Jerry Cox files motion for dismissal of D.U.I. charges

Motion says Frankfort meeting was unlawful, because witnesses were present

By: Jim Griesch Mr. Vernon attorney Jerry Cox filed two motions in Rockcastle District Court Tuesday...

On page three of the motion, he says, "The defendants herein believe they cannot receive a fair trial because of the unwarranted and unethical private meeting conducted in their cases..."

In the next paragraph on that page, he says, "Defendants unfortunately must rely upon media reports of these activities because no notices, motions, orders or other documents have been served upon the defendants or their attorney of record (Cox)."...

partial trial. The second motion, citing objections to the docket call, prosecutors and judges, says they are all improper. He cites legal statutes in citing the docket call as improper, says that the county attorney has the authority in district court in his county, and says the attorney general has no power to intervene in the proceedings without specific legal authorization to do so. Cox says written documents are needed in order for the attorney general to intervene. "The motion says that the assignment of judges, other than those cleared for the district, is improper. Points East

By: Ike Adams

A friend of mine runs an operation called the Family Life Center School in Reznor Valley, Kentucky that is owned by the Christian Appalachian Project. The school was established largely to enable adults to get their GED and to offer evening tutorial sessions for public school students who might be having difficulty in learning whatever. My friend figures that if he and his staff can make learning a bit easier and prevent failure that it might keep a few kids from dropping out of school.

I think he's right, of course, and I spend a few hours each month acting as captain of the school's cheerleading team; the column this week is intended to first of all satisfy my friend that his pom-pom-toter is on the job and then to let you readers know that there is, in fact, much to cheer about at the Family Life Center School this summer.

Over the past several summers, the school has organized a summer tutorial session, six weeks in duration, for thirty students from the Rockcastle-County School system. The sessions are remedial in nature, but are designed to focus a substantial amount of individual attention on each student and greatly increase his/her basic comprehension of the three R's (reading, riting & rithmetic). The program aims to get students at the level they should be when school starts again in the fall. The end result is a more confident and successful school year enjoyable.

The program works. Unfortunately, it's not large enough to satisfy the need there is for it, nor does it do as much as my friend would like it to. He thinks that some sense of pride, a necessary component of the human experience and that too many kids spend their time being ashamed of themselves instead of finding a source of pride.

He's right again. And this summer, he's doing something that I believe should be going on in every public school in Eastern Kentucky. He's attempting to show kids that they have much to be proud about by simply growing up in the mountains.

My friend has lined up somewhere in the neighborhood of 15 to 20 adult volunteers who are bent on providing this summer's class with a crash course on Appalachian values and cultural heritage. Instead of learning it read from a textbook written by a PhD from New York City, the kids are hearing and reading bear tales and hand-me-down folk lore that are generations old. They are learning math by computing the amount of thread, material and time it will take to make a quilt from a complex traditional pattern and they are making the quilts using the same techniques their great-grandmas used.

My friend has established a close relationship with Elliot Wigington whose high school English Class produces the Foxfire books which are internationally famous for their documentation and preservation of Southern Highland Culture and he's doing what he can to copy Mike's style. He has the kids visiting what's left of the old timers who make musical instruments, do wood carving, weave baskets chair bottoms, raise gardens, can vegetables, keep bees, make candles and the list goes on.

The kids are learning to e-log and are being inundated with traditional music. When they're not quilting or out and about, they are generally watching one of sixty Appalshop films that the school has borrowed for the summer. The kids carry tape recorders and note pads to keep a record of their experiences and they spend their week end writing about them. My friend intends to make a publication of that writing.

This fall, when those kids go back to their classrooms, their reading, writing and mathematical skills should be greatly improved, perhaps even more than they might have been if they had spent the summer using and studying from the generic educational material that is far too common in modern classrooms. On top of that, and much more importantly in my mind, they should know and appreciate a great deal more about their heritage than they did a few weeks ago.

They should know that Eastern Kentucky doesn't control the market on poverty and corruption. They should realize and even feel some of the things that we do they have to be proud about. And, I believe there's a good chance that their lives will be richer and more self fulfilling when they realize that it's just absolutely great to be a hillbilly—when they can look an outsider in the eye and say, "don't you wish you were?"

My friend calls the program Appalachian Celebration 89. And I say hip-hip hooray, sis-boom-bah because I'm the cheerleader and that's about the only yell I know.

Reading aloud to children is one way parents can help their youngsters learn to read.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,
Remember me? Some people call me Old Glory, others call me the Star Spangled Banner, but whatever they call me, I am your flag, the flag of the United States of America. Something has been bothering me, so I thought I might talk it over with you.

I remember-some time ago people lined up on both sides of the street to watch the parade and I was always there, proudly waving in the breeze. When your daddy saw me coming, he immediately removed his hat and placed it over his head. Remember? And you, I remember you standing there straight as a soldier. You didn't have a hat but you were giving the right salute.

Remember your little sister? Not to be outdone, she was saluting the same as you, with her hand over her heart. Remember?

What happened? I'm still the same old flag...but I don't feel as proud as I used to. When I come down your street, you just stand there with your hands in your pockets; I may get a small glance but then you look away.

I see the children running around and shouting. They don't seem to know who I am. I saw one man take off his hat and look around. He didn't see anybody else with his hat off so he quickly put it back on.

Is it a sin to be patriotic anymore? Have you forgotten what I stand for and where I've been. Anzio, Normandy, Omaha Beach, Guadalcanal, Korea, Vietnam.

Take a look at the Memorial Honor Rolls sometime. Look at the names of those who never came back in order to keep this Republic free...when you salute me, you are actually saluting them.

Well, it won't be long until I'll be coming down your street again. So when you see me, stand straight, place your right hand over your heart. I'll salute you by waving back. And, I'll know that you remembered.

Soap the old-fashioned way

Charting Rockcastle

By: Richard Anderkin
Managing Editor

Two issues of great importance have come and gone before the Supreme Court in the past few weeks. Issues that cause tempers to flare and the President to call for a Constitutional Amendment.

After the U.S. Supreme Court said it was okay to burn the flag as a political expression many Americans, including the President, became very upset. One man even called here and asked that I write a column denouncing the decision. But during that same period the Chinese government was killing people for voicing their opinion about their communist government. The government in China obviously does not want anyone voicing displeasure with their form of government. Not even a peaceful form of opposition.

The way I feel about the flag burning, is that at least we live in a country where if you so desire to burn the flag, at least you won't be executed. So many men and women have lost their lives to give us the freedoms we enjoy in this country.

Of course it would take a mentally deranged American to burn the flag, but at least if they desire to do so in this country they can.

That is not to say that it is okay to burn the flag, because it shouldn't be done, but it is okay to live in a country where we enjoy that type freedom, without threat of prosecution or even death.

The Supreme Court also decided to possibly restrict a woman's right to have an abortion. Basically leaving the question up to the states. That one is a tough one. While I don't feel it is right to take a human life and I do believe life begins at conception, I often wonder if it is fair to make a woman have a child that she doesn't want.

The child is more times than not the one that suffers in these situations. Children certainly cannot help who they are born to. I'm sure there is an alternative to abortion, but it doesn't seem that anything is being done to control unwanted births. But emphasis should be placed on stopping those births, before they reach the abortion stage.

If you don't think it is a problem just sit up here and watch the number of mothers that come through here looking for REAP with one, two, three and four year olds and not enough food in the house to feed them. Abortion is wrong, but so is bringing children into this world with no way to support them. To me nothing is worse than a child going hungry or being abused. Children can't control their situation, and people should think twice before they bring a child into this world without the means to see that it is taken care of, and I don't think that any kind of ruling by the highest court in the land is going to stop unwanted pregnancies.

"I can remember when I was a child how we would make our own lye soap and we didn't use any store bought white soap then. We always made our own," said Wileta Swineford.

Arnold Rogers added, "Why I remember when we would start making lye soap about 6 a.m. in the morning. We'd work all day making it."

