pair of English blooded thoroughbreds, were in at 215 and 210.

When they were in the race, they were the favorite to win the race.

Hoyle Miller and his wife, Jane, pose with "MyNameIsCaroline," a filly which will begin to race again after suffering bucked shins in a race at Keeneland in April.

FAITH AND COMPROMISE ASSURE A HAPPIER MARRIAGE

In this traditional month of beautiful bridal gowns, it may be time to take a good look at marriage and the high incidence of divorce. It is a sad fact that all too many people get married to someone they love, but with the idea of "making over" their spouse after the wedding, like a woman who buys a dress and redesigns it. The undesirable traits may not appear until later on, perhaps even induced by the spouse's actions, but in any case we should try to accept our marriage partners for what they are, guiding but not nagging, and seeing areas of compromise wherever possible. We should also turn to the clergyman at our House of Worship for guidance. Whether or not the wedding took place there, it could be the best place to save the marriage.

"What therefore God hath joined together, let not man put asunder."
— Matthew 19: 6

In a successful marriage, there is no such thing as one's way. There is only the way of both.
— Phyllis McGinley

Raymond Ginter, left, checks the bridle of "Mr. Disputanta," while Arthur Bishop holds the foal's mother, "Miss Streetwise," last Friday. Ginter is the trainer for Rockcastle's thoroughbred-racing farm, Disputanta, while Bishop is a groom and farm manager. The farm is owned by Hoyle and Jane Miller. For stories and more pictures, see Page 17.

10-YEAR-PINS were recently presented to two employees at Rockcastle Manufacturing. Making the presentation were Tandy Pedigo, plant manager and Bill Pratt, vice president of Cintas, the parent company of Rockcastle Manufacturing. In the photo are, from left: Mr. Pedigo, Carol Bryant, Margie Harris and Mr. Pratt.

Miller is enthusiastic over his new career. Right now, he knows that he's an unknown... the new guy on the block.

"You always have the dreams of the (Kentucky) Derby," said Miller. "...the dreams of that one big horse."

Ginter added, "And, you don't know where that horse will come from..."

The vision can be seen on both men's faces. They are thinking and hoping that some day, that "one big horse" will stand in the winner's circle at Churchill Downs on the first Saturday in May.

And, the winning jockey will be wearing the maroon diamonds on a gray background that are the racing colors of Disputanta Farm.

"That horse could be 'The Streetwise Kid,' or 'Mr. Disputanta.'"

It might even be a horse not yet born.

But, Miller is very optimistic and plans to run Disputanta Farm as a business, but he admits that in the racing business, you don't maximize your gain, but minimize the loss.

Mrs. Sharon McKinney and included plans for all three 5th grades and Mrs. Beverly Owens' Resource Classes. All the students and teachers involved would like to thank Forward In The Fifth for making our trip possible. It was certainly one of the best and most memorable science lessons we'll ever present. We would also like to thank our chaperones, Mrs. Mary N. Cash, Mrs. Kathryn Payne, Mrs. Bobbi Durham and Mrs. June Taylor. Also, thank you for a safe and enjoyable trip, go to our has drivers Mr. Randy Adams and Benny Craig.

The day after our trip we wrote thank-you letters, to Forward In The Fifth for sponsoring our trip. We would like to publish one as a public 'thank-you' from all 84 children that go to participate. Thanks to this great organization.

Dear Forward In The Fifth,
Thank you very much for the grant money that sponsored our trip to the Louisville Zoo. The part I liked best about the trip was where you got to ride on the train and you got to pet animals that you would probably just see on T.V. like a big lizard. I had a good time!

Sincerely yours,
Becky Bussell

gather enough customers along the areas in conflict to make it feasible to provide service to those homes, is still a question.

A rule of thumb is that cable companies need 25 customers per mile to make enough money to provide service.

Brodhead classes go to Zoo

On Thursday, May 18, four Brodhead classes, Mrs. Sharon McKinney, Mrs. Onna K. Owens, Mrs. Judy Doyle and Mrs. Beverly Owens, took a field trip to the Louisville Zoo. We had prepared our classes for the trip for quite some time by teaching various science lessons on animals and their habitats, endangered species, the benefits of animals to mankind and by utilizing the KET program "Zoo, Zoo, Zoo."

We left school at 8:30 that morning and arrived at the Zoo by 11. We disembarked from the bus and began our tour. We had also arranged to have an hour-long Meta Zoo program presented to the class. Live animals were brought out and the children were told about the species characteristics and allowed to touch and hold the animals. It was very informative and a really good educational experience.

After the Metazoo lesson we had lunch in the picnic area located near the concession stand.

After lunch the students were free to go on an elephant ride, a train ride or to go back to some particularly interesting part of the Zoo that they had not yet had time to fully explore. We also had time to visit the gift shop before arriving back at school by 3:30 pm. We boarded the bus for home at 5:30 when the parents were waiting to transport their children home.

This wonderful trip was made possible by a grant from Forward In The Fifth. The grant was written by
