Muffin
(The Poodle on the ground)
(A true story)
By: Mayzell Ries

Today is Sunday
What will I do?
I'll dig some carrots,
To put in a stew.

I walked over to the garden,
And heard a barking sound.
A big German Shepherd, in the next lot,
Had a poodle on the ground.

It was hollering pitifully
But the German Shepherd kept barking it around
I didn't know what to do,
About the poodle on the ground.

Every time the poodle tried to get up,
The German Shepherd knocked it down.
I had to get help or he'd kill,
The poodle on the ground.

I found a neighbor,
The poodle belonged to her daughter
She woke her up and told her
And we saved the poodle from slaughter

We checked him over
To see how he had been hurt.
We couldn't find too much wrong
But we found a lot of dirt.

He might be hurt on the inside,
But we couldn't tell.
He walked some on the carpet,
And stumbled and fell.

He was frightened,
And plumb tucked under.
Oh! how I'd love to have
To give that big dog a clout.

He's such a cute little dog,
The cutest I'd ever seen.
How can one dog be so good,
And another big dog so mean.

I'll pray for you Muffin
And come see you again
So get well and take care,
Take care little friend.

He walked and lay by the fireplace,
And put his head between his paws.
He's a cute little dog,
There ought to be a law.

German Shepherds should be in pens,
Not kept on chains.
What if a kid got near them,
They could chew out their brains.

This poem is dedicated to 'Muffin'

He's a cute little guy,
It's a joy for me to see him,
As I pass by.
(All you people out there that have German Shepherds, please keep them in pens. They are dangerous on chains.
This little poodle was lucky we got to him in time to save him and it could have been a child just as well. Say just one little child strayed over to pet the dog, it wouldn't have had a chance.) Mayzell Ries ramblings..

by perlina m. anderkin
I figure one more time of mowing this 40-acre field we call a yard and this about it and if it doesn't will anyway. Does that make sense? It makes about as much sense as having a yard that can wipe out an entire day with the mowing and trimming required.

Summer, I decided that Jim had enough to do that I would take over the major yard work for him. It was about the middle of June that I first seriously considered cutting down on the groceries, the clothing allowance, never eating out again and putting the money into a salary for a gardener. I realize this is a little far-out but you have never had to mow your yard and dodge the apple trees, the rose bushes, the shrubbery,
the cherry, dogwood and pear trees, Jim's boat, his camper, the barn, the fences, the swing set, the sand box-not to mention the kids, dogs and kittens. Then you have to throw your arm out starting the push mower and trimming around the apple trees, the rose bushes, the shrubbery, etc.

This was all accounted to a mind you while most other women my age were out shopping, lounging by the pool, taking a walk, fixing something delightful for dessert or just doing nothing—and probably not feeling a bit guilty about it.

I have abandoned the idea of a gardener for another year after all,
Sara will have to spend some time home next summer since Paige's return from Las Vegas and Travis can't stay 9 years old, 4-1/2 feet tall (60 lbs. the rest of his life and I haven't been to work on Jim yet in my pitch for a blacktop yard.

I'll spend the time from now to next Spring planning my monumental food preservation campaign for next year and the myriad flowers I'm going to plant and then next summer I'll check this particular column and see how good it tastes and how pretty it looks since that's about as close as I'll get to the actual fruition of my plans.

But, I will save my conscience with the fact that I was not able to accomplish all my vegetable and flower gardening plans because I was slaving over the aforementioned
"hot" yard instead...

The aftermath of a "Him-a-cane" or "Hurricane"

By: Lu Ed Nielsen

When you live along the Gulf Coast or East Coast, or anywhere a Hurricane may form, the dreaded words you listen for are -- "Hurricane Watch in effect". This means you begin to make preparations such as: get bread, canned goods that don't need refrigeration, baby items, medications, blankets, pillows, masking tape to tape windows, boards to board up windows, candles, flashlights, rope, ax, fill up everything with water, fill vehicles with gas, secure anything and everything that is loose or could become a flying missile. After all of these things have been done you sit and wait and pray that the storm will disintegrate, change directions or not be as bad as predicted.

Watching the weather ahead of a hurricane can give an uneasy, false security. Many people will disregard the warnings that have been given and decide to wait it out even when evacuation orders have been given.

Being a veteran of Betsy, Camille and Juan we know that the Carolinas are going through it. It is no fun!
When Juan blew through Southeast
Louisiana it just missed the V-toech that I was working at. The Red Cross made our school a disaster center for six months. We saw as many as 300 people a day. Children were cared for

A LACK OF FAITH IS A HANDICAP WE CAN ALL OVERCOME

We try to help people who are handicapped in some way, by reserving convenient parking spaces for them and building special facilities to accommodate them. In some less visible ways, however, we are all handicapped. It may be by unwarranted fears and superstitions, insensitivity to others' feelings, a weakness that allows us to succumb to temptations, and so on. Regardless of our physical condition, perhaps the worst handicap of all is lack of faith. Whether we realize it or not, we should all learn what God's love can do for us. As we grow older, various infirmities will begin to chip away at us, and we will need help and courage that only faith can provide. Not knowing the joy and comfort of faith is the worst handicap of all, but it is one that each of us can overcome, if we try.

Adversity is not without comforts and hopes.
—Francis Bacon

BY FAITH WE ADJUST TO THE LOSS OF MATERIAL THINGS

In their small town, it had never been thought necessary to lock a house or a car. The town was growing, however, and the crime rate along with it. One night, after dining out, they found their car gone from the parking lot. It had contained a camera and some new clothes. Although the car was later found, it is not likely that the items in it will ever be recovered. Meanwhile, the couple's reliance on faith had given them a philosophical attitude toward their loss. "It's only material things," said the wife. "Our family members are in good health, and that's really important." Most of us will never have our cars stolen, but some form of disaster will eventually occur. We should let our House of Worship remind us of our priorities, so that we may be better able to cope with whatever life brings.

Kentucky poet, essayist and novelist

Jim Wayne Miller to be at FLC Thursday night

Kentucky poet, essayist, and novelist Jim Wayne Miller will be in Mt. Vernon, Thursday, October 12, addressing the Christian Appalachian Project (CAP) volunteers in a morning program entitled "What are the issues facing Eastern Kentucky in the 90's."

In the evening, at 6:30, he will be reading from his latest novel, NEWFOUND, scheduled for release this month by Orchard Books, and from several of his books of poetry as he talks about "Appalachia: A Sense of Community." Miller's publications include seven collections of poems, all rooted in the Appalachian South. The Mountains Have Come Closer

Jim Wayne Miller will be speaking and reading from his books of poetry at his forthcoming novel Newfound at the Family Life Center School Tonight.

(1980) received the Thomas Wolfe Literary Award. Vein of Words received the Appalachian Writers Association Award for the best book of 1984. Brier, His Book, published by Gnomon Press of Frankfort, Kentucky in 1988, was recently designated co-recipient of an award given by the North Carolina Poetry Society. Gnomon Press has scheduled

Miller's Dialogue With a Dead Man for re-issue.

Miller's work is featured in two 30-minute color video programs: Poetry: A Beginner's Guide, and I Have a Place: The Poetry of Jim Wayne Miller. Both programs have aired on Kentucky Educational Television as well as on many public television stations throughout the country.

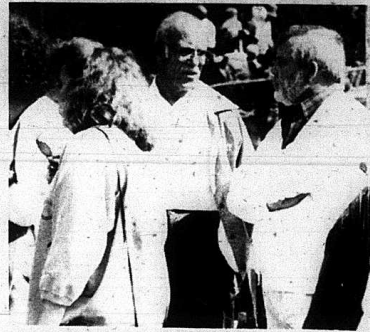

His essays and poems have been anthologized in such collections as Voices From the Hills, A Geography of Poets, An Ear to the Ground, An Anthology of Contemporary American Poetry, and Scott Foresman's text, United States in Literature.

The Sewanee Review finds Miller's poems characterized by "a kind of comfortably rugged competence." Another critic describes Miller's work as having "an after-rain clarity," while a reviewer for Choice states: "Miller writes the kind of poems that, were they animals, we would say they still had a little wildness in them."

An advance review of Newfound finds that in the novel Miller has "created a world much like the world of contrasts he himself grew up in. These contrasts inform the seven volumes of poetry he has written. Like Miller himself, his protagonist is introduced to poetry, song and story, and shows sensitivity to language at an early age. Newfound is a kind of Appalachian Bildungsroman, a partially autobiographical novel of a place with rich old roots and growing space."

Miller's reading, scheduled for 6:30 p.m. at the Family Life Center School is funded in part by the Kentucky Humanities Council and the National Endowment for the Humanities. There is no admission charge and the public is invited.

Austin Mobley, center, who along with his wife Faye, operate a craft shop at Renfro was among the visitors to the Molasses Festival Saturday. Mobley is shown talking to his son Gary.

Adult educators attend workshop

Conference stressing educational partnerships in addressing new and innovative programs at the community level. The program is designed to motivate personal and professional excellence among its participants and, at the same time, to assist in the implementation of school/community partnerships. The Kentucky Educational Foundation along with the Kentucky Department of Education sponsored the Commonwealth Institute for teachers.

If everyone knew what was happening at Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Kentucky, we wouldn't need this ad.

Things are changing at Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Kentucky. What was considered good performance in the past won't cut it in the present. We're working to get better.

In June a new president, Steve Bow, took over the reins. He talked with employees about how to make our company better. He talked to customers: the ones we have, the ones who left, and the ones who never tried us. Now, we've begun turning those words into actions.

"We've got a real challenge ahead of us. It's up to every employee to energize our company...to make it more proactive, more customer-driven than ever before."

That philosophy is sparking a company-wide revolution. We're streamlining claims procedures for more efficient processing. We're breaking our customer service folks into smaller, specially trained teams so they can answer your questions more quickly. And there are more changes coming.

"I want to see this company move back to its original value system, a system of caring for the customer, and a belief that the customer is important. In our rapidly changing, complex and competitive world of healthcare, it is even more important for us to get back to personal service and products designed to fulfill customers' needs."

