Mount Vernon, Kentucky 40456 VOLUME 101 - NUMBER 35 Thursday, June 22, 1989

Police kept busy at Castle Village

Brookhead Policeman Joe Bussell called it "war" when referring to a wild Sunday night at Castle Village, Brookhead's housing project near the fairgrounds. He reported some residents, and others, shot "whistling moon travelers" (rockets) at each other and at Policeman Bussell hitting his boots and police car.

Arrested and charged with disorderly conduct and resisting arrest was Terry York. He is scheduled to appear in District Court July 10. Bussell said the rockets used are illegal and he plans to check places that sell fireworks to see if they are selling the moontravellers.

The office said he was at the housing project most of Sunday night and early Monday. Two other persons were reported hit by the rockets but their names are not known.

Thursday night, "war" broke out again at the housing complex. Arrested for disorderly conduct by Brookhead police were Jim Martin, Darrell Bradley and Tony O'Neil, all reportedly shooting moon travelers.

Later police arrested Robert Hopkins for disorderly conduct in a separate incident, all four are under $1,000 bond. Allen Keith Stanley was arrested for public drunkenness and having a concealed weapon. He is under $2,000 bond.

Davis home hit by robbers June 10

The home of Billy Davis near Renfro Valley was broken into June 10 and items valued at least $1,658 were taken.

Entrance to the house was made through a window. The family was in Lexington when the robbery occurred.

Among items taken were a microwave, food processor, color television, wood caddy, stereo, three chain saws, shotgun, sheets and towels, frozen food and various tools.

The Mt. Vernon Young Men's building located in a parking lot opposite the courthouse was vandalized this week. Windows were broken and there was some inside damage.

The parking lot is a night-time gathering place for young people in Mt. Vernon and the area.

Georgia man falls from 150 foot cliff

It is said, curiosity killed the cat, and it nearly killed Mike Edwards, 19, of Cartersville, Ga. Friday afternoon.

Edwards, along with three friends, went looking for a 150-foot cliff over which a man had fallen several months ago. They found it on Burnt Bridge Road, near Macedonia, and when Edwards turned around to talk to his companions, he fell backwards.

He apparently was saved by brush and trees.

He was treated for cuts and bruises at Berea Hospital and released, according to a hospital spokesman.

Murder trial Sept. 19

The trial of Charles "Toddie" Baker, charged with shooting to death Robert Lawwell last year, has been delayed until 9 a.m., Tuesday, Sept. 19, in Rockcastle Circuit Court.

Trial was to have begun Tuesday, but was changed to the September term because of the availability of witnesses.

Another trial in Circuit Court was averted with a plea of guilty to an amended charge of possession of marijuana under eight ounces by Robert C. Robinson.

He is to be sentenced June 30.

Conway cabin burns

A log cabin near Conway was destroyed by fire about 11:30 p.m. Saturday.

Owned by Bonnie Kirby of Berea, the cabin was being used for storage by Carl Robinson.

Mt. Vernon firemen reported the cabin, once a crafts and antique shop, was falling in when firemen arrived.

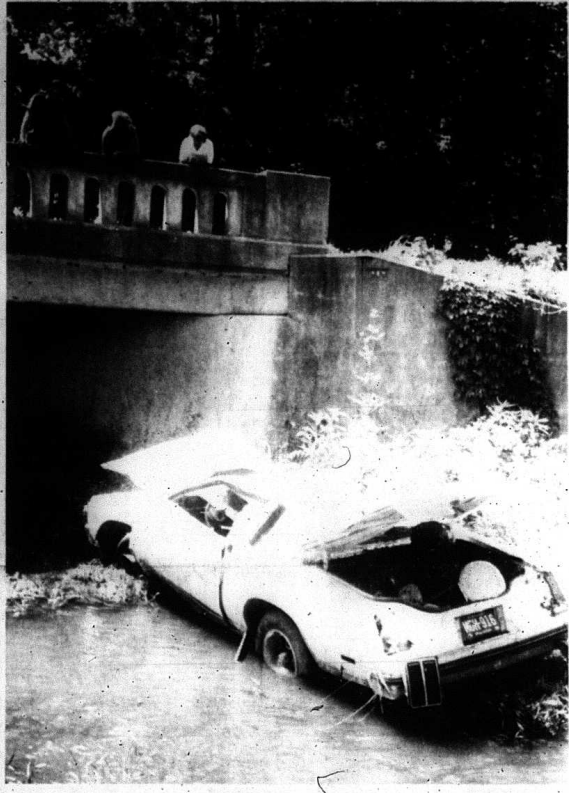

The fire may have started in a chair on the front porch and spread to the building. The porch had been used during the day for a flea market.

Graves gets $1,000 fine

Two charges of driving under the influence of intoxicants cost Vernon Graves of Mt. Vernon a $1,000 fine and six months in jail this week in District Court.

The charges occurred in 1988 and the other in 1989.

Graves will serve 30 days in jail on each charge with the remaining four months probation.

Albert Saylor of Eubank ran off KY 70 at Quail Community Park Saturday. He was thrown from his car, and was face down in the water, but people attending a family reunion in the park rescued him. He was charged with driving under the influence by Kentucky State Police troopers who answered the call to the accident. The car did a 360-degree flip, upside down, then right side up. Saylor was taken to Rockcastle County Hospital.

Roundstone project still on schedule

By: Jim Griesch

Construction on the planned four-classroom addition to Roundstone Elementary will proceed as planned, despite bids for the project being between $40,000 and $50,000 over the proposed budget of $250,000.

Two items of work will be rebid, which will save an estimated $6,500.

Four other changes were recommended to the Rockcastle County Board of Education last Thursday, which would bring an estimated total reduction of $17,650 to the project. The board agreed to the changes, and will seek to find $25,000 more in local funds to pay for the addition.

The two items to be rebid are the roofing contract and a window contract.

Fred Tarter, acting as project construction manager for Branscom Construction, told the board that a rebidding bid which was lower by about $4,000 reached the company's Russell Springs office after he left for the bid opening last week at Roundstone. Only one bid for roofing had been received.

In view of that figure, Dave Rooting, the roofing contractor for Roundstone when it was built in 1958, will have an opportunity to bid on the project.

The other bid involved is specifying custom built aluminum windows, instead of factory manufactured windows.

There are five windows involved, with each window worth a potential $500 savings with a change in rebidding.

Bids will tentatively be opened on June 29 at the board office, and could be approved at the next meeting of the board, moved to Tuesday, July 11, to accommodate the July 4 holiday.

Four other changes are involved.

One is to eliminate structural glazed block 28-inch all baseboards, and replace them with regular masonry block, with a vinyl cover base.

Tarter said that each of the glazed

Lions honor Floyd Owens

By: Ray McClure

A plaque in recognition of the years of service to the Lions Club and the community by the late Floyd Owens was presented to his wife, Kizzie at a dinner Thursday night at Red Top Restaurant.

Lions Deputy Governor Clifton D. Moore of Berea presented the plaque to Mrs. Owens and told the group Owens will be remembered and missed because of his interest and dedication to the club and area.

"I have known Floyd for 17 years and I know he was devoted to his occupation, family, church and community," Moore recounted. "He worked hard for every cause and contributed much to his club and community."

Mrs. Owens thanked the club for the plaque and told the Lions she was "aware of what the club meant to him."

"So I feel tonight is a celebration," she related. "In 35 years Floyd never tired and never complained. He was always dedicated to improving and helping make the community a better place in which to live. I am very proud and happy that I shared in what Floyd stood for."

Floyd was always a helpful citizen," said one of those who attended. "He was always willing to take on a job that a lot of us would run away from. To say he was dedicated to the community is putting it mildly."

A native of Rockcastle and son of the late Lela and Hazel Owens, Floyd grew up in Mt. Vernon and attended school at Mt. Vernon.

Among the positions he held during his career were director of Mt. Vernon Public Housing, Rockcastle Hospital Administrator, editor of the Rockcastle Record, a weekly newspaper during the 1950s; a Mt. Vernon city councilman, and director of the Downtown Beautification program. He was county treasurer until he resigned due to ill health.

He and Mrs. Owens have one daughter, Kandace. He has two brothers, Paul of Lexington, Terry of Mt. Vernon and a sister, Shirley Coker of Obledo, Fla.

