Magistrates vote to keep name of Negro Creek

By: Ray McClure

By a vote of four, with one abstention, the Rockcastle Fiscal Court agreed Tuesday to keep the name of Negro Creek Road intact.

Only Magistrate Ricky Kirby, in whose district the road is located, abstained, County Judge/Executive Hubert Thacker voted with the majority.

The vote came after opponents and proponents had their say. About 25 persons were on hand representing both sides of the question.

In retrospect, at a previous court session, Jenny McPherson, who lives along the road, asked for a change in the name, citing it was a name that was embarrassing and an insult to the Negro race, while admitting there are no blacks in the county.

Phillip Payne, who also lives along the road, asked the court not to change the name, noting it has had that name for over a hundred years and it is part of the history of the county; and, that most residents along the road that he was aware of wanted it to stay the same.

The court then asked both sides to bring petitions at the September meeting and the court would abide by the majority.

Petitions were presented at the Tuesday session with 50 county residents along the road opposed to the change. Another petition bearing 60 names was presented from residents who live in Lincoln County where the road continues as Negro Creek Road past the county line. They opposed the change.

When both sides continued to argue following the voting by the magistrates, Judge Thacker called them to order and advised one speaker to sit down.

Magistrate Kirby told the court Negro Creek Road also has a number, SR 3245 and it could be used as an address for those who opposed using the name Negro Creek.

Kirby said after the meeting he did not want anyone to think he was racial in his discussion of the name.

"I sell to, and deal with, blacks and I am not prejudiced," Kirby said. "But if the name is changed, we change history, and the name is a part of the history of Rockcastle County."

Another controversy erupted in a re-run of an earlier road right-of-way, fence and widening dispute between Keith Sowder and Kenneth Norton. When the discussion grew loud, as it had done at the earlier meeting, Judge Thacker told them to sit down and be quiet. Deputy Sheriff T.J. Parsons stood by to keep order.

The court then voted unanimously to widen Keith Sowder Road the length of Ben Bullock's property along it which consists of about a third of the length of the road.

While names changes were in the forefront of the court meeting, Magistrate Glen Ellison asked the court to erect a new road sign and correct the spelling of Pur Rigby Road. The state lists it as Perry Rigby Road. The court approved.

Only one bid was received for a variety of work at the Rockcastle Library, including a ramp for handicapped at the front and painting and other work. Alonzo McCollum was awarded the bid at $1,597.

The court voted to send juvenile offenders to a Clay County facility. The court must pay $40 a day for the prisoner's board plus mileage. The court had been sending juveniles, as prescribed by law, to a facility in Bowling Green at a cost of $50 a day plus mileage. The court decided to use the less expensive facility.

A calculator for the sheriff's office was purchased by the court for $79.95. The court approved a resolution to cooperate in the state's county bridge replacement program. Several small bridges will be replaced as soon as practical.

Bucal Marler was hired by the court as an equipment operator in the County Road Department at $4.75 an hour.

New annexation plan includes industrial park

By: Ray McClure

In a turnabout, the Mt. Vernon City Council has decided to include the Rockcastle Industrial Park in its annexation plans.

The change was reported by Mayor Gary R. Cromer at a meeting of the council Tuesday night. However, when only three councilmen attended the meeting it was officially adjourned until 7 p.m. Sept. 18, but an informal discussion was held.

Most of the discussion in the past months by the council has not included the industrial park. Under state law, the number of property owners and registered voters in the area to be annexed must number at least half the number of employees in the park. Earlier, the city did not believe it had that number.

Most of the questions from the some 25 visitors who attended the meeting related to what a property owner would get if he were annexed to the city.

Mayor Cromer told the group they would get reduced home insurance rates (disputed by some), possible street lights, and better roads. He added it would raise the city tax base and the city could possibly be in a higher classification. But he indicated sewer service is a long way off.

The group was told that in order to prevent annexation a petition must be presented to the council within 60 days of the official notice of annexation. It must bear at least 50 percent of the names of property owners and registered voters in the area to be annexed asking for a vote on the annexation.

If the required 50 percent is reached the proposal would be put on the ballot at the next General Election. Then, if 55 percent of the registered voters living in the area vote against annexation the measure is killed. Otherwise, the area will automatically become a part of the city.

It was stressed that the registered voter must actually live in the area to be annexed when the final vote is taken. Although the property owner in the area may sign the petition to bring the annexation to a vote, when the final vote is taken at the polls, he must live in the area to be annexed.

This would mean a list of voters eligible to vote on annexation would have to be available at the precinct polling place. For example, some voters living in a precinct may not be within the annexation area and therefore would not be eligible to vote.

"It's awful complicated," one property owner at the meeting said. "But just looking at it right now, I'd say it would take a mighty lot of work to

Grand Jury hands down five more indictments

The Rockcastle grand jury has indicted five persons and set their appearance date for Sept. 8.

Olan Robinson of Brodhead is charged with receiving stolen property over $100, burglary in second degree.

Roger S. Baker of Mt. Vernon is charged in the same case with Robinson.

Both are accused of having in their possession an Echo chain saw belonging to Edward Fields, and entering the Fields dwelling.

Robinson is also indicted for complicity to commit burglary in the second degree and complicity to commit theft by unlawful taking over $100.

He is accused aiding and abetting Robert Hammond in the unlawful entry of the home of Shelley Mullins and the taking of a microwave oven belonging to Mullins. There was no report on Hammonds.

Both Robinson and Baker remain in the county jail.

James C. Whitt and Joyce R. Whitt, both of Mt. Vernon, are accused of cultivating marijuana and having in their possession five growing plants. They posted bond.

Jeff Shivel of Brodhead was indicted for receiving stolen property over $100 and criminal mischief in the second degree.

He is accused of having in his possession a dinette belonging to Eugene Cromer, and for removing copper water lines from sinks, breaking light fixtures, windows and doors at the Cromer residence.

Four wonder who armed intruders were

By: Jim Griesch

A Lamero woman, her nephew and cousin may have been the latest victims of "fake cops" who have gotten some notoriety around the state in recent months.

Carrie Lay, who lives at the end of a dirt and gravel road near the Jackson County line, said she and her relatives were accosted by two armed men wearing camouflage fatigues on August 29.

She said the two -- both about 6-0 tall with sandy-colored hair and full beards and moustaches -- came to her house flashing guns and demanding to see her property.

She said the men told her they were looking for marijuana.

Mrs. Lay said the men carried a 12-gauge, sawed off shotgun, an Uzi machine gun, and two 9-millimeter pistols.

Bobby Lawson, the nephew, said he had been on the porch of the house when the two arrived.

"They drove right up, busted through the gate, and were on the walk-way when I came down from the porch," he said. Mrs. Lay said, "One of them pointed the shotgun in his face and yelled, 'Freeze, you hands up!'

He did, but was not harmed. Mrs. Lay, Lawson, and the two cousins, Leonard Gabbard, Sr. and Leonard, Jr., were frisked.

Then, the two men searched the house, the surrounding outbuildings, the fields, yard, garden area and an orchard.

Mrs. Lay said they were there for several hours.

While all were unharmed, all were still scared last Friday.

"I believe if they had found marijuana here, we would be dead," Mrs. Lay said.

She also said, "We thought they were really law officers looking for marijuana. They law officers everywhere. You don't tell them they can't look. If you're a decent citizen, you won't object to anything like that.

But, the four real left wondering about who the men really were, and what they were really doing.