Changes were needed. Changes are being made. Choose us again, or for the first time. And choose the company that realizes good isn't good enough anymore. Call Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Kentucky or your independent agent.

Good isn't good enough anymore.

Tax bills have been mailed out by now, payment and collections scheduled

The annual tax collections for real estate and tangible property has begun in Rockcastle County.

This year, the county has 7,223 taxpayers who own $137,704,431 in real estate, plus another $33,762,049 in commercial or industrial property.

The real estate taxes breaks down into $61,736,457 in residential property and $51,884,075 in farm property.

While the Property Valuation Administrator's office shows 7,223 tax payers, the sheriff's office has just 6,598 tax books, says assistant Joann Smith.

The sheriff's office has the responsibility for collecting all of the annual taxes, except for auto and truck, which are collected during the licensing month.

Most everyone with taxable income should have already received a tax notice. For those not yet notified, contact the sheriff's department.

Those who pay their taxes before Nov. 1 get a standard two percent discount.

Those who pay by Dec. 31, but after Nov. 1, will pay the face value of the tax notice.

For those paying between Jan. 1 and Jan. 31, 1990, a two-percent penalty is added. For those paying after Jan. 31, a six-percent penalty is added to the cost.

For those whose names appear on the annual delinquent list, another $1.50 per account is charged to pay for the advertising of the list.

Grand Jury hands down three more indictments based on total of 11 counts

The Rockcastle County Grand Jury has returned three indictments involving four people and 11 charges.

Edward F. McGuire of Orlando was charged with four counts, including driving under the influence, attempting to elude a police officer, driving with no insurance, and warrant endangerment.

The counts stem from an incident June 13, when he was charged with DUI, and driving for nine miles before stopping after being signaled by police to pull over. The driving with no insurance and warrant endangerment charges were added for actions and findings after he was stopped.

Larry Edward Wernmouth of Brookfield was charged with six counts, including first degree warrant endangerment, no operator's license, speeding, attempting to elude, drinking alcoholic beverages in a public place, and the illegal transporting of alcoholic beverages in a dry territory.

The charges come from an Aug. 26 incident in which the defendant was charged with doing 95 miles per hour in Rockcastle County, and attempting to elude police officers by running from them.

When pulled over, he had in his possession 13 1/2 cases of Budweiser beer, a case of Seagrams whiskey, a case of Wild Irish Rose, a half case of vodka and a half case of Kessler whiskey.

Robert Witt was charged with cultivating marijuana in Rockcastle County. He was charged with possessing 55 marijuana plants.

Cottrell barn burns Tuesday after struck by lightning; tobacco is lost

A barn belonging to Benny Cottrell was destroyed by fire Tuesday when it was hit by lightning during the morning storm that raged through the county.

She and her grandson, Darrell, lost 1,800 pounds of tobacco in it. Darrell Cottrell said he never saw the barn before it was destroyed.

They haven't lost the tobacco, but they don't know where it is. They haven't lost the tobacco, but they don't know where it is.

Based on an estimate, the loss could be as high as $500,000.

Loss of two children to drunk drivers leads woman to MADD

By: Richard Anderkin
Managing Editor

Her story is one of tragedy, the kind of tragedy that all mothers and fathers fear the most.

Nine years ago, Elizabeth Price's life was changed forever by a automobile accident caused by a drunk driver that claimed the life of her son.

Only two and a half years later, another drunk driver killed Mrs. Price's youngest daughter in a separate auto accident in Kelly, Georgia.

Mrs. Price and her husband, Gerald, brought their sad story to the local chapter meeting of Mothers Against Drunk Drivers (MADD) Tuesday night. They live in Johnson City, TN.

The Price's son was 29 years old at the time and her daughter was 20. They were two of the Price's six children.

29-year-old Timmy was killed on his way home from work in Massachusetts by a driver, who when police arrived was so drunk he could not stand up. His blood alcohol level was .22.

Timmy left behind his wife and two small children that will never know their loving father, they will only know what we tell them," said Mrs. Price, who is a supporter of MADD on the national and state level.

Timmy was killed on a back road in Massachusetts, a state where, at the time, drunk driving laws were vague and ineffective.

Timmy's death marked the beginning of Mrs. Price's involvement in MADD which culminated in a trip to the White House to meet President Reagan and members of his staff for a ceremony proclaiming National Drug Awareness Week.

Mrs. Price was very adamant about the grief that drunk driving can cause.

"My children's rights were never considered, they were both adults with every right to be on the highway and in a matter of seconds they were slaughtered," she said in tears.

Mrs. Price's daughter Elizabeth, who had moved back home to comfort her mother and father after their son's death had been married only ten months at the time of her death in Kelly, Georgia. Elizabeth had been very instrumental in helping her mother in MADD and she was extra special to her mother because she had been born seven years after the Price's fifth child.

"You can't imagine the heartache, the torment, the emptiness that comes along with the loss of one child, much less two.

"It took only seconds for years of work and worry, to see that children turn out to be caring, loving, God fearing adults, to be needlessly ensnared," Mrs. Price said.

In both accidents, the drunk

Too late now for new voters to register

If you have not yet registered to vote, and either were not at previous voting rolls, have moved, or wanted to change party affiliation, but hadn't...

You are too late.

Voter registration ended Tuesday, Oct. 10. You are not eligible to vote in November, with its heavy log of local offices up for grabs.

At stake this fall are the following: county judge-executive, Mt. Vernon mayor, several magisterial seats, seats on Mt. Vernon city council, and district judge seats.

A total of 37 people are seeking election this year.

But, after the election, the registration books in county clerk Norma Houk's office will be reopened.

Elizabeth Price (center) chats with Margaret Offutt (left) and Linda Burton at Tuesday's meeting of Mothers Against Drunk Drivers. Mrs. Price has lost two children to drunk drivers, and related her story to members of the local chapter of MADD.

drivers were 18-year-olds boys with no driver's license and prior arrests. The drunk driver that caused Elizabeth's death had a blood alcohol level of .24.

"The boy that caused Timmy Price's death spent one night in jail and was finally acquitted of the crime altogether.

After three appeals, Elizabeth's killer was sentenced to six years in the state penitentiary.

Mrs. Price said that too often people that are not personally involved in such tragedies look at the statistics and never really realize what pain and anguish has been caused.

"My children are part of the statistics," she said, "but they were both warm, flesh and blood human beings, who were needlessly slaughtered," she said.

To emphasize her point she showed 8 x 10 pictures of her children.

"When my children died a part of me and my husband died," she said.

"Drunk drivers just don't kill the person involved in the accident they kill entire families," she said. "My life, my husband's life and our other children and grandchildren's lives have been changed forever," she continued.

Mrs. Price called alcohol the country's number one abused drug.

She quoted statistics such as fewer people are killed by all other drugs such as cocaine, heroine, marijuana, LSD combined, than die from alcohol related deaths each year.

The year Len Bias died from cocaine overdose 100,000 people died in the U.S. from alcohol-related tragedies, 25 times more than were killed by other drugs combined.

Every twenty minutes in the United States someone is killed in a drunk driving accident.

On the average 54,000 teenagers are killed each year in alcohol related tragedies.

The death rate for Americans age 15 to 24 is higher now than it was 20 years ago, while all other age groups have a greater life expectancy than ever before.

Alcohol related crashes are the leading cause of death among teenagers.

Half of all automobile deaths in the United States are alcohol related. Mrs. Price was very adamant about strong drunk driving laws.

"Nine out of ten offenders who have to spend 48 hours in jail will think twice before getting drunk and climbing behind the wheel of a car, causing that car to become a deadly, deadly weapon," she said.

"Drunk driving is a dastardly crime and it should be treated that way," she said further.

"I'm sick and tired of hearing about people who are sympathetic to drunk drivers because they might lose

Renfro will hold talent search this Saturday

Renfro Valley will hold its first Talent Search Showcase, Saturday, October 14 in an effort to give aspiring new performers a chance for exposure.

"We hope this will give these entertainers a chance to further their careers in the entertainment business," said Renfro Valley Director of Entertainment Glenn Pennington.

Pennington noted that Renfro Valley receives numerous requests from performers to make guest appearances on its shows. However, "time constraints just don't permit us to honor all of the requests."

Pennington said the Talent Search Showcase will give these performers a chance to perform at Renfro Valley and also get needed exposure. A total of 13 acts have entered the Showcase.

Prizes will be awarded to the first three finishers, with the winning act invited to perform on a future Renfro Valley show.

Renfro Valley, located 50 miles south of Lexington on Interstate 75, has been a historic center of country and traditional music for 50 years.

Edna Newcomb and her mother, Wanda Hensley, escaped harm when this Ford pickup truck they were driving stalled on the CSX tracks at Needle Point Crossing Tuesday. They were on their way to visit friends when the truck stalled on the tracks. While they were trying to push it off them, they heard a train whistle coming through the double tunnels near there. A train crewman saw them and waved them away from the truck when he realized the train couldn't stop in time to avoid an accident. The train was coming from Corbin when it hit the truck about 3:30 p.m., and pushed and dragged it about 125 feet, according to Kentucky State Trooper Gary Lane, who investigated with trooper Craig Sutton. No charges have been filed in the accident.

From Our Readers

Dear Editor,
On behalf of the senior citizens who participated in the Cumberland Valley Senior games and those who were unable to attend, but remained back home cheering the others on, we would like to express our appreciation to the Bank of Mt. Vernon for sponsoring our county's seniors.

The contribution of the Bank of Mt. Vernon made it possible for everyone to wear matching T-shirts identifying our group as Rockcastle County Senior Citizens, purchased breakfast, provided lunch catered to the site and a certificate for each participant.

Rockcastle County was well represented in the competition and brought home twenty-two medals.

Thank you,
Shirley Commins,

Parents respond

Dear Editor,

This letter is in response to the one that was written in the Oct. 5th issue of the Signal.