Moore presented the program to about 50 who attended the dinner.

Moore complimented the club for an "outstanding job," but reminded them the district is about 1,250 members short and encouraged the club to make a concerted effort to find new members. He welcomed three new members to the club, William Taylor, Bobby Cox and Joe Bullen.

Barn burned

A barn owned by Attorney William D. Gregory in North Mt. Vernon, was destroyed by fire about 3 p.m. Friday.

Lost in the fire were hay, a diesel tractor, bush hog, other farm equipment, a boat trailer and stored household furnishings.

Arrested on a warrant and charged with arson was William Irvin Graves. He posted a $4,000 property bond for his appearance in District Court at 9:30 a.m. June 28.

Attorney Gregory said the 40 by 50 foot, three story barn and contents were not insured. He said Graves was a former employee.

Tobacco Lease
 Deadline June 30

Remember June 30th is the deadline. No extensions will be granted.

Letters

Dear Editor,

The Rockcastle County Unit of the American Cancer Society would like to thank the following organizations, businesses and individuals for their help in our second Annual Jail-N-Bail: WRVK, for the radio coverage for two days; Mt. Vernon Signal, for the advertising and pictures; the Rockcastle County Fiscal Court for allowing us the use of the courthouse grounds; the First Christian Church for use of the tables and chairs; Cox Funeral Home for the use of the tent, which kept us dry in the rain, Duffers Restaurant who fed us on two days; Convenient Food Store, Mt. Vernon, who kept us supplied in soft drinks and ice, Steve Midkiff of the Health department who let us use his camera to take pictures of our prisoners. The Sheriff's office and officers who helped us with the prisoners, but we jumped bail on us the last day.

We would like to thank all of the citizens who wanted us to have people arrested but we could not get everyone picked up. We got caught by the weather was bad and our papers and everything got wet so we had to close early. We hope to have some volunteers next year from the Broodhead and Livingston and Conway areas to help us with the arrests, so that there can be greater community participation. Cancer knows no boundary and we want to include all areas.

A special thank you to Garland French who was our judge both days and to Louise Mink. Both of their spouses were also a great help. I think Bill really enjoyed his stay in "jail". These families have been touched with Cancer and know how difficult it is to handle. We had hoped to have all of the candidates, who were running for office, arrested, but we were not able to get this accomplished. We did have quite a few who came in.

Zi Graves and Pauline Kinser from the Homemaker's Club came and helped out with the paperwork. Linda McClure was with us both days and was a great help. It takes a lot of work to staff envelopes and do the other necessary things it takes. Everyone's help was deeply appreciated.

I hope that I have remembered everyone and that you will look forward to our 3rd Annual Jail-N-Bail next year.

Lu Ed Nielsen
Rockcastle Co. Unit

Dear Editor,

These are the reasons I was given for my dismissal.

1. 2 days of absence

2. Horseplay

Now here is the truth of the matter. No. 1 First day of absence I was very ill, I called in one hour and half early. No. 2 I was told by my supervisor to clean plates on pads on someone else's machine, which requires safety glasses. As I was doing so, another employee started helping, cutting up and going on, without any permission.

As he stepped down, I flipped a cleaning rag at him and it hit him in the eye, which resulted in him going to the hospital and being off two days.

No. 3 Second day of absence my sister and husband and three children showed up at my home at 10:30 p.m., with one child not well, from Indiana, leaving for Tenn. at 8 a.m. the next morning planning to stay my home. I called in one hour and half early.

When I was hired I was given a safety test, along with the answers, then talked to about raises, salaries, benefits, shifts and safety procedures, never being told you could be fired, if you missed any days.

I was informed by all employees in the printing department, when I worked, that it was factory policy that allowed you to miss three days unexcused before any action was taken verbally or written.

The day I was fired I went to work, which was two days after my absence, clocked in, given my car plugs by my supervisor, then went to my machine and started work. Twenty minutes later my supervisor returns and tells me to go to the office where he proceeds to tell me how he hates to be the one to tell me that I've lost my job.

I returned to my machine to get my purse, where a friend advised me to go to personnel and fill out what was needed to happen. And to say the least, my supervisor intended to get me fired because he told personnel that I did not have family in, I was at a party Saturday when I missed, which was not true. I don't see how he should be allowed to misinform and make his own conclusions on what I was doing, without any facts.

I was told by personnel I wasn't working out on the job like I should, which was another lie, told by my supervisor. I asked personnel to call in a few people to prove this false.

I always got out much production as days, afternoon or midnight shifts, as a matter of fact, I always picked more on my side of the machine than employees on the other side and I did pack both parts. There are papers and people who are available to prove his statements false, but I was not given the chance to have my performance proved.

I think this is a total outrage that a supervisor can go to personnel with total fabrications and lies about you without any proof.

The employee that was hit with the rag was on ninety days probation at this time. He was not written up by the supervisor until I told personnel I didn't pack both parts. There are papers and he denied even knowing he was up there, which was another lie. Other employees saw it and I told him personnel myself, when he asked what happened.

This is my own conclusion, that I received no appropriate counsel and was not given the privilege to bring in employees or defend myself against all fabrications which were and are, false.

I do not want to give the impression that I didn't like working there, I did. I made some very good friends that were willing to go to the bat for me, if I had been given the chance.

I feel that management should take into consideration my dismissal and on what actual grounds and facts they were given.

If this could happen to me, under false statements, it could happen again and again, I feel I should have been allowed to defend and produce people and papers in my own defense.

John's Views

by: John Holtbrook

I attended an adoption retreat June 2,3,4 at Otter Creek near Fort Knox.

These children all had been adopted. This retreat served two purposes, one giving the children a break from parents and two, giving parents a break from the children.

It was my understanding that at least one couple had adopted six children which is quite an undertaking.

I heard from Joe's parents who shared some of their feelings.

In part they said "he has given us years of concern and has forced us to learn things we thought we didn't need to learn. Last weekend was the first time we had seen him laugh. I mean really laugh. It felt so good to see him "Happy".

Adoption Retreat

A letter passed across my desk about the Adoption Camp Retreat. And I thought to myself that's bound to be quite neat.

It was several weeks away but would begin the 2nd of June. For a break from my routine it would not come too soon.

So on that day I loaded my car and headed for Otter Creek. I had a time deciding whether to act bold or just meek.

There were a lot of folk there counselors just like me I had never been there nor knew what the camp would be.

They fill the counselors in and what to expect. They promised by camp end we might be a wreck.

They gave me three boys names none that I knew. Only two of them came so I only had a few.

The children of all sizes arrived about ten. The expectation on their faces I could see then.

The children were kept busy so they would wear down. But it was my back end that was dragging the ground.

Maybe it was the bib overalls and the old slouch hat. Maybe it was cause I couldn't bat.

They began to call me grandpa John.

Ralph King and I have known each other since the early seventies. We became fast friends because both of us are bored with ordinary stuff and we'd both like to be making more money than we bring home in salary. We've spent most of our leisure time over the last fifteen years talking about business ideas that we could swing on the side and operate within the bounds of the law. The problem is that if something looks like it will turn the money we'd like to make so that Ralph can build an airplane we've found out it's either illegal, needs several million investment dollars, or requires manual labor. So far we haven't been willing to break the law or convince any lending sources to back us. And up until this year we've been figuring that people as smart as me and Ralph shouldn't have to do much work. We've been expecting a handsome return for doing the thinking, but so far we haven't made a dime. I don't remember exactly when it happened, but in retrospect it should have been a fairly startling revelation when Ralph and I decided that we were going to have to get our hands dirty if we expected to make a single dollar. Ralph and I have been demonstrating our collective ability to ignore reality for so long that we have become experts at it. The fact that we came up with something that was actually double and then set about working something other than our jaws is just now beginning to impress me.

I'm afraid, however, that we've created a monster. It's nearly midnight as I write this column and I feel guilty that I'm not spending the time trying to figure out how on earth we're going to get the snow peas that we have hanging on the vines into paper bags so that we can sell them. And it's a very nice problem to have which may have to do with the fact that we haven't gotten it solved yet. When we began this project I don't think that either of us really expected me to come off it. For that matter, we still have a long way to go before we make any money for the effort, but by golly we have living proof that we can grow peas.

