City will upgrade water plant; build structure at dock

By: Jim Griesch

United Pipeline of Louisville won the bid Monday night to enlarge two openings in a mixing trough at the Mt. Vernon water plant, and add 12 inches in height to six walls there.

The bid was awarded in a 6 p.m. called session of the city's council before the regular 7 p.m. session.

United bid $12,462 for the work, about 3,400 lower than the second lowest bidder. NAC of Lexington had bid $15,829, while Karish Construction of Mt. Vernon bid $19,900.

A contract is to be signed when the company delivers a performance bond to the city. That contract will call for the work to be completed within 30 days from the notice to proceed with the work.

The city also decided to repair the Renfro Valley Boat Dock on Lake Linville without bidding on it.

Dock manager Jim Hale says that material to replace the burned dock would cost $5,350.97, and presented a list of materials and costs to the council.

Hale said if the council would buy the materials, he would supply the labor. The only problem Hale sees is laying block back on the original foundation. He said it may cost another $600 to get that done.

The council okayed Hale doing the work, so long as he doesn't run costs over $7,500. Anything more than that amount would require the city to take bids on the repairs.

In addition, the council voted to repay Hale $700 in rent. Since the dock burned in March, and Hale was paying $116.66 per month to live at the dock, the council decided to reimburse him for five months to make up for his family's displacement.

Hale has bought a trailer on his own and lives in the trailer on the dock parking lot.

In other business, the council:
• agreed to install a one-inch water line to two homes (Mullins and Reynolds) to provide adequate water pressure.

• adjusted the tax assessments of three people (one who has been determined to live outside the city limits, two who are on disability income).

• voted to pay a bill for $309.60 to city attorney John Clontz for work performed outside of his normal duties.

• decided to erect a guardrail to protect the property of Garry Hansel on Wats St. His property sits below an intersection and traffic there presents a danger to property in case of an accident or inclement weather.

Berea fair

On June 17 Berea will be alive with bluegrass music when the Berea Bluegrass Fair comes to town. The event, first of its kind in Berea, will be held at the Community School football field from noon till 10 p.m.

One of the special features of the Fair is the silent auction, with over 60 items and/or services donated by such merchants as Wal-Mart, Foodtown, Ross, Radio Shack, Britton Chevrolet, Berea College Log House, Promenade Crafts Gallery, and local dentists and eye doctors, just to name a few.

A rare find at any auction will be footballs from all 28 NFL football teams.

Entry to the Fair will be $3 per person; $5 per family; and children under 10 will be admitted free of charge. Tickets are available at Mountain Memorial Health League at 986-2326, and will also be available at the gate on the grounds.

All proceeds from the Fair will go toward providing health and education programs for low-income families in eastern Kentucky.

If you are looking for a wholesome fun family to put me in, coming to the Berea Bluegrass Fair on June 17.

Debbie Witt asks the question, Is it worth it?

When Debbie Witt and her classmates of 1977 get together next week, they will no doubt have a lot to share about the last ten years, but probably none of them will have experienced what Debbie has since a tragic accident on August 4, 1980. This is her story about the tragedy.

I was taking care of my grandfather's house, being given it a thorough cleaning. I had just finished the house and decided to give the cars a good cleaning. I was one to go for perfection. Whenever I had finished cleaning, it was extremely clean. But in this case, I think I may have cleaned my grandfather's car too thoroughly. They were gone on vacation and left me in charge of the place. My car needed some repair, so for transportation my grandfather let me drive his '76 Ford Pinto, standard. When cleaning it up, he had a couple of blocks he kept in the back. I saw these, so naturally I could give the car a better cleaning and failed to put them back in. I thought they were only important for bad icy, snowy roads!

At the age of 19, lacking a couple of months being 20, on a Monday morning, August 4, 1980, I was in a big rush to get things done and over with. I hurried to the car, put my seat belt on and started to back the car. The seat belt was binding me and restricting my movement whenever I was trying to get the car turned around, so I took it off. Somehow, it slipped my mind and I did not put it back on!

As I was traveling on Hwy. 461 about 9 a.m. while ensuring a curve I hit a bad patch in the road. A split second and I had lost control of the car. The car swerved into the other lane and hit a telephone pole. I went through the windshield, fell in the air and landed in a barbed-wire fence. The couple that stopped were sending home to Ohio. They had to send a tow truck to get me out of the car. I saw the accident from the back of the tube out. This was very painful. I was begging for help one of the nights while still in I.C.U. I could not get enough air. The nurse was going to suction me, but I refused her. Later I got desperate and talked her into trying anything I could think of to get relief. None of it helped and she ended up suctioning me anyway and that did not help either. I could hear my nurse talking to the head nurse, trying to persuade her into calling a doctor in, but she refused to do so. My nurse did everything she could think of to give me relief, but nothing helped. Before the night was over, it had taken its toll on her too. She had broken down and was crying. I never did see her again.

When I made it to U.K. my parents were waiting for me. The nurse came in and shaved a portion of my hair off on each side of my head. Then they put sternal thongs in that I could feel grinding to the bone and put some kind of weights on the end to stretch my neck. It was then I realized I was paralyzed. I fell asleep.

Later, the nurses were waking me up every so many hours so my parents, family and friends could talk with me a few minutes. By then I had been moved to L.C.U. I noticed had several L.V.'s in each arm and there was a monitoring machine above me and it was always dark. I thought they were keeping the lights turned out on me, but come to find out later they were not. I stayed in that bed for an entire week having terrible extractions all over my body. They did not give me anything for pain because it would hinder my survival. During that week I was taken down and x-rayed. My neck was broken in three places. The doctors could see no way out of surgery. I worked on a Monday and had surgery the following Monday. During the two months at U.K. I had pneumonia three times. I had to be suctioned. The way this was done, the nurse would stick the tube up my nose and down into my lungs and pull the tube out. This was very painful. I was begging for help one of the nights while still in I.C.U. I could not get enough air. The nurse was going to suction me, but I refused her. Later I got desperate and talked her into trying anything I could think of to get relief. None of it helped and she ended up suctioning me anyway and that did not help either. I could hear my nurse talking to the head nurse, trying to persuade her into calling a doctor in, but she refused to do so. My nurse did everything she could think of to give me relief, but nothing helped. Before the night was over, it had taken its toll on her too. She had broken down and was crying. I never did see her again.