Mrs. Lay said she called the Kentucky State Police in both London and Frankfort, and the London office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

A spokesman at London said he has seen an indication of the call on station logs there.

However, Frankfort shows no record of such a contact. Standard procedures would have the complaint contact the nearest post, in this case London, and would not necessarily log in such a call.

A spokeswoman at the London FBI office would not comment on whether or not they had logged in such a complaint.

Mrs. Lay said she asked the men, "Who would want to do stuff like this?" She said, "One man told us, 'Captain Lewis' sent them out."

London KSP says there is a Captain Lewis who is commanding officer of the Harlan post. But, Lamero would be out of the Harlan post's territory. She also said the men told her "They" get $100 for telling who grows marijuana."

Leonard Gabbard, Sr., Bobby Lawson, and Carrie Lay (left to right) were wondering who two armed men who came to her farm last week really were. The men were armed with a machine gun, a sawed off shotgun and two pistols, and spent several hours looking for marijuana on the Lamero farm. No one was harmed, but four people were very much scared when the men left.

The two men never showed an identification to the four. But, Mrs. Lay said the two were driving a late-1970s Dodge with the grill missing, but with white government plates. She said she did not copy down the license number.

Leonard Gabbard, Sr., and his son had rented a house owned by Charles and Elsie Jones. She is the postmaster at Lamero.

From Our Readers

Dear Editor,

I received a long distance telephone call from mother and she was very upset. She informed me that the petition was going around to have the name of Negro creek changed to Oak Valley. Both my parents were born on Negro Creek and their parents were born there. This is where our roots are. I still have relatives who live there and many are buried in the cemetery. If someone asked me what Negro Creek meant to me, I think of going to visit my grandparents every Sunday and walking to school (which was a little two roomed school house). These were some of my most cherished and happy memories.

If the people who live there are ashamed of the name, they don't have to move there from Negro Creek. They can just stay where they are from Broads. What gives these people the right to change history and heritage? That would be the same as trying to change the name of Kentucky to another name.

These are the people who are prejudiced. You don't hear any Negro asking them to change in Cincinnati.

I work for Pepsi Cola in Cincinnati and my boss is a Negro. He is a super person to work for. I do not care to tell him that I was born on Negro Creek. Some people that I am not friends with think all the people (from Negro Creek) who are against changing the name should speak up and be heard.

Good Morning Editor,

Well, he thought he would never get caught gambling on baseball. He, I am talking about, is Red's now X-manager, Pete Rose.

This past Friday Pete was banned from the game of which he loved so well, baseball. In other words, Pete Rose's rose went sour. Mr. Warren A. Giamatti, the commissioner of baseball, banned Pete from managing the Cincinnati Reds. Who knows, only time will tell, Lord Willing. Some people want to sign a petition to get Pete Rose back as manager of the Cincinnati Reds. All I can say is if he is guilty or not guilty he got caught, why not if he did bet on the Reds. Why did he not admit it. Mr. Joe Bussell, Broadshead's part time policeman, told me that Pete Rose was not any good. I found out different, thanks Joe, Rose reminded me of Kenny Rogers' song, 'The Gambler'. In the song, Kenny sang you got to know when to hold them and know when to show them.

Will Pete Rose go in the Hall of Fame in Cooperstown in New York, who knows, only time will tell, Lord

Better close for now,

Points East

By: Ike Adams

The front lawn at my house has reached the consistency of a soft mattress when walked upon. It's soft and lumpy feeling. It gives when weight is placed upon it but it doesn't spring back. It's surface is ridged and ribbed in a zig-zag pattern that resembles seams and got in the way of the mower. One of the neighbors wanted to know if I had taken to tilling the yard because I redistribute so much soil in mowing it these days.

The fact of the matter is that a large colony of underground-dwelling creatures have invaded my tranquility. I assume they are moles, shrews, or a lesser species of groundhog. But they could be something from outer-space for all I know, because to date I haven't actually laid eyes on one of them, though Heaven knows I've tried. The only thing I know for sure is that the harder I try to eradicate them, the more they seem to multiply and worsen the problem.

On a given night they may move as much as a five gallon bucket of rich top-soil to the surface where it is stacked in nice cone-like piles that look for all the world like they have been poured from above. For weeks I actually suspected that someone was playing a weird practical joke on me, but I know now that the dirt is there as a result of the excavation going on beneath my grass. I've found the holes it comes from.

I've tried placing three different brands of rat poison in the holes and it gets removed every night with no apparent effect on the devilish critters. I've spread three different kinds of moth balls both inside the holes and on the surface which has only caused the whole neighborhood to smell like a dry-cleaning plant. I've injected the ridges with battery acid which has served only to kill off numerous small patches of grass.

I've tried a trap that resembles a self-triggering guillotine. It's an above-ground device that has anchoring spikes designed to fit on both sides of the underground hole. It contains three razor-sharp spears about the size of ten-penny nails that can be aimed directly over the cavern and propelled by means of a set of thrusting springs strong enough to kill an elephant. Now a trigger is inserted down into the hole. In theory the moles, (or whatever), are supposed to bump into the trigger which trips the springs and subsequently cause themselves to be triple harpooned. So far the trap has gone off a hundred times but it has yet to bring blood from anything except my right hand. I'm surprised that it hasn't been removed and placed in one of the dirt piles. Instead they trip it every night and then burrow around it.

My neighbor, Gladys Nave, suggested that I try feeding the pests chewing gum. Some moles, she maintains, love juicy fruit but they can't digest it. They're supposed to eat it and die from clogged intestines. And that appealed to me, because I have long since passed the point of being humanely considerate when it comes to killing off whatever it is that has taken over my domain. The thought that they might suffer an agonizing death bothers me none whatsoever. I'd use nerve gas if I thought it would work.

Sure enough they went crazy for the juicy fruit. I know they are eating, or at least chewing it, because I find slices that have tiny teeth marks all around the edges and some gone all together. But it seems that the more I feed them the more they want. I've put out as much as two packs a night for the last three weeks but I have no evidence that it has caused so much as a belly ache. And since Gladys has always known what she is talking about when I've solicited her advice on other matters, I'm becoming convinced that this may not be a mole affliction at all.

Junior Helton, on the other hand, insists that it can't be anything else and Mr. Helton is also a person whose opinion I respect to a point. His solution for getting rid of moles though is to die and leave em. Desperate circumstances often require desperate solutions, but let's be practical here - Folks, I need technical assistance and I'm hereby soliciting it. Short of hiring a bulldozer and trucks to move my lawn to another county, I'm willing to try most anything. If you've had a mole problem and solved it, I'd like to know how. In fact, if you have a suggestion that works for me I promise you faithfully that I will make headlines in this newspaper. What I'm trying to say here is HELP!!!!

Please write to me at Rt. 2, Box 50, Paint Lick, Ky. 40461 and I will remain eternally grateful for your kind assistance.

Report to Kentucky

SENATOR WENDELL FORD

U.S. Senate, Washington, D.C. 20510

A JOINT EFFORT TO HELP KENTUCKY COMMUNITIES

I was able to visit with local and regional groups across Kentucky during the Senate's August recess, and in each case I was impressed with the progress being made by hardworking Kentuckians determined to meet the difficult challenges facing our state. This certainly was the case at the recent convention of the Kentucky League of Cities, a group representing large and small cities in every part of Kentucky. Formerly known as the Kentucky Municipal League, this group was celebrating its 60th anniversary and planning to dedicate its first permanent headquarters, located in Lexington. The League, along with the Kentucky Association of Counties, is making great progress toward providing many of our communities with funds for improvements ranging from the purchase of new fire trucks to the construction of desperately needed jails.