Mrs. Swineford, a longtime former resident of Mt. Vernon and Mt. Vernon resident, Arnold Rogers, were guests craftspeople at The Family Life Center in Mt. Vernon on Wednesday morning, July 5.

Thirty children watched as Mrs. Swineford directed the operation of lye soap making while Rogers did the actual work. "It's been 45 years ago since I made lye soap," said Swineford, "but you don't forget it." While Rogers deftly stirred the lye liquid with a long handled paddle, the two of them swapped stories about the past while thirty children at the Center listened as they took turns at the paddle. When the lye and water mixture was steamy and boiling, Rogers dumped a half of a bucketful of lard into it. A little while later, it was bubbling briskly in a big black iron pot outdoors on some hot embers that had been stoked for several minutes before the lye soaping operation was started. Under the watchful eye of Mrs. Swineford, the lye mixture thickened and then it was skimmed with a ladle to remove the foam before it was poured into metal trays. The children took turns flattening the thick mixture and poking pieces of caning into its surface to make it smell good. For the next several hours, it would remain in the pans to thicken and then it would be cut into squares and each child would take a piece home with him.

Mrs. Swineford recalled that at hog butchering time, she would have the doubtful honor of having to clean out the hog intestines and that, along with hog skin, would be boiled and the fat would be used to make lye soap. For people living in the Appalachian area in earlier times, lye soap making was as much a part of life as planting a garden and picking berries or doing the family laundry.

Lye soap was a vital part of wash-

day. Large pots of water would be warmed over burning embers and clothes and lye soap would be added and when the day's laundry was done, the clothes on the clothes line would smell sweet and look sparkling white.

Both Swineford and Rogers believed that lye soap might have kept people healthy as it has a sort of "disinfectant quality about it" but as Rogers said, "You wouldn't want to get lye soap in your eyes as it would be smart."

Mrs. Swineford recalled when she lived in a log cabin near a creek how the floors of the cabin nearly gleamed after a washing with lye soap. "We'd use a broom to scrub the floor with. Sometimes we had to wash the floor everyday when it got messy," said Swineford.

Rogers recalled how lye was also used to make favorite hominy. "We'd shuck the corn, put it into water with some lye and in no time, we'd have a batch of hominy. I remember when we used to take a pot of it or something else to eat out into the fields where we would be working, build a little fire and cook it for our lunches."

Both Rogers and Swineford looked a little wistful when they recalled their childhood days. "I wish we could go back to those days," said both of them. "We had freedom and it was a lot less stressful than it is today. Seems as if everyone is in a hurry."

Rogers remembers, "My father used to get up at 4 a.m. to go out and feed the animals when we lived out on the farm and when he'd come in, we'd have a big breakfast. My mother used to get up at 5 a.m. and have the breakfast already. We'd have pancakes or chicken or ham and biscuits and eggs. After that we'd wait, often quite a ways to work weeding the corn. We'd stay out there in the fields all day. I don't remember that we worked any harder than anyone else but we had independence then."

Living in rural Rockcastle County wasn't all work. "My dad would make musical instruments out of storks he found. He'd make a sort of whistle that you could play tunes like, 'Yankee Doodle Band,'" said Rogers. "We would sit on the porch of an evening and just play the flute-like whistle." Rogers and Swineford could also remember how their fathers would slingshots made by their fathers to have fun with.

Mrs. Swineford recalled that there was anything quite good as raspberry jam on piping hot homemade

Congratulations to Ole' Joe Clark and the Renfro Valley Business People

If you didn't get to visit Renfro Valley during the Ole' Joe Clark Festival, you sure missed a thrilling experience. I am beginning to see definite signs of the 'good old days' when Renfro was out front as a state tourist attraction.

Let us all be aware as to the potential that Rockcastle County has in the tourism field. Records show that tourism dollars are the most cost efficient revenues that a county or city can receive.

Let's accept the challenge and adopt tourism promotion as one of our goals in our future. If we help each other, we can make good things better.

Sincerely,

Gatliff Craig, Candidate County Judge Executive

Harradburg folklorist Don Boklage was at CAP's Family Life Center School last Wednesday, and posed to sing some songs with most of the children there that day. Boklage is a well-known, and frequent, participant in the extra-curricular speakers' bureau in Central Kentucky schools.

Kids turn cabbage into sauerkraut in CAP class

"We're going to make sauerkraut today," said Sonya to the youngsters taking part in the summer program at The Family Life Center in Mt. Vernon. "Oh, ick!" said one of the boys. Another said, "Hmm I love sauerkraut. Apparently sauerkraut has a dubious reputation. One boy said, 'I'll make it but I might as well keep it here at the school to age and then I'll eat it all up as nobody in the family will eat it.'"

It seems there are staunch advocates who like it and an equally vehement group that don't like it but the children did admit that they enjoyed preparing it under the able direction of Sonya. She said she was making it like her grandmother made it. Sonya continues to carry on the family tradition of making sauerkraut each year for her family.

First the children grated the cabbage and then it was placed into jars and then sugar, salt and vinegar were added. Water was poured over the top and then the cover was put on firmly. It was then brought home by each child and set for at least two months so that it can be fermented.

The end product plus a little vinegar and some baked beans will make a grand treat for a Saturday evening supper.

The children are engaged in many interesting projects at the Family Life Center this summer as part of Appalachian Celebration '89 which is a six week program in which the three R's are also combined with cultural experiences as well. Several artists, craft people and hobbyists have volunteered their time and talents to give the students some experiences they will not long forget. The children in turn are keeping a journal of all their experiences and some of them will be placed in a book that the children will be publishing at the termination of the program on July 28.

Gary Eldridge, Cathie Bailey and staff members at The Family Life Center are using the Fourth grade approach to learning experiences this summer in which they are not only improving their math, science, writing and English skills but they are also learning about the bygone culture of their Appalachian ancestors. Much of the experiences that the students are involved in are "hands on" ones in which they actually learn to make such things as sauerkraut, a hold over from the Northern European ancestors they make candles, ash baskets, clay pots and bird houses. Learning for them is an experience that is filled with the excitement of learning something new and being able to perform things by themselves.

3 attending teaching institute

Three teachers from Rockcastle County have been selected for participation in the sixth annual Commonwealth Institute for Teachers, scheduled this week at Western Kentucky University in Bowling Green.

Gary G. Eldridge, Catherine J. Bailey and Charlotte K. Pingleton are among 120 classroom teachers who are attending the summer session at WKU July 9-14 and mandatory follow-up weekends in October of 1989 and April of 1990.

The Commonwealth Institute for Teachers was initiated in 1984 and more than 500 teachers, representing more than 120 districts, have participated during the past five years. The objectives of CIT are to: improve instruction in the Commonwealth and to motivate personal and professional growth among participants.

A major outcome of participation in CIT is the establishment of school/community partnerships implemented during the school year following the summer session. More than 400 partnerships have been initiated by CIT alumni.

Teachers could apply as individuals or as members of a two- or three-person team. Teams of teachers must represent the same school district, but not necessarily the same school building.

Teachers chosen to participate in the institute, co-sponsored by the Kentucky Department of Education and the Kentucky Education Foundation, Inc., will receive a $400 stipend, including $250 for completion of attendance for the summer session and $150 for completion of attendance for each of the two follow-up sessions. Meals and lodging are provided.

Cathie Bailey, Gary Eldridge and Kaye Cameron are attending a Commonwealth Institute training session at Western Kentucky University in Bowling Green this week.

The summer session includes lectures, small group discussions, library reading, panel discussions and assistance by faculty and Kentucky Department of Education staff for the design and implementation of school/community partnerships. The Institute features national and statewide consultants given topics on various issues of concern to teachers. The 1989-90 Institute is built around the theme, "Setting the Pace for the 90's."

hiscute. My grandmother insisted that we bottle up about 700 jars of blackberries or raspberries before we could go out and sell any. Then we'd only get 5 or 10 cents a bucket," she said. Mrs. Swinford doesn't recall meeting any black bears but she does remember meeting a snake or two. "If you don't bother them, they won't bother you," was her philosophy and Rogers agreed.