First of all we are the proud parents of the one man exhibition player for the Mt. Vernon Bucs. His name is Jason Weaver, and he is 11 years old. He was born Nov. 12, 1977 at 12:38 p.m. at Pattie A. Clay Hospital. If anyone would like to have a copy of his birth certificate we would be more than happy to give you one.

Kristy Lovell is eight years old and rode 23 miles in the CF Bike-a-thon. Kristy chose the skate board for her gift. Kristy is the daughter of Roger and Brenda Lovell.

We as parents have tried our best to overlook and ignore all the talk and smart remarks about our son. But now we feel like we should be able to speak our peace since about everyone else has. We have tried to see the parents of the others teams point. However no one else has even considered our feelings.

In the paper it stated that the players should be matched according to age and weight although Jason is the right age, tell me how you can match them according to weight when all kids are different and that's what makes him so special to us!

We, his parents, do not want to see any serious injuries either, but you have not one time really seen him hit on the little team as hard as he can because we have talked to him and told him that the kids are smaller than he is and the coaches are holding him back also.

Jason has played football for going on four years and has gone up against boys two times his size but we never complained because we knew that when you play football that's the chance you have to take. The paper stated that Jason was three times bigger than the quarterback. He looked like he weighed more than 60 pounds to us!

If this was your son would you make him sit out when he loved football as much as our son? Or would you be proud of him and accept him as God has made him. We thank God for what He has given to us.

The only unpersimmonative behavior we see is all the talk from the parents from the other teams. It is causing our son problems dealing with this situation because in three years from now all of our kids will be playing on the same team. What will the parents do then, complain because Jason is playing beside their son?

We would like to say thank you to all the parents of the Mt. Vernon Bucs and the great coaches for giving us their support helping us deal with Brittany Asher is four years old and rode six miles in the CF Bike-a-thon. Brittany chose the sleeping bag for her gift. Brittany is the daughter of Gary and Sherry Asher.

Dear Editor,

I was present in the commissioners office when Verla Scott made her sixth trip asking for lights to be installed at the interchange of 461 and highway 25. The state gave the right away to install three lights but couldn't furnish the poles. She came back to Mt. Vernon and went to Ron Cain of Kentucky Utilities to ask him if they would furnish the poles. They graciously accepted and we thank them for their community service.

Another opinion on Negro Creek Road

To Whom It May Concern;

I am writing about people wanting to change Negro Creek Road to Oak Valley Road. It's been Negro Creek Road ever since I was born, 55 years ago. I began my first year of school there and walked from Bowling Ridge to school, passed by aunt Rose and uncle Doc Chandlers place. There were not many houses from there to school. I believe three.

My father, A.A. Proffit, built a church, my brothers helped. That was a long time ago. He was a mail carrier for the people on Negro Creek Road. Besides the people are pronouncing the word Negro wrong.

Look it up, I did, and here's what I found.
Né gér A member of the black race, nig' gér. A contemptuous term applied to a member of the black race. There are two families living on the block I live on, one no more than five feet between our houses. A mother trying to raise two sons and two grandchildren. They don't mind to be called colored, black or negro. Don't call them niggers. I asked a black woman one time what was the difference, between a negro and nigger. Here's what she said, a negro is a person minding their own business, keeping her house in order. A nigger is a person who sticks his nose in the negro's business. And she said you find whites the same. There are good

I've created a monstrous problem for myself, but by golly I'd write a book on mole beans if I thought it would sell. The problem has to do with a pile of mail that fills two shoe boxes which I feel obligated to answer. All of it has to do with mole eradication in general or it specifically details the properties of a plant first mentioned to me as a "mole bean".

Since my plea of ignorance on the subject a couple of weeks ago, several dozen people have either called or written. An even dozen have sent me mole bean seeds. Several have sent me photocopied pages from various encyclopedias, textbooks, Organic Gardening, Reader's Digest and other journals. A mole bean is actually a castor seed. It grows on a plant about six feet tall that doesn't remotely resemble a bean. In Letcher County where I grew up, it was called a dog tick plant.

According to the same old parts of the castor bean plant are deadly poisonous. The theory is that moles will eat the roots or seeds and die. It also tells how to squeeze castor oil out of the seeds which are, in fact, scientifically called castor beans. My theory is that they get some oil out of the seeds and die of diarrhea.

My next door neighbor, Gladys Nave, told me how to get rid of moles by putting juicy fruit chewing gum in the holes. You'll remember that the moles are supposed to love the flavor but they can't digest gum. They die of constipation. I'm here to tell you that if they get into some castor oil they'll be cured of that problem. Fast!

One of the things that has surprised me about the mail, however, is that at least a third of the writers have made it quite clear that they don't want their names put in the paper. A bashful reader from Nancy, began his letter thusly, "Dear Ike, if you mention my name in the paper I'll sue and if the courts don't satisfy me, I'll come to Paint Lick and track you down."

Hey. Don't worry. I simply don't have enough space in this column to acknowledge all the folks who have written but I'm still worried. Apparently a large number of people are not willing to admit in public that they read this column. On the other hand they do feel so sorry for me that they'll take the time to write. I'm thankful for that.

Another shy friend from Brodhead suggested poison peanuts. "But don't touch 'em with your bare hands or the moles won't eat 'em" she said and explained that they could be purchased at farm supply stores. "I don't want to make headlines in no paper", she said. "I'm just telling you how to kill moles."

Mrs. Polly Buck of Jackson, Ohio wrote to say that she bought a rat terrier and by the time she was six months old he began wagging war on her mole plague. I don't have six months to wait while a dog grows up before getting rid of my problem. I'm going to write Mrs. Buck to see if she'd board my dog, Newton for a couple of weeks while her dog teaches him how to hunt moles.

Wylyene Creech of Jenkins doesn't have as much faith in mole beans as she does in dutch Bulb flower called the Crown Imperial. The pictures she sent are beautiful, but Lord Have Mercy, they cost $11.50 per bulb and I'd need at least five hundred "Crown Imperials are a little expensive", says Ms. Creech, but they're worth it." She doesn't know that I don't have anything worth five thousand dollars and that includes my mole problem.

Georgia Oakes, also of Jenkins, sent me a nearly empty, but still enough to get started with can of stuffed Black Leaf Mole and Gopher killer that she had brought in Pound, Virginia. She also sent along some mole bean seed but she said that the brought on stuff was so good that there wasn't any sense in putting up with the trouble that mole beans required but she still wanted me to see what they looked like.

Mrs. Carl Farris of East Bernstadt sent me a mole bean leaf, a freshly picked seed pod and a leaf bigger than a dinner plate. But she said they didn't work for her and that if I found anything that did I should let her know. Then she chewed me out for cussing too much in my column. So far this week I haven't said & *##@ one time, Chris Allen also of East Bernstadt, Paul Akers of Waco, Birdie Deyhouse of Louisville and some other folks all sent seeds. I've got several envelopes full of mole beans that I can't match up with letters.

Virgil Clark of London, Viola Caudill of Georgetown, Vendetta Fields of Whitesburg, Paul Kyser of Winchester and Shirley Landen of London all sent scientific and technical information on mole beans. And hey!!! Shirley Landen actually has a functioning outhouse that they use when company comes. Sensible Shirley, we call her now.

Finally, Edsel Hacker of London said he still thought a shotgun was the best idea and that it wouldn't splatter so bad if I'd use number eight shot. He said a 22 rifle was good too but, "you'll miss some". So far I've missed with everything.

If you are a parent your greatest fear is probably that one of your children will die at an early age. I know it is mine.

Tuesday night a lady from Johnson City TN. visited the local chapter of MADD and relayed one of the saddest stories I have ever heard.

Mrs. Elizabeth Price told me the deaths of two of her children due to drunk driving. It was horrible. Anyone that heard Mrs. Price's story certainly would think twice before getting loaded and getting behind the wheel of a car.

Drunk Drivers are a menace to society and drunk driving is a crime, yet in Rockcastle County we had to have the state step in to clean up our act.

I hope that things don't get into the same shape again after the special docket is over, but chances are it probably will.

Mrs. Price made several valid points such as the fact that alcohol is accepted freely by society and yet the same government bans cigarette ads on television and allows a puppy dog to peddle alcohol.

I certainly hope no one has to go through what Mrs. Price did and we certainly have been lucky in Rockcastle so far. Maybe folks will wake up finally and demand proper prosecution.....

Last Thursday Kentucky Governor Wallace Wilkinson told supporters in Lincoln County that Ky. 150 from Stanford to Mt. Vernon would be rebuilt as he has promised. The only problem is that Wilkinson doesn't have the $54 million the state says it will cost and the project has been pushed back in the state's six-year highway plan.

I'm sure the Governor can't find the money but I know where $180 million is if he doesn't.

That is how much has been spent on the state lottery to date since its beginning six months ago.

On the average, Kentucky adults age 18 and older, have spent $64.72 per person on the state lottery. That's an average.

And I know for a fact that thousands of Kentucky adults have spent nothing on the lottery and the average amount spent by only those that play would be ghastly.

Frank Keener and his buddies at the Lottery Commission would have you to believe that no harm is being done by the lottery.

They will tell you that they have made four new millionaires in the state of Kentucky since the inception of the lottery. That is totally deceptive and misleading.

Sure maybe four people have won a million dollars a piece, but a millionaire is someone that has holdings whether it be cash, property, bonds or whatever which have a net worth of a million dollars.

The lottery's million dollar winners receive only $38,000 a year after taxes, over a 20 year period. Sure that is a nice stipend, but it is a far cry from making them a millionaire.

The lottery commission is still the one making the money off the million dollars these folks supposedly win.

They draw about $95,000 a year from the million dollars and pay out only $50,000 including taxes. A real racket wouldn't you say.

To date $455,149.00 has been spent on the lottery in Rockcastle alone, making the average adult spend about $45.97 since the beginning. But the same holds true here. Hundreds in our county have spent Safety first!

