Contest Winners

Oh yes that baby it will grow and in the years to come you will suddenly see

And you will sadly sit down

A Mother's Touch by Debbie Childress

There's something about a mother's touch that I can't really describe but she can take her loving child and know what it's feeling inside

She takes it into her loving arms to love and to hold for to her no other child could be so brave and bold

She sits it up into her lap to give it a kiss and a hug she whispers sweet things into its ears and to show that it is loved

She takes it by her loving hand and things with it she shares some deep and kind expression words to show how much she cares

For there's just something about that child that she adores so much she gives it all she can offer with a mother's touch.

This Week's Poet's Corner

Kentucky Hills by Elmer Goble

Here I sit alone on a Saturday evening in Kentucky,
I am old but strong and healthy for which I am lucky.

Old mother nature has been here with her paint brush,
One look at her work is enough to make the song birds hush,
When I sit on the porch and look at the trees that cover the hills,

What I see is almost enough to cheer me up and cure most of my ills.

There stands the giant oak with its leaves a golden brown,
Down below the little squirrels are hopping on the ground.

Right next to the oak stands the maple with her leaves a lovely yellow,
Just to sit and look at mother nature's work ought to make one a better fellow.

The tiny little sumac is at the foot of the hill by the fence,
We should never do it any harm for its beauty is its only defense.

The pleasant smelling sassafras with its many colors is a sight to see,
You may dig its roots and make you some very good tasting tea.

The lowly blackgum stands on the side of the hill,
A look at its many colors is sure to be a big thrill.

While I write this I look again and realize the half has not been told,
I enjoy looking at God's work even though I am eighty six years old.

A Baby by Debbie Childress

There's a baby on its way it may be tomorrow or it may be today

And whether it's a boy or whether it's a girl you'll find it's the greatest gift in the whole wide world

And when it opens up its eyes it will be very happy to see its mommy and daddy standing by its side

And once you get it home and as the days go by you will suddenly realize how its really grown

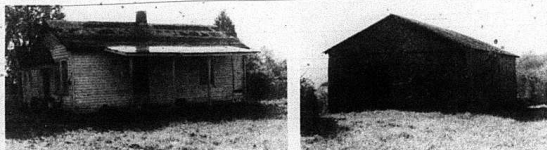

Before you even know it it will begin to talk before you start to turn around

"Patient teaching is a very important part of the mammography process."

"Women need to understand how important routine mammograms and monthly breast self-examinations are to their health."

As the radiology tech for the mammography unit, I see firsthand, women's fear of breast cancer. I also see the critical difference that early detection can make. That's why I spend time with each woman, making sure she understands proper breast self-examination techniques.

We also make a special effort to make sure each woman is comfortable. Beyond our softly decorated mammography suite, I think women can sense our genuine concern and caring."

Vomiting can mean many things

By: Dr. John Payne

"That kid is throwing up again, Doc! Do something!" Although vomiting usually suggests something wrong with the child's digestive system, this event can be caused by almost any disease known to man. Certainly vomiting, usually followed by diarrhea, is often caused by some virus affecting the child's gastrointestinal tract, it can also be caused by ear infections, bronchitis or pneumonia, tonsillitis, juvenile migraine headaches, emotional stress or many other conditions. Children respond in a more generalized way to body stresses than do adults. Their digestive tracts are a greater focus of their lives (What do babies do except eat, sleep and dirty diapers?) and they respond with gastrointestinal symptoms when they are stressed.

It seems to surprise parents often-times when they bring their baby in for vomiting and are told he has an ear infection or tonsillitis. Certainly you do not need to take your child to the doctor every time he or she vomits. You should wait and see if other symptoms develop or if the symptoms clear in a few hours. However, don't always assume the problem is with a "stomach virus".

Your Child's Health by Dr. John Payne

I have frequently been asked by parents about the ill effects of wood smoke from home heating stoves. These stoves have become much more popular in recent years, especially with the high price of fossil fuels and electric heat.

In a recent study several problems with wood smoke were identified. There seems to be a definite increase in the percentage of preschool aged children who developed respiratory illnesses lasting a week or more. The risk is about doubled. This is just about the same as having one smoker in the home.

There are of course other potential health hazards such as getting burned by touching the stove, or having a house fire. Wood smoke contains a variety of compounds which can be dangerous to your health. This is why it is strongly recommended that stoves be operated so as to minimize smoke being released into the room.

Dry wood only should be used; that is logs with 20% or less moisture.

Apgar scores in newborns

By: Dr. John Payne

You may have heard about a score given newborns called the Apgar score. This a scoring system developed by the late Virginia Apgar, an anesthesiologist, for assessing the condition of newborn babies. An infant is scored from 0, one or 2 on five measure: Heart rate, breathing, color, movement, and muscle tone. The score is made at one minute and five minutes of life. Studies have shown that the first five minutes of life may well determine the quality of that life.

A recent editorial in a medical journal suggested that with the advent of fancy equipment and techniques for saving tiny premature babies, that the Apgar assessment should be retired. However, other papers came out against this idea. It is still a very reliable indicator of how an infant will likely do in life. Having a good Apgar score (8 or better out of a possible 10) is a good indicator of having a good start in life.

I was privileged to hear Dr. Apgar give a talk near the end of her life in which she described the exception which makes the rule. She described a delivery room scene in a major university hospital. A famous Hollywood movie queen was having a baby. About a dozen doctors had found excuses to witness the delivery, which was complicated by lots of things, including too many helpers. The baby didn't cry for a long time, turned blue, and seemed not to get the help it needed because of all the attention given its famous mother. Dr. Apgar was sure it was going to grow up with severe problems. Fortunately the child grew up quite normal and intelligent, and a famous popular song was written about the child by the father. Dr. Apgar said this was the exception which makes the rule. Having a good Apgar score at five minutes of age is very important. Mothers can do something to help this happen with good prenatal care, avoiding smoking and drinking during pregnancy, and generally taking care of themselves.

Forward in the Fifth membership drive

The Rockcastle County Forward in the Fifth affiliates are kicking off the 1989-90 membership drive with an appeal to all citizens to join the "family" friends of education by saying "yes".

Forward In The Fifth is a local, grass-roots organization composed of individual community members, parents, teachers, school administrators, and business leaders who are interested in promoting educational opportunity activities for school children and the type of involvement that will encourage school attendance.

The organization is interested in creating new sources of support for the school system from people who may never before have been asked to lend a helping hand. This past year, over $5,000 was raised to help fund teacher mini-grants and establish a work-scholarship program.

This Thursday at 12:45 p.m., mini-grant recipients Kelly Pensol and

All the Right Qualities

And 11 Years Experience in the Court System

Preparation

- Being prepared when you walk into the courtroom is half the battle in trying to reduce the D.U.I. backlog in our District Court. A judge has to care enough to take the time to study the cases beforehand, especially in our district, which has one of the highest case loads in the state. Backlogs are not inevitable.

Consideration

- Making sure that everyone is treated with dignity and respect in a fair and impartial manner should be a primary concern on the bench and it has been a cornerstone in Paul Henderson's campaign for District Judge.

Firsthand Insight

- Paul has 11 years experience in District, Circuit and Federal courts, handling a wide variety of cases and clients.

- Paul's legal education has a definite local flavor, graduating in the top 20% of his class from the University of Kentucky College of Law after doing undergraduate studies at Centre College in Danville, Kentucky.

Family Values

- Being a husband and the father of three, Paul understands when people stress their concern for the problems and victims of drunk driving, domestic violence and drugs.

Please help save our birds

Dear Neighbors,
Won't you please help save our beautiful birds from becoming extinct.

I moved to where I now live twenty-seven years ago. The first two years I saw not one Blue Bird. Now there are several but not enough. Rockcastle and Pulaski Counties provide fewer nests than other joining counties. Corbin provides the most.

So many of Kentucky's birds are hole nesters, the Chickadee, nut-hatchers, titmouse the wood pecker family, downy Redheaded pilated and flicker are all hole nesting birds. The forests are gone, fence posts are gone and very few hollow trees are left. I make houses for all these. The woodpecker family will all nest in them if you put a couple cups of saw dust in them or vermiculite.

In a few days I will be 82 years old and won't be able to make these nesting houses much longer. My eyes are fast growing dim and my heart and lungs are bad. I fall easily and it seems my feet and legs don't want to keep up with the rest of my body.

I have been 27 years making a good bird feeder and now have the only practical feeder ever made. The feeder won't get wet and freeze in bad weather and the birds can eat sprouts and rois in good weather. This feeder will last fifty years. Come see it and you will buy it. May I suggest you give grandma or grandpa or dad and mom one for Christmas. It will give them great pleasure or give them a Blue bird or Purple Martin house.

Any church project, school or retired person who wants to help save our birds and make a few dollars, I will give them a pattern. Come see, don't write for the plans.

Seventy years ago we sprayed only a little for the potato bug, a little woodshakes on cabbage and lettuce but now that the birds are near extinct, its spray, spray and spray and cat poison. The Japanese beetle is the only thing we didn't have 75 years ago, so it must be the scarcity of birds.

The one thing that destroys our few hole nesters are the filthy starting. Any hole large enough for the starling to get in is enough for them to gang up on the good birds and take their nests. People call the starting a black bird but the starting has a yellow beak.

The starting was brought here from England in 1886. Now they are from the Atlantic to the Pacific and carriers of deadly histoplasmosis and eat any filth they can find.