The lye soap making solution began to thicken, and the conversation shifted as Rogers ladled the thick lye off the soap solution and then poured it into pans.

For both the children and Swinford and Rogers it was a memorable day being at The Family Life Center and sharing something of the rich cultural traditions of Appalachia.

4-H'ers attend camp

By: John McQueary
County Extension Agent
for Rockcastle County

Fifty-two Rockcastle County 4-H'ers attended a 4-H Camp the week of July 3-7th. All 4-H'ers had a great time in spite of the rain. Eight leaders from Rockcastle County attended camp to help chaperone and teach classes. Barbara Parsons, Sherry Mink, Lois Cramer, Anita Sowder. The male chaperones were Chris Larkey, Chad Williams, Michel Durham and Kevin Burdine. Campers enjoyed themselves from boating to archery to cheerleading etc. Each 4-H'er had four different classes to participate in. Our theme for the week was Space Ship Earth. We learned about water, soil, space and all the elements it takes to make up our world. We look forward to seeing each camper back next year.

City seeks funds for hospital

By: Ray McClure

Rockcastle Hospital officials asked the Mt. Vernon City Council Monday night to join with Brodhead and Livingston in seeking a $700,000 Urban Development Action Grant to help the hospital finance a new construction project.

Since the grant would not in any way obligate the cities, the council agreed in a 4-0 vote. Councilman Wayne Adams and Councilwoman Clarice Kirby did not attend the meeting.

The three cities would be awarded the grant and in turn loan the money to the hospital. The hospital would pay back the loan plus interest equally divided among the cities over a 10 year period.

Livingston would be the lead applicant and Cumberland Valley Area Development District (CVADD) officials would do the administration.

The hospital has a $3.5 million expansion program in the works and the $700,000 would help finance a 28-bed respiratory unit.

Jim Cass, CVADD representative, advised the council the project would add 84 permanent employees to the hospital staff.

Cass reported he plans to meet with Livingston and Brodhead councils soon to get their approval. All three cities must approve the grant agreement before it is finally considered.

Incidentally, this grant would be similar to one awarded the county, Mt. Vernon and Brodhead to loan to Mt. Vernon Plastics. That loan was repaid in full when the company became part of Reynolds Metals.

Cass reported the pre-city application for the grant is being reviewed. He said he could not guarantee the grant would be awarded, but he was hopeful. He added that this type of grant is being phased out by the federal government.

In other action, Elmwood Cemetery Board members asked the council to backstop roads in the cemetery.

Mayor Gary Cromer told Ed Hunt and Lewis D. Nicely, who represented the cemetery, that cemetery roads are private roads and not city owned and eligible for upkeep. He agreed many city residents have relatives buried in the cemetery and probably would want the road repaired.

The council agreed to furnish labor and equipment if the cemetery board would furnish the backstop and perhaps one or two more trucks that might be needed.

Mayor Cromer said he would talk with Allen Company officials to perhaps get additional help when the company comes to Mt. Vernon to do annual street work for the city.

In another action, the council reduced some privilege license fees on the recommendation of a council committee. They are:

- Lawn mowing, 14 or less yards, $37.50; auto garage repair, $50; barbershop, one charge of $37.50; carpenters, $37.50; bricklayers, stone masons, $37.50; electricians, $50; plumbers, $50; shoe repair, $37.50; sanitation, $75; termite service, $50; trailer parks, $8.50 per occupied space. Only banks were raised from $100 to $150.

Jimmy Hale, operator of Lake Linville boat dock, told the council the new building at the dock may be ready for opening by the coming weekend. The original building burned several months ago.

To date, $4,900 has been spent on construction of the building. The city agreed to pay up to $7,500 for the new structure and Hale to pay all over that amount.

Steve Middiff, environmentalist for the Rockcastle Health Department, told the council the toilet and shower building at the city campground at Lake Linville is in poor repair and that the council must do something about it to meet state requirements.

The councilmen will all visit the area for a personal inspection and arrive at a solution, Mayor Cromer said.

The council agreed to pursue annexation of areas adjacent to thereby but will discuss it more in detail at another meeting.

The council rehired Garstka, Lawton and Clontz, accounting firm of Mt. Vernon, to do the annual city audit at a cost of $5,200.

Vet Rep Here July 18

Curt Johnson, a representative of the Kentucky Center for Veterans Affairs, will be in Mt. Vernon on July 18. The representative will be here to assist with any claims or other matters which veterans, their families, their dependents or beneficiaries might have. The office will be located in the courthouse from 1 p.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Taxes

Revenue Secretary C. Emmett Calvert today announced that the 1989 state real property tax rate is 20.3 cents per one hundred dollars of assessed valuation.

The state rate is revised each year to limit the increase in revenue over the previous year to 4 percent in compliance with the law commonly known as House Bill 44.

As property values increase and new property is created, the previous year's rate produces real property tax revenue exceeding the statutory limit. Accordingly, the tax rate usually declines each year.

The 1988 real property tax rate was 20.7 cents per one hundred dollars of assessed valuation.

Felon arrested

State police today took into custody a man wanted in Kentucky and Tennessee on several felony charges after he was arrested on a charge of loitering for the purpose of soliciting prostitution.

Earl R. Lee, 31, was also charged with driving under the influence of alcohol and driving on a suspended license. The woman with him, 31-year-old Brenda Ambrose of Mt. Vernon, was charged with loitering for prostitution purposes.

Boone County has its own set of problems with DUI trials

By: Jim Griesch

Rockcastle County is not the only one in Kentucky that has a problem prosecuting driving while under the influence of alcoholic beverages cases.

Boone, a wet county in the tier of Kentucky communities below Cincinnati, has a lackadaisical record, also.

The Fraternal Order of Police in Boone studied 870 DUI arrests recently and found that only 53 percent ended in a conviction.

The state average is supposed to be 70 percent.

Of that percentage, about 10 percent were dismissed, and the rest reduced to lesser charges.

That seems to differ significantly from the situation in Rockcastle, where many cases have simply never come to trial for a variety of reasons.

A reporter for the Kentucky Post, Paul Long, said that no one in particular is being blamed for the prosecution rate in Boone. "There is no intent to have it happen," he said. "It just happens. The general attitude seems to be 'dismiss this and be nice and easy for us.'"

There also seems to be no specific connection between those dismissed and friends in high places. Long said there are people who have had eight to ten dismissals, who seemingly have no political connection.

He also said there is one case that had 12 continuances before the county attorney therefore dismissed the case. Long simply agreed there seems to be no high priority to put people in jail. "That seems to be the case," he said.

Unlike Rockcastle, the Northern Kentucky Chapter of Mothers Against Drunk Drivers has not been able to mount much activity in Boone.

The chapter president, Debbie Kentrup, said that she has had trouble finding volunteers to sit through the court process and monitor cases. She also said last week that the group has not been especially welcome in Boone. She cited an incident about a year ago where she and her husband were sitting in on a trial, taking notes, only to be pointed out by a defense attorney, who claimed they were there to intimidate and harrass (by their mere presence). After that remark, said Kentrup, the judge dismissed the case.

That MADD chapter, which takes in Boone, Campbell and Kenon counties, has also run into political interference, Kentrup said.

"We have had tremendous difficulty getting records," she explained. "They are not there, not filed where they are supposed to be, or not filed correctly. Even the clerks there have problems finding records. We are unable to be successful."

"The system is very tightly knit," she said. "MADD has been trying to penetrate it for seven years, and we've lost the battle completely in Boone County."

-Jean de la Fontaine

'Trust in the Lord with all thine heart, and lean not unto thine own understanding.'
-Proverbs 3:5

OUR FAITH ADVISES US TO AVOID UNWARRANTED CONCLUSIONS

Some misconceptions will arise
From trusting in illusions,
So people get their exercise
By jumping to conclusions;
And from the way these things appear,
This saying came to be:
Don't count on anything you hear,
Nor half of what you see.
Now, though someone has been inclined
Toward detrimental acts,
Just try to keep an open mind
Until you know the facts;
But though appearances deceive,
Your faith can be restored;
Through all the things you CAN believe,
By trusting in the Lord.