Students at Roundstone Elementary had their second bus safety drill of the semester last Thursday. Larry Hammond, Transportation Director for Rockcastle County Schools, says this is the first year that students will have four such sessions, designed to acquaint students with use of emergency exits, where to find them, how to open them. At Roundstone, the students practiced going out either the front or the back just before leaving school. Drivers of the buses were in charge, with assistance from teachers. Earlier this year, each class in the county saw a video, then walked through a bus to go over procedures with their respective teachers. Other drills are scheduled the first week of the second semester, and during the week of the boys' state basketball tournament. County schools have been holding similar drills since at least 1982, said Hammond.

Research on fathering

Fathers are becoming more involved in nurturing their children. Both family specialists and the general public see this as a positive and encouraging sign. In 1970, 30 percent of Americans believed it was important for fathers and mothers to spend an equal amount of time with children. By 1986, that figure had risen to 91 percent. This shift in roles is influenced by two major social changes: the increase in the number of women working and the high divorce rate.

As more and more mothers join the work force, fathers are being asked to take on more responsibilities at home. Instead of remaining on the fringe of family life, many fathers are helping more with child care and housekeeping.

Fathers also are profoundly influenced by today's high divorce rate. If they are not directly involved in divorce, most men have friends who are. They witness the loss their friends experience and re-examine the importance of their own family relationships. Remarriage and step-fathering also are creating new challenges for many fathers.

According to sociologist Lewis Yablonsky, a man's fathering style is influenced by some or all of the following factors: his enthusiasm for being a father projected by the mass media, his occupation, his temperament, the way family members relate to each other and the number of children he has. No single style of fathering or mothering, no matter how ideal it appears, is right for everyone. Research on father-child relationships demonstrates:

*Generosity in preschool boys was more likely when their fathers were viewed as nurturing, affectionate and comforting.

*Concern for others in children grades 3 to 6 was more likely when their fathers participated in caring for them during infancy.

*Loving fathers who provide reasonable, firm guidance without imposing their will promote competence in their children. Unloving, authoritarian fathers tend to produce dependent, withdrawn, anxious and dejected children.

*Warm, accepting fathers tend to have children with high self-esteem. Alienated adolescents view their parents as hostile and non-accepting.

*Warm, affectionate fathers influence the development of their children's sex-role behavior. They also have a positive influence on achievement and peer popularity in boys and personal adjustment in girls.

*Adolescent daughters recalled less affection and support from their fathers than the fathers recalled expressing. Daughters wished they had received and fathers wished they had given, more affection and support.

*Moral judgement is at a low level in boys and girls who view their fathers' control as overly dominant.

*Children may experience personal problems and difficulty in school if they are frequently dominated and punished by their fathers.

*Delinquent boys are likely to have fathers who are controlling, rigid and prone to alcoholism. These fathers may use physical punishment as a form of discipline and they tend to be inconsistent and erratic in their child-rearing techniques.

Gregory Scholarship

Joe Gregory of Mt. Vernon has received a Wendell C. DeMarcus Scholarship at the University of Kentucky.

The scholarship, which has a value of one academic school year tuition, honors a UK alumnus who later returned to serve the university for many years as a distinguished scholar and teacher, is awarded to meritorious undergraduate students who are interested in the study of physics.

Priority awarding of the scholarship is given to freshmen, who are evaluated on the basis of their high school performance, ACT scores, and biographical and career goal statements.

Gregory is the son of William D. and Mary Gregory of Mt. Vernon. A sophomore physics major, Gregory is a member of Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity.

He is also a member of Alpha Lambda Delta honorary, Phi Eta Sigma honorary, Lambda Sigma Society and the Society of Physics Students.

When asked to describe his major, Gregory replied "rough."

nothing so the ones playing are spending a lot.

I guess I feel about the lottery the same way I do about the seat belt law. In some instances, especially for kids sakes, we need to be protected from ourselves.

There is no doubt in my mind that some kids have gone to bed hungry across this state since the lottery began.

It's a shame.....

This week Sports Editor Jim Griesel's column is about a youngster who is playing in youth league football this season.

Some folks that read Jim's column may think that it is a slap at the child, but that certainly is not the case.

Jim is simply trying to make a point about how the child's situation is being handled poorly by the league. It is certainly no knock on the child because he cannot help the situation he has been put in by adults.

Having been a coach in the local football league, I can also understand the pressure that a coach puts himself under to win. Often times that pressure causes a coach to make poor decisions about a player and what is best for him.

But if the league would step in and set guidelines for weight by position then a lot of the decision making would be taken out of the coaches hands.

The old argument of it is wrong to treat kids differently certainly doesn't wash here either. Every case is different and in this case you have to take into consideration what is best for the child and for the entire league as a whole.

After all, the entire purpose of the youth league is to get kids ready for high school competition. Therefore the ultimate goal should be to do what is best for the athletes involved and to try and teach them as much as possible. Then if you win after that is accomplished it is even better. . . .

(1) Within or adjacent to timberland, dispose of a lighted match, cigarette, cigar, ashes, or other flaming or glowing substance, or any other substance or thing in such condition that is likely to ignite a forest, brush, grass or woods fire, or throw or drop any of the aforesaid objects or substances from a moving vehicle or drop or leave any of the aforesaid objects or substances within the limits of the right-of-way of any road or highway in such timberland. The driver of a moving vehicle shall be deemed prima facie liable where it cannot be determined which of the occupants of the moving vehicle threw or dropped any of the aforesaid objects or substances.

(2) Smoke in timberland during an emergency period of fire danger as proclaimed in KRS 149.405.

(3) Set fire or cause or procure the setting on fire of any flammable material on timberland of another without the consent of the owner.

(4) Set fire or cause or procure the setting on fire of any flammable material on timberland, without notifying adjacent landowners and without taking reasonable precautions both before and after lighting the fire and at all times thereafter to prevent escape thereof.

(5) Deposit or leave unattended on any railroad or highway right-of-way within or adjacent to timberland, any fire or live coals, or set or maintain thereon any fire for the purpose of cooking, heating, or providing light or warmth unless such fire is enclosed within a stove, drum, fireplace or other properly prepared location.

(6) Within or adjacent to timberland, set a backfire or cause a backfire to be set, except under the direct supervision of the department for natural resources and environmental protection, or unless it can be established that the setting of such backfire is necessary for the purpose of saving life or valuable property.

(8) Use or operate within or adjacent to timberland a welding torch, tarpot, or other device which may cause fire, without clearing flammable material surrounding the operation or without taking such other reasonable precautions necessary to ensure against the starting spreading of fire.

(9) Light, maintain or use a fire for cooking, heating or providing light or warmth upon lands not his own and within or adjacent to timberland, without first obtaining permission from the owner, lessee or agent thereof.

(10) Light or maintain within or adjacent to timberland, a bonfire within one hundred fifty feet (150') of any house or building.

(12) Have in his possession on timberland any incendiary or tracer bullet, or tracer charge, except in the course of transporting the same in conformity with law.

(13) Light or maintain within or adjacent to timberland an open fire or campfire without clearing flammable material surrounding such fire as necessary to ensure against the escape or spread thereof, or leave such fire before it is extinguished.

(14) Kindle or start, or direct another to kindle or start, any fire in or near a public or private road within or adjacent to timberland unless it is under control at all times, and properly extinguished before left.

149.375. Setting Fire On Own Land Regulated. It shall be unlawful, within or adjacent to timberland, for any person to set fire to, or to procure another to set fire to, any flammable material upon land owned or leased by him unless he previously shall have taken all reasonable care and precaution, by having the flammable material cut and piled or carefully cleared around the same, to prevent the spread of such fires to lands other than those owned or leased by him. It shall also be unlawful for any employee of any such owner or lessee of land to set fire to any flammable material, upon such land unless he shall have taken similar precautions to prevent the spread of such fire to any other land. (2) Willfully, maliciously, or wantonly allow a fire to escape from his land and burn the land or property of another.

(3) Willfully, maliciously, or wantonly set, throw or place any device, instrument or paraphernalia in or adjacent to any timberland with intent to set fire to such land, or which in the natural course of events would result in fire being set to such timberland.

149.385. Wood, Saw or Processing Mills and Railroads, Regulations. (1) Any person operating or

30 participate in senior games at London

The Cumberland Valley Area Agency on Aging held its senior games for the eight-county area on Sept. 29, at the Felner 4-H Camp Grounds in London. Each county was represented by seniors who enrolled at their senior center to participate in the events.

A light rain fell upon the events most of the day, but did not dampen the spirits of the participants. The crafts on display, shuffleboard and checker games were held under a shelter, while other games including washers, softball toss, spincast, and horseshoe pitching continued outside despite the occasional drizzle of rain.

Rockcastle County Senior Citizens, sponsored by the Bank of Mt. Vernon was represented by thirty senior citizens enrolled for the competition. Each person played in games with others of their age group. The Mt. Vernon Senior Center won the first place blue ribbon for a quilt handmade by a group. In the crafts division of quilts machine-made by an individual, Alifair Burkhart of the Brodhead Center won second place for her entry.

Once again, John Northern of Brodhead won the first place trophy for the game of checkers. He remains to be our champion and the champion of Cumberland Valley.

Hazel Siemp accepted the Blue Ribbon for the Mt. Vernon Center's quilt.

MULLINS

Republican Candidate for County Judge/Executive

Opponent For fourteen years, I served on the Cumberland Valley District Board, both as a member and as an elected officer of that board. The ups and downs of the Cumberland Valley development project during my opponent's employment era are well known to me. As a member of the Board, his employer, during that time, I know his strengths as a planner/executive, work habits, travel policy, program evaluation results, etc. and am appreciative of his efforts. Thus, during the course of this campaign, it is my plan and desire to say nothing worse about him than the following: "My opponent is a long-time acquaintance, an employee for fourteen years and a colleague."

Patronage Webster's definition of the word "patronage" is "kindness done with an air of superiority" or the "power to make appointments to government jobs on a basis other than merit."...The definition casts a shadow over the word; it takes on an ugly tone. Patronage sometimes allows public officials to survive without serving the general good, without having a plan that includes all, or that serves all. Friendship Supporting one another because of friendship ties is one of the most important endeavors that a community experiences. Too many leaders confuse this issue with "dividing the pie."...They think in terms of helping self, family and friends, thus excluding others. The county's resources belong to all of the people just as the rain does. Efficiently serving all results in good treatment for all--truly an act of friendship.

