Baker f not guil., in shooting

A two day trial in Rockcastle Circuit Court, ended last Wednesday with a not-guilty verdict for a Mt. Vernon man.

Charles "Toddie" Baker, 23, was on trial for the November 1988 shooting death of Robert Laswell, Jr., 26, of Orlando.

The shooting occurred in the parking lot of the Snack Shack Drive-In in Mt. Vernon.

A jury of four men and eight women deliberated for over an hour and a half before returning the not guilty verdict.

Baker's attorney Jerry Cox, maintained throughout the trial that Baker shot Laswell in self-defense.

Witnesses testified that Laswell "slapped Baker around" before the shooting and that Laswell had a large knife strapped to his side and that he even gave the impression that he may be carrying a gun.

A witness at the scene, Randy Bullock, testified that Laswell threatened to kill Baker and even went as far as to block Baker's vehicle in the parking lot so that he could not leave.

Cox also brought out the fact that his client had also been shot during the altercation, but possibly not by Laswell.

Laswell, who was shot twice, died from a gunshot wound to the heart.

Lighting up for the Holidays

Renfro Valley began the holiday season with a lighting of a Christmas tree last Friday. Among other things to see, do, or listen to were the Wildlife Youth Choir (top), with (left to right) Christian Parsons, Stewart Abney, Jackie Durham, Jenny Durham, Josh Chaliff and Matt Chaliff doing the singing. Or, kids and adults alike could visit the petting zoo. Gary Gentry (at left, background) watches one young man pet one of the donkeys there. Besides the lighting of the tree by Mt. Vernon mayor Gary Cromer, others sang, prizes were given out for the best-decorated Christmas trees, and Santa Claus made his first visit to the county, riding in on a horse-drawn wagon.

County family granddaughter is kidnapped

One local family's Thanksgiving holiday turned to tragedy when news came that a family member had been abducted.

Two-year-old, Shiela JoAnn Accardi was walking through a shopping mall in Browns Mill, New Jersey with a neighbor, when an unidentified man grabbed the child and fled.

Shiela is the daughter of Joe and Sharon Accardi of Browns Mill. Sharon, 24, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joyce Prewitt of Mt. Vernon.

According to family members, the two-year-old had gone to the mall with a friends parents when the accident occurred.

Some people at the mall tried to restrain the man but were unable to stop him.

Police have made no progress in the case.

Sharon and Joe are both officers in the U.S. Navy stationed at Ft. Dix. They have only the one child.

Farmers can sell 5 percent more tobacco

Tobacco farmers can bring more tobacco to the market this week, if they have it.

U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Clayton Yentzer has approved an additional five percent increase in the base market quota that could bring in additional money to local growers.

Harold Ballinger, executive director of the county ASCS office, said he did not believe the additional quota will greatly help growers much in Rockcastle since most of them grow less than 1,000 pounds.

He also reported he did not have details as yet on how growers can apply for the additional amount.

The second week of sales did not show a marked change in the $1.67 a pound price average of the first week.

The 25.7 million pounds sold Monday brought an average of $167.28 per 100 pounds.

Some choice leaf was bringing $1.68 to $1.69 a pound, but as of noon Tuesday, there was very little change overall.

However analysts were still optimistic that the price would reach the $1.70

Winter weatherization funds are available now

By Ray McClure

For some families whose homes lack cozy comfort during the long winter months, there is still a home weatherization program in effect in Rockcastle that could bring a little more warmth to the hearth.

In fact, about 50 homes a year in the county get a face-lift, courtesy of Daniel Boone Development Council, a program sponsored through the state Cabinet for Human Resources which, incidentally, still has about $5 million available that could be distributed throughout the state.

The local program, with headquarters in Manchester and directed by Frank Jones, helps eligible persons who reside in Clay, Jackson, Laurel and Rockcastle and whose dwellings are in poor repair from the roof to the foundation.

According to Betty Carter, coordinator at the Mt. Vernon office, homes are being repaired continually with four or five monthly under the hammer and saw.

"Workmen Michael Howard and Ballard Amye are allowed to use $1,600 for repairs to each home," Mrs. Carter said. "That includes materials and labor. When they use that much they stop the project."

Mrs. Carter said she has a check list from the state that is followed to the letter when work is done on a home.

"We start with windows and doors; then comes exterior repair, interior repair, heating problems, roof repair, attic insulation, wall insulation and floor insulation, in that order, and as I noted, a long as the $1,600 lasts."

To be eligible for repairs a family of three must not have a gross income over $12,575 a year; a family of four, $15,125 a year.

Keeping busy is underlined by the amount of the work done in the past few months.

At a mobile home on Flat Lick Road, work included new doors, weather stripping, caulking, five new windows, sheetrock inside and roof repairs.

At a residence on Richmond Street in Mt. Vernon: replace glass, window locks, weather stripping, caulking, repair doors, add sheetrock, repair roof.

At a house on Purr Rigby Road, Brothhead, reglaze windows, new door and lock, three window units replaced, siding, pipe wrapping, water heater jacket, new roof vents and under-floor insulation.

Mink indicted for paying for arson of Miller residence

A Rockcastle County man has been indicted for paying another person to set fire to a local restaurant owners' home.

Roger Mink, 29, of Horseshoe Bend was indicted by the Rockcastle Grand Jury October 27, on charges that he hired Dewayne Singleton, 24 of Mt. Vernon to set fire to Glennis Miller's home at Maple Grove, September 6.

Mink, who is free on bond until his December 8th arraignment before Circuit Judge Dan Venters, is also involved in a district court case with Miller, who filed innocent exposure charges against Mink earlier this year.

Miller's home sustained only minimal damage by a September 6th fire, which occurred after gasoline was poured on his garage doors.

Controversy muddies one area road

By: Richard Anderkin

story aired on Channel 27 at 11 p.m., Aug. 23.

When Roland Mullins takes over as Rockcastle County Judge Executive in January, he will likely find himself involved in a hot road dispute along Mutt Ponder Rd.

David and Susie Kidwell, who live at the end of Mutt Ponder, have been trying for years to get their road gravelled by the county road department.

While creek mud was put on the road, which curves up and around the side of a steep slope just two weeks ago, the Kidwells are still upset at the slow progress of the work there.

The latest and only work was done only after the Kidwell's daughter Linda McWhorter complained to everyone that the road was very dangerous. Her complaints were spurred by an accident her dad had in his truck along the road.

They have also been upset that county officials have, at times, stonewalled them, and refused to talk to them.

The background of the situation is this:

The Kidwells say that Mutt Ponder Rd. has been part of the county road system for years, and that, at one time, it ran through their property from Scaffold Cane Rd., to Clear Creek Rd.

Magistrate Amos Burdette, in whose district the disputed road lies, says their road -- which is also known as the Kurt Kidwell Rd. -- wasn't part of the county system until just "six weeks to two months ago," and that a work order for graveling the road has just been made recently.

The Kidwells live at the end of a mud and rock road that has two creek crossings on it, a steep hill, and a cliff side that invites danger to any vehicle that travels it.

The county won't run a school bus up to their trailer.

The mail carrier can't get in during inclement weather, so their mail box is across both creeks, a half mile from their home.

The Kidwells have attempted to get any county official interested in their plight, but without success.

In August, WCVT-TV, Channel 27, interviewed the Kidwells and took some film footage of the road. A reporter, Chris Allen, attempted to call county judge-executive Hubert Thacker, but said he hung up on him, and wouldn't talk.

County road supervisor Luster Bullock said then that the road was of no priority for work or repair.

In recent weeks, some graveling and scraping have been done by county road workers.

But, only up to the biggest creek across the road, which is at the Kidwell's property line.

Burdette says, "The county road ends at the creek. There's never been a bridge over the creek."

But, he added, "The work is to be done, right now, soon. The first of the year, anyhow."

Burdette said he told the Kidwells, "I told them it would be muddy (especially) in winter time, and it raining every other week."

The Kidwells recognize the work that has been done, already, but wonder why nothing has been done on their property.

They say, and Burdette agrees, that they signed an easement with the county. The easements were signed in July.

But, the delays have been frustrating to them.

They told The Signal that they bought their trailer in July, but could not put the trailer on their property until September, because the company that brought the trailer couldn't get it through the now-reworked portion of Mutt Ponder Rd.

They finally got the trailer in place by September, they said, only after paying a dozer operator out of their own pockets to work on the road.

The Kidwells cite danger to anyone who uses the road.

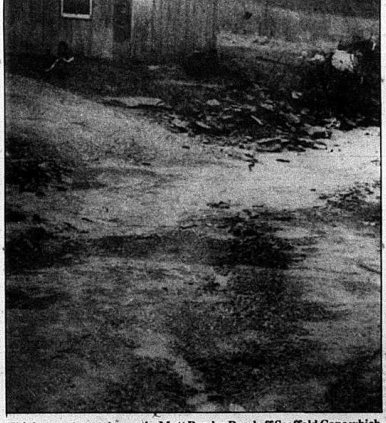

They pointed out last week that an ambulance couldn't get through to their trailer, if a disaster demanded.

When the creek mud was put down on Nov. 17, a county truck went over the side of the road, and had to be pulled out.

It's been almost five months since any work began in late July.

That work was to widen, ditch and gravel the road. The easements the

This is a creek crossing on the Mutt Ponder Road off Scaffold Cane which David and Susie Kidwell must cross every day just to shop, pay bills, or go somewhere in an emergency. They contend the county has short-changed them in grading their road. County officials say the work has been scheduled.

ACP sign-ups start Saturday

The first 1990 ACP sign-up period is Dec. 1 through Jan. 15, according to Shirl Brown, chairman of the Rockcastle County ASCS Committee.

Practices will then be approved sometime in February.

Brown stated that practices available to the farmers of this county include, new seedlings, renovations, no-till, water conservation, critical areas, and forestry practices. A more detailed list of the practices available for this period is available in the county office.

Seedling practices, both new seedlings and renovation must FIRST have current soil test results in the County Extension Office before signing for Cost-Sharing.

Rockcastle County is now under the variable cost-sharing method. Requests are evaluated at the end of the sign-up period according to soil erosion, ACP practices which result in the highest saving of soil may receive up to 75 percent of the actual cost of completing the practice.

All requests must be filed and approved by the ASCS Committee prior to the starting of work pertaining to the practice.