When morning came, I could hear the doctors doing their regular rounds. When they got to me she saw the difficulty I was having, she said, "I saw a short red rubber tube." They inserted this up my nose. It was extremely painful. They left it in for several days and it felt like it was pressing on the inside of my head. I begged the nurses to take it out. They would not because they had to take another tube, so through the care that I thought to myself, you just wait, my parents will be here and I will talk them into pulling it out.

When my parents came in, I tried my best to talk them into taking that dreadful tube out. But you know that my nurse was standing by where I could not see her and told them not to!

I got better and got out of I.C.U. Also that painful tube was removed. Now here comes my second round of pneumonia.

The nurse had to suction me some more. By the second round I told her I could not take anymore, but she suctioned me anyway and I passed out. Back to I.C.U. I went. This time they inserted a much larger tube and the worst. Dad and mom were in the room with me. It was late. I was having difficulty breathing again. I had dad press on me and kept trying to cough phlegm up. I was desperate and determined they were not going to suction me again.

I thought I was doing good. I was getting a little phlegm up. Next thing I knew mom was gone. I wish I could have tied her up. A few minutes later here she came and a man came along behind her. I knew there was trouble then. Especially when he asked me if I was having problems breathing. I automatically told him no, that I was all right.

Before I knew it, he had the seconds counted.

The next day the doctor came in when my parents were there and told us I could not handle another time on the breathing machine. It was breaking my nose down. They were going to do a tracheotomy. I was trying to tell them to put me out when they did it so I would not feel any pain. Dad finally figured out what I wanted and told the doctor. (Remember when hooked up to the breathing machine I could only move my lips.)

When they put the trache in, the nurses would suction me through this. I was not able to communicate with this either. The only thing I could do was to move my lips. I thought I was going to go nuts. I tried to tell the nurses and my family the pain I was having. I would try to tell them where to scratch me on my face. It itched like crazy! Mom finally figured out my face was itching. Rather than figure out where she would rub my whole face, I felt so much better.

After seven days of this terrible ordeal of the trache, the doctor came in, slipped the trache out and slipped a different kind in. Now I was able to communicate unless someone unknipped it.

The trache was finally completely removed and by my 20th birthday I was well enough to go by ambulance straight to the Cardinal Hill Hospital, which is a rehabilitation center. When I left U.K. I was able to move my left arm slightly.

I went to U.K. for two months, a day and half and to C.H.H. for five months. I am classified as a quadriplegic in medical terms which means I am paralyzed chest down and have no hand function. I have the use of my upper biceps. I have sensation which has come back all the way to the end of my toes. This is a big plus.

These are just a few things I had to go through. Hopefully, this will give a better understanding on how important it is to wear a seat belt.

had a machine breathe for me. This tube went up my nose and down my throat which put me out of commission for awhile. Now I could not communicate, along with not being able to move.

After several days of this I got better, so they disconnected everything and put me back in a regular room. They showed dad and mom how to press just below my ribs and to hold the cord on the phlegm breathing machine tube up my nose and down my throat. The lady respiratory therapist put the black rubber bag on the end and hand pumped the air into my lungs while the others rushed me back to I.C.U. She was about to give out before I got there. At this point I thought, why are they doing this to me? A few seconds later I was to sleep. (Normally during the time of night this took place, the respiratory therapists would not have had 47 tracheas I was at the stage where

For UK, Pitino's difference should be best

Here's why new Kentucky basketball coach Rick Pitino should succeed in rebuilding the UK program: He's fresh and won't be overcome by the weight of the UK tradition.

It is also the right time for a personality like Pitino's to arrive in Lexington.

Pitino has a cocky self-assurance that jumps out in conversation with him. It is this brashness that will serve him well in his days at UK.

That attitude is also a fresh one, a new one, for the Lexington campus. Adolph Rupp was brash, but became merely cantankerous in his late years at UK. No one could doubt him, based on his accomplishments.

Joe Hall immediately took up a stance of "defending" the UK program. He wound up having to defend his program from a number of wolves at his door, and left when he saw the dangers ahead.

Eddie Sutton's act played well for a year or two, but his term at UK seemed wrapped in conflict from the start.

He had personal problems, then he got caught in the newspaper expose of Hall's term his first year.

While the expose wasn't directed at him, he caught the full weight of it. Pitino has already promised to make the deep UK tradition a "positive" force, and not a negative one.

That's the key. The tradition is there. Some media people have joked of it, pointing out that so much of it is in the distant past.

Pitino thinks he can develop his own program, be his own man, and add more numbers and titles to the

Sports Splatter

By: Jim Griesch
Sports Editor

tradition. He plans to do it by making changes, his changes. He will bring in his own assistants, and not keep someone from the past just to have a transitional figure aboard. He will house his players around campus -- in dorms with "regular" students.

He will make a basketball office -- maybe -- out of Wildcat Lodge. He plans to have offices, meeting rooms, a "War Room," and possibly some recreational or study areas there.

The "War Room" will be where the coaches will keep up with recruits and recruiting. In keeping the "old," he likes the overall concept of a Midnight Madness to open fall practice. Pitino likes the idea of being the focus of state-wide attention from fans.

He also likes the idea of making a tour of the state to play pre-season exhibitions. But, note, he says, "I like the smaller places."

And, he says he will close practices to fans and the media, and will keep his distance from boosters and fat cats. That's a lot to do, but if he can accomplish all of that, he will be his own man at UK for as long as he wants.