...grateful for your friendship, assistance & vote.

Governor Wilkinson promises new 150

Molasses Festival at Renfro

Over 10,000 people turned out for the annual Molasses Festival at Renfro Valley over the past weekend. In the top photo, Hub Nicholson and Edgar Williams make Molasses for Townsend's Sorghum of Jeffersonstown Ky. The Molasses and good country music were a big hit with the visitors who also shopped for crafts and ate delicious food prepared on the grounds. In the middle photo Tammy, Tara and Cody Cox and John Conley listen to the music, while at left Randy Hays, a Renfro Barn Dance entertainer, who use to play with the late Keith Whitley, signs two autographs.

During Democratic rally in Stanford Thursday night

By: Richard Anderkin

Kentucky Governor Wallace G. Wilkinson reaffirmed his promise last Thursday that U.S. 150 between Stanford and Mt. Vernon would be built.

Wilkinson was the honored guest at a rally for Lincoln County Democrats in Stanford.

"We are going to build 150. I have told you that, and I mean it," Wilkinson told a crowd of about 600 after he and his wife, Martha, arrived by helicopter at a party rally at the fairgrounds in Lincoln County. "Before I leave office, we'll either have the road done or have it so far along it'll have to be finished," he said.

Local democratic chairman, Mrs. Verita Scott, who has had the Governor's ear during his administration, was in attendance.

The much talked about proposal calls for U.S. 150 to be rebuilt from Stanford to Mount Vernon and for the roadway to form a dam across Cedar Creek, creating a 780-acre lake near the William Whitley House state shrine.

The lake would help alleviate some of Lincoln County's severe water shortage problems.

State transportation officials have placed the price tag on the 21-mile stretch at $54 million. Doing only the section from Stanford to Crab Orchard would cost an estimated $23 million. That alternative has been mentioned several times because it would clear the way to build the dam, which Lincoln County needs desperately.

Wilkinson acknowledged Thursday that he doesn't have the money and that the project has been pushed back in the state's six year highway plan because funding has not been identified.

"Let me be perfectly honest with you. I have not yet found the money to do it," the Governor said. But he assured the crowd that he is committed to the project and that it will be built. Wilkinson said he will be remembered as the Governor who kept his word.

Mrs. Scott said this week that she hoped the state legislature would work with the Governor to find the money, because the renovation of 150 is very much needed.

"It will help both counties a lot to have a new safer road and I am going to remind the Governor of his promise very often," she said.

RCCHS recall team loses two of three

The Rockcastle County High academic team ran into tough going on its own turf last Thursday, dropping two of three matches in quick recall competition at the varsity level, and all three in JV play.

Rockcastle downed Russell County 20-18, with Chuck Mink's nine right answers and Carrie Mullins' five leading the way.

But, Lincoln rolled by Rockcastle 22-13 and Garrard roared past by 37-7.

Kevin Rowe had five right answers against Lincoln, while Angie McKinney had three against Garrard.

The JV's lost to Russell County 20-15, Lincoln County 22-14, and Garrard County 24-14.

The team is in action this Thursday at Clinton County, where they will take on Clinton County, Monticello and Somerset.

The varsity is now 2-4 after two weeks of play, while the JV's are now 1-5.

"What Saith the Scriptures"

In 1 Jn. 3:4, we read, "Whosoever committeth sin transgresseth also the law; for sin is the transgression of the law." We live in a time when folks are trying to deny sin in subtle ways. Let's notice some of them.

Drunkenness is called "alcoholism" which many claim is a "disease." It's like getting a cold, one shouldn't feel guilty over such a "disease." People have what is called "affairs" instead of what the Bible calls the "heinous crime" of adultery, Job 3:1-11. Covetousness is called "business ambition," which sounds alright. The sin of homosexuality is now termed by many as "alternate life style." People wave the wand of excuse over anger and wrath by saying, "That's just the way I am." Things like pride and arrogance are camouflaged by calling it "building self-esteem" (there is a legitimate self-love, Mt. 22:39). Unmarried people who are involved sexually with someone else are having a "meaningful relationship" instead of what God calls fornication. People can try to kill the President of the United States, and be declared innocent because he is "mentally insane." Dishonesty, cheating, swindling and stealing are called "shrewd business policy" today instead of sin.

Friends, when God calls something sin, whether it be adultery, covetousness, stealing, fornication, murder, pride, homosexuality, etc. it won't do us any good to try to white-wash it over by calling it something else. Call it whatever you want to but, it's still the transgression of God's law and will condemn the soul of man.

The message of the gospel to be preached to all nations is, repentance and remission of sins, Lk. 24:47. The best way, in fact the only way to deal with our sins, is to come to the Solution of Mankind's Sin problem - Jesus Christ. We must see our actions for what they are, sin, and not try to cover them up by calling them something else. Seeing ourselves as lost sinners, and if we will come believing on Jesus Christ, repenting of sin, confessing our faith in God's Son before nife, and then being baptized into Christ, we then can enjoy forgiveness. Have you done this? Call us if we may help.

We always have to look at Margie Brock's colorful mums that lines her patio when we go to her home. We traveled there Thursday, Sept. 28, to have our meeting that began at 7:30 p.m.

To our delight Ruby McKinney brought her sister, Nina Atkinson cash, to join our club. Nothing we like better than a new young energetic member!

Cheryl Witt came, as she does once each year. It's always a joy to have her.

Patricia Fletcher agreed to be our president one more year. I think she expects a little more help from us members!

She gave each of us a booklet of Famous Kentucky Women. This publication provides stories of Kentucky Women achievers. Very interesting.

After Loraine Newland read Phil. 2:9-32, it made us want to have more drive in our new Homemaker year of 89-90.

When Clara Proctor read the secretary's report, we knew we needed to have more drive.

The most important thing that the group discussed was the Oct. 21st Area Meeting at Rockcastle High School. Cheryl really helped us with this planning.

Every homemaker in the county will be involved. Registration will be $2 and lunch $6. All clubs will take

---He Knows How to Work With People---

Pd. for by Candidate

Sweet & Sour

By: Zi Graves

Did you ever wonder what an old woman thinks about while she is sitting all alone in her rocking chair or recliner, crocheting on yet another "light"? This is a foolish question isn't it? Everyone is too busy to even know there is an old woman sitting alone in a corner crocheting much less be concerned about her thoughts.

Well, let me tell you, my mind is not blank when I'm sitting there adding row on row to a new pattern. Of course I must count stitches to make the pattern turn out right. And counting stitches while solving the problems of the world create unusual patterns.

Often in life, I must go back and undo my mistakes and do the work right if the project is to pass inspection. Still that does not stop my mind from grinding out memories.

My thoughts often go to education on problems and the one person schools. Many of these were wrestled away down in some hollow or on a hillside with a dirt road leading to it. Paths from homes scattered throughout the hills fed these roads. It certainly was no place to show off high heels or toeless sandals. If your toenails were red it was because you had stomped them or they were frost bit.

Little kids were taught to read from the primer while sitting on the recitation bench up front. Often the older students taught them about as much as the teacher. They not only learned through teachers instruction they learned by listening to the older classmates as they did their lessons.

In time they learned to read. Now the hurrying memory comes to mind. It was the lack of reading material continue feeding the learning process. There were no available libraries and most of the rural homes did not have books that were interesting enough to a child to encourage it to read. In fact the parents of most of these kids did not take an interest in reading themselves and many of them called it foolishness. They never seemed to understand that reading is the door to education and therefore the door to the world.

I was fortunate that I came from a home of book lovers. My mom and dad named most of their kids after a hero or heroine in some novel. That's the only way I can accept my name. It was a favorite character of theirs from a book.

There were encouraged to read. It may not have been the classics but Gene Stratton Porter, Grace Livingston Hill, Longfellow, Browning and several others were my every day companions. My family was the same. So in our household there were books always available. The huge dictionaries were open most of the time. Almost every dinner hour was accompanied by math puzzles and book reviews, type of conversations. These were not boring studies but were fun things. School assignments had nothing to do with it.

So, education is not for "teachers only" it is a family problem. We must surround and convince the parents that education is an important part of growing up and includes more than just appearing at school. It includes the willingness of listening to other ideas. It includes disciplines, sacrifice and hard work of teachers, students, parents and administrators. The parents should be sharing in this every step of the way.

The day a child enters school for the first time, wide eyed with curiosity, teary eyed from being on his/her own for the first time, and starry-eyed because of the new world opening up for him/her. So should be the day the parents begin to support, encourage, push, if necessary, him/her to the best they have in them. Then and only then will the teachers have a small of coffee will welcome them! They can be refreshed with goodies and the hot drink before finding where they have their items for contests with all the counties.

It's a thrill, after lunch, to hear your name called out as a winner. "Blue, (your name), Rockcastle County."

"Proud to be an American" will be the theme of this year's Rockcastle Homemakers, as hostesses, will wear red, white and blue. Our speaker will be Gary C. Griesser from Burlington.

Take advantage of this, once in eight years, to attend a Wildness Trail Area Homemakers meeting. You will enjoy it!

Oh yes; we played a game between these two meetings. It loosened us up and made us laugh. Both meetings ended soon enough for us to get home by 9:30 p.m. Not bad!

books to get far away places. You have time now to close your eyes and imagine you're there. (then doze a little). You can get more from your Bible now for you finally have the time to run references, and read other people's interpretations, compare beliefs and learn what a Great God we have.

On and on go my thoughts while my needs go idle in my lap and my ideas soar into the world of dreaminess. I dream on in my arm chair of a world with no problems - while my aghlan drops across my lap and my needs falls to the floor.

Lu Ed Nielson in ACS post

By: Lu Ed Nielson

The American Cancer Society has appointed Lu Ed Nielson, of the Rockcastle County Unit, to the Southeastern District Youth Trainer position. This involved 14 counties of Kentucky and she will be responsible to train co-ordinators to work with the youth, from pre-school through high school. Some of her credentials are nutrition, prevention, education about all forms of cancer, the dangers of smokeless tobacco, and other harmful chemicals, environmental pollution, etc.