Brown urges Rockcastle County farmers interested in applying for ACP cost-sharing practices to bring their soil samples to the county agent's office before Dec. 8. A soil sample must be turned in to the county agent's office and the results must be in the ASCS Office before signing up for a cost-share practice.

The Rockcastle Chapter of Mothers Against Drunk Driving will conduct a Candlelight Vigil on Sunday, Dec. 10 at 8:30 p.m. at the courthouse lawn. The purpose of the Vigil, is to provide a setting in which family and friends may remember, in a special way, their loved ones who have been killed by drunk drivers. Everyone is invited to attend and support the victim families.

The Candlelight Vigil also begins a period of "hope for a less violent future" for MADDD as they sponsor other programs and projects during December to prevent holiday drunk driving crashes. Among them is the "Red Ribbon Campaign" in which citizens are encouraged to tie a red ribbon to their left car door handle as a sign to America that they hope for a safe holiday season and a stop to drunk driving.

"I hope that every citizen of Rockcastle will join us in our holiday programs. The Candlelight Vigil is a great way to say 'I care' to victims."

Jon Renner, recovering from serious burns

Dear Editor, Matthew 25:36-40. I was sick and you visited me. In as much as you have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me.

We want to say thank you to all our friends for the love and concern you showed to Jon and our family over the past several weeks. Jon incurred second and third degree burns on his right arm and hand while attempting to build a fire with gasoline. He spent 2 weeks in the UK burn unit and underwent one surgery. Jon feels he should use his experience to warn others of the dangers of gasoline. A few days after his release from the hospital, he spoke to his classmates about his accident.

Jon plays drums with his older brothers and sisters in the group, (The Renners). He hopes to be able to play at least one song during the Christmas benefit concert at Rentro Valley in two weeks. Your prayers, gifts and visits were very encouraging to Jon and helped in his speedy recovery.

We could never list all of your names nor convey our deep appreciation for all you did, but we know that God will bless each of you in his own special way.

Jon is still undergoing physical therapy at Rockcastle Hospital. We still need your prayers.

Thank You, Wendell and Virginia Renner and Family

By: Ike Adams

Just when you thought it was safe to pick up your family newspaper again with no fear that there would be so much as a vague reference to a mole bean (dog tick to we eastern Kentuckians), I see fit to devote as much space as the editor will allow me this week to this well-worn subject. If you are as tired as my family of hearing about the mole problem in my front lawn, please feel free to skip right now to another section of the paper.

If, on the other hand, you are one of the hundred and fifty folks who have gone to the trouble of corresponding with me and have not yet received a letter of thanks, please read on. Your name will likely be in the paper this week. Now if you haven't received a letter or you have not been mentioned in the paper and you don't make it this week, it means we either lost your letter or it didn't get here. I know for a fact that I lost some to an office cleaning performed out of intended kindness by the rest of the family. I also lost a stack of valuable coupons, a plastic bag full of assorted fish hooks and 22 shells, two harmonicas, a pocket watch, a pile of newspaper clippings on various subjects, a stapler, a can of pipe tobacco, numerous containers of mole bean seed, and my Gander Mountain catalog in this self righteous act of mercy. And that's just what I've missed so far of things last seen on my desk top.

First of all, I'd like to thank Paint Lick's constable, Dewey Lamb; Ray Bledsoe of London; Nola Humphrey of Lancaster; Eta M. Nicholson of Marion, Indiana; Mrs. Jesse T. Smith, Sr. of Stanford; C. Moore of Rockcastle County; Flora Wright of Mayking; Frank M. Abney of Fairfield, Ohio; Gene Porter of London; Onaida Witt whose address I lost but the letter says her mom lives at Renfro Valley; Reavey Fields of Pineville who drove all the way to London to buy me some; Hattie Burley of lost address and whoever lives at 703 Shephard Avenue, Cinn. whose name I lost. All these folks either sent or offered to bring me mole bean seed and led me to make the following generous offer.

I am well endowed with a bountiful supply of mole bean (dog tick) seed, Dewey Lamb, alone, brought enough to plant an acre. Those of you who would like to get a start can do so by sending me a self-addressed, stamped envelope which I will fill with mole bean seed and return to you poste haste. Lots and lots of people have gone to considerable trouble to help me build this inventory of mole bean seed and I hate to see them go to waste. The Christian thing to do is share them. You may write to Rt. 2 Box 50, Paint Lick, KY 40461.

We also had advice on other means to get rid of moles that have not previously been shared with you. Lewis Bowling of Cincinnati and Hattie Byrley of lost address, both suggested that a garden hose fastened securely to the tail pipe of an automobile could be run into the mole runs. Once you get the hose in the ground, you stamp dirt around it and start your engine. Hattie says let it run till the hose melts off around the exhaust pipe and the moles will have died of carbon monoxide poisoning.

Diris Breeding Hopkins of Middle-tenn, Ohio whose younger brothers were school mates of mine and someone else whose letter I lost sent order forms for a gadget called the Mole X Transonic VI that is being advertised by at least two different gasoline credit card companies. The device is supposed to emit an ultrasound wave that drives moles crazy. It's on special for $69.96. I've sent a note to Santa, Doris.

M. Adams of Thornton, Bettie Hayes of Red House, Freddie Whicker of Stanford, and Johnny Packer of Eubank all write to insist that cats are the only way to go. Our friend in Thornton says that she cut mole bean plants down and used them for firewood but that they didn't kill moles. He/she said that one scraggly, ill-tempered, mangy flea bitten, silver-tarted tom cat would get rid of every mouse in Paint Lick. We've set box traps out at the dump in hopes of acquiring one.

Lillian Browning of Buckeye, (Lancaster), Mrs. Jackie Ragan of Nicholasville and Mrs. James Kelly Hayes of Red House, Freddie apply grub worm poison to my lawn and starve the moles to death, but I'm afraid it would kill the night crawlers and ruin the kids fish bait business. Someone else suggested soaking corn cobs in coal oil and putting them in the mole holes but I lost the letter. I'm also afraid that would send the night crawlers packing too. In fact, Doris Hopkins, I probably ought to see if I can find out how night crawlers respond to your ultrasound device.

Finally Mrs. Bertha Linville of Berea says that aluminum pie pans fastened loosely to stakes in the ground will put off a rattle when the wind blows that moles can't stand. She said that tobacco sticks laid across their runs would put nicotine in the ground and the moles would leave. Mrs. Linville also sent mole bean seed along with some Chinese Lantern and other flower seed that I will try to grow next spring.

Let me apologize again to you folks that I failed to mention or get in touch with because we lost your letters. We appreciate and very much enjoy getting your mail. Please don't think that we are rude. You may, however, say that we are unorganized and a bit irresponsible. We simply were not prepared for the outpouring of assistance and advice when we asked for your help with our mole problem and found ourselves overwhelmed at the task of answering all the mail. It has been tremendous fun, educational, and entertaining, but more of all three than we could handle in a single dose.

"Sweet and Sour"

By Zi Graves

This is the time of year for traditional feasting and at least lip service of thankfulness for the privilege of stuffing ourselves.

At one time in the history of our country there was a real reason for being thankful for food at the end of a long summer and growing season. Food was hard to come by and those fortunate enough to have it in plenty were willing to share it in heart felt thankfulness with those who had less. And so, the tradition of stuffing ourselves as well as the turkey began.

For our forefathers, Thanksgiving was after harvest and when the men were free to hunt for turkeys or any other meat available. For our generation it is when the food markets decide to put on a big meat sale and the women are free enough to go hunting for the bargains.

At the time of the first Thanksgiving there was reason to be thankful when the men returned safely from the hunt. Dangers lurked everywhere in the great forests. Wild animals as well as Indians with their poisoned arrows and tomahawks could be hiding behind every tree or bush.

Now the dangers are different but just as lethal and scary to the woman as she goes in search of food for her brood. First and foremost there must be a pocket full of ones life time savings before she even approaches the store of her choice, for here hard cash is used instead of old fashioned bullets to obtain a turkey. Then you have to use all the courage you can muster up to brave those other courageous people attacking the huge pile of featherless, cold blue, naked turkeys with the sale sign above plainly saying, "59 cents a pound." Now, you won't have to take just any old fancy colored turkey with scrawny breast you can search through this pile till you find one with plenty of thick white meat. Blue scrawny legs doesn't matter anyway. If the Indians only wanted the feathers why didn't they take them back in grandma's day? They could have kept the legs too for my part. The turkey, once chosen is much easier to get out of the pack of

The Mount Vernon Signal, turkey hunters that it was to get in. One just holds on tight to their chosen bird and begin to squirm and a way will open.

Cranberries, apples, oranges, celery, etc. are easier to get but maybe a bit more puzzling. I find the pound bags are too small to hold a pound anymore but are still big enough to hold the price of pounds worth of contents. And all these things are pre-packaged so one can't weigh out a real pound.

By now I'm beginning to wonder if that pocket held enough cold cash to include dinner rolls or if I should just make cornbread.

It's time anyway to reach into my innermost being and drag out some patience to use in that long line at the counter. Why is it that this is the day everyone writes checks that have to be approved before the mountain of food just ahead of me can be moved. I'm glad I brought my patience along today for I know this won't be the only place I will need it.

Didn't I just say I would need my patience again? I'm not sure yet which I need more, patience or courage. The pioneers dodging poisoned dots or tomahawks had it easy along side our poor mortals dodging vehicles filled to the brim with high powered gas and being driven by wild-eyed drivers trying to get to their destination without having to slow down or stop. It takes the patience of Job to

Thursday, November 30, 1989 P.43 wait for a break in the stream of traffic big enough to get a miniature car into and the courage of David to do it. Finally with the road hazards behind and the hunting all done I have only to dream of the joy of

When Roland Mullins takes office in January there will no doubt be some changes in the way local government is run.

Hopefully these changes will be for the better and if I know Mr. Mullins as I think I do, they will be.

But one thing that I and many others would like to see happen right off the bat is the way that fiscal court meetings are conducted.

For as long as I can remember, the magistrates have sat with their backs to the visitors.

Although I'm sure that officials think little about it, it certainly is disrespectful to interested citizens to sit in a court meeting and look at the backs of the local officials.

Folks should be allowed to see who they are talking to and not have to talk to the backs of elected officials.