-Gloria Nowak

CONCURRENT NOTICE

NOTICE TO PUBLIC OF NO SIGNIFICANT EFFECT ON THE ENVIRONMENT AND NOTICE TO PUBLIC OF REQUEST FOR RELEASE OF FUNDS

July 13, 1989

CITY OF LIVINGSTON
CITY HALL BUILDING
LIVINGSTON, KENTUCKY 40445
606/453-9111

TO ALL INTERESTED AGENCIES, GROUPS AND PERSONS:

On or about July 31, 1989, the above named City of Livingston will request the Kentucky Department of Local Government to release Federal funds under Title 1 of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974 (PL 93-383) for the following project:

LIVINGSTON WATER IMPROVEMENTS AND EXTENSIONS
The Replacement and Extension of Water Lines to Serve The City of Livingston, Gauley Branch, Ford Hollow Road, Piney Branch Road and U.S. Highway 25 Livingston, Rockcastle County, Kentucky.

It has been determined that such request for release of funds will not constitute an action significantly affecting the quality of the human environment and, accordingly, the above named City has decided not to prepare an Environmental Impact Statement under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (PL 91-190).

The reasons for such decision not to prepare such Statement are as follows:

- (a) Only temporary and minimal adverse effects will occur as a result of the project activities, such as noise and dust during construction.
- (b) The long-term environmental effects outweigh the short-term effects above. Positive effects include a safe, reliable water supply and greater fire protection for Livingston residents, businesses and public buildings.

An Environmental Review Record describing the within project has been made by the City of Livingston which documents the environmental review of the project and more fully sets forth the reasons why such Statement is not required. This Environmental Review Record is on file at the above address and is available for public examination and copying, upon request, at City Hall between the hours of 9:00 a.m. and 4:00 p.m.

No further environmental review of such project is proposed to be conducted prior to the request for release of Federal funds.

All interested agencies, groups and persons disagreeing with this decision are invited to submit written comments for consideration by the City of Livingston to the office of the undersigned. Such written comments should be received at the address specified on or before July 31, 1989. All such comments so received will be considered and the City of Livingston will not request the release of Federal funds or take any administrative action on the within project prior to the date specified on the preceding sentence.

The City of Livingston will undertake the project described above with Block Grant funds from the Kentucky Department of Local Government under Title 1 of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974. The City of Livingston is certifying to the State that the City of Livingston and Billy Medley, in his official capacity as Mayor, consent to accept the jurisdiction of the Federal courts if an action is brought to enforce responsibilities in relation to environmental reviews, decision-making, and actions; and that these responsibilities have been satisfied. The legal effect of the certification is that upon its approval, the City of Livingston may use the Block Grant funds and the State and HUD will have satisfied their responsibilities under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969. The State will accept an obligation to its approval only if it is on one of the following basis:

- (a) the certification was not in fact executed by the City's Certifying Officer.
- (b) The City has failed to make one of the two findings pursuant to 58-41 or to make the written determination decision required by 58-47, 58-53 or 58-64 for the project, as applicable.
- (c) The City has omitted one or more of the steps set forth as Subparts F and G for the preparation and completion of an Environmental Assessment.
- (d) No opportunity was given to the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation or its Executive Director to review the effect of the project on a property listed on the National Register of Historic Places, or found to be eligible for such listing by the Secretary of the Interior, in accordance with 36 CFR Part 800.
- (e) Objections have been made by a Federal Agency.

Objections must be prepared and submitted in accordance with the required procedure (24CFR Part 58) and may be addressed to the Kentucky Department of Local Government, Division of Community Programs, Capital Plaza Tower, 2nd Floor, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601.

Objections to the release of funds on basis other than those stated above will not be considered by the State. No objections received after August 16, 1989, will be considered by the State.

Hundreds turn out for annual Ole Joe Clark Bluegrass Festival at Renfro Valley

By: Ray McClure

Even with temperatures hovering near the hundred mark, hundreds of visitors braved the heat to whistle and applaud some of the best in blue grass music at Old Joe Clark's Bluegrass Festival last week.

It was the largest crowd to date for the festival that annually draws the biggest crowd to the Valley, only challenged by October's Molasses Festival.

Visitors from at least 15 states attended the three-day event with such notables as the Lewis Family, Outdoors Publishing Co., Roan Mountain Hillpipers, Roytmond Fairchild and the Crowe Brothers, Bluegrass Drifters and Old Joe Clark and Terry.

"Look's like they're all here," Old Joe said smiling as he looked over the hundreds of trailers, campers, motor homes and cars parked up and down the valley. Some even parked in the Renfro pond area next door.

"I believe it's the biggest crowd we've had," Joe speculated. "Seems like they're parked farther down the valley this year."

Clark, who along with son, Terry, are regulars on the Renfro Valley Bandstand, performed on all three days of the festival despite Clark's recent surgery.

"I'm doing fairly well," he reported. "I've got this cane to catch me once in awhile."

Although rain has been a daily occurrence in Rockcastle, there were only a few sprinkles during the event.

"It just helped to cool folks off," Joe stated. "It sure is hot."

For lovers of bluegrass music, it seems heat and rain seldom presents a problem.

"We always expect a little rain and a big lot of heat during these summer festivals," a North Carolina visitor said. "We go to two or three festivals every year and we are prepared for weather of about any kind. We don't care if we get a little hot or a little wet. It's July."

It was also a great weekend for restaurants and motels in the area. By own district unless designated by the Chief Justice or by the Chief Judge of an administrative region.

Cox points out that the "power of the Chief Justice presupposes that the duly elected, qualified and acting Judge has voluntarily disqualified or has been disqualified from sitting in a particular case or cannot attend for some special reason, i.e., vacation or illness."

He cites KRS 24.010 to 10 for the criminal jurisdiction of district judges. And, he says there is nothing in the record of any of these cases which "even justifies a special judge."

Saturday morning, most local motels were filled and restaurants were frying country ham.

"We have a trailer but we decided to get a motel for the three days," a Tennessee couple reported. "That way, I don't have to do any cooking," she added. "But down there on the field right now those folks have to be cooking."

Next event at Renfro will be the All Night Gospel Sing on Aug. 5. As mentioned, the Molasses Festival is scheduled this fall for Oct. 6, 7, and 8.

Rockcastle Grand Jury indicts eight

Six persons have been indicted by a Rockcastle grand jury and are scheduled to appear at Rockcastle Circuit Court on July 28.

Irvin Graves and Bobby Graves, both of Mt. Vernon, were indicted for second degree arson that occurred June 16.

According to court records, both men are accused of starting a fire with intent to destroy a barn and farm machinery owned by Attorney William D. Gregory. Both are out on bond.

Ricky Hasty, 32, of Mt. Vernon is charged with criminal attempt to commit murder.

He is charged with shooting an arrow at Marc Hopkins with intent to kill him. The incident occurred June 20 following a dispute over blocking a road into Hopkins' property. Hasty posted bond in district court.

Donald Jones, 24, of Rt. 1, Brodhead, remains in jail under $10,000 cash or property bond charged with second degree burglary and criminal attempt to commit rape in the first degree.

Jones is accused of unlawfully entering the home of a Mt. Vernon woman and attempting to rape her.

Randall D. Kirby, 27, of Rt. 5, Mt. Vernon, and Matthew J. Sheppard, 18, of Rt. 5, Mt. Vernon, are accused of burglary at B & B Grocery on Hwy. 70, owned by Bobby Barron on June 6. Barron told police that he caught the two men in the store.

Both are accused of theft by unlawfully taking over $100, which included 500 cigarettes, four bags of potato chips and a can of Chip & Dip for a total value of $517.75.

Kirby is also accused of two counts of being a persistent felon, second degree, the result of the burglary and theft charges.

The child who grows up knowing he can "walk all over" his parents will have less respect for them. Don't change your behavior to suit the whims of the child and don't be his servant. If he demands something "right now" let him cool his heels for a few minutes to avoid giving in.