Any one who will help destroy them come by and I will show you how. For $4 or $5 dollars you can make a device that will get them hundreds at a time. You need not fear, this simple device will kill only the starting and not kill our good birds; no other bird will feed near them.

One brother's murder trial set for Nov. 27 in Lincoln Circuit Court

The murder trial of Kenneth Wayne Robinson, Mt. Vernon, has been scheduled for four days, beginning Nov. 27, in Lincoln Circuit Court. Robinson, 38, is charged with robbing and murdering Alma Jean Brown, at her store on KY 39 in 1988.

Steven Dale Robinson, Kenneth's older brother, is scheduled for a separate trial at a time not yet set.

Kenneth confessed to police that he pulled the trigger of a 22-caliber rifle with which Mrs. Brown was shot five times as she manned the cash register at the family store in the Dog Walk community of Lincoln County.

The trials were originally scheduled together, but defense attorneys got the two separated in late October.

The attorneys, who are with the public defenders office in Lincoln, are also expected to ask for a change of venue, citing a lot of publicity surrounding the case, from discovery of the body through the arrests until now.

Meeting planned to revitalize REAP program for county's needy

Officials and others who have previously been involved in the Rockcastle Emergency Assistance Program will meet at 5 p.m., Thursday, Nov. 9, in the REAP offices on Main St., in Mt. Vernon. Letters have already been sent to people connected with REAP.

The program has seen a decreasing amount of effort, energy, and food stuffs available for those who need a one-, or two-day food supply.

The idea behind the meeting is to make the program more viable and more visible than it has been in recent months and weeks, and to find additional food-supply resources to stock the local pantries.

Those attending need to bring some new ideas, and a higher energy level.

Shower set to help Mosley family; fire destroys their home on Saturday

The Brodhead Fire Department Ladies Auxiliary will sponsor a shower for Ralph and Kathy Mosley, who lost all their belongings in a fire at their home on Lake Livilla Rd., Saturday night.

The shower will be at 7 p.m., Saturday, Nov. 4, at the fire house in Brodhead.

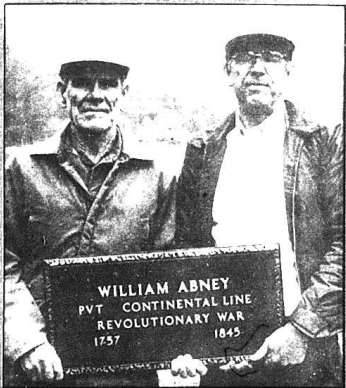

Fire Chief David Ott said he suspects a faulty timed electric heater as the cause of the fire. He said he was told the heater had been pre-set to heat up about 6 p.m.

The fire was reported at about 8:30 p.m., Oct. 28. He said that flames were already through the roof of the home, owned by Virgil Abney, when his fire crew arrived sometime before 9 p.m.

Brodhead also worked two small grass fires which did little damage. Ott said one was already out when firemen arrived.

Mt. Vernon answered a smoke problem begun when a skillet of pop corn nearly caught on fire at a High Street residence.

Fire was avoided by simply removing the skillet and turning off the fire.

Grave marker for Revolutionary War soldier buried in Climax farm field

Wayne Clark, of Louisville, has gotten a grave marker for a Revolutionary War soldier he thinks is buried in a Climax tobacco field. He and his cousin, Nathan Clark, were at the field, now owned by Fred Mullins, Jr., last month to establish a spot for the marker.

Clark says the soldier, William Abney, was at Yorktown, Va., when the British, under General Cornwallis, surrendered, ending the Revolutionary War.

The marker was obtained through the help of the Laurel Ridges Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, in Berea.

The field where Clark thinks Abney is buried has been in the Mullins family for a number of years, and disputes between Clark and the Mullins family sprang up with a civil suit being filed in Rockcastle Circuit Court in December.

Mullins' attorney, Carl Cloutz, said that most of the suit has already been dismissed, and that neither he nor Mullins have a problem with the marker being erected in the field, which was in tobacco this past growing season.

However, Cloutz isn't sure that anyone is buried there, although part of the suit was for destruction of a grave.

Clark says that Abney was a grandfather of his.

A Rockcastle County High School student was killed and her 14-year-old sister seriously injured in an automobile accident in London Sunday afternoon.

According to police, Dana Faye Durham, 16, of West Street in Brodhead died at Marymount Hospital following an accident on Ky. 192 in front of the London Shopping center.

Officer Doug Gregory of the London police department said that Miss Durham apparently pulled her 1988 Plymouth onto Hwy. 192 in the path of a Pontiac Grand Prix that was traveling at a high rate of speed.

Miss Durham's car was hit broadside on the driver's side by the Grand Prix that was apparently drag racing with a truck.

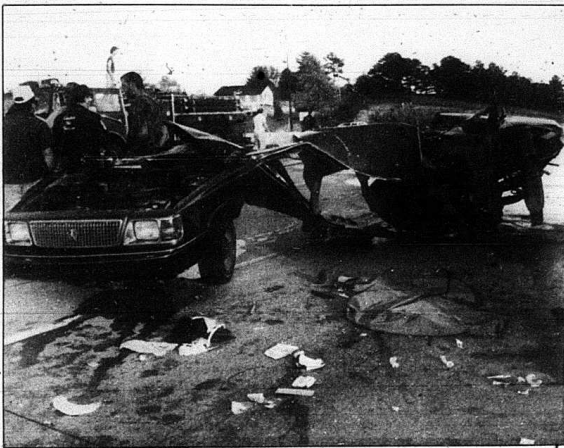

Dana Durham and her sister Shanda, who is a freshman at Rockcastle County High School, were both thrown from the vehicle at the time of impact.

Gregory said that Miss Durham's car was almost completely severed by the collision which occurred at 4:16 p.m.

Dana died shortly after arriving at Marymount from multiple injuries and Shanda was treated at Marymount and transferred to the University of Kentucky Medical Center in Lexington where she is listed in serious condition in the Intensive Care Unit, also with multiple injuries.

Three people riding in the Grand Prix were also injured according to Gregory who said that all three were treated and released from Marymount.

Dana Faye Durham, 16 of Brodhead was killed and her 14-year-old sister Shanda was seriously injured in a auto accident in London Sunday afternoon. Both girls were thrown from the above 1988 Plymouth Reliant. They were taken to Marymount Hospital in London, where Dana later died. Shanda is in the University of Kentucky Hospital in Lexington. was charged with murder, reckless driving and drag racing.

He was arraigned in Laurel District court Monday and released in his parents custody.

The driver of the truck, 18-year-old Shawn Barton, of London was also charged with murder, reckless driving, drag racing and wanton endangerment. He was released on bond after a court appearance.

Gregory said that the intersection where Miss Durham was killed is a very dangerous intersection and that several accidents have occurred there.

Funeral services for Miss Durham were held at the Marcburg Baptist Church, where she was a member Wednesday afternoon.

County will not receive flood aid

By: Jim Griesch

Rockcastle County was not among 10 counties announced by President George Bush Monday as eligible for flood disaster assistance funds.

The county is not eligible because no formal request was made through county government via Governor Wallace Wilkinson, local officials said.

County Judge-Executive Hubert Thies was asked for federal or state disaster emergency assistance people to come look at the county to evaluate its needs.

Those inspections were made Sunday, Oct. 22, one day before Wilkinson made the request for the counties inundated with heavy flooding.

County DES director Gary Asher traveled the county with the inspectors, and he said the decision not to ask for help was based on an estimated $12,000-$15,000 in damages to roads, bridges and culverts.

He explained that this estimate was nowhere close to the $40,000-$50,000 found in the county in the spring when Rockcastle did receive flood disaster assistance.

The ten counties who will receive aid include Jackson, Owsley, Clay, Leslie, Perry, Knott, Letcher, Magoffin, Floyd and Pike.

Of that group, only Jackson did not receive aid in the spring.

No dollar figures for aid in those counties were given during the Bush announcement.

However, the state has estimated the damage there at about $11.3 million.

Funds will be split between federal sources (75 percent) and state and local sources (25 percent).

Damage estimates are based on the amount of property damaged not covered by insurance.

The flooding occurred between Oct. 16-18, when the remnants of Hurricane Jerry, which struck the Gulf Coast, dropped between four and six inches of rain on Kentucky.

Hardest hit in Rockcastle were areas of Brodhead and Livingston, with few residents being evacuated from Livingston homes.

In other locations, some roads were impassable due to high water.

The original survey of damage included 14 counties. The state estimates that 873 homes were damaged, and of that number, 112 were either seriously damaged or completely destroyed.

The study also estimated that some 84 bridges were destroyed. Half of that number was in Leslie County.

In February, 67 counties received flood assistance, and 12 more received aid this past summer.

The estimated damage for those assistance programs was put at more than $160 million.

Help sought for Christmas parade

By: Jim Griesch

For the second straight year, the Christmas parade in Mt. Vernon is at risk of not being held.

In 1988, the Rockcastle Region Ridders, a car club based in the county, essentially ran the parade at the behest of local officials who wanted to see the parade remain a staple of the Holidays social scene.

Steve Singleton, this year's president of the club, says, "We'll do it again, if we can get some financial support."

The ridders spent about $700 out of pocket last year in providing for prizes to the first-, second-, and third-place floats.

But, what money took away from other Holidays charity work the club had been doing for several years, Singleton said.