It is not as though the magistrates are not paid for their efforts and facing the crowd should certainly be a part of their job description.

Of course the fiscal court meets in the district court room on the second floor and that room is already set up with juror chairs, facing the bench. It is not the fault of the magistrates, but it would be nice to see the change made.

Of course the seating situation is only one of many more important problems that Mullins will inherit from this current edition of the court.

Garbage collection and deplorable road conditions will no doubt top Mullins' list as priorities. Hopefully he can make the kind of changes he has promised and with the help of everyone I think he can make a big difference.

After reading the court news the other day a friend of mine made a very valid point.

He said that he thought our local court system may have their priorities in the wrong place.

He was referring to a case where a local man was charged $25 and costs for possession of marijuana.

And a few paragraphs down he read where some folks were charged as much as $75 for speeding.

He said that he realized that in both cases the individuals were breaking the law, but he couldn't understand how a fine for possessing an illegal drug was cheaper than pressing the gas pedal a little hard.

If you think about it he has a valid point. Very valid.

Christmas Tree Lighting to be Held Dec. 1st

Berea Hospital's Annual Lights for Life tree lighting ceremony will be held Friday, Dec. 1 at 6 p.m.

This year, funds raised in honor and in memory of loved ones will be used to provide medication to patients who would otherwise be unable to afford them. A star on top of the tree will be lit in honor of the Hospital Auxiliary for all the service given by dedicated volunteers. Music will be provided by the Madison Southern band and hot chocolate, cider and other goodies will be available.

Members of the community are invited to join in this celebration of the spirit of sharing during the Christmas season.

CENSUS

It's census time again! Applications were taken Monday for persons to help conduct the 1990 census in Rockcastle County and will be taken again at 2 p.m. Dec. 11 at the Senior Citizens Center at the Rockcastle Library.

A placement test will be given at 10 a.m. Dec. 5 and Dec. 19 at the Kentucky Utilities Building in Mt. Vernon.

"Sweet and Sour" Can't, from A-3 cooking the feast while I relax for the evening. This allows me to replenish my patience and courage for the hours of worry ahead. The weather man just opened his big mouth and informed all Kentuckians that all roads leading to Kentucky would soon be hazardous. And of course anyone with a drop of Kentucky blood in them will be heading for home, if there is any possible way to do it, at Thanksgiving time. That's just the way we are.

Now one thing for sure, our pioneer forefathers didn't have a thing on us when it came to worrying. Their's was just simple little old things like getting scalped or starving to death, ours are things like serious traffic jams during a snow storm that may hold up traffic for hours and the travelers caught may even have to stay in a motel and eat restaurant food. Of course I always can picture one of my kids with their whole family lying upside down in a ditch filled with ice and snow. So I don't sleep till each and everyone is home safe and tucked into bed.

This time it took a lot of tucking in and that over a several hour period. Rod and his family were the poor souls coming in from West Virginia through the snow storm and had to stay in one of those motels and had to eat crummy restaurant food for breakfast.

The rest made it safely that evening so they had first choice at beds to be tucked into. First come first served at my house and when beds are filled all others look for sleeping bags and floor space.

It's a great feeling to see all beds full again and hear the good nights ringing through the house. It's good to see my grown grandchildren and their friends gather around a game table and never see a cigarette lit nor a shot of anything used. It's good to hear young and old alike join in on discussion of world problems. No one is to young to speak his piece now and no one is too old to be listened to. Of course, there are differences of opinion but that's what makes it all so interesting.

It's also good to hear early morning giggles and threats of violence if the person behind that one closed and locked door doesn't hurry up and allow others in. Of course there is always suggestions of opening up that old unused building out back for the emergencies. Now I know my family is home.

The threatened scalping was saved for the turkey and the violence was spent carving and passing loaded dishes and loosening belts.

I kind of envied the young people as they wandered off to shoot baskets, walk in the woods and explore the old barns and lofts. While here I sat in my crocheted corner allowing the added calories to find a comfortable place to store themselves in. I'll bet a penny, Ann's friend, Greg, from Florida and Geo's mom Carolyn from Mi. spent the most unusual Thanksgiving of their life here and I hope it left pleasant memories.

The excitement is all gone. Everyone is back in their own nests again. The refrigerator is back to normal. And I have a new batch of memories to mull over in my corner next to the window.

We do have much to be thankful for.

Billy Ray Bullock to wed Mildred Bullock

Mr. and Mrs. Glyn Bullock wish to announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter Mildred Ann Bullock to Billy Ray Bullock son of Denver Bullock and Yavonda Leger and grandson of Raymond Bullock. The ceremony will take place on December 30, 1989 at 1 p.m. at Maple Grove Missionary Baptist Church. There will be a wedding shower immediately following the wedding at the Rockcastle County Library. All friends and relatives are welcome.

Albrights, former educators, celebrate 50th anniversary

Guy Albright and Ellen Gattiff, two Brodhead school teachers traveled to London, Nov. 24, 1939, to be married at John and Lelamae Gaines' home.

Before the wedding, the minister looked at their marriage license. He stated, "I can't perform your marriage ceremony, this license has not been signed by Rockcastle's County Court Clerk!" John Gaines took the license to Laurel County's Court Clerk and asked him to call Tom Nicely, Rockcastle County Court Clerk, to get his permission to sign it for him. He gladly agreed. So this delayed the wedding for an hour.

The marriage has lasted for 50 years! So, on Nov. 24, 1939, their three sons surprised them by inviting their relatives and friends to help Dr. and Mrs. Guy W. Albright celebrate at their second son's, Dr. Gregory Albright's, home anchorage, Ky., from 4 to 8 p.m.

Their first son, Dr. Larry Albright, of Reynolds, N.H., surprised them by going after them in a limousine to announce to them their 50th wedding anniversary celebration.

When they arrived at Gregory's home, a lot of happiness was displayed when they saw Larry's wife, Mirska and their son, Tony, from Rey, N.H., their daughter, Adrienne, from the University of Virginia, and Tony's fiancée from Scotland. Then Gregory, his wife, Gail, and two sons, Greg Jr., and Joy, and daughter, Katy, greeted them. Baby Ben was napping in his crib.

Last, but not least, they spied their third son, professor John Albright, his wife Sharon, and small son, Delaney.

Around 4:15 p.m., relatives started to appear. They were Ellen's deceased sister Nora, Wade's two daughters from Bardonia, then from Brodhead: Lucille and Rodney Purcell; Carter Hoskins and Patricia Fletcher. They were followed by Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gentry from Mt. Vernon; Mr. and Mrs. Everett Bullock from Lebanon, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Charles McDaniel from Mason, Ohio and John Bill Albright from Eubank.

Two life-long friends, C.B. Owens, Jr. and Elizabeth Mullins, from Brodhead followed the relatives entrance to this celebration.

Later, four ex-Brodheadians came. They were Mr. and Mrs. C.E. Frith and Mr. and Mrs. Opal Wright from Louisville.

Numerous Louisville friends joined this crowd.

Under a golden banner of "Happy 50th Anniversary," Guy and Ellen picked up gifts from a table to display.

All of this "visiting" made us want to partake of the goodies (that were continually being replaced, when they disappeared from the dining room table) a choice of drinks were available also.

When we bid adieu to Guy and Ellen, their faces still were shining with happiness. To have had their sons, their grandsons and granddaughters, as well as many relatives and friends to be with them on this special day, was an occasion they would always remember and appreciate. They told us this.

Local groups participate in Ky. Christmas Chorus

Ninety-four choirs from 36 counties across Kentucky have registered to date to sing in the second annual Kentucky Christmas Chorus, Dec. 11 at Lexington's Rupp Arena.

The groups represent about 2,500 singers who will join in singing favorite holiday tunes from 7:30 to 9 p.m. The program is sponsored by the Lexington-Fayette Urban County Government and WKYT-TV, Channel 27, Lexington and WMTT-TV, Channel 57, in Hazard, in cooperation with the Lexington Arts and Cultural Council. The program will be telecast live from 8 to 9 p.m. on Channel 27 and Channel 57.

The Lexington Philharmonic Orchestra, the Lexington Singers and popular vocalists Gino and Ghollo Pumphrey and Melissa Baber will be featured and help lead in the singing.

All Ky. residents, their families and organizations are invited to come and join the free sing-along. Groups should register in advance by calling (606) 258-3025. Individuals do not need to register in advance.

The following groups from Rockcastle County will be participating. The First Baptist Church, First Christian Church, Mt. Vernon Pentecostal Adult Choir and the Rockcastle County High School.

Rockcastle Library News

Rockcastle County Public Library has received new video tapes. They are: Ramona, The Perfect Day, Dr. Seuss, Pottotoff Pock, Star Trek IV, The Voyage, The West Side Story, Iwanhoe, Color Me Beautiful, Flame of the Barbary Coast, Empire of the Sun; Animals are Beautiful People; Mrs. Miniver; Shotgun; Making Michael Jackson's Thriller; The Never-ending Story; Anne of Green Gables, Vol. 1; The Time Machine; E.T.; The Sandlot; Sleeping Beauty; Easy Going; More Dinosaurs; Faces of Japan; East of Wall Street; The Shivers; Rainbow; Gregory the Terrible Eater and Gila Monsters Meet.

The library receives many new books, pretty books for little children to enjoy. I am going to list a few: "Lullabies and Baby Songs"; here is the perfect collection of gentle songs and rhymes for a special story time that both parents and young children can share. Some selections like, "All the Pretty Little Horses" and "Golden Slumbers" are familiar, some less so, but all are just right for lulling babies and small children to sleep. This book is by Jannal Messenger.

Another pretty book is "The Baby Blue Cat Who Said No": Once there was a baby blue cat who loved to say no. All the other baby cats were good little cats and when their mother asked them if they like the special supper she had fixed for them, a lovely fish sandwich and a saucer of milk--they all said "no" but baby blue cat said no. This book is by Ainslie Pryor.

One new book is "The Trouble With Elephants." What is the trouble with elephants? The little girl in this story knows...they rattle the windowpanes at night when they snore, they all sleep on the carpets at night and they are not very good at playing hide-and-seek. There are other problems with elephants, too and young children will have a rollicking good time as they enjoy Chris Riddell's good story about elephants.