I am pleased to have been able to play a role in allowing Kentucky communities to receive such funds through joint bond issues. And I was greatly honored to receive the League's highest award to a public official, its Municipal Leadership Award, at the recent convention.

Our communities are just beginning to reap the benefits of the bond-issue measure that I was able to help shepherd through the 100th Congress in its final hours in October of 1988. One of the technical corrections to the Tax Reform Act of 1986, this measure allows our cities and counties to band together to float public-improvement bond issues totaling $370 million.

Joint bond issues can be critically important financial vehicles for communities too small to float bond issues of their own. But the Tax Reform Act severely restricted the use of these tax-exempt vehicles because of financial abuses not involving Kentucky.

This blow hit our Kentucky communities at a time when they already were absorbing the loss of general revenue sharing -- a devastating loss of federal assistance for many of our smaller communities. It also came at a time when many of our communities were moving to float a much-needed joint bond issue under the old tax laws. Fortunately, after a long struggle marked by many legislative complications, we were able to win passage of our measure granting transitional relief to communities in Kentucky and 10 other states.

This measure allows us to raise $170 million in a bond-issue program administered by the Kentucky League of Cities and $200 million in a similar program handled by the Kentucky Association of Counties. Each of these groups now has issued its bonds and selected its first recipients. The City of Franklin is soon to receive funds for street improvements and other work, with Pike County getting funds for county vehicles and other equipments.

Scores of other communities across Kentucky will benefit from our joint bond issues in the months ahead. I am proud of the work being done by the groups issuing these bonds. And I am increasingly convinced that we can all benefit in these difficult times from an honest, working partnership of Kentuckians at all levels of government.

Mullins honored with reception

After 20 years of service, Roland D. Mullins is leaving the Cumberland River Regional Mental Health Rehabilitation program as director.

A community-wide reception was held at the Corbin office on American Greening Road.

Mullins, who will be affiliated with the board through December, pointed out in his letter of resignation to the agency's Board of Directors, he was planning a career change.

Ralph Lipps will assume the duties of executive director on Sept. 1.

Lipps, associate director of Human Resources, has been with the agency since 1970. During his tenure, Mullins has served two terms as president of the Kentucky Association of Regional Programs, the statewide mental health center organization. He is presently vice-chairman of the Kentucky Mental Health Coalition, an organization that promotes mental health issues with the General Assembly.

During the statewide Medicaid crisis in 1985, Mullins served along with Lt. Governor Breerton Jones as an advisor to the governor to resolve the issue.

In Aug. 1969 when Mullins joined the staff, there were only a handful of employees and client services were not offered for another two months. Two years later, he was promoted to executive director of an agency with goals to serve the mentally ill, the developmentally handicapped and the substance abuser. The agency serves the region, including Whitley, Laurel and Knox counties.

Prevention and early intervention programs were developed and workshops in Corbin and Middlesboro were opened for the handicapped. Inpatient services, half-way houses and rehabilitation programs were organized. Day hospitalization, children's day treatment and infant programs were initiated.

Under his leadership, a bold building program began. The Corbin Outpatient Office, Felner Apartments, Williamsburg Work Adult Habilitation facilities were built. A 15,000 square foot building was bought and renovated in Harlan as well as buildings in London, Barbourville, Middlesboro and Corbin used to house the agency's multi-offering of services.

A new outpatient facility is presently under construction in Mt. Vernon. Plans for building improvements are underway for Williamsburg, Middlesboro and Manchester.

The agency has the largest number of psychiatrists per capita and operates one of three methadone programs in the state. It was also the first center to be accredited by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals.

Livingston Homecoming

by: perlina m. anderkin

For the first time in 14 years, I do not have a student at the high school. While this is some cause for sadness for me, I'm over it. The teachers and administrators are not too upset over it.

Rick graduated in 1979, Jamie in 1981, Jane in 1984, Paige in 1986 and Sara in 1989. Sara is now at Cumberland, after sending applications and housing deposits to every school within a 200-mile radius, and seems to be adjusting nicely—at least she only came home three times the first week and went back the first Sunday without too much of a fuss. Travis is a big 4th grader this year and Allison thinks she ought to be at least that.

I'm going to fool you and not wax nostalgic about not having one in high school. Actually, it's sort of a relief since there's no one playing ball or cheerleading and that lightens up my schedule a little and, of course, there's always Travis and Allison to look forward to—if I last that long. And, I fully intend to.

I haven't had time to relax and enjoy my free time yet. Jim has this thing about gardens and feels that he has not fulfilled his obligation as a gardener if he doesn't set out 200 tomato plants and I feel guilty if I don't can them. Then, we spent the summer trailing around after Travis and his little league games and then spend 12 days in Vegas visiting Paige and Spencer and thanking God each and every day that circumstances did not force us to make our home there—or anywhere west of the Mississippi for that matter. We had planned on going anyway but it became a necessity after Sara flew out in June for an 11-day stay and wound up refusing to come home so then it was a have to case—she was enjoying herself too much. That only makes three times Allison has been across this country and back before the age of 4. She won't remember much about the experiences but after we tell her about them it will make a great conversation starter for her adult years.

Paige has finally gotten her way and will be coming home for good the first of October. The child actually didn't know when she was well off but that's the young for you. Of course, I'm just kidding; it will be a great relief to have her here instead of 2,000 miles away, not to mention the savings to my phone bill...

Anyway, summer is almost over and my first reaction when I thought about it was that I was glad. But, then I got to thinking about it and I was sad because of all the things I meant to accomplish this summer that I haven't done. I shouldn't be too disappointed however that seems to be the story of my life since I am constantly regretting not doing things I had intended to do (and if you can stay with that sentence you're in better shape than I am).

Mullins for County Judge/Executive ACTION PLAN

AFFORDABLE HOUSING -- It is my estimate that we have immediate need for 350-500 single unit owner-occupied homes in the county. Young people starting families as well as the average wage earner cannot bear the burden of conventional building costs. FHA has been an excellent assist. Kentucky Housing Corporation is another available source of financing. With the appropriate leadership rudge, I feel that this serious problem can be solved.

Safe, affordable housing should not be out of reach of our families. Emphasis will be placed on the issue, developers and financial sources will be brought together, potential buyers will be sought out if I am elected to lead during these next four years. To me the "ringing of hammers" building an owner-occupied house is pleasant music.

Fall Tree planting notes

Many people want to plant trees on their land, but they don't feel they have time during the spring. They feel that planting the corn and tobacco are most important. In many cases, they are right, and they need another season for which to plant trees.

Luckily, for the farmer, he can plant trees during the fall when other work is not pressing. The fall planting season is from the last part of November through the middle of December, and is an excellent time for tree planting.

You should act now to take advantage of this. Here are the things you should do:

1. Find an area which is now going to waste and not producing you any crops.
2. Make sure there is at least a grass cover on the ground. If planted in bare soil and strip mines, the trees will be damaged by frost.
3. Sign up with the ASCS Office in your county for the tree-planting practice (A-7).
4. The Division of Forestry will then check your area, recommend a species of tree, and show you what work needs to be done.
5. After you have planted the trees, you will then report completion of your work to the ASCS Office.
6. You can then sit back and watch your trees grow.

In this program, you receive the tree free, and you are paid $8 per acre for the work. Every farmer should take advantage of this opportunity.

This picture of Boiling Springs School, located at the head of Clear Creek, was taken in 1937 or 1938. O'Rear Fish submitted it to the Signal for publication.