Lu Ed will be working with Mrs. Jan Binder of London in reaching the counties involved. There have been some changes in the way the geographical areas will be served. Rockcastle County Unit will now fall under the direction of Mary Branch of Pulaski County. This is due to tight budgetary restrictions causing the American Cancer Society to close the Pikeville office.

Rockcastle County is still waiting to see if we made our goal in fund raising. It looks very close.

We now have a "Reach for Recovery" volunteer. Ruth Shepherd has been trained to work with patients who have had, or will have, a maste-ctomy. Please call her at 453-4103 if you know someone who needs to talk to someone who has gone through a mastectomy, chemo, the changes that take place, or just needs some emotional support.

Our slate of officers for 1990 are: President, Lu Ed Nielson; vice president, Cynthia Howell; secretary, Faye Baker; treasurer, Cathy Silfmon. Dr. Griffith will be our medical advisor and Dr. Arvin has been available to work with our high school boys to help educate about cancers that young men are faced with. Zi Graves is going to help with organizing our cause fund-raiser. Wayne Stewart is also going to assist with organizing. Larry Burdette will be our public information officer and WRVK has been wonderful in helping us get out the word. Debbie Brown will be our Adult Public Educator; Lu Ed Nielson is Youth Public Educator; Ruth Shepherd will be our Services and Rehab Co-ordinator, with assistance from Ramona Carpenter; Eddie Hammond will head our ministerial Support Group; Diana Napier and Cheryl Witt are also very important in educating our residents and greatly appreciated for their help. We still need volunteers to help with support groups such as transporting patients for chem-radiation treatments or check-ups. Ostomy survivors; laryngectomy survivors; survivors of all kinds of cancer. We also need to know who in our community has cancer so that we can help them cope with their illness.

Thanks to AARP for the "Pennies for Cancer" idea. If anyone has an idea of a way to raise money please let us know.

Our next project will be "Love Rights", a tree for Christmas. Please plan to remember our loved ones by giving a donation and having an ornament placed on the tree in honor of or in memory of someone. More information will be given later. We are hoping to be able to have a tree in the Livingston Area and the Broadhead area, besides the tree at the hospital.

A meeting will be held in October so that we can get together and meet our new representative and make plans for our new year. Everyone will be invited.

We had a good time at the Livingston Homecoming and raised $226 for the American Cancer Society. Thank you Mayor Medley and the Bankers for letting us put the Snoball Stand at the Dairy Freeze. We hope that we can be there next year.

McClure, Bray going to Red Man regional

By: Jim Griesch

Two Rockcastle men -- Ron McClure and Mark Bray -- have qualified for the Red Man regional fishing tournament at Lake Demopolis, Ala., Nov. 1-4.

They finished among the top 24 through six Mountain Division (eastern Kentucky-eastern Tennessee) over the spring, summer and fall, to qualify.

McClure finished 12th this year with 122 points based on 37-lb., 9-oz. of fish caught in the tournaments.

Bray finished 14th on 113 1/2 points on 37.2 worth of fish.

McClure will fish in his sixth regional in seven years, but this is the first time that Bray has worked his way to a post-season tourney.

"I had a good start," Bray said. "In the first (tourney) I was fourth, and that seemed to help all year."

He added, "I figured I had a chance because someone around 30 lbs. (for the year) usually makes it.

Bray has been fishing the Red Man circuit for "four or five years now."

"I'd like to go see what it's all about. It's tough in the Mountain Division, with the guys from around here and the good fishermen from Tennessee. I happened to have a good year."

Bray was close once. "I was 27th or 28th a couple of years ago."

For McClure, his year-long production was actually down a little at a personal level.

He said he thinks he finished 22nd in the division his first year, but that each year since, except for 1987, he finished somewhere in the top ten in the division.

McClure still did well enough at the 1983 regional that he made it to the All-American the next summer.

There are five national divisions for the Red Man. Each of the top finishers at the regional are assured a trip to the All-American. But, if one regional produces a lot of high weight and fish totals, it is conceivable that 10 could go to the All-American out of the same regional.

At least 10 know they will fish in the All-American, but the numbers fluctuate with individual performances at the regional.

The top prize at the regional level is a truck and boat. Second is $5,000. The tenth place finisher is assured of $1,000.

The All-American is where the big money is. First place is worth $100,000.

The last two years, the All-American has been held on the Arkansas River near Little Rock, Ark.

The site hasn't officially been announced for next summer, but McClure and Bray have both heard that it could be in New York, either on Lake Erie (McClure) or one of the smaller lakes near there (Bray).

Both men missed out on another big prize from the division level.

The top finisher gets a paid trip to Hawaii in December to fish in another tournament. The big prizes there are trucks, trailers, boats, and equipment worth at least $25,000.

The winner this year is Doug Claxon of Garrison, Ky. Last year, it was Keith Monson of Burgin.

McClure said he hasn't fished on Lake Demopolis before, but that each of the regional qualifiers has a couple of weeks to fish on it, before Red Man officials make it off limits for the fishermen.

He said he's considering making a trip down, just to get an idea of where old creek or river channels are, and to see what kind of conditions he can expect.

Each of the qualifiers is allowed to take an observer with them to the tourney. McClure said he plans to have Danny Isaacs act as his observer. Bray isn't sure who he will ask, yet.

C.K. Cornelius was another county fisherman who had a chance to make the regional.

He was in a dogfight for the 24th spot, going into this past weekend's last tournament at Dale Hollow in 27th spot.

But, poor fishing luck cost him any chance. He was listed as having caught no fish.

McClure finished eighth with just five pounds of fish on four catches.

Bray was 20th at Dale, catching two fish which weighed three pounds.

Michel O'Daniel of Lebanon won the final regular-season tournament, with three fish which weighed eight pounds, 10 ounces.

Sports Splatter

The worst of organized youth football has shown its ugly head in Rockcastle County this season.

For five weeks, one 11-year-old player has been the object of a lot of hate and disgust.

Not all of that has been the kid's fault.

Here's the situation. The player is 6-0 tall, and weighs 175 pounds. He is the biggest kid -- by far -- who plays in the fifth and sixth grade division of the Youth Football Association.

He's so big, he's bigger than his coach.

He also plays fullback, even tailback, and linebacker.

That's the rub. He carries the ball. He doesn't carry the ball when he plays for the team's seventh and eighth grade team.

He plays in the offensive line and at defensive end.

Unfortunately for the kid, and those he plays against, he hasn't been taught the fundamentals of football by his coaches.

He stands straight up at the snap of the ball. He doesn't know about using his feet to gain leverage when getting off a block, or in making a block.

He hasn't been taught how to defend himself against blocks coming at him from the outside.

In the big league, he has trouble defending himself. He's not the biggest kid in the league. He's not the meanest kid. He isn't the best kid.

In fact, he doesn't seem to scare many of the kids older than he is.

They rough him up.

It's the younger level, he is a terror. He crashes into people on kick-offs. He knocks them down. Hard.

He bullies kids to the ground, and sometimes has been seen homing in on an unsuspecting quarry for a big hit.

He does that because that's what he's been taught.

He does it because he's learned he can get away with it on Thursdays, and that helps ease the frustrations of Tuesdays.

It's the coaches' fault.

The oddest part of the whole mess is that when he runs the ball, many smaller kids -- some who give away 70, 80, 80, almost 100 pounds to him -- can tackle him by themselves, in the open field.

He's not been taught how to elude would-be tacklers.

That's the coaches' fault.

The kid is potentially a good football player.

But, he's not learning how to play the game to his best advantage. He is simply being used as a tool to scare smaller kids. He's become the symbol of the ultimate weapon.

But, he's not that fast a runner.

He's not that good a blocker, yet. He's not that good a defensive end, yet.

That's his coaches' fault.

We've heard that other kids taunt him at school and threaten to do him bodily harm.

If that's true, it's his coaches' fault, again, because they've put him in a "no win" situation.

I hope he isn't that bad a kid. If he isn't, then he's suffering undue punishment by being used as a tool.

For the officers and coaches of the youth football association, the answer is very simple.

Install a weight limit in each league for anyone who will carry the ball.

This includes all backs and ends, and anyone who will be back to field punts and kick-offs.

Make it 140 pounds for seventh and eighth graders, and 120 for fifth and sixth graders.

The weight limits should be put into being at the first of the year, and not subject to change.

Sure, coaches could claim that their 142-pound kid has lost weight and now weighs only 138, making him eligible to play in the block field.

No. No. No. Once his weight is established, it doesn't move from week to week. That way, coaches who would encourage a boy to fast for a day or two to lose weight, or to force himself to vomit to make the weight limit, won't be tempted to.

They won't have the opportunity to. Don't screw it up for the kids. Be fair.

We've noted a weight limit has been suggested before, but always fought by those coaches who had the biggest kid in the league that particular year.

Too bad.

Have the best interest of the kids at heart. Don't be the next "Vince Lombardi."

What the kids should be taught at the fifth and sixth grade level includes:

- the basic stances and posture;
- how to hold the ball properly, how to hand it off, how to throw it, and to catch it;
- the basics, such as once an offensive lineman is in his stance, he can't move around;
- what the snap count means.

At the seventh and eighth grade level, they should learn:

- how to execute the basic plays, including how to block, how to use the feet, how to gain leverage on the opponent (without necessarily killing him), and how to tackle safely;
- how to make adjustments, either by learning what to look for from an opponent's formation, or at the suggestion of his coach from the sidelines. It is not necessary to berate a kid from halfway across the field.
- to respect the opponents.
- One thing to remember about playing ball in the county league: Some day, the guys on the other teams will be teammates at Rockcastle County High.

William Bullens barrels over the goal on the option pitch left in the first quarter. This was the first TD of the JV game Monday against Pulaski County. Pulaski came back to take a weird 22-15 win over the Rockets.