He said that club members are hesitant about spending that kind of money again, at the expense of their own projects.

Both Singleton and Mt. Vernon mayor Gary Cromer would like to see local businesses pick up the tab to some degree.

Cromer points out that Mt. Vernon doesn't have the money budgeted for the parade this year, and has no way to put it on.

One idea could be for various businesses to put up some prize money for one trophy, the presentation of that trophy would be in the business(es) name(s).

That is an idea seen on commercial radio and television, where a certain company sponsors a particular segment of a program, and gets credit for just that segment, with special mention made of the company.

But, Singleton says that the car club will have to make a decision at its next meeting, Nov. 13.

If there seems to be no, or very little support, for a parade, the club may vote against putting it on in 1989.

The club got involved in putting the 1988 parade on, late, said both Singleton and Cromer.

However, with the promise of prize money for the floats, a lot of community energy went toward building five or six floats, and WRVK radio carried a live show of the parade.

The parade has marked the traditional arrival in Mt. Vernon of the season's No. 1 celebrity, Santa Claus.

Mullins

1990's

To the People of Rockcastle County:

Cooperation Employment opportunities made a giant step with our industrial park. Several groups made this possible: fiscal court, city councils, industrial authority, Improvement Council to name a few.

As mayor during the developmental phase, I was privileged, along with the City Council to:

- *Approve all public funds for the project
- *Secure and administer the first federal contract (UDAG) allowing for a low interest loan for an industry there.

Administrative Excellence Further, as Mayor, emphasis was on excellence:

- (a) Received All Kentucky City Award;
- (b) Won first as having best water department (34 cities competing);
- (c) Won second in statewide competition for the streetscaping endeavor;
- (d) Left $236,464 reserve.

Also, as executive for Mental Health, excellence was emphasized.

The program:

- (1) Was consistently one of the top three in the state (while the state was eighth in the nation);
- (2) Was first to get nationally accredited; 3 years;
- (3) Had no deficiencies out of over 700 standards on last state licensure review;
- (4) Cost increased on 98c per visit 1978-1988;
- (5) Had $395,000 income over expense, June 30, 1989.

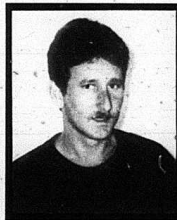

With your help, and vote on Tuesday, November 7, we'll carry this same cooperative administrative approach to county government.

Your Friend,

Roland D. Mullins

Vote For and Elect Charles "Tommy" Bussell MAYOR

CITY OF MT. VERNON
General Election November 7, 1989

I have enjoyed being your City Council Representative for the past 22 months, along with other council members. I have tried to do what I thought was best for the City of Mt. Vernon.

Some of the things I am most proud of having a part in doing are:

- * A 15% reduction of water and sewer bill for the elderly, disabled and handicapped. Please ask about this when you go to pay your water and sewer bill.
  - * Working for the lights at the intersection of US 461 and US 25 at the north end of town which was a very dark and dangerous intersection coming into town.
  - * Trying to bring the privilege licenses into proper perspective so that they will be fair to everyone in the city, both big businesses and small alike.
  - * Voting NO on 4% tax increase for the city when they were already as high as they could be for our class city.
  - * Voting NO on deals for parking for the citizens of our city.
  - * Voting YES on helping our factories so that our people could keep their jobs at home.
  - * Police helping not only at the Richmond street crossing for our school children, but also at the West Main and Williams Street intersection to help keep our children safe and to assist the buses quickly on their way.
  - * One of my goals, if elected, your Mayor of Mt. Vernon is to help our Mt. Vernon Volunteer Fire Department in any way I can. They do an excellent job and are deserving of any help we can give them.
- To repair and upgrade our sidewalks all over the city and keep them clean and free of debris and weeds.
- To promote and work with the Recreational Committee in providing new forms of recreation which will be safe for our youth.

If you elect me Mayor of the City of Mt. Vernon, I will work with the City Council not only for a better city of Mt. Vernon, but for the people of the city.

PULL LEVER NO. 1

Your Vote and Support Greatly Appreciated

We extend our sympathy to the family of Mrs. Vivian Abney of Clear Creek who passed away recently. May Continue on Page A-11

Estate Auction
of the late Mr. Estle Bullock's
47 Acre Farm, more or less
Sat., Nov. 11, 1989
2:30 p.m.
Chestnut Ridge Section - Rockcastle Co.

LOCATION: Turn off US 25 just past Superior Food Market onto state road 3274 (Chestnut Ridge road) and proceed approximately 1-1/2 miles to auction site. Signs are posted.

In order to settle the estate of the late Mr. Bullock, his heirs have contracted our firm to sell this good Chestnut Ridge farm for the absolute high dollar.

The farm consists of 47 acres, more or less, of which approximately 24 acres is crop and pasture land the balance in woods. It is improved with a good 36x40 barn and another barn which is in need of repairs. City water is available. There is a basic tobacco allotment of 852 lbs. Being under lease, the farm is ready for livestock immediately.

Auctioneer's note: Although the property has been used primarily for farming operation, with the location near town and city water available, and being on the blacktop road, it does have some potential for dividing. There are several good home sites on the property. Be sure to look the farm over before sale date. Remember, it's an absolute auction, the last bid will buy.

Terms: 20% down day of sale, balance in 30 days with delivery of deed.

If you don't believe in miracles, read this true story

A woman, shopping on her lunch hour, noticed that she was running late. At the supermarket, her last stop, she put the groceries in her car, left the shopping cart in the parking lot and drove back to the office. Then she realized that her purse was missing. She ran out to the car. No purse. She raced back to the market, saying every prayer she had ever learned. There were vehicles parked all around where she had left a cart a half hour before. Not only was the cart still there, her purse was still in it; on the topshelf, visible to the world. Nothing, including money, checkbook, insurance card, etc., had been touched. At her House of Worship, she thanked the Lord for forgiving her carelessness and surrounding property with the most honest (or unobservant) people He could find.

God comfort her loved ones.

Our hearts go out to Jeff and Vonda Poynter of Berea who lost their precious little two year old daughter Amanda on Saturday, October 21st. Bless her heart we saw her at church just about every time the doors were open. She was such a lovely child and so friendly. She had such beautiful sparkling eyes and a smile for everyone. She will be greatly missed as we all loved her so much. But her loss here is Heaven's gain. To Jeff and Vonda I'd like to publicly say, we all love you from the bottom of our heart, and are remembering you always in our prayers. When we lose a loved one it makes Heaven seem nearer and dearer, and we know they are awaiting our coming.

On Friday, October 13, Mrs. Ruby Scheblo of Kettering, Ohio passed away. Attending the funeral on the following Tuesday were: two sisters, Mrs. Georgia Blair of Fairview; Mrs. Dorothy Gahbard of Berea; Mrs. Blair's grandson, Timmy Singleton. Our sympathy goes out to all those left behind. God bless them.

Attending the funeral of Mr. Dallas Roberts, 51 of Dayton, Ohio on Tuesday, October 24th were: his uncle, Mr. Herman Hundley; Mrs. Hundley of Roundstone; and three daughters; Mrs. Crystal Powell also of the Roundstone area; Mrs. Claudia Wren of Fairview and Mrs. Daphne Baird of Berea. Our sympathy is also extended to these loved ones and they have our prayers also.

You know there is much trouble, death and sorrow in our world today. I've studied so much about it in the past little while. Of the great Hurricane Hugo, the fires in different places and the earthquakes in California and other places. Do you feel that God is very angry toward us and also at the same time his heart is breaking to see all the wickedness in the world today? God loves us and he wants us to be a loving, forgiving, caring and happy people. Accidents and other causes are snuffing out people's lives today just like blowing out a candle. Some don't even have time to say, "Lord, have mercy on me." I hope and pray that when the Lord calls, you will be ready, because the way you die is the way you will meet God. There is no chance after death.

Bill and Beverly Brock and children Brian and Tara of the Berea area recently spent the weekend in Middletown, Ohio where they attended a family picnic at the home of Bill's aunt, Mrs. Donna Pingleton. They enjoyed it very much.

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Alexander and Kenneth were her brother Mr. Harold Powell, Mrs. Powell and daughter of Spring Valley, Ohio.

Visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Chasteen of Fairfield, Ohio on Saturday, October 21st were his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Chasteen, and James and Joyce Seals of Indian Hills, Paint Lick. Joining them at the Chasteen home were their other brother Ray Chasteen and sisters, Molly Young and Hattie Webb. The only other sister is Beulah Harbin who lives in Florida. We had an enjoyable day of being together and a very delicious dinner. Several other members of the family were also present. We did a lot of hugging, a lot of talking and made a lot of pictures. Thank God for letting us all be together once again upon this earth.

Recent guests of Mrs. Mary Cope have been Mr. and Mrs. Jim Bowles of Junction City; Mrs. Christine Barnett and Sylvester Cope and friend, Her son William and wife of Dayton, Ohio spent the weekend with her.

Dorothy Lambert and Mary Lou Reynolds of Augusta, Ga. are visiting here with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Chasteen recently visited at the home of their granddaughter Robin Harold and husband Kenny and infant daughter Kendra.

Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Cummings were: Mr. and Mrs. James Lambert of Mt. Vernon; Dorothy Lambert and Mary Lou Reynolds of Georgia; Mrs. Wallace Williams and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Jack Parsons. Another happy evening.