Now is the time for action.

"What Saith the Scriptures"

In Luke 9:23, Jesus said "If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me." Very few people are willing to make the necessary sacrifice of self and sin to follow Jesus. The Master demands that we must give our all and that He must have first place in our lives and hearts; Mt. 6:33, Lk. 14:26-33, Mt. 16:26, et al.

The high cost of discipleship has caused many to reject our Lord and his teachings. For instance, the young rich ruler was told, "If thou wilt be perfect, go and sell that thou hast, and give to the poor, and thou shalt have treasure in heaven: and come and follow me. But when the young man heard that saying, he went away sorrowful for he had great possessions" Mt. 19:21-22. It never has been easy for man to deny himself or to crucify himself upon the cross. Yet in Gal. 2:20, we see Paul, who did this very thing. "I am crucified with Christ: nevertheless I live; yet not I, but Christ liveth in me: and the life which I now live in the flesh I live by the faith of the Son of God, who loved me, and gave himself for me."

Of course, the cost of being a Christian is high, but the cost of not being a Christian is higher. Paul said that the wages of sin is death, in Rm. 6:23. Beloved friends, do you really want to receive the payment for your sins? Once you find yourself in Hell, there is no escape or 2nd chance. Though the cost of being a disciple is high, yet really, when we compare it to the blessings gained in this life and the life to come, really it's a small price to pay. For I reckon that the sufferings of this present time are not worthy to be compared with the glory which shall be revealed in us" Rm. 8:18.

My friends, do not be deceived by false teachers, who say "all you have to do is merely believe." The faith that saves; is not a dead faith as Jn. 2:14-26 talks about, but a faith that moves one to follow Jesus and to do his will, no matter what the cost. Only a few will walk the straight and narrow way that leads to life. Most will walk the broad way to destruction, Mt. 7:13-14. Are you going to follow Jesus?

Negro Creek Road
By: Mayzell Ries

There is a road outside our Brodhead town Some people want to change its name around

It's been Negro Creek for many years If the name was changed it would bring many tears

If it was good enough for the people, a long time ago Why isn't it good enough now I'd like to know

I asked my mother a long time ago How Negro Creek got its name I wanted to know

She said, many years back

There were people that live up the road and they were black

One was found dead in the creek by the road So they called it Negro Creek That's what she'd been told

If they changed the name of Negro Creek Road They would have to change the name of The cemetery and the dam where the water flowed

If certain ones don't like the name Let them move If they need a change

I think the name of the road should stay the same And Negro Creek Road is its rightful name

Clean out the attic and sell it fast in the classifieds!

Long Term - Small Down Payment Low Interest Loans Available to Qualified Buyers!!

Janice Gentry received a gift for coming the farthest to attend the 1989 Livingston Homecoming. She's from Orlando, Fla.

Armed intruders

But, Gabbard had been taking Baker to Lexington for medical treatment several times a week since relocating in the county in early July, after a career in the armed services. He had taken Jones to Lexington Monday morning, only to return home about noon to find the house completely burned down. He said he had been quarreling in recent weeks with a neighbor, but thought the problems had been solved. He said, too, that he did not know if the fire was caused by a vengeful neighbor, or was an accident. But, the house is totally destroyed. The two men had moved into a small trailer on the Lay farm Monday afternoon, to be bullied by the two men Tuesday. Mrs. Lay also said she found that her telephone lines were dead, later on Tuesday, and were repaired Thursday.

She said the repairman told her they had been cut. The whole incident has as many unanswered questions as solutions.

Annexation

block it." Incidentally, those factories to be taken in would include Rockcastle Manufacturing, Mt. Vernon Plastics and Redi-Mix. The total number of employees are about 580. The number of property owners listed currently by the city total 244 with 251 parcels of property. It is not yet known how many registered voters would be included in the area to be annexed. Also, included in the annexation is the property owned by the county for an industrial site and formerly known as the Henderson property on old Ky. 461.

Mrs. Lay, Lawson and the Gabbard want to know why they were picked out. The farm is almost inaccessible. No one could simply drive by and choose it, as is so often done in well-to-do neighborhoods by potential thieves and robbers. They want to know if the men really were officers, and if so, why did they search their farm? Why were the phone lines cut? That is not a normal method of operation for law enforcement officers. The weapons they carried were unusual by any standards. Assistant county attorney Jack Faust said, when informed of the incident, that several potential charges could be made, if the men were found and identified. Strangest of all, perhaps, was the behavior of the two men. "They didn't take anything," said Mrs. Lay. "They didn't rob us. After it was all over, they acted real nice."

One injured in a wreck

Gary Doan of Orlando was carried from an auto he wrecked on Cilmox Rd., Friday, Sept. 1. Doan was taken to Rockcastle County Hospital, then transferred to the University of Kentucky Medical Center. He was released Monday. Kentucky State Trooper Jack Lawless issued a DUI citation after finding a bottle of whiskey in the car (see photo insert). Witnesses said Doan rounded a curve in the road, slipped off one side of the road, fought to get back on, and went off the left side of the road into a tree.

This is what of the rented home lived in by Leonard Gabbard, Sr., and Jr., until August 28. The next day, two armed men invaded his cousin's home in Lamer near the Jackson County line, flashing weapons and demanding to search the property for marijuana.

Boom Boom Reports

Undoubtedly, the bureaucrats of this nation are in the process of destroying the American Way of Life (the family farm). I firmly believe the bureaucrats are conspiring with both foreign and domestic corporations to completely obliterate the small farmer.

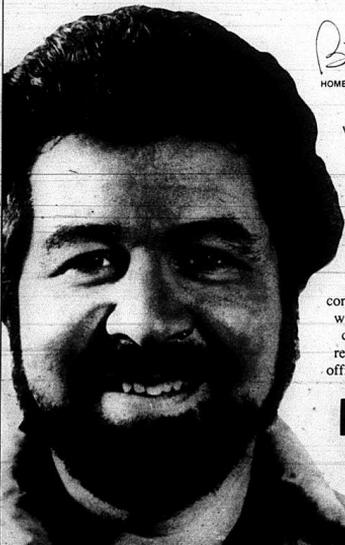

96 percent of all family farms in Rockcastle County require outside income to even exist. Our standard of living is lower than the people we maintain (the bureaucrats). These money hungry bureaucrats will eventually have us farmers picking our nose with our elbow.

Rest assured my friends of the political arena, Boom Boom and I will be by your side or on your backs in future campaigns.

HOME IMPROVEMENT EXPERT

The flameless electric heat pump will keep you comfortable all year 'round.

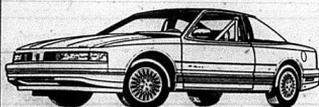

It's the only all-in-one cooling and heating system. In the summer, it gives you whole-house central air conditioning. In the winter, it heats your home very efficiently.

For clean, safe, efficient comfort, the electric heat pump is the wise choice. To find out more, contact a customer service representative at your local KU office.

There is more to a profitable home business than creating or performing the work itself. You have to know how to manage, how to sell and how to keep records. A home business also requires cooperation from family and neighbors. These are some of the topics discussed in the program as well as ideas for a home based business.