Local speech-language pathologist attends convention

Linda F. Peavie, speech-language pathologist with the Rockcastle Respiratory Care Center attended the annual national convention of the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association, Nov. 17 through 20 in St. Louis, Mo. Ten thousand speech-language-hearing professionals attended the four-day convention, which included short courses, mini-seminars, technical sessions and scientific exhibits. The program covered state-of-the-art developments, clinical issues and research findings in the field of communication disorders.

ASHA is the professional, scientific and accrediting organization for 59,000 speech-language pathologists and audiologists, who are specifically educated to treat the 24 million people in the U.S. affected by communication problems.

Presentations were made by internationally recognized authorities on communication disorders and abnormal communication, as well as by specialists in other fields such as medicine, psychology, education and linguistics.

Batman was in Mt. Vernon on a recent Saturday to meet all of his bat fans. He was at Video Fantastic owned by Bill Saylor of Berea. There were several children there to see the Caped Crusader. In the picture are Batman and employee Sharon Stephens with two of his fans, Jessica Owens, daughter of Danny and Kathy Owens and Holly Mullins daughter of Gary and Kathy Mullins, all of Mt. Vernon.

"Preventing Holidayze" By Cheryl Witt

Anyone who has ever tried to get ready for the holidays knows all about that seasonal ailment known as "holidayze."

The only cure for this malady is to have a complete game plan that you are in control of the season's demands. A feeling of control can help you enjoy the holidays much more.

Here are some tips on preventing "holidayze" this year:

Establish a master plan for everything needed for the holidays. Keep your plans on loose-leaf pages in a three-ring notebook for flexibility. This notebook becomes "Holiday Central" throughout the season, and you'll be able to use it year after year. Include:

- some pages with pockets (you can buy or make them)

- inexpensive dividers to identify categories like gifts, food, activities, cards and decorations.

- Begin with a list of gifts you want to buy and details about them, like sizes needed and comparison shopping details.

- Set aside one of the pocket pages for receipts in case an item needs to be returned. Keep tabs on your spending this way, too.

- Include plans for decorations and holiday entertainment.

- Analyze each category for items you'll need to purchase. Then see what you have on hand. For example, you will need red candles for that party you're planning? Add them to the decorations list!

* Assemble your holiday recipes and temporarily file them in one of your pocket pages. Decide whether you will prepare everything yourself or order items like pies. Analyze each recipe for ingredients you need to purchase. This is time consuming, but once you've done it, you can use the same list every year. Remember to include extra paper products and detergent for those holiday cooking marathons.

With these lists in hand, decide where you can make the most economical purchases. You might spread out your purchases during your regular trips to the grocery over the next few weeks or make one trip to save time.

* Insert a calendar page in your notebook as a master schedule for holiday activities. Enter all your family's activities as well as deadlines for getting things done, including out-of-town mailings and picking up Aunt Martha at the airport.

As you schedule an activity on your master schedule, think about everything involved. Will you need a babysitter or a dish for the potluck?

Plan the clothes you and your family will need for each occasion. Will the boys on Johnny's pants need to be adjusted, and can Susie still wear her dress-up shoes? Consider everything you'll need down to the last tin of shoe polish. Put on the last minute so you won't need to make last-minute runs to the store.

This book will become your daily companion for the season. Just remember to hide it from the kids. They won't be surprised if they've already read your lists.

Let Us Thank the Lord For the Blessings We've Received

For all the good times we have known
And friendships we can call our own,
Which let us know we're not alone
But cherished, come what may;
For illnesses that we've been spared,
And all the memories we've shared
With people who have shown they cared,
Whom we cannot repay;
For all the freedom in our land,
Which our forefathers wisely planned,
That all of us should understand
Far more than we can say;
For all the ways that we've been blessed,
Which make us strive to do our best,
Our gratitude should be expressed;
So thank the Lord this day.

Several of our parents have joined Forward in the Fifth, an organization that is supporting our county schools in various ways. Our own PTA, which has been a visible help to our school, is soliciting membership. To join these two fine organizations, send $2 per organization to Brodhead Elem School, P.O. Box 187 Brodhead, Ky, 40409.

Plans for the ninth annual BIT are being finalized. The dates for this classic tournament are Jan. 22, 23, 26 and 27.

Mrs. Bullock's, Mrs. Doyle's and Mrs. Owens' 5th grades attended a captivating musical, "Babes in Toyland," at the Singletary Center for the Arts on the campus of the University of Kentucky. This play is based upon the book written by Victor Herbert.

Our eighth grade students have been measured for their caps and gowns for spring graduation. The Council on Higher Education, Ashland Oil Co., The Bank of Mt. Vernon and Citizens Bank are providing A Day on Campus at Berea College for these students.

The Outdoor Classroom is beginning to take form. This PTA project has plans for a herbal garden, a vegetable garden, a rock garden, a weather station and possibly a small animal zoo. Volunteers and supplies are needed. Contact Stephen Trebello at 758-8363 if you are willing to help.

We are proud of the many BEH students who won ribbons in the 4-H Talk Meet held recently at RCHS. Some students will be "going on the road" to the Barbourville competition.

Our faculty continues to strive for professional growth. Ten of them recently attended a seminar at EKM for a special showing at Hummel Planetarium sponsored by Allied Math/Science of Forward in the Fifth. Rebecca Blanton and Rachel Trebello, seventh graders, will be sitting for the ACT at Berea College, Dec. 9, as a part of the Duke University Talent Identification Program.

With cold weather approaching, it is often tempting to allow children to sleep-in, however we need each child in attendance to insure educational opportunity. Special activities are happening in classrooms with good attendance.

4-H'ers Speak Out by John McQuary

The Rockcastle County 4-H program held their speech contest last Thursday, November 21 at the Rockcastle County High School. A very large crowd turned out to hear 4-H'ers speak.

The Hazards of Secondhand Smoke

The next time you find yourself near a person who is smoking, consider this: tobacco contains some 4,000 chemicals, including 200 known poisons such as DDT, arsenic, formaldehyde, and carbon monoxide, warns the American Lung Association—"The Christmas Seal People".

Every time someone smokes, these poisons are released into the air, so that not only is the smoker inhaling them, but so is everyone else in the area—voluntarily. The U.S. Surgeon General, in his 1986 report, stated that passive smoking can lead to lung cancer in nonsmokers.

Clearly, everyone has a stake in breathing clean air, free from harmful, irritating tobacco smoke. The encouraging news, from a recent Gallup survey conducted for the American Lung Association, is that most smokers now recognize that smoking is hazardous to the health of nonsmokers as well as to their own.

Your local Lung Association has more information, and a wide variety of programs to help you quit smoking, and protect nonsmokers in the workplace.

Card of Thanks for little Ananda Poynter. We thank each and every one of you who helped us bear our grief. You helped in many different ways. In your love, we sought relief. Some cooked and/or worked, some gave love gifts, loved ones traveled many miles to be beside us in those days we faced heartbreaking trials. Many worked behind the scene, and knelt to God in prayer, even in our darkest hour we knew that He was there.

The beautiful cards, comforting words, and each deed was done with love. The beautiful flowers, the visits sweet, were comfort from above. We'll never forget our little girl, we love her oh, so true. But we are blessed so to have neighbors and friends like you.

God bless you all!
Jeff and Vondia Poynter and the Croucher and Poynter families.

Academic team loses in second round of Lake Cumberland tournament

Coach Janet Johnson said last week that the Rockcastle County High academic team lost in the second round to Lincoln County in the recent Lake Cumberland Academic League tournament.

The varsity score was 28-20, and Johnson said it was a weird experience for her team, because the scoring came from sources other than usual responses.

Of the 20 points, Kevin Rowe got 10, and most of the others were from bonus questions.

Rockcastle had drawn a bye in the first round. Lincoln County won the championship. The tournament was hosted by Clinton County High in Albany.

The junior varsity lost 27-10 to Laurel County. There are still two computer-based contests left this school year, as well as the Governor's Cup district tournament in February and the regionals.

In March, there will be opportunities to compete in the Academic Sweet 16 tournaments, held in conjunction with the boys' state basketball tournament.

Poet's Corner

Thank You Lord For My Dreams by Lewis Bowling

As I prepare for bed And get ready to pray, I think of the one who Has gone away.

To that home of peace And love, To be with Jesus In Heaven above.

My heart is sad I try not to weep, Sometimes she comes to me In my sleep.

In my dreams in the dark of night, I see her face so fair and bright, I see the love in her eyes, Bright as the stars in the skies.

She gives me courage to battle on, Until I reach that heavenly home, Where we can be together again, In that land that is free from sin.

To dwell with loved ones, Forever more, With Jesus the Savior, On Heaven's bright shore.

Use these verses as the means To thank God for my dreams.

Homemakers meetings

Conway Sunshine Homemakers

The Conway Sunshine Homemakers met Saturday evening Nov. 4th at the Conway Baptist Fellowship Room.

After introducing and welcoming Faye Rucker as a new member, a brief business session followed.

Rockcastle Co. Home Extension Agent Cheryl Witt presented the lesson, "Inexpensive Fabric Gifts." Cheryl brought a beautiful display of lovely gifts including decorative towel sets, lap desk, stationery caddy, decorative canvas shoes, sweat shirt, Christmas ornaments and band boxes.

Each member then made a band box and we were delighted with the results and want to thank Cheryl again for bringing to us this useful lesson.

We are looking forward to our Dec. meeting which will be a pot-luck dinner and exchanging of gifts.

Busy Bee Homemakers

The monthly meeting of the Busy Bee Homemakers was called to order on November 14, by Vickie Tyler, president. Roll call was by Carolyn Hunt, acting secretary. There were nine members present and three visitors.

We played a game to make us more aware of our blessings, and how quickly the things we cherish can be taken from us. All those present were certainly more mindful and appreciative of our good fortune.

We then moved on to making final arrangements on our Christmas project, gifts for the Maple Grove Child Development Center. All gifts need to be completed by December 15, wrapped and ready for distribution the following week.

Ralph Mosley's house burned recently. He is the son of one of our members, Nellie Mosley. The Busy Bees decided to donate household items to the family. Welona Reams volunteered for her house to be the collection center.

Our lesson was presented by Cheryl Witt. She did an excellent job presenting "fabric gifts for all occasions" and had many beautiful items in display. Cheri offered many suggestions for Christmas gift giving.