When we began this effort neither of us had ever grown more than a few short rows of peas in our gardens. Both of us like them and they're ridiculously expensive in the stores, selling for three dollars a pound or better even after they've been lying on the produce rack for a week or longer. Based on our limited experience we figured they could be grown considerably cheaper than that. I'm pleased to announce that we have at least been right about one thing in our lives. If we can get them picked, we can afford to sell them at half what they normally cost in the store because right now we have somewhere in the neighborhood of five hundred pounds of peas in desperate need of picking. I can also tell you for sure that we have way more peas than we have pickers at this writing but hopefully that problem will be solved by the time you read this or we're in big trouble.

But it still wouldn't hurt to call if you're looking for work. For some reason I feel exceptionally blessed right now and I know that we weren't going to sell a single one of this abundance of peas. Skeptics may call it beginners luck but too many things have simply gone right in spite of the odds that they wouldn't. For me to not believe that God played a major role in this growing season. In the first place we planted the peas more than two weeks later than the experts advised because the ground was too wet to work. In the second place, the average daily temperature has been considerably lower than normal which was precisely what we needed. Finally we have had plenty rain - just what peas like. We couldn't have called in an order for the weather to be any more ideal than it's been since we planted.

On top of that, we planted in a spot that hasn't grown anything except saw briars, cedar sprouts and broom sage in the last twenty years. The soil analysis indicated that even the broom sage shouldn't be growing, but we planted anyway and it looks like very seed sprouted twice.

You could carry the weeds that we've been bothered with in two five gallon buckets and we haven't seen an insect. The end result of that is a crop of peas completely free of any kind of chemical herbicide or pesticide. Folks who brag about having vegetables that are completely organically grown usually have a long list of disclaimers that they use in their qualified description of organic. In essence anything they use to kill bugs and weeds that isn't made in a chemical laboratory counts as organic. Ralph and I haven't used anything because we haven't needed it.

Several people have called to ask what a snow pea is anyway. The best description I know is that they're the big flat kind that are normally served raw or cooked whole in various Oriental dishes. Loretta stir fries them with broccoli and Swiss Chard and I can eat 'em three meals a day. Right now it's looking like I may have to for the next couple of weeks.

In the meantime, if you're close to 'sena or Paint Lick and want to get in on the harvest, call 986-7987 and leave a message on the answering machine. We'll get back to you late in the afternoon because we'll be in the pea patch during most of the day.

 It made me feel neat

We did lots of things and I had a spill
 In unison they hollered
 Grand John is over the hill

All the children were strangers to me
 - cause none I did know
 Especially got to like the one called Joe

I told him many stories and some about folks
 I got him to laughing at my corny jokes

He was good to have around even though you see

Cause I needed someone to laugh with me

So Joe as you travel this life whether at a walk or at a run
 Set some time aside each day to tell a joke and have some fun

Dear John,

It was really nice to be able to meet you last week. We want to thank you for all your time and energy you put into helping the children.

Our boys really enjoyed you, John, especially Joe. He has given us years of concern and has forced us to learn things we thought we didn't need to learn. Last weekend was the first time we had seen him laugh, I mean, really laugh.

It felt so good to see him 'Happy' thanks to you, John.

Just received your mail. We now have three boys walking around the house with their noses in a little square with a man on top of it, as yet they haven't figured out the correct way for the man to go to the John.

Thanks.

Lovingly,

Mick, Pat, Joe, John and Ludwig

If you are a regular reader of the Signal then you are no doubt aware that we have increased our news staff as of late.

In order to try and cover all the news of Rockcastle County, local meetings, court trials, sports, features and take pictures, we have expanded our news team to three full-time people, myself, Jim Gruesch and Ray McClure. We have done this intentionally in order to give our readers the best possible weekly newspaper. If we are not covering an event for you we have something upcoming in your community that you think you would like to have covered, feel free to give me a call and we'll be more than happy to oblige.

This is sort of the belated seat belt column that my mother mentioned last week.

I simply did not have time to get this down on paper before last week's edition.

She can say that she is opposed to a seat belt law and because of legislators who are afraid to introduce legislation, most likely she will never have to wear one in Kentucky.

But the fact remains that seat belts save lives. According to statistics released by the National Transportation Cabinet, 85 percent of all persons injured in an automobile accident are not wearing seat belts, and on the other hand, those involved in accidents that are wearing seat belts are not injured 88 percent of the time.

Those statistics should be enough to make you buckle up, but there are people, not to mention any names, that

More info in August about Veterans Bonus

More will be known by early August about last week's announced plan to provide funds to Vietnam Veterans in Kentucky, Kansas, Pennsylvania and New York to help combat problems with drug and substance abuse, birth defects, Post Traumatic Stress Disease, and to give counseling to families of Vietnam vets.

State service officer Bill Metcalf said Monday that details for applying, where to apply, who is eligible and similar questions are not completely answered yet.

The money comes from an out-of-court settlement from class action suits filed against producers of agent orange by individuals and groups of people suffering from the affects of agent orange's use in Vietnam.

Metcalf said the suit had a $180 million settlement, with $170 million set aside for Vietnam vets and families of deceased veterans. Of that total, $52 million was set aside for grants, which will be used to build pilot projects in the four states. Metcalf said that the idea is to establish social service programs in each of the states, then turn over the administration of the on-going programs to the American Legion.

The national offices for the American Legion received $547,756, Metcalf said. The Legion is expected to put program coordinators in each of the four states to help veterans service officers.

Metcalf said that it is likely that Rockcastle County Vietnam vets who enter the program will work with American Legion posts in neighboring counties, such as the post in London or perhaps in Richmond.

Metcalf stressed that eligible vets will not have to be members of an American Legion post. There are 186 posts in Kentucky.

Kentucky's Department of Military Affairs also announced this week that 30,000 applications for the state's 1990 Vietnam bonus have been filed. An estimate 108,000 Vietnam vets live in Kentucky.

The deadline for filing is February 28, 1990.

Veterans who served in the armed forces from August 5, 1964, through July 1, 1975, are eligible.

Veterans who served in Vietnam are eligible for up to $500, based on $25 per month for time in country. To get the whole $500, a vet must have served in country for 20 months, or have been wounded and evacuated before then.

Vietnam Era vets who did not see duty in Vietnam are eligible for $300, based on $15 per month served.

Vietnam Vets with less than two years, who were not wounded, would be eligible for various amounts between the $300 and $500, based on months in Vietnam, plus months on duty outside of the combat zone.

Applications can be obtained from the Rockcastle County clerk's Office, from any state employment office, or any National Guard armory.

A copy of each vet's DD214 must accompany the application.

Anyone with questions about applications can call 1-800-223-0713 for help or information.

Father Beiting honored on ordination anniversary

Father Ralph W. Beiting, 65, the Appalachian priest whose life's work has been ministering to the poor of eastern Kentucky, celebrated the 40th anniversary of his ordination on Sunday, June 4, in Mt. Vernon.

Over 300 parishioners, clergy, family and friends attended a solemn mass marking the event at Our Lady of Mt. Vernon, one of six Roman Catholic Churches Father Beiting established in eastern Kentucky.

Father Beiting, a monsignor since 1970, is pastor of St. Michael's Catholic Church in Raineyville and a missionary for the Mission Office of the Diocese of Lexington. But he is best known in Eastern Kentucky as founder of the Christian Appalachian Project (CAP), a non-profit, ecumenical organization serving approximately 38,000 Appalachians.

Father Beiting celebrated the mass, along with Father Thomas V. Thai, pastor of Our Lady of Mt. Vernon and St. William Churches. His sister, Mike McLaughlin, president of CAP, Bill Bagley, vice president of CAP, and Father Frank Osburg, an associate pastor with Father Beiting for eight years, participated in the program. Father Osburg delivered the homily.

After attending seminaries in Ohio, Father Beiting, a native of Newport, earned his Licentiate of Theology at Catholic University of America in Washington, D.C. in 1949. In 1950 he was assigned to Kentucky's Appalachian region, and began a 31-year career as pastor for four counties - Garrard, Jackson, Rockcastle, and Madison.

When he arrived at the age of 26, Father Beiting found few Catholic parishes or church buildings but instead poverty and need. He responded by helping with food and clothing, but ultimately realized that "self-help" was essential for a long-term solution.