ORDINANCE NO. 6-87

An ordinance granting to Southern Cablevision of Corbin, Inc. a franchise renewal for the continued provision of cable television service to the City of Mt. Vernon, Kentucky

WHEREAS, Southern Cablevision of Corbin, Inc., requested, by letter of June 22, 1989, a renewal of its franchise to construct, install, operate and maintain in and for the City of Mt. Vernon, Kentucky, a cable television system, pursuant to the provisions of the Cable Communications and Policy Act of 1984, Section 626(h), (Public Law No. 98-549); and

WHEREAS, Southern Cablevision of Corbin, Inc., submitted its proposal for the renewal of its cable television franchise and the City of Mt. Vernon having accepted said proposal; Be It Ordained by the Board of Commissioners of the City of Mt. Vernon, Kentucky, as follows:

- 1. GRANT OF AUTHORITY
On and after the effective date of this Ordinance the City of Mt. Vernon, hereinafter referred to as "City," "Franchisor," grants this franchise renewal and right to Southern Cablevision of Corbin, Inc., hereinafter referred to as "Franchisee," to continue to use all City easements and public rights of way for the installation, maintenance and operation of a cable television system within the city limits of the City of Mt. Vernon, and any subsequent additions thereto, to the extent the City has the authority to grant the same.
- 2. FRANCHISE PERIOD
The franchise renewal period shall be ten (10) years from May 9, 1993, (to and including May 9, 2003). Subsequent proceedings with respect to the renewal of this Franchise shall be conducted in accordance with the provisions of all applicable Federal and/or State laws and regulations.
- 3. TERMS AND CONDITIONS
The terms and conditions upon which said franchise renewal is granted, and which shall be embodied therein and made a part thereof, are as follows:
(a) The cable television system for which this franchise is granted shall conform to the rules, regulations and requirements of the Federal Communications Commission, hereinafter referred to as "FCC," now in effect and as changed or modified in the future, in all respect to signal leakage measurements, monitoring, and general operating requirements.
(b) The Franchisee shall comply with all OSHA standards in the construction, installation, maintenance and operation of the system, and the Franchisee shall be liable for all damages or injury to persons or property caused by the neglect or mismanagement of the Franchisee or its employees while engaged in construction, maintenance or operation of its system.
(c) Any necessary permission to attach to or use present or future utility poles owned or controlled by the City must be obtained by the Franchisee from the appropriate utility company. The City herewith grants to Franchisee any necessary easements or permission to use the City's rights of way, conduits and utility poles to effectuate cable television service, to the extent the City has authority to grant the same.
(d) The City shall have the right at any time during the installation, maintenance, or operation of said system to have a City electrical inspector, or other qualified persons or firms, inspect the installation, maintenance and operation of such system. The City may order such changes in installation, maintenance, or operation, based on commonly accepted technical standards, provided, however, that such standards are no more burdensome than the FCC's technical standards/guidelines, to insure satisfactory performance of the system or elimination of any hazards incidental thereto.
(e) The Franchisee may be transferred by the Franchisee only upon prior written consent of the Franchisor. Said consent will not be unreasonably withheld.
(f) The rates to be charged by the Franchisee for the cable television services provided shall be governed by applicable Federal and State laws and regulations, provided however, that the Franchisee may not discriminate against any person or class of persons within the city limits of the City of Mt. Vernon by its rate structure.

As consideration for the Franchisor granting the Franchisee this renewal, the Franchisee agrees that there shall be no rate increase for a period of 12 months from the effective date of this renewal provided the renewal is granted and becomes effective by September 7, 1989. Thereafter, Franchisee shall give the Franchisor forty-five (45) days advance notice of any rate increase through the City's Mayor's office.

(b) Terms and conditions in this Franchise shall be binding on both the Franchisee and City and shall not be changed without the written agreement of both parties. There have been no side agreements or verbal representations made by the Franchisee to induce the City to enact this ordinance.

(h) The Franchise granted herein shall be subject to any and all applicable Federal and State laws and regulations. In the event that the said laws and regulations change from the effective date of this Ordinance, the terms of the Franchise granted herein shall comply therewith.

4. CONFLICTING ORDINANCES REPEALED.
All ordinances or parts of Ordinances in conflict herewith are hereby repealed.

5. NON-EXCLUSIVE FRANCHISE.
The Franchise granted herein is non-exclusive.

6. INDEMNIFICATION.
Should the City be sued for damages or injury to persons or property caused by the neglect or mismanagement of the Franchisee or its employees, while engaged in the construction, maintenance or operation of its systems, said Franchisee shall be notified of such suit, and thereupon it shall be its duty to defend or settle the suit. Should judgment go against the City in any such case, the City shall recover the amount thereof, with costs, from the Franchisee. The record of final judgment against the City in any such case shall be conclusive evidence to entitle the City to so recover against the Franchisee.

7. PAYMENTS.
As further consideration for this Franchise, the Franchisee shall pay the City during the first year of its Franchise as herein granted, a sum of money equal to three percent (3%) of the gross revenues derived by Franchisee from basic cable subscription rates only, excluding all other revenues derived from customers situated within the city limits of the City. Beginning the second year of the Franchise term the City, at its option, may increase the franchise fee to be paid to the City to five percent (5%) of the gross revenues derived by the Franchisee from basic subscription rates only. These fees shall be paid to the City on a quarterly basis within thirty (30) days following the end of the quarter during which time the revenue was received by the Franchisee. The Franchisee shall not designate as a separate line item on their subscribers' bill the amount of the bill attributable to three percent (3%) of the gross revenues derived by the Franchisee from the basic cable subscription rates. The Franchisee may however designate as a separate line item on their subscribers' bill that portion of the bill representing the franchise fee in excess of three percent (3%) of gross revenues derived by the Franchisee from basic subscription rates.

8. SEVERABILITY.
The provisions of this Ordinance and Franchise are deemed to be severable. In the event any provision contained herein is found or ruled to be illegal, the remaining provisions shall remain in full force and effect. Headings in this Ordinance and Franchise are for ease of reference only.

Livingston Homecoming 1989

Town honors citizens, groups and itself ...

By: Richard Anderkin

With wailing sirens sounding the way, Livingston kicked off its annual homecoming parade Saturday before an estimated 2,000 residents and guests.

Following close behind the city police car were members of the London Civil Air Patrol acting as color guard.

Honored at the homecoming and serving as parade grand marshal was 102-year-old Charlie "Pa" Moore, Livingston's and probably Rockcastle's oldest resident. He rode in the parade with Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Cummins.

Moore received a letter from President George Bush complimenting him his long life, and a letter from Kentucky Gov. and Mrs. Wallace Wilkinson. Doing the presenting of the letters and a plaque from the homecoming committee was Sam Stallworth, homecoming chairman.

Honored posthumously was Congressional Medal of Honor recipient from Livingston, David Monroe Smith. The flag flew at half-staff in his honor, and a ceremony in his honor was presented by the Civil Air Patrol unit.

Although rain threatened, only a few sprinkles preceded the parade, and as the day progressed the sun made a bright and warm appearance. It has never rained on a homecoming parade.

Chosen queen of the homecoming was Aleda Ann Bond, daughter of Harvey and Aleda Bond of Livingston and a student at Rockcastle County High School.

The pretty baby contest was won by two-year-old Cody Nicely, son of Tammy Nicely of Livingston.

Outstanding citizen of the year was Mayor Billy Medley, long time resident of Livingston, who is a barber, preacher and school bus driver. He and his wife, Juanita, have four sons. He became a mayor in 1983.

The Medleys also dominated the husband and wife calling contest. She won the husband calling and he won the wife calling. Son Jamie won the watermelon eating contest.

Gail's Florist of Mt. Vernon received the Award of Excellence to an Area Business for her contribution to the homecoming activities over the years.

Joe McClure of Livingston won last year's winner Denver Howard.