Our recent guests have been Wayne and Carolyn Chasteen; Junior and Lynetta Chasteen and Donald Chasteen.

Please remember church and Sunday School, children need to be brought up in the house of the Lord. They are precious and need lots and lots of love.

And please remember also to say, "NO to drugs and YES to life. God bless you."

By: Zl Graves

Last night I almost felt like a traitor for awhile listening to the new sound of Renfro. I could almost see John Lair standing next to the old organ and giving a welcome in that familiar voice, hand gently resting, as it did a lot in his last years on the corner of his beloved music piece.

This was my first time back since he has been gone. I simply did not want to face the changes I was sure had taken place. But, changes have to be made and accepted in every phase of life. Living is changing. Babies change into kids - kids into adults. Adults grow old and look back and many times never see the changes but demand their personal lives have no changes made because the old way was better.

Well, better or not, the change was there but I liked it. It was such a subtle change one would have to have extremely sensitive ears and heart to know it had happened.

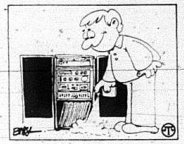

The change I saw and felt was a programmed one. The old casualness was gone. Even the ones who seemed to be lounging while playing their instruments had the appearance of it being planned that way.

Still, it was good. The music was varied and well played. The singing was great. The performers were courteous to the audience and the audience responded well.

Some of the old performers were there with their own home grown kind of corn, and some of them I used to enjoy I missed.

I guess the way to handle these changes that must occur is to tuck these memories that mean so much to us into a special corner of our hearts to preserve them and begin tuning our minds and hearts in to today's world.

I think Mr. Lair would have been happy with last night's entertainment. He would have loved, I believe, to hear and see those two Eversole Brothers do their act. If I understand it right, Renfro Valley Barn Dance was started for the main purpose of giving people like these two boys a boost up the ladder to the entertainment world. There have been many famous names get their start here. I just hope it never loses that.

With a self-portrait to the right of him, Piqua artist Jack Bowman sits in his Caldwell Street studio.

Bowman has art exhibit in Ohio

Jack Bowman, the son of former Orlando residents Jack and Carrie Bowman, has gotten some area attention in Ohio.

Bowman, an artist, had a 31-piece exhibit on display in Englewood, Ohio, most recently.

He is an art teacher in the Piqua, Ohio, School District, and has a studio there, also. He's been teaching in Piqua since 1972.

The art exhibit covers work he did from 1966 through this past summer, and was highlighted by paintings, photographs, drawings, Xerox pieces and prints.

Bowman considers the September exhibit a historical perspective of his work, and how an artist may change perceptions with age, maturity and the passing of historical moments in his lifetime.

He also has several works in private collections in Europe, Canada and the United States.

Bowman has also held a number of one-man shows in Ohio and North-Kentucky over the years.

In other times, Bowman was a reporter here in Rockcastle, in the Army from 1964-67, the editor of a fine arts newspaper, and three out-ofdoors-oriented publications. He spent several years as a free lance writer and photographer.

He holds a masters degree in secondary education from the University of Dayton.

His parents now live in Burnside,

Mullins to chair Cumberland board

Roland D. Mullins has been elected to serve as Chairman of the Cumberland College Development Board. This year marks 100 years of service to young people from all over the nation by Cumberland.

Board-by-laws state purposes of the organization including securing, finances, and serving as ambassadors of good will.

The board is made up of thirty-seven leaders from Michigan, North Carolina, Tennessee, Ohio, Alabama, Illinois, Texas, Florida and Kentucky. Included among the board membership are former Governor Burt T. Combs, Major General Benjamin Baker, M.D., and Nelda Barton, National Republican Committee woman.

The Mt. Vernon Elementary School PTA received its first donation for new playground equipment Tuesday.

The Woodmen of the World, through area representative Jean Towery, has donated $700 toward approximately $10,000 new equipment the PTA wants in place by June, 1990, when the new building will be all ready for use.

Cynthia Howlett, president of the PTA, says that a new program, "Adopt-a-Room," will be announced in detail in mid-November.

Howlett says that the PTA plans to spend about $3,500 on playground equipment designed for each of three distinct groups: upper grades, lower grades, and handicapped accessible.

Word of the Week: We are in the second week of our new program, "Word of the Week." Each Monday a new word is introduced to the whole school via closed circuit TV. During that particular week, designated faculty are assigned to question students as to the week's word, its spelling and its meaning. If the student gets all three correct, she receives a "happy surprise." Teachers encourage the mastery of these words by incorporating them into their lesson-plans and by including them as bonus words on the spelling tests. Some teachers are adding their own "word of the week" within their classroom. Faculty, staff and students have received this fun way to learn new words. The first word was "achieve," because we want to achieve many positive things at BES.

By: The Adams

According to the governor of our state the lottery has already "created several new Kentucky millionaires." Of all the outright lies being perpetrated by the state's new numbers racket that's probably the biggest one. Contrary to all else you've heard, nobody has won a million dollars from the lottery, or for that matter, anything even close to that amount.

The dictionary is fairly blunt about it. A millionaire is a person whose wealth comes to a million dollars. Period. You simply have to have assets in hand that are worth a million dollars if you want to be a millionaire. That's not quite what happens if you are lucky enough to win the biggest jackpot the state lottery is paying out.

What the governor is calling a million dollars is actually an income stream of about $32,000 dollars a year paid out for twenty years. That adds up to about $640,000 that a lottery winner actually gets if he's young enough to live another 20 years. Not peanuts. But not a million dollars. So why lie about it?

Before I began this column I called up a banker friend of mine and a stockbroker friend of his because I don't have any friends who know much about the stock market. Neither of them wanted to be quoted directly in the paper because they don't want the Governor to get mad at em so they dealt with me on the condition that I not use their names. Nobody wants to be in the paper anymore unless they grow mule beans.

Anyway, I asked these two financial experts to tell me how much cash I could sell a guaranteed million dollar lottery ticket for. In other words, how much would you give me right now for what the state says it's going to pay me over the next 20 years. The banker said it was worth "a little over a hundred thousand dollars." The broker said $97,500 was the best he could do.

Now when the lottery board turns money over to the state they do it in lump sums. When you heard about the lottery turning over $64,000,000 to the state treasury it was all there at the same time. Frank Keener didn't call up and say "Wally, guess what, I'm going to give the state three million dollars a year for the next twenty years." He counted out the cash right on the spot.

Lottery winners should get the same treatment. If the Governor is going to be on every radio and television station in the state talking about making millionaires out of people, then he ought to be handing out the cash to make them just that.

I don't have a great problem with the lottery in principal. Already this fall I've bought raffle tickets from high school students for several television sets, vcr's, cam-corders, aused car, a set of encyclopedias, a microwave oven, a trip to Florida and a 600 pound steer. I've even bought a lottery ticket or two. I think it's a pretty good way to raise money if it's kept in perspective.

But I have some real problems with the advertising scheme that the lottery board and the Governor have gotten into with the state's racket. And that is just what it has become. It reeks of greed, deception and the bare-faced lies. The high school kids ask me to buy a ticket on their television because they're raising money for the band or the 4-H club and if I help out I have a shot at winning the microwave sitting in the principal's office.

The state doesn't even bother asking you to help out with the cost of education by taking a chance on winning a jackpot. The lottery preys on greed and aims its advertising at the folks who can least afford to pay much of their pay checks into lottery tickets.

I know of two store owners who quit selling lottery tickets because they simply didn't want to be any part of what they saw happening. "I know a bunch of children who went hungry the first month of the lottery", a grocer in Brodhead told me recently, "because I saw their mothers' spend their entire checks on lottery tickets and walk out of here empty handed. I don't want no part of that."

We also found out just what kind of politician the governor is after all during the controversy that finally ended with a decision to not get into betting on football games. The whole thing started when the horsey set complained that football betting wasn't what the voters had in mind, that it would eat into their income, and that it constituted gambling instead of a numbers racket.

Wally went on record with an opinion that the horse racing industry simply "wanted to participate in the income", and that he thought that if they got together something could be worked out. In other words, "If we pay these horse people off, they'll shut up." Honestly believe he thought it would work. Invert a little politics as usual into the problem and it will be solved. Surprise Surprise!!!

If the governor is so bent on spending the lottery proceeds on education, I'd like to suggest that he spend the first few thousand going back to school himself. Somewhere around third or fourth grade he can probably find a teacher who will help him learn to count to a million. He might also find in a public school that students and teachers alike are real fed up with this political pay-off behind closed doors business.

Choosing your health plan is one of the most important decisions you make all year. You've studied the information. You've weighed the pros and cons. Now comes the moment of truth: Should you base your decision on what a health insurance company has done in the past, or what it's going to accomplish in the future?

The answer is both. So your decision is Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Kentucky.

For over 50 years, we've been Kentucky's health plan of choice. More babies have been born, more broken arms cast and more hearts mended with Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Kentucky coverage than any other health plan in the Commonwealth.

Our past accomplishments are impressive. But, we're working on a better future.

We're streamlining claims procedures for more efficient processing. We're breaking our customer service folks into smaller, more specialized teams so they can answer your questions more quickly. ## State is still looking for veterans who have not yet filed for Vietnam bonus

Four months still remain for Vietnam Era veterans to sign up for the Kentucky bonus next year.

The last session of the General Assembly put the bonus into effect for a target date of April 1, 1990, for payments to begin going to veterans of the era who were residents of Kentucky when they enlisted.