The Christian Appalachian Project was designed to be that self-help vehicle. It began with a few programs aimed at raising the level of education, developing job skills and restoring hope among the people of eastern Kentucky. Launched by Father Beiting 25 years ago with the help of volunteers, CAP now reaches people of all denominations and faiths in eastern Kentucky. Its 70 programs range from a School-on-Wheels and home repair to emergency assistance and care for the elderly and handicapped.

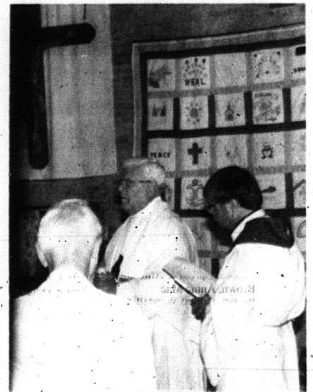

63rd Anniversary

Rev. and Mrs. J. Hamilton of Berea will celebrate their 63 wedding anniversary July 3, 1989. They were married July 3, 1926 by the Rev. Ambrose. They have six children, eight grandchildren and four great-grandchildren. Rev. Hamilton has been a Baptist Minister for 43 years. He is the pastor of the Conway Baptist Church at Conway.

Father Beiting's early activities included open-air preaching, establishing Catholic parishes, forming Bible schools, summer camps and a Catholic grade school. The celebration of Father Beiting's 40th year in the priesthood was the second of three milestones he marks this year. On Jan. 1, he turned 65, and in August will celebrate the 25th anniversary of the Christian Appalachian Project.

A handmade quilt with 40 squares was presented to Rev. Ralph Beiting in recognition of his 40th anniversary as an ordained priest. The quilt was made by Christian Appalachian Project employees and volunteers, and members of Rev. Beiting's family. The presentation was made at a dinner and reception at the Christian Appalachian Project's Family Life Center near Renfro Valley. Here Rev. Beiting (center), along with other priests, lead part of the mass that was held in celebration of the anniversary at Our Lady of Mt. Vernon Church in Mt. Vernon. Happy Anniversary Joe and Joann Allen

It happened 32 years ago, when they said their vows you know it seems its been so long but things haven't always gone wrong.

With four great kids to show they deserve to win a ribbon or bow. Sometimes we fail to show we care but parents like you are very rare.

Congratulations for all those years you know "we love you" through smiles and tears. We hope your lives are really happy to the world's greatest granny and pappy.

blocks would cost $14, making a savings of $5,000 on the blocks.

Another $3,350 could be saved by using plastic laminate toilet partitions instead of one-inch thick solid plastic ones.

Tarter told the board that another $2,250 would be saved by omitting ceramic floor tile and using a clear sealer over concrete.

The last savings could be $400 by sowing fescue around the construction area grounds, instead of sodding.

The combination of original low bids was $296,169.45 for the base work, not the $304,000 figure released by school officials last week. The savings offered last Thursday would reduce the construction costs to about $278,519.45.

The total cost of the project would be $318,327.92, which includes $25,000 to Branscum acting as construction manager, and $15,808.47 in architecture fees.

Rockcastle County students named to UK Dean's List

Three students from Rockcastle County have been named to the Dean's List at the University of Kentucky for the 1989 spring semester.

They are:

Jon Carlos Carlotus, a senior majoring in horticulture, Livingston.

Gregory Alan Long, a senior majoring in mechanical engineering, Rt. 1, Brodhead.

Denise Hansel Rhoney, a fourth-year student in pharmacy, Rt. 3, Mt. Vernon.

Students on the Dean's List represent the top 10 percent of all UK students in grade point average. Each college of the university determines its own set of qualifications for the honor.

Now in its 124th year, UK has an enrollment of about 23,000 students on the Lexington campus and actively seeks a student body that is diverse and high in academic achievements. Last year's freshman class at UK averaged 22.5 on the ACT entrance exam -- three points higher than the national average. There were 85 Governor Scholars, 67 high school valedictorians, and 16 recipients of scholarships from the National Merit Scholarship Corp. in that class.

won't, and I certainly believe in many cases we need to be protected from ourselves. This is one of those cases.

I guess you're wondering about the new factories that were to be locating in Rockcastle County. Well the powers that be tell me that everything is still go and should be built some time this year. That is great news because of the jobs they will provide locally.

Another move is underway to buy the Derby City South Truckstop. After the proposed sale, reportedly, a one million dollar renovation will take place and about 65 people will be put to work. An official announcement will come in about three weeks.

Either our t.v. set is torn up or still am not getting that cable television that has been promised. A few months ago cable companies were fighting like cats and dogs to get the right to run cable in the western part of the county. The fiscal court gave everyone that right, but no one has gotten any cable t.v.

A representative of Southern Cablevision told me that they wanted to provide cable all over the county. I don't believe they have added any customers lately and don't be surprised if Southern, who services Mt. Vernon and Renfro sells out to INN-Starr, another big conglomerate and then watch your rates go up again.

GIVE THANKS TO GOD FOR THE LIBERTY IN OUR LAND

Through history, man's liberty was sought in every land. They set their sights on human rights That all of us demand. We have today the right to say The words that we profess, Like those you'll read and then concede As freedom of the press. To meet with friends, it all depends On vigil we maintain; For while we're free, we'll never be Any required to explain. And any way we choose to pray, We have that guarantee; So thank the Lord for this reward, And keep our nation free.

Freedom never yet was given to nations as a gift, but only as a reward, bravely earned by one's own exertions.

Honor the Flag

As we all know, a flag is only a large piece of material responding to the breeze from atop a flagpole, and printed or sewn with a colorful and distinctive design. Nevertheless, it signifies the country in which it waves, along with all the history and heroic sacrifice that are inherent in the design. Whether we are traveling in a foreign land or at home watching a parade, we should show our love and respect for that banner. Moreover, we should proudly display it, according to the rules, on national holidays and special occasions. As soon as our children are old enough to understand anything, they should be taught the reason for this feeling of pride in the flag of our nation; not for what it is, but for the God-given freedom it represents.

The things that the flag stands for were created by the experiences of a great people.

Public Health - A Perspective

How much is a local health department worth?
The question is seldom considered, even though all our lives are touched in one way or another by the daily activities of health departments across Kentucky. Take just our environmental services, for example:
In one typical day we inspect 27 restaurants, 2 motels or hotels, 15 grocery stores, 14 milk producers, 4 schools, 121 new sewer systems, 6 mobile home parks and 2 1/2 food manufacturers.
We order 529 pounds of food destroyed, declare 2,740 gallons of milk unsuitable for Grade A use, and follow 66 nuisance complaints.

Or consider the personal services to patients of our local departments. During that same typical day we provide 1,400 immunizations, 211 hypertension education visits, 364 home health visits, 353 pap smears and breast self-examination instructions, and 726 fluoride mouth rinses. We'll train 9 more health professionals in care of diabetic patients.
We'll also provide 263 prenatal visits for expectant mothers, 110 well child visits, 2,700 family planning visits, 651 WIC visits and loan out 25 child safety seats for use in patients' vehicles.

During that day we'll spend $178,000 and add about 1,200 new patients. They all come to our health departments to obtain an array of preventive health services that's unduplicated anywhere else in Kentucky's health care system. They can also receive acute primary care services at some of our departments.
I haven't even mentioned the many other things we do, such as health education, radiation and product safety inspections, and laboratory work. Or how we're involved in the major health care issues of our times, such as teenage pregnancies, and how to finance medical care for the indigent.

Much of what we do is invisible. We all assume that public water is safe to drink, that restaurant food is safely edible, that a glass of milk won't cause listeriosis. If the local health departments shut down, Kentucky citizens would feel it pretty quickly—although they might not know what had happened.

Proclamation

by
Wallace G. Wilkinson
Governor of the Commonwealth of Kentucky

To All To Whom These Presents Shall Come:

WHEREAS, Public health departments are located in every county throughout this Commonwealth; and,

WHEREAS, Their personal health services constitute a vital health care resource available to thousands of patients, particularly those with low incomes; and,
WHEREAS, Kentucky's investment in this statewide network of facilities, programs and trained personnel produces disproportionately beneficial returns in the form of quality health care for Kentucky citizens of all ages;
NOW, THEREFORE, I, WALLACE G. WILKINSON, Governor of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, do hereby proclaim July 23-29, 1989 as LOCAL HEALTH DEPARTMENT RECOGNITION WEEK in Kentucky.