Refreshments were served by our hostess, Jody Johnson. Our next meeting will be December 12 at the home of Wynonna Isaac in Conway. All members will take their favorite Christmas dessert, and secret pal gifts will be exchanged.

A hearty congratulation to Wynonna Isaac and Effie Anglin for the ribbons they received at the area homemakers meeting for their hand-made crafts. Rockcastle County received five ribbons for craft exhibitions, and of these five, three ribbons, went to the Busy Bee Homemakers.

We are proud to have such talented ladies as members.

Rise and Shine Homemakers

The members decided a trip would be the best way to get together for the month of October. Plans were made to drive to Bardstow and make a ride on "The Old Dinner Train." Eight members went on the trip and reported having a wonderful time. The ride on the train lasted two hours and food was served during the entire trip.

The material for the October lesson was given to club members when we had our November meeting. The lesson for the month of October was titled "Food, Allergy and You."

On Nov. 14th Rise and Shine Homemakers met at the home of Faye McCauley. Faye also had our lesson for November and she did an excellent job presenting it to the seven members and two guests who were present. The lesson was titled "Fabric Gifts for All Occasions." We received instructions on how to make many different gifts and Faye had a shopping bag full of fabric gifts already made to show us. These were things loaned to us by our Home Extension Agent, Cheryl Witt.

After our lesson on making gifts we all gathered around while Helen Duncan taught us how to make some pretty bows for our Christmas packages. Helen has been at this bow-making a long time. She worked in gift wrapping at Rike's in Dayton, Ohio for 20 years.

Our club gained two new members at our November meeting. We are glad to welcome Kathy McCauley and Suzanne Thomas to Rise and Shine Homemakers.

The November meeting ended with everyone sitting around Faye's big dining table enjoying the fellowship after being served a delicious meal prepared by our hostess Faye and co-hostess Juanita Davis.

The December meeting will be at the home of Bea Hensley on Tuesday, Dec. 12. Merry Christmas. Let's all remember to keep "Christ" in Christmas this year.

14 to get married and now at 24 years of age, on perhaps her second marriage, has 3 young children.

Though she went back to get her G.E.D. diploma and I hear she has had a bit of college, but I think back to what I can remember to the days of my own elementary education, to perhaps remember, one summer, back about 1954, for a few days, I even had the privilege to attend the old Hickory Valley, one room school, back near Three Links, Ky.

This small school only had one teacher to instruct a small class of students in the first 6 or 8 grades, but those students were taught to think and how to pick up things, mostly on their own. Usually a student after 6 or 8 years of this, perhaps had a better understanding of the elements of elementary education, learned mostly on their own, through their own think. To learn things on their own pace, with a teacher available to instruct them in things which were perhaps overlooked, per their grade level and/or if a student had the ability, to give them parts of their education at a higher grade level.

As school, to my memory, was either too easy or too difficult, to compile the needed data, at a certain age and grade level, pre-determined by so called experts, who may have not experienced that level of education perhaps a minimum for 16 years, thinking of a 1st grader instructed by a person who has had 12 years of high school and 4 years of college, to have forgot what it was like to be say a 6 year old child, faced with the new experience to them of school. To think they should be able to do a higher grade level work, than their experience thus far in their lives have prepared them for.

Though as a SP4 and SP5 in the US Army Security Agency, for a bit of time, I instructed other specialists in equipment which was unfamiliar to them, I never had a desire for the bigger task to educate a child, especially after I lost that privilege with my own daughter, before she entered the first grade.

It would be perhaps very difficult now, to get the qualified teachers to go back to the way things have been done in the past. Grouping say the first 4, 6, or 8 grades of elementary education into one classroom, having just one teacher, is what I have heard they do in some small private schools. The data is perhaps available, if the state would perhaps consider that way. Though alot of experts may disagree. To want to push the children into computers, etc. before they can understand the reason for trying to get the best education that they can, to perhaps have pre-programmed virtual idiots which can do wonders with computers, etc. but who have not yet been taught how to think for themselves and how to arrive at a conclusion, without having a computer, to give the computer manufacturer's more self importance, but at this time, not everyone has a computer and computer at times malfunction, to where we would all be lost at that time. If we didn't have the ability to know how to think and to work things out, without a computer as a computer, as just a tool we can use to further our education, but it is only one of the tools, which can be used.

Voc school gets second 'flag'

The Harry Sparks Vocational School will receive its second Flag of Excellence from the state since 1986, the first year such awards were begun.

The school will receive its award this Thursday, in a ceremony in Frankfort similar to one two weeks ago, in which the Rockcastle County system, and Rockcastle County High, received Flags of Process, for huge improvements in overall attendance last year.

Principal Donna Hopkins says the awards are based on enrollment, the completion rate of the students, the placement (and retention) rate in business after completion, and the employees' happiness with their employees.

The Rockcastle school is one of 12 (of 86 possible) such vocational schools in the state receiving the award. Others receiving Flags of Excellence include area education centers in Henderson, Monroe County, Belfry, Russell County, Mayfield, Millard, Knox County and Harrison County and specialty schools in Madisonsonville, Elizabethtown, and Danville.

Flags of Progress were also granted to schools in Monroe, Fairdale (Jefferson County) and Phelps.

Hopkins said about 225-250 are enrolled in at least one of seven programs locally.

Offered at Harry Sparks are adult agriculture (sheep), automotive technology, business education, electricity, electronics, respiratory care, and welding.

Of that group, all put adult agriculture and respiratory care are offered in both secondary education and post-secondary education levels.

The other two are open to adults only.

Hopkins, like high school principal Ronnie Cash before her, plans to take a lot of students. Hopkins said she wants to take as many as 50 to 60 with her for the flag presentation ceremony at the Fairham-Dudgoun Civic Center in downtown Frankfort.

Hopkins also thinks that Harry Sparks is one of a very few schools to have received two awards within the first four years.

Jim Byford of the state education department explained the criteria used for grading the schools.

Rockcastle received a grade of 91 for utilization. Byford said that is based on student-teacher ratio. Each area of study has a prescribed ideal ratio, and to qualify for a flag of excellence, 85 percent of a school's classes must fit those prescribed ratios.

The local school earned an 86 for the number of students who complete their study courses. A 65 percentile is required, and Byford said that an 86 would represent a solid mark.

Hopkins said that the criteria allows a student who completes 50 percent of a class, then gets a job, as a completion.

Rockcastle also placed 95 percent of its completed studies students in a job.

Byford said that a job within an

NOTICE

Rockcastle County Schools Plans for Inclement Weather School Closing Early dismissal

Every effort will be made to keep parents and concerned citizens informed as to school closing, early dismissal and possibly a delay plan.

The number one concern is the safety of students. After an extensive evaluation of road conditions in the county, taking into consideration all roads, a decision will be made in regard to closing school.

School closing will be announced on 3 radio stations and 3 television stations and they are as follows: Radio - WRVK (AM-1460), WHAS (AM-840), WVWK (FM-93), Television - WKYT (Channel 27), WLEX (Channel 18), WTWQ (Channel 36).

If possible, the closing will be announced the evening before the closing date. If a determination can not be made the day prior to the closing date, every possible effort will be made to reach a conclusion by 6:00 a.m. The announcement will be made no later than 6:30 a.m. This will be conducted the same for the delay plan, if it is concluded the delay plan would be the appropriate plan of action.

If the delay plan is used, breakfast will be served upon the arrival of students at school.

Early dismissal of school due to inclement weather will be announced only on WRVK. Roads will be closely monitored as school is in session to determine if there is a need for early dismissal. If the need for early dismissal does occur, parents should make arrangements to meet children as they arrive early.

When a decision has been made in relation to school closing or early dismissal, the radio and television stations will be notified immediately. Parents and students should not call any radio or television stations to inquire as to the information they may or may not have received in relation to school closing. This could delay the information distribution to the necessary channel by phone lines being tied up. Please listen to your favorite channel, since they will be notified as soon as a decision has been made.

Fairview News
By Mrs. Hubert Chasteen

Worship services were well attended at the Fairview Baptist Church over the weekend. But our Sunday School was down some, the attendance was one hundred and twenty three, but regardless of the number we are always thankful for each one.

Our average Sunday School attendance for the month of November was one hundred and thirty five. Great blessings always come to those who assemble themselves in the House of the Lord.

Hope each of you had a happy Thanksgiving with your family, loved ones and friends. It is a great time of the year, a day set aside to give thanks to God for all the blessings of life. Many things we take for granted and I'm afraid some of us really don't appreciate and thank God like we should. Our world is so full of trouble, heart aches and disappointments any more, it seems like there is no rest and no peace for any of us. Our world it seems has come to the place where people are so greedy and want so much for themselves. No wonder we have so many great disasters. We need love and more love for each other and a deeper concern. There is more to life than fine homes, pretty cars and money. God loves us and we are to love each other.

As I'm writing this my heart is breaking too over many things that I see happening and so many people who are burdened with one thing or another. Our little great granddaughter was admitted into a Lexington hospital on Thanksgiving day, where she still remains in intensive care, very sick. Please when you pray remember her. We need all times to pray for one another.

Connie Adams of LaGrange, Ga. spent the Thanksgiving holidays with her mother Mrs. Janet Ridgett and family and others.

Mrs. Irene Alexander is spending a few days with her mother, Mrs. Christine Napier who is very ill. Let's remember her and her family in our prayers.

Mrs. Jewell Davidson is now home from the hospital. Thank the good Lord.

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Tinch and family Friday night and Saturday in Franklin, Ohio were her mother Mrs. Edith Mullins, and two sisters of Mrs. Tinch: Mrs. Lucille Ponder and Mrs. Velma Croucher. Joining them for Saturday dinner at the Tinch home were other relatives Mrs. Argie Rader of Dayton, Ohio and Mr. and Mrs. Joe (Faye) Alder of Louisville. The Alders were visiting at the Rader home. Argie and Faye are daughters of the late Candy and Mary Tinch, whom many people around here remember. They all enjoyed being together. They (like many of us do) talked laughed and cried together. But that shows that they love each other. God bless them.

Mrs. Evelyn Ponder and Scott spent the holidays with her mother Mrs. Lucille Lakes in Franklin, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. William Cope of Dayton, Ohio spent the weekend with his mother Mrs. Mary Cope. Another daughter Mrs. Frankie (Jean) Hayes and Mr. Hayes of Winchester visited on Sunday afternoon.