The money for the bonus supposedly will come from part of the proceeds of the still-new state lottery.

Veterans who served in Vietnam from Aug. 4, 1964, until April, 1975, are eligible for payments up to $500. Era vets who did not serve in the war zone are eligible for up to $300.

Vets who served in Vietnam, or at sea or with an air group in the war zone need 20 months in combat status to draw the full $500.

Anyone who was in for less than that, but still in service, can prorate their amount by figuring $25 per month in Vietnam, $15 per month outside of the zone.

Wounded who were evacuated from Vietnam before their tour of duty was up are eligible for the full $500.

For an application, or more information about the bonus, contact the state's Department of Military Affairs at 1-800-223-0713.

A DD-214 form will be needed to file. The deadline is Feb. 28, 1990.

Gibson Greetings strike has not yet been decided by NLRB decisions

Despite rumors floating around to the contrary, the National Labor Relations Board district judges in Cincinnati have not yet ruled in favor of either Gibson Greetings Cards or the union that struck the plant for 100 days this summer.

Earl Ledford of the Cincinnati office of NLRB said that parts of the dispute have been forwarded to the NLRB's Division of Advice in Washington, D.C.

He said that several suits surrounding actions during the strike have given the case "unusual legal ramifications."

There is no time limit or time frame for a decision on the case.

The union filed unfair labor practices against Gibson twice, claiming the company took away both seniority and insurance benefits, which caused the strike by most of the employees.

None of the striking employees have been returned to work, it is believed.

Government, school board meetings affected little by Election Day work

Only the November session of Rockcastle Fiscal Court will be changed to accommodate the hoopla and work surrounding the Nov. 7 general election.

The court will meet at 3 p.m., Wednesday, Nov. 8, in the Circuit Court room at the county courthouse.

Mt. Vernon City Council will meet at 7 p.m., Monday, Nov. 6, at city hall.

Brodhead couple involved in fight during exchange of child in Lincoln

Randall and Barbara Hopkins, of Tark Hill Rd., Brodhead, face a Dec. 12 pre-trial conference in Lincoln District Court, following a fight with Mrs. Hopkins' former husband, during the exchange of their six-year-old daughter following a visitation.

The reported fight, which occurred in the parking lot of a convenience store in Crab Orchard on Oct. 19, found Mrs. Hopkins wrestling with her daughter's step-mother, Tammy Martin. The two women were on the ground when Randall Hopkins grabbed his ex-wife, and hit her, according to published reports.

He also pulled out some of her hair when her head recoiled after the punch.

The Hopkins was taken to Ft. Logan Hospital in Stanford, and had eight stitches sewn into her forehead, and more into the inside of an eyelid to stop the bleeding from a punch allegedly thrown by Hopkins.

Both Hopkins were arrested on an assault charge filed by Mrs. Martin, and in jail overnight, but were released on $3,000 bond on Oct. 20. They immediately swore out an assault warrant for Mrs. Martin.

Both parties pleaded not guilty in Lincoln District Court on Oct. 21. The fight allegedly began when Hopkins told his wife to whip Mrs. Martin, and if she didn't, he would. Officers investigating the incident said that the daughter reported the conversation to them.

The Martins have legal custody of the child.

Luther Shell gives a hint of which state he visited last during traveling

Luther Shell, the Ohio resident who has traveled almost around the world, hasn't gotten any response to his offer of $50 for anyone who can guess which of the 48 lower United States he and his wife, Sinmie, visited last.

The Shells are Rockcastle natives.

He says the offer still is good, and he's giving some clues as to which state it is.

The state is west of the Mississippi River, but is not one of the following: Washington, Oregon, California, Arizona, New Mexico, Texas or Mississippi.

If you think you know, write him at 927 Dayton St., Hamilton, Ohio, 45011.

Academic teams lose three straight in weekly competition at Laurel Co.

The Rockcastle County High academic teams had a tough week at Laurel County last Thursday.

The varsity dropped matches to McCreary Central 27-12, Casey County 18-17, and Laurel 25-20, Chuck Mink led the team in scoring with six and nine correct answers in quick recall contests two and three (Casey and Laurel, respectively), while Chad Abney got eight questions in the opener with McCreary.

The JVs suffered a similar fate. They lost to McCreary 21-20, then Casey 22-19, before losing to Laurel by "six or seven points" said coach John Wells.

The varsity is now 6-9 on the year, the JVs 3-12.

Ballots switched last week

The ballots for West Brodhead and Orlando were inadvertently switched in last week's editions of the Mt. Vernon Signal. The correct ballots are listed in this section this week.

The general election will be held on Tuesday, Nov. 7. Those who have not yet registered may not do so until after the election is over. The deadline was Oct. 10.

Rockcastle hospital is home for a visitor to the Dream Factory

By BOB HERRON

The little boy is lying in the bed. He is imprisoned in a world of plastic tubes, IVs, and is never far from the constant hum of a respirator machine.

His mother, Marianna Creech, leans over him and wipes his forehead. "Jamie," she coos. "You have company. Can you say hello?"

Jamie, 9, responds by rolling his eyes and head up to watch the television on the wall.

"You will have to excuse him," she says to the strangers. "He really likes to watch TV. I think it's because of the colors and sound."

This is not a normal day for Jamie. Today, he will meet representatives from the Bluegrass Chapter of the Dream Factory who will give him a firetruck and helicopter that are operated by a hand-held switch.

The dream factory is a non-profit organization that tries to fulfill the wishes of terminally or chronically ill children. This is the second dream the fledgling chapter has fulfilled.

Marianna Creech found out about the Dream Factory from a friend in Washington D.C. She wrote the national chapter, telling them that Jamie's dream was to go to his home between Hyden and Hardin.

The national chapter referred the request to the Bluegrass chapter, which responded with the toys.

Born in Lexington, the only home Jamie has known has been inside the walls of hospitals. During his birth the phrenic nerves were broken. The phrenic nerves make breathing an automatic function. Without them every breath is a conscious effort.

For the first two years, Jamie stayed in pediatric intensive care unit at the Lexington hospital. Since then he has moved to Rockcastle County Hospital's respiratory care unit.

Kenneth Johnson (left) and Tammy Barnes (right) work with nine-year-old Jamie Creech and his mother, Mrs. Marianna Creech, at Rockcastle County Hospital. Jamie, who is a patient there, was found recently by The Dream Factory, which arranges for dream-come-true times for seriously ill children. Mrs. Creech is from near Hyden and Hardin.

His family commutes from Eastern Kentucky to see him during the week. "He's been on a respirator during all but the first two months of his life," said his mother. "The first two months he was allowed to go home."

Jamie's life has become a daily routine of waking up and going to a morning story hour. He then watches television from 12:30 p.m. until a teacher arrives at 1 p.m. The teacher than turns Jamie until 3:30 p.m.

Marianna said she hopes that Rockcastle County can provide a full-time teacher for her son and the other children that are unable to attend school. She has received news that that may be possible in the future.

"It takes someone here full-time," she said. "It takes someone who really loves children and is not afraid of machinery."

Marianna should know. She has worked as a special education teacher, and worked with her son before a teacher could be found.

"I have taught him because we couldn't get a teacher," she said. "I worked with ABC cards and number cards. It's really nice now to have a teacher because now I can be just a mother."

Marianna said it was important to have a teacher and is not afraid of

Growth brings new name and new vans to Rockcastle riders

By Jim Griesch

Public transportation in the county is growing so fast.

Thanks ago, a new van was purchased by RTEC (Rural Transit Enterprises Coordinated), the new name for the old Rockcastle County Public Transit.

That addition and new name has increased both services and responsibility for RTEC. Now, Whitley and Knox are served on a regular basis, as well as Rockcastle.

Linda Proctor, at the Senior Citizens building, said that a second new van is expected to arrive in Frankfort, for Rockcastle, by Thanksgiving. When that happens, RTEC will have six vans here, plus one in Whitley.

In terms of service, that means that two drivers are on duty, with a third (Proctor) as standby.

"We can take care of everything, now," said Proctor.

Service will be better, more consistent in Mt. Vernon, Livingston and Brodhead within the county.

Now, non-emergency transportation for medical appointments and needs to Danville and Lexington can be scheduled more comfortably.

However, Proctor cautioned, those trips need to be scheduled and reserved at least a day in advance.

Calling the additions "the biggest expansion since we began," Proctor also said that many of the services available in Rockcastle can be duplicated in Whitley and Knox with the use of a van full-time there.

Co-ordinated services for those needing to go to Clay or Laurel counties can also be worked out with the transportation service there, she said.

But, for those needing just transportation within the county, better service for shopping, nutrition and adult day care in Brodhead are available.

The changes have been noticed by both the state and federal governments.

On Oct. 12, RTEC was recognized as one of the most improved, rural transit departments in Louisville.

Proctor noted, "Being the most improved played a part in winning."

It may have also helped in getting the two new vans into the county.

Renfro Valley is celebrating its 50th anniversary this fall

When emcee Jim Gaskin walks onto the stage of the Old Barn and welcomes the audience to the Renfro Valley Saturday Night Barn Dance on November 4, it will mark a special milestone for the historic Rockcastle County music center.

It will be the 50th anniversary, to the day, that John Lair opened the first show at Renfro Valley in a unique experiment that proved to be highly successful.