DONE AT THE CAPITOL, in the City of Frankfort, this the 19th day of May, in the year of Our Lord One Thousand Nine Hundred Eighty-nine and in the year of the Commonwealth the One Hundred Ninety-seventh.

The American Cancer Society, Rockcastle County Unit, would like to announce that there will be a free screening for skin cancer, Wednesday, June 28 from 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. The screening will be held at Rockcastle Hospital with Dr. Melissa Knackles, a Dermatologist from Corbin, conducting the screening.
Rockcastle Hospital will be the host for this event and it will be sponsored by the American Academy of Dermatologists and the Kentucky Cancer Center, Lexington.

Our unit is very proud to be able to have this screening for our communities and if you have a mole, or any suspicious sore on your skin, please take time to come and get screened. Pass the word along to your friends, relatives, neighbors, or anyone who may not see this notice. Skin cancer is a fast growing form of cancer and it is deadly. Summer time and sunburns go hand in hand with developing skin cancer.

Your Child's Health

By: Dr. John Payne
What ever happened to Rye Syndrome? This scary and often fatal and little understood illness was talked about a lot in the press a few years ago, and was the cause of lots of parent questions. In 1980 - 555 cases were reported in the U.S. In 1988 there were only 20 cases reported.
The reason for the dramatic decline was patient education about not giving aspirin to children with flu like illnesses or chicken pox. The combination of the effect of these viruses and aspirin seemed to trigger the sequence of low blood sugar, liver and brain damage.
The education process was slowed somewhat in the early years by its delay in release of a government report, but by now almost everyone knows not to use aspirin for young children. Aspirin free products are used almost universally.
What may not be realized, however, is that the remaining cases, at least half are in children over 10 years of age. Parents may not be so careful to avoid aspirin in older children, but they too should use non aspirin products for fever or aches associated with viral illnesses.

My dog's name is Chi, Chi, Chi He is a he, he, he, Thank God he is not a she, she, she He licks my nose He licks my ears or nose He wants me to smell like a rose He is so mean He thinks he is a king He snorts at me That is my dog Chi, Chi, Chi

He loves practically everyone I took him up at Thacker Field To watch some baseball games He had some fun growling at baseball

Poet's Corner

Kentucky
By: Ada Bullock

When God created the universe He must have had a plan To set aside a special place To be called our homeland

Perhaps we were predestined To be the folks so lucky Sharing all the love and beauty in our home state of Kentucky

The peaks of the mountains adorned by skies of blue Sunset casting shadows - Or fields we walk through

In the early springtime rebirth of beauty grows Trees attired in shades of green and dogwood blossoms glow

Rivers, lakes, and valleys such lovely sights and sound Extending a warm welcome to everyone around

Yes, Kentucky is the greatest I'm sure all will agree That living where the heart is satisfaction there will be

The Complainers
By: Mayzell Ries
We complain when it snows and covers the ground We complain when it rains all over the town

We complain when the sun makes it get hot We complain when the wind gives all its got

We complain when we haven't got enough money for trivial things Like necklaces and bracelets and diamond rings

We complain that our clothes aren't fit to wear To parties and such . . . just don't care

Complain, complain that's all we do Why don't we think of others and how we could help them too

If we used our time to helping others We wouldn't have time to complain or say, "If I had my druthers!"

We'd be doing something useful in our spare time We wouldn't have time to complain and to wish we had more nickels and dimes

Ay we'd stop worrying . . . and think about all we've got We'd find the world is a beautiful place The complaining would stop a lot

So stop and think When you start to complain Think about others for a change and you'll have much to gain

'Ladies' Aid'

son, Elizabeth Mullins, Lou Payne, Marjorie and Kimberly Shivel, Emily Glovick, Ella Mae Martin, Kaye Carr, Loraine Newland and our minister's wife, Nita Ritter, were present.

Willie Lawrence presented the lesson "Love Thy Neighbor". She had no trouble finding many Bible scriptures to read on this subject. Some of the scripture stated to "Love your enemies," also. She read several poems about "House of Prayer", "Go to God in Prayer", "The Hand that Dries Our Tears" and "End of Our Road".

Kaye Carr was asked to end this lesson in prayer.

Reports were made on our churches June 4-9 successful Bible School. The average attendance was 63 each night. Many parents came to Friday night's program to hear their children tell what they had learned of Jesus, to view their children's crafts and tables of the picnic food from parties in the church back yard. Bro. Steve Ritter was our leader of Bible School.

Katheth Mullins made the report on the Ladies Retreat, May 26 and 27, at the Kentucky Christian Assembly camp.

Barbara Watson reported on the first week of Senior Boys and Girls at this same camp.

Ella Mae Martin, our president, passed around July's Birthday Cards for Sowder Nursing Home residents, besides some Father's Day cards for each of us to sign.

We decided to visit our churches homebound before our next meeting and to make reports of our visits, July 11.

Barbara Watson made a motion that we buy an electric skillet for the Kentucky Christian Assembly Camp kitchen. It was seconded by Ella Mae Martin.

Ella Mae also suggested that we sponsor Kimberly Shivel to attend Junior Camp Week. We unanimously agreed to this reminder.

Lou Payne ended this part of our program with a blessing for what we were able to do, as well as for the food that we were served.

Chips, dips, Hubbard-strawberry cobbler pie topped with a big strawberry, looked good to us and they were, plus tea or coffee.

After partaking of these delicacies, we took advantage of Marjorie Shivel's and Kaye Carr's presence as nurses and asked them questions about our ailments. Was this fair to physicians?

Anyway, we left more knowledgeable of what to do for our ailments; how we should love our neighbors and our homes; and enjoying over our Christian fellowship.

On July 11, we will travel to London to meet at Jonney Gilpin's home and Emily Glovick will present the lesson.

CRP sign-up set for July 17 thru August 4

Farmers and other landowners who plan to sign up for the next Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) can do so July 17 - August 4.

The program, began in 1985, is for farmers who have a corn base or tobacco base. They submit sealed bids to the federal government to take their land out of production for 10 years. During that time, the government pays the farmer a rental fee for not using that land.

The only work allowed on these fields for those 10 years is mowing. Farmers are not allowed to use them for hay or grazing.

The land must also qualify under erosion standards or as wetlands. The land will be used to help re-establish a "wildlife advantage" for the state.

A spokeswoman for the Rockcastle ASCS office said that 16 county farmers are already participating in the program.

For more information, contact the Rockcastle ASCS at 256-2525, or Jeff Sole, from the state fish and wildlife department at 1-502-564-4858, or the state's district biologist.

Cindy is presently enrolled at the University of Kentucky, majoring in Secondary Education and is working at the 4-H Camp this summer. Cindy is the daughter of John and Cheryl Witt. Larissa is the daughter of Henry and Rita Hayes of Brodhead. Larissa is working on the family's dairy farm this summer along with keeping busy with 4-H, FFA and Vacation Bible School. Congratulations to both of these girls for a job well done!

Farm bureau office moving to new site

Farm Bureau officials confirmed this week the bureau will purchase the Boone Trail Restaurant on U.S. 25 south of Mt. Vernon and move the insurance office to that location.

William K. Bullen said the bureau has an option on the property and expects to close the purchase soon with owner Carl Ramsey.

Bullen said the bureau plans to remodel the building and add a conference room. He speculated the move to the new location would be later in the year.

Baker hired as policeman

Chris Baker has been hired as a city policeman replacing Kevin Flecher who has taken a position in Lexington.

Baker, 22, is the son of Monty Baker and grandson of Monroe Baker. He was in the Army stationed in West Germany until four months ago. He has had a year of law enforcement training at Eastern Kentucky University.

Baker and his wife, Tricia, have a son Zachery Dale, two weeks old. They live in Brodhead.

According to police, thieves gained entrance through a back door. Taken was a television, VCR and a jar of change.

Rogers rep. here July 6

A representative from the office of U.S. Rep. Harold Rogers will be at the Rockcastle courthouse at 10 a.m. July 6.