Try to help your child develop a good self image but don't overdo it. Don't continually tell him or her they are the smartest, prettiest child in the world. Compliment them on real achievements or on trying hard, but don't sing their praises for every time they breathe deeply. Talk about their good and bad traits when they are not around. Doug Brock will celebrate 150 years of photography by taking photos for 24 hours

By: Jim Griesch

Brookdale photographer Doug Brock will celebrate the 150th anniversary of photography by working a 24-hour day Sunday, July 16.

His effort will be part of an effort to photograph "A Day in the Life of Kentucky," by the state's Association of Professional Photographers.

"We want to document everything we can," said Brock. "We won't be able to talk to people very long, but we want to do as much as we can."

Brock will begin at 12:01 a.m., Sunday, and work through until midnight, taking pictures and doing short interviews. Then, Monday, he'll work in the dark room, developing as much as he can from an expected 500 shots or better. He'll shoot both black-and-white and color film.

Among the topics Brock will concentrate on will be police action, sports, farming, the Renfro Valley Gathering in the morning, anything at all that would stamp the activity as definitely Rockcastle.

He said he will be shooting "anything I think is worthy. If something is old or rustic looking, I'll shoot it in black and white, to give it more emphasis."

Photographers will cover the day's activities in each of Kentucky's 120 counties. This fall, the best of the photos will be picked and put into the Kentucky Long Collection. The collection will be a first and is modeled after the National Long Collection.

Brock said he has had his works shown at the National Long Collection the last four or five years, as have about four or five other Kentucky photographers.

Brock said it is possible that the pictures from Kentucky could be made into a book. That is still up in the air, but if a book is made, it could be available as soon as 1990 or early 1991.

The "Day in the Life of..." idea originated in Hawaii in 1985, said Brock. Kodak, the camera and photo supplies company, sponsored that effort. A book was made, and hundreds of photos exploring all aspects of the 50th state were made into a book.

Brock said that, since then, similar books on Russia and the United States have been done.

No company has come forth to sponsor the Kentucky effort as yet, Brock said, but he said Kentucky photographers are hoping to find corporate sponsors after the photos are done.

Brock will have his work displayed by the Bank of Mount Vernon later this year.

He is also lining up sponsors locally. He already has some, but says he could use as many as 24 at $24 each.

He said he will also make some slides from his work, and those will be available for showing to civic groups when done. Others will be presented to the library for use and display. If a book is produced, Brock also said he would present a copy to the library.

13-year-old all stars murder Manchester

By: Jim Griesch

The Rockcastle 13-year-old All Stars became the "Kids Who Mashed Manchester" Monday night.

They trounced the Clay County crew 26-3 to advance to the District Tournament in London on Monday, July 17. The Rockcastle stars will play the winner of the Harlan area in a 7 p.m. game that night.

Rockcastle scored nine times in the top of the first inning to take complete command of the game in Broadhead from the outset.

Thirteen batters went to the plate that inning. Mikhael Shafer had two runs batted in with a single to center, plus a walk and two runs scored in the inning. Greg Bowman had an RBI single and a walk, and also scored twice, while J.D. Bussell had one single and a walk and the game's first RBI.

Freddie Pruitt had a two-out double to lead off the final six runs of the inning, while Greg Goff and Jeremy Simpson followed with a pair of walks to continue the rally.

Freddie Pruitt followed without a hit for five and a third inning before Scott Sams drilled a one-out single to center for Manchester's first run of the game. On the play, John Kennedy scored, but Jon Moore was cut down at the plate on a relay-from center to second to home. However, another single got a second run over to cut the margin to 16-2 after six innings.

Rockcastle scored in every inning but the third. Shafer was the big hitting star of the game, going four-for-five, with six runs batted in and four scored. He also had two stolen bases.

Local-of-hitter Bowman also had a big night, going three-for-four with a triple and two singles plus two walks and being hit to lead off the game. He had four RBI, five runs scored and three stolen bases. Simpson and Jason Fletcher and Freddie Pruitt added doubles.

Rockcastle closed out the game with a 10-run rally in the top of the seventh to ice Manchester. Bowman's triple and Shafer's double were the big hits in the inning, along with the double by Fletcher.

Goff had things completely under control from the mound. He didn't allow a walk until the fourth inning, but surrendered five for the game.

Goff allowed three hits in all. James Messer led off with a triple to center in the bottom of the seventh, and scored when a pick-off throw at third went into left field.

Goff fanned six.

He also led a charmed life early. Manchester's Scott Sams led off the second inning getting on via a two-base throwing error by Fletcher at third. When Jason Smith followed with a pop fly to right which Pruitt dropped, Sams was gunned down at third by Pruitt's pop to the base. Smith later was tagged out when he tried to score from third on a passed ball. Shafer's toss to the plate from the backstop was in time for Goff to tag Smith out hard on the chest.

Although two consecutive batters had reached safely via errors, neither scored, and only three batters faced Goff in the inning.

Manchester used three pitchers. Sams started, but was pulled after three batters. Messer came on to strike out both Fletcher and Jason Scoggins to temporarily cool Rockcastle's big first inning.

But, he gave up the double to Pruitt, walked Goff and Simpson after an infield single by Brian Carter, then gave up run-scoring singles to Bowman and Shafer.

Messer lagged until two were out in the second, when Mark Stevens replaced him, and gave up two walks and a single for three more runs.

Since Jackson County didn't field a 13-year-old team, Rockcastle advances directly into next week's district tourney.

14-15 stars lose lead twice in 14-10 loss to Jackson

After Monday's round of area tournament play, it was one in, one out, and one to go for Rockcastle County teams.

The 14-15-year-old all stars went down to a 14-10 defeat to host Jackson County in McKee.

Rockcastle led twice, but couldn't sustain the leads. The county kids led 1-0 after a half-inning of play, and again at 8-7 after four and a half.

Jeff Houk walked to lead off the game, stole second and scored on a single by Jason Kirby to account for the 1-0 lead.

But, in the bottom of the first, starter Kelley Gentry couldn't get anyone out, and three runs were in. Stacy Smith came on, gave up two more runs, and carried the 8-7 lead into the bottom of the fifth.

Houk scored three off Smith, before Houk came on to give up a two-run homer before getting out of the inning. Smith took the loss.

By then, Jackson led 12-8, and added two more in the bottom of the sixth on a misplayed ball into right-center.

Chris Newland and Mike Jones sparked a six-run rally in that big Rockcastle fifth. Newland slapped a three-run homer an estimated 340 feet to left center, scoring Toby Moberly and Houk. Kirby followed with a walk, then scored on a double to right by John Saylor. Mike Jones slammed a two-run homer to left for the lead.

Sloppy play and pitching did in the Rockcastle team. Three pitchers gave up nine walks, hit three, and allowed eight hits (three for extra bases). Rockcastle fielders also committed five errors. The three pitchers did manage to strike out seven.

The season is over for the 14-15 year olds. Manchester will now play Jackson County this Thursday for the right to advance to the district tournament next week in Monticello. The winner plays the Harlan area winner there.

Larkey undergoes second surgery, but will coach this football season

By: Jim Griesch

Rockcastle County High football coach Tom Larkey said Monday, "I feel a whole lot better," after undergoing an angioplast operation for the second time in eight months.

The surgery was performed last Thursday by doctors at Humana-Audubon in Louisville.

Larkey said that although two arteries were opened during this latest surgery, the overall health situation wasn't as serious as when the same surgery was done on one artery in December. At that time, he said, he'd had a heart attack.

This summer, he had a check-up in late June in Somerset. He was advised to have a heart catheterization done to check for blockage of his circulation system.

He checked into Humana-Audubon last Wednesday, had a heart catheterization last Thursday morning, the surgery Thursday afternoon, and was released Saturday morning.

Larkey said he fully expects, and intends, to be able to coach the whole season in 1989.

But, he said he will ease into the official practice period (July 17) is the first day of organized football practice, but without pads, and build slowly to a higher effort level by the first game with Lynn Camp on August 18.