That first Renfro Valley Saturday Night Barn Dance was broadcast live over Cincinnati radio station WLW, the first time a country music show had been aired live from a rural setting, with many of the performers being local residents.

The Renfro Valley Barn Dance had been a highly popular show two previous years over WLW, originating first from the Cincinnati Music Hall and later from Dayton, Ohio.

The financial success of the program enabled Lair to buy land in his native Rockcastle County, and begin construction on a settlement patterned after a pioneer community, where he hoped to keep alive the values of hard work, neighborliness and honesty that had marked the settlement of American.

A log restaurant, log guest cabins and the auditorium -- a large replica of the barns that dotted the many nearby farms -- were built. Telephone lines were run from Mt. Vernon to carry the signal back to Cincinnati and the show was ready to begin.

Musical legends such as Red Foley,

Performers on stage during one of Renfro's Sunday Morning Gatherin', which was carried over both WHAS radio in Louisville, and the CBS Radion Network at one time.

Slim Miller, Pleaz Mobley, An't I'dy and Little Clifford and Lily May Ledford and the Coon Creek Girls (who had performed at the White House earlier in the year for the King of England) appeared on that first historic broadcast.

The show was an instant success, despite the skepticism of local critics, and soon thousands of people were coming to the remote Kentucky valley -- in the days before interstate highway -- and thousands more were listening on radio.

The Saturday Night Barn Dance would later be carried for years over clear channel WHAS in Louisville, while daily 15-minute shows and the Sunday Morning Gatherin' program were carried over the CBS network.

Rockets explode, assure winning mark

By: Jim Griesch

Last Friday night, the Rockcastle County Rockets found an answer to all kinds of questions about what to do if key players couldn't play because of injuries.

The answer: Explode gloriously. Here's what happened in a 29-8 win over Whitley County that wrapped up a third straight third-place district finish:

1. Kevin Rowe had injured an ankle playing basketball at school Thursday morning. First thoughts: no way would he play.
2. Boom!
3. The Rockets are never in gear

Rowe not only played, he had 91 yards rushing, one touchdown, an interception, and two conversions runs in the first quarter alone.

Jonathan Saylor, who had to rest a medium-injury shoulder separation, would not be able to play.

Boom!

Saylor ran for 26 yards on four carries, played most of the game at an outside linebacker spot, and was in on some key plays on offense. He had an 11-yard run the first time he touched the ball, and added an eight-yarder the second half.

3. The Rockets are never in gear

the first quarter.

Boom!

They scored 28 points, on three TDs and Rowe's two conversions, and had 167 yards rushing in the initial quarter, alone.

The 22-point total is one more than the Rockets had scored in the first quarter the whole season up until the Whitley game.

4. The passing game is still suspect.

Boom!

Scott Parkey hit the first two passes he tried, both in a key drive to open the second half. The killer was a 48-yard strike to Billy Todd cutting across the middle of the field, just ahead of two defenders.

Dane Cox was also wide open, but not as deep down field. Cox had a 17-yarder to set up the bomb.

Todd's catch and run put the Rockets up 29-2, and Whitley never quite recovered.

That scoring pass in the third quarter was just Rockcastle's second of the year in the period.

Boom!

They won and didn't even play well in what would normally be their best quarters, the second and fourth.

Boom!

Explode gloriously! Yes, yes! Rowe's injury was real. Thursday, he wowed to play, at least on defense.

The decision to play him wasn't even made until after pre-game warm-ups on Friday.

Saylor was also a real question mark. His shoulder was tender, but treatment and a special pad enabled him to play.

Saylor is Rowe's back-up fullback. If he cannot have played, head coach Tom Larkey had a real problem to solve.

He said he could have played 5-

4,145-pound Mike Spires at fullback, or freshman Bobby Coffey (two varsity career carries, three yards, going into the game).

But, after Rockcastle rambled down for a score on the first possession of the game, everything seemed to fall in place.

The opening drive, with Cox getting the final three yards off right tackle, went 71 yards in 13 plays, and covered 4:32 on the clock.

All of it was on the ground, with Cox getting 21 yards, Rowe 28.

The second drive covered 57 yards.

Coleman can still kick -- at times

By: Jim Griesch

The Fall of 1989 has been a learning experience for Adam Coleman. The Rockcastle County High graduate has been a punter -- sometimes -- for Cumberland College this football season.

Some, games he punts. Some, he doesn't. Mostly, he has just watched. He did punt against Mid-South Conference champion Georgetown. He didn't against Union College last Saturday, in a 7-3 shutdown in Barboursville.

So far, he has shared punting duties with first-string tailback Scott Hamilton, a senior.

Neither has been consistent, or outstanding. Coleman has punted just twice in conference play, for 46 total yards, and a 23-yards-per-punt average.

Hamilton had punted seven times, going into the Union game, for an average of 25.1 per attempt.

That's a far cry from Coleman's high school senior year average of 40.1 per punt, with a long of 70 yards. But, Coleman doesn't seem too disturbed about learning the ropes all over in college, nor about being an only string.

He said that "whoever does the best through the week" usually determines who punts on Saturday.

"I started a couple," said Coleman after Saturday's game. "But he (coach Tom Dowling) put Scott back in."

Coleman said he's been named the starting punter twice, and was listed first string Saturday.

"The second game I started," Coleman remembered, "he told me during the week. The first time, he told me right before the game."

His best punt, Coleman said, was a 42-yarder against Wilmington.

"I was special teams player of the week that week," he said. "The next week, I didn't do so well, and he put Scott back in."

Adam Coleman is experiencing a hot-cold freshman year as a punter for Cumberland College. Some Saturdays, he punts, as he did in a game against Georgetown a couple of weeks ago (top). Other games, he only gets to warm up, as was the case this past Saturday at Union.

Hamilton has been a star at tailback for Cumberland for three years now. He spends much of his practice time working with the offense.

Coleman might be the loneliest player on the squad during practice.

"He works by himself. He kicks toward one end of the practice field, then chases down all his punts and kicks back the other way."

That's the life of a kicker. But, he will get a few snaps per week working on special teams play.

It's the same kind of a place kicker lives.

Coleman wishes he had someone to work with more often.

"We don't have a punting coach. There is no real special teams coach. And, I'm the only one who is just a punter."

But, he isn't down or disheartened. He knows he is starting over, again.

"After four years in high school, it is not as hard to adjust (to college) as it was from little league to high school. When I was a freshman in high school, I was sacred to death."

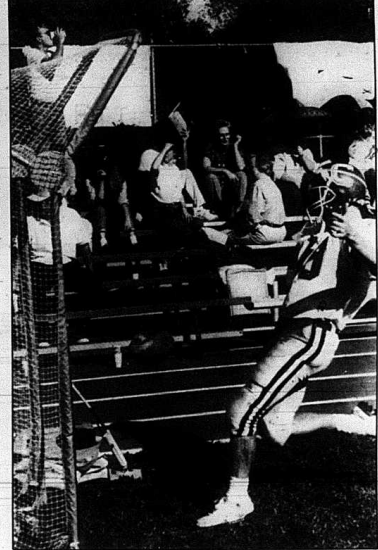

And even off the field, the challenges are not as impossible to overcome.

What is college like?

The big thing is "managing your time." I'm doing that pretty well, he said. "You have to learn to live with different people. In high school, you were known all your life (by those around you). Here, half of our team is from Georgia or Ohio. It is kind of a culture shock."

Still, his parents were there to see him Saturday.

So was his sister, and his girl friend.

And, he is no more than an hour from home.

What about punting next week?

"It's always up in the air," Coleman admitted.

But, next week is also another opportunity.

Cumberland has games remaining with Evansville at home this weekend, and a season-ender against Lambuth, on the road.

There is still a chance that the Indians could draw a bid to the NAIA Division II playoffs, but the crushing 48-7 loss to Georgetown two weeks ago probably made that chance a lot slimmer than it might be.

Still, a trip to the playoffs would add to Coleman's experiences this year, and give him a better understanding of the college game.

Needed: Schedules for boys teams in junior high league

The Signal will publish a comprehensive schedule of the four boys' junior high teams on November 9. Coaches need to make sure schedules are available for The Signal by Tuesday, Nov. 7, for the Nov. 9 issue.

The schedule will be formatted as were the girls schedules in September, and the high school schedules last month.

If games are to be added, that is okay. We need to publish what games are already set, and we'll let your fans know of additions or deletions as they occur.

We need schedules from all four Rockcastle County junior high teams.

Injury to Rowe shook coaches

"Thank you," said the player as he shook Roy Stevens' hand outside of the dressing room at Whitley County High last Friday night.

The player was Kevin Rowe, the senior fullback whose playing status was uncertain until just before game time.

Stevens is a trainer at the University of Kentucky Sports Medicine clinic run by Dr. Michael Ray.

When Rowe hurt an ankle Thursday morning playing basketball at school, assistant coach Tony Saylor took him directly to Lexington.

Rowe (and back-up fullback Jonathan Saylor, who also went for therapy on an ailing shoulder) were sent through rigorous therapy sessions much of Thursday afternoon, and again on Friday.

Rowe not only played, he played. His 91 yards rushing in the first quarter, his touchdown and two conversion runs, and an interception, were all crucial.

Suddenly, a team wondering was a team with a fat, early lead.

Stevens was startled when Rowe extended his hand. Stevens credited fellow trainer John Nyland with most of the credit for getting Rowe ready to play.

Dr. Ray said the therapy is called "jobs."