He's said straightforwardly that he doesn't think it will take that long to rebuild UK.

The name "Kentucky" will always be exposed to recruits. As soon as eligible, UK will be back on national television.

If Pitino can attract three solid players next recruiting season, he'll be in position to challenge for a berth in the NCAA tournament in 1992, the next year UK can do so.

He'll also succeed because his attitude isn't defensive; it's offensive. Instead of defending himself or the program, he will attack those who challenge him.

That alone, is certainly a new day in UK basketball. Different is needed. Fresh is best for now.

Rebuilding won't be quite as fast as in other drastic times at UK. There are some reasons for that.

Take a look at the history of the "bad" times at the school.

When New York judge Saul Sitrit blasted UK with an 86-page indictment after the fix scandals of 1951, that set the tone for harsh punishment.

The SEC, then the NCAA, refused to permit UK to play a 1952-53 schedule.

But, Rupp and UK were back the next year, 25-0, behind two players now in the Basketball Hall of Fame, Cliff Hagan and Frank Ramsey.

Rupp's worst team was 1966-67, at 13-13. But, the next year, UK was back again behind three sophomores named Dan Issel, Mike Casey and Mike Pratt.

Hall's second squad was also 13-13, but the arrival of freshmen Jack Givens, Rick Robey, Mike Phillips and James Lee immediately pushed UK to the top, again.

This will be different. There aren't any "super" groups waiting to pick up the team next year. In fact, Pitino has a chore just keeping the players he already has.

Instead of a one-year turnaround, or a two-year turnaround, it will take three or four.

But, in basketball a coach only needs two or three very solid players to be competitive. Pitino will find them.

UK will rise again. And, one last item about the 1988-89 season, UK's first losing one since 1927....

Five three-point field goals placed in just the right places would have made UK 18-14.

The Cats needed one each against Scion Hall, Northwestern (La.) State, Bowling Green, at Auburn and at Mississippi State.

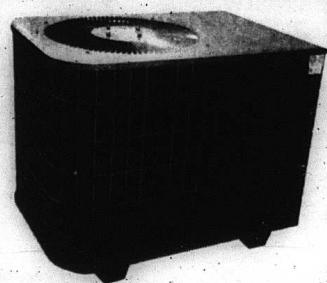

With them, UK would have a 63-year winning streak intact.

Like hamburgers, fresh is best for UK basketball right now.

Rick Pitino was the center of attention last week as he answered questions at a press conference after he was named basketball coach at the University of Kentucky. He faced 18 television cameras, at least three of which were live on their respective stations, a live radio network hookup, and at least 30 newspaper people. He will earn a base salary of $105,000 from UK, not counting outside income sources.

I hope and pray that our county will grow and build toward the future.

Curt Brown

"What Saith the Scriptures"

It's that time of year when far too many people shamefully disrobe and parade out in public almost naked. Rev. 3:18 talks about that the Laodiceans needed to be clothed spiritually, but of course the language is drawn from the physical realm: "that thou mayest be clothed, and that the shame of thy nakedness do not appear." Many folks in our society have lost their sense of shame and decency. But someone might object and say, "Don't God create Adam and Eve naked? Yes, but after sin was committed they tried to hide themselves with fig leaves, Gen. 3:7. Then in Gen. 3:21 God made them "coats of skins, and clothed them." Yes, God intends for us to be clothed.

It's pitiful that men and women would be embarrassed if someone walked into their bedroom while they had their undergarments on, but will wear the same thing, only a different color, and a different name, "bathing suits" and feel no shame or embarrassment while seen out in the public. Lk. 8:26-36 talks about a man healed of demon possession. While he was possessed, the Bible says, he wore "no clothes", vs. 27. Then after Jesus healed him the text says that he was "clothed, and in his right mind" vs. 35. Truly we must conclude that people who do not wear a proper amount of clothes in public, must not be in their "right mind!"

Paul taught in 1 Tim. 2:9, "In like manner also that women adorn themselves in modest apparel, with shamefacedness and sobriety." Modesty begins in the heart. People need to develop a sense of shame, having the ability to blush. To those who want to please God, we need to have and develop these attitudes of heart that would reflect itself in decent, modest, sensible clothing and apparel. The call of God to all those who are dressing shamefully, is to repent. Turn to God and his will before it is too late. If you would like to study the word of God further, we would be glad to help, just give us a call.

Mount Vernon Signal

Mount Vernon, Kentucky 40456 Volume 101-Number 33 Thursday, June 8, 1989

Briefly

Lightning shatters oak tree; home damaged

A tremendous bolt of lightning struck an oak tree in McGuire subdivision in Mt. Vernon Monday night, destroying the tree and causing damage to a home there.
Several windows were broken and carpets were torn by flying bark from the tree, which was completely scalped by the lightning from the limbs down.
The bark hit the home, which is owned by Richard and Kathy Gray, with such impact that it actually penetrated in the brick. Glass from the windows was also found in all the rooms of the house.
Triple A tree service from Lexington had to finish the job that the lightning started. They topped the tree at about 9:30 p.m., about 3 and a half hours from the time of the incident.
The Gray's eleven-year-old son Chris was at home when the lightning hit, but he was not injured, just very scared.

Owner stops break-in at Barron's Grocery on 70

Arrests are expected to be made soon, following a Tuesday morning break-in at B & B Grocery on Hwy. 70.
According to Bonnie Barron, who owns the store with her husband, Bobby, she heard a car pull into the parking of their store around 3:30 a.m. Tuesday morning. The store is located in front of their house.
Mrs. Barron said that she got out of bed and saw someone entering the front door of the store. She said that her husband caught two men in the store a few minutes later. Mrs. Barron said that her husband shot over one man's head and knocked him to the ground.
One of the suspects left on foot and the other in the car, but she believes they were able to get about $500 in cigarettes. Mrs. Barron said that the driver of the car apparently wrecked his vehicle about a mile up the road and that some of the cigarettes were found in the ditch.
State Trooper Jimmy Silvers is investigating the break-in and expects to make an arrest very soon.