Anyone having questions or problems with a branch of the federal government should contact the representative at that time.

Angora rabbits Bucher breeds

By Jim Griesch

Cindy Bucher breeds angora rabbits and she says she has a lot of fun doing it. She breeds angora rabbits and she says she has a lot of fun doing it. She breeds angora rabbits and she says she has a lot of fun doing it.

Right now, she's raising angora rabbits and will add more soon. She uses the full French spin, weave and make-up.

Eventually, she'll have natural fibers such as Merino and Breda.

She envisions a lot of materials and fibers to be available. Those fibers, she says, will be used to make clothing and other items.

Bucher said, "I've had several customers who have made goods out of the wool. I've had several customers who have made goods out of the wool. I've had several customers who have made goods out of the wool."

Bucher explained that a good angora rabbit can live for 10 to 12 years, which makes it possible for one rabbit to deliver as many as five or six times a year.

Angora rabbits are bred for their long, soft, curly fibers. Bucher and other rabbit raisers show their rabbits at various shows and fairs.

Bucher said there are three major classes of angoras - English, French and German (or Commercial). All of her are English.

Angora rabbits are bred from English and French. They don't have hair on their faces, but they have hair on their feet.

All angora rabbits come in dozens of colors.

Bucher said she has several uses for the angora fur. It can be woven, knitted, or made into hats, even mittens.

The quality of angora varies. Some is warmer than sheep's wool, and some is lighter. A real plus is that angora is hypoallergenic to angora, merino, and other fibers.

Angora rabbits are bred to just the fur.

Hay crop ruining

As a result of the continued rain, the hay crop in Rockcastle is just about ruined, Harold Ballinger, director of the ASCS office reported this week.

"It's the crop that's hurting right now," Ballinger related. "We're slowly losing the crop. It's just not been good weather for hay. It has been two weeks since we had a continued dry spell, or dry enough to get into the fields."

Ballinger said the hay is "drowning," especially in low bottom areas.

"Very little has been cut, and most of it is in no condition to even attempt to cut," he stated.

It is another story with tobacco. Ballinger said, the crop is "looking good." He did warn against a possible weed problem in tobacco since farmers cannot get into the fields to fertilize and cultivate.

He also alerted farmers to the possibility of bud worms and horn worms in tobacco.

Bell peppers, a major county crop, is similar to tobacco, he said, with the only difference that peppers are not susceptible to damp weather.

Gardeners are doing well in Rockcastle, Ballinger noted, but advised gardeners to be on the lookout for the Colorado potato beetle and flea beetles in vegetable crops.

Although the state lost 13,970 agriculture acres in the eighth sign-up under the 10-year Conservation Reserve Program, Rockcastle's acreage remains unchanged.

There are currently 16 farms in Rockcastle under the U.S. Agriculture Department program, with 400 acres out of production. Most of those acres were contracted in the 1987 and 1988 signups.

In Kentucky the total acreage taken out of production since the sign-up began, with the noted totals 397,474, 13,970 additional acres added in the February sign-up. Next sign-up will be July 17 through Aug. 4.

Under the program, farmers agree to take their land from production for 10 years. In return, based on bids they submit, farmers who are accepted get annual rental payments from the government and one-time assistance to pay the cost of planting trees, shrubs and grass to guard against erosion.

Average rental payments have been running close to $50 an acre.

Stephenson speaks to group

Dr. John Stephenson, president of Berea College, spoke recently to a group of Rockcastle County leaders at an orientation dinner meeting held at the Red Top restaurant in Mt. Vernon.

Several Rockcastle counties also spoke at the meeting to inform community leaders of the goals and objectives of Leadership Rockcastle, a newly formed leadership development program, which evolved from a leadership training workshop called The Brushy Fork Institute that was sponsored by Berea College in April.

Those who attended the initial training workshop in addition to the group from Rockcastle County were participants from Wise County, Virginia and Mingo County, West Virginia.

"Each of these groups will return to Berea College in October to receive additional instruction and report on the results of projects that have begun in their communities as a result of the Brushy Fork experience.

Workshop participants from Rockcastle County were: Betty Jo McKinney, Karen King, Pam Chalfin, Shirley Cox, Jim Reckers, Sae Hamm, Glenn Miller, Dr. John Parsons.

RCHS students and teachers tour France, other countries

By Jim Griesch

Former Rockcastle County High French teacher Martha Lay's last class was something else.

She was one of nine from the school to make a 10-day trip to France, Italy and Switzerland this spring.

The local group - Mrs. Lay, her daughter Trudi, (and the rest of the family), principal Ronnie Cash, and French Club members Clois Smith, Diane Cox, Chris Newland, Angie McKinney, Sonya Morgan and Stephan Pope - along with nine others from central Kentucky, were part of a 40-plus-person entourage (with groups from Indiana and Nebraska) sponsored by the American Institute of Cultural Studies.

The trip was two years in the planning, locally.

In fact, it was a prime reason Mrs. Lay did not leave until this spring. She lives in Casey County, and for two years after having a firm job offer in Casey, continued to drive the many miles daily from Dunville to Mt. Vernon.

Cash said Monday, "She had committed to the kids and some of the parents she would make this trip."

The trip included stops at many of the tourist spots in Paris, but also combined trips to Loire Valley in central France to see castles and courtyards, a day of swimming in Nice, on the Mediterranean coast, and a train ride through Italy to Geneva, Switzerland, for the flight home.

"By consensus, the students liked Nice the most. For them, it was a chance to hit the beach for some swimming, sun and fun.

Cox called Nice, "the prettiest part." Still, depending on personal interest, everyone found something, somewhere, to fascinate them.

Morgan was particularly fond of the Loire Valley and its castles.

She called them, "Larger than life... like something you'd read about," and here you were, seeing it, seeing something you don't normally see."

Pope, on the other hand, says, "I'm really interested in art. When we went to see the Louvre, I basically liked all the art."

She, too, was impressed with the castles and chateau. "Versailles was very pretty," she remembered. "It was just like it was in the time of Louis XIV. The palace was a tribute to the sun gods."

Newland, too, liked them. "I just wanted to go and see everything."

But, he remembered them the most. McKinney called the castles and chateau "definitely my favorite part."

Smith remembered "the most beautiful rose gardens" there.

Still, the fun came in Nice. Smith said of their time there, "The sea was beautiful. It had one of the prettiest colors I've ever seen."

Trudi Lay said, "It was the best part. I had a great time there."

There was some disappointment in Paris. Trudi Lay missed, "After the tourist spots, it was just a big city."

Newland said, "It was dirty. They were cleaning everything."

However, Morgan said she'd go back again, just to see the Notre Dame, the Eiffel Tower and The Louvre.

When asked if she'd like to live in any of the castles they saw, she said "No," but added, "I guess back then (10th, 11th, 12th centuries and since) it was awfully nice, though."

McKinney remembers seeing "two fireplaces in every hall" in one-estate.

For many of the students, it was their first plane ride, first train ride, and/or first trip out of the country.

Some of the older students had been on trips to Quebec, Canada, though, the past two years.

Smith, in fact, remembers the flight over. "It was the first time I'd flown," she said. "We had a six-hour delay in New York. That was rough, and we flew all night. I guess that's why I remember it."

The train ride through Italy didn't allow any time for sightseeing, except from the coaches.

That tempered most of the enthusiasm, except for individual thoughts.

One who was enthusiastic was Trudi Lay. "I had a great time on the train. I wish I had some pictures. It was hilarious. We had three bunks on a wall (in the sleeping compartments) and they were the size of an elevator."

Morgan reported, "We just drove through lots of tunnels. But, the food was good."

Overall, food was a two-way street. The group found several American fast food franchises over there. Among them were staples such as Burger King and McDonalds.

However, they quickly found out that the signs didn't necessarily mean the same things they do on this side of the Atlantic.

McKinney, who didn't particularly like French cuisine, said of the fast food stuff, "It was too expensive and too rare."

Mrs. Lay backed up those thoughts, adding, "Hamburgers cost $5. Cokes cost $2.30."

She was enthusiastic about most of the food the group ate.

The meats were all cooked with a sauce or gravy, she said. Every day, the group ate at least one meal which would almost be considered formal by U.S. standards.

Those meals included long-stemmed glasses, and such.