He also said that he plans to go to summer camp the first week of August, but that assistant coaches will have more on-field responsibilities than in the recent past.

However, Larkey also said he plans to work as he always has with the quarterbacks and running backs, in group drills.

The angioplast surgery uses a balloon to expand closed arteries.

The coach said that doctors told him two arteries on the right side were 90 percent closed this time. The surgery was performed on the right coronary artery and another that ran into a major artery in the same area of the heart cavity.

He stressed that he had no heart attack this time, because the blockage was found and treated before an attack could happen.

Larkey also said he was on the same floor in Louisville with former Governor John Y. Brown, who underwent extensive bypass surgery over the weekend, and drew the attention of media all over Kentucky.

Physicians on Saturday

Rockcastle County High football players will take physical examinations Saturday.

Prospective team members will leave the school parking lot at 8 a.m. for a bus trip to the University of Kentucky Sports Medicine Clinic in Chandler Medical center, site of the exams.

The exams are free.

Stephanie Northern leading Lady Rockets in summer play

Stephanie Northern has become the Rockcastle County Lady Rockets' most consistent scorer in summer league play.

She's scored 44 points in four games, leading the way to a 2-2 mark against the likes of Jessamine County, Henry Clay, Bryan Station and Nicholas County.

Northern has scored between 10 and 12 points in each of the games, getting 12 in a 40-38 win over Bryan Station, 11 each against Henry Clay (a 40-31 loss) and Nicholas County (a 43-29 win), and 10 against Jessamine (a 53-35 loss).

Angie McClure scored 15 against Nicholas, the best individual effort of the early play by any of the Lady Rockets.

Jennifer Thacker scored 11 against Jessamine, nine against Henry Clay.

12-13 all stars ousted 7-3 by Jackson Co.

By: Jim Griesch

The Rockcastle County 11-12-year old all-stars dropped their first game in the Little League Area Tournament to Jackson County 7-3 Tuesday night in Manchester.

A key play was a lost appeal of a swinging third strike in the middle of a three-run Jackson County fourth inning.

The call came with the score tied at 3-3, one out and two on.

The ninth batter in the Jackson order, Starlin Hacker, swung weakly at a pitch at the belt, and missed.

When Rockcastle catcher Aaron Cox appealed to the first base ump, he signaled safe. Hacker walked to lead the bases.

The next batter popped out in foul territory to first baseman Stacey Kirby. That was out No. 2.

But, the next two batters -- Adam Sowder and Jeff Baldwin -- both walked to drive in runs. Those two walks put Jackson ahead to stay, 5-3.

Jackson added two more runs in the bottom of the fifth to push out to the final score.

Rockcastle had never trailed until the two key walks, both of which would have happened in the next inning with an alert call on the strike-appeal.

Rockcastle opened quickly. Jason Baldwin tripled to right on the second pitch of the game. A two-out single to center from Kirby boosted the Rocks to a 1-0 lead.

Rockcastle added another run in the second on Randy Ledford's hit that was speckled by Jackson's pitcher, Baldwin, as he fell to the ground. He was unable to rise and throw Ledford out, despite making a good play.

Baldwin then hit Dennis Eversole with a pitch, and both moved up to base on a passed ball. Brett Smith plated Ledford with a ground out to second.

Jackson tied the game with runs in its second and third innings.

Timothy Truett led off with a walk, took second on a wild pitch, then third on a passed ball, and scored on the tail end of a double steal attempt. Rockcastle got an out at second, and just missed Truett on a tag at the plate.

In the third, two out walks to Sowder and Baldwin set the stage for Jackson's first hit of the game off Kirby, a single on the ground to center.

Sowder scored, but Baldwin was out at the plate.

The Rocks took their last lead of the game in the top of the fourth, and squandered a chance at a big inning.

Aaron Cox pounded Baldwin's first pitch high and far over the center field fence for a 3-2 lead.

Ledford followed with a double to the fence in left-center, but was thrown out at third trying for three bases.

Instead of having a runner threaten to push the Rocks up to two, Baldwin recovered with two strikeouts to end the threat.

Truett began the decisive inning with a single to third and another base on a throwing error. He went to third on a wild pitch and tied the game on a fielder's choice.

The next four batters decided the contest.

The key to the game was the difference in walks.

Baldwin, a sharp lefty, walked no one but hit Eversole in the second inning. He gave up a homer, triple and double, but just three runs.

Jackson won, despite getting just four hits (one an infielder). But Kirby, Jason Payne and Brett Asher issued nine walks and one hit batter.

Of Jackson's seven runs, the first five scored after bases on balls.

The loss ended official Little League action for Rockcastle County in 1989.

Kristy Sargent makes deposit for cheerleader trip to London

Rockcastle County cheerleader Kristy Sargent is another step closer to making a trip to London, England, over the Christmas holiday break.

Her family has made a $200 deposit with Universal Cheerleaders in Memphis, to reserve a spot on the company's second annual trip.

Kristy won the right to go by being chosen one of the five best cheerleaders at an UCA camp at Eastern Kentucky University last month.

The trip, which costs the cheerleader $1,600, includes participation in a New Year's Day parade through portions of London, several trips and sightseeing opportunities, and some free time for shopping and fun.

Rockcastle cheerleading co-sponsor Tracy Gabbard said Monday the cheerleaders will begin planning some fund-raising activities to help the family raise money for the trip.

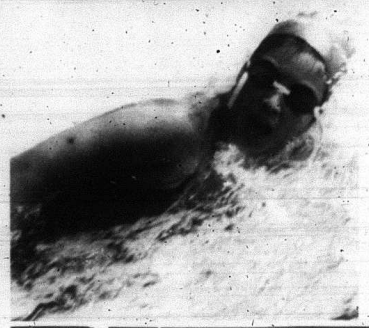

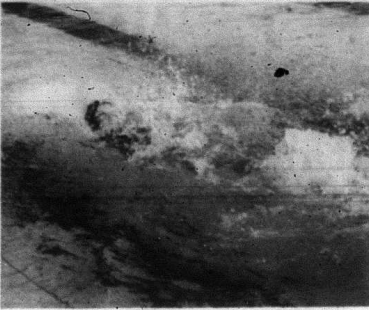

In order to have the opportunity to go, cheerleaders who were chosen were required to make the deposit by the middle of this month so that UCA could begin planning for the trip.

Dolphins win 309-159

The Dolphins' schedule has been drastically changed over the last half of the season. They will swim at Somerset Country Club on Saturday; July 15, not host the Showcase Trophies Stingers, who have dropped out of the conference. The Somerset meet was originally set for June 29, then moved to July 22, and now to the 15th. Another meet with London County Club is set for 5 p.m., Monday, July 17, in London. And, the conference meet will be held at London at 9 a.m., Saturday, July 22, not August 5, as originally planned. Another meet, the Knox County Invitational in Barbourville, is a possibility on Tuesday, July 25.

Swimmers for Cedar Rapids Saturday included Dana Reynolds (top right, in the back stroke); Carrie Mullins (bottom right) in the butterfly; and Teresa Burdette in the freestyle. The Dolphins rolled to a 150-point win over visiting Eagles Nest. The conference meet is July 22, at London Country Club.

Reams wins 20-lap race

Anthony Reams of Mt. Vernon won the 20-lap Bomber feature at Richmond Raceway Saturday night. He took a narrow win over 19 other drivers, including Norman Kiewell of Mt. Vernon. Sherman Denny of Mt. Vernon was second in the feature race in the Road Hog Division, for new drivers only. Paul Feitzeir won the Late Model Feature, winning $1,500. Brian Asbury of Mitchell, Ind., won the Late Model Division race. Rain interrupted several races in the hot, muggy night. Rains postponed the Lake Cumberland Classic last Friday night in Burnside. The race has been rescheduled for Friday, July 14.

8-year-old stars to play in Irvine tournament

Two more youth all-star teams will step into tournament play soon. Rockcastle's 9-10 year-old all-stars are supposed to play at a Paluski County Tournament this weekend.