We, the Chasteen family enjoyed Thanksgiving very much. Our dinner guests were Mr. and Mrs. James Seals and Kim of Paint Lick; Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Abbey, Tammy and Tonya and a dear friend Mrs. Mary Mullins; our grandson, Ricky Adams of Boonesville, and J.R. and Janet Ridgett and daughter Sherry of Fairview visited in the afternoon. Our son Wayne and wife Carolyn were here on Saturday.

Please remember Church and Sunday School. Our brotherly love continue. God bless you.

area of study is not required is a measure of a placement. A grade of 90 percent is required for a school to earn a flag of excellence.

And, Rockcastle scored a 4.11 on a state department questionnaire response.

The state, not the local school, sends a questionnaire to any business which hires a vocational grad.

The score also reflects the individual employer's degree of satisfaction with the ex-student's job performance.

Vernon: 10 new windows, new door and lock, inside floor work, weather stripping and roof work.
A house on U.S. 25 South, Livingston: weatherstripping, threshold for doors, reglazing, replace glass, window locks, repair floor, repair roof and water heater jacket.

When work on a house or trailer is completed, Mrs. Carter sends her report and bills to the office at Manchester.
On another topic, Mrs. Carter reported she has not received information on heating help for the needy this winter. That announcement will be made Jan. 8, she said.

The county received $70,000 to help with heating last winter. She said it would very likely be about the same amount as last year, but she would not know until the announcement is made in January.

"We keep busy," Mrs. Carter noted. "There are many items to keep track of, and Mary Falin helps me 30 hours each week to get it all done."
Busy they are! The office on some occasions distributes money for emergency food and shelter vouchers. The vouchers can also be used to pay some rent and electric bills for the needy.
Food vouchers are for $25. Electric vouchers are for enough to keep the electric in use. Rent vouchers are for one month only, whatever that amount might be.

The office is also designated as American Red Cross headquarters for the county. Red Cross funding is only for persons whose homes have burned. Mrs. Carter said burn-out money had been used several times this year in the county.

Sophomores meet author James Still

by Stephanie Fisher

"I liked the log cabin and the grounds around it. If I got a chance to go back, I would." This was James Bunch's comment about the sophomore's class trip to Hindman, Ky., when the cabin was the best part of the trip.

Others enjoyed the stories told by Mr. Still as well as the visit to his cabin.
On October 26th, the RCHS sophomore class took an excursion to Hindman, Ky. to visit famous Kentucky author, James Still, and his home.

Mrs. Iris Young, English and Literature teacher at RCHS, arranged the trip for her glasses because they are studying Appalachian literature and its writers.

Students arrived at the Hindman Settlement School library where they met Mr. Still and Mr. Mike Mullins, who is one of the directors at the school. Mr. Mullins opened with a slide presentation of the Hindman Settlement School and its history.

After the slide presentation, Mr. Still talked to the students about his coming to the mountains and how he became a librarian at the school. In 1932, when he became the librarian, the depression was going on. Though he made no money, he was given room and board for his services to the school.

"Books change lives. No doubt about it," says Mr. Still. When he came to Hindman, he was the only "library" around. He had an Ar-buckle's Sugar box which he used to carry his books to people's homes for them to enjoy. Later, he began to use the school bus which allowed him to transport more books.

Following Mr. Still's presentation, the student body went with him to visit his home, which is a log cabin at Dead Mare Branch, a couple of miles from the Hindman Settlement School. The cabin was built in 1826 and has been kept original, in spite of the electricity that has been added.

The students had lunch there with Mr. Still and then had a chance to talk to him individually.

Though some were more interested than others, the sophomores enjoyed their trip and would like to thank Mr. Still for his time and hospitality.

This is the road (left) leading to the home of David and Susie Kidwell on the Mutt Ponder Road. Rain and winter weather make the road almost impassable. The couple couldn't even get their trailer onto their property this summer because the road was too tough for the haulers bringing it. The couple says they have asked local authorities for help several times in getting the road made usable. Magistrate Amos Burdette says a work order for the road has recently been placed, but no definite time for the work has been established yet. The couple even took their plight to a television station in August, but work had still not been finished by Thanksgiving Day. (Above) Kidwell checks his mailboxes, which is about a half mile from his home. The mailman can't make it back to his trailer, because of the dangerous road.

The eagle uses the same nest year after year, adding new material each year.

Kidwell's signed were, they thought, so the county could work on the road all the way to their trailer.

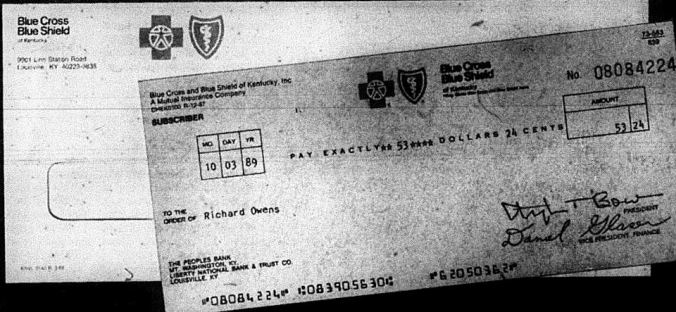

But, with Judge Thacker refusing to take an active hand in the situation, and with disagreements over which part of the road belongs to the county, which belongs to individuals, and a low priority for the work on Mutt Ponder Rd., the problem will fall into Mullins' lap.

Mullins refused comment on the situation until he officially takes office in January.

Renfro Valley lights up area for the Christmas holidays

by Ray McClure

When the lights flashed on at dusk Friday Renfro Valley looked like a Christmas wonderland.

All the parts were in place—Christmas trees, Santa Claus, nativity scene and, as always, entertainment—when Mt. Vernon Mayor Gary R. Cromer threw the switch.

This year, there was an official ceremony for about 500 youngsters, parents and others who braved the chilly overcast sky to see the lights and hear carols by the Wildie Christian Church Youth Choir and songs by Becky Harper of the Bible Baptist Church.

When Santa finally arrived by horse-drawn wagon, the youngsters surrounded him for candy and to relate their Christmas wishes. He'll be at his workshop in the Valley on weekends through Dec. 17 when the "Christmas in the Valley Festival" officially comes to an end.

As a backdrop to the activities, there was a Nativity scene and there were live animals. Workmen at Renfro, dressed in costumes, played the Wisemen.

There were four winners of the Christmas tree decoration contest.

First prize went to the Marantha Sunday School Class at the First Baptist Church in Mt. Vernon. Their tree was located in the Valley gift shop.

Second prize was to the Conway SunshineHomemakers tree in the Renfro ticket office and information center.

There was a tie for third place between the Family Life Abuse Center at the Christian Appalachian Project located in Santa's Workshop in the Renfro Lodge and the Rockcastle FHA tree in the lodge restaurant.

New dentist will work with Coffey

Dr. Sheila Combs, of Lexington will join the dental practice of Dr. Dale Coffey of Mt. Vernon December 3.

Combs, who is now practicing in McKee will work in all phases of family dentistry, with emphasis in children.

An Eastern Kentucky native, Dr. Combs, graduated from the University of Kentucky Dental School in 1979.

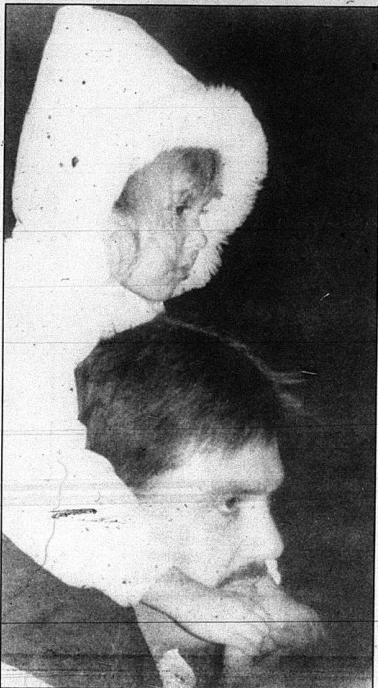

Dr. Combs has two children, Alexander, 3 and McKenzie nine months.

She was also a member of the University of Kentucky faculty from 1980 to 1988.

For an appointment call 256-5812, or stop by the office in the Gregory building on Main street in Mt. Vernon.

Three-year-old Kate Adams had a great view of the Christmas tree lighting ceremonies at Renfro Valley, sitting on the shoulders of her father, Doug. They now live in Upton, but he is a native of Rockcastle County.

One of the sights at the Renfro ceremonies was this re-enactment of Jesus' birth with a traditional nativity scene. It was cold, and one of the nicest non-traditional set-ups for the actors was a space heater, quietly hidden in a crate, under the camouflage of some bales of hay.

'Pitino ball' offered as auction prize

Rockcastle Forward in the Fifth is selling chances to win a basketball autographed by University of Kentucky basketball coach Rick Pitino. Proceeds from the activity will help fund programs such as mini-grants for teachers and academic and attendance incentives for students.

The Wal-Mart Corporation provided the basketball to Forward in the Fifth at a discount price and it was presented to Rockcastle Forward in the Fifth at their annual meeting at Shakerstown on November 2.

Chances to win the basketball can be purchased for one dollar at each school in the county and the Rockcastle County Board of Education office. The drawing will be held Dec. 8 at RCHS during half-time between Rockcastle and Rose-Hill Academy.

Forward in the Fifth, a nonprofit educational improvement group working in the Fifth District uses its local affiliates like Rockcastle Forward in the Fifth, to stimulate community involvement in local schools. Each year local affiliates receive a grant of up to $1,500 to match the funds they have raised locally.

The Green County local affiliate held a similar raffle last summer. According to JoAnne James, Chairman of Forward in the Fifth, "Green County's basketball fundraiser was so successful, that we decided to provide this ready-made fundraising package to all of our affiliates as an easy way for them to raise funds and support innovative ways to help their schools."

"We are especially grateful to Coach Pitino for signing the basketball," she added. "His support will go a long way in helping us improve education in southeastern Kentucky."

Gary Eldridge of Christian Appalachian Project (left) and Rockcastle County Schools superintendent Bige Towes show off Rick Pitino-autographed basketball that will be auctioned by Forward in the Fifth as a money-making project.