JVs lose by wild, weird 22-15 count to Pulaski County JVs

The Rockcastle JVs dropped to 2-2 with a weird 22-15 loss at home to Pulaski County Monday.

The JV Rockets were in almost complete command the first half, and led 7-0 until the Maroons hit on a 65-yard pass play on a third-and-15 play with just 1:06 left in the half.

A two-point conversion put Pulaski ahead to stay.

The third quarter was costly to Rockcastle.

A fumble early put Pulaski in position to score with 7:25 left on a two-yard quarterback rollout around left end.

PC scored again with 30 seconds left on a 30-yard run, and added a conversion run for a 22-7 lead.

Rockcastle scored again with 1:38 left on a two-yard run by William Bullens. Jason Kirby hit William Hellard for the conversion, to cut it to 22-15.

Bullens had added a three-yard run of the option in the first quarter. That finished an eight-yard drive set up when Pulaski had a punt returner touch a punt, which was covered by the Rockets.

But, the Rockets had a chance to score from the Pulaski 15 in the second quarter, and Kirby threw three incomplete passes to wide open receivers in the Pulaski end zone.

The Rockets recovered a fumble at the Pulaski six-inch line early in the last quarter. But, two fumbled snaps and two plunges into the line later, Pulaski took over at its own one-and-five.

What in the world?

Rockcastle	7	0	0	15
Pulaski	0	8	14	22

Rockcastle scoring: William Bullens, 3 run (Clark Mullins kick), 2 run (William Hellard, pass from Jason Kirby) a-half.

Pulaski also intercepted Kirby three times late in the game when it looked like the Rockets might rally.

A series of missed tackles and lack of effort was a chief reason why Pulaski scored twice in the third quarter.

But, there were several weird plays and calls down the stretch that defy imagination.

Pulaski was backed up inside its own 10, and had to punt on fourth-and-one.

The right end moved. So did two linemen on the left. A sack was in motion to his left across the backfield, trying to line up.

Rockcastle's line jumped. Offsides, Rockcastle.

An interception return set up the last Rockcastle score. Bullens grabbed it at the Pulaski 35, and returned it to the four.

A flag was dropped at the point of interception, and a clip was called on the Pulaski receiver on a second Rocket involved in the pass coverage.

The penalty was marked off from the end of the return. The Pulaski coach chewed on the officials during his called time out. He was loud enough to be heard in the stands.

He also refused to leave the field a few moments later.

No flag, no penalty for a coach being on the field.

Later, the Rockets stole the ball from the Pulaski quarterback at midfield.

Pulaski was merely trying to run out the clock. The quarterback went on a sneak for seven yards. When the teams unpiled at midfield, Rockcastle had the ball. The ruling was a fumble.

The quarterback said something to an official, was flagged for unsportsmanlike conduct and was thrown out of the game.

From the Pulaski 35, Kirby went deep to Hellard. He almost caught the ball, and may have, except he was tackled going for the ball. No flag, no penalty.

Another incomplete pass.

On third down, Kirby was about to be sacked, and tossed the ball right to center Clark Mullins. He had the ball.

Rockets-Jachs winner goes to playoffs

By: Jim Griesch

Friday night, the Rockcastle County Rockets travel to Cawood for a game that should decide the second spot in the state's Class AAA, Region 3, District 2 play.

The winner of the game will earn a trip to northern Kentucky, to play the winner of Region 3, District 1.

For Cawood, it would be just another trip.

For the Rockets, it would be the first trip to the football playoffs since the Rockets made it to a district championship game against Danville in 1983. The Rockets won a sub-district title, but lost to the Admirals 33-12, when Jimmy Baughman was a freshman.

A trip to northern Kentucky, then, would mark the first real trip to the championship round since old Brodhead High made it to the 1971 state basketball tournament in Louisville.

In 1983, just as now, the Rockets had to beat Cawood, and did.

Now, Cawood has changed its coach, its nickname, and its style of play.

Tim Saylor, one of the old grads at Cawood, is the new coach. He comes in after a successful stint at Class A power Pineville. With that change, the school changed nicknames from Trojans to Jachs (which stands for James A. Cawood High School), and and Harlan (in reverse order).

Cawood, on the other hand, seems to have hit a new gear. They had scored just 42 points in the first four games, but have scored 25, 22 and 49 the last three, against Middleboro, Knox Central and Whitley County.

All three schools are having sub-yearly, with a combined record of 4-17.

But, those offensive outbursts should tell everyone that Cawood will be "jacked-up" for the game.

Another key in this one could be the weather.

The Rockets have played five of seven games in the rain this year, and seem to have liked it.

While its no fun playing in the rain and mud all the time, the rain was a big plus against Bell County two weeks ago.

But, over the weeks, the Rockets have been able to work during the week in nice weather, and have put in a lot of new stuff.

It would be interesting to see just how many big play explosions the Rockets could manufacture on a dry, clean, field.

After all, Cawood has played in the rain, too.

Oddly enough, it's rained so much that if the Rockets had a game last week, it would have been six out of eight in the wet.

So, the challenges are clear.

Win and go to the playoffs.

Lose, and stay home on Friday nights during November.

And, to win, the offense must come up with more ways to score.

The defense must come up with a scheme to shut down one of the most intricate, most sophisticated offenses they will see this year.

Another way to look at it: For a trip to the river and Cincinnati, a win on a trip into the mountains is a must.

To get to the north, the Rockets must win in the east.

Freshmen win 7-0

The Rockcastle County freshmen topped their record to 3-1 on the season last Thursday with a 7-0 victory at Whitley County.

William Bullen scored on a 60-yard run in the first quarter, and Clark Mullins kicked the conversion for the only points of the day.

The fresh defense stymied Whitley the rest of the way, and the young Colonels kept the Rockets out of the end zone again.

PPK work in Berea

The Optimist Club of Berea will sponsor a Punt, Pass and Kick competition at noon, Saturday, Oct. 21, at Berea Community High School.

The competition is open to all area children ages 7 through high school seniors. Competitors ages 9-13 will be eligible to advance to the next level of competition, sometime in November.

A $5 entrance fee is required, and no cleats can be worn. Contestants will be limited to wearing tennis shoes.

Club president Jim McAlister, who is sports editor at the Berea Citizen, says that a plaque will be presented to the top sophomore, junior and senior in competition. The reason seven year olds can compete is because there are some kids that age competing in youth football in Berea.

Cagers begin Monday

The high school basketball season begins officially at 3 p.m., next Monday, Oct. 16, in Rockcastle County.

The Lady Rockets of coach Judy Bullock will begin practice at that time, and should have somewhere between 15 and 20 girls try out.

Bullock and Livingston Elementary coach Dana Reams worked with about 15 during a Lexington summer league season June through early August, and at one time had a 4-2 record.

Point guard Stephanie Northern, a fixture on recent Rockcastle squads, led the way with an average of about 11 a game.

Several others had their moments, especially among inside players.

The boys will begin practice at 4:30 said head coach David Perkins

Monday.

He expects about 25 candidates for varsity playing time, and has five back who were part-time starters last year. Four of them - Steve Clark, David Sargent, Billy Todd and David Eaton - were starters at the end of the season.

Top sub Darren Smith also returns, and Perkins is counting on him to fill several roles.

However, gone is three-point specialist Chris Ponder, who averaged 23 points a game, as well as Mike Barron, Adam Coleman, Kevin Parrett and David Owens.

Size has become a traditional problem at Rockcastle, but the tallest of the Rockets is 6-5 freshman Mike Steven Albright.

The season begins the week of Thanksgiving, and will continue, as always through the 49th District Tournament, 13th Region Tournament, and the two state tournaments in March.

District toughie Clay County (boys) have a shot at tying a state tournament record this year. If the Tigers of coach Bobby Keith make it to Louisville next March, they will have made it to the Sweet 16 for the seventh straight year. Only Louisville St. Xavier, which went from 1937-43, have ever done seven times in a row. Clay is one of several schools who have gone six years running.

And, of course, the Clay girls are the defending state champions.

It's going to be a tough, exciting year in the 49th District.

This year's schedules should be released shortly.

MVES loses another

Roundstone's Lady Eagles won two games against Camp Dick Tuesday night, while Mt. Vernon's girls fell for the second time in less than a week to Lancaster's Lady Devils.

Roundstone's "A" team won 30-26 behind Jeannie Proctor's 12 points and nine from Janice Cummings. They led by 15-14 at the half, stretched it to 23-20 after three quarters, and stayed just ahead the rest of the way.

Roundstone scored in the "B" game, winning 49-2. They moved away from a 3-2 first-quarter lead into a 17-3 lead at the half, and kept stretching the lead, in part by not allowing CDR to score. Ginger Mink led all scorers with 21, while Cummins had 19.

Mt. Vernon lost 38-36 in double overtime to Lancaster, despite leading almost all of the way.

Coach Judy Bullock said her team trailed by 11 in the second quarter, by 21-18 at the end of three, but were ahead almost all of the rest of the way.

Lancaster's Amy Preston hit a basket from under the goal with 35 seconds left in the second overtime, and Mt. Vernon simply couldn't get one of three or four shots to fall in the remaining time.

Tabatha Bell had 15 for the Lady Devils. Preston had 13 for Lancaster.

Mt. Vernon's "B" team kept its record perfect at 4-0 with a 24-20 win. Becky Osborne had 13 to lead the effort.

Brodhead rolls

Brodhead took a doubleheader from Livingston Monday night, rolling to a 69-32 win in the "A" game.

and winning 30-24 in the "B" game. It made Broadhead 3-2 on the year at the "A" level, and left Livingston still looking for that first win. The Lady Blue Devils are 0-4.

But, the "B" win was the first of the season for Broadhead, now 1-4, and lowered Livingston to 2-2.

Cindy McCauley was most of the story in the "A" game, getting 30 points, compared with Livingston's team total of 32.

Amy Robinson added 15, Donna Cash 13 for the Lady Tigers. Robinson had half the "B" team's points, getting 15 for Broadhead.