She also found a sandwich she really liked, the "Croque Monsieur," which has two slices of homemade bread, ham and cheese, with more cheese melted on the outside over a grill, with nutmeg sprinkled over it all.

Breakfasts were Continental style, which meant hard bread, croissant and juices each day.

Nobody was fond of the traditional hard loaves of bread served with every meal. Mrs. Lay noted, "It would take you a half an hour just to chew the bread, it was so hard."

The water wasn't good, so hotels supplied each room with various.

Foreign drivers

Americans are always amazed at European traffic and drivers. The tour group from Rockcastle was no different.

When in Paris, the group stayed near the Place D'Etoile (Place of the Stars).

Mrs. Martha Lay said that seven or eight major traffic arteries empty into the square there; and there are no traffic lights, no lane lines to guide drivers. "It's the only place in the world where no insurance company will insure you," she said. "It's 32nd-wreck, it's your baby."

Her father, Rollie Short, was with the group. "After about three days," she said, "My father said, 'I've figured out how to drive in Paris. It's crowd and push.'"

She said drivers simply crowded their way into and out of lanes.

Sixteen Rockcastle and Madison countians grouped together for one of their many airports during the trip to France.

Journal Notes

The Rockcastle County High students who toured Europe were supposed to keep journals of their trip.

Some did, some said they tried, but didn't have much.

Stephanie Pope actually kept two, one on the activities, one for her thoughts.

Stephanie shared three passages from her memories with The Mt. Vernon Signal.

Two passages concerned Paris:

"We went to the Eiffel Tower. How grand it was. First you think, 'Oh, this is too busy,' or 'Oh, no, it will fall.' But, then, you get to the top, and it is spectacular. It's the highest place I've ever been, and you can see the whole city."

"You look down and realize one street in Paris is as big as the whole town of Mt. Vernon."

On Nice: "This is the most beautiful place I've ever seen. It's definitely nice. The water is the most brilliant color I've ever seen."

Chambord Castle, in the Loire Valley of France, was one of the more impressive sites visited by several Rockcastle Countians on their recent trip. Several high school students had the opportunity through a plan devised by former Rockcastle teacher Martha Lay.

RCHS cheerleaders No. 1 at camp

By: Jim Griesch

The Rockcastle County High boys varsity cheerleading squad won the cheer competition at UCA camp at Eastern Kentucky University last week.

The 12 girls - seniors Gina Martin and Sherry Jones; juniors April Kendrick, Jennifer Noe, Amy Jo McClure, Teresa Burdette, Michelle Hamm, Cindy Gregory and Dawn Lewis; sophomores Donisha Mullins and Kristy Sargent; and freshman Amy Sears - won in competition that included mounts and stunts and other gymnastic-quality efforts.

This is the best that Rockcastle's squads have done in recent years. Thebest in at least four years, since co-sponsors Becky Perkins (fourth year) and Tracy Gabbard (third year) have been with the squads.

Gabbard said Rockcastle finished fifth in the same competition last summer.

There were nine schools competing in the boys varsity competition at Eastern last week, and 19 squads overall.

Gabbard said the week consisted of a four-day camp, with scored competition narrowed to the final day. The first three days were spent learning new routines and cheers.

The girls seemed proudest in beating Lexington Lafayette for their first-place trophy. Lafayette won the sidelines cheering competition.

Attached to the trophy were eight or nine blue ribbons for various segments of competition, and one red.

The squad was selected, and actually began practicing, before school was out.

Gabbard said the girls usually work two hours a day, three days a week. They did before camp, and have already picked up the same schedule this week.

The boys varsity will make its first 1989-90 school year appearance at the August 18 home football opener against Lynn Camp.

Sargent earns trip to London, England

By: Jim Griesch

Kristy Sargent, a sophomore Rockcastle County High cheerleader, has an opportunity to go to London, England, during the Christmas holiday break.

She won her chance by being named one of the top seven cheerleaders at the Universal Cheerleaders camp at Eastern Kentucky University last week.

The cheering organization, home based in Memphis, Tenn., has an invitation again this year, from the Lord Mayor of Westminster, to bring a number of cheerleaders to perform in a New Year's Day parade from Barkley Square, down Bond St. to Hyde Park, in London.

The trip, which will cost Kristy's family between $1,600 and $1,700, will last a week. Cheerleaders leave Dec. 26 on BOAC (British Overseas Air Corp.) and return Jan. 2.

Robert Tisdale, a UCA spokesman in Memphis, said the trip is considered "optional" for each cheerleader chosen. It is designed to provide tour and sightseeing opportunities leading up to the parade.

Kristy Sargent

He said the cheerleaders would see Westminster Abbey, Windsor Castle (one of the official homes of Queen Elizabeth), Stratford-on-Avon (William Shakespeare's birthplace), the Hard Rock Cafe, the Tower of London (across the street from the host hotel), a riverboat tour on the Thames River, and a tour of a slipper ship.

Tisdale said one chaperone for each 10 girls is provided, and a midnight curfew will be enforced.

For many of the girls, and Kristy, it is their first flight.

Her mother, Mrs. Linda Mason calls it "an honor for her to go."

Mrs. Mason was in Richmond last Friday for the announcement and competition.

Officially, Kristy was named an "all-star" that day. Tisdale pointed out that she is in the top two percent of approximately 70,000 girls who have or will attend one of UCA's 350 camps this summer.

The UCA has room for 1,300 cheerleaders to go to London. About 500 actually made the trip last year, Tisdale said.

Mrs. Mason isn't sure that any other Rockcastle girl has had this opportunity. "I haven't heard of anybody else from here winning anything like that, that I know of," she said Monday evening.

Kristy was chosen from among 19 girls who tried out at Eastern. Each school squad could nominate two. Michelle Hamm also tried out from Rockcastle.

The total cost of the trip includes all tour fees, hotel accommodations, air fare and two meals a day.

Any additional money needed by individuals would be extra. Kristy has about a month to decide. She has to have a $200 deposit to UCA by mid-July.

Jason Fletcher fires a pitch during Monday's Senior League game between the Cubs and the Reds. The Reds won 18-4. The league will finish regular season play this weekend, and begin county tournament play next Tuesday. Area play begins in early July.

Brodhead to host area 13-year-old tournament

Brodhead will host the area 13-year-old baseball tournament which begins July 11.

Teams from this immediate area will participate.

The 14-15-year-olds will play in Manchester, and the 11-12-year-olds will play in McKee.

Rockcastle league tournaments are supposed to begin next Tuesday, June 27. Games are scheduled for 5:30 and 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, said league president Benny Craig.

But, the frequent rains this year have left several make-up games through Saturday, and pairings for the league tourneys are not yet available.

Three teams have had undefeated seasons to this point. Entering play Tuesday night, the Angels in the Minor League were 9-0, the Cardinals in the Major League were 12-0, and the Expos in the Senior League were 9-0.

All-star teams from each of the three leagues will be selected for the state tournaments.

Sports Notes

The workouts will be non-contact, stressing the teaching of fundamentals. Each camper will furnish his own practice clothing.

A tee-shirt will be presented to each camper at the end of the four days.

Hats now on sale

Rockcastle County High principal Ronnie Cash says that baseball caps with the school's name and initials are now on sale at the school for $10 each.

The caps will be on sale all summer and throughout the football season. They are one-size-fits-all adjustable caps.

Proceeds will go to the school's athletic department.

The sanctioning fee is $22. Team entry fees are $75 per team. Forms can be obtained through Moss (792-2954) or Tom Hurt (792-3667).

Grid physicals

Physicals for Rockcastle County High football players will be given at the University of Kentucky Sports Medicine Clinic on Saturday, July 15.

The exams are free. All players will be taken to the clinic by the coaching staff. A bus will leave from the high school at 8 a.m.

Varsity players will begin workouts without pads on Monday, July 17. Freshmen are to report July 24, but will be permitted to work out with the varsity if individual players choose.

Football practice begins in pads on August 1. The team will be a football camp the second week of August.

Players have already begun to receive their insurance and permission forms from coach Tom Larkey, and are lifting weights and running on Mondays and Wednesdays.

McClure tops local club at Red Man

Ron McClure, of Mt. Vernon, finished seventh in last weekend's Red Man Bass Tournament at Barren River Lake. He led the efforts of several Rockcastle County Bass Club members.