With a three-week-long festival in the Valley, there will be many activities of interest both for local people as well as tourists.

As a reminder, Renfro Valley and the Campbell Soup Co. are joining forces to help the needy in eastern Kentucky during the Christmas holidays.

Campbell Soup is sponsoring the regular Renfro Valley Saturday Night Barn Dance show Dec. 9, with all proceeds from the show going to the Christian Appalachian Project.

CAP, headquartered in Lancaster, is a nationally recognized private, interfaith charitable organization which provides wide ranging social, economic and spiritual services in the Appalachian area of eastern Kentucky.

CAP, which celebrated its 25th anniversary earlier this year, has more than 70 programs which are geared toward helping people help themselves.

Campbell Soup will also promote the program through 60 local food stores and suppliers in the service area, including the Foodtown, Food Fair, Food World and Superior super market chains, and will donate additional money to CAP in the name of these local stores.

The proceeds will be used in CAP's Small Garden Project and in its educational programs, areas strongly supported by Campbell Soup. The Small Garden Project provides seed, fertilizer, canning supplies and technical assistance to elderly, handicapped and underprivileged people in seven counties.

Among the many educational programs operated by CAP are child development centers for pre-school children, including one near Renfro Valley, GED and adult literacy programs and scholarships to high school seniors in 25 Appalachian Kentucky counties for services volunteered at their communities.

Campbell Soup and CAP are also

This young lady was just one of many that visited with Santa Claus at ceremonies in Renfro Valley Friday night.

Santa Claus is coming to town!

Yes, Santa Claus is coming to town in both Mt. Vernon and Brodhead this Saturday.

He'll make his first of two annual visits (kids, certainly you know the date of his OTHER visit) as the special guest of honor in the annual Mt. Vernon Christmas parade, and in the annual afternoon visit aboard a Brodhead fire truck later.

Parade chairman Steve Singleton says three prizes for floats again this year, with $300 going to the top float, $200 to the second-best float, and $100 to the third. Those are the same cash prizes as last year.

There is no charge to enter a float or a marching unit in the parade, which will begin at 10 a.m. from Mt. Vernon School. The parade will begin to organize at the school at 9 a.m.

Singleton says groups have committed floats by the Boy Scouts, the Bittersweet Cloggers, and Mothers Against Drunk Drivers.

The Rockcastle County High band will march, and will also march in a parade in Berea that afternoon.

Renfro Valley folks has committed a wagon, Singleton said. Santa will ride in on a float built by the host organization, Singleton's Rockcastle Region Rodders. The float will not compete for a prize, he said.

Several other celebrities are scheduled for the parade. Miss Rockcastle County, Brigitte DeBorde, will ride in a convertible, as will runners-up Heather Jones, Cindy Witt, Dinah King, and Amanda Napier.

Also slated for a ride are Mr. and Miss Rockcastle County High, Angie McKinney and Kevin Rowe; Mr. and Miss Harry Sparks Vocational School, Sonya Prewitt and Scott Payne; 1989 RCHS football Homecoming queen Twilla Croucher; and 1988-89 RCHS basketball Homecoming queen Gina Martin.

Livingston's Homecoming queen, Aleda Bond, will also ride in the parade.

And, so will Mt. Vernon mayor Gary Cromer. Singleton said that group will need 10 convertibles, and at least eight have already been committed to the parade.

Singleton said donations are up to $675, with at least two donations coming in recent days. With the prize money set at $600, he said that any money left over after other small expected expenses will be turned over to Santa Claus for use in the county.

At Brodhead, over $200 in cash, services, or gift certificates will be available through drawings in various community stores.

A drawing will be made before Santa arrives which will see that 58 prizes will go to someone for Christmas.

Santa will be available to children in the open lot across from the fire station and city hall.

Also expected to perform are Helen and Neal's County Line Cloggers. Smokey The Bear will also walk among the kids to hand out candy and remind them to have a safe and merry holiday.

Renfro Valley to host benefit concert for Christmas on December 10th

Renfro Valley will hold its second annual Christmas benefit concert at 2:30 p.m., Sunday, Dec. 10, at the old barn.

Featured singing groups will be the Removers, and Different Way.

Admission will be a canned food item, a toy, new clothes, or a cash donation.

Those will be distributed through the state's social services and Rockcastle Emergency Assistance Program (REAP) which they need in the county.

Kids! Send us your Christmas wish list for publication in The Signal

The Signal will publish all of the letters received from children who want to see their letters to Santa Claus published this year.

The letters will be featured in the December 21 issue of The Signal. Those lists will be published exactly as written in a special place in the paper.

To make sure Santa sees those wish lists, send them to:
 The Mt. Vernon Signal
 PO Box 183
 Mt. Vernon, Ky. 40456
 Letters will be accepted from many of our readers, no matter where they live. The best letter writer will receive a $20 prize. Just in time for Christmas.

Rockets lose 65-62 in OT

By: Jim Griesch
The Rockcastle County Rockets lost their basketball season opener 65-62 in overtime to Mercer County in a game they could have won. The Rockets led 60-57 with 1:51 left in OT on Steve Clark's old fashioned three-point play. He stole the ball in the lane and scored on a short drive. He was also fouled by Jamie Dunn on the play. But, John Click drilled two foul shots at the 1:40 mark to cut it to 60-59.

Two shots from right underneath by Randy Bugg of Mercer, sandwiched around a 19-footer by Billy Todd off the right baseline gave Mercer the lead for good with just 48 seconds left. Bugg hit his first shot at the 1:20 mark. Todd drilled his shot with 1:09 left.

The last chance for the Rockets to win went by the wayside with 38 seconds left. Players from both teams scrapped for a loose ball in front of the Rockcastle bench.

Neither ref - George Abner nor Leighann Messer - was in position to see who touched it last. They gave up, signaled jump ball, and the possession arrow gave it out to Mercer.

The Scotties worked the ball down to a foul by Clark with 14 seconds to go. Chris Mills hit his only two foul shots of the game to spread the margin to 65-62.

A two-pointer by Todd (his feet were on the line) from the right baseline, and a desperation shot in the lane by Clark at the buzzer failed to connect.

The Rockets had spent the whole fourth quarter catching up in a game they once led by ten (31-21). Mercer had fought back to take small leads late in the third quarter, and the two teams were tied at 42-42 going into the final eight minutes.

Click, one of the ten best players in the 12th Region this year, has an untested three-point shot from the top of the key to open the fourth. Then, he stole the ball near mid-court and went in for an open layup to spread Mercer's lead to 47-42. They later led by six, at 55-49, before the Rockets rallied to tie at 55-all at the end of regulation.

Abner and Messer became Amos 'N' Andy at one point in the final quarter. With the score 52-48, Darren Smith was called for a foul against Bugg on a close-in shot.

Bugg missed the first shot, and Mercer's Brad Dunning jumped into the lane for the rebound.

The officials blew their whistles to stop play, and Dunning - perhaps thinking he was fouled, perhaps trying to pull an "Ernie Gunfield" - stepped to the line. He hit his shot.

Rockcastle coach David Perkins pointed out that the wrong man was shooting. He was right. The officials recognized a correctable error, and sent Bugg back to the line.

He hit one shot, missed the second. But, he only had one shot coming, since it was the second of the two-shot foul attempt which started the mess.

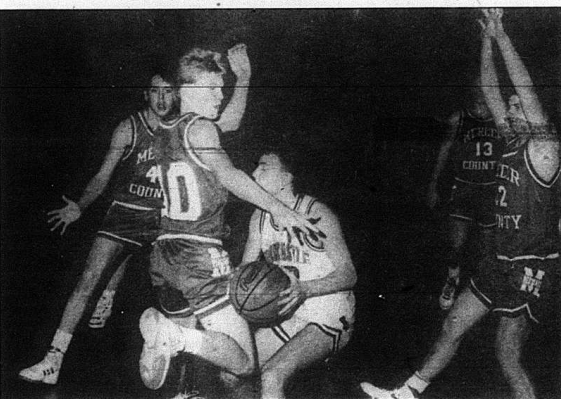

Todd missed both technical foul shots, leaving the score 53-48. From there, Dunning got a cheap basket when one of the Rockets led a rebound roll out of his hands and off a shoulder of another player under the basket.

Clark delivered a three-pointer with 2:12 left to trim the margin to three, at 55-52. With exactly one minute left, Clark hit two foul shots to cut it to 55-54. With 41 seconds left in a wild chase

Steve Clark of Rockcastle finds the load a bit heavy as Clay McGlone goes over the back on this rebound try Tuesday night. Clark had 20 for the Rockets.

Robby Phillips is ganged up on by several Mercer County players. Among them are (40) Brad Dunning, and (45) Gary Gamble, (13) John Click and (32) Jamie Dunn. The Scotties survived the Rockets' opening-game blast 65-62 in overtime.

Brodhead runs record up to 7-0

For the second time this season, Brodhead beat Williamsburg, and upped its record to 7-0, winning 66-65 in overtime Monday.

Michael Shaffer topped the scoring with 21 points, followed by John Kirk with 13 and Jason Scoggins with 10.

Brodhead trailed 29-26 at the half, cut the margin to two by the end of the third quarter, then forced the overtime with a 22-24 fourth-quarter burst.

Brodhead's "B" team follow 36-27, and to 1-5 on the day, despite Corey Scott's 10 and Chad Severance's eight point efforts.

with Williamsburg (Nov. 20) and at Paint Lick (Nov. 21). They used a 14-3 run in the first quarter, and a 15-7 spurt the second half to subdue Williamsburg 36-14, then blistered Paint Lick in Paint Lick 78-15.

A 40-6 first half outburst decided the outcome quickly. In the Williamsburg game, Jason Scoggins scored 10 points to tie the only player in the game to reach double figures. He was assisted by Michael Shaffer with eight, J.D. Bussell with seven.

No Williamsburg player had more than five points. In the "B" game, Williamsburg won 29-17 as R. Wilson scored 11, while Corey Scott had six, Chad Severance five for Brodhead.

The next night, Shaffer had a season high 22 against Paint Lick. Shannon York added 14, while Kirk and Bussell each had 10.

York's total was a high for him, as was Chris Huff's eight. Both York and Huff came off the bench. The "B" team also won its first game in five tries, with a 25-12 win over the Tigers from eastern Garrard County.