Livingston was led in the "A" game by Jenny Hubbard with 10. Teresa Brewer had 8 in the "B" game.

Coach Darla Reams says that her already young and thin Livingston team will be without four players for a while because of grades.

Streak ends

The Mt. Vernon Lady Devils' winning streak is over at 24. They were defeated by Lancaster 29-26 in the last game of the Berea Invitational last Thursday night.

Mt. Vernon had beaten Berea in the opener last Monday, then Foley Middle School 40-25 last Wednesday, and had won four in a row this year before the loss. The streak had extended all the way through last season.

Coach Judy Bullock cited several reasons for the loss. Among them were seven missed foul shots inside the last three minutes, and "missed lay up after lay up throughout the game.

Lancaster also held leading scorer Tabatha Bell without a point in the first half, when they built up a 16-9 lead.

Hope Carmack picked up the scoring, and topped the Lady Devils with seven, while Becky Osborne had six and Kim Kirby five. Kirby was also scoreless the first half.

Lancaster was led by Amy Poston with 10, Denise Hale with nine, and Christy Joseph with seven.

Both Carmack and Kirby made the all-tournament team. Bell had scored 15 in a 40-25 win over Foley Wednesday night. Carmack, Kristi Doan and Melinda Smith all pitched in six in that one.

Bengals upset Redskins 12-6; Wildcats surprise young Bucs

In the most dramatic game of the year, the Bengals upset the Redskins 12-6 in double overtime in seventh and eighth grade play in the Youth Football Association Tuesday night.

Kelly Carpenter scored on a four-yard run up the middle on second down in the second overtime to put the Bengals ahead.

In four downs after that, the Redskins gained just three yards rushing, then had a pass batted down in the end zone by the Bengals' J.D. Bussell on fourth down.

Those four downs in the second overtime were the only downs ALL YEAR that the Redskins were behind.

They finish the season with a 5-1 record and a league championship.

They had taken a 6-0 lead in the third period on a 35-yard run by Greg Bowman. His extra point kick was low, and blocked.

The Bengals tied it up with just 3:37 left in the game on a one-yard run, but the conversion kick was wide.

The Bengals were threatening to score at the end of regulation, but couldn't put the ball over the goal.

The Redskins clinched second in the league with a 4-2 mark.

In the second game, the Bucs topped the Wildcats 26-12 as Louie Davis ran twice for Bucs scores, Chris Dillingham and Joe Michael Spoonamers also had TD runs.

Dillingham also had a conversion run in the third quarter.

The Wildcats scored on a one-yard run by Mickey McClure in the third quarter, and on a 65-yard kick-off return by McClure following Dillingham's TD in the third.

McClure's one-yarder was the only TD from scrimmage all year for the Wildcats, who had scored just 12 points in five games heading into the finale.

They have scored on two kickoff returns and one punt return.

The Bucs ended the year 3-3, while the Wildcats went 0-6.

In the fifth and sixth grade division of the Youth Football Association, the Redskins pulled even with the Bucs at 4-1, with one game left in the season. And, the Wildcats won their first game of the year, 26-6, over the Bengals.

The Wildcats, who had scored just six points all year (on an interception return) got a punt return TD from Darrell Pittman, a kick-off return TD from J.B. King, and two TD passes from Pittman to Jon Hammond.

ATTENTION PARENTS

• REYE'S SYNDROME ALERT •

Reye's Syndrome is a very serious disease that you should know about. Some people develop Reye's Syndrome as they are getting over a viral illness like the flu or chicken pox. Reye's Syndrome usually affects people from infancy through young adulthood; however, no age group is immune. It can develop 3 to 5 days after the onset of chicken pox, an upper respiratory infection, or other fever-causing illnesses. It affects the liver and brain, is noncontagious and is often misdiagnosed as encephalitis, meningitis, diabetes, poisoning, drug overdose, or sudden infant death.

Typically Reye's occurs when someone is recovering from a viral illness and beginning to feel better. A person's life can depend on early diagnosis. Watch for these symptoms usually occurring in this order:

- Relentless or continuous vomiting
- Letharginess (Loss of pep and energy with little interest in their environment)
- Drowsiness (Excessive sleepiness)
- Personality change (Such as irritability, slurred speech, sensitivity to touch)
- Disorientation or confusion (Unable to identify whereabouts, family members, or answer questions)
- Combativeness (Striking out at those trying to help)
- Delirium, convulsions, or loss of consciousness

Reye's Syndrome should be suspected in anyone who vomits repeatedly. Phone your doctor immediately if these symptoms develop. Voice your concern about Reye's Syndrome. If your physician is unavailable, take the person to an emergency room promptly. Two liver function tests (SGOT, SGPT) can be done to determine the possibility of Reye's Syndrome. There is a 90% chance of recovery when the syndrome is treated in its earliest stages by physicians and nurses experienced in the treatment of Reye's.

Studies have shown that using aspirin or aspirin-containing medications to treat the symptoms of viral illnesses increases the chance of developing Reye's Syndrome. If you or a member of your family have a flu-like illness, do not use aspirin or aspirin-containing medications. In fact, you should consult your physician before you take any drugs to treat the flu or chicken pox, particularly aspirin or anti-nausea medicines. Anti-nausea medicines may mask the symptoms of Reye's Syndrome.

The National Reye's Syndrome Foundation (NRSF), the U.S. Surgeon General, the Food and Drug Administration, and the Centers for Disease Control recommend that aspirin and combination products containing aspirin not be taken by anyone under 19 years of age during fever-causing illnesses.

Aspirin is a part of the salicylate family of medicines. Another name for aspirin is acetylsalicylate; some drug labels may use the words acetylsalicylate, acetylsalicylic acid, salicylic acid, or salicylate instead of the word aspirin. Currently there is no conclusive data as to whether other forms of salicylate are associated with the development of Reye's Syndrome. Until further research has answered this question, the NRSF recommends that products containing any of these substances should not be taken during episodes of viral infection.

The NRSF is a non-profit, tax exempt organization with chapters and representatives in 45 states. The NRSF has pioneered the movement to disseminate knowledge about the disease in an effort to aid in early diagnosis and also provides funds for research into the causes, cure, treatment, and prevention of Reye's Syndrome.

Operation Read was a success

By: Joyce Hannan

Twenty nine staff and townspeople who wanted to become tutors for Operation Read gathered at The Family Life Center School facility on Thursday evening, Sept. 21 to begin a workshop that will enable them to become tutors in the Rockcastle

County area. Since there is a waiting list of individuals who would like to learn to read and write the workshop should be beneficial to all. Mimi Fox who has conducted tutor training sessions for over 480 volunteers in Kentucky during the past year was the instructor and came from Operation Read headquarters in Lexington. Operation Read was sponsored by The Rockcastle Literacy Council, The Family Life Center School and Druthers and the Mt. Vernon Signal. After completion of the day and evening session continued to Sept. 23 each participant will receive a certificate for their participation.

Prior to the evening meeting several of the certified instructors met for an update on the literacy program. With several thousands of individuals in Kentucky still not being able to read the tutorial program is a positive step forward in licking the illiteracy rate.

For more information on how you can learn to read call The Family Life Center School at 256-5307 or Cindy Robbins, Rockcastle Literacy Council director at the Mt. Vernon Library.

The tutorial program and materials are free.

Rockcastle in Zone 6 for 1989 deer season; toughest limits

The gun deer season opens in Kentucky on Nov. 11, and runs through Nov. 20.

The muzzleloading season runs Dec. 9-15. And, the deer archery season opened Oct. 1, and runs through Dec. 31 (except in gun and muzzleloading seasons).

Rockcastle is in Zone 6 this year, which means that hunters can kill bucks only, and then only from Nov. 16-20.

Only one tag, the white tag, can be used. The yellow tag is not valid in Rockcastle this season.

But, several near-by counties have different zones. Lincoln, Pulaski, McCreary, Wayne and Russell are all in Zone 5; which means that bucks can be hunted every day during the season, limited to the white tag only. Other Zone 6 counties near-by include Garrard, Madison, Jackson, Laurel and Whitley. No hunting is allowed in Estill or Knox this year. Zones 1-4 offer the most unlimited hunting. Zone 1 (nearest counties: Breckinridge and Logan) allows either sex deer on white tags Nov. 11-15, bucks only Nov. 16-20, and doe only Nov. 11-15 on yellow tags. Zone 2 (nearest counties: Madison, Washington, Anderson, Allen) allows either sex Nov. 11-14 on white tags, does on yellow, and bucks only Nov. 14-20 on white tags only. Zone 3 (nearest Metcalf, Green, Mercer) allows bucks only on white tags Nov. 11-17, either sex Nov. 18-20, and does only Nov. 18-20 on yellow tags. Zone 4 (nearest: Boyle, Casey, Adair, Cumberland) allows bucks only Nov. 11-19 on white tags, either on Nov. 20, and does only on Nov. 20 on yellow tags. During the archery season, bucks only are being allowed on either tag in Zone 6, either sex on either tag in Zones 1-5. For muzzleloaders, bucks only can be taken on white tags in Zone 6, while in Zones 1-3, either sex can be taken on either tag, and in Zones 4-5, bucks only can be taken on either tag. Scott, a Zone 3 county, reportedly has one of the highest deer populations in central Kentucky, with an estimated deer population of 2,420, or one deer per 49 acres. Woodford, another Zone 6 county, has an estimated deer population of 1,212.

time left on the clock in the third quarter, was the first TD from scrimmage all year for the Wildcats.

The other TD pass came on the last play of the game, and with no time on the clock again.

The Bengals, who had two players hurt, one sick and some others out with a case of the books, got a score from Nathan DeLeon on a run.

In the other game last Thursday, the Redskins nipped the Bucs in overtime, 6-0.

After four scoreless quarters, the Redskins got a TD pass from Jarrod Singleton to Jamie Linville for the only score of the game.

The Redskins and Bucs are tied with 4-1 records. The Bucs had edged the Redskins 8-6 in the first half of the season.

In this Thursday's season-enders, the Redskins met the Bengals, the Wildcats the Bucs.