Janece Gentry of Orlando, Fla. received an award for coming the longest distance to the homecoming.

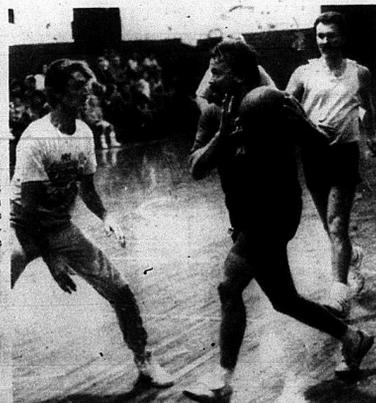

Many cars and members of the Rockcastle Saddle Club participated in the parade, along with the Laurel County Shriners Club truck and fex, and the Rockcastle Shriners Club. Also on hand were fire trucks from Livingston, Brodhead and Mt. Vernon, the Bittersweet Cloggers, and Trivia Band.

An old timers basketball game was held Saturday night in Livingston Elementary School gymnasium. The homecoming activities ended Sunday night with fireworks and the Trivia Band.

Leadership group receives start-up grant

By: Jim Griesch
LeadershipRockcastle has received a $1,000 grant from the Kentucky Humanities Commission to help create a curriculum for individual initiative.

The money will be used to fund a workshop/retreat at Clef Rock September 29-30.

The workshop is for 10 invited countyans who will be exposed to presentations on tapping the most from their potential in community leadership.

In a release Leadership Rockcastle says, "Because (we) recognize the existence of a large pool of untapped potential in our citizens and a serious need for developed and active leaders, we believe this workshop is a positive and essential step in solving very real economic and educational problems in our county. We expect the participants, as well as Rockcastle County as a whole, will benefit greatly."

This is the first step in what Betty Jo McKinney says is a three year program.

"We see Rockcastle as with a lot of potential, a lot of ability, but people don't step out," she said.

"We think the Appalachian culture, in general, is reticent and modest."

Rockcastle people exhibit many of those traits, she explained. And, with three small towns in the county, there is "a lot going on, but we don't always pull together."

She pointed out that localized groups and clubs often work on the same project, but without intra-club communications and efforts.

The workshop, basically, is designed to find tomorrow's leaders, to identify them, draw them out, and to get them into a position to provide the push to carry the county into the 21st century and beyond.

The Leadership group isn't pointing toward creating any one particular thing in concrete.

Kentucky Humanities Council

"We are working on people," McKinney said.

The group wants to find those bright, energetic people with leadership potential who have not totally become part of any power group.

Toward that end, 43 residents were invited to a May dinner at Red Top Restaurant.

Those people were identified by Leadership Rockcastle as a group from which to start building.

McKinney estimates that between 15 and 20 of those invited actually attended.

She also pointed out that the group isn't trying to set on elected officeholders' toes, nor to step up an elitist group outside of the power structure.

She said the group is merely trying to find tomorrow's leaders and put them into an active role today.

Those emerging from the workshop will, hopefully, have:

- a clear perspective on the county's strengths and weaknesses.
- a vision of progress for our county's future.
- recognition of their own leadership potential.
- a basic understanding of the dynamics of leadership.
- increased self-confidence and self-esteem.
- renewed motivation and enthusiasm for civic work.
- commitment to complete a specific county improvement project.
- There are no specific improvement projects on the table right now.

County's marijuana count passes 10,000

The Kentucky State Police's battle against marijuana cultivation in Rockcastle County has hit a high gear since early August.

A total of 10,677 plants had been confiscated and destroyed through September 1, according to a check with the London KSP post.

Records there showed that 3,004 plants had been destroyed through August 3, and since then, another 7,673 plants had been located and destroyed.

KSP spokesman Gil Acciardo said of the numbers, "We have had the (helicopter here at London) more than in previous years. We are finding more of it."

While he couldn't say the figures represented specific increases in plant confiscation, he said it seemed to him that the KSP had had more success in locating the plants than in some recent years.

But, he felt the same kind of effort was being made this year as in past summers.

There are several weeks left in the growing season, and a final tally of plants found in the county won't be ready until later this month.

But, KSP officers figured last month that at that time, they had found no more than half of the probable marijuana crop in one particular county.

At that time, Rockcastle's figure was put at 3,000. Since the KSP puts an estimated price of $1,000 per plant, Rockcastle had a $6 million crop then.

With the new figure of 10,677, the potential profits from marijuana for the county now stands at well over $10 million.

Two weeks ago, another Signal story compared the potential profits of marijuana with tobacco for county farmers.

Growers in Rockcastle can expect a total gross of about $4,958,000 for the 1989 crop. But, based on $1.62 per hundred weight, only about 62 cents of that is expected to represent profit. That would put the potential profit for county tobacco at something around $2.3 million, making marijuana worth about $8.3 million MORE than tobacco, traditionally THE crop for county farmers.

Veterans ceremonies highlight of the month

Several days and ceremonies in September should be of importance to Kentucky veterans.

Governor Wallace Wilkinson has made Friday, Sept. 15, "Prisoners of War/Missing in Action Recognition Day" in the state.

Some 23 Kentuckians are still listed among 2,300 American servicemen who are officially listed as either POWs or MIA in all of the wars of the United States.

A groundbreaking ceremony for the proposed long term care facility for veterans in Wilmore is scheduled for 10 a.m., Saturday, Sept. 16. The 300-bed facility, federally and state funded for $15 million, is supposed to open in July, 1991.

The Rolling Thunder motorcycle group will hold a POW/MIA rally at 1 p.m., Sunday, Sept. 17, in Frankfort. The ceremony is a show of support for those still unaccounted for.

The 42nd Service Squadron will hold a reunion in Lexington Sept. 21-23.

The squadron kept planes in the air from England, Africa, Sicily, Italy, Egypt, India and Burma during World War II.

It is the squadron's seventh reunion over the years.

Rockets capture 50th win for Larkey

By: Jim Griesch

The rebuilding Rockcastle County Rockets have taken at least a temporary lead in Class AAA, Region 3, District 2 play with a 34-12 win over McCreary Central last Friday night.

The Rockets are now 1-0, and they lead five other teams, four of which have yet to play a district contest.

More importantly for the moment, the win marks the 50th win, overall, in coach Tom Larkey's career. He is 29-21 at Rockcastle, 21-20 in four years at Laurel County in the 1970s.

The win over McCreary was one part defense, one part offense. The defense should have had a shutout, and would have saved for two pass plays.

McCreary scored on the final play of the first half when quarterback Jimmy Smith, who had spent most of the half scrambling for his life, hit tight end Dereck Smith at the Rockcastle three with a pass.

Smith was hit by two would-be tacklers, but spun off them. His knee was clearly on the ground at the two, film later showed, and his right hand stretched toward the goal. The hand hit the one, and then the hand, arm and shoulders slid across the goal.

The signal was Touchdown. Bad call, yes, but it was still the first score in the first half this year by a Rockcastle opponent. Still, Smith made a great effort for the score. The clock ran out during the play.

Happy 50th, Coach!

Redskins, Bengals win

The Redskins scored twice within 10 seconds, and a third time within 2:12 of the first quarter to stake a 16-0 lead on their way to a 34-6 win over the Wildcats in the 1989 Rockcastle Youth Football League opener Tuesday night.

The first score of the year was a safety. The Wildcats Jason Payne was forced to dive onto a loose pich out in his own end zone. The two-pointer for the Redskins came with 2:49 left in the first.