Morris indicted for first degree criminal trespass

A Mt. Vernon man will be arraigned June 30 in Rockcastle Circuit Court following an indictment for first degree criminal trespassing.
Bruce David Morris, 22, is charged with unlawfully entering the home of Kimberly Morris on May 22. The indictment, along with five others was handed down May 26 by the Rockcastle County Grand Jury. Three other indictments have yet to be served.
Morris is free on bond until his hearing before Judge Dan Vonnort.

No changes after recanvass of county's voting machines

There will be no changes in the outcome of last month's primary election after a recanvass of the voting machines last Wednesday.
According to county clerk Norma Houk there was no change in the totals for the election.
The recanvass was done at the request of sheriff Clarence "Big" Hasty, who lost the Republican nomination as sheriff 20th by 109 votes.
Hasty said last week that he would not seek a ruling in circuit court and that he wished Smith the best in the Fall race.

Lester and several other people were present at the MADD meeting held at the Mt. Vernon High School on Tuesday evening.

Extra judges, prosecutors assigned to district court

By: Jim Griesch
Fayette County Attorney Norrie Wake has named appointed special prosecutor for Rockcastle County to clear out a backlog of some 117 cases of DUI charges that have been awaiting trial for as much as nearly three years.
Wake was appointed during a meeting in Frankfort, May 31, involving Kentucky Supreme Court Chief Justice Robert F. Stephens, Assistant Attorney General Michael Roney, Rockcastle County Attorney James Lambert, Rockcastle District Judges William Cain and Walter Maguire, Circuit Court Clerk Denver Miller, and four Kentucky State Police Officers.
The action was taken after published reports critical of the handling of those DUI cases over previous weeks, and complaints by the Rockcastle Mothers Against Drunk Drivers, and Miller.
Miller noted in his complaints there hadn't been a jury trial in Rockcastle District Court for DUI in 16 months.
Judge Stephens' plan is to begin trying DUI cases the week of June 26, and to use extra prosecutors from Fayette County and two extra judges from Jefferson County, as needed.
Should space be required, some trials will be held in the circuit court room in the Rockcastle County Courthouse.
To prevent more backlogs, Stephens' plan also requires that future DUI cases be brought to trial within 90 days of an arrest.
Miller publically criticized Lambert in May for failure to bring to trial the DUI cases.
Miller opened his records to inspection by media members and local MADD members.
One case will turn three in July. Still others are over two years old, while 32 cases are less than 90 days old.
Roney said that of the 117 cases, 19 separate charges involve one individual.
Roney also said that other cases will be delayed until the DUI backlog is depleted. That isn't as serious as it may sound, he explained. He pointed out that a handful of misdemeanors are the only other cases pending.

Roney, who will oversee the proceedings for Attorney General Fred Cowan, said he plans to "pursue every arrest to a conclusion. If we get some quick convictions, they will fall into line."
Roney said, too, there is "fault all around" in allowing so many cases to pile up on a docket.
He added, "There's not been a lot of effort down there" to get them resolved.
He categorized the delays as "not being able to buckle down and telling people 'no,'" when asking for delays and continuances.
He noted, "Prosecutors and judges need to tell defendants the trial date and not have continuances."
Roney said he thinks clearing out the backlog could take any where from three to six months.
He hases these limits on his own background. "It's been my experience that if you show you are not going to delay... that you are going to trial... if you take your strongest cases first, get some convictions, you'll get some to plead guilty."
Wake said that Fayette Assistant County Attorney David Vest will represent him in the prosecutions here.
Vest is scheduled to meet with court officials in Rockcastle County next week to begin putting together a court docket.
Wake cited two major needs in bringing the cases to trial.
"An inordinate delay... presents a danger to the public's safety... and doubts to the integrity of the court system," he said.
He added, "We'll know more by the first of next week, and we'll have a good idea of what the jury trial schedule will be."
He also said, "If we have two judges in Rockcastle County ready to try cases, we'll have two prosecutors ready to go, too."
He added, "(We) hope to be able to stand up in court on the appropriate date."

Board hires Shelby Reynolds; gives employees 5% increase

By: Richard Anderkin
Broughton Elementary School Principal Shelby Reynolds was hired as Instructional Supervisor for the Rockcastle County school system at their regular monthly meeting Tuesday night.
Calling the position possibly the most important job in the school system, Superintendent Bige Towery recommended Reynolds over six other applicants.
Reynolds, will replace Doug Hamm, who announced his retirement after twenty years at that post and 30 in the educational field.
Reynolds, the pastor at Mareburg Baptist Church, already resides in Rockcastle. His wife, Kathy is a teacher at Roundstone Elementary School.
Towery told the board that he got a great deal of valued help from the five member committee assigned to help him make his recommendation.

Shelby Reynolds had earlier applied for Transportation director and Chapter One co-ordinator.
Others applying for the position were Roger Vanzant, Beverly Owens, Jamie Grigsby, Bill Jack Parsons and Mary Alice Hunt.
Before the board meeting barely got underway Mrs. Regina Bell and her husband Ralph questioned the board and particularly Superintendent Towery about teacher transfers.

Mrs. Bell told the board that she wanted them and Towery to be aware that she wanted to transfer from Livingston, where she was teaching a split class, to Roundstone where she lives. Mrs. Bell said that she wanted proper consideration from Roundstone Principal Bill Jack Parsons.
Mrs. Bell said that it was very frustrating teaching the split class and she would like to teach at Roundstone, but was afraid that she might not get proper consideration.
Towery told her that it was usually left up to the principal, whether a teacher was transferred to his or her school and that he trusted their judgement fully.
Ralph Bell told the board that he thought transfers should be made.