Roundstone splits with Brought-town Roundstone's girls ended their season Monday night at Brought-town while the boys moved to the plus side of the ledger in their first game since the countywide pre-season tournament before Thanksgiving.

The girls lost 41-32 to finish 4-0 on the year. Jeannie Proctor led the way with a season-best 22 points. Coach Cathy Short said that she stayed down low, and worked her way through the traffic in the lane to come up with the points.

But, nobody else scored more than four. The Cummins twins led Broughtontown with a total of 26 points.

The boys used a 28-16 spurt in the final period to pull away to a 76-56 win. They had led just 46-40 after three periods, and were down 34-32 at the half.

Balanced scoring got the job done for the Eagles, with Marvin McColium scoring 16, Billy Fowler 14 and Shane and Shawn Thacker 12 each. R. Sharp and 24 and B. Asher 18 to lead Broughtontown.

In a game played Nov. 21, Foley Middle School in Berea downed Mt. Vernon 57-45.

Foley had two players score 13 points each, offsetting a 23-point performance by Jason Fletcher, and a 13-point effort by Mickey McClure. Mt. Vernon never quite recovered from a 16-2 swabbing in the first quarter.

Claiborne has quit, but maybe not for the reasons you'd think

University of Kentucky football coach Jerry Claiborne resigned Tuesday afternoon. But, I don't think that retirement wouldn't be based on whether he is a good, bad or indifferent coach.

I think he retired because he is an honorable man, and there is no room left in Division I college sports for men with a valid value system still intact.

Claiborne is an honorable man dealing on a regular basis with moral morns, thieves, greasy feudal lords and crooks.

His conference - the Southeastern - and his state - Kentucky - are prime examples of the problems. The SEC needs desperately a strong commissioner. He should be someone with a get-tough attitude, someone who will tell all of the presidents of the ten member schools that he is in charge, and they are not.

The SEC is currently looking for a commissioner, to replace the latest in a long line of wallflowers, Col. Harvey Schiller, who has left to become head of the United States Olympic Committee. One name that surfaced last week in a wire story is current associate commissioner Mark Womack.

He's been in background roles for several years, and is a member of the working "good of boy" network, upon which the SEC heavily leans. But, he doesn't have the clout to back the presidents.

The SEC needs an outsider, a strong outsider. Schiller was an outsider, but a weak one. Now, the SEC is more or less on record as saying the new head man will have to be an insider.

Over the years, to reach administrative stardom in the conference, a man needed to be one of the boys. More specifically, he needs to have solid connections with one of three conference schools - Alabama, Auburn or Georgia.

Just two years ago, nine of the 12 top officers in the conference were connected to those three schools by a combination of ways. They were either: a former faculty member, administrator, coach, player, or with family members currently attending one of the schools.

The hierarchy of the SEC seems more concerned about which schools will have the most power through administrative connections. Meanwhile, the SEC has become one of the most ridiculed conferences in the nation.

The basketball world has reveled in Kentucky's current probation. Florida has, within seven weeks, fired both its head football and head basketball coaches, as well as some assistants. It is the second time in five years the school has fired its head football coach in the middle of a season, something almost unheard of in college sports.

Florida is also still in the midst of drug and gambling investigations that could shut down Florida sports for years. Tennessee had its best player suspended, reportedly for drug use. It is not the first time this particular player has had a problem with drugs. Claiborne kicks his assers off the team, quickly.

His replacement, who has become a star as a freshman, was involved in a check cashing problem this past summer. That has been cleared, but the througns continue.

Georgia has lost its whole academic-athletic connection under scrutiny by the National Collegiate Athletic Association, professional educators, and its own investigators. Georgia won't even admit unqualified students now.

Auburn not only admits unqualified students, it doesn't even make them go to class. Two recent star backs have revealed to the public that they didn't go to class their senior football seasons.

Auburn also makes a lot of money from going to a bowl game after every football season. This year, Auburn is in line to make at least $1, maybe $3 million, in a bowl.

Kentucky players go to class and graduate, but not to bowl games. At Louisiana State, the school recently underwent a two-year investigation by the NCAA, which found so little dirt it is amazing that they could have penalized them. The school fired its athletic director, and a football coach left on his own.

But, the basketball coach, Dale Brown, is still employed, and maybe should not be. Brown, after all, holds one NCAA record few others would want. He's the only active coach I can think of who - during one time out - had the referees the "bird," gave them the "choke" sign, and had to be forcibly dragged off the floor by his own athletic director.

Brown received no technical foul, no banishment from the game, for his outburst, which is common with him.

The whole atmosphere around the conference is shoddy. Schools battle fiercely on the field and court, but even more intensely off the field in recruiting.

I can't for one minute imagine that a highly sought player in Alabama, Mississippi, Georgia, or Florida decides where he wants to go to school based solely on the scenery on a particular campus, or the color of the school's jerseys.

And, those states are where most of the battles for the top rated

Lady Rockets open season against Oneida on Thursday

Coach Judy Bullock unveils her 1989-90 Lady Rockets this Thursday with a home game against district foe Oneida Baptist.

As of Monday afternoon, she was unsure of two starting spots, partly because of hot competition for the jobs, and partly because of injuries.

Angie McClure had a slight lead over Clara Pigg for one starting forward spot. The choice for Bullock is shooting (McClure) or rebounding and defense (Pigg).

The center job may depend on whether a turned ankle suffered by April Burton is ready Thursday. Burton and Karla Bullock have been about even all fall in practice.

One player Bullock would like to start, but can't, is Angie Senters, who was cleared for full practice just last week. She will have had just four full practices by Thursday.

She's been slowed by a knee injury. She did not have surgery on it, as previously reported, but has had therapy and rest prescribed by the University of Kentucky Sports Medicine Clinic's personnel.

players go on. They are also states housing six of the ten conference schools.

Rumors have flown around Lexington for at least the last month that his wife, Faye, had been talking to him about retiring. At the Cincinnati game in early November, heard from fans and media people alike was the rumor that Claiborne would retire at the end of the year, and that either Howard Schnellberger at Louisville, or Mike Gottfried at Pittsburgh would replace him.

Claiborne's gone, but who comes in next either hasn't been announced, or is unknown at the present. But, the criticism on Claiborne had gotten ridiculous. He spent too many minutes answering questions about his play calling. Claiborne tried a play that didn't work, and spent years defending his calls. When he ran straight ahead and failed, he should have run outside. When he ran outside and failed, he should have run straight ahead. When he ran anywhere, he should have passed. When the pass was dropped, the question is: "Why didn't you run?"

He can't win.

Yet, 85 miles to the west, a basketball coach admits he cheated, and hasn't yet faced serious questions about the incident.

His boss committed a felony and was barely admonished, much less punished.

His counterpart, Schnellberger, is a showman, a huckster, and a snake oil seller. But, he gets great press. Claiborne even helped a player he kicked off over a year ago get a last-minute eligibility reprieve for the Louisville coach.

Yes, coach Claiborne has retired and leaves college coaching to the twofifths who seem to excel there.

JVs beat Mercer 36-26; Frosh thumped 43-31

One Rockcastle team won early this week. The junior varsity used a 12- rally in the third quarter to build its way to a 36-26 win over Mercer County in Tuesday's varsity preliminary.

Micah Parkerson led the way with 11 points, the only Rocket to reach double digits. The young Rockets led just 16-15 at the half before rushing out to a 28-19 lead by the end of the third period. From there, they played Mercer to an 8-7 standstill the rest of the way. It was the season-opener for both teams. The JVs will be in action next Tuesday, against Lexington Christian.

The Rockcastle County High boys freshman team opened the high school basketball season Monday with a 43-31 loss to Southern Pulaski at home. It was a case of too many big bodies slamming and thumping their way inside for the young Rockets. Southern also hit a two-pointer at the end of the first half, a three-pointer at the end of the third quarter to build a 32-26 lead going into the final frame.

Last away those five points on late-second shots, and Rockcastle would have been down just 27-26. It was still only 33-29 with about four minutes to go when Pulaski made a little run, and pushed the margin to 39-29 with a little over a minute left.

The Rockets' Scotty Brugg led all scorers with 14. Corey Cains was next for Rockcastle with six. J. Hardwick had 13 for Pulaski.

The JV team took the rest of the week off, stepping into the action again next Tuesday, when the Rockets host Lexington Christian High.

The freshmen will be busier, with a home-and-home series with Model Lab School. It's at Model on Nov. 30, here on Dec. 4.

That begins a busy week at Rockcastle County High. It's Homecoming on Friday, Dec. 8.

Rockets lose

After a loose ball in the mid-court jump circle. Click fouled David Sargent with 27 seconds left.

Sargent hit the first, missed the second, to tie the score. Mercer had two chances to win the game from the foul line within the final 21 seconds.

Clark was called for a foul against Clay McGone, who missed the first of a one-and-one.

The Rockets missed a couple of shots and a chance to win. Right at the buzzer, David Eaton was called for a foul trying to snatch a rebound away from Jamie Dunn.

With no time on the clock, and no body lined up along the lane, Dunn bricked a free throw to win the game.

The strangest call of the night cost the Rockets possession on the overtime tip.

Todd, who was co-high for Rockcastle with 20 points, had the ball near the five-second hash in backcourt.

Messer, who had tossed the tip, called him out of bounds from the mid-court circle.

The Rockets still managed a 57-55 lead on a nice fast break basket by William Bullens, who took a bounce pass from Todd driving open to the basket.

Clark's three-pointer put the Rockets up by 67-57 before Bugg smashed the Rockets' victory dreams.

The Rockets had played very well for the first six minutes, building up leads to 13-4 and 15-6 early.

Messer went 7/3 with another field goal. The dry spell quartered at the 1:58 mark of the first quarter, when Todd drilled a jumper off the left baseline for the 15-6 lead.

The next basket didn't come until the 2:55 mark, when Todd drilled another two-pointer from the right side.

By then, the Rockets' margin was down to four, at 23-19. Rockcastle had used five free throws (in seven attempts) to keep ahead of Mercer, which had gotten hot.

Mercer started the game in a tight man defense, but went to a 2-3 zone late in the first quarter.

The change seemed to slow down the Rockets, who lost their early momentum.

Then, Mercer restore momentum with two foul shots and a corner shot with three seconds left.

That made it 31-25, Rockets, at the half.