A team of eight-year-old all-stars will play in a tournament in Irvine July 22-24.

It is a double elimination, and called the Might Might Invitational. Doug Proctor will manage the team, and he will be assisted by Buddy Burdette and Jim Shelton.

Making up the team are Josh Hendrickson from the Rangers; Scott Lamb, Mark Proctor, Jacob Burdette, and Lane Nicely from the Pirates; Josh Chaliff, Tommy Bullen and Donald Bradley from the Glens; Josh Maxon and Blake Calhoun from the Tigers; Cody Cox, Kristy Lovell and Donald Monk from the Angels.

Players from every age in the old-stroke leagues (8-15) will compete in a tournament somewhere this summer.

Dear Concerned Citizens

In the 1986-87 school year, I, Margie Wilcox, Rockcastle County High School Choral Director, had approximately 197 students who chose to participate in the non-required choral classes. Upon enrollment, the grading policy, which is approved by the principal, is explained to the students and a letter is sent home to the parents. This action is taken so they may fully understand the requirements of the class and the subjective grading policy. This document is to be signed by the parent and returned to the school.

Subjective grading is based on the degree of the child's effort to develop their musical ability in the classroom and in performances. Many A's have been given to students with little ability, but who made an effort to apply the correct technique and do their best in completing the required performance policy.

Many years ago, as a teacher in Rockcastle County, I had an enrollment of approximately 35 students. At the performance, only 11 students arrived to meet the performance required. It was at this time that I said to the principal, "If we are going to perform, it must be a requirement to pass the class, just as a notebook is required to pass Biology, or a term paper is required to pass English." The total action of the child at an event is also part of their performance grade. For years, we have had this policy and have watched the choral program grow from 35 to 197 in enrollment. The majority of these students desired to learn and achieve excellence. Years ago, there were students taking the class who planned to do as little as possible. They had no desire to improve or to perform. These people were satisfied with a D, only wanting a credit. Enforcing this policy enabled the choral department to accomplish greater educational excellence when students had to perform to get a credit.

My first grading problem occurred when several students asked permission to leave a graduation performance early. I explained in detail that they could leave, but must not return to the event. They failed to do this. The students returned and moved about the gymnasium during the address of the speaker while the other choral students sat quietly in an area designated by the principal.

These students who returned violated the criteria for their performance grade. A mother of two sisters approached the Board of Education when her daughters did not receive an "A." They had not completed the criteria of performance to an "A" level. The choral grading policy up to this time had only been approved by the principal. Therefore, the Board of Education voted into their minutes, the choral department's grading policy for the future. At this time, I, for the sake of all involved, gave the undeserved "A" to the girls. This was done to implement the new policy immediately so that an injustice such as this could not happen again.

The second semester performance work required Spring Concert, Baccalaureate and Graduation. I have always excused students from a performance because of religion, sickness or needs in the family. I just require that the parents or student inform me and have their absence approved.

Approximately three weeks prior to the commencement performances, I had to discipline Terina Bond Wallin. After this incident that she and some friends decided they would not perform in Baccalaureate and Graduation. One of the girls later wrote me a letter stating that she didn't want to, and she didn't do the @#!* care what I thought about it. These students were absent from the required practice and performances of Baccalaureate and Graduation. No excuse was ever offered. No exchange of words ever took place except those in front of the class. These words were professional on my part and the students were certainly never suspended from class. The grade of an incomplete was given and turned in to the office. The events that you have read about in the paper follows: 1. Board of Education appearance, (2) The Board supported Mrs. Wilcox, (3) The court action suing for an "A" accompanied with untrue statements about me, (4) Terina has now changed her original excuse of illness (which was offered several weeks after the semester ended) to a violation of constitutional rights by requiring a performance that had a religious theme. If I had not stood firm with the rules of performance, no other choral performances would have been possible in the Rockcastle County's Choral Department's future.

In response to these charges because so many untrue statements have been made against me during the past three years of litigation, I believe education can only be possible when the fair criteria for the class is followed for the betterment of all students and the teacher/student relationship is based on respect for each other and the subject studied.

I believe all students should be responsible to the same rules.

Sincerely,

Margie Wilcox

EXTENSION HOME ECONOMICS

Jars and Lids

By: Cheryl Witt
County Extension Agent,
for Home Economics

Food may be canned in glass jars or metal containers. Metal containers can be used only once. They require special sealing equipment and are much more costly than jars.

It is recommended that Mason-type jars designed for home canning be used for preserving foods by pressure or boiling-water canning. Regular and wide-mouth threaded Mason jars with self-sealing lids are the best choices. They are available in half-pint, pint, 1.5 pint, and quart sizes. The standard jar mouth opening is about 2 3/8 inches. Wide mouth jars have openings of about three inches, making them more easily filled and emptied. Regular-mouth decorator jelly jars are available in eight and 12 ounce sizes.

With careful use and handling, Mason jars may be reused many times, requiring only new lids each time. When lids are used properly, jar seals and vacuum are excellent.

Jar Cleaning
Before reuse, wash empty jars in hot water with detergent and rinse well by hand, or wash in a dishwasher. Unrinsed detergents may cause unnatural flavors and colors. These washing methods do not sterilize jars. Scale or hard-water films on jars are easily removed by soaking jars several hours in a solution containing one cup of vinegar (5 percent) per gallon of water.

Sterilization of Empty Jars
All jars, jellies, and pickled products processed 10 minutes or less should be filled into sterilized empty jars. To sterilize empty jars, put them right side up on the rack in a boiling water canner. Fill the canner and jars with hot (not boiling) water to one inch above the tops of the jars. Boil 10 minutes at altitudes of less than 1000 feet of elevation. Remove and drain hot sterilized jars one at a time. Save the hot water for processing filled jars. Fill jars with food, add lids, and tighten screw bands.

Empty jars used for vegetables, meats, and fruits to be processed in a pressure canner need not be sterilized before-hand. It is also unnecessary to sterilize jars for fruits, tomatoes, and pickled or fermented foods that will be processed 10 minutes or longer in a boiling-water canner.

Lid Selection, Preparation & Use
The common self-sealing lid consists of a flat metal lid held in place by a metal screw band during processing. The flat lid is crimped around its bottom edge to form a trough, which is filled with a colored gasket material. When jars are processed, the lid gasket softens and flows slightly to cover the jar-sealing surface, yet allows air to escape from the jar. The gasket then forms an airtight seal as the jar cools. Gaskets in unused lids work well for at least five years from date of manufacture. The gasket material on older unused lids may fail to seal on jars.

It's best to buy only the quantity of lids you will use in a year. To ensure a good seal, carefully follow the manufacturer's direction in preparing lids for use. Examine all metal lids carefully. Discard use old, dented, or deformed lids, or lids with gaps or other defects in the sealing gasket.

After filling jars with food, release air bubbles by inserting a flat plastic (not metal) spatula between the food and the jar. Slowly lift the jar and move the spatula up and down to allow air bubbles to escape. Adjust the headspace and then clean the jar rim (sealing surface) with a dampened paper towel. Place the lid, gasket down, onto the cleaned jar sealing surface. Use cleaned jar-sealing surfaces may cause seal failure.

Then fit the metal screw band over the flat lid. Follow the manufacturer's guidelines enclosed with or on the box for tightening the jar lids properly.

If screw bands are too tight, air cannot vent during processing, and food will discolor during storage. Overtightening also may cause lids to buckle up and jar-packed, pressure-processed food.

If screw bands are too loose, liquid may escape from jars during processing, seals may fail and the food will need to be reprocessed.

Do not retighten lids after processing jars. As jars cool, the contents in the jar contract, pulling the self-sealing lid firmly against the jar to form a high vacuum.

Screw bands are not needed on stored jars. They can be removed easily after jars are cooled. When removed, washed, dried and stored in a dry area, screw bands may be used many times. Used on stored jars, they may become difficult to remove, often rust and may not work properly again.

Selecting the Correct Processing Time

When canning in boiling water, more processing time is needed for most raw-packed foods and for quart jars than is needed for hot packed foods and pint jars.