County budget is 2.1 million

By: Jim Griesch
Rockcastle Fiscal Court has approved the first reading of the 1989-90 Fiscal Year budget, which totals $2.1 million.
The second reading will be at a later meeting, not announced at Tuesday's June meeting.
The budget is not final until after the second reading.
The budget is divided into five sections. The general fund is allotted $215,440. The road fund contains $601,033, with $442,526 given to roads. The jail fund contains $251,762, with $152,203 for protection of people and property, and $99,559 for administration.
The Local Government Assistance Fund totals $62,572, and the Economic Development Fund totals $36,250.
The court also approved bids for stone, asphalt, gasoline and culverts.
In doing so, the court approved two bids that were not the lowest, and approved the only bid for stone.
For asphalt, the court accepted the bid of Vulcan Materials.
Vulcan bid 49.83 cents per gallon for RS2, 49.88 cents per gallon for 8200, and 53.4 cents a gallon for HFRS2, all mixes used for road coverings.
Vulcan also offered mill rental for $1 per ton, and one storage tank of 5,000 gallons.
Vulcan's bid was higher on RS2, lower on the same on the other items.
For culvert pipe, the court accepted the bid from Mt. Vernon Produce, which was $4.50 per foot for 12-inch, 16-gauge galvanized pipe; $5.25 for 15-inch pipe; $6.25 for 18-inch; $8 for 24-inch; $18.40 for 36-inch; and $23.95 for 48-inch.
That bid was slightly lower than a bid from Stewart's Fertilizer of Mt. Vernon from 23 cents for the smaller pipes to $30.00-plus per foot for the 48-inch pipe; but as much as 75 cents per foot higher than bids from Kentucky Underground Culvert in Grayson, Midwest Culvert in Lewisport, and St. Regis Culvert, Charlotte, Mich.
All prices quoted by the companies included delivery.

City's budget in excess of $800,000

By: Jim Griesch
Mt. Vernon will spend about $838,417 in Fiscal Year 1989-90. The three part budget passed its first reading by city council Monday, and the second reading Tuesday.
The water department accounts for $360,600 of that. The sale of water will provide $340,000 in income for the city, while salaries will cost $93,047, supplies and operating costs will amount to $55,000, and utilities about $56,000.
Sewer plant operations will consume another $296,925.
Sewer service will bring in an estimated $275,000. Salaries will cost $45,000, while depreciation of equipment will amount to $92,500, interest on bonds will cost $56,105, debt service bond retirement another $31,922, and utilities about $14,000.
The general fund is the smallest of the three budget areas, at $180,842.
Property taxes will bring in an estimated $53,000, franchise taxes another $20,000 and vehicle taxes $8,000 more.
Municipal aid will bring in another $25,000 for the year, and another

Charting Rockcastle

By: Richard Anderkin
Managing Editor

Things are looking up these days in our fair county. In January we will have a new county judge, that hopefully will make some much needed changes in the way county government is handled, and...

After a ruling by the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, our much talked about, little do district court is going to get a helping hand is cleaning up their act.

District court jurors, who have been sitting around for a year or so without any hope of hearing a trial, will get the opportunity beginning June 26.

While Stephens' office did not lay any blame for the mess, it certainly is sad when the state has to step in and help local officials do something that, if they had stayed on top of things, could have been taken care of locally. After all that is what the county attorney and district judges are paid for.

I realize that two days a month is not much for jury trials. But I also realize that 16 months is way too long to go without a trial, way too long.

If Stephens' plan works and the backlog is cleared out I wonder how the court system will keep from getting behind again. After all it is the same politically minded prosecutor and there will mostly likely just be the two days of jury trials a month.

And, while we are on the subject of prosecution, the county health inspector has been trying to get some help for years in prosecuting people who dump their garbage illegally.

Steve Midkiff has told me time and again that he has had no cooperation out of the county attorney's office when it comes to the illegal dumps. He says, the county attorney has told him that he won't prosecute violators. Maybe someone will look into that. Maybe...

Last week our friend and Points East, columnist Ike Adams had a very good idea about staying in school or not getting a driver's license until age 18.

Ike seemed to think that students would think twice about quitting school when they were sixteen, if they couldn't get a driver's license.

Lack of education is one of the biggest problems facing Rockcastle. Of course it is getting better because of recent emphasis on adult education and implementation of dropout prevention programs at the high school but changes like Ike has in mind would also help to keep kids in school.

I guess the biggest surprise, to me, in last month's election was the fact that voters saw fit to reelect three members of the fiscal court.

Apparently those voters think these magistrates have done a good enough job to afford them four more years, unless, of course, the ones with opposition not unseated in the fall.

But, I also think that these magistrates should work harder than ever, in conjunction with the judge, to see that improvements are made in our county.

It seems to me that voters have actually given these much second chance to do something, because during the past four years they have accomplished very little. Of course they have not had much guidance in their endeavors, but I think an insistent hard working court could have made a difference.

I realize things are not accomplished overnight, but four years ago, the previous fiscal court was working on a garbage plan and now four years later, while there has been a plan adopted there certainly hasn't been any action taken on it.

Regardless of who wins the election in November, I certainly hope their first project is cleaning up the county -- with or without the present plan.

Points East

On highway 52 between Paint Lick and Lancaster this time of year it's best that you're not in a hurry to get wherever you're going. The heat of the season is already being harvested and it's also tobacco setting time. Tractors of every sort and size pulling contraptions that have something to do with either baling, moving, tilling or setting plants are on the road and they slow things down.

And that pesters the dickens out of people who get behind them in their air conditioned automobiles on their way to air conditioned offices where they can hurry just short of heart attack pace to important upwardly mobile. They shake their fists and curse. They honk their horns and they gesture obscenely with their middle fingers at the tractor drivers when they get a chance to pass. Then they tromp the gas pedal to the floor and drive much faster than our curvy old road is meant for.