On the free kick after the safety, Shane Thacker returned it 47 yards for another score 2:39.

Shortly thereafter, Billy Fowler picked up a fumble and rolled 21 yards for another score. That was with just 37 seconds left in the first quarter.

In the second, Greg Bowman swept left end from 24 yards out for a 22-0 lead at the half. Bowman had kicked a conversion for two points after the Fowler touchdown.

Blade Owens went 10 yards on a reverse in the third, and Jamie Linville scored from a yard out with 28 seconds left in the game, following a Redskins time out.

Porter Smith of the Wildcats scored on an 80 yard kick off return at the

The second touchdown was more bad fortune for Rockcastle. With 10:58 left, on the fifth play of the final quarter, Jimmy Smith tossed a fourth-and-10 pass from the Rockets' 13, to Jesse Pierce in the right corner of the end zone for another TD.

On the play, safety Dane Cox had slipped across in front of Pierce to knock the ball away. But, the ball flipped into the air, over Cox's shoulder and into Pierce's waiting arms.

With just a split second more leverage, Cox probably could have batted the ball straight down.

Both McCreary scoring drives were kept alive by strange pass interference calls.

The first drive's fate was helped by a call on a pass way overthrown and out of bounds at about the Rockcastle 30.

The receiver was never less than five yards from the ball, and sprawled over the sidelines after the ball hit, trying to make the catch. A Rockets defender, 15-20 feet away, was hit, with a very late call.

What would have been third-and-17 from the Rockcastle 37 became first and 10 on the 22. Two incomplete passes and a five-yard sack later, Smith hit the gift score.

On the second drive, Mike Spires picked off a widely thrown pass into the left flat, but when the McCreary receiver ran into the back of another Rockcastle defender, the flag was thrown against the defender.

Instead of Rockcastle going the other way from their own 40, McCreary had it first and 10 at the Rockets' 24.

Strangely, the Rockets got a break earlier in the game, as a McCreary defender broke clear over the deep middle, and seemed to be tripped as he went by a defender. No flag, no call, no penalty, but there should have been one.

Still, the Rockets had three interceptions that did stand up, all by young defensive backs.

All came in the final 8:12 of play to stave off any more scoring.

On the first sophomore safety Scott Parkey simply stepped in front of a wild pass at his own 45, and returned it to the McCreary 37.

He had some blocks thrown for him, but he never seemed like he completely cleared the traffic down field.

Could he have scored with one more block? "I don't know," he said. "I'm so slow, I got tackled."

He had one interception as a freshman last year.

The next was by freshman line-backer Bobby Coffey, who simply stepped back into a hook zone and took a pass out of the hands of a receiver. He made the takeaway at his own 45, and weaved through traffic to the Raiders' 46.

Sophomore Jeff Houk got the last one, with about 1:30 left in the game, and it stopped a serious threat for a score.

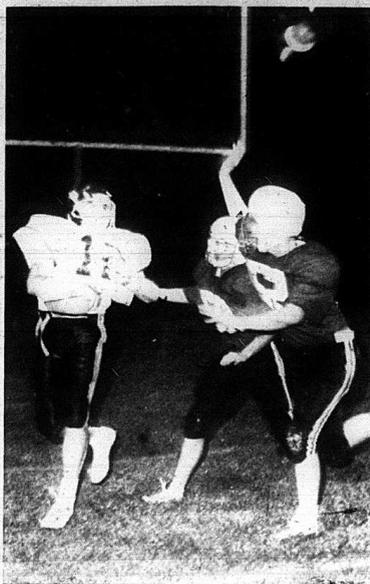

The pass, headed for Robbie Stevens near the goal line, never got there. Houk cut in front of Stevens at the five and returned it to the 16. A clipping penalty pushed it back to the eight, but Rockcastle merely ran out the clock to preserve the win.

The first half belonged to linebacker Tommy Cromer and the rest of the defensive front eight.

Cromer played the wide side, and either blitzed or put on such a reassuring display that he constantly haunted Jimmy Smith, McCreary in the ball 15 times in the half, and 11 of them resulted in negative rushing yards. Six passes were rushed away.

For the game, McCreary rushed 24 times and 11 of them were for nega-

David Eaton (52) and Tommy Cromer put a lot of pressure on McCreary's quarterback Jimmy Smith. Cromer was especially bothersome in the first half, blitzing at will. The Rockets defense combined to hold him to minus-38 yards rushing in the first half, minus-23 for the game.

Kevin Rowe chugs through left tackle for a seven-yard gain in the second quarter. Rowe led the team in rushing for the third straight game. He had 81 yards and four touchdowns. He has scored seven times so far this year, after just six touchdowns all last year.

Game Three Report Card

The Pluses

- ✓ Taking the lead, at least for a week or so, in the district race.
- ✓ Winning the 50th game, overall, in coach Tom Larkey's career.
- ✓ Putting together the best overall offensive show of the still-young season.
- ✓ The running of Kevin Rowe.

The Negatives

- ✓ Allowing two cheap touchdowns on passes. One TD should not have been, since the receiver was down before getting into the end zone, but Larkey noted, "We should have tackled him, anyway."
- ✓ Allowing too many pass completions at key times.
- ✓ Not fielding punts well. The resultant rolls continually added 20-30 yards of additional ground the Rockets had to cross to get drives going.

Early squirrel harvest is up

Kentucky squirrel hunters harvested 124 more bushytails during the 1989 season's opening weekend in the western zone than for the same period last year.

State conservation officers checked 1,151 hunters who had taken 2,056 squirrels in 82 of the state's 95 open counties. 1989's ratio of 1.78 squirrels per hunter is slightly higher than last year's opening weekend ratio of 1.68.

When checked, 109 hunters had reached their limit of six squirrels.

Conservation officers issued 59 citations for game law violations during the two-day period, with 22 occurring in Central Kentucky's sixth district and only two in the first district in Western Kentucky. From four to nine violations were reported from each of the remaining districts reporting.

Western zone squirrel hunting remains open through October 31, 1989 while the eastern zone squirrel season opens September 2 and runs through November 10, 1989.

The season will reopen statewide November 21 and continue through December 31, 1989.

According to state and federal laws, it's illegal to hunt doves (or any other migratory game birds) over baited areas. Illegal baiting involves placing grains, salt or other attractants (which are not the result of normal agricultural practices) to lure the birds within shooting range. Remember, an area remains baited for 10 days following the removal of all attracting substances.

Dove hunters should check for any possibility of illegal baiting before shooting.

Make sure shotguns are plugged before going afield. Shotguns, used to hunt all game except deer, must be plugged to hold no more than three shells (two in the magazine and one in the chamber).

Season Dates for Fall Birds
Dove: September 1-30 and October 7-30, 11 a.m. to sunset; December 1-6, sunrise to sunset; daily bag limit 15, possession limit 30. O steel shot may be used to hunt doves on Ballard, Swan Lake, Peal, Henderson/Sloughs and Kaler Bottoms wildlife management areas.

Woodcock and common snipe: October 1-December 4, one-half hour before sunrise to sunset; daily bag limit for woodcock is five, and the possession limit is 10, snipe, eight and 16.

September wood ducks: September 6-10, one-half hour before sunrise to sunset; daily bag limit is two and the possession limit is four. NO OTHER DUCK SPECIES MAY BE TAKEN. Steel shot required in Western Waterfowl Zone and in Caldwell, Hopkins and Lyons counties. State and federal waterfowl stamps required.

In fact, McCreary was held to minus-27 rushing the first half, minus-20 for the game.