Included in that is the application of cold compression, which melts away swelling, an ice massage, a compression wrap, and range of motion exercises for the ankle.

For the game, UK people carefully taped an air cast inside the usual ankle wrap.

For those wondering, the Latin name for Rowe's injury is "anterior talofibular ligament sprain" and Ray called it "serious."

Saylor, who was injured when he fell on an out-of-bounds, on his shoulder while making a nice run the Action was wild and woolly at times during Mt. Vernon's 30-26 win last Thursday over Lancaster in the "pit" gym at Mt. Vernon School. The win avenged two earlier losses to the Green Devils, the only two losses for the Red Devils over this season and last. The Red Devils are 9-2 so far this season.

Mt. Vernon girls finally whip Lancaster with 30-26 victory

In the week's play in Rockcastle junior high girls basketball:

- Mt. Vernon finally beat Lancaster this year.
- Brodhead used a big second half to sweep past Roundstone in a road game.
- Mt. Vernon stopped a two-game losing streak to Lancaster with a 30-24 win last Thursday, at home.
- The Red Devils jumped to a 6-0 lead, then pushed it to as much as 12-4 before going into the half with a 19-8 lead.
- The lead went to 23-10 by the end of the third quarter, and was still 28-18 with about 90 seconds to play before Lancaster rallied to cut the final margin to six.
- Heather Kidwell of Mt. Vernon led her team with 12, sharing high point honors for the game with the Green Devils' Amy Preston.
- But, Tabatha Bell gave Kidwell all the support she needed, getting 10. Three other Lancaster players combined for the other 12 points.
- Lancaster had beaten Mt. Vernon in a tournament in Berea, and in Lancaster, earlier this season.
- Mt. Vernon is now 9-2 for the year, the best record among the four Rockcastle County junior high teams.
- In the "B" game, it was almost the opposite of the "A" game. It was also Mt. Vernon's "B" team's first loss of the year.

Lancaster had a 22-16 lead, but a furious rally cut it to 24-22, with about 20 seconds to play.

Mt. Vernon had a chance to tie at the foul line, but missed. Tera Huffman canned two foul shots for Lancaster with 11 seconds left to seal the game.

At Roundstone Monday night, the Lady Eagles had small leads, but Brodhead rallied at the end of both the first and second quarters, and was ahead 26-24 at the half.

From there, the Tigers moved slowly away as Roundstone developed a deep foul problem.

Brodhead outscored Roundstone 38-15 in the second half to post a 64-39 win.

Jeanne Proctor and Jamica Cummins each scored just four points and fouled out very early in the game.

Debbie Cash had 17 for Brodhead, getting most of her points early in the game, when the outcome was at stake.

Amy Robinson had most of hers in the first half, too.

Cindy McCauley, who probably is the county's leading scorer, was high with 21, but she was held in check until overtime 12 in the last quarter.

Jennifer Saylor led Roundstone with 16 points, while Ginger Mink added 11.

But, Roundstone took the "B" game 39-34, after trailing 17-16 at the half.

Mink had 15, Cummins 13 in that game. That offset a 20-point effort by Amy Robinson.

Roundstone edged ahead 28-26 at the end of the third quarter, then outscored Brodhead 11-8 in the final period to post a tough, close, win.

JVs lose at Williamsburg by 22-21

The Rockcastle County High JVs let one slip away at Williamsburg Monday night, 22-21. The loss drops the combined fresh-JV mark to 8-4 on the year, with the JVs 3-3 and the freshmen 5-1. The JVs had roared back from an 8-6 halftime deficit to take a 21-8 lead midway through the third quarter.

But, a 70-yard kick-off return after the second TD of the frame, gave the Yellowjackets some momentum. We were still celebrating during the kickoff, said coach Jerry Penson. J.D. Harris scored in the first quarter on a three-yard pass from Jason Kirby. William Bullens scored on a 63-yard run early in the second half, and Kirby hit Scott Bullens on a conversion pass for a 14-8. William Hellard scored the last TD on a 35-yard pass from Kirby. Williamsburg's other two touchdowns came on runs, the first a block-play off tackle; the last a sweep around end. The JVs had a fourth-quarter score nullified on a clipping penalty in the end zone, said Penson.

Rockcastle

To the People of Rockcastle County:

During these past weeks, I have attempted to outline for you who I am, what I stand for, what I have done, and what I would like for us to accomplish together.

I hope it has come through that I have confidence in you; confidence that together we can make things a little better for those still to come.

Rest assured that should you choose me to lead these next four years: (1) I'll be my own man; (2) I'll be your man in the courthouse; (3) I'll mind the business of Judge-Executive and stay out of the business of others; (4) I'll make no deals with any special interest group at your expense.

In summary, I want to thank you for the encouragement, for your support and for your vote.

Your Friend,

Roland Mullins

Action Plan

Jobs--I know firsthand the employment needs of Rockcastle County. At age fifteen, I left the state to find a job. Then, as an adult, I have driven 150 miles a day to work. I will, therefore, fight a vigorous day to day battle to recruit jobs and to maintain the jobs we now have.

Good Treatment--None of us should have to face the pangs of being ignored, seeing our ideas discounted, or of having our needs considered unimportant. Each of us deserves to have a voice, to be given special consideration and to have our needs recognized. Since the county is yours, the Judge/executive is to be recognized.

Water--A large percentage of families in Rockcastle County have no public water. Knowing firsthand the hardships of not having enough water, I intend to attack this problem immediately and forcefully if I am elected.

Roads--I was born on the banks of Crooked Creek over a mile from the nearest road. I am familiar with the road problems and needs of our county. You can be sure that if I am elected, the county road fund will be stretched toward every household in the county.

Garbage--The other person's trash is always dirtier than our own. Roadside dumping is a problem that has become a major one. We must think hard about it. We must clean up our act. Our trash must be properly disposed of. Also, county facilities must be maintained, kept clean and attractive.

Affordable Housing--It is my estimate that we have immediate need for 350-500 single unit owner occupied houses in the county. Developers and financial sources will be brought together and potential buyers will be sought out if I am elected to lead during the next four years.

Taxes--If I am elected in this fall's general election, I will get the most for your money. I will encourage the development of little league soccer, youth basketball, and youth football.

Economic Development--Endeavors that introduce new dollars into the county allow for a scope of development. The expansion at Renfro Valley will tap the thousands of cars that pass on I-75 daily bringing in new money. The development of U.S. 150 will prompt building along that corridor. Promoting regionalism of business to reach the 100,000 plus population South and the 100,000 population North, both less than an hour away, will bring in new dollars. Leadership can tackle this.

Community Development--Encouraging the individual to produce organizations to build, to expand, to expand, to do better to serve more promotes the common good and results in community development. This should be the commitment of any leader.

Recreation--At any age, a healthy body increases the ability to reason and function. The channeling of youthful energy through athletics improves the body and enhances the chances for success later in life. As Judge/executive, I will support the development of recreational areas throughout the county. Further, I will encourage the development of little league soccer.

Fire Protection--A ready response to fire hazards saves property and lives; it also lowers insurance rates. I will support the various fire departments if elected.

Rockets

in five plays, and aided by a face-mask penalty on Whitley.

Parkey slid through left end on the option play for nine yards. Both conversions came from Rowe, who simply picked his way through big holes at tackle on the fullback blast.

Rowe was the whole story on TD No. 3.

He intercepted the first of five passes for the Rockets at the RCHS 48.

On the first play, he plunged through right tackle, ran into, over and through three or four tacklers, then shook everyone loose and rambled into the end zone. That play, covering 52 yards, was his longest run of the year — by 23 yards.

The Rockets scored 22 points with 0:36 still showing on the clock in the quarter.

Of that time, the Rockets held in for 8:13, keeping the Whitley air attack off the field.

The Rockets might have been able to shut out Whitley, but some serious mistakes kept the Rockets from dominating the second quarter, or the remainder of the game, after the third-quarter TD pass.

A clipping penalty on a Whitley punt from its own 40 got the Colonets the ball at the Rockets 45.

Whitley drove down to the Rock-castle five, but Cox intercepted a pass at the goal line and returned it to the eight.

One disaster averted.

But the Rockets came up two yards short, and had to punt. Steve Hines, who was punting since Jeff Hook gave up football before the Cawood game, bobbled the snap, then had to dance around the rush and popped a punt straight up.

It was caught by a Colonel at the 11 (a five yard loss on the punt), and Gary Luntsoford returned it to the five.

Jeff Gibbs dropped what should have been a TD pass on fourth down, and the Rockets had survived another scare.

But the Rockets failed to get a first down, and tried to punt from the 15.

But, Parkey — who had replaced Hines as the punter — couldn't scoop up a low snap, bobbled it and kicked it around. The ball wound up rolling out of the back of the end zone for a two-point safety for Whitley.

Whitley drove to the Rockcastle 14 just before the end of the half, but J.D. Harris intercepted the first of his two in the game, and the Rockets had kept Whitley out of the end zone.

It was a miracle, because Whitley ran 20 plays, 17 in Rockcastle territory in a little over 12 minutes.

At the same time, the Rockets ran just six plays from scrimmage, all runs, and had their two wackiest punting plays of the year.

After the last Rockcastle score,

Whitley drove 62 yards in six plays, and was aided by a pass interference call in the Rockcastle end zone.

Whitley also overcame a holding penalty on the first play of the drive.