Sometimes they get on up the road a mile or two and clean out the ditchline in a switchback. Then whereupon they begin blaming the tractor driver for making them drive too fast. They never take into consideration the fact that tractor drivers have their machines wide open -- just as fast as they'll go. They don't seem to realize that when a person with their attitude gets behind a tractor and commences acting juvenile that the driver normally wants them to get along too and that he'll pull off the road just as soon as he finds a spot wide enough to do so.

Many folks who don't farm apparently believe that farmers don't have any right to be on the road earning their living too. And the thing that bothers me most about that is the fact that most farmers are already hard at work when the in-a-hurry crowd's alarm clocks start going off in the morning. And in the evening when they are eating dinner or "bing happy hour" in a Richmond Tavern those same farmers who beat them out of bed by three hours are still fixed hard to the tasks of growing the steaks they eat, the grain that makes their whiskey, the veggies on the hors d'oeuvres tray, and the tobacco in their cigarettes.

The price that farmers pay for living in a climate where things grow well, where the stores and markets are filled to the bursting point with an assortment of food stuffs that is unrivaled on this planet as a result of their toil is general disdain from the rest of the public. That's why folks get upset when they get behind a tractor.

In other cultures where food is not so taken for granted, farmers get a wide berth when they need to use the road. In America though, at least on highway 52 between Paint Lick and Lancaster, the prevailing desire of many motorists is to bite the hand that feeds them.

My wife doesn't believe that folks necessarily hold prejudice for the farmers. The world is simply in too much of a hurry according to Loreta and folks simply take their impatience and frustrations out on tractor drivers because they happen to be convenient. She's probably right. I drive our highway too and almost every morning somebody thinks my car is a tractor.

The speed limit is 55 mph if I'm correct and that's where I try to keep my speedometer dial. I can be toodling along when seemingly out of nowhere a short, squat, blue yuppie mobile will appear three inches behind my rear bumper where it will be content to stay for 10 or 15 seconds and of which its lights will flash a time or two. The suggestion, I assume, is that I either speed up and break the law or get out of the road so the other driver

15 earn company awards

Fifteen women are the first to receive awards under Rockcastle Manufacturing's new worker attendance incentive program.

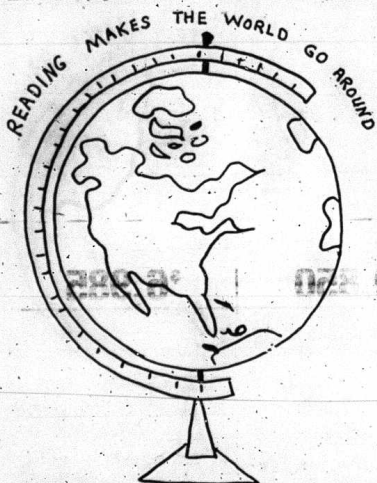

Plant manager Tandy Pedigo said last week that the 15 - Linda Peters, Phyllis Parrett, Connie Hayes, Ramona Denney, Tammy Miller, Peggy Marler, Fannie McKinney, Glenna Barnes, Betty Adams, Lorna Durham, Rhonda Caudill, Argie Bullock, Hazel Kirby, Atha Petrey and Leahina Wolfe - all worked through March, April and May without missing a day of work.

Pedigo said the plant has had other incentives "off and on" since the plant opened 10 years ago.

Each of the women has her name posted in the entrance lobby, along with her picture and job description. The plant makes uniforms for its parent company, Cintass Corp., of Ann, Ohio. Pedigo said the plant here makes about 4,500 pair (shirts and pants) a day, or about 250,000 per year.

Mrs. Petrey is also one of two women at the plant who have already been honored for perfect attendance for all of 1988.

Brodheads First Homecoming
By: Mayzell Ries

I'd never been to a Homecoming before I hope in years to come there will be more

I liked the parade I thought it was neat I enjoyed seeing it coming down Main Street

The floats were pretty and the go-carts were loud it was wonderful to see the large crowd

The people came from miles around To set their tables up in our Brodhead town

There were go-cart races and antique cars And a beauty queen she really was a star

There was a gospel singing Friday night And Saturday was a day of delight

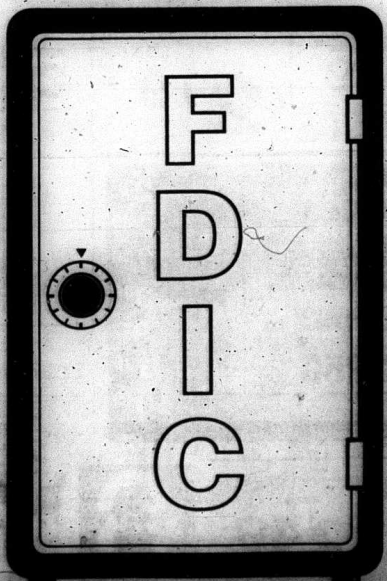

The flea market was a sight to behold There were so many people in town you'd have thought they were panning for gold

One store up the street Sold a bologna sandwich, RC and Moon pie For $1, the price was real cheap

All in all I'd say, they did fine They had some cloggers that were sublime.

The outstanding citizen received a plaque I hope in 1990 everyone will come back

For a second Homecoming in our little Brodhead town It's something to look forward to and maybe more people will come around.

CRCC gets accreditation

The Cumberland River Regional Mental Health/Mental Retardation Board, Inc. (Comprehensive Care Center) has been awarded another three-year accreditation from the nation's most prestigious quality review organization.

The Joint Commission on Healthcare Organizations recently granted the three-year accreditation following an in-depth survey conducted in February.

"In becoming accredited, the Cumberland River Regional Mental Health/Mental Retardation Board, Inc. was evaluated against a set of national standards by a Joint Commission team which included surveyors experienced in the delivery of mental health services," said Myrene McAninch, Ph.D., Director of the Accreditation Program for Psychiatric Facilities. "Achieving accreditation demonstrates commitment to provide high quality care to the patients."