Quarterback Smith rushed nine times in the half, and eight times he lost yards. He wound up with MINUS 38 YARDS in the half, minus 23 for the game.

McCreary's leading rusher for the game was Perry, who had four yards in five carries.

But, Stevens did complete eight of his 24 passes to his own players, and he had 108 yards, or 13.5 yards per catch. Only three of the completions were for less than 10 yards.

On the other hand, Rockcastle's offense was more balanced than at any other time this year. Kevin Rowe picked up 81 yards on 14 carries, and had four scores -- from 1, 4, 4, and 1 yards out. Cox, looking the best he's been in three games after a pre-season knee injury, had 77 on 16 carries, and his longest run of the year, 19 yards, which set up a score.

Parkey, at quarterback, "seemed more sure of himself. And, the Rockets ran well to their left, off the option look.

"Tonight's the first time I've really run the option," he explained. "Yeah, I felt good," he responded to a question. On running to the left, he credited Jay Brown, David Eaton, the ends, and the subs who played on that side.

"The whole left side just blocked good," he said simply.

McCreary had stacked the right side with an extra linemarker, and after several shots at left tackle, moved the extra man to that side.

Rockcastle promptly went back to the right side for Cox's 19-yarder.

"The coaches called that," Parkey said sheepishly.

Here's a thought: If the Rockets can win their next three -- home to Pulaski, at Harlan, and home again to Knox Central, they would be 5-1 on the year, 2-0 in the district, and 17-1 over the last three years in the first six games of the season.

Hunter training classes offered

The Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources is offering hunter training courses statewide. The free course is open to hunters of any age.

Hunters who complete a state-approved hunter education program receive a hunter safety certificate recognized here and in all other states requiring hunter certification. Kentucky's 10-hour course offers training in gun and archery safety in a classroom setting, followed by a practice session on the firing range.

Beginning 1991, all Kentucky hunters born after January 1, 1975, will be required to take a state-approved hunter training course before purchasing a hunting license.

The hunter training officer for this area is George Mountjoy, 107 Elaine Drive, Richmond, KY 40475; phone: 369-3763.

"Patient teaching is a very important part of the mammography process."

"Women need to understand how important routine mammograms and monthly breast self-examinations are to their health."

As the radiology tech for the mammography unit, I see firsthand, women's fear of breast cancer. I also see the critical difference that early detection can make. That's why I spend time with each woman, making sure she understands proper breast self-examination techniques.

We also make a special effort to make sure each woman is comfortable. Beyond our softly decorated mammography suite, I think women can sense our genuine concern and caring."

Rockcastle County

To the People of Rockcastle County,

During the November General Election campaign for Judge/Executive, efforts will continue to be made to let you know my thinking relative to the office and job. To serve, to build, to help will be the administrative approach should I be selected to lead.

The duties of the Judge/Executive can be far reaching -- a cleaner environment, jobs, new dollars, better roads, a county-wide pride in government, assistance for those in need, water expansion projects and community development.

In the coming weeks, I will be visiting with you to discuss further your hopes for the county. Attempts will be made to keep our Action Plan for the coming years visible for critique. You are sincerely encouraged to offer both problems and solutions that might be added to the plan. The bigger the action plan gets, the busier the court and judge will be, and the more likely good treatment will be extended to all.

Your good will, your extended influence and your vote will be appreciated.

Your friend,

Roland D. Mullins

Jubilee Echoes say 'thank you'

Dear Editor,

The Jubilee Echoes wish to acknowledge, with appreciation, those who have sent us congratulatory comments on our win at the State Fair.

We were surprised and pleased, that we won, but our reason for entering was for experience. At the fair, each group is judged according to performance, and this, while exciting, was looked upon as a learning experience.

Our ministry has been eight years ago as a church quartet who did special music occasionally. We began making appearances locally and our ministry has grown quite a bit since that time.

We consider what we do as a ministry to the Lord Jesus. We pray about every decision and seek the Lord's guidance for this work. We acknowledge we can achieve nothing within ourselves. The most rewarding part of what we do is to be in service where people are blessed by the Holy Spirit.

As a group, we minister wherever the Lord allows us too, believing these are opportunities to tell about the love of Jesus.

Our appearances are made without charges, however a love offering is appreciated. We are not in a money making business and to this point, all monies have been invested in the equipment we need to continue our work.

We appreciate Farm Bureau for their generosity in promoting Gospel music. How sad our world would be without music!

Our appearance, in Nashville, which is sponsored by Farm Bureau, will also be looked upon as a learning experience. We believe all gifts and talents are the Lord's and they are to be used to the best of our ability.

We ask those of you who know about prayer, to pray that the Lord will always guide our decisions.

Thank you,
The Jubilee Echoes

LOVE AND HONOR YOUR GRANDPARENTS BUT DON'T AGE THEM

We have always been taught to honor and respect our elders, whether they be our grandparents or anyone else in their age bracket. This is right, of course, but there's one thing we should remember. Today, a great many of our older people, if the Lord has blessed them with good health, remain young and active as long as they can, in their thinking and their pursuits. They attend senior citizen luncheons and engage in all the related programs: dancing, aerobics, bridge, bingo, fund-raising activities and whatever. In any case, they don't retire to a rocking chair. We should encourage them in these efforts, and thereby narrow the generation gap. At your House of Worship and in the Bible you learn to revere your elders, and this could well be the best way you can do it.

Growing old is not upsetting; being perceived as old is.

Selling school prints

Teacher Lawrence Bullock and Les Sealf sold prints of Livingston School, during the homecoming at Livingston. The prints are a way of promoting the skill of individual artists who have exceptional talent. Les, who made the drawing, is a first year art student at Eastern Kentucky University.

Leadership

That's where the leadership development idea comes in.

There are a number of needs in the county, from garbage and trash collection, to the needs of the young for recreation, a county park, or the development of an industrial base.

Leadership Rockcastle people see a need for continuing activity and for leadership for these, and other projects.

The hope is that the first group of identified leaders can create a "ripple" effect which will draw others with ideals and energy into the program. McKinney also sees a real need to create leaders among the county's women, who she feels have been left out of most of the decision making until now.

The overall goal of the group isn't to tear down nor to divide. The stated goal is to "achieve greater unity, pride, leadership, growth and development in Rockcastle, probably in that order." The idea for finding leaders comes from the Brushy Fork meeting at Berea College in December.

"We are imitating what Berea is doing, only on a local level," said McKinney.

The grant will pay for the overnight lodging and three meals for the 10 invited people as well as for several invited lecturers. Some have already committed, including Loyal Jones, David Sawyer and Carol Lamm.

"If others are interested in attending, but not staying at Clift Rock overnight, contact one of the Leadership Rockcastle people.

Besides McKinney, those involved include Jim Rickles, Shirley Cox, Karen King, Sue Hamm, Dr. John Parsons, Glennis Miller, and Pam Challin.

McKinney said the group is close to finding funding for future endeavors.

For County Judge/Executive

GATLIFF CRAIG

Congratulations, Livingston Dear Friends,

This past week end, I had the good fortune to be able to attend two days of the Livingston Homecoming Remembrance Celebration. This proved to be one of my more rewarding experiences in a long time. In addition to the good wholesome program, I thoroughly enjoyed visiting with so many of mine and your former LHS students from years past.

To Mayor Medley and the planning committee, I commend you. It is the type of interest and effort that will help us to bring our county's image onto a par with those about us.

Again, thank's for the memories.

Very Sincerely

Gatliff Craig