Whitley quarterback Larry Brown got 10 yards on a scramble around left end on the first play.

Aaron Anderson scored on an 11-yard run around left end the first play after the interference call.

All other plays in between were passes. Catches picked up 15, 17, and nine yards.

Brown completed 13 of 31 passes to his own players.

But, Rowe, Cox and Harris interceptions the first half were joined by another Harris theft in the third, to set up the RCHS score, and one by William Bullens on Whitley's last play.

The five are a season high for the Rockets, and may be a Larkey-era record at Rockcastle.

Harris' interceptions found him doing his best Superman imitations — you know, "able to leap tall Daryl Bowmans in a single bound."

And, the rushing game was balanced for a second straight game.

One more to go for a 7-4 mark, third best under Larkey.

PAID FOR BY CANDIDATE

New London Tobacco Market, Inc.
P.O. Box 340

Phone: (606)875-9000

Dear Tobacco Farmers:

November 20th marks the opening sale date for the 1989-1990 Burley Tobacco Market. New-London Tobacco Market has made several improvements to give you the larger better service this year.

We will again have weighing at two warehouses to save you unloading time. In addition, we will be receiving tobacco seven days a week. We are offering the service of storing for those of you who lack a place to keep it. The early tobacco will be fully insured and 24 hour watchmen available. We will officially start weighing tobacco Friday, November 10th. We offer to you three dry and well lit warehouses in which to sell your tobacco.

The same familiar key persons will still be there to accommodate you as they have for many years. We are all tobacco growers and therefore we know your problems and will work to get you top dollar for your crops.

London Tobacco Market is proud of the fact that in 1988 we had the highest average in the entire eight state Burley Belt. That is proof enough that we strive to get you higher prices. Also, in 1988 we did not let any tobacco go to the pool, which has been true for several years now.

We will have buyers from all of the major tobacco companies, so it is easy to see why our competition would like to discredit us, as we have been far ahead of them in prices and service for years.

We would like to thank all of you who have been selling with us and tell you that we appreciate your business. To those who haven't done business with us, we invite you to find out for yourselves. We use large enough to serve you and small enough to know you.

Injury

week before against Madison Southem, was not in as serious a condition, but was sore.

Ray said his injury was a "mild shoulder separation, with sprained ligaments on the tip of the collar bone," and is called "acromioclavicular ligament sprain" in Latin.

His treatment included a clavical wrap, a special pad, exercises, lots of ice, and anti-inflammatory medication.

With only this week's game at Williamsburg left on the schedule, the Rockets are within reach of both seasonal team marks, and one season and career individual marks.

If the Rockets can hold Williamsburg to 18 or fewer points, the squad will set a record for both the fewest points by the opponents in a year, and the smallest scoring average by opponents.

In 1986, 10 Rockcastle fives scored 127 points. In 1987, 11 teams averaged 11.6 points per game against the Rockets.

Right now, the Rockets have given up 108 for the year, which is an average of 10.8. A total of 18 by Williamsburg would mean only 126 against the Rockets this year, and an average of 11.5 based on those 126 points would be a record for coach Tom Larkey's tenure at the school.

Or, if the Rockets can shut out Williamsburg, the team could tie the mark for most shut outs in a year, 2 in 1987.

Rowe long ago passed the Larkey-era career rushing mark. With the 99 he had in the game with Whitley, he now has 2,065 in his career, 861 this year.

He needs 56 to pass his personal best of 916 last year, 131 to reach 1,000 for the year, and 157 to pass Chris Larkey's one-year mark of 1,025 set in 1987.

Rowe has already set a one-year mark for touchdowns from the line of scrimmage. His 52-yard gallop for the Rockets' third score Friday gives him 13. He had been tied with Chris Larkey, who had 12 in 1987.

Larkey scored two others on returns and runbacks. If Rowe gets one more TD against Williamsburg, he ties Larkey and Burdette for most TDs in a year. Two more would be a record.

That one more TD for Rowe would also give him 88 points on the year, or two more than Chad Burdette had last year, when he scored 86.

Rowe tied another Larkey mark in September, when he tallied four times against McCarty Central. Larkey did it in 1987.

J.D. Harris tied Burdette and Melvin Rowe for most interceptions in one game, two, and each did that last year.

Cox is closing in on the mark of four interceptions in a season. He has at least three.

Scott Himes has at least one blocked punt this year, which ties him with three others for a season high. Hines had at least one more partial block against Harlan.

A thorough records check will be done between now and the banquet on November 14.

Larkey is expected to have a complete list of all-team and individual records to announce that night.

Dane Cox is in line to pass the 1,500 career rushing mark if he can get 50 against Williamsburg.

He has 1,450 for his career now. He could also pass Larkey's career mark of 1,522 with a 73-yard night against the Yellowjackets.

Right now, Rowe and Cox, between them, have rushed for 3,515. If each can gain enough at Finley Legion Field Friday, the two could set or tie a half dozen marks, and have about 3,900-3,900 career rushing yards between them.

Rockets fans who attended the game may be wondering why a 15-yard unsportsmanlike conduct penalty wasn't dropped at the start of the second half.

A chorus from Whitley sang maybe 5-10 minutes past what should have been kick-off time.

Usually, the referee will drop a flag on such misuse of time.

Larkey said that ref Keith Morgan said he would drop the flag when the teams returned to their benches.

But, later, when coach and referee learned that the choir was part of a week-long "Say No to Drugs" campaign at Whitley, neither wanted to drop the flag.

Penalties have been called for a lot less in Kentucky over the years. The chorus and a truck used to support sound equipment were right in the Rockcastle bench area, which prohibited the team from gathering there before the kick.

Billy Todd and Scott Parkey said the long TD pass is called "Rocket Special, ends cross deep."

It was special against Whitley.

Todd said he knew he had a chance to score when he turned up field after making the catch, because both defenders nearest him were behind him, not in front, or to the side.

that her son become as educated as possible.

"Even though he can't do everything that little boys do...I want him to be able to read because that would be something he can do by himself," she said. "He can't read yet, but he can do his ABC's and numbers when he wants to do them."

As Marianne talks, Jamie is using the control switch to make the fire truck and helicopter zoom around the table. He runs the toy to the edge and hospital workers run to keep it from falling to the floor.

They needn't worry, however, because Jamie, who is watching the action from the corner of his eye makes the toy stop and then makes it zoom to the other side.

Marianne is laughing. "He is really like any other mischievous child," she said. "He has already learned to keep the toy from falling...He's just joking with the hospital employees...It's like the baby that picks up toys from the crib and drops them over the side just to watch the adult pick them up."

Jamie's toys are going to be more than toys. They will give hope to the future.

"They are educational...The switches help build muscles. There are very few things he can do by himself," Marianne said. "Maybe in the future, as he works the switch, he will be able to work other computerized things like a response board or tape recorder (which would allow him to communicate)."

Ricky Wiser of Berea, a member of the dream factory, hasn't stopped smiling since giving the toys to Jamie.

"This is our pay...seeing the excitement of the child," Wiser said. "This will open more things up to him...that's the really neat thing about this. We have been told by social workers that as he learns more about the toys, he will be using the switchplate to turn on the TV...it's a minor investment for some major returns."

Marianne couldn't agree more: "We are real fortunate to have the dream factory...They do a lot of things, I'm sure people never know about," she said. "Really, if somebody does something for your child you appreciate that more than if it was given to you."

Marianne said that she and her family though will never stop dreaming.

"We are hoping to eventually to take him home," she said. "Our dream is to get him to come home with us, but if you just mention a respirator to a doctor down there they turn blue.

There would also be weekly shows over NBC and the Mutual Network and the Renfro Valley settlement would grow to include more guest cabins, a huge log and stone building housing a pioneer museum and broadcast studios, craft shops, a country store and a horse stable.

Lair, over the promotional genius, would start his own newspaper and radio station, have traveling shows that took Renfro Valley performers throughout the eastern United States, make a movie and even have a short lived television series.

The Renfro Valley complex, which also includes a 40-room motel, has been recently purchased by Lexington television executive Ralph Gabbard, Berea businessman and former Renfro Valley entertainer Glenn Pennington and former Lexington restaurant executive Warren Rosenfeld, the former chairman of Jerroco, Inc.

The new owners have instituted a multi-million dollar redevelopment and expansion program aimed at insuring that Renfro Valley, and the down home, friendly traditions that it has stood for, will continue to prosper and grow during its second half century.

Erodible land forms must be in by Jan. 1

Farmers who participate in USDA programs and farm highly erodible land must obtain a conservation plan before Jan. 1, 1990.

The process of getting a conservation plan has been simplified on plots of tobacco two acres and less and plots of corn five acres and less.

All the producer must do to receive a limited acreage plan is certify that he uses the following practices; soil based rotations, contour farming and cover crops.

It is important to remember that this applies only to those plots of two acres and less for tobacco and five acres and less for corn.

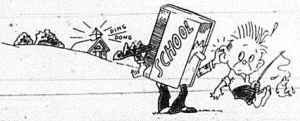

Plots that are larger will require additional consideration for conservation planning purposes in order to meet standards. For example, a field having a slope of eight percent will be required to use a rotation of no more than two years row crop and a minimum of two years grass. In most cases a conservation tillage system of no-till or minimum tillage will allow the field to be cropped continuously.

For more information on limited acreage plans contact your local SCS office in Mt. Vernon or call 256-2541.