Cumberland River Regional Mental Health/Mental Retardation Board, Inc. is a private, non-profit community mental health organization providing outpatient and inpatient treatment and follow-up care to adults and children with emotional problems, substance abuse problems, mental retardation and developmental delays. Emergency services are available on a twenty-four hour a day basis and consultation, education, and prevention services are provided upon request. During the last fiscal year, 804,403 units of service were provided in the eight county area (Bell, Clay, Harlan, Jackson, Knox, Laurel, Rockcastle, and Whitley) served by the organization.

Roland D. Mullins, Executive Director said accreditation shows that "we've made a significant investment in quality on a day-by-day basis throughout the organization." He noted that accreditation was attainable only because of staff cooperation, communication, and motivation. "Everyone here played a valuable role in working to meet the standards, and each staff person is truly committed to providing the best possible service to the citizens of this region."

"... And God Made He a Woman..."
Copyright 1989
By: Christine McKinney

When God conceived the "Master" plan and set that plan in motion, He must have had an image that gave Him such a notion: This being He envisioned had, oh, the sweetest smiles; Possessed of love, the will to give, to "walk that extra mile"; To never be judgmental or hurt another soul.

But always there to lend a hand and never fuss or scold... To see the good in everyone and overlook the bad;

To let them know a friend is near, the best they've ever had! The plan called for a humble soul-- the kindest He could feature -- that every act attest the fact that here's a Godly creature; A creature with no thought of self; with wisdom like no other. The image God was searching for we found in our sweet Mother!

(In loving memory of my mother Melinda Josephine ("Josie") Harper, who passed away May 21, 1979)

"TO SHAWN"

Dear Son, as I sit watching you sleep I know no father could be more proud. You have filled my life with happiness and joy. Shown me the real meaning of love. The way you give me those warm hugs and say, I love you daddy. To hear the laughter

When you're happy and, the joy you show when I come in from working. You have filled my every need as a man with your love.

You're such a beautiful child, and as I watch you sleep, I know someday you, too, will be a man, too big to sit on my lap

And have me read you stories, and too big To hug before I go to work. And I'll have my little boy no more. But the memories will always be in my heart and the Love we have shared together. Not only are you my son, but you are my little friend-- And I love you.

Across the Miles

By: Juanita Fordyce

As I talk to God I always pray Bless our loved ones across the miles today Our children all grown up and gone Now raising children of their own

Sometime we linger in the past It seems they all grow up so fast And started leaving one by one Like birds from nests they all have flown

Across the miles is part of me The children I love and long to see Thank God for each one He sent And every day with them I speak

Burley tobacco price support changes

By: H. Carlisle Besuden III
Dor. News and Information

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has approved major revisions to 1989 crop burley tobacco support prices submitted last month by the Burley Tobacco Growers Cooperative Association. The changes add 2 to 8 cents a pound to 56 grades, leave 12 grades the same as last year, and lower 39 grades from 4 to 29 cents a pound. The average support price will remain at $1,532 per pound as determined earlier this year by the USDA. The average is up 3.2 cents per pound over 1988 price supports.

"Lowering the supports on lower quality grades and raising them on the better grades, will give farmers the incentive to produce a higher percentage of their quota and a better quality crop that in turn will bring them more money in the marketplace," said Danny McKinney, executive secretary-treasurer of the burley cooperative.

This year's support prices will range from 19 cents a pound to $1.68 a pound after a 1-cent-a-pound deduction is made to cover overhead expenses. Last year, support prices ranged from 97 cents to $1.62 a pound.

The USDA approval means that burley producers will now be guaranteed to receive up to 7 cents a pound, or $7 a hundredweight more for the popular BFR (tannish red leaf) grades than they did from their 1988 crops.

Most "X" or flyings, "T" or tip leaves, and "C" or lug leaves, have been increased 5 cents a pound. Variegated, mixed and green colors, of these groups, however, have been decreased by 4 to 6 cents a pound. Mixed and nondescript grades received the largest cut in price supports, ranging from 7 to 29 cents a pound. As an example, last season M5K grade was supported at $1.23 a pound; this year it will only be supported at 94 cents a pound. N1G was supported at 97 cents a pound last season, and will only be supported at 79 cents this season.

McKinney, an Ottawa farmer, cited three major reasons for the need of a rearrangement of price supports; the national burley quota has been increased by 24 percent over last year; market prices last year -- as well as some previous years -- had been too close together regardless of the grade, which lowered the producer's incentive to grow and prepare his crop for the highest quality possible, and only since 1980 have producers grown enough burley to meet the quota. The average production over the nine year period has only been 87 percent of the effective quota.

The burley cooperative initially appointed a committee to recommend changes in price supports to the USDA to reflect more in line with market demand. Representatives of all burley tobacco groups were invited to participate in the analysis of the changes.

TO HONOR THE FLAG IS TO LOVE WHAT IT REPRESENTS

As we all know, a flag is only a large piece of material responding to the breeze from atop a flagpole, and printed or sewn with a colorful and distinctive design. Nevertheless, it signifies the country in which it waves, along with all the history and heroic sacrifice that are inherent in the design. Whether we are traveling in a foreign land or at home watching a parade, we should show our love and respect for that banner. Moreover, we should proudly display it, according to the rules, on national holidays and special occasions. As soon as our children are old enough to understand anything, they should be taught the reason for this feeling of pride in the flag of our nation; not for what it is, but for the God-given freedom it represents.

$35,000 in municipal aid is being carried over from previous years. Salaries will cost the city $103,866 (ranging from $65,000 for police to $64 for a treasurer).

Operating costs will total $76,976, including $28,000 (the largest sub-total) for insurance.

The 1989-90 budget also reflects a five percent across-the-board pay hike for the 18 city employees. That number does not include Mayor Gary Cromer nor the six-member city council.