He landed a limit of six fish which weighed in at 10-pounds, 11-ounces. Mark Bray was 15th with a haul of five fish, weighing seven pounds, 10 ounces. C.C. Ponder landed two fish for 55th place, while Ted Grigsby of Stanford (and a club member) was 65th, and Johnny Hamm was 75th.

Top weight for the weekend was 14 pounds.

With two more tournaments left before October's regional tournament, Bray is 11th in the Mountain Division with 28 pounds, five ounces caught, and 82 1/2 points accumulated; McClure is 15th with 25 pounds, three ounces and 58 points; Hamm is 52nd with 43.5 and 43 points. Grigsby is 57th with 15-10, and Ponder is 61st with 15-1 and 12 1/2 points.

The top finisher will win a trip to Hawaii for the third straight year. (Keith Monson of Burgin was Mountain champion in 1988).

But, the top 24, from the division qualify for the regional, and the top 10 from the regional qualify for the 1989 All-American tournament. Next year's site has not yet been announced. The 1988 All-American will be in Arkansas.

At each level, cash, boats, trucks, vans, trailers, and fishing equipment are offered as prizes.

Rockcastle Fishing Report

Renfro Valley Boat Dock: Blugill remain plentiful on crickets and wax worms says Jim Hale. White bass are now being taken during day-light, after several weeks of good fishing at night. Black bass are still hitting good, he said, but while none are very big, there are plenty of "keepers" in the 12-13-inch range. Catfish are still another good catch, and he added, "for those who like them, we're getting some big carp."

Fishing activity over the June 17-18 weekend was light in the east, moderate in the central and western Fifty of the 55 campers at Rockcastle County High coach David Perkins' annual basketball camp were on hand to receive certificates and food coupons last Thursday. The four-day camp is an annual event. Girls will begin camp next week.

3-time champs

Tom Payne Jr., and Tom Payne III, of Mareburg won Sunday's Father and Son Tournament at Cedar Rapids Country Club. The father and son duo shot a tournament record one under par 35 for the nine-hole event. The Paynes have won the event on three different occasions.

Census coming

Beginning this week temporary Census Bureau workers will travel the roads of rural America to list an address for every household and mark its location on a detailed map prepared by the Census Bureau.

The address listings and maps will be used to deliver census questionnaires to these homes in March 1990.

Residents will be asked to mail their answers back by Census Day, April 1, 1990.

The Constitution requires a national population count every ten years as a way to determine the number of members each state will have in the U.S. House of Representatives.

All individual answers are strictly confidential and protected by federal law. No government agency, law enforcement or individual can gain access to information about a person or their home.

The Census Bureau estimates there will be about 106 million households and 250 million people counted in 1990.

All enumerators will be wearing a red, white and blue badge.

One way is to comb it out. Bucher combs her three once a week. Another is to pluck the fur. She does that once a month.

She found a market for each. She knows a crafts woman in Lexington who will pay $5 an ounce for plucked angora, and others who will pay between $2.50 and $3 for combed.

But, the national average is only 10 to 12 ounces of fur a year per animal. Rabbits are also fairly fragile. Bucher pointed out that they wash themselves, as cats do.

But, unlike cats, rabbits cannot cough up "hair balls" and have a tendency to develop wool blocks in their digestive systems.

What happens, she said, is that they need papaya enzymes, which break up the fur balls.

Without the enzymes, Bucher said, the rabbits would be in real danger. They always feel full, she said, with the ingested fur. They simply don't eat.

Bucher's grand idea is set. She just needs time to put it all in place.

She would have 200 rabbits from which to collect angora fur. She wants the goats to get more fur.

She's already been trying to develop sources for such fibres as llama and other animals.

Her shop in Berea would appeal more to crafts people and tourists, but would provide all of the do-it-yourself materials, books and helps she can find.

Courses to individuals and groups would also be available.

Bucher carefully chose the central Kentucky area.

She was looking at Berea or Ashland, Ore., as possible areas.

Berea has a strong national and regional reputation, and it is much closer to her family in Ohio.

The state of Kentucky, too, has really pushed for the development of native arts and crafts as businesses this decade, too.

She was so careful in choosing this area, she even had newspaper subscriptions and contact with Chambers of Commerce before deciding to come here.

Rockcastle is her home, because she was able to buy a one-acre farm in Livingston.

Bucher has everything in motion. She is even getting some help from four sisters and one sister-in-law.

Target date: 1991.

bottles of wines, liquors, juices and bottled water (which was okay).

While the differences in food and the castles were strange, Mrs. Lay pointed out, "Any change in culture is really a shock to young people. We ate different foods, pay toilets were everywhere, and the plumbing was totally different."

The trip was more secure than many international flights. Newland was impressed by how tight security really was. "They took the batteries out of our cameras, if they (the Statterie were European," he remembered. "In Geneva, they hand checked our luggage, then put wraps on them. If the wraps were gone, the luggage didn't go on the plane. They did the same in Paris."

The group from here drove to Cincinnati, flew to New York, then on to Paris for the trip over. On the way back, after the train from Nice through Italy, the group flew from Geneva to New York, to Cincinnati, and drove back from there.

The trip cost each one $1,199. Mrs. Lay said that $800 of that was for air fare. The money earned locally went to pay for an extra day in Paris. The trip contained three days in Paris, two in Nice, one more in central France, and the one in Switzerland, plus the train ride. The group left May 30, and returned to the county in the week hours of June 9.

Cash said of the trip, "I was trained under D.A. Robbins at Brodhead," and he believed in travel. "I valued those trips... they were more meaningful to me. This trip, all you read in books, this reinforces. Travel is one of the best tools for education.

It was very educational for me, and I know for the students, too."

"I love to go," he said.

Next school year, he said he plans to work with incoming teacher Pam Powell, and reinstitute more trips to Quebec.

"You can do something like this (the European trip) about once every four years."

Mrs. Lay said she had worked toward the trip easily, going over simple phrases in French, plus highlighting sites the group might see."

McKinney said, "I hadn't had time to think about what we would see. I had no preconceptions. Everything was really big."

Because of the trip, maybe because of more, Mrs. Lay has left an impression on her students.

Said McKinney, "I'm sorry she's leaving. She was one of my favorite teachers. I was hoping she'd stay one more year so I could take AP (advanced placement) French under her."

Mrs. Lay is moving on to Casey County in style.

"What Saith the Scriptures"

In Luke's account of the Great Commission, we read, "Thus it is written, and thus it behooved Christ to suffer, and to rise from the dead the third day: And that repentance and remission of sins should be preached in his name among all nations beginning at Jerusalem." ch 24:46-47. One of the hardest commands the Lord has given unto man to obey is found here in our text, the command to Repent! You see, repentance demands change, a change of heart and mind that leads to a change of life (or the fruits of repentance, Ac. 26:20). Repentance demands that we crucify and kill the old man and his ways. Lk. 9:23, "Gl. 3:5.

Death, and especially death by crucifixion, is a painful experience. Even so, crucifying the old man will be a painful experience, but our Lord demands it of those who would be his followers. Jesus said, "And whosoever doth not bear his cross, and come after me, cannot be my disciple." Lk. 14:27. Thus, repentance is an essential step in the plan of salvation. False teachers are out telling people that all they have to do is simply believe in Jesus Christ and they will be saved. Accept Christ as Saviour AND LORD. It's one thing to convince people that Jesus is Saviour of the world, it's another to convince them that He is Lord, and must be the Lord of lives if they would ever be saved. Jesus said, "And why call ye me, Lord, Lord, and do not the things which I say?" Lk. 6:46.

Yes friends, Jesus is the "author of eternal salvation unto all them that obey him." Heb. 5:9. Have you obeyed his commands to be saved? Have you believed in Him as the Son of God, Jn. 20:30-31? Have you repented and turned from sin and unto Christ, Ac. 17:30? Have you confessed the name of the Saviour before men, Mt. 10:32, Rm. 10:9-10?

Let us be baptized unto Christ where all spiritual blessings are, Gal. 3:27. Eph. 1:37. And are you living faithful to the Lord, if you have already obeyed the gospel, Rev. 2:10, 1 Cor. 15:58?

If not, why not obey Jesus today?