To destroy microorganisms in acid foods processed in a boiling-water canner, you must:

- * Process jars for the correct number of minutes in boiling water.
- * Cool the jars at room temperature.

To destroy microorganisms in low-acid foods processed with a pressure canner, you must:

- * Process the jars for the correct number of minutes at 240 degrees F (10PSIG) or 250 degrees F (15PSIG).
- * Allow canner to cool at room temperature until it is completely depressurized.

The food may spoil if you fail to use the proper processing time, fail to vent steam from canners properly, process at lower pressure than specified, process for fewer minutes than specified or cool the canner with water.

Processing times for half-pint and pint jars are the same, as are times for 1.5 pint and quart jars. For some products, you have a choice of processing at 15 or 10 or 5 PSIG. In these cases, choose the canner pressure (PSIG) you wish to use and match it with your pack style (raw or hot) and jar size to find the correct processing time.

PUBLIC REVIEW OF PARENTING AND FAMILY LIFE SKILLS CURRICULUM

In 1988, the Kentucky General Assembly passed an act relating to parenting and family life skills education. This act was signed by the Governor and became KRS 158.797. The law requires age appropriate information relating to parenting education and family life skills for students, grades K-12, in Kentucky public schools. Minimum hours of instruction are as follows:

- K-5 5 hours
- 6-8 12 hours
- 9-12 90 hours

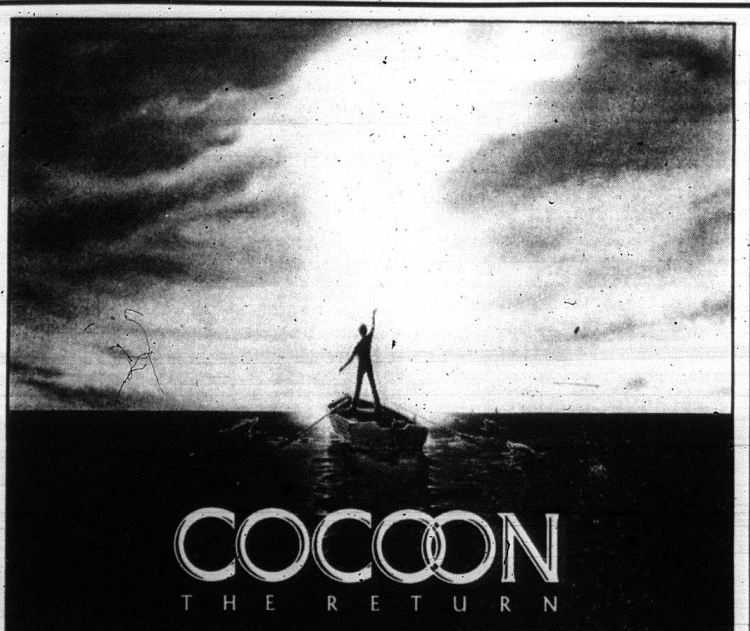

Local district curricula, according to the statute, shall be based on a model developed by the Kentucky Department of Education and approved by the State Board of Education. This model shall be used as a guide by each local district.

Family life and sex education is, first and foremost, a function of the home, but is most effective when approached as a cooperative and complementary effort of the home, the church, and the school.

The Rockcastle County Family Life Education Advisory Committee has prepared a proposed curriculum plan, which shall be presented to the Rockcastle County Board of Education for final approval.

A copy of the Parenting and Family Life Skills Curriculum will be on file for your review in the superintendent's office from July 17 through July 26, 1989.

The Advisory Committee invites the public to review this curriculum and submit comments/suggestions related to the content.

1986 Academy Award Winner* Don Ameche (for Best Supporting Actor) and all the original cast members of the smash hit "Cocoon" are back for more adventure, only this time it's waiting on their own doorstep... in a place called home.

EKU

EKU INFORMATION SESSIONS

Eastern Kentucky University is coming to you during the last two weeks of July when teams of EKU faculty will be in 39 Kentucky communities. They will share information about Eastern's academic programs, answer questions, listen to your suggestions as to future class offerings in your community, and conduct registration for fall classes.

REGISTRATION PROCEDURE

Please use the mail-in registration form on page 15. It is important that students REGISTER EARLY as an indication that there is enough interest for classes to be taught. It is possible that classes with very small numbers of pre-registered students may be cancelled before the first class meeting. The mail-in form must be received at EKU by August 10th. You may include your check at that time or the university will bill you after you are registered. If a deferred payment plan is needed, please call the Billings and Collections Office (606-622-1232).

FULL-TIME UNDERGRADUATE STUDENTS MAY NOT USE THIS MAIL-IN REGISTRATION PROCEDURE but must come on campus to register.

GENERAL INFORMATION

EXTENDED CLASS SCHEDULE. Fall semester extended campus classes will begin Thursday, August 24, 1989.

FINANCIAL AID. Financial aid forms must be submitted well in advance in order to receive assistance in a timely manner. Call the Financial Aid Office to request proper forms and ask specific questions at 606-622-2361.

O'DONNELL SCHOLARSHIP. Kentucky residents 65 years old or older are eligible for this scholarship which will pay the tuition costs for any course they wish to take. Call the Undergraduate Admissions Office for further information.

TEXTBOOK ORDERS. Students will usually be given a textbook order form to order textbooks directly from the ECU Bookstore. This may be done by sending a check, using a charge card, or C.O.D. Telephone orders will also be accepted. Be sure to get the name of the book from the instructor. The Bookstore's phone number is 606-622-2696.

VISA AND MASTERCARD. ECU will accept VISA and MasterCard for payment of both tuition and books. Forms will be sent to you upon request and will be available at the registration meetings.

CORRESPONDENCE COURSES

Eastern Kentucky University, through its Division of Extended Programs, offers a number of regular college and high school correspondence courses for people who desire to continue their education in this manner. The college courses may be applied toward a degree from Eastern Kentucky University or another college or university. ECU students must have approval from their college dean to enroll. The high school courses may be applied toward a high school diploma.

Enrollment in a correspondence course is possible at any time with the student having one full year to complete the work. For more information and a bulletin listing the courses offered along with a description, policies, and procedures, contact the Division of Extended Programs, Eastern Kentucky University, Coates Box 27-A, Richmond, KY 40475-3101.

LIBRARY VIDEO COURSES

Patrons of the LAUREL COUNTY PUBLIC LIBRARY and EEE COUNTY PUBLIC LIBRARY may enroll in two video courses and view them at these libraries or check them out from the libraries for home viewing. The courses are ENG 101 (The Write Course) and POL 341 (Congress: We The People). These courses will be available only for the Fall 1989 semester.

Students should enroll by September 1, 1989 for these library courses and they must complete the work by the end of the semester. Enrollment information will be available at these libraries or call the Extended Programs office.

TELECOURSES

This fall telecourse classes will begin August 28th. Telecourses are aired weekly on KET. ECU will offer the following courses this Fall:

HIS 202	The American Adventure
OAD 101	The Business File
CDF 244	The Growing Years
SOC 131	Focus on Society
GSS 280	War and Peace in the Nuclear Age

A telecourse is a challenging, exciting, entertaining, and convenient way to obtain college credit. The use of several media enhance the interest level of the course. Topics approached from two or three different perspectives can offer insights that are often difficult to achieve through conventional means.

A WORD OF CAUTION. It takes a mature student with well-developed self discipline to successfully complete a telecourse. IT IS NOT MERELY WATCHING TV. However, if this method of learning fits your learning style or your personal situation, then Eastern encourages you to enroll in one of these courses.

Registration is by mail, and your textbooks and study guide will be mailed to you. A faculty member will be assigned to the course and will be available to answer questions by telephone. You do not have to come to campus to complete this process.

Telecourses do count toward your load as a full-time student.

To receive a telecourse brochure and a registration form, call the toll free number (1-800-262-7493), or write ECU Extended Programs, Coates Box 27-A, Richmond, KY 40475-3101.

Phone toll free 1-800-262-7493. Extended Programs or 606-622-2001