A committee of four councilmen - Earl Nichols, William Winnery, Bill Dixon and Tommy Bassell (all at the meeting) - was formed to further research any changes in the city's private licensing fee.

A meeting of that committee is tentatively planned for 7 p.m., June 19.

City Attorney John Clontz will be working on two items of interest to city residents.

The first reading of an ordinance to provide a 15 percent discount to senior citizens and families who meet either federal or state guidelines for "low income" classifications was given.

The discount will be on the monthly water bills. The council had previously tried to give the discount to senior citizens.

But, Clontz told the council that such a narrow interpretation could be discriminatory. He said that the Environmental Protection Agency, and the federal Clear Water Act don't provide discounts for seniors only.

Basically, discounting will get the discount for water use between the city's 2,000-gallon minimum and 6,000 gallons. The rate will not apply to usage above 6,000 gallons per month.

Clontz is also working on rescinding an agreement with Southern Cable for an extension of the 1983 franchise agreement until 1999 for a three percent share of the company's local profits.

In May, the council voted to extend Southern's franchise to 1999 (for about $450 per month). Southern had been paying $1 a year for the rights to service in Mt. Vernon.

Clontz said he believes the city could not have entered the second agreement because they can't extend a franchise agreement. He said he will write a letter to Southern's attorney to that effect.

The city attorney said that in order to rewrite any agreement, Southern would have to agree to end the current franchise, and enter another agreement after another bid.

"If the end coincides with a new bid, no operating time would be lost," Clontz explained.

according to seniority and that his wife should get first consideration over an incoming teacher.

The board took no action on Mrs. Be's request, but Chairman George Poynter told her that he hoped everything worked out for her.

Five new teachers were hired Tuesday including Gerald Alexander at Mt. Vernon, Shelley Parkinson at Mt. Vernon, Caroline Graves at Broadhead, Jeff Hammond and Pamela Powell at RCHS.

Towery announced to the board the names of teachers who retired this year.

They are: Doris Blevins, Mt. Vernon, Carolyn Brown, Mt. Vernon, C.R. Cornelius, Mt. Vernon, Edna Dawson, Mt. Vernon, Sarah Hamm, Broadhead, Geraldine Holbrook, Broadhead, Shirley Martin Broadhead, Dollie Roberts, Mt. Vernon and Linda Williams, Roundstone.

The board also approved a five percent increase in pay for all employees of the school system.

Beginning bus drivers will make $4,832 per year, while those with 20 years experience will make $5,067.

Beginning cooks will make $4.69 per hour while those with 20 years experience will make $4.90 an hour. Instructional aides will make from $4.69 an hour to $5.87 for 20 years experience.

School secretaries will make $7,114 for 195 days work with no experience and those with 20 years will earn $7,432.

Night watchmen earn from $9,765 to $10,202 and custodians start at $9,765 and also top out at $10,202. Mechanics begin at $12,060 and with 20 years experience earn $12,600 a year.

The same salaries are paid the maintainance staff as well. RCHS head football and basketball coaches will be paid $3,280 extra for coaching while their luncheon or whatever it may be! Give Us A Call-Ole Ky, Kitchen, Exit 59 & Hwy. 25 South, 256-3822.

Elementary head coaches will receive $1,071.

Substitute teachers start at $40 a day and can earn as much as $55 a day with a certificate and 10 years experience.

Starting teachers will earn $17,555 and those with a rank 1 and 20 years experience will make $28,675.

The board also approved GED certificates for Genis Burdett, Retha Fredrick, Elaine R. Kidwell, Doris A. Marcum, Charles Philbeck, David Thacker and Debra Wilburn.

only company to bid all items for gasoline, and got the bid.

The bid was: 98.3 cents per gallon for regular gas; $7.09 cents per gallon for unleaded gas; $11.29 per gallon for super unleaded; 91.9 cents per gallon for No. 2 road diesel; and 62.9 cents per gallon for No. 2 diesel.

DeBorde Oil Co. bid only on regular gas, at $10.53 per gallon. Kendrick Stone was the only bidder for No. 3. The bid was: $3.95 per ton for No. 3, No. 8, No. 11 No. 57, and dense gravel; and $3.85 per ton for No. 16 stone. The court accepted the bid.

In other business, the court agreed to set up a meeting between the county, Mt. Vernon city council and the owners of Renfro Valley.

One owner, Johnny Molen, told the court he would like to hook onto the Mt. Vernon city sewer system, if possible.

No firm date has been set, yet. Several people asked the court's help in backlogging and repairing roads.

One woman, who said she represented several others in the crowded county court room, asked that gravel chutes and apply gravel where needed on Mareburg Cemetery Rd.

The road was the focus of attention at an earlier court meeting. Magistrate Jack Bradley corrected the minutes of the May meeting to state that the county would ditch and clean the road so that the state would blacktop it.

That correction satisfied more than a dozen in the courtroom.

Donald Gray and Mike Cable, both of Ottawa, questioned the court about help with separate roads.

Gray wanted help with blacktopping one-tenth of a mile and work on a bridge on Bray Rd.

Cable wanted help with ditching, gravel and blacktopping for Lawrence Rd.

Both men were told that blacktopping would begin in July for the county.

Henry Bryant presented another problem to the court. He said that Bryant Ridge Rd. needs to be resurveyed, because some property owners are blocking part of it on one curve.

County attorney James Lambert told Bryant to see the county surveyor about a new survey of his property.

Kenneth Sturgill asked for tiles and gravel on Sand Hill Rd.

Several others asked for help on other county roads.

Jaier Bill Kirby asked the court to fix the county jail. He said the jail needs some new equipment, and cautioned that without refurbishing the Rockcastle jail could eventually go the way of "about 30 other little counties" in the area.

He noted that both Madison and Laurel are in the process of building new facilities that will be in position to house prisoners from nearby counties, as Rockcastle does now for other counties.

Bids will be taken on the needed work.
